MAY LAND IN THE PENITENTIARY.
There are a number of young toughs in Tawas City who have been making a practice for some time past of following unprotected young girls who may chance to be down town in the evening, and on numerous occasions the young ladies have been subjected to gross insult and even rough treatment at the hands of these uncontrolled young criminals.
On Tuesday evening two of these pests were discovered by the father of one girl whom they were tormenting with their undesirable attentions, and one of the boys narrowly escaped physical punishment at the hands of the irate parent. Later, the father attempted to secure a warrant for the arrest of the boys, but was told by the justice that it would be necessary for him to get an order from the prosecuting attorney. Whether the matter has been carried any further or not we are unable to ascertain at the time the Herald goes to press.
It is a disgrace to the city that our streets should not be safe at any time for women and young girls, whether attended or not, and prompt measures should be taken to apprehend the half dozen or so of young toughs, and if brought to trial they should be given the limit in penalty as a warning to others to desist from these reprehensible practices.
Out of respect for the families of the guilty ones we are mentioning no names at this time, but should the practice continue the names of the offenders and the nature of their offense will be made public.

RECEPTION FOR REV. ALEX. ANDERSON AND FAMILY:
Despite the inclement weather it was a goodly company that assembled at Ferguson's hall on Monday evening, the occasion being a public reception in honor of Rev. Alex. Anderson and family. The hall was filled almost to its capacity and had the weather been favorable it is probable that many would have been unable to gain admittance.
The hall was nicely decorated, and music for the occasion was furnished by the high school orchestra.
After an hour or more of social intercourse, the assemblage was called to order and J. A. Campbell, acting as master of ceremonies, called upon various ones present for short addresses. The talks were purely impromptu, but were very good, and expressed in no uncertain manner the regret of the speakers at losing Rev. Anderson and his estimable family from our midst. A recitation by Miss Eva Bing and two by L. H. Emerson also elicited much applause. Rev. Anderson concluded this part of the program with a few suitable words of appreciation and gave his inimitable Scotch character impersonation, "Sandy Wilson and the O-ratori-O."
Light refreshments were then served by some of the young ladies, and a short time was spent in enjoying the good things provided. After this pleasant diversion, someone happened to remember that the date was the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Buckle, who were present. At once a mock wedding was arranged with Mr. and Mrs. Buckle as the bride and groom, Rev. Anderson and Rev. Roberts being the officiating clergymen.
During the evening Rev. Anderson was presented with a purse of about $50, as a token of the esteem in which he was held by those present, which he acknowledged with a few hearty words of thanks.
The many social events given in honor of Rev. Anderson and family recently and the expressions of regret at his resignation heard on every hand, betoken how deeply he has entrenched himself in the hearts of the people of Tawas City, regardless of denomination of church affiliation. The hearty good wishes of a host of friends will go with him into whatever new field of labor he undertakes.
VOTE FOR HIGHWAY AMENDMENT.
Unless the amendment to the state constitution carries at the coming April election, Michigan will lose the $2,186,756 which is her share of the money voted the various states by the federal government. The Michigan constitution does not at the present time permit the state to build roads as required by the Federal aid bill. To place Michigan in a position where the state will be enabled to take advantage of this big appropriation during the next five years, the legislature has unanimously passed a joint resolution to clear this situation. The proposed change is known as an amendment to Section 26, Article 8, of the state constitution.
The Detroit Automobile club, through its directors, urges the adoption of this amendment, believing it to be of the utmost importance that the state should be in position to avail itself of this large grant of federal money for state roads.

LINCOLN CLUB BANQUET.
The third annual banquet of the Tri-County Lincoln Club, comprising the counties of Iosco, Oscoda and Alcona, was held at the McDonald hotel, Harrisville, last Friday evening, March 23.
About twenty men from Tawas City and about the same number from East Tawas went up on the special train, besides a number of members of the East Tawas Rebekah lodge, who went up to put on the work for the lodge at Harrisville the same evening.
About seventy-five people sat down to the excellent banquet which had been provided, and to which all did full justice.
Following the supper the business session was taken up and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:
President—Will McGillivray.
Secretary—A. R. Weir.
Treasurer—A. B. Chryster.
Also four vice-presidents from each county.
The retiring president, F. F. Taylor, then introduced Geo. L. Lusk, assistant secretary of state, as toastmaster for the evening. Mr. Lusk is a past master in this position and his inimitable manner of introducing the various speakers added much to the merriment and enjoyment of the evening.
The number and length of the addresses precludes publishing them, but suffice it to say that each speaker had a special message for his hearers, and elicited hearty applause. Addresses were made by the following: A. C. Carton, Congressman Gilbert A. Currie, Will McGillivray, Wm. M. Smith of St. Johns, and Edwin Rawden, Duncan McRae and Governor A. E. Sleeper were expected to be present but were prevented at the last moment, Governor Sleeper by pressing business and Mr. McRae by the arrival of a new baby at his home.
The entertainment features of the evening were vocal music by J. Earl and Fred L. Yockey and Miss Edith Sansborn, and a character monologue by Jas. F. Mark.
This banquet was pronounced by those who attended as the most successful yet held. Oscoda was selected as the place for holding the 1917 meeting.

FIVE YEARS FOR TREASON
It was fortunate for the member of the First Minnesota infantry that the United States was not at war with Germany when he wrote a letter to relatives in Germany telling them that ten million Germans in this country were ready to rise against the United States government in the event of war with Germany. He had become an American subject by naturalization, had entered the service of the national guard and had sworn to support the flag and everything it stands for. For his treasonable act, he was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary at Leavenworth. Had this country been at war, he had been found guilty of treason, his life might have been taken.—Ex.

BASKET BALL.
We were disappointed in not witnessing a game of basket ball between the Standish high school and the East Tawas high. Read further and perhaps the reason will be plain.
A game was played with Standish at Standish on Wednesday evening, March 21. Our boys went expecting a good clean game. Arthur Dillon refereed the first half. At the end of this half the score read 19 and 8 in favor of East Tawas and it was an easy victory for our boys. In the second half Standish had picked up a referee, who it was understood would win the game for them, no other than the worthy mayor of Standish, who was by the way, backed up by the superintendent of schools. Arthur Dillon refereeing on the side line blew the whistle several times but the mayor informed him that "he" was refereeing the game and was going to win it. The score at the end of this half read 21 and 23 in favor of Standish. Two points were enough.
A game had been scheduled for last Friday evening with Standish at the East Tawas opera house. It had been well advertised and there was to have been a preliminary games between the junior team "Lomas' Sharp Shooters" and the Catholic school team, "McGuire's Wonders." The Standish boys did not show up on No. 3 and the boys phoned to Standish to find out what was wrong but everybody was "out of town." We are still in doubt as to why they didn't show up.
Two interesting games of basket ball were played at the East Tawas opera house Thursday evening of this week of which reports will be given next week. The first game was played between the Oscoda Independents and the East Tawas high school, the second between the East Tawas Independents and Alpena National Guards.
CARELESS APPLICATION OF THE TUBE.
Since the almost universal use of the one-piece transversely split tire rims, as used on most of the modern cars, the repair men in general have often commented upon the large number of tubes that were being presented to them for repairs because of a small hole within the radius of an inch or two of the valve stems.
An official of the Fisk Rubber Company, says it is quite common practice for a motorist, in applying a tube and casing to the rim, to push the tube valve-stems through the hole in the rim and then pull the stem through as far as possible. The heads of the casing are then properly seated on the rim and it is locked and the air pressure put in the tube for inflating.
By pulling the valve stem all the way through in the manner above mentioned, the valve spreader on the tube is tilted up on the casing bead in such a manner that the portion of the tube is pinched between the spreader and the bead and as soon as air is applied the tube under pressure endeavors to loosen itself from the pinch between the spreader and beads. The result is a small hole in the tube.
Often the valve stem does not point straight and the motorist in endeavoring to straighten it, pinches the tube as mentioned above.
To avoid pinching a tube in this way the motorist should proceed as follows:
Place the tube in the casing, inflate the tube with just enough air to round it out so as to take on the shape of the casing, apply casing to rim by putting valve stem through the hole in the rim but do not pull it through, just stick the end through the hole. If it comes through any further push it back so that when you place the tire on the rim the valve stem spreader will be clear of the tire beads and avoid pinching the tube at this point. The main point in trying to avoid pinching the tube is to make sure that the valve stem is pushed back as far as possible when applying the casing to the rim.

WRITER OF GOOD STORIES

Something of the Career of Frank H. Spearman, Author of "Nan of Music Mountain."

Frank Hamilton Spearman has written better stories of railroading in the mountain states of the West than anyone else. He might be called the laureate of pioneer railroading in the Rockies and Sierras.

Mr. Spearman railroaded for a long time before he decided to take up authoring for a living. He knows the game from the ground up. His first novel, "The Nerve of Foley," was published in 1900, and he has been at it steadily ever since.

"Nan of Music Mountain," which he has been fortunate in securing for our next serial, is a love and adventure story. It is a fine, upstanding tale of the high desert lands, and both heroes and villains are real men—strong, reckless, brave. There's not a dull paragraph in the story and we can guarantee that you will like it.

Teachers' Pension Law to Be Amended—Culver's Bill for Optional Military Training Sharply Attacked—Railroads May Be Granted Three-Cent Rate.

By Lewis W. Bailey.

Lansing, Mich., March 23.—Wide interest has been stirred in the determined fight which teachers in Michigan outside the larger cities have undertaken to assure the passage of the McArthur amendment to the teachers' pension law which would make it optional with teachers to come under the provisions of the law.

The introduction of the bill brought to light charges that young teachers had been coerced into signing petitions asking for the passage of the teachers' pension measure when it was presented in the last legislature and that the demand for it was by no means as unanimous as it appeared.

The opposition is being led by a group of Grand Ledge teachers who are aiding Rep. McArthur as much as possible in an effort to secure favorable action.

When the bill came up in committee of the whole the middle of the week a heated argument was provoked over a motion to re-refer it to the committee on education that a public hearing might be had and the charges of coercion investigated. Rep. McArthur opposed the motion, believing it a scheme to smother the bill. Detroit representatives spoke for re-referring, but Detroit teachers are said to be satisfied with the teachers' pension law, inasmuch as under it they will pay but one per cent of their salaries into the pension fund, whereas before the law was enacted they were contributing ten per cent to a Detroit pension fund, it was asserted in the house Friday.

Chief argument against the teachers' pension law is that it compels young teachers to contribute to the fund who have no idea of teaching more than a few years, having marriage in view, and who never would benefit by its provisions, which require a service in the public schools of the state of 30 years.

These are claiming that the older teachers, holding the positions which make the younger dependent upon them for their jobs, and being the ones likely to draw pensions under the law, have made the younger sign petitions or express themselves for the law through fear of their displeasure.

The McArthur amendment was finally put on third reading without a hearing having been arranged and is likely to pass the house next week. The teachers, who held a meeting in the capitol Friday, are planning to obtain a hearing before the senate, fearing that the optional provision may not pass that body. Proponents of the pension law declare that the McArthur amendment would practically nullify it.

"Schoolma'ams" Most Ladylike.

In the debate in the house it was asserted that teachers in trainloads from Detroit, Grand Rapids and perhaps Jackson would flood the state house if a hearing were ordered and that the country "schoolma'am," who is as much interested in the fate of the measure as any one, wouldn't have a chance to be heard. That she will be heard through letters and telegrams this week, however, is fully anticipated by the legislators. They do give credit to the "schoolma'ams" who have appeared, for being the most ladylike and inoffensive of all lady lobbyists who have come to Lansing, contenting themselves with putting in their word when it did not interfere with the business of the sessions.

Each week one may hope to write "passed" to prohibition legislation, but it is with us still. The Wiley bill and the McArthur bill are on the order of third reading today in the house. They were subject of consideration of three separate days of last week. The first measure was amended to modify a public nuisance clause and to knock out a clause compelling a witness to give evidence incriminating himself though exempting him from prosecution therefor. A clause putting the burden of proof on the possessor of intoxicating liquors was also stricken out. In all 49 amendments were made in the Wiley measure, most of them technical. The McArthur bill was shortened by 15 sections when at McArthur's request it was amended to make existing search and seizure acts apply to offenses under the law.

It is likely that the two bills will be passed by the house and it is then the program of the senate to refer back to the liquor committee of that body the Damon "bone dry" bill, the Tripp bill and the two house bills, together with the Lewis bill to reorganize the dairy and food department to administer the prohibition law as provided for in the Wiley bill. The senate is expected to evolve a substitute measure and pass it. This must go to the house and here a deadlock may result which will necessitate a conference committee of house and senate. Given all next week to get the bills through the senate and up to conference and giving the conference committee a week on the measure, it will be two weeks more before a prohibition bill will be ready for the signature of the governor.

A conference is also anticipated on the budget legislation, which Governor Sleeper says must be passed or an extra session will be called.

Military Training in Schools.

Rep. Charles Culver's bill for optional military training in the public schools of the state provoked some of the most fervid oratory of the senate last week. Rep. George E. McArthur attacked the measure sharply, declaring it "one of the most vicious and damnable bills ever introduced in the house," a breeder of militarism and even condemned the national guard training camps held annually as productive of no good. He expressed himself as favoring a strong navy, but declared in case of invasion the men of the country would rise up and drive the invaders out and that soldiers in modern warfare need only know two orders, "charge" and "retreat."

Rep. Sheridan Ford, of Detroit, gave a characteristically vitriolic address in behalf of the measure in which he flayed all pacifists.

"In a serious conflict which surely shall visit America sooner or later," said Ford, "I doubtless shall feel called upon to breast a trench and do my part. The pacifist can stay at home if he wants to, and develop his bust or do whatever else he may choose in that walk of life in which it has pleased God to call him; but it stirs my earnest resentment to feel that I must face steel and fury unarmed and undefended on his account, and in the lair of the lion behave as the lamb that has but to be killed. "One cannot argue with a sixteen-inch shell on the way and in a hurry to get there. One cannot theorize in the face of flying lead and get away with it."

"The pacifist will tell you that war is bad, wrong. So is smallpox. The chief concern is, or should be, the best way of overturning and defeating them when they come, or managing our affairs so that in the aftermath we will have survived with some show of respect and resource left."

Damon Suffrage Bill Passes Senate.

Equal suffrage made advances in the legislature last week. The senate passed the Damon bill giving women the right to vote in presidential elections, after the attorney-general had given an opinion that such a measure would be constitutional. Supreme Justice Grant Fellows had ruled the other way when the question was put up to him while he was Attorney-General.

The house has passed to third reading the Flowers resolution for a constitutional amendment giving women full rights of suffrage. That it may be provocative of a fight in the house on third reading this week, when the Damon bill may also see rough usage at the hands of that body is likely.

Game bills have been amended step by step in their progress through the legislature till it is well to wait till they go to the governor for signature before attempting to chronicle all the changes. Provisions which would make it an offense to carry a gun in closed season were stricken out when farmer members declared that no man would see a hawk threatening his chicken yard and wait for a permit from the public domain commission before taking his gun out to shoot the hawk. Another clause which would fix a death penalty for any dog stirring up game in closed season and a misdemeanor for his owner to let him live after such a grave offense, was also slaughtered.

The senate railroad committee has reported favorably on the bill to grant Michigan railroads three cent fare where earnings are below $1,200 a mile and two and a half cents where above that sum and to grant three cent fare for all upper peninsula roads. The culmination of the controversy of the railroads and the unions in the granting of the eight hour day to the men will be a big factor in the passage of the bill if it goes through.

Rep. Wiley's bill for a soil and economic survey of counties in the state where 30 per cent of the agricultural land is unoccupied has passed the house with an appropriation of $90,000 for the first two years' work. The survey is to take six years if carried to completion. The measure was attacked by Rep. Young, of Muskegon, who declared if he believed it would stop the suckers from buying worthless land he would vote for it and by Rep. Merriman, of Sanilac, who objected to taxing the state at large for something which would benefit only a portion of the commonwealth. He proposed that each county desiring the survey pay its cost.

To the one Rep. Wiley answered that the survey was to be an inventory of the state's agricultural resources and cited the results in France nearly 50 years ago where the wheat yield was increased from 14 to 25 bushels to the acre after a similar survey. To the other he declared the federal government appropriation of 40 per cent of the cost of the survey would be available only if the remainder were appropriated by the state. Rep. Croll pointed out that the cost of the survey, as read over a period of six years, would be an assessment of but two cents on each $1,000 annually. The senate is expected to evolve a

THE NEW DE LAVAL

If you have ever owned a separator of any other make, there is one outstanding feature of the NEW De Laval that will appeal to you as much as even its mechanical superiority, and that is its simplicity.
You won't find any complicated, troublesome parts in the NEW De Laval. It does not get out of order easily, even when it is misused; and if for any reason you ever should want to take it apart, the only tool you need is the combination wrench and screw-driver furnished with each machine.
The NEW De Laval is the simplest cream separator made.
A person who has never before touched a separator can, if necessary, unassemble a modern De Laval machine down to the last part within five minutes, and then put it together again within ten minutes. This is something that cannot be done outside a machine shop with any other separator made, and any separator user who has ever had to wrestle with the complicated mechanism found in other separators will appreciate what it means to him.
Don't fail to stop in and see the NEW De Laval the next time you are in town. Even if you are not in the market for a separator right now, come in and examine a separator that is said by experts to embody the greatest improvements in cream separator construction in the last thirty years.

DEATH OF PETER KENNEY.

Peter Kenney died at his home in Alabaster on Saturday, March 24. The deceased had been in feeble health for a long time and death was not unexpected.

Born in Albion, Canada, on Feb. 4, 1843, he was 74 years of age at the time of his death. When a young man he came to Bay City where he engaged in the lumbering business for a few years. He then came to Isosco county, where with his brothers followed lumbering for a number of years and were known as Kenney Bros. For the past few years he followed farming. He has been a resident of Isosco county for about 45 years and was universally respected by a large circle of friends. He is survived by two brothers, James and John Kenney of Alabaster and four sisters, Mrs. Margaret Brennan, Mrs. Frank Binder, Mrs. George Shaver, all of Lansing and Mrs. Mary Shaver of Grand Rapids. All were in attendance at the funeral which was held from St. Joseph's Catholic church East Tawas, on Monday, Rev. Albin officiating. Remains were laid to rest in the East Tawas Catholic cemetery.

PROPER TIME FOR PLANTING.

There are many opinions regarding the comparative values of fall and spring planting of fruit trees. There are many advocates of each practice and each has substantial reasons for his opinion.

When all reasons are taken into consideration, it results in the discovery that in sections where the winters are open and mild, fall planting is by far more satisfactory than spring planting. But in localities where the winters are cold and dry, spring is the more satisfactory time for setting out.
