HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK

Local, Personal and General News Furnished in Condensed Paragraphs for the Convenience of the Busy Reader

Robert Elliot of Oscoda visited friends here Sunday evening.

E. F. Whittaker of Midland visited friends in the city over Easter.

E. V. Esmund of Hale was a business visitor in the city Monday.

John A. Mark of Foote Dam visited his family over Sunday and Monday.

If you are hungry call at 121 Huston block, farmers' restaurant, Tawas City. adv-17

See the new Briscoe motor car now on display at the Tawas Butter Company plant. adv

Isadore Friedman came home Monday from the U. of M. at Ann Arbor, for a week's visit.

Rev. C. C. Henning went to Bay City Wednesday morning to attend the Lutheran conference.

A. Steinhurst came up from Standish last Saturday night and spent Sunday with his family here.

Misses Lula and Catherine Cox of Bay City spent Easter at the home of their uncle, Willard Robinson.

Mrs. Burley Wilson was called to Valley Center Thursday evening by the serious illness of her brother.

Orville and J. H. Davison and Howard Rollin, who are employed at Flint, spent Easter at their homes here.

Gerhardt Hosbach who is attending school at Saginaw spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Hosbach.

Mrs. Cecil Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mallon, jr., spent Saturday with Cecil Cox at the hospital in Bay City.

The new Briscoe motor car is the car for you. If you don't believe it, let us prove it to you. Fahselt & Moeller, agents. adv

Louis Lipke, who is employed at Saginaw, returned to his work on Tuesday, after visiting his parents for a few days.

R. G. Harting, Tawas City, garage, auto supplies, all repairs. New and used cars, bodies, tops and radiators for sale. Call or write. adv

Wm. Groff, who spent the winter with relatives in California returned here on Monday. He expects to leave soon for an extended visit to Canada.

Rev. John Dystant, district superintendent of the Bay City district, will give the evening sermon at the Tawas City M. E. church next Sunday. Seats free. Everybody welcome.

The D. & M. Ry. announces a new time table to take effect next Monday, April 16. Train No. 3 leaves Bay City at 12:45, 15 minutes earlier than at present, and the trains recently taken off the north division between Alpena and Cheboygan have been restored.

"Old Glory" has been flung to the breeze from a large number of homes and business places in this city during the past week. Some are large and some are small, but the size is inconsequential, as it is the patriotic spirit that the flag stands for that counts. We would like to see one displayed on every home and business house in the city.

A new electric siren whistle has been purchased by the city council to take the place of the old bell which has served for so many years as a fire alarm. The new alarm is a distinct improvement over the old one and we believe will give entire satisfaction. It was put to a practical test on Monday afternoon when a carriage house in the rear of the residence of P. E. Shien caught fire from burning grass. Prompt action by a bucket brigade saved the residence from catching fire, but the carriage house was entirely destroyed.

George A. Jackson, who for the past six years has been principal of the Whittemore schools, has been offered and accepted a position as assistant bookkeeper in the office of the state highway department at Lansing. He will assume his duties in June. His work will be along the line of keeping cost accounts, as well as assisting in the necessary bookkeeping in connection with the payment of state rewards. The position offers Mr. Jackson a fine opportunity in a growing state department and his many Iosco county friends are glad to see him secure the position.

Alex Ross, monuments, East Tawas. John Jordan of Sherman was here Monday.

Miss Kathryn Sands of Oscoda spent Sunday at her home.

Mrs. Carl Lorezh and little daughter are visiting her son at Flint this week.

Sim Pavelock and Harry Stockman of AuSable were business visitors here Monday.

Mesdames H. E. Gates and Jas. Baguley were business visitors at Bay City Wednesday.

Mrs. J. Sands spent Wednesday with her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Sase, at Emery Junction.

Joseph Wood of Flint was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Nelson Brabant, a few days this week.

Will Neumann of Detroit and Fred Neumann of Lansing visited at their home here over Easter.

Mrs. Griggs and son, Lee, spent Easter with her daughter, Mrs. H. C. McKinnon, at Black River.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Rafferty of Bay City spent Easter with Mrs. R.'s parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike McGarry.

Mrs. Bert Fowler and mother, Mrs. J. E. Williams, are visiting relatives in Saginaw and Bay City for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Zink and children, and Ed. Marzinski and sons, were business visitors at Bay City Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Burtzloff and children returned home Monday after a few days visit with relatives at Bay City.

John Green, who is employed at Detroit, returned to his work on Monday after spending a few days with his family.

Charles Grabow of Baldwin township went to Bay City last Saturday to visit his wife who is a patient in Mercy hospital.

If you want a car that will give you the best of service year in and year out, you'll buy a Briscoe. Fahselt & Moeller, agents. adv

Miss Augusta Reinke returned to Detroit on Wednesday, after visiting for a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Reinke.

Mesdames E. J. Woizeschke and R. B. Scoggins went to Owosso Saturday for a few days visit with Mrs. W.'s mother, Mrs. Chase.

Mrs. Glen Weaver and little son returned to her home in Jackson Tuesday after visiting her mother, Mrs. Wingrove, for a few weeks.

Miss Luella Brown went to Detroit last Friday to attend the wedding of her cousin, Ralph Brown, which took place on Monday.

Dr. W. N. Yeager, the dentist, will make his next visits to his Tawas City office on Monday April 30, and Friday May 4. See him if in need of dental work. adv

A carload of Briscoe motor cars was received on Tuesday of this week by Fahselt & Moeller, the local agents. The company is putting forth a brisk campaign for the sale of these cars and is meeting with good success.

A dispatch appearing in the daily papers last week stated that under instructions from the immigration department to the county clerks no German can obtain naturalization papers while a state of war exists between this country and Germany. This also applies to those who have obtained their first papers and who, in the eyes of the law, are still aliens.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Gregory of Bay City were in the city to spend the week end and Easter as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Prescott, jr., and on Monday afternoon Mrs. Prescott invited the Monday Musical club and a number of musical friends to hear Mr. Gregory in a song recital. All were charmed with his voice and the pleasing way in which he rendered the different numbers.

The Herald will in an early issue begin the publication of a "Roll of Honor" containing the names of all Iosco county boys who are serving in any branch of the military or naval forces of the United States. Relatives of any Iosco county boys who are in the U. S. service are requested to forward their names to the Herald, together with information as to which branch of the service they are in and the rank they hold. There are a number of our boys in the service and we wish to obtain the names of all of them.

WAR HAS BEEN DECLARED

State of War Now Exists Between United States and Germany.

Last Friday afternoon, April 6, at 1:11 p. m. President Wilson signed the resolution passed by Congress declaring that a state of war exists between the United States and Germany. Immediately afterward he signed a declaration of war in which he called upon American citizens to support all measures of the government and prescribed the status of aliens while this country is at war. The full text of this declaration will be found on another page of this paper.

Immediately after the declaration of war all German ships in U. S. ports were seized as a matter of precaution and steps are being taken to mobilize the United States military and naval forces on a war basis, to be prepared for any emergency.

F. F. Taylor went to Detroit Wednesday evening for a short visit with his son, Carl, who left with the naval reserves for Philadelphia Thursday evening.

Miss Maud Allen, who represents the state library department of Lansing, was here a few days this week giving instructions to the Iosco county normal class.

Mrs. Wm. Roullier went to Mercy hospital at Bay City Thursday morning, where she will undergo an operation. She was accompanied by Mrs. Martha Murray.

Sheriff Hill received this week a number of copies of the revised game laws of Michigan. Anyone wishing a copy may secure same by calling at his office.

Mesdames Cecil Cox and Albert Mallon, jr., went to Bay City Thursday. Mrs. Cox will remain with her husband at the hospital until he is able to return home.

Rev. Greene, of the Presbyterian church in Mt. Pleasant, who was attending the Presbytery held in East Tawas last Monday and Tuesday addressed the normal, high school and eighth grade Tuesday afternoon on "Jean Valjean."

Chas. Nelem and family moved back this week from Rogers City where they have been for about a year, and are now nicely settled in their home here. Mr. Nelem says that rent and living expenses are too high in Rogers City for the wages paid and he is glad to get back to Tawas City.

COMMUNITY CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM.

Outline of 1917 Program to be Given in Tawas City August 2-6.

First Day, Thursday, August 2. The Mrs. Wilbur Starr Concert Co. will give the full afternoon program and the prelude at night. This organization is composed of four highly talented and experienced ladies, giving primarily orchestral numbers and using the violin, piano, cello and flute, and varying their program with vocal selections, pianologues, readings and costume numbers. This company will be under the direction of Mrs. Wilbur Starr, who for years has been a popular artist on the Chautauqua and Lyceum platform.

Robert Parker Miles, the reporter, author, traveler and dramatic lecturer, will give his wonderful eloquent and remarkably picturesque production, "Tallow Dips," at night. In this lecture, Mr. Miles portrays upon the platform with striking vividness, many celebrities with whom he has come in contact during his varied and romantic career.

Second Day, Friday August 3. Hann's Jubilee Singers, composed of seven people and one of the finest companies of colored talent ever organized will give the prelude in the afternoon and the full program at night. Every member of this company has had a college education as well as a fine musical training and they will sing music of all grades, from grand opera to the wonderful melodies of the south and the harmonious old plantation songs. Chautauqua audiences for several seasons have gone wild with enthusiasm over the program of this company.

Andre Tridon, who has just returned from stricken Mexico where he went as a special correspondent for the Independent, will lecture in the afternoon. Mr. Tridon is a graduate of the Universities of Paris and Heidelberg and of New York University. He has traveled extensively in Europe, North Africa and Mexico and has been a leading contributor to many American periodicals. His lecture on Mexico which he will give this summer is the most complete, convincing and up to date statement of the conditions in that country that is being presented to the American people. He is now making a lecture tour of the large cities of the east and is receiving an ovation wherever he appears. Mr. Tridon appeared over our New England circuit last year with great success.

Third Day, Saturday, August 4. Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Winters, entertainers of quality, will give preludes both in the afternoon and evening. They are original, versatile and talented. Mr. Winters' program consists of readings, including both the ridiculous and serious, character sketches in costume and piano monologues in great variety, while Mrs. Winters gives her famous bird songs and whistling solos.

In the afternoon J. Frankin Caveny, crayon lecturer, cartoonist and clay modeler, will appear. Mr. Caveny is not only popular as an entertainer, but is also a well known artist. He is very clever and his crayon sketches are revelations of beauty and caricature. He works with rapidity, deftness and skill as before his audiences he changes dead

JAHRAUS-LEE.

A pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Jahraus at 314 East Fourth street, Flint, on Wednesday morning, April 4, when their daughter, Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Crawford J. Lee of Detroit, Rev. G. C. Crippen officiating.

The bride wore a green silk traveling suit, and the decorations of the home were in pink and white. Only the immediate families of the participating parties were present.

After the young people had received the congratulations of their friends a wedding breakfast was served, following which the young couple left on the noon train for Detroit, where they will be at home to their friends at 465 Commonwealth Ave.

The many friends of Miss Elizabeth in Tawas City will join in wishing the newlyweds a long and happy married life.

DOLLAR-A-MONTH CLUB FOR BELGIAN CHILDREN.

The Belgian children are starving. They are wasting away from hunger—the end will be death or, worse than death, a life crippled by under-development of body and mind.

No matter what we may think about the war, or the action of adults, the children are not responsible.

Will you join us in the Dollar-a-Month Club for Belgian Children?

If you can not give a dollar a month, will you not raise that amount among your neighbors and friends and be responsible for its prompt collection? Every penny you send will go straight to the Relief Work for Belgian Children through the Commission for Relief in Belgium ("The Hoover Commission"), because the expenses of collection are paid in advance.

Only a dollar a month is needed to keep a child from starving. It will furnish one meal a day for a child, the "supplementary meal" mentioned below.

Will you not TODAY send a remittance to Mr. Charles A. Sink, Secretary-Treasurer of the Committee, University School of Music, Ann Arbor?

Memorandum of Facts.

1. With the utmost effort the Commission for Relief in Belgium has been able to furnish to the children a ration averaging just under 50 per cent of the food required by a normal child. In consequence the children are doomed to rickets, tuberculosis, and other permanently disabling diseases, or early death, unless they have immediate help from America.

2. The "Supplementary Meal" which can be furnished daily to a child at the cost of a dollar a month consists of a single biscuit with a little lard and sweetening in it, and either a portion of thick soup or a cup of cocoa with phosphate and sweetening, and, if possible, milk. This supplementary meal is scientifically planned and proportioned and will furnish nutriment enough to tide the child over by increasing resistance to physical and mental decline.

3. The number of children menaced by decline or death through malnutrition is 1,250,000.

4. Michigan is asked to provide the supplementary meal for 181,000 children in the city of Brussels and its suburbs. Citizens of Pennsylvania have undertaken to provide the supplementary meal to 190,000 children in Antwerp and vicinity; the citizens of New York, to provide similarly for the 200,000 children in the region of Liege.

5. The occasional reports of the sinking of relief ships are misleading, because no mention is made of the ships that safely reach port. Up to the latest word, the Commission for Relief in Belgium has shipped, in round numbers, 2,000,000 tons of food to Belgium; of this amount only 32,000 tons had been lost, less than 2 per cent. Since the intensive submarine warfare began 72,000 tons have been shipped, of which only 8,000 tons were lost, or less than 12 per cent. All cargoes lost have been fully insured, so that the money contributed has been turned into new cargoes and so utilized for the starving people.

"A BISCUIT A DAY." By an Iosco County Writer.

"A biscuit a day for the babies," Who is there not willing to give "A biscuit a day" that the babies "Of a heroic nation may live?"

A nation today lying prostrate "Neath the feet of humanity's foe; "A biscuit a day," will you give it To help feed these children of woe?"

The civilized world owes to Belgium A debt we can never repay; But we ask, "as a drop in the bucket," For her babes, just "a biscuit a day."

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

It has come to my notice that a number of automobiles are still being driven under the 1916 license. Automobile owners are warned that machines must not be driven hereafter without the 1917 license or the owners will be dealt with according to law.

The many friends of the Misses Pauline and Tillie Baker who have been dressmakers here for about a year and a half will regret to hear that they have left the city this week. Miss Pauline went to Duluth Thursday night, where she has an excellent position in an altering department of one of the largest dry goods stores. Miss Tillie will visit at her home at Alabaster for a few weeks. At present she has not decided where she will go.

Last Monday morning at 9:15 the East Tawas fire department was called out. The home of John North in second ward was found in flames. It was not long however, before the fire was under control. Mrs. North had been working in the kitchen and went into the front part of the house to rest a few minutes. On returning she found the kitchen in flames. The fire is thought to have caught from a spark from the chimney in the attic above the kitchen. The damage by fire and water is estimated at $250.00 or more. The family are for the present residing in the residence across the road.

David Small returned to Port Austin last Monday morning after enjoying Easter at his home in this city.

Last Wednesday evening a social time was enjoyed at Irene Rebekah lodge in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Flynn who are leaving this city next week. An appetizing lunch was served to over thirty members after the staff work had been put on. Mr. and Mrs. Flynn have been a great help to the lodge and will be sorely missed by the members. Past Grand Master Flynn has been captain of the initiatory staff of the Rebekah lodge the past two years. James F. Mark has been appointed in his stead.

AN APPRECIATION

I wish to thank the voters most heartily for the endorsement they gave me at the polls on April second, last. The majority I received leaves no room for doubt that the people of this district approve of the course I have adhered to during my incumbency of the bench, namely, that of enforcing the law without fear or favor, and with the strictest impartiality.

Your obedient servant,

ALBERT WIDDIS.

OUR PLAIN DUTY.

At last we are facing war, and there seems no honorable way in which it can be avoided. We, therefore, must fight.

But with the conflict a reality, it will be well if we as a people are disposed to profit by the experience of the nations across the water.

It seems like a prosaic matter for discussion, but really one of the greatest factors that will enter into the matter is our food supply. We are already faced with prices as high as it would seem we can possibly endure; with a pronounced shortage in many lines of products; and if a large army and navy is to be recruited from our industrial workers the situation is likely to become serious.

It is, however, fortunate that the crisis should come at this season of the year, when the people can plan to meet the situation. The farming season is just opening, and every man, woman and child in the United States should be brought to feel that on his or her shoulders rests a very tangible portion of the responsibility that faces the nation.

Our people must be fed. In an ordinary year this matter would automatically take care of itself. But not so in this instance. Aside from the fact that thousands and thousands will be drawn from the ranks of the workers, we will have also to reckon with the restlessness and excitement that will inevitably prevail throughout the country. This is not conducive to successful work.

What our people must realize is that no calamity can be allowed to touch us as a whole. An army may be mobilized, and the navy strengthened, but affairs will move along in the same grooves in all lines of industry. Hence, with the increased demand for food supplies that is sure to come, the first thought of all the people should be to see that every available foot of tillable soil is made to produce a crop.

And this should not only apply to farmers. Millions of people in the cities and towns can contribute largely to the result. Unused back yards, vacant lots, fallow fields, even railroad rights of way can be made to add their quota. Every dweller in a city or town who can by any means secure a plot of ground should do so and devote a portion of his or her time this season to producing something to eat. None should evade this duty, for a duty it is.

Let none delude themselves with the belief that there will be any material lowering of the prices of food-stuffs unless there is an increase in production. The demand is too great. There are yawning markets the world over for every bushel of wheat, corn, potatoes, or any other article of food that we can produce, and even should we escape a long war, at least as long as the conflict continues in Europe that demand will be urgent.

We can, we should, we MUST make of ourselves that which we glory in proclaiming—a nation of farmers.

UNCLE SAM'S UNIFORMS.

An act of congress, approved March 1, 1911, entitled "An act to protect the dignity and honor of the uniform of the United States," provides, "that hereafter no proprietor, manager or employe of a theater or other public place of entertainment or amusement in the District of Columbia or in any other territory, the district of Alaska or insular possessions of the United States shall make or cause to be made any discrimination against any person lawfully wearing the uniform of the army, navy, revenue cutter service or marine corps of the United States because of that uniform, and any person making or causing to be made such discrimination shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding $500.00.

Poor Mary.

Mary bought a riding horse
And put him to good use,
For Mary weighed three hundred pounds
And wanted to reduce.
Each morn she took a horse-back ride
And after two weeks wondered,
Why she had gained eleven pounds
And the horse had lost a hundred.

Why the Distinction?
An exchange refers to a meeting as being well attended both by farmers and business men. It takes business men to operate farms in our part of the country.

NEWS FROM THE IOSCO COUNTY SCHOOLS.

SOME COMPOSITIONS FROM THE PUPILS OF HALE SCHOOL

Geography.

By Florence Humphrey.
Define atmosphere agents. As soon as any part of the sea bottom is raised above the water it is exposed to the changes of the weather and the action of the winds, that is, to atmospheric agents.

Define erosion. Erosion is the wearing away of the land.
Define detritus. Detritus is a thin layer of dirt over the soil.
Define soil. Decaying animal and vegetable matter mixed with detritus is called soil. It makes humus.
Define talus. A pile of detritus that collects at the bottom of a hill is called talus.

Define dunes. Sand and fine rocky material collects in shape of dunes. They are called dunes.
How is detritus formed? Detritus is formed of fine fragments of the solid rocks.

A Snow Storm.
By Carl Covie. Sixth Grade.
One afternoon as I was in class I looked out of the window and it was snowing awful hard. At recess we boys went out doors and it was still snowing. The snow was about three inches deep, and good packing so I began throwing snow balls. Pretty soon I heard one come buzzing past my head. I turned around and saw Floyd Earley throwing at me. Then we had a snow ball fight. We all got covered with snow and had to go in the school house and get dry. Then the bell rang and after school we did not play snow ball. We played with our snow balls.

A Snow Storm.
Bertha Kocher. Fifth Grade.
One day I was looking out of the window. The snow began to come down. First it came down real slowly then finally it came down faster and faster. Then the flakes got larger. Then I opened up the window and stuck my head out of the window and in just one or two minutes my head was covered with snow. The next day I went outside and made a snow man. Then the next day the sun came up and melted my snow man all away. Then afternoon it began to rain and I couldn't get outside any more that day.

A Snow Storm.
By Florence Humphrey. Sixth Grade.
Once upon a time there lived a little boy and girl. Their names were Teddy and May. Teddy was 5 years old and May was 4 years old.
They had always lived in the South and had never seen a snowstorm. But on January 25th they moved to the central part of Michigan. When they came they did not know what snow was, but they liked it very much. It was quite cold out doors when they came, so their mother would not let them go out of doors.
But on Feb. 7, 1917, it was quite warm outdoors and it was snowing, so their mother dressed the children up warm and let them go out doors. Their father made them a sled. Teddy would pull May about the yard on the sled, then May would pull Teddy a small way or until she got tired. Then Teddy would pull her.

The children were having a good time but they thought if they would go out upon the road they would have more fun. So the little children wandered out upon the road. They kept going on and on until they did not know where they were. The storm had grown to be a blizzard. Their mother came out on the porch to call the children, but she saw they were not in the yard. Then she grew frightened. They started right out away from the children. One went one way and one went the other. After a while they overtook the children and carried them home. Even if they had been lost they would not have known it. They were having a good time.

The next day their mother asked them, if they had a good time? They said, they had the best time they ever had.

Hard-Earned Money.
I was seated at the same table with a father and small boy the other morning in a dining car. The father promised the boy a nickel if he would eat all of his breakfast food. The boy ate it and collected his nickel. Later during the morning the boy became restless and was seeking amusement as best he could, when a man came through the Pullman selling candy magazines, etc. The boy wanted his father to buy some gum. "You have a nickel," the father told him, "can't you buy some gum for yourself?" "O, that nickel is mine," he answered promptly; "I earned that."—Chicago Tribune.

Ingalls' Theory Wrong.
Some years ago Senator John James Ingalls of Kansas wrote a poem called "Opportunity." His theory was that Opportunity knocked at your door but once. His poem was one of the most beautiful in the English language, but his theory was all wrong. The persons who have the microbes of ambition and industry do not wait for Opportunity to knock at the door, but have the door wide open and are out on the sidewalk or in the street hunting for Opportunity, and it is not difficult to find it. Do not wait for Opportunity to knock if you wish for success.

EIGHTH GRADE EXAMINATION
The state eighth grade examination will be held May 10-11, at the usual places: Alabaster, Grant, Hale, Oscoda, Tawas City, and Whittemore. Boys' state fair examination will be written May 14th at close of regular eighth grade examination. Reading based on Mackey's "Tubal Cain." adv

BEQUESTS MADE BY PET DOG

Pathee in Last Will Supposedly Made by Irish Terrier Before His Departure From This Life.

I, Peg o' My Heart, being an Irish terrier in the prime of life, but mindful of the uncertainty of existence in these days of motor cars, do wish to make appropriate distribution of such properties as I possess.

My brown leather collar I leave to Nassau, the neighbor's dog, as he has none.

And to Nassau I also leave my cache of bones behind the woodpile—if he can find it.

My blue china plate and my drinking bowl I leave to Vachel, the cat. He has always envied them.

To my master I bequeath respect and obedience, not unmixed with fear—he was always a little stern.

But to my mistress, who understood me so well, my undying adoration, the whole devotion of my being. If her foot should pass over my resting place my tail would wag and my ears prick up—yes, were I as dead as the Roman wolf.

My eager joy in life, the morning tingle in my paws, the delight of swimming for sticks and running wild in sheer madness of delight, the million haunting smells of the world, the thrill of footsteps passing the house at night, the everlasting fun of being a little brown Irish dog and barking at everything, the agony of thrashings and the bliss of being forgiven—all these I leave to my successor or to anyone who can use them.

My old box in the cellar the cook may have for kindling wood.—Christopher Morley in Life.

ONE'S OWN HOME IS BEST
Preference for Rented Quarters Marks Something of a Doing Away With Personal Initiative.

When men come to be renters in habit that is, when they grow willing to depend on some other hand to provide and maintain their homes for them, society loses much of that individual independence; that personal initiative, that self-reliance which differentiates a great people from a mere human mass, remarks the Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch.

For two hundred years America has led the world in individual initiative. The fathers pulled out of the European huddle for the sake of standing alone, and when they reached America they had to stand alone.

However we may excuse ourselves for inclination toward the easy comfort of the rented quarters it must still be admitted that our inclination is a symptom of a phase of social degeneracy, a drift toward the huddle, the beginning of an abandonment of that vitalizing independence of which the owned, detached home is pre-eminently the symbol and support.

Now, Who Killed Tecumseh?
General Cass thought he answered this question satisfactorily to himself and friends in a speech in the United States senate in which, with all necessary formality, he settled the question in favor of Dick Johnson; but like the equally important question—who killed Cock Robin?—it won't stay settled and every little while receives a fresh answer. Colonel Skinner, away down in Texas, claimed the honor of the deed. To a number who were giving their guesses and surmises he said:

"Gentlemen," he said, "I was at that battle where Tecumseh was killed—I was! I commanded a regiment there—I did! I'm not 'gwine to say who did kill Tecumseh—I won't; but this much I will say: Tecumseh was killed with one of my pistols; and, gentlemen, a man would not be apt to lend out his pistols on a 'casion of that sort!"—Ohio State Journal.

Emerson.
From what we can gather from a slight acquaintance with society, we infer that Emerson is not read as much as he used to be. This is a great misfortune. A late writer has said, "In applied wisdom no American has surpassed him." That is what this age needs more than anything else—applied wisdom; something that doesn't whirl or make a clatter or show itself in color and glitter. There is no book that can do a serious-minded boy more good, when he gets to the age of understanding, than "Emerson's Essays." It should be in every family library. There is nothing that states the truth like this book, and the age goes downhill that loses its interest in it. Some one asked us the other day how many literary clubs Columbus had. We couldn't say. We didn't know any. But one it ought to have, and that is an Emerson club.—Ohio State Journal.

McTavish's Compromise.
A canny Scot owned a wonderful badger it was reported no dog could tackle. However, a friend of his had a dog he proposed to back against the badger, and a match was in due course made for $500, to come off in two months time.

As the time drew near there were rumors that all was not right with the dog, and the Scot's friends were making sure of victory for him.

Imagine their surprise and disgust when they heard that McTavish had accepted $250 as a compromise in lieu of the $500.

"You've been done, Mac," said one of them. "The dog is so many and swift, he could not kill a rat."

"Ah," said McTavish, "I dare say, I dare say; but my badger is dead."

Controlling Temper.

A good old man once gave this advice to a young person who had a pretty lofty idea of himself: "Remember, a gentleman should never let his temper get the better of him. When the angry word rises to your lips, stop to count seven; if still inclined to give way to your anger, count twenty, and by that time you will have come to your senses—will have won a victory over yourself and most likely over the person who provokes you."

Worms Handicap Your Child

Worms drain the strength and vitality of children, making them dull and listless. Their power to resist more serious diseases is reduced, and energy and interest in play is lacking. Kickapoo Worm Killer is a mildly laxative remedy in candy tablet form that children like to take. It kills and removes the worms and lets your child grow strong and healthy like other children. Don't let your child be dragged down by worms. Full directions on the box. At all druggists, 25c.

Black Hair Means Vigor.

The most pugnacious of all animals known in nature is the black panther. The most difficult of all horses to control is a black stallion. The one snake which never can be safely handled by a snake-charmer is the black cobra. The only untameable family in the timid species of mice is the black mouse.

Optimistic Thought.

THE GUEST

By OLIVER LORING.

Jerry opened the kitchen door with floury fingers to let in the man with the groceries.

Half-way across the kitchen floor his ice-crusted heel slipped on the linoleum and he went down with a crash.

"Good gracious!" cried Jerry, "are you hurt?"

"No," he said, getting to his feet and eyeing the conglomeration of broken bags on the floor.

"My, I thought you were Patsy!"

"Patsy? No, my name's Dennis."

"That's a wretched joke," said Jerry with contempt.

"It isn't a joke," said Dennis, "it's the truth. How could it be a joke?"

"Look here, I haven't got time to stand here and answer riddles. Just look around at the kitchen and then at the mess you've made all over my floor and tell me if you think I'll get through before the day after tomorrow."

But Dennis only looked at her smooth, flushed cheeks, snapping gray eyes and the rebellious hair that shook curls over her forehead when she talked.

"Just look at it, I say."

This time his eyes followed the direction of her finger and he saw a table full of pots and pans, bowls and spoons ready for washing.

Jerry regarded him curiously. "Say, are you really a grocery man or what, all dressed up that way? And what's the matter with Patsy today?"

"Patsy couldn't come, so I came in his place."

"Oh, I see! Well, do you know what Patsy would do if he spilled the beans and coffee and things?"

"He'd apologize! I suppose."

"Apologize! Humph! He'd pick 'em all up."

"But I was just going to."

"Going to? You're a cyclone, aren't you?"

Dennis looked puzzled, but without more talking he pulled up his trousers, got down on his knees and went to work.

"Say," said Jerry finally when three neatly-assorted piles had been brought out of the chaos. "Do you like chocolate cake?"

"Indeed I do," admitted Dennis.

"And doughnuts?"

"You're right."

"And mince pie?"

"I like it very much, indeed."

"Well, I'm going to give you a sample of each while I'm washing these dishes. Sort of try 'em on the dog, you might say, to see how they go. I'm going to let you in on a secret. I'm not the girl. I'm the missus, or one of them. There's three of us, Aunt Genevieve and Meg and me. You'll get to know us better some day. We're poor as Job's turkey and proud as Lucifer—the whole bunch of us. That is, Aunt Genevieve and Meg are. I'm not."

Jerry set a plate of good things before him and perched on the edge of the table. "Well, they think I'm the limit because I've got no family feeling, as they put it. Our mother's father was the seventh son of a something or other, and our father's relatives are all away up in G in England. Last year Meg went over to visit some of them." Jerry sighed, then suddenly, "Say, how's the pie?"

"It's just splendid," said Dennis. "I never tasted anything like it. You are a wonderful cook, aren't you?"

"They all say that, and that's the trouble. When anybody's coming I have to spend days in the kitchen here to get ready, and I'm nearly dead. Why, you ought to see that pantry. I've baked doughnuts and cakes and pies and all sorts of things to get ready for the earl."

"The earl?"

"Oh, I forgot. I didn't finish about Meg. When she went to England there was an earl she liked very much, and when she found he was coming to America this week she invited him to visit us. He's coming tomorrow. That's why I'm fixing things. Gee, I'm tired."

"It's too bad," said Dennis sympathetically, looking down at the head of flying curls. "But I'm going to help wash these pans and things. You don't need to worry about my place. The grocery boy had an accident and I was passing. They took him home and the truck to the garage. There was only one box of groceries to be delivered, so I said I'd bring it in my car. Come on, what do you do first?"

Jerry looked away in dismay. "Nothing. I'm not going to let you help now. You run along home to your wife and family and tell them the joke on me."

"I have no wife and family, and I can't see any joke on you. Come on and show me what to do."

"No."

"You must. I've never had my word disputed and I'm not going to now. Get me the towel and you wash the things."

Suddenly Jerry laughed. "I hope Aunt Genevieve and Meg don't come in and find you here."

"I hope they do," declared Dennis. "I'm proud of my company, and I was never so happy in my life."

"But it isn't a question of you. It's me. Won't you tell me your name and where you live?"

The kitchen door opened suddenly and Meg hurried in.

"Perhaps Miss Meg can answer for me," said Dennis.

And Meg did. "The earl," she gasped just loud enough for Jerry to hear.

WAR IS ON, PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS

Decree of Nation Is Signed.

ALIENS' DUTIES DEFINED

President Lays Down War Rules at Length.

LAW OF CONDUCT MADE CLEAR

State of War Against Germany Told to World—Aliens Liable to Restraint Through Law Violations. Bars Wireless Use to Enemy Residents—Making of Threats Against U. S. Punishable—Detention Is Provided—May Be Arrested on Suspicion.

WASHINGTON — The war proclamation issued by President Wilson is as follows:

"Whereas, the congress of the United States, in the exercise of the constitutional authority vested in them, have resolved by joint resolution of the senate and house of representatives bearing date this day, that a state of war between the United States and the imperial German government which has been thrust upon the United States, is hereby formally declared:

"Whereas, it is provided by section 4067 of the revised statutes as follows:

"Whenever there is declared a war between the United States and any foreign nation or government or any invasion or predatory incursion is perpetrated, attempted or threatened against the territory of the United States by any foreign nation or government and the president makes public proclamation of the event, all natives, citizens, denizens or subjects of a hostile nation or government being male of the age of fourteen years and upward who shall be within the United States and not actually naturalized shall be liable to be apprehended, restrained, secured and removed as alien enemies.

Directs Conduct Toward Aliens.

"The president is authorized in any such event by his proclamation thereof or other public acts to direct the conduct to be observed on the part of the United States toward the aliens who become so liable; the manner and degree of the restraint to which they shall be subject and in what cases and upon what security their residence shall be permitted and to provide for the removal of those who, not being permitted to reside within the United States, refuse or neglect to depart therefrom; and to establish any such regulations which are found necessary in the premises and for the public safety."

"Whereas, by sections 4068, 4069 and 4070 of the revised statutes, further provision is made relative to alien enemies:

Proclaims a State of War.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim to all whom it may concern that a state of war exists between the United States and the imperial German government, and I do specially direct all officers, civil or military, of the United States that they exercise vigilance and zeal in the discharge of the duties incident to such a state of war, and I do, moreover, earnestly appeal to all American citizens that they in loyal devotion to their country, dedicated from its foundation to the principles of liberty and justice, uphold the laws of the land and give undivided and willing support to those measures which may be adopted by the constitutional authorities in prosecuting the war to a successful issue and in obtaining a secure and just peace.

Aliens Enjoined to Keep Peace.

"And, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the constitution of the United States and the said sections of the revised statutes, I do hereby further proclaim and direct that the conduct to be observed on the part of the United toward all natives, citizens, denizens or subjects of Germany, being male, of the age of fourteen and upward, who shall be within the United States and not actually naturalized, who for the purpose of this proclamation and under such sections of the revised statutes are termed alien enemies, shall be as follows:

"All alien enemies are enjoined to preserve the peace toward the United States and to refrain from crime against the public safety and from violating the laws of the United States and of the states and territories thereof, and to refrain from actual hostility or giving information, aid or comfort to the enemies of the United States and to comply strictly with the regulations which are hereby or which may be from time to time promulgated by the president, and so long as they shall conduct themselves in accordance with law they shall be undisturbed in the peaceful pursuit of their lives and occupations and be accorded the consideration due to all peaceful and lawabiding persons, except so far as restrictions may be necessary for their own protection and for the safety of the United States, and toward such alien enemies as conduct themselves in accordance with laws all citizens of the United States are enjoined to preserve the peace and to treat them with all such friendliness as may be compatible with loyalty and allegiance to the United States.

Liable for Disobedience.

"And all alien enemies who fail to conduct themselves as so enjoined in addition to all other penalties prescribed by law shall be liable to restraint or to give security or to remove and depart from the United States in the manner prescribed by sections 4069 and 4076 of the revised statutes and as prescribed by the president.

"And pursuant to the authority vested in me, I hereby declare and establish the following regulations, which I find necessary in the premises and for the public safety:

"One. An alien enemy shall not have in his possession at any time or place any firearms, weapons or implements of war or component parts thereof, ammunition, maxim or other silencer, arms or explosives or material used in the manufacture of explosives.

"Two. An alien enemy shall not have in his possession at any time or place, or use or operate, any aircraft or wireless apparatus, or any form of signaling devices, or any form of cipher code or any paper, document or book, written or printed in cipher or in which there may be invisible writing.

"Three. All property found in the possession of an alien enemy in violation of the foregoing regulations shall be subjected to seizure by the United States.

Must Keep Away from Forts.

"Four. An alien enemy shall not approach or be found within one-half of a mile of any federal or state fort, camp, arsenal, aircraft station, government or naval vessel, navy yard, factory or workshop for the manufacture of munitions of war, or of any products for the use of the army or navy.

"Five. An alien enemy shall not write, print or publish any attack or threat against the government or congress of the United States or either branch thereof, or against the measures or policy of the United States, or against the persons or property of any person in the military, naval or civil service of the United States, or of the states or territories, or of the District of Columbia or of the municipal governments therein.

"Six. An alien enemy shall not commit or abet any hostile acts against the United States or give information, aid or comfort to its enemies.

Cannot Live in Barred Localities.

"Seven. An alien enemy shall not reside in or continue to reside in, to remain in or enter any locality which the president may from time to time designate by an executive order as a prohibitive area, in which residence by an alien enemy shall be found by him to constitute a danger to the public peace and safety of the United States except by permit from the president and except under such limitations or restrictions as the president may prescribe.

"Eight. An alien enemy whom the president shall have reasonable cause to believe to be aiding or about to aid the enemy or to be at large to the danger of the public peace or safety of the United States, or to have violated or to be about to violate any of these regulations, shall remove to any location designated by the president by executive order and shall not remove therefrom without permit, or shall depart from the United States if so required by the president.

"Nine. No alien enemy shall depart from the United States until he shall have received such permit as the president shall prescribe or except under order of a court, judge or justice, under sections 4069 and 4070 of the revised statutes.

"Ten. No alien enemy shall land in or enter the United States except under such restrictions and at such places as the president may prescribe.

One Man — Horse Power

Land clearing is not the time consuming, money consuming, back breaking, heart breaking, never ending job it once was, if you get a Kirstin to do the work.

The Kirstin Method guarantees a saving of 10% to 50% over any other method of land clearing. The Kirstin Method gets rid of your stumps after they are pulled. No stump is too big for the Kirstin Horse Power Puller. Its mighty strength is irresistible because of its triple power and other exclusive Kirstin features. It will clear more than two acres at one setting without strain to man, horse or machine. It has been a leader for 21 years.

One man without horses can pull the biggest stumps, too, with the Kirstin One Man Stump Puller. A little push on the handle gives tons of pull on the stump. This enormous power is developed by use of double leverage. It gives an ordinary 17-year-old farm boy a giant's power.

Learn how Kirstin machines will get the gold from under your stumps. Let us prove that the Kirstin Method provides

NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

Our Special Correspondent At Lansing Relates Doings of Legislature

$5,000,000 WAR APPROPRIATION

Resolution Adopted Indorsing Michigan Congressmen Who Voted for War Resolution—Prohibition Bills Still Under Consideration—Three-Cent Railroad Fare Held Unconstitutional.

By Lewis W. Bailey.

Lansing, Mich., April 11.—Michigan legislators came back to the capital Monday night ready to give immediate passage to the bill for the appropriation of $5,000,000 which will put Michigan in the front ranks of the states in the matter of making provision for the war with Germany. Meantime Governor Sleeper and the War Board, which will be created by the bill which was introduced last week, have met unofficially and canvassed the steps which first must be taken to make the state of the greatest possible help to the national government. Of first importance, along with the recruiting its quota of soldiers, is the bringing of the state to the maximum of agricultural productivity this summer. To this end President Kedzie, of the Michigan Agricultural college, and Dean Shaw met with the war board and discussed with them the steps in this direction.

Preparedness.

Governor Sleeper's preparedness measure, which will be known as the Foster law, was introduced early last week, the formality of referring it to a committee, was waived and it was put on the calendar of each house at once, having been introduced in the senate by Senator Charles Foster, of Lansing, and in the house by Rep. Petermann, of Calumet. Later, when it was decided greater speed would be made by having the bill put through first one house and then the other, Petermann and Foster tossed a coin to see which should pass it first and luck fell with Foster.

The $5,000,000 which the measure appropriates is to be represented by bonds in denominations of $100, bearing 4 per cent interest and payable any time within 20 years. The war board, upon whose order the fund created will be expended, is composed of the governor as chairman, Secretary of State Coleman C. Vaughan, State Treasurer Samuel Odell, Attorney-General Alex Groesbeck, Auditor General O. B. Fuller, and Superintendent of Public Instruction Fred L. Keeler.

The purposes for which the fund may be expended by the board named are recruiting and equipping of troops; mobilization camps, care of dependents of Michigan's soldiers, establishing of an insurance or beneficiary fund to be drawn upon in case of disability or death, organization of home defense units, training school for officers, auxiliary relief work and such other purposes as are in the discretion of the governor, necessary to the welfare and defense of the nation.

The legislature adopted a resolution indorsing Michigan members of Congress who voted for the war resolution. Congressman Mark Bacon, of Wyandotte, was the only Michigan man to vote against it.

Another preparedness measure approved was a resolution introduced by Rep Martin, requesting all able bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45 to file with the clerk of the county in which they reside a certificate of their fitness or unfitness for military service. Organizations desiring to enroll for auxiliary service also are requested to file information with the county clerks, to be forwarded to the adjutant general of the state.

Agriculture.

In line with the expressed desire of the national government to have the fullest possible agricultural yields this year, particularly of crops which are most desirable in time of war, such as wheat, beans, potatoes, etc. The sending out of students and graduates of the Michigan Agricultural college into counties which have no county agents and the employment of county agents as well in directing and encouraging planting to the fullest this year are being considered. Farmers are advised that the present high prices will be still further augmented by the war time demand. Plans for mobilization of farm labor will be made that fields may not lie idle for lack of men to plant them, and it has been proposed that schools be dismissed at such a time as children might render most help on the farms.

Through the banks of the state, arrangements will be made that lack of money for the purchase of seed need not stand in the way of farmers. In connection with the seed problem, Dean Shaw has issued a warning to farmers to not plant California beans, which have been imported into Michigan, as they will not mature in this climate.

Agricultural college boys, who for three years of their course are given military training by army officers, will plan to do their bit. Seniors who have completed their training period have decided in mass meeting to resume training with the under-class men and to offer their services as soon as volunteers are sought. From the ranks of senior and junior classes many men will be available for officers to assist in training the wholly raw recruits. Many of the men of the Michigan National Guard will also be utilized by the government for this purpose. Co-eds of the college are planning the organization of a Red Cross chapter and will be prepared to serve as nurses when the call comes.

Prohibition.

Liquor legislation still is before the legislature, but a way seems to have been found to break the deadlock that apparently existed between the two houses—or would exist once the senate had acted on the house bills. The house having passed the Wiley bill, making effective the constitutional amendment by providing the regulations for sale or liquor for medical, mechanical, scientific and sacramental purposes, and the Lewis bill re-organizing the dairy and food department to administer the law and having passed the McArthur bill for a "bone dry" state, shoved them all over to the senate. The senate committee reported out without change the Wiley bill and the Lewis bill, but held the McArthur bill in committee and reported out in its place a bill introduced by Senator Damon. Now both the Damon bill and the McArthur bill are calculated to prevent the importation of liquor for beverage purposes, a point on which the Wiley bill is silent, but the enactment of the last congress forbidding importation of liquor into dry states takes care of this problem. Therefore, if the senate passes the Wiley bill and the Lewis bill without amendment and the house should kill the Damon bill in retaliation for the killing of the McArthur bill in the senate committee, the provisions of the constitution would be carried out and there would be no occasion for conference on liquor legislation and no question of its enactment before adjournment. The result would be the failure of Rep. McArthur's pet measure without an opportunity being given him to make a fight for it and his best chance for getting his name on a liquor law will lie in his ability to have the Damon bill amended and passed through both houses to make prohibition immediately effective because of the war developments, a chance which seems remote.

Fare Increase Unconstitutional. The two other big problems of the session seem practically to have been disposed of. Attorney General Groesbeck has given an opinion that the fare increase bill which was to have given the railroads above the straits three-cent fare and in the lower peninsula two and a half cents a mile, was unconstitutional and the railroads have had it withdrawn and consented to a measure which provides for the appointment of an investigating commission of three, to be appointed by the governor, which is to report in December if its findings establish the justice of increased fare for the railroads.

This bill was reported out by the railroad committee of the house the last of the week, rushed through the ways and means committee the same day and will be voted upon early in the week. Members of the commission are to be men outside of present official circles.

Budget Legislation. The other problem which has been hanging fire, budget legislation, is to be disposed of by a bill drawn by Senator Foster and Rep. Petermann at the suggestion of the governor, which will provide for a budget investigating commission such as the governor sought, which will complete its work by the first of January, after which date one member of the commission, selected by the governor, will continue to work as a budget commissioner, considering the needs of the institutions for the coming biennial period and reporting to the next legislature. The governor thus will have his wish carried out that the new fiscal system of the state shall be founded upon an investigation which shall determine the best methods for Michigan and the revision of such statutes as must undergo changes to make it effective and the members of the legislature who wished the next legislature to have a pre-considered budget to act on, will see their wishes fulfilled.

The senate last week passed the bill providing for a utilities commission to replace the present railroad commission, its membership to be four, salary $5,000 each and term four years. A resolution for the submission of a constitutional amendment to permit municipal ownership of telephones in cities of 25,000 population and over was defeated as was a measure to permit state banks to invest deposits in foreign bonds. The fear of repudiation of debts by warring countries worked to defeat this measure, together with the fact that there will be a wide opportunity for investment in Michigan and National securities as a result of the United States entering the war.

Rep. Hulke's anti-cigarette bill was defeated in his absence last week, failing to get the required 51 votes for passage. The bill got 23 votes and a few were recorded against it, but a large number of the representatives were conveniently absent when the roll call was taken. Those who stayed by and voted for the measure were Reps. Chapin, Chew, Crawford, Evans, Francis Hall, Harris, Has-senger, Hopkins, Jackson, Kooyers, Leighton, Harriman, Newkirk, Olinstead, C. J. Reed, Root, Rose, Ross, John Schaefer, R. Smith, Sours, Vine, W. W. Hart, Wells, Wiley and Speaker Rice.

NO CHANCE FOR JOHN HENRY

Recital of Pathetic Story Only Resulted in Addition to His Financial Liabilities.

"John Henry," said Mrs. Peddicord, to her husband, "as soon as you get through your paper I want you to take up the carpet in the sitting room, so that I can have it cleaned."

"Maria Jane," replied John Henry, "let me tell you of a sad occurrence which happened a few days ago."

"Well?"

"A man whose name I have forgotten, but which can be ascertained if necessary, for the newspaper in which I saw the account printed it in full, undertook to take up a carpet. In some way the tack extractor slipped, and a rusty tack pierced his thumb. He thought nothing of it at the time; but in the night his thumb began to swell. The pain became excruciating. A physician was sent for, who did his best to alleviate the poor man's sufferings, but without avail. Blood-poisoning set in, and the poor fellow died in great agony."

"Well?" again remarked Mrs. Peddicord, as her husband ceased speaking.

"Well, dear, you surely do not still insist upon your husband taking up the sitting room carpet and exposing himself to such a dreadful fate? Are you prepared to be a widow?"

"Yes, John Henry, I still insist on having that carpet taken up; but I will let you postpone the operation until tomorrow night, so that during the day you may get your life insured for $5,000."

HADN'T REACHED THE LIMIT

Colored Woman Still Had Patience, Though Admittedly Husband Was by No Means Ideal.

Jennie, the colored maid, arrived one morning with her head swathed in bandages—the result of an argument with her hot-tempered spouse.

"Jennie," said her mistress, "your husband treats you outrageously. Why don't you leave him?"

"Well, I don't 'zactly want to leave him."

"Hasn't he dragged you the length of the room by your hair?" demanded her mistress.

"Yas'm, he has done dat."

"Hasn't he choked you into insensibility?"

"Yas'm, he sho has choked me."

"And doesn't he threaten to split your head with an ax?"

"Yas'm, he has done all dat," agreed Jennie, "but he ain't done nothin' yet so bad I couldn't live wid him."—Life.

Water in Treeless Pampas.

The pampas are a paradise for cattle in the average year when the rain fills the lakelets and the pasture, whether freshly green or cured to natural hay, affords abundant feed. Occasionally a dry season intervenes; the water pools dry up; the plain becomes a waterless desert. Formerly in such years disaster overcame the herdsman and his herds. Lingered by the shrinking pools, hundreds of thousands of cattle and sheep suffered from thirst and famine until they fell and mummified in the dust. It is somewhat different now. The seasons still vary inexorably, and from time to time comes one of drought and loss; but it has lost its gravest menace. Scattered over the pampa, wherever they may be wanted, are windmills, and beside each mill is a tank and drinking trough. The wind, which so sculptured the hollows of the plain that a very large proportion of the rainfall sinks into it, now pumps the supply back to the herds, which otherwise might perish stamping the dust just above the subterranean waters.

Smuggler and Submarine.

The idea of submarine navigation is not so modern as many people imagine. When Napoleon was banished to St. Helena a notorious smuggler named Johnstone conceived the idea of assisting the dethroned monarch to escape. In Scott's "Life of Napoleon" he says:

"A submarine vessel was to be the means of effecting this enterprise. It was thought that by sinking the vessel during the daytime she might escape the notice of the British cruisers, and, being raised at night might approach the guarded rock without discovery. The vessel was actually begun in one of the building yards upon the Thames; but the peculiarity of her construction having occasioned suspicion, she was seized by the government."

Discovered Goldfields.

It was in the English town of Gosport on October 6, 1816, that Edmund Hammond Hargraves, the discoverer of the Australian goldfields, was born. He left England for Australia, and Australia for California. The scenery of the American goldfields was so similar to that of the Australian Blue mountains that Hargraves argued boldly, "Gold here, therefore, gold there." A commissionership and £10,000 was the reward of a generous government. Hargraves had really been anticipated by Smith, who about 1849, offered the government the secret, but it refused to buy in the dark.

Had Already Been Suggested.

"What you want is plain food," said the physician.

"I didn't have to come to you to learn that," said Mr. Growcher. "I know the prices of table luxuries as well as anybody."

Japanese Cotton Industry.

The export of cotton piece goods from Japan has greatly increased since the war, according to the British consul at Osaka. The mills are reported to have made a big profit in the sale of shirtings and drills. From May, 1915, the diminution in stocks in Shanghai created a demand for Japanese goods, which increased steadily during the year. The mills, however, adopting the view that prices would go higher, showed no anxiety to push sales. This attitude appears to have been justified by results. It is reported that at the beginning of 1916 the mills were in the comfortable position of having sold their output for six months ahead, and there is a general impression that the position thus gained in the cotton piece goods markets of China and India is one which will be held.

Cat's Daily Lunch a Snake.

Evidently considering a day incomplete unless it includes a lunch on snake meat, a cat belonging to Charles Shultz has set a record for snake catching. The Shultz residence, which is near the Indian school grounds, has been a center for snakes recently. About a week ago the cat brought in a two-foot copperhead in his mouth, and after it had been killed by a member of the family lunched off the choice portions.

Three snakes were caught on subsequent days by the animal, and the other day he worked overtime, securing two.—Carlisle (Pa.) dispatch to Philadelphia Record.

Birds Silenced Fire Siren.

For many weeks residents of Oakbrook, part of the annexed Cumru section, have wondered what ailed the new patent air siren on the roof of the firehouse. The whistle would not sound.

The mystery was solved when City Electrician Weiler found a bird had built a big nest in the mouth of the horn, effectually choking off the sound. The bird and her family had to move.—Reading (Pa.) Dispatch to Philadelphia Record.

Caught Napping.

The next time Billy Sunday calls on the Star, we hope he doesn't drop in at the unheard of hour of eleven o'clock in the evening. We always hasten to greet distinguished visitors, but when they come in the middle of the night like that, we want to be notified so we can be on hand.—Kansas City Star.

Consoling.

The Bride-to-Be—"My only worry is about mother. She's bound to miss me terribly." Friend of the Family—"Ah, well, she can't complain. After all, she's had you longer than most mothers keep their daughters."

Need of Exercise.

Exercise in some form is absolutely necessary for health. We are so constructed by nature that the digestive tract and alimentary tract demands bodily activity in order to perform its proper functions. Without it troubles begin to appear. Constipation becomes a chronic disease, the circulation becomes poor, the liver and kidneys do not work properly and a thousand and one little troubles begin to make themselves felt. You may begin to grow corpulent because the body is unable to eliminate the surplus sugar and starch products. Or you may grow too thin because the assimilative organs are unable to work properly from lack of proper exercise.

Cynical.

Meissonier, once at the opening of his pictures, had none of women. A friendly critic was curious to know the reason. Meissonier replied: "They can paint themselves better than I can paint them."

Garden Hints.

Sow seed in straight rows, not too deep. Radish, lettuce and onions should be covered only one-quarter to half an inch deep; cucumbers and melons about one inch; corn, peas and beans two inches. Pack soil firmly over seed after covering.

Don't sow seeds too thickly.

Do not sow beans until all danger of frost is past.

Beets may be sown as early as the ground is in condition.

Lettuce may be sown at intervals.

Cabbage should be sown in a well-prepared spot and transplanted in the garden when large enough to handle.

Plant onion sets early in the spring.

Swiss chard should be sown early.

A back yard garden cultivated for the first time should be well spaded at least a spade deep. The soil should be turned over and left to sun for a few days. A light dressing of wood ashes or air-slacked lime will correct acidity.

We usually know what is best for us to do, but the trouble is to persuade ourselves to do it.

THE NEW DE LAVAL

USE the same good judgment in selecting a cream separator that you would in making any other investment. Before you buy a separator, there are certain things that you ought to know about it.

Will it skim clean under all conditions?
Will it deliver cream of uniform thickness?
Does it run easily and require little or no attention?
Is it simple, so that it will not continually be getting out of order?
Is it easy to clean?
Is it built to last?
Most important of all,

What do people who are using it say?

The man who is using a machine is the man who can tell you the truth about it. We'll be glad to give you the names of a number of De Laval users right around this town—some of them men who formerly used separators of other makes. See these men and ask them why they changed, and what they think of the De Laval. It will be worth your while to do so.

The NEW De Laval has every good feature of the older machines and many more besides, such as the new self-centering bowl which gives greater capacity and skimming efficiency, the bell speed-indicator which insures operation at the proper speed, and the improved automatic oiling system.

We'll be glad to let you try out a NEW De Laval on your own farm before buying.

CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM.

paper and dull canvas to glowing pictures.
Albert Edward Wiggam will lecture at night on the subject of "Hereditry and Human Progress." Mr. Wiggam is one of the foremost scientific lecturers on the American platform today. He combines the ability to please the popular audience with a thorough scientific knowledge of his subject. He is one of the men who has helped make the Lyceum great and one of the highest salaried men among the professional Lyceum lecturers.

Fourth Day, Sunday August 5.

Francesco Pallaria and his band will give a grand concert, after noon and evening. Senor Pallaria has for the past two years directed bands on two of the most expensive seven day Chautauqua circuits in the country and has been universally praised. As a director, he is dynamic, dramatic and spectacular and one of his famous numbers is the descriptive phantasia entitled "The Cavalry Charge" by Luders.

Pallaria was born in Italy in an atmosphere of music and after attending the Milan Conservatory and playing for some time in a Neapolitan band, he became a director of his own organization. Then he came to America and for four years led the band on the battleship Kansas in the U. S. Navy. A number of Pallaria's own compositions will be played in his concerts. As a special feature of the band's program, a popular soprano soloist has been added.

Fifth Day, Monday August 6.

The afternoon prelude and the full evening program will be given by the Handel Choir, led by Mme. Wagner Shank. They will appear during the first part of the program wearing choral vestments and will render masterpieces of sacred music. The second part of their program is made up of humorous and entertaining sketches in which they combine both vocal and instrumental work. One particular novelty will be Harry Lauder impersonations by John McDermott.

Their program at night will include portions of popular operas in costume and an original sketch entitled, "The Days of '64," in both of which striking and appropriate costumes will be worn. Mme. Shank, the organist and leader of this company, has a wide reputation both as a singer and as a producer. At one time she was a member of Henry W. Savage's operatic forces.
Wallace Bruce Ambsary, author, poet, interpreter of dramatic literature, will give a lecture recital in the afternoon on James Whitcomb Riley, whom he designates as "The Poet Sage of Lockerie Street." This lecture contains entertaining personal reminiscences, together with an interpretation of Riley's "Simple Songs of Every Day," filled with the elusive charm of rural life. No man before the public today can depict more accurately or sympathetically, the gentle simplicity and whimsical philosophy of America's favorite poet than can Mr. Ambsary.
In addition to the above program a special feature of the Chautauqua this year will be the Junior Chautauqua for the boys and girls.

Satan Got Behind Her.

Mrs. Kilgore was the pretty young wife of the elderly village pastor. One day she went into the city with a friend and among other things bought a new frock. "Another frock, my dear?" said her husband. "Did you need another?" "Yes," said the wife, hesitatingly. "I do need it, and besides it was so pretty that the devil tempted me." "But you should have told me," said the husband. "Have you forgotten that?" "Oh, no; but that was what made the trouble, hubby, dear. I said 'Get thee behind me Satan,' and he did, but he whispered over my shoulder, 'It just fits beautifully in the back!' And I just had to take it then."—Harper's Magazine.

New Zealand Beekeeping.

Honey bees were introduced to New Zealand in 1839. Modern methods of beekeeping were introduced in 1878, principally from the United States. The industry is now supported by New Zealand laws and regulations. In 1909 the government established an experimental apiary, where between forty and fifty students are trained annually.

A Mild Protest.

"Bredder and sisters," said Parson Absalom Jonsing, as he surveyed the scant covering of the bottom of the contribution basket, "Ah wouldn't say a word to 'sinnate that one of yoh was stingy, but Ah has got to admit that yoh all is mighty thridty tryin' to get to heaven, foh about one ten-billioth of a cent a mile!"

MORE THAN MONEY IN LIFE

Those Who Look Upon Riches as the Source of All Happiness are the Wrong Idea.

Dollars to dimes it is money, easy money, the easier the better.
What do we want money for?
Merely to spend. There are some, of course, who want it just for the sake of having it, but the average individual wants it to spend. He thinks he wants to live high and fine and be sporty.
What has been the fate of the average young man who has had all the money he wanted to spend?
A full pocket generally leads to a pace that kills.

Only those who have earned their money know how to care for it, and to use it to the best advantage.
This is the best world there is for human beings. There may be better ones for spirits or other forms of life, but none better for spirits encumbered with the mortal coil.

This world may have been made for man, or he may be nothing more than one of the incidents of creation. There is much that leads to the latter conclusion. None of the various phenomena of nature show him the least respect. The lightnings smite him, storms regard him not at all, seasons come and go just as if he were not here, and he is not consulted about anything. If he cannot get enough to eat he must starve, and if he doesn't provide against cold he will freeze.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

CAMPERS HEAR SWEET SONGS

Nature's Own Warblers Make Cheer for Those Who Appreciate the Charm of the Woods.

As we chose our momentary camping place under a buttonwood tree, from out an exuberant swamp of yellow water lilies and the rearing sword blades of the coming cat tail, a swamp blackbird on his glossy black, orange-tipped wings, flung us defiance with his long, keen, full, saucy note; and as we sat down under our buttonwood and spread upon our sward our pastoral meal, the veery thrush—sadder and stranger than any nightingale—played for us, unseen, on an instrument like those old water organs played on by the flow and ebb of the tide.

But when the veery had flown, two song sparrows came to persuade us with their blithe melody that life was worth living, after all; and cheerful little domestic birds, like the Jenny wren and the chipping sparrow, pecked about and put in between whistles their little chit-chat across the boughs, while the bobolink called to us like a comrade, and the phoebe bird gave us a series of imitations.—Richard Le Gallienne.

Reducing Bread Prices.

Englishmen of the Georgian period had a drastic method of dealing with the problem of dear food. In 1813 several hundred summonses were issued by the lord mayor against bakers for selling flour at exorbitant prices and many heavy fines were inflicted. Moreover, the lord mayor intimated his resolve to keep watch on the matter until the price of flour was reduced to an equitable level. There was not only an attempt to keep down the bread prices by punishing bakers who tried to make too much profit in war time, but serious efforts were made to reduce the quantity of bread consumed. Thus the proclamation of 1800, condemning the eating of pastry, exports and charges all heads of families to reduce the consumption of bread by at least one-third of the quantity consumed in ordinary times, and in no case to suffer the same to exceed one-quarter loaf to each person in each week.

Modern Poetry.

Poetry, like every great force, has followed an evolution of its own, and as it comes to us today we may trace in it this general tendency. It has tended away from the epic and the expression of broad communal or national feeling, and expresses now far more than it did, in far more subtle and intricate directions, the feelings of the individual.
If it gives voice on public, national or international events it does so from a far more specialized and personal point of view than of old, and with something of the acerbity and narrow intellectual outlook of the party politician. The strength of modern poetry seems to lie for the future in this direction.

Evidently Somewhat Mixed.

The sergeant halted the new sentry opposite the man he was to relieve.
"Give over your orders," he said.
The old sentry reeled off the routine instructions with confidence, but one of the special orders baffled him.
"Come on, man!" said the sergeant impatiently.
"On no account," stammered the sentry, "are you to let any questionable character pass the lines, except the colonel's wife."

No Opening There, Either.

The reform warden always made it a point to give each new arrival a chance to do the work with which he was familiar, if the penitentiary dealt in his line. A tailor named Levinski arrived, and it was ordered that he be employed at that trade, if there was an opening. There wasn't. He was asked if he was adept at anything else. "Yes," he replied, with a smile, "I am a cracker-jack traveling salesman."

THE KISS

By LOUISE OLIVER.

Kathleen had never been able to conquer her fear of the head surgeon.
But in the two years she had known Doctor Breen he had never spoken to her unkindly. Even when occasion might have warranted, for there were occasions, and mistakes due to her fluttering heart and confused brain, he had been patient himself, a fact so noticeable that the rest of the training school first wondered, then commented, and finally gossiped.

One day the head surgeon met her in the hall.
Doctor Breen regarded her a moment in silence, the way her color was coming and going, the way her fingers opened and closed.

"Why are you afraid of me, Miss Starling?" he asked finally. "I'm not such a bear, am I?"

"No!" stammered Kathleen, turning away her eyes.

"And I'm not very old. How old do you think I am?"

"I—don't—know."

"Only thirty. That's not old enough to develop any full-sized grouch, now is it?"

"No."

She was uneasy and wanted to get away. The head nurse was likely to discover that she was talking to one of the doctors in the hall and she would be reprimanded.

Doctor Breen understood. "Never mind about Miss Lowmes, I'll fix this up with her. I want to ask you something more. If ever I'm sick or hurt, will you nurse me?"

"Yes, Doctor Breen." Kathleen's gray eyes were losing some of their fear.

Then things began to happen very fast. The ambulance bell sounded in the courtyard below and the nurses and orderlies seemed to be everywhere at once.

Doctor Breen had hurried away and Kathleen went back to her patients in K ward wondering what it was all about.

"What is it?" she asked an interne as the elevator passed her floor slowly with a new burden of men on stretchers.

"Explosion in the Blue Diamond mills," came the answer.

In an hour Miss Lowmes came in. "You are to go to room twenty-five on the men's floor," she said icily. "Some of the doctors went to the scene of the accident and a wall fell. Doctor Breen was hurt."

Doctor Breen hurt! Kathleen groped her way blindly to the stairs. She had promised, and she would go.

He was unconscious and did not know her, however. Kathleen helped with bandages and splints, the doctors and two nurses working silently and quickly. But there was other work to do—terrible work; and they were needed elsewhere. So Kathleen was left alone with her patient for a while.

He slept all the first day. The night brought a fever and the next day delirium. He began to talk.

"Pretty! Just the prettiest thing you ever saw, but she scares like a lit'le gray mouse. She's sweet—sweet!" he went on. "Gray eyes, long lashes and skin like a—like a tearose."

"He was quiet for a while; then suddenly, 'Kathleen, little Kathleen, don't be afraid. I'm only thirty!'"

The little nurse started and flamed red. Could he be talking about her? He was getting very restless and excited. "I want her. Get me Kathleen. Kathleen!" he called.

Finally she said quietly, laying a cool hand on his, "Here's Kathleen beside you."

"Kiss me, dear. Kiss me, Kathleen." He caught her two hands and pulled her down. After all, it was only to humor a sick man, and she was too tired to care much what happened. So her lips touched his cheek lightly.

"Miss Starling!"

It was Miss Lowmes' voice. Kathleen looked up quickly but fearlessly. There was another woman with the head nurse, a richly dressed woman of middle age, whose resemblance to the man on the bed identified her as his mother.

"Kathleen!" called the sick man.

"You may go, Miss Starling. There is little to say. You are dismissed. That's all, I believe."

And then something in the timid little mouse of a nurse broke loose.

"You are condemning me unheard, Miss Lowmes, and it isn't fair. You are taking advantage of a sick man's whim to get me out of the way because you've never liked me. But before I go—the little head with its crown of chestnut hair went up very high and the gray eyes flashed. "I want to tell you something. I'm a Starling and my mother was a Brixton. Neither a Brixton nor a Starling ever did anything dishonorable. My grandfather is John Rigby Brixton, who built this hospital and endowed it. I wonder what he'll think. And my father, Dr. Amos Starling, is the best known American surgeon in the French army now," proudly.

Miss Lowmes was aghast. Mrs. Breen too astonished to speak. There a voice spoke quietly from the bed.

"I've heard everything, and I can only divine what's wrong, but I want mother to know that Kathleen is going to marry me. Aren't you, Kathleen?"

"Yes," answered the little nurse, turning toward him happily. "There was no fear now. 'I'll do anything if you only get well.'"

McNair and recorded in the Register of Deeds office in Isosco county and state of Michigan, in Liber 18 of Mortgages, on page 88 on the 15th day of October, 1904. That default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage and in payment of principal and interest due thereon, and there is claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of Six hundred forty-nine dollars.

Notice is further hereby given that a mortgage dated the first day of December, 1906, was duly executed by Flora N. Johnson and her husband Sherman W. Johnson to Rachel B. McNair and recorded in the Register of Deeds office in Isosco county and State of Michigan, in Liber 18 of Mortgages on page 178 on the fourth day of December 1906. That default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage and in payment of principal and interest due thereon and there is claimed to be due upon said last mentioned mortgage at the date of this notice, the sum of Two Hundred seventy dollars and seventy-one cents.

Notice is further hereby given that after the execution of said mortgages and on-to-wit: the 17th day of March, 1913, the said mortgagee, Rachel B. McNair died at Warren, State of Pennsylvania, leaving a last will and testament, which was afterwards and on the 13th day of May, 1913, duly admitted to probate by the Probate Court of the County of Tuscola, State of Michigan, and that a duly exemplified copy of the order of the said Probate Court admitting the said last will and testament to probate by the said probate court was duly recorded in the said Registry of Deeds in Liber Two of Miscellaneous records on page fifteen, on the 3rd day of July, 1913.

That afterwards and on-to-wit: the 20th day of October 1913, the undersigned, Hattie M. Talbott, was duly appointed trustee of all of the estate of the said Rachel B. McNair, deceased, according to the terms of said last will and testament by the said probate court and letters of trusteeship in that behalf were duly issued to the said Hattie M. Talbott by the said probate court, on the day and year last aforesaid, she, the Hattie M. Talbott, having duly accepted the said trusteeship and filed her bond in that behalf which has been duly approved.

That afterwards and on-to-wit: the 20th day of October, 1913, there was duly assigned to the said Hattie M. Talbott, trustee, as aforesaid, by the order of the said probate court, all of the property and estate of the said Rachel B. McNair, deceased, within the State of Michigan including the said mortgages and that a duly exemplified copy of said order of assignment was duly recorded in the Registry of Deeds for said County of Isosco, State of Michigan, in Liber two of miscellaneous records on page twenty-one on the 5th day of November, 1913.

That under the power of sale in said mortgages contained, said mortgages will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, at public vendue to the highest bidder on Monday, the Fourteenth day of May, 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Tawas City, in said Isosco County, and that said premises are described in said mortgages substantially as follows: All that certain piece or parcel of land situate and being in the township of Reno, County of Isosco, and State of Michigan, described as follows, to-wit: The East half of the Northwest quarter of Section Fourteen (14) in township twenty-two (22) North of Range Five (5) East, and will be sold as aforesaid, to satisfy the amount due on said mortgages with the interest that may accrue thereon after this date and the cost of foreclosure.

Dated, February 19, 1917.

DEATH OF MRS. HERRIMAN.

Gloom was again cast over our community last Thursday morning, when word was received from Bay City that Mrs. Herbert Herriman had passed away. Mrs. Herriman had been in poor health for the past two or three years, but most of the time able to do some work and to get out with her friends so that her death came as a shock to us all.

On Monday, April 2. She went to Bay City accompanied by her husband and Dr. Cranks. An operation was performed at Mercy hospital and when Mr. H. left her on Tuesday it was thought she would get along nicely, but on Wednesday night a message came that she could not live.

Mr. Herriman accompanied by her brother, Joseph Watts, went down and brought her body home Thursday afternoon.

Augusta A. Watts was born in Peterville, Ont., March 29, 1874 and was 43 years and 6 days old at the time of her death. When but a child she moved with her parents from Canada to their home on the Hemlock road, where her mother still resides. And most of her life has been spent in this community, where she will be sadly missed.

Four years ago this spring she was united in marriage to Herbert Herriman who with his family are left to mourn the loss of a faithful wife and mother.

Other relatives left to mourn her death are her aged mother, two sisters Mrs. McKinnon of Owendale, Mich. and Miss Elsie of Grand Rapids, and three brothers, Robert, Joseph and Dow, all of this place, besides a number of other relatives and a host of friends.

Mrs. Herriman was a faithful member of the Baptist church from which place her funeral services were held on Easter Sunday, Rev. J. B. Brown officiating, and the remains were laid at rest in the Tawas City cemetery.

NO III-LUCK.

There is no such thing as ill-luck. The man or woman who is always unlucky generally is so because he or she does not grasp chance when it comes. Luck is wholly a matter of making the most of our opportunities.

They're Missing.

What has become of the old fashioned hotel keeper who used to keep the desk pen in a potato? He's probably gone to join the o. f. grocer who used to stick a tuber on the spout of your oil can.

At Baptist church Sunday April 15. Topic—"Right and Wrong Uses of Sunday."

Leader—Luella Patterson.

Everyone will be welcome. Come and help us.

The Endeavorers joined the Epworth League in sunrise meeting Easter morning which was very helpful to all who attended. Sunday evening the League kindly helped us with our meeting. All who did not attend missed an inspiring hour.

TO THE PEOPLE OF IOSCO COUNTY.

I have come in for a great deal of criticism during the past week on account of my bill for services in looking after the repair work at the court house, which bill was published in the official proceedings of the board of supervisors as follows:

Thos. H. Hill, superintending repairs on engine and heating plant ..... $24.00 $24.00

In regard to this I wish to state that this bill was not published as I presented it, and that a wrong impression has been created by the error. Following is my bill as presented to the board of supervisors:

One night working on engine and making soft plug for boiler $ 3.00

By order of supervisors for working and looking after fixing of court house and jail and getting material for same 21.00

This bill was brought up and read before the full board after it had been allowed, but no correction was made in the minutes regarding same, and I am publishing this explanation to correct the false impression that has been created. As a matter of fact the work which I did was work which should have been done by my predecessor in office, but was neglected, and the work was performed with the full authorization and knowledge of the board of supervisors.

THOMAS H. HILL, Sheriff.
