MOTHERS' DAY PROCLAMATION

Our American civilization is built around the home. The heart of the home is the mother. What is there in all the realm of Art that stands higher, more commanding, more beautiful, that a simple, refined, gracious woman in her household; a woman whose daily life is an outpouring of the Gospel of service, who is worshipped by her children, beloved by her husband and who rules in her home by sweetness, by gentleness, by self-denial, by love? The mothers of the land are engaged in the noblest of all callings, the rearing of their sons and daughters to take their places as useful members of society.

As we, whose mothers have left us, look back through the years, how sweet and precious is the memory of the mother in the home. All her life was a rare and beautiful and sang all the time. It was like flowers that bloom no summer and no winter. The memory of it kindles in us still the supreme affection and arouses the finest enthusiasm of our hearts.

Therefore, that we may pay a special tribute of affection to the mothers who still live and honor the memory of the mothers who have gone from us, I, Albert E. Sleeper, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate and set aside

Sunday, May 13th, as Mothers' Day; and I call upon our people, both young and old, to gather in their several places of worship, and to take part in services appropriate to the day and, by the wearing of a red flower and a white for the dear departed, to symbolize their love and reverence for the mothers of the nation.

In accordance with a resolution of the Congress of the United States, I further request the people of Michigan, on the day aforesaid to display the United States flag in their homes and in other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this second day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-first.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor.

COLEMAN C. VAUGHAN, Secretary of State.

Mucilage.

Mucilage is an adhesive substance prepared from the exudations of various trees and plants from linseed, marshmallow roots, onions, etc., by the addition generally of an alkali solution. The same result can be obtained by long boiling in water.

A very serviceable mucilage can easily be made from onion juice. After a short boiling, a good sized Spanish onion will readily yield on pressure a large quantity of very adhesive fluid. This product is used extensively in various trades for pasting paper on tin or even glass, its tenacity being surprisingly great and equaling the result of many of the more costly patent cements. Some of the cements sold by street fakirs at 10 cents a bottle consist of nothing but onion juice and water—the bottle and cork cost a great deal more than the contents.—Grocer's Encyclopedia.

A LETTER FROM GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Milford, Pike Co., Pa.
April 26, 1917

Mr. J. Ballard, The Herald, Tawas City, Mich. Dear Mr. Ballard:

In this great time, when every citizen must do his part, the President has made his chief appeal to the men who live on the land. He is right in doing so, for the safety of our country now is in the hands of our farmers. What I mean is not merely our safety and the safety of our allies in the matter of food. I mean that the safety of the United States against foreign invasion hangs on the decision of the farmers of the forty-eight states.

The two great weapons in this war are arms and starvation. The war against German arms will be won or lost in France—the war against starvation will be won or lost in America. The Kaiser cannot whip the French and English armies and the English navy while England has food. But it is still possible that the German submarines may be able to keep food from reaching England to starve her into submission.

The Kaiser's terms of peace will be the English fleet. With the English fleet in his possession, the Kaiser will be master of the world. What will happen to us then? Every man who stops to think knows the answer. We shall have money, food, labor, land—everything that is desirable in the world except the power to protect what we have. Experts estimate that it will take us nine months to get ready to meet a German army of even 150,000 men, with modern artillery. Under such circumstances, would the Germans treat us better than they have already treated Belgium and France?

Even if the armies of our Allies should crush the German military power this summer, before the shortage of food can reach the point of want, the world would still need vast quantities of American food. But if they do not, only one course can make us safe, and that is to grow food enough on our farms for ourselves and our Allies, and to put ships enough on the sea to carry the food, in spite of the submarines, to the men who are fighting our fight.

If the war lasts beyond this summer, it will be the American farmer who will win or lose the war, who will overcome militarism and autocracy, or allow them to spread and control the world, ourselves included.

This is no fanciful picture but sober fact. Many a man will make light of it until he comes to think it over, but I venture to say that few will treat it lightly after careful thought. It is no more impossible than the great war itself appeared to be, only a few days before it began.

It is true that we can greatly increase the available food supply out of grain now used in making liquors, and by reducing household waste. But when these two things are done, and done thoroughly, they will not be enough. The final decision will still rest in the hands of the men who raise our food in the first place.

The clear duty of the nation is to guarantee the farmers a fair price for their crops when grown, and a reasonable supply of labor at harvest. The clear duty of the farmer is to raise food enough to win this war for democracy against Kaiserism. No such responsibility has ever rested on any class of men since the world began as rests today on the farmers of America.

If you care to lay this letter before your readers, I shall be very glad to have you do so.

Sincerely yours,
GIFFORD PINCHOT.

FOR A NEW TAXATION METHOD.

A movement is on foot to submit to the electors of Michigan at the fall election of 1918 a proposition to amend the constitution to provide for site-value taxation in this state instead of the present system. An association has been formed, called the Michigan Site-Value-Tax League, whose aim it will be to educate the people of the state to the new system and to endeavor to carry the constitutional amendment at the polls in 1918.

The site-value method differs from the old and much talked of single-tax method only in one respect. The single tax provides that all taxation shall be upon the value of the land only, while the site-value tax provides that personal property and improvements upon land may be assessed at not more than fifty per cent of their value, the land being assessed at its cash value.

Personal property and improvements to the value of $1,000 each would be exempt entirely and all above that amount would be assessed above that amount under this plan. At one-half their value under this plan. At first thought the plan appears to be an excellent one, and should receive the careful consideration of the property owners of the state during the next year and a half, that they may vote intelligently upon the amendment if submitted. Petitions for the submission of the amendment are already in circulation and it will be necessary for its promoters to secure in the neighborhood of 75,000 signatures to insure its submission.

There is much to be said in favor of site-value taxation, and in this article it can be covered but slightly. As an illustration of how the site-value tax would be a benefit to the farmer it may be mentioned that in the state of Michigan there are some 80 cities with a total area of about 300,000 acres. There are also about 13,000,000 acres of improved farm land in the state. But the 300,000 acres of city area have a far greater market value (and therefore taxable value) than the 13,000,000 acres of farm land. There are also thousands of acres of unimproved farm land in the state which is being held by the owners for speculative purposes. The site-value tax would place this land on the tax rolls at its cash value instead of a nominal value as at present, and would therefore tend to place this land on the market and make it easier for those who wish to secure the most potent. While the leaders of other agencies have talked, its leaders have worked. The Plattsbury experiment, which owes its origin and success to their labors, has been a real beginning of preparedness. If war comes, Plattsbury alone will give 12,000 officers to our army. Its influence has been felt all over the country. Plattsbury has given us an object lesson in universal training.

Prompt action should be taken by our national lawmakers to provide suitable punishment for workmen who promote or participate in strikes during the present war. Anything which interferes with the progress of industries in a trying time like the present should come under the head of treason, and while the extreme penalty of death might be too severe for such an offense there should be a punishment provided severe enough to deter the fomenting of labor troubles at a time when the labor of every man and woman is needed to keep the wheels moving.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY SERVICE MUST COME.

Much time has been spent by congress since the special session was called in arguments regarding whether this country should or should not adopt some plan of universal military service. When congress first convened the president recommended the passage of compulsory service legislation, but the past weeks have been spent in useless wrangling over technicalities in the halls of congress and today we are no nearer a solution of the problem than before.

There is no question but that some method of universal service must be adopted if this country is to raise an adequate military force to uphold the national honor in our present situation. The men of this nation are willing enough to fight, but the patriotic class do not propose to offer themselves for cannon fodder at a mere pittance and leave their families to suffer during their absence, while the "slacker" remains at home and draws higher wages by reason of their absence, and lives on the fat of the land.

Let congress at once pass a universal service law and the various branches of the service can then be placed upon the proper basis of war strength. Every day lost through useless argument means lost time in fitting the men for service, and every day counts at this time when our armies should be getting into condition for active service. It takes time to fit recruits for actual service and the sooner we get about the task the better it will be for our state of preparedness. Let congress act more and talk less.

The New York Times of February 20th, in an editorial entitled "Working for Preparedness," referred to the fact that the various associations and leagues working for preparation of national defense, must get together and remarked as follows: "Of all the various agencies of preparedness, the Training Camps Association has been the most potent. While the leaders of other agencies have talked, its leaders have worked. The Plattsbury experiment, which owes its origin and success to their labors, has been a real beginning of preparedness. If war comes, Plattsbury alone will give 12,000 officers to our army. Its influence has been felt all over the country. Plattsbury has given us an object lesson in universal training.

Prompt action should be taken by our national lawmakers to provide suitable punishment for workmen who promote or participate in strikes during the present war. Anything which interferes with the progress of industries in a trying time like the present should come under the head of treason, and while the extreme penalty of death might be too severe for such an offense there should be a punishment provided severe enough to deter the fomenting of labor troubles at a time when the labor of every man and woman is needed to keep the wheels moving.

A PROCLAMATION.

By the Sheriff of Iosco County.

I, Thomas H. Hill, Sheriff of Iosco county, deem it wise in the present crisis by this formal proclamation to assure all residents of foreign birth that even in the event of the United States becoming actively involved in the great European war, no citizen of any foreign power resident in Iosco county need fear any invasion of his personal or property rights so long as he goes peaceably about his business and conducts himself in a law-abiding manner.

The United States has never in any war confiscated the property of any foreign resident unless by his own hostile acts he made it necessary. I take this formal means of declaring to all foreign-born residents that they will be protected in the ownership of their property and money and that they will be free from personal molestation as long as they obey the laws of the state and nation.

Let it be understood that every citizen owes an undivided allegiance to the American flag, that he is expected to loyally fulfill all obligations which citizenship and residence impose upon him, and that any act, however slight, tending to give aid or comfort to the enemy is treason, for which severe penalties are provided in addition to that punishment which public opinion inflicts upon the memory of all traitors in all lands.

THOMAS H. HILL,
Sheriff of Iosco County.

RECRUITS WANTED FOR CO. D.

33rd MICHIGAN.

Fort Brady, Soo, Michigan.

April 25, 1917.

To All Loyal Americans:

Captain Charles T. Park of Company D 33rd Michigan Infantry will be at the Armory in Alpena, Mich. on and after April 30, 1917 on an extended tour of recruiting.

Company D has had ten months service on the Mexican border and elsewhere, and is now strongly organized with good officers and men but about half a hundred more good, healthy, robust men can be used.

By joining Company D you are not casting your lot with a new organization, but one that has seen service in the past and is prepared for any service in the future.

Get in touch with Captain Park at the Armory; go and see him; if it is too far call him up and if there is no telephone, write to him. But the main idea is to see him before he returns—a little talk with him regarding our life, our home, and our duties will do you good even if you do not enlist.

Trusting that the response to this call will be gratifying to us, I am

Yours sincerely,

WM. F. WEINE,
1st Lieut. Co. D. 33rd Mich. Inf.

THE FORMATION OF ROCKS.

By Gertrude Buck, Age 13, 7th Grade. A stone grows no other way except smaller. A stone grows smaller every day. When stones split from a large rock it is round. It is according to the weather whether they are round or not.

Only a few years ago people thought that the desert was the bottom of the ocean. Sand is rock but of a finer grain. The desert is not the bottom of the ocean. In some places the air is warm, it hardly ever rains and hardly any streams flow, this place is called a desert.

If there is no streams we know there is hardly any rain. We never have very much dust because when it rains it settles it. In regions where there is not very many streams we know it does not rain much.

Not all streams reach the sea. Small streams dry up before they reach the sea. In meadows the streams help to make the soil.

We say the earth is on one grand march to the sea.

We know that rocks crumble and are made in peculiar shapes.

Rocks breathe by the pores in the rock. The rocks contain iron. Some of the rocks go to the sea with the streams.

THE PRIBILOF ISLANDS.

By Charles Kocher, 7th Grade. The Pribilof Islands have yielded United States about $1,400 an acre since we have got them in our possession. The Pribilof Islands are worth $10,000,000.00 more now than when we got them. It is the breeding place for all the seals in the Alaskan country. There is over 300,000 seals there now, and this summer there will be double that amount.

The Pribilof Islands contain about 60 square miles of surface. The seals are plentiful in the Pribilof Islands.

STUDY OF ROCKS.

By James Daley, 7th Grade. Rocks are broken by the wind, heat, cold, frost and water. Rocks crumble into little particles. Rocks are full of little holes or pores. When the water enters the rock it freezes and crumbles the rock. Sand is crumbled rock.

Rocks grow only one way and that is smaller. Some rocks are round and smooth and some are rough and twisted, caused by weathering. Deserts are caused by there not being any rainfall.

Rocks contain iron. Rocks contain gold. This continent has all rock at one time.

A few years ago it was thought that the desert used to be an ocean bed. In some places there is a whole lot of rock and in some places there is none. This is caused by glaciers.

Rocks are sometimes scattered by volcanoes. Deep down in the ground it is all rock. Rocks don't grow larger. Some rocks are not sound.

Rocks are very hard. Rocks get air through little pores or holes. The inside of a mountain is rock. Water will make little crevices in rocks. Weathering makes rocks look dirty.

The Indians used rocks to grind corn. Rocks are split and used to make roads. Some rocks weigh from a pound to a ton.

GEOGRAPHY.

By Florence Humphrey, Sixth Grade. A sheet of slowly moving ice which is thousands of feet deep is called a glacier. Some glaciers are so large that they cover a large piece of land. Some glaciers are as large as a small mountain, they called icebergs.

Some places where the glacier has crept over the land it has left sand, gravel, boulders and clay, this is called a glacier drift.

If the melting end of a glacier remains long at the same place the drift accumulates into an irregular range of hills, this is called a terminal moraine. A whale-back shaped hill is called a drumlin.

Waves are dashes of the water caused by the wind. When a wave enters shallow water, its lower part drags on the ground or the bottom, while the upper part, rushing onward rolls over and breaks. It is called a breaker.

Tides are the rising of the water and the falling of the water. They come at a certain time of day. People living by the ocean know when the tide comes in. A flood tide is the rising of the water. A high tide is where the tide is rising. An ebb tide is the fall of the water. A low tide is an ebb tide.

A bore is where some estuaries and river mouths, that drag of the heightened tidal wave on the bottom, causes the waves to form a breaker. A long line of narrow sandy islands are called barrier beaches. Tidal currents carrying sand are constantly flowing along the coast close to the shore.

Between the currents is a stream of water, where sand collects. It may be built into a bay, from one side of its mouth, a long, narrow spit or sandy hook.

The growth and death of polyps, the base of the colony may gradually be built up to the surface of the sea to form a coral reef.

Muscle Soreness Relieved. Unusual work, bending and lifting or strenuous exercise is a strain on the muscles, they become sore and stiff, you are crippled and in pain. Sloan's Liniment brings your quick relief, easy to apply, it penetrates without rubbing and drives out the soreness. A clear liquid, cleaner than musky plasters or ointments, it does not stain the skin or clog the pores. Always have a bottle handy for the pains and aches of rheumatism, gout, lumbago, grippe, bruises, stiffness, backache and all external pain. At your druggist, 25c. adv-3

The Hemlock Ladies' Aid met last week Wednesday at Mrs. Ferristers' and although the attendance was small they quilted a quilt.

Say Sam have you got your land cleared up yet for beans? It's almost time to plant them. Hurry up with your stumps and be sure and save the pine knots for B. to gather while this cold weather lasts.

Mrs. Otto Somerville was taken seriously ill last Saturday morning and after suffering from convulsions through the day, she was taken to Bay City that evening where she underwent an operation and at last reports was getting along nicely.

About 30 friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Miller gathered at their home Saturday evening and pleasantly surprised them. The occasion being their 25th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in games, after which a delicious lunch was served. They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moeller, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swartz remained and spent Sunday.

Sell the Champion Cream Saver
THE NEW DE LAVAL

NINE separator users out of ten turn the handles of their machines too slowly, and when this is done, not only will the machine not skim as clean as it should, but the thickness of the cream will vary.

While it is possible to adapt the capacity of the machine to the speed, it is not desirable to do this, because even if fairly clean skimming is accomplished at varying speeds, the cream will not be uniform in thickness.

There is only one satisfactory solution, and that is to make it practically impossible for the operator to run his machine at any but the proper speed.

Every NEW De Laval is equipped with a bell speed-indicator

The "warning signal" that rings when the separator handle is being turned too slowly, preventing loss of butter-fat caused by too slow operation and insuring the delivery of a cream of uniform thickness.

This simple device is patented by the De Laval Company and is found only on De Laval machines. It is only one of the many important improvements in the NEW De Laval. If you are considering the purchase of a separator, come in and let us show you a machine that has more good features than any separator you have ever seen.
