COMMENCEMENT DAY.

The annual commencement exercises of the Tawas City high school and Iosco County Normal were held on the lawn at the high school grounds on Wednesday evening, June 19. A large platform had been erected on the east side of the building, which was very prettily decorated with the national colors, red, white, and blue, and lighted with electric lights especially installed for the occasion. There was even a spot-light, which was placed in one of the trees and used in certain parts of the entertainment.

The program consisted of a piano duet by Misses Lillian Wickland and Phyllis Birney, a play entitled "Every Student," participated in by the members of both classes, and a vocal solo by Miss Nyda Campbell, entitled "Dress Up Your Dollars in Khaki." The presentation of diplomas was made by Supt. Eugene Swem, who gave a short but very eloquent and appropriate address to the class and assembled audience.

The class play was well presented, each character being well-nigh perfect, and showed careful preparation on the part of both the participants and those who trained them. The lighting and tableau effects were very pretty, and the whole presentation received the liberal applause to which it was entitled. The program was concluded by the singing of the national anthem by the entire audience.

The innovation of holding the exercises on the lawn was decidedly successful, the only drawback being the weather, which was a little cool for the occasion. It was estimated that there were 500 people present, which was a great many more than could have been accommodated had the exercises been held in the court house as usual.

A BLACK HAND (?) LETTER.

Considerable comment and inquiry has been heard throughout the county recently regarding a reputed "Black Hand" letter which had been received by Sheriff Thos. Hill.

Upon inquiry of the sheriff regarding the matter he produced the letter in question for the benefit of the Herald reporter and we were privileged to read it so far as it is readable. And this is what it consisted of: Five sheets of rambling, incoherent jumble, written in attempted poetry form, but without feet or meter. A conglomeration of pseudo-religious insanity, containing in places sentences which may be construed as veiled threats. Following is a sample of the utter insanity of the matter contained in the missive.

"Have I not chosen the way of salvation
How shall my spirit destroy any nation
Shall not all nations in me now be blessed.
None of their laws have I ever transgressed
Have I not reaped every spirit but one
How shall I die when that spirit has won
Who shall now say
I am thus a misfit
I am now ready to reap even it"

And another spasm, wherein one might find an implied threat, but which is on a par with the balance of the hodge podge:
"Eat drink and be merry
Tomorrow you die
And vainly understand why
For thus it is written
I save but a few
And those I have smitten
Have little to do
I am thy light
The light divine
Shall come this night.
To thee and thine
He was wounded for our transgressions
By his stripes are ye healed
All people may now make confession
For thus has the Word been revealed"

Four of the sheets were typewritten and then mimeographed, three of them on sheets of ordinary tissue toilet paper, the fourth on a sheet of light brown wrapping paper. The fifth sheet was written long hand and then mimeographed on a sheet of linen finish writing paper, with one line at the bottom written in indelible pencil.

On the back of the wrapping paper sheet was stamped with a stenciling machine, or rubber stamp, the words "Our Class—All Present June 17—The Day." The mimeographing is so poorly done that a large portion of the stuff is absolutely unreadable.

The letter was sent in an ordinary No. 6 envelope, posted at Lansing. Upon the envelope was the stamp of the Lansing postoffice "Received under cover from?" The missive evidently had been mailed from some other points to the Lansing postoffice for re-mailing, and would therefore be hard to trace, as it might have originated in Iosco county or in any one of a thousand other localities.

However, "The Day" is now past and nothing occurred. While Sheriff Hill was naturally on guard for a few days he states that he was not in any way alarmed and that it would have been unhealthy for anyone whom he had discovered under suspicious circumstances about that time.

The letter was probably the production of a deranged mind, and the mimeographing, together with the stamped date would imply that other similar letters might have been sent elsewhere. It was addressed merely "Sheriff of Iosco Co." in long hand and its fellows might have been sent to sheriffs of other counties.

The Hemlock road baseball team defeated the East Tawas Independents at the fair grounds last Sunday in a game that was close and exciting from start to finish.
Hemlock took the lead by scoring two runs in the second inning and one in the third. East Tawas then tied the score in the fifth. It was then a pitchers' duel between Thompson and McCardell until the eighth inning, when East Tawas put their fifth and last score across the plate. Hemlock came back in the last part of the eighth and scored two more runs. McCardell pitched a good game for Hemlock. Only a small crowd was present to witness the game.

COMMENCEMENT

The commencement exercises of the East Tawas high school were held in the opera house, Wednesday evening, June 19.

The class consists of thirteen members as follows:
Hazel M. Boomer, president,
Ernest Rudolph Applin, vice president
Caius A. Gordon, secretary
John E. Thompson, treasurer
Glady's V. Swales, editor

Francis M. Klenow, Harriet I. Schill, Agnes G. Davey, Harriet L. Stickley, Mary E. Coulson, LeRoy Alford, Clare McGuire and Gladys Frances English.

The class colors were the ever-appropriate and even more so this year than ever—Red, White and Blue. The class motto, "Over the Top," also serves to keep in mind our boys who have given up as promising prospects as these young people are facing now, to make the world safe for all our aspiring young people. The class flower is the sweet pea. The young ladies of the class followed the custom inaugurated by graduating classes in the larger cities and wore single Peter Thompson suits of white, with red ties, and a cluster of sweet peas.

The class march was played by Miss Mary Gardner, and Rev. J. N. Goodrich invoked divine blessing on the class and all connected with it. The orchestra then rendered a selection and Miss Harriet Stickley delivered the salutatory, which was well given and well received. The class then sang their class song, and the speaker of the evening, the Venerable E. V. Jennin was introduced. To those who have had the pleasure of hearing the archdeacon, it is not necessary to say that it was a masterly address. "The Philosophy of Mother Goose," as he recited several Mother Goose rhymes, and extracted from each of them a surprising amount of wisdom and sound reasoning capping each with a moral for the class of 1918. Intermingled with his witty remarks were solid serious thoughts tending to lead the minds of his hearers to the truth that life is what we make it. He compared the occasion to a first class funeral, with all the accompaniments of flowers, and kind words, and said that from then the class ceased to exist as a class because buried in a mass of humanity. His address met with hearty applause.

After another selection by the orchestra the treasurer of the class, John Thompson presented the school for as Bay City, where she remained for a few days.

Mrs. A. J. Brockway left Tuesday for Howel, where she will visit her son, Earl Jennings, who expects to be called into the service this month. She was accompanied by her son, S. E. Brockway.

TO THE MEN WHO WILL GO TO CAMP CUSTER ON THE 27th

Look for the Y. M. C. A. when you reach camp.

Take with you a safety razor, tooth brush, tooth-powder, pocket comb, mirror, your changes of underwear, cathartic pills, a strong suit case with a good lock on it. $5.00 in cash, and a small Bible.

Do not take large amount of money, good clothes, collars, neckties, and knickknacks.

Go resolved to make yourself like it. Plan to stay the limit. Take things as they come. Keep cheerful, smile and sing when things go dead wrong. Write home at least once a week. Look wise and learn as fast as possible. The army is a school; take advantage of the opportunity. Keep your eyes open and your mouth shut; silence and head work are golden in the army. Profit by suggestions of officers. Look every man in the eye in all dealings. Obey orders strictly and promptly. Consider passes merely special favors. Be congenial and a good mixer. Think of others. Show respect for women. Get the thrift habit and save your money. Carry war insurance.

"Leave whiskey alone. Cut profanity. Tell no smutty stories. Return borrowed articles. Lend when possible. Omit all street acquaintances with women and hasty friendships with men. Cheer up fellows in the dumps, make life comfortable for others. Attend religious meetings occasionally. Read the Bible."

Don't expect frequent furloughs. Don't take any book except what you can carry in your pocket or throw away. Don't grumble about your work; the grumbler gets the worst of it in the end. Don't lie, or exaggerate. Don't pose as a tough guy. Don't nurse a grudge when "bawled out" by an officer. Don't talk back when called down unjustly or by mistake. Don't try for promotion by a "pull." Keep your standards high.

I hope to be with you from East Tawas to Battle Creek.

MUST BACK THE GOVERNMENT WITH ALL OUR STRENGTH.

Few people, indeed, in this country now fail to realize that we are fighting a brutal, relentless enemy. The indictment against the Hun grows stronger every day. He is absolutely devoid of pity or chivalry. An American correspondent reports a conversation with a crippled British officer who, after a long stay in German prison pens, had been exchanged.

The officer told men so feeble from lack of food and bad conditions as to be able scarcely to stand being forced to work at the point of a bayonet until they dropped from sheer weakness; of badly set gun-fractured arms and legs; of soldiers buried to the accompaniment of the jeers of German soldiers; of the long journeys of the badly wounded without relief of dressing, food, or water; of wounded prisoners marched to exhaustion and then shot down like dogs when they no longer could walk. Of prisoners put into camps where typhus raged.

This is the kind of enemy we are fighting, and this is why all of us must get down and put every bit of our strength back of the Government. For one thing, we must buy only those things necessary to maintain ourselves in the most efficient condition. That will give the Government more labor and material for war purposes. And then with our savings we must buy War Savings Stamps. That will give the Government current funds with which to use labor and material in the successful prosecution of the war. We must do as President Wilson asks us to do in his message—pledge ourselves on or before June 28 to save constantly and to buy regularly Government securities. We shall then be doing our part.

BACK YARD AND CHARACTER.

Brete Harte once wrote a story in which he pointed out that one must look at the back and not at the front of a man's house for an insight into the occupant's true character. If we want to estimate character accurately we must have an all-round view and not accept face values.

This brings us again to the question of back yards. Is your's as clean and well kept as you can make it or is it littered with trash, cans, kindling and other rubbish? Are the garbage and wastes properly covered and free from flies? Is the stable or out-house a fly-breeding center for the neighborhood? You have work ahead of you for your health's sake and for the sake of decency if any of these conditions exist.

It is a privilege to have even a small back yard. There are thousands of dwellers in cities, where land is sold by the square foot who yearn for a little space to call their own. Those who are so fortunate as to have back yards should care for them and make use of them.

If there be children in the family that back yard should be their playground. A doll house, a turning pole, a swing or a tent will provide unlimited entertainment and will help to keep the children out of the streets. If there are no children in the family, a shovel, a rake, a hoe and a moderate sized backyard-garden should afford a reasonable amount of healthful exercise combined with pleasure and profit.—Public Health.

HOME CANNED PRODUCTS RELEASE FACTORY SUPPLY FOR ARMY USE

Lansing, June 18—Although the American housewife is urged to can or preserve every ounce of fruit or vegetables possible as a patriotic food conservation measure, her product must be reserved for civilian use. Home canned and preserved goods cannot be purchased or accepted as gifts for the army or navy, the Food Administration announced today.

Patriotic persons all over the country have been offering to organize workers in their vicinity to supply our soldiers and sailors with food prepared at home. This splendid spirit is extremely praiseworthy, Food Administration officials say, and it can be turned into channels that will do exactly as much for our armed forces and the Allies as thought it had provided them with million of cans or jars of home-preserved food.

No governmental department is permitted to accept any article without paying for it. However, even if home-preserved foods could legally be bought, their purchase would be impossible because of the difficulty which acceptance of small lots would entail in the way of inspection. Supplies of this kind must be purchased in reasonably large units and must be uniform both as to ingredients and containers. With shipping space precious, this uniformity is doubly important, in order that the greatest possible quantity may be packed in a given space and that the keeping quality of goods may insure their arrival in good condition.

However, every additional million jars or cans that are filled by housewives for home use will release an identical quantity of commercially canned goods for export. There will also be saved the labor, space on freight cars and cost of transportation that would mount up if factory-preserved foods had to be sent broadcast throughout the country instead of being shipped in large blocks to cantonments or abroad. Housewives will be able to use containers already in their possession, thus relieving the demand for cans at a time of shortage of tin.

Rumors have been afloat that the army is providing cans to canning clubs. This is denied by the Food Administration, which assists both army and navy in buying their commissary supplies. By canning for home consumption these communities will help "the boys over there" just as much as though they were sending the food directly to the soldiers.

WAR NEWS DIGEST

Incomplete returns from 25 States show that nearly 3,400,000 women have registered for the war work under the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense.

The 12-cylinder Liberty motor, according to a statement by the War Department, weighs 825 pounds and develops 450 horsepower, or a weight of 1.8 pounds per horsepower. The gasoline consumption is approximately 0.46 pound per horsepower hour.

The standardized "type B" truck has been officially adopted as the standard heavy-duty cargo truck for use by the Army in all its departments requiring this capacity truck. A large number have been ordered and it is expected the first 10,000 will be completed about August 1, 1918.

There is no discrimination of any kind between soldiers who are not citizens of the United States and the native born or naturalized citizens in the American Army, excepting that the former can not hold commission. In all other respects—care, attention, privilege, etc.—they are all on the same footing.

The Food Administration is making a careful survey of the national ice situation in order that it may be prepared to meet any sudden shortages in particular communities. The destruction of ice plants by fire, breakdown of machinery, or the exigency of the weather may at any time cause a serious shortage.

Next to the aggregate number of subscribers, perhaps the most striking feature of the third Liberty loan was the support given it by the farming and rural populations of the country, according to a statement by the Treasury Department. Not only did the farmers purchase liberally of the bonds, but the rural communities as a rule were more prompt in completing their quotas of the loan than the larger cities. More than 20,000 communities in the United States subscribed or oversubscribed their quotas, many of them on the first day of the campaign. The majority of these were not cities, but country districts.

THE MAKING OF YOSEMITE.

Science Has Discovered That the Great Gorge of the Yosemite Valley Was Scooped by Water, Not Glaciers.

After the visitor to the Yosemite Valley has recovered from his first shock of astonishment—for it is no less—at the supreme beauty of the valley, inevitably he wonders how nature made it. However did it happen that walls so enormous rose so nearly perpendicular from so level a floor.

It will not lessen wonder to learn that it was water which cut most of this deep valley in the solid granite. Originally the Merced River flowed practically at the level of the canyon top. How long it took its waters, enormous in volume then, no doubt to scrape with tools of sand this valley thousands of feet into the living granite, no man can even guess. And, as it cut the valley, it left the tributary streams sloping even more sharply from their levels until eventually they poured over brinks as giant waterfalls.

But geologists have determined, by unerring fact, that the river did by far the most of the work, and that the great glacier which followed the water ages afterward did little more than square its corners and steepen its cliffs. It may have increased the depth from seven hundred to a thousand feet, if not more.

During the uncountable years since the glaciers vanished, erosion has again marvellously used its wondrous chisel. With the lessening of the Merced's volume, the effect was no longer to deepen the channel but to amazingly carve and decorate the walls.

CANNERGRAMS.

Get down to cases—cases of home-canned products.

S. O. S.—Sterilize on stove—another way of saying "boil those jars of fruits and vegetables so they will keep perfectly."

A row of filled preserving jars is a good defense against winter. A wooden false bottom in a home-canning outfit is a raft that keeps lots of perishable food from being lost.

A fourth floor apartment is a fine place to produce a canned garden. Brighten the corner in that kitchen closet—with canned beans, fruit, berries.

The colors of those jars of canned and preserved products put a service emblem in your kitchen.

Person of every level should can, the family in the top flat as well as the dweller in the bungalow.

You don't need even a foot of earth to raise a canned garden—in fact the less dirt the better in home canning. Sterilized, sealed, saved—the three "S's" of home canning.

An all-around good thing for the Nation—a rubber ring on a preserving jar.

BE A WAR SAVER

Thrive by thrift.
Make thrift your buy-word.
A war saver is a life-saver.
Thrift and patriotism are synonymous.

Business as usual now may mean no business later.

National War Savings Day is the stay-at-home's day.

Labor and material are essential to victory; use both sparingly.

Back up those who are offering their all—buy War Savings Stamps.

Many are giving their lives; you are asked only to loan your money.

Unusual business now means resumption of business as usual later.

Give up your luxuries that the Kaiser may be made to give up his ambitions.

He also serves who stays and saves. After all, saving is not sacrificing.

Join the army behind the Army—be a war saver.

Serve abroad or serve at home. Buy War Savings Stamps.

When you buy War Savings Stamps you do not give—you receive.

Become a stockholder in the United States—buy War Savings Stamps.

Help your Government and yourself at the same time—buy War Savings Stamps.

Luxuries as usual means victory over Germany. Save and buy War Savings Stamps.

Don't wait to be urged to join the W. S. S. army. What if our men in the trenches waited to be urged.

Pledge yourself to save to the utmost and to buy a definite amount of War Savings Stamps each month.

George W. Wickersham, former Attorney General of the United States, says: "Business as usual means waste as usual."

War Savings Stamps help provide that "Force, force to the utmost, force without stint or limit, the righteous and triumphant force which shall make right the law of the world," which President Wilson says must be used against our enemies.

Do not forget that War Savings Stamps are not for children only. Most of the squandering is done by the grown-ups.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM GEO. H. VAN PELT

This is the first of a series of letters which Mr. Van Pelt has agreed to furnish the Herald during the summer. Mr. VanPelt is a snappy writer and his letters on good roads will be full of interest.

Charlevoix, Mich., May 31, 1918.

To the Editor:

Tourists are coming into Michigan by the thousands every summer and, in fact, all year long. They spend money wherever they go and spend liberally. The business with tourists represent no small part of the transactions of Michigan business men. They come over the railroads and over the highways—increasingly over the highways as we build good concrete roads.

Every county in the state of Michigan will be benefited when the Dixie Highway is a concrete highway from Chicago to Mackinac and from Mackinac to Detroit and Toledo. Of course, towns directly on the Dixie Highway will benefit more than those off the route, but the tourists don't always stay on the main routes. The stranger who gets into the beautiful resort state of Michigan isn't going to be satisfied to stay on the main highway. He's going to find out what our beautiful lakes and hotels are like and the entire state is full of both. He's going to find the good fishing in unfrequented places, miles off the main highway.

The Michigan Resorts and Tourists' Association is doing much to advertise Michigan as the great resort state. If you want to know what is doing write or ask H. J. Gray, secretary of the Association at Grand Rapids. It is his business to tell you. He was the advertising manager of the Pere Marquette Railroad for many years and knows the truth about Michigan. You can address him care of Grand Rapids Association of Commerce.

Or, you might ask John Gibson of the West Michigan Development Co., to tell you about sheep and sheep lands in Michigan. You will find his office in Grand Rapids too.

Van Pelt.

We have recently received a full car lot of Smooth and Slate Surface Roofing and Slate Surface Asphalt Shingles

We offer this modern roofing material at prices that will please you.

The recent fire in the old "Bay Side Hotel" demonstrated the value of Composition Roofing as fire retarders. TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY

A Worker

TRUMAN H. NEWBERRY is a worker,—always has been and always will be,—because he loves work.

As a lad he went out and joined a railroad construction gang and worked up to be passenger and freight agent of the road.

Later, he sailed the Lakes and worked his way to a pilot's license, which he holds to-day as one of his proudest possessions.

Afterward, he went into business life, where, by hard work, he made a name and place for himself.

As Assistant Secretary of the Navy under President Roosevelt, he gave the closest attention to his duties and his good work advanced him to the position of Secretary of the Navy and a member of Roosevelt's Cabinet.

To-day his work as a Commander in the Third Naval District is winning widespread approval.

As a worker, he knows about other workers, understands them and their problems. He was one of the first business leaders to declare publicly in favor of the rights of the laboring man, and his reputation for fairness and straightforward dealing attracted wide and favorable attention in industrial circles.

While Secretary of the Navy he made it possible for the men in the Brooklyn Navy Yard to have an organization for mutual benefit and sought their suggestions on the work they had in charge, gave them an opportunity to examine and approve the wage scale and put the working force into such a frame of mind as to secure their fullest co-operation. The men were with him and he got results.

His Record Speaks for Itself

As a working United States Senator, Truman H. Newberry will be "on the job" for the workers of Michigan and the whole country.

MAY THERE BE NONE UNENLISTED ON THAT DAY!
President Wilson, in his statement calling upon every man, woman, and child to pledge themselves on or before June 28 to save constantly and to buy regularly the securities of the Government, says, "May there be none unenlisted on that day!"
As the President points out, "This war is one of nations—not armies—and all of our 100,000,000 people must be economically and industrially adjusted to war conditions if this Nation is to play its full part in the conflict."
Our Nation not our Army and Navy only, is at war. And that means that all of us not actually fighting must do our part.
That part consists in giving the Army and the Navy all the support of which we are capable. To do that each one of us must first of all be a producer to our maximum ability and a consumer of necessities only, for every bit of man power and every particle of material is necessary for the use of the Army and Navy and for the making of the things essential to our citizens.
As a maximum producer and as a consumer of necessities only, each one of us will be an accumulator of savings. And these savings can be invested in War Savings Stamps with benefit both to the Government and ourselves.

NEW ORDER FOR EATING PLACES ON USE OF BEEF (Official Order.)
The changing situation in shipping, and the increasing demands for our growing army, and with the fluctuation in the supply of local beef in France, all make it impossible to determine policies for long periods in advance.
The demands for beef for our army and the Allied armies are rapidly decreasing the present surplus; on the other hand we have enough increased supply of pork this summer to permit economy expansion in its use. Therefore, to render a direct service to our army and the Allied Armies, we must substitute beans, fresh pork, bacon, hams and sausage for beef products.
You are not to serve beef more than twice weekly, beef steak at not more than one meal weekly and roast beef at not more than one meal weekly.
In view of the necessity for this ruling, violation of its provision will be sufficient cause for closing your place of business.
Very respectfully,
GEO. A. PRESCOTT,
Federal Food Administrator.
E. C. PUFFER,
Chairman State Hotel Committee.
