HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK

Local, Personal and General News Furnished in Condensed Paragraphs for the Convenience of the Busy Reader

Fire insurance, H. E. Hanson, adv. If you have any hides or furs to sell call 123-F2.

Mrs. Thomas Connors returned from Detroit Monday.

Mrs. M. Murray was at Bay City on business last Saturday.

Miss Katherine Lanski of Oscoda spent the weekend at her home here.

C. T. Prescott and James McCrum went to Detroit on business Sunday evening.

Private Ernest Anspach of Camp Custer visited his sister, Mrs. William McCaskey this week.

English services will be held at the Emmanuel Lutheran church next Sunday morning, Feb. 2. All are cordially invited.

James McArdle arrived in this city last Saturday, having received his honorable discharge from Camp Custer.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCaskey and children motored to Turner last Sunday and spent the day with relatives there.

Julius Reinke, who is stationed on the U. S. S. Kentucky, now at Boston, Mass., is spending a short furlough at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Osburn of Prescott and James Davisor of Flint are the guests of relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James McRae and children returned to their home at Flint last Saturday after attending the funeral of Mrs. Alex McRae.

Elmer E. Odell has taken the agency for the Zanol products, soaps, toilet articles and flavorings. See him when in need of anything in this line.

Manager Berube of the new Tawas City theatre requires the services of a young lady to sell tickets or attend to the player piano. Apply by letter or in person at once.

Prospects for an ice crop from Tawas Bay are rather dubious just now. The ice in the bight of the bay is thick enough to cut, but is reported to be honeycombed and unfit to put up.

It looks as though old King Winter was trying to make up for the severity of last winter. Not in a great many years has the weather been so consistently mild in December and January as has been the case this year.

The regular bi-weekly meeting of the Twentieth Century Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Lida Stickney on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 1. This is the annual meeting at which officers for the ensuing year will be chosen.

A good attendance was had at the community sing at the school house Monday evening. Besides the program of songs, short talks were given by N. C. Harting and O. G. Prettyman. Those present enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

Mrs. John A. Mark returned Monday night from St. Charles, where she was called some weeks ago by the death of a brother-in-law and the illness of her sister. Two of her nieces accompanied her home and will remain for some time.

Republican ward caucuses to elect delegates to the county convention to be held Feb. 18 will be held in Tawas City next Monday evening, Feb. 3. The first and second ward caucuses will be held at the court house and the third ward caucus at the city hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fahselt entertained sixteen of their friends at a delightful card party last Friday evening at their home. Prizes were won by Martin Schlechte, Mrs. Fred Luedtke, Ed. Marzinski and Mrs. Albert Mallon. An elaborate luncheon was served after which games and music were enjoyed.

Feature program at the Family Theatre: Friday and Saturday, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, Peggy Hyland in "Peg of the Pirates," 5 reels. Admission 10c and 20c. Sunday and Monday, Feb. 2 and 3, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, world renowned comedienne, in a 5-act comedy, "Pay Day." Admission 10c and 20c.

A. Barkman informs the Herald that beginning immediately his mill in Tawas City will run night and day to take care of their numerous orders. Mr. Barkman also states that he is planning on installing tractors to lumber some of the timber owned by the company in this vicinity. The increased activities in this line will result in the employment of several more men and will be of great benefit to the community.

For automobile insurance see John Corrigan.

Henry Kane was at Detroit on business a number of days this week.

Mrs. Charles Burgtorff visited in Bay City last Thursday and Friday.

Eyes tested and glasses fitted correctly by W. B. Murray, optician, East Tawas.

Born, to Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Reithmeier, on Thursday, Jan. 23 a 9 1/2 pound baby daughter.

Miss Leona Hosbach was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Elmer Malenfant of Oscoda, last Saturday and Sunday.

Twenty-five head of young cattle for sale. 7 months time if desired. W. M. McCaskey, Tawas City, Mich.

Mrs. Fred Rollin returned to her home in this city last Saturday after an extended visit with relatives at Flint and Bay City.

Word was received here last Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Buchholz that their son, John has received his honorable discharge from the U. S. army on Jan. 22, and that he has resumed his old position at Detroit.

Manager A. J. Berube informs the Herald that he will open his Tawas City Theatre next Thursday evening, Feb. 6. Mr. Berube has completely remodeled the building, installed regular opera seats, and will put on a high class of moving pictures. His venture will undoubtedly receive the success it deserves.

Senior Class Entertainment

Miss Francis Wilson was hostess at a delightful six o'clock dinner party given in honor of the high school senior class of 1919, at her home last Friday evening.

The dining room was decorated in the class colors, gold and blue, and bunting and ferns. The favors were tiny gold and blue baskets filled with nuts and the place-cards were gold and white Liberty bells.

A five course dinner was served to twenty-three guests, including the high school faculty. The evening was spent in dancing.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

The adjourned annual meeting of the Iosco County Agricultural society was held at the court house Monday afternoon. The reports of the officers were read, and the meeting then proceeded to the election of officers for the ensuing year. The following were elected:

President—Geo. H. Fahselt
Secretary—Jno. A. Mark
Treasurer—Len J. Patterson
Trustees for two years—Geo. H. Hadwin, G. A. Prescott, jr., F. F. Taylor, G. C. Anschuetz, W. J. Robinson.

Trustee to fill vacancy—John Jordan

GRANGE CO-OPERATIVE MEETINGS

Beginning next Monday evening, the Grange Co-Operative association of Iosco county will hold a series of meetings in different parts of the county for the purpose of discussing the organization of a co-operative elevator company under the direction of the Grange. Meetings will be held as follows:

Whittemore, Monday evening, Feb. 3; Grant hall Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 4; Grange hall Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 5; Sherman Thursday afternoon, Feb. 6; Reno Friday afternoon, Feb. 7; Alabaster Saturday afternoon, Feb. 8; Red hall, Wilber, Monday afternoon, Feb. 10; Hale Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 11. T. W. Michael, state organizer, will be present and speak at these meetings.

EMERY JUNCTION NOTES

Mrs. Sase entertained her mother from Tawas, one day last week.

Mrs. Freil's sister-in-law from town line visited her recently.

Miss Fraser was compelled to close her school this week on account of sickness in her home.

Mrs. Gillespie and Peter Hammond attended the funeral of Mrs. Gillespie's niece on Saturday of last week at Twining.

Mrs. Thayer from county line spent a few days with friends here, to attend the revival service, which is being conducted by Rev. Roberts.

The Rev. Lyman Bough from Ohio arrived Tuesday p. m. to assist in the revival services, for a short time, all are cordially invited to come out and hear the evangelist.

CHAUTAQUA ASSOCIATION OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Iosco County Chautauque Association was held at the court house Wednesday evening of this week. A fairly good attendance was had.

The official reports showed that the Chautauque failed to pay expenses last year, and that an assessment was levied to make up the deficiency. A couple of these assessments are yet unpaid, but when they are collected the association will have enough money to pay all obligations and start the year 1919 with a clean slate.

Officers were elected as follows: President, F. F. Taylor; vice-president, N. C. Harting; secretary, John A. Mark; treasurer, Eugene Bing.

The Chautauque has been made possible here by the enterprise and hard work of a few men, who have not only put in their time and effort, but have also gone into their pockets several times and made up deficiencies.

There are, however many more signers on the contract for 1919 than any year previous and it is expected that with the united cooperation of the public and with war conditions eliminated the Chautauque this year will at least pay all expenses.

The Chautauque is not only a means of entertainment which we could secure in no other manner, but is also a factor in raising the standards of the community and should receive the whole-hearted support of every citizen. It should not be necessary for a few men to bear an extra burden to furnish entertainment for the many.

PREBYTERIAN CHURCH

10:00 a. m.—Morning services.
11:15 a. m.—Sunday school.

Topic for morning will be in accordance with the governor's request for a Memorial Day on Feb. 2, for those who gave their lives for our liberty in the Great War. The day of patriotic sacrifice and remembrance is not over because the armistice is signed. This should be a day in which every patriot will be at church to pray, to express our gratitude to God and to recall the sacrifice and the devotion that saved our civilization to America and to the world.

Rev. Dr. Mason was at the manse on Monday evening and gave an inspiring and convincing talk on the New Era movement in the Presbyterian church. Those who heard him pledged themselves to co-operate with the committee of the Presbytery to make the movement a success as far as we are able both as to its spiritual and financial results. A larger vision and a strong conviction as to the mission of the Christian forces of the community was the result to those who were there, and it is to be regretted that there was not a larger representation of the churches to hear the doctor.

Our Sunday school invites you to its sessions. The lessons of the present time are worthy of our study, and none of us can be at our best without a good knowledge of the Bible.

METHODIST CHURCH

Special attractions at the Methodist church every Sunday evening.

Beginning at 6:15 will be Epworth League, taking up mission study. Church service at 7:00, with special music for both services.

Everybody welcome.

E. E. McMICHAEL, Pastor.

LIDLAWVILLE.

Lydia Miller entertained some girl friends Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Carl Miller spent Sunday with Mrs. Fred Gaul on the Hemlock road.

Carl Musolf of Tawas City spent a few days with his cousin, Earl Fahselt.

Mr. and Mrs. John Westcott visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson in East Tawas Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Laidlaw were guests of relatives in Tawas City Sunday afternoon.

John Kobs is very busy this week, has the hay baler, also the clover huller at his place.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fahselt and daughter Christina spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burtzloff.

LIBERTY BUILDINGS

By Dr. Frank Crane
(A copyrighted editorial which appeared in the New York Globe and other leading newspapers throughout the country which use Dr. Crane's material.)

When the war is over and the boys come home every community will feel like doing something to perpetuate the memory of their participation in the most stupendous enterprise in history. Unless something is done to prevent it there will probably be an extensive building of monuments of stone and bronze such as now adorn the public squares of so many towns as memorials to the soldiers and sailors of the Civil War.

The sentiment which built these monuments is commendable. It was the effort of a community to do honor to its heroes. The judgement however, that was displayed in selecting this form of commemoration is open to criticism.

Monuments to great men and edifices to commemorate great occasions are as old as civilization. Even our graveyards at present are full of elaborate tombs. But thinking people have often doubted whether a mass of useless display is the best form of doing honor to a useful life.

Common sense would indicate that the most fitting way to do homage to the dead is to construct something that shall serve the living.

The American City, a magazine devoted to civic ideas, now comes forward with the suggestion that after the war each town shall erect a "Liberty Building."

Such a building should include facilities for recreation, culture, fellowship, and public service. It might include a municipal auditorium which could be used for entertainment and drill work.

A bronze tablet in the lobby, as the Reading Herald suggests, "should sound the note of memory, proclaim the deeds and names of the home boys and tell of our pride in them." Such a building should revive the memory of the Y. M. C. A. building and similar structures in the camps and cantonments. Soldiers speak gratefully of the light and cheer that they have received in these huts. They will carry this memory into brick and mortar?

This war has speeded human progress in many ways. Why should it not mark our progress also in tomb building? Would not a memorial building in every community, constantly used by the living, be a more practical and even a more beautiful sentiment object than a pile of stone or bronze?

Anyway, the erection of statues and shafts and mausoleums belongs to the era of kings. The appropriate monument for a democracy is a warm and useful structure that shall be an integral part of the people's life.

Mr. Howard Strong, Secretary of the Minneapolis Civic Association, says: "The war is not being fought for material victory alone. That victory is but the means to an end. The way we utilize our victory shall serve the ends of real democracy. I know of no better medium for the working out of a common fellowship than the community center which the American City suggests."

It is sincerely to be hoped that this idea will receive the enthusiastic support of the towns and cities of the United States. This is, or ought to be, as President Wilson says, "the birth of a new day" and the manner in which we show it forth in our architecture should signify something of its meaning that hereafter the energies of government as well as of science and religion are to be devoted to giving the struggling mass of men and women a better chance.

Fred Pfahl, who has been in training at Camp Custer, arrived home Monday, having received his honorable discharge from service.

Jake Binkley and niece, Miss Mable Bamberger of Hamilton, Ont., returned to their home last Thursday after a four weeks visit with relatives here.

Mr. T. Michael will again meet with the farmers at Grant town hall Tuesday afternoon, at one o'clock, Feb. 4, to make further arrangements for a farmer's elevator.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McIvor accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Durant motored to East Tawas Sunday, where they spent the day with Will Brown and family.

Otto Kobs went to Saginaw Friday evening to visit with his sister, Mrs. Jacob Miller, until Saturday. He went to Bay City Saturday to bring home his daughter, Miss Esther, who has been at Mercy hospital for three weeks for an operation.

Old newspapers for sale at this office, 5c per bundle.

FIFTH LOAN TO BE "VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN"

Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass has officially announced from Washington that the name of the next (Fifth) war loan will be the "Victory Liberty Loan."

Originally it had been planned to call the next issue the "Fifth Liberty Loan, Victory Issue," but Secretary Glass, after giving the matter due consideration, finally brought forth the happy combination.

"Victory Liberty Loan." So "Victory Liberty Loan" it is, and it is believed that every worker will be inspired with renewed zeal to back it up to a victorious finish, and every consistent American patriot with the determination either to start saving or continue to save in order to acquire "Victory Liberty" bonds when they are offered next spring, and thus contribute to two patriotic ends, viz:

(1) Bring the victors home.
(2) Finish the job.

The honor flag of the "Victory Liberty Loan" will bear a blue "V" on a white field, surrounded by a red border, the "V" denoting both "five" (Fifth Loan) and "victory."

A HANDSOME SOUVENIR

One of the finest publications that has come to the Herald editorial tables in some time is that issued by the Detroit News, giving a history of that newspaper from the time of its establishment in 1873, to 1917, when it took up its quarters in the magnificent new building which now houses its numerous departments.

The subject matter is written in a very interesting style, and is of especial interest to those who know from experience the trials and vicissitudes inherent to the publication of a newspaper. It is profusely illustrated with pictures in pastel and half-tone, the illustrations of the earlier days being done in pastel and those of the present day institution in half-tone. These pictures alone tell a graphic story of the progress made by the News from a small four-page publication to one of the greatest newspapers in America if not in the world, publishing several issues every day, each consisting of 24 to 32 pages, and a Sunday edition averaging twice that size.

Every department of the big newspaper is clearly explained in the text, and the book as a whole is a worthy representative of the progress of this great newspaper.

HEMLOCK SLIVERS.

Red Cross workers met at Grant town hall Tuesday.

Miss Lois Fraser has been quite sick the past week.

Miss VanSickle of Prescott was a business caller here Monday.

Quite a number from Reno attended the Baptist church here Sunday.

Miss Bernice Smith came home from school Monday on account of illness.

Miss Blossom Fraser is spending a week at home on account of sickness.

Miss Eunice Clark spent the weekend with her parents in Tawas City.

Chas McCormick made a trip to Tawas last Friday. Was it business or pleasure Chas?

Miss Gladys Latham spent the week end with her grandmother, Mrs. Frank Chambers in Tawas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McIvor and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Durant were East Tawas visitors Sunday.

The Baptist Ladies Aid society was entertained at the home of Mrs. Reuben Smith last Wednesday.

Joseph Bommer of Tawas City completed the masonry at James Chambers new house this week.

Louis Pringle of Flint spent the week end with his family here, returning to Flint Sunday evening.

There was no school the first of the week at Vine school on account of the illness of the teacher, Miss Hinman.

At a Grange meeting held at Grant hall last Saturday afternoon about twenty new members were initiated into the order.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ross entertained about twenty young people at their home here on Wednesday evening. Games, music and a general good time was indulged in and a dainty appetizing luncheon was served. All departed about midnight with cordial thanks to their host and hostess for granting them the freedom of their home. Those present were the Misses Mary Sims, Irene Applin, Beth McAndrew, Bessie Stickley, Gladys Curry, Mary Hale, Eleanor Barbour, Lillian McMurray, Vina Morrison, Marion Jennings, Margaret Pinke, and Messrs Carl Haight, George Hamilton, Will Halteman, Guy Sims, Sam McMurray, Roy Applin and Gordon Dillon.

EAST TAWAS DEPARTMENT

Devoted to the General and Personal News of the Week From Our Neighboring City on the East

John Goodall of Flint spent the week end at his home in this city.

Mrs. C. L. Bonney and Mrs. Chas. Conklin spent Thursday in Bay City. Highest price paid for furs at A. Myers' cheap store, East Tawas. adv.

W. O. Dean of Whittemore was in the city a portion of the week on business.

Mrs. Henry Misener went to Bay City Wednesday for a visit with relatives.

Private Will Halteman returned home Monday midnight from Camp Custer.

Miss Aurora LaBerge went to Detroit Wednesday for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Anna Van Wycke left on Monday for a visit in Grand Rapids and other points.

Mrs. P. St. Martin went to Bay City Wednesday to visit her relatives for a few days.

Friends of Mr. Henry Stickney will be grieved to learn that he is very ill at his home here.

Miss Gladys Swales went to Detroit last Saturday for a weeks visit with Mrs. Sam Anker, jr.

Ernest Anschuetz of Bay City spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Anschuetz.

Mrs. John Halligan returned Monday from a visit with friends in the lower part of the state.

E. J. Kelly left last Sunday evening for an extended trip to Cincinnati and to several points in Kentucky, where he will visit old friends.

Mrs. Landen, who has been at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Evans for some time past was called to her home in Lincoln by illness in the family.

Captain E. B. Motley, a retired Coast Guard Captain of Alpena spent last Friday night with his friend Capt. J. A. Carpenter, leaving on Saturday for Detroit.

Mrs. Wm. Duval left on Monday for Onaway, where she expects to spend the remainder of the winter with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jhon Duval.

Claude Halteman went to Bay City Wednesday for medical treatment for his shoulders, which were seriously injured seven weeks ago. He is not making as satisfactory a recovery as could be wished.

John Halteman returned to his home in St. Johns Monday. He has been visiting his brother, Mr. David Halteman, and incidentally enjoyed the fishing in this vicinity for the past three weeks.

We are informed that Charles Curry has contracted to put up 50,000 tons of ice for a large Chicago ice company this winter, which will mean work for a considerable crew of men during the ice harvesting season.

Old friends and patrons of Hosea Bigelow are pleased to see that he is again wielding the razor at his former place of business. Mr. Bigelow has recently received his honorable discharge from Uncle Sam's service.

Some interesting war souvenirs are on exhibition in the show window of the Brown studio. They consist of three shells from the battle fields of France and were sent to his parents by Fred Walker, jr., who is in the naval service.

The game of basket ball last Saturday night between the Onaway high school team and our high school resulted in a big score in favor of the visitors. We understand they did not have such good luck in Oscoda and we are determined they won't repeat the success here.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ross entertained about twenty young people at their home here on Wednesday evening. Games, music and a general good time was indulged in and a dainty appetizing luncheon was served. All departed about midnight with cordial thanks to their host and hostess for granting them the freedom of their home. Those present were the Misses Mary Sims, Irene Applin, Beth McAndrew, Bessie Stickley, Gladys Curry, Mary Hale, Eleanor Barbour, Lillian McMurray, Vina Morrison, Marion Jennings, Margaret Pinke, and Messrs Carl Haight, George Hamilton, Will Halteman, Guy Sims, Sam McMurray, Roy Applin and Gordon Dillon.

Tawas City, Mich., January 31, 1919

In the investigation now being conducted before the Congressional committee investigating the meat packing industry in the U. S., Edward Morris, president of Morris & Co., packers, testified that the profits of his company on the gross turn-over for the past five years had averaged only 1.5 per cent. In another part of his testimony Mr. Morris stated that his grandfather, Nelson Morris, started business at Chicago stock yards with a capital of fifty cents. It becomes rather hard to correlate these two statements when Mr. Morris himself admits that Morris & Co. has a nominal capital of $3,000,000 and surplus and reserves amounting to $42,000,000. Perhaps the committee will be able to find out how the apparently impossible feat of building up a fortune of $45,000,000 in something over 30 years from a capital of 50c was accomplished. If they do it is to be hoped that they make their findings public so that the rest of us may go and do likewise.

If the profits in the packing industry are as small as the packers would have the people believe, the average man would think that they'd be mighty glad to have the government take over their business so that they could invest in more remunerative business.

SHOULD IMMIGRATION BE CHECKED

The Committee on Immigration in the House of Representatives, is considering radical changes in the immigration laws. Nobody appears to be at all sure that Europeans, or Asiatics, will wish to burden the affairs of the United States by adding their presence to our population in large numbers. Nevertheless, it is certain that the country has about all it can undertake to do if it provides the right kind of employment for the returning soldiers, and keeps the rust of the wheels of industry. It is estimated that 3,000,000 men were idle in the United States before the selective draft was put into operation. If this estimate is even approximately correct then the return of the soldiers to civil life will mean a great deal of unemployment unless measures are devised to put the speed belt on industry.

The argument seems to favor checking immigration; and the further suggestion is popular that the Government should provide a vast amount of public construction. The carrying out of Secretary Lane's land development plans are regarded as important in that they suggest a way by which soldiers can secure a real home and a piece of land, if they will apply themselves to the task.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION

Teachers' examination will be held April 24, 25, 26, and August 14, 15 and 16. The examination in reading for all grades will be based on the outline in reading published by the Department of Public Instruction, as bulletin No. 4, entitled "The Teaching of Reading." Three questions of the examination in theory and art of teaching will be based on "The Vitalized School," by Pearson. Three questions of the examination in civil government will be based on "Americanism, What It Is," by David Jayne Hill. Both of these books are chosen for the Teachers' Reading Circle. Five questions of the examination in United States history will be based on bulletin No. 20, entitled "Democracy and the Great War" The examination in spelling and orthography will be based on bulletin No. 10, entitled "Word Study and Spelling."

Any of the above may be obtained from the commissioner.

FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

FROM JULE BEAN

Somewhere in France, Dec. 22, 1918. Dear Brother:—

Well Arthur I am going to make another attempt at writing you and I hope I can get a reply. I wrote you while I was down at school and I suppose if you answered it, it must have been lost. I also wrote to Frank at the same time, but haven't heard from him either. I hope you and the family are all well old boy getting along fine. I haven't got any news in so long from any of you that I feel like a perfect stranger. I haven't heard word from mother, Annie or anyone since the last of August. I presume you are still at Alabaster. I am going to send this there anyway. I know Art that I have been slow in writing since I have been in the army, but it won't be long now before I will be back in the good old civilian life and no more army for me. We are expecting to be back in the states sometime in the spring and I suppose will be discharged soon after we get there. If I have been neglectful in writing to all of you it has been because I have taken so much interest in the work, therefore being pretty busy all the time. I came in to this army with the intention of giving the country the best that was in me in its time of need, and that I have tried to do all the way through. I will give you the list of promotions and then tell you a few of the experiences I have encountered in this game they call war, but is really Hell on earth.

When I left the states May 5th, I was a Company Supply Sergeant with pay of $38.00 a month. We sailed from Hoboken on the ship Olympic, an English boat and one of the largest and fastest on the Atlantic. We had a fine trip all the way as the weather was fine and the sea calm. Also had a little excitement, getting in a scrap with German U. boats twice—one of which we rammed and sunk. That was my first taste of war and seemed real exciting to me then, but what I have gone through since makes that look like an ice cream social back in Barton City or Mud Lake. Well anyway we landed in Southampton, England, May 12th and rode a train from there to Dover, passing through London on the way, and on May 13th took a boat from Dover across the channel to Calais, France. We were there three days and there we got our 2nd taste of real war. German aeroplanes came over the first night and bombed hell out of things and there is nothing I wouldn't rather go through than an air raid—nobody has the slightest idea what its like until he goes through one. Calais is a big supply base for the Allied armies so they bombed it often.

Well the 3rd day we left Calais and marched about ten miles, then rode a train about forty and landed in the place up behind the British lines on the Somme River. We were there three weeks training the men in the ways of fighting over here etc. When we landed in France first, I was promoted to Battalion Supply Sergeant, pay $44.00 per month. Well we left the British front June 9th, marched three days making about 25 miles a day then we took a train. Before I go any further I will give you an idea what the French trains are like. We rode in box cars that are about 20 feet long and the funniest looking cars you ever saw. Perhaps you have seen pictures of them in the movies. The locomotives are little dinky ones and look about as funny as the cars, however, they have fairly good locomotives and passenger cars for that service, but the troops don't get to ride the passenger. The U. S. has its own railroads and locomotives now on some of our own fronts, but that is only up near the front lines or where the front was when peace was declared.

U. S. also has a lot of standard box cars over here which I suppose will be turned over to the French government when we are through over here. To go on with the subject. We rode 2 days and nights and landed about 35 miles from Paris near the Chateau Thierry front. Here we trained some more within sound of the guns and the 2nd of July went into reserve to be ready to reinforce our other divisions in case the Germans broke through at Chateau Thierry, where the Marines were holding them. Well they didn't break through however and we stayed about 7 miles behind the line until July 18, and I guess you have read about what happened after that. We went "over the top" the morning of the 18th at 5:15 a. m. and drove them back about 5 miles a day for three days. I had about 2 hours of sleep during that time and a few hard tacks and a can of bully beef to eat, but was plenty as you are so excited the first two days that you don't think of eating. I lost my ration the first day and when I did get hungry I took the ration off from some dead comrade. About 6 o'clock p. m. the night of the 3rd day we run into a lot of gas and I got a good whiff of it which knocked me out for a while, but I got over it without going to the hospital. Was pretty sick for a while, but stuck it out till we were relieved.

On July 30th I was sent to an officers training school, where I stayed two months and October 1st, was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant and sent to the 140th Inf., and in a few days we moved into the front line trenches at Verdun. I was appointed Battalion Scout Officer and my duties were to take patrols of from 20 to 30 men out into No Man's Land at night and find out what I could about the German lines. Well I went out about every night for nearly 3 weeks and had a lot of experiences and quite a number of scraps with patrols that the Huns would send out for the purpose that we were out for. Sometimes we would run into a machine gun and they would open up and keep us glued to the ground for an hour at a time, but in the whole three weeks I only had 3 men hit. The last night I was on a special mission and went nearly 5 miles behind the German lines with patrol of 5 men. We got to the place where we wanted to go—a little town called Abrecourt—and our mission was to see if it was occupied by the enemy. Well we found out alright as they opened up on us with everything they had and thanks to the darkness of the night we got away by doing a lot of crawling on our bellies. They then tried to cut us off with artillery fire, but we got through it finally, but a big shell exploded about 20 feet from me and a large piece of hard earth from it hit me in the knee, threw it out of place. Well the men got me home alright and I was only in the hospital about a week and when I came out was promoted to 1st Lieutenant and made Regimental Liaison Officer, which I still am now. My pay now including foreign service pay and what an officer gets for light and rooms if he is married amounts to a little over $238.00 a month. It costs me about $17.50 for rations and $6.80 for insurance so I have about $214.00 clear per month. Have you been up to the farm lately to visit dad and mother? and how are they getting along? I sent them a $50.00 liberty bond in Sept. and another for the same amount for a Christmas present. They can turn these into cash any time they wish. Well old boy I haven't time for any more now, so after wishing you, Clara and the children all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year I will close and hope to get a letter from you soon. Art I was going to write Frank, but I would have to write him this same news so if you will pass this on to him I will just write him a short letter telling him hello and wishing him good luck.

Your loving Brother,
Jule

FROM JOHN H. JOHNSON

Somewhere in France, Dec. 22, 1918. Hello sister, Ethel—

How are you these cold days? It is raining here, it rains every day in the week in this place. It isn't very cold just wet all the time. It's muddy too, worse than around the barn or on the road. We wear boots, and stand in it with our mess kits on for our turn to eat, just like a herd of cattle. We have to wait over an hour sometimes, then we make a lot of noise, just like cows.

I had an awful cold, but am alright again. We may not have to stay very long. It took us eleven days to come over, it was a great big boat.

The women around here wear wooden shoes. They carry baskets on their heads, filled with grapes and nuts to sell. They sure charge enough for them, too.

You ought to see my bed Ethel, it is way up eight feet high. Its made out of wood four 2x 4s then lath on top. We have cork shavings to fill our mattress.

We don't have any floor in our chicken coop.

We started to work with our Ambulances already. I am a driver and yesterday I had the cutest little car. It just had one wheel and I had to push it. I hauled mud in it.

Did Victor get alright? I am going to write to Phillip too, but will let him write first. You can let him read your letter.

I figure on stopping to see Hegelman when I go back. Is Russel Anderson home yet, and Art, when will he get home? I suppose I will be the last. I'll be home for the 4th of July.

How many bushels of beans turned out each of potatoes, and how much are each per bushel? I suppose you are big enough to go to parties now, eh?

I had an awful long ride in a box car, Ethel. Did Nellie tell you about it? Well it will be some time in January before you get this so I will close for this time.

I use my mess kit for a writing desk now days. Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

I am your brother,

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

FOR COMMISSIONER OF SCHOOLS

I wish to announce to the people of Isosco county that I am a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of Schools. I am fully qualified, having a Life Certificate from Ypsilanti. I have been a resident of Isosco County all my life, and have been teaching in the public schools of Tawas City since 1913.

Your votes at the primaries will be much appreciated.
INA M. BRADLEY,
Commissioner of Schools

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

FOR COUNTY SCHOOL COMMISSIONER

Upon the urgent request of a number of my friends in Isosco county I have decided to become a candidate for the nomination for County School Commissioner at the March primaries, on the republican ticket.

I have been a resident of Isosco county most of the time for the past 27 years, during eight years of which I have taught school in this county. I have always considered Hale as my home, and am a property owner and taxpayer in that township, though my profession sometimes takes me to other parts of the state.

I will appreciate any support that the voters of Isosco county may see fit to give me, and if nominated and elected I promise a faithful and efficient administration of the office.
EDWIN C. NUNN.

A Sensible Silo Talk With You

You as well as thousands of farmers know the value of good silage. You know that a silo produces good nourishing feed cheaper than any other known method. The silo is here to stay. It is the money maker on thousands of farms and ranches throughout the country. Let's talk over the silo proposition.

Whether you have bought a silo or not, you have read a great deal about silos and silage. You have listened to one agent and another talk about the merits of their silos. You have read advertisements and catalogues about silos. You have endeavored to decide wisely what silo you should buy. This advertisement is written to help you choose the silo that will give you honest returns on your investment.

During the last ten years the sale of Saginaw Silos has been increasing every year until today we stand as leaders in the field of silo manufacturers. This is due to the fact that every year the Saginaw Silo has been ahead in improvements. Today the Saginaw Silo is as good a silo as can be made along sensible building lines. The construction of the Saginaw Silo is the result of a scientific application of accepted building principles.

In the Saginaw Silo Steel is used to strengthen and fortify the Saginaw against wind and storm. Tornadoes that have blown down other silos, have left the Saginaw un-touched. This we know from actual new un-touched. This we know from actual use. The steel features illustrated in this advertisement are absolutely necessary in the construction of a silo. The Saginaw Steel Built Stave Silo is built around and surrounded by steel.

We recommend and urge the use of Redwood. Why? Because Redwood is the only wood that has all the requisites for perfect silo building. It does not rot or decay. It will not shrink nor swell and furthermore it is fire-resisting. No other wood possesses these qualities as Redwood does. If you could see the wonderful evidence we have as to the permanence of Redwood you would lose no time in deciding on Redwood.

Redwood in Use 52 Years—Sound as a Nut.
At the Forest Products Exposition just held in Chicago, Redwood fence rails were shown that had been in use for 52 years. They were exposed to all sorts of weather conditions where there is 60 inches of rainfall annually. Yet today they are as sound and free from decay as the day they were cut—firm and compact from core to edge.

These statements give you some idea of the policy back of the Saginaw Silo. A strict and rigid adherence to scientific building principles and the use of material that has proven itself best for silo building.

It would be impossible for you to experiment with different forms of silo construction. We have done it for you. The answer has been the all-around, thorough construction of the Saginaw Silo.

Our policy is proving itself every day. This year Saginaw Silo sales are so big that only those who order quickly will be sure of getting their silo in time for the filling season. Our five factories are working night and day to fill orders for Saginaw Silos.

Redwood is the best wood for silo building. You have the additional choice in Saginaw Silos of Bleached Yellow Pine which has many of the qualities of Redwood, also Yellow Pine and Oregon Fir.

Give the Saginaw Silo your earnest consideration before you buy. We are satisfied that your decision will be correct. See the Saginaw Agent in your locality. He will give you real silo information. Send for silo book No. 115.

Order a Saginaw Silo Today

Prices on all raw materials continue to advance and we will be forced to raise Silo prices soon. Far-sighted farmers are getting orders in early. We are now making prompt deliveries, but scarcity of materials and possible car shortages may prevent us filling your order if you wait. Order now—today. Be ready for filling time—protect yourself against any advance—Silo prices will never be as low again—value never greater. Waiting will cost you real money—you will pay more for your Silo and you will lose the big profit of silage feeding. If you must back your order, get in touch with the McClure man at once.

COUNTY AGENT COLUMN
C. P. Milham.

The production of milk and but or is today, without question, one of the most important branches of Agriculture. Dairy foods contain elements necessary for growth and vigor. Science has demonstrated that the nation which will endure, must be a nation whose people have an abundance of these necessary elements. And dairying does more; it keeps up soil fertility, produces a regular cash income and promotes better farming methods. From present indications grains will gradually lower in price, although they will never reach the low levels prevalent before the war. Meat and dairy products will not decrease as much in proportion, because people are finding out that the products of a dairy cow are the cheapest form of nourishment at the present time, and greater demands will be made for these products as time moves on. When hay and grain are sold from the farm a part of the farm goes with it, and it is a valuable part too. But when the farm products are marketed in the form of meat or dairy products, most of the elements are returned to the soil. A permanent agriculture is built up only when plenty of livestock is kept on every farm.

A number of bulletins on some general information on lime, its uses and functions in soils has been received at the office. It is the latest bulletin on the subject, and is entirely up to date, dealing with marl, ground limestone, manure, and phosphate. If you are interested in lime and intend to try a little demonstration to prove whether or not it is needed on your soil, ask for this bulletin. At least think the matter over. It has been proven that each acre of acid soil which is limed will produce from $5 to $15 more of crops an acre. That sixty-five per cent of all farm lands needs lime and phosphorous. The percentage in Iosco county will probably run very near ninety-five per cent deficient in lime and phosphorous.

Have you tested that seed corn? If it has been kept where it has been too dry, it may not grow, even though it was mature when taken inside. Pick out two dozen ears at random, and test four or six kernels from various parts of each ear. If every kernel grows there is no need of testing the remainder, but if five kernels or more do not grow it would pay to take care in selecting out the seed to plant. Do not wait until the last minute to secure your seed corn. The early orders get the best goods.

MICHIGAN FARMERS MANIFEST THIRST FOR TRACTOR FACTS
East Lansing, Mich., Jan. 27—Signs which observers at M. A. C. take to mean an increasing use of the tractor in Michigan farming, have become manifest on the campus with the opening of a new tractor school by the department of farm mechanics. More than 100 young men have enrolled to acquaint themselves with the details of operating and keeping up tractors. The course, which was designed by the college to assist the practical farmer in learning to operate and repair trucks and tractors, began a week ago and will continue until February 15.

A second four weeks school, exactly like the first, and open to any one who choose to enroll, will be started on February 17. Individuals desirous of obtaining more details about what is to be offered are advised to write to Ashley M. Berridge, director of short courses at M. A. C.

FERTILIZER VALUE SHOWN
The Cattaraugus County (N. Y.) Farm Bureau conducted 15 fertilizer tests last year, using plots with lime alone, lime and acid phosphate, and acid phosphate alone. Check plots were used for determining results. Where lime and acid phosphate were used there was a profit of $15.94 an acre, and where acid phosphate alone was applied there was a profit of $15.42 an acre. Where lime alone was used there was a loss of $1.56 an acre, but the next year's hay crop should make up this loss and pay, in addition, from 150 to 200 per cent on the investment. In this county 31,000 acres of oats are grown annually. If 25 per cent of the oatgrowing farmers would adopt the practice it is believed they would gain $87,265 a year.

FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

FROM JAMES H. WERELEY
Leimbach, Germany, Dec. 18, 1918.
Dear Folks at Home:—
I will try to write a few lines today while I have time. I haven't been writing enough lately to keep in practice, but I think I will have to write a few letters today or all the people will be thinking I am dead or gone astray, or something like that. How are you folks feeling. I am getting along quite nicely at present. The weather is beginning to get a little cooler over here, but there hasn't been any snow yet, not where we have been anyway. I don't know whether you can locate any of these little places on the map or not, but we are now north of the Moselle river and west of the Rhine about 1/4 miles north of Adenau. Maybe that place will be on the map.

We have gone through some pretty nice country for scenery, but we would always have something else on our mind, or be too tired to appreciate it very much. But I would like to go over the same roads we have come over and be able to stop and take in the sights. Of course I wouldn't care to walk. I will be all out of the notion of walking if I ever get back again. I won't walk any place of course I am liable to change my mind by that time.

The people here are much better to us than they were in France. It seems as if they couldn't do enough for us.

I thought at one time there was a possibility of getting home by Christmas, but I guess I will be lucky if I am home in time to help put in the spring crops. I am living in hopes anyway.

If I don't get some mail pretty soon I will be getting lonesome. It will soon be two months since I have had a letter from any one. I guess they haven't sent it to me from the old country.

Well it is only one more week till Christmas. The time sure has been going some the last month or six weeks.

Did they get those stone roads finished this fall? I suppose they are pretty nice, but this time they will be covered with snow so they won't be much good for automobiles anyway.

And it will be quite a long drive for Will to take with a horse.

How is Maggie getting along with her school? She will be thinking I have forgotten her.

There are a lot more of them thinking the same way, but I think they will excuse me when I get a chance to tell them actual facts. I have done the best I knew how.

I don't know as there is anything else I can tell you this time. Maybe I can think of something new the next time I write.

I heard some of the fellows say there was a bunch of mail came in. Maybe I will be lucky enough to get some of it. I hope so anyway.

I will close for this time, hoping this letter finds you all enjoying good health. I remain as ever

LICKING THE HUNS

Far away in the Western country,
'Mid the spruce in the great North-west,
We live in anticipation
That this great war's for the best.

We have not heard the sounds of battle
That range o'er Belgium and France,
But the sound of the axe and the fall of a tree
Made us eager for just that chance.

Last Spring our men were fighting
For the supremacy of the air,
And Foch and Pershing desperate
For ships of Spruce and Fir.

The call came and we who answered
Knew we belonged in France;
We could not go to face that foe,
So we took our one best chance.

Last Spring we came to Vancouver,
The meeting place of men;
Went into the woods instead of a trench,
The first army behind our men.

It was not all play in the woodlands,
But work with might and main
That our men o'er seas might conquer
And then come home again.

This is the month of November
And the tide of the battle has turned,
Driving the hun far Eastward
With the rush of planes over head.

Generals Foch and Pershing are happy;
That noble, Wilson, too;
For our men in the Spruce delivered
The goods

And we say: "We've won many battles for you."

Now as we return from the forests,
Our work humble, but nobly done,
We take pride and satisfaction
In our part in licking the Hun.

Swift & Company's 1918 Earnings

How They Affected You

During the twelve months ended Nov. 2, 1918 (its fiscal year), Swift & Company transacted the largest volume of business on the smallest margin of profit in its history.

Profits of the meat business—under regulations of the United States Food Administration—were limited to a maximum of 9 per cent on capital employed but not to exceed 2 1/2 cents per dollar of sales.

Swift & Company in the regulated departments earned 7.57 per cent on capital employed and 2.04 cents per dollar of sales, out of which had to be paid interest on borrowed money and taxes. Here is how these earnings affect you.

Live-Stock Raiser—

Swift & Company killed 14,948,000 head of livestock, which weighed alive, 4,971,500,000 pounds.

Swift & Company made a profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound liveweight.

Consumer—

The sales of our meat departments were 4,012,579,000 pounds on which our earnings were less than 1/2 cent per pound.

The per capita consumption of meat in the United States is given as 170 pounds. If a consumer purchased only Swift & Company's products he would contribute only about 78 cents a year, or 1 1/2 cents a week as profit to the company.

When the Editor of the Herald Calls me up, then calls me down I send him all the local news There is about my town; He smiles like "all creation" And he "pats me on the back" If I "keep the ball a rolling" And never once get slack.

So now to start it rolling I'll say that Charles and Joe Are looking after customers In ways that are not slow. There's Ray, Will and Nona Behind the counters there Who, take your orders promptly And tie them up with care.

M. Simpson on the corner Gets his share of public trade, "One price to all" is his motto, So do not be afraid— To do your shopping with him, He'll surely treat you right; His stock on hand at present, Is simply "out of sight."

The Elevator at the track, With "Henry" at the wheel, Is doing business lively So the people cannot squeal; Will Leslie is assisting And with the greatest care They deal with all the farmers, With a plan that's on the square!

Dr. Smith is right on Main St. So if you've got the "Flu"— Just call him on the telephone, Or, any way will do; He'll prescribe you pills and powders And he'll feed you Malted Milk; In less time than I can tell it— You'll be feeling fine as silk!

Joe Collins at the hardware Is going to make things hum; By the way he lines up business, We're mighty glad he's come. His stock is still increasing We trust 'twill never slack— He'll fill the farmer's orders, From a tractor to a tack.

If you pass our town with auto, And you sadly need repair, Just stop at the corner garage You'll find Jim Leslie there! He'll send you onward smiling, For he'll fix your car up right. Or— he's landlord of the hotel And he'll keep you over night.

Send your children every morning When you hear the school bell call For we have a good "Instructor" And his name is "Otto Rahl"! Lottie Van Horn is assisting, And I surely must insist That you find no better teacher With their names upon the list!

If you're in the dairy business And have any cream to sell Call, Isoco Creamery Co.; They will surely treat you well! Paying prices to their patrons Highest all along the line! And the butter they're producing Bears a label—"Simply Fine."

If you're "busted," out of money, Don't do anything that's rash; Just call up C. H. Ridgley He'll supply the needed cash! Now, I'll tell you where to find him Lest your courage deep has sank; Right on Main St., near the hotel, At Isoco County Bank.

If you're looking for a letter From your sweetheart now in France Ask "Miss Hottot" at the office She will tell with a glance! For she works for Uncle Sammy, And she's faithful all the while To the duties that surround her As the hands upon the dial.

If you're going on a journey, To Berlin, or anywhere Down at the D. M. Depot You'll find "Charles Schuster" there Who will give you information In a pleasant, friendly way! He's the sort of Railway Agent You don't pick up every day.

If you cannot run your auto And your horses need a shoe Bring them to our city blacksmith That's the best that you can do! "Hector Flynn" is always busy And I can safely say— He'll do any kind of work for you, And you'll find it just O. K.

If you land at Emery Junction, And you want to come this way Just phone for John Gillespie You can get him any day! He runs a first class livery! If you want to catch a train He'll take you there, right lively, In the sunshine or the rain.

When I'm counting up the workers And those who daily toil— I'll mention Johnny Bowman, The man with Standard Oil. To McVior, Hale and Prescott Every week he makes the round He delivers oil with promptness With the Ford right "on the bound."

If you're moving to our city, And you cannot get a van, Call Jesse Chase—the city drayman You will find him always ready For he's never out of sight, He will never disappoint you, And the price is always right.

If you find the evening lonely And you want something to read "Rev. Charles McKenzie" has it— Just the very thing you need! Or, just send in your subscription You'll have nothing more to fear; The price of the "Christian Messenger" Only thirty cents per year!

If you're going to buy an auto, And you really can't decide— Call "Ed Louks" on the telephone He'll take you for a ride! He still is in the business And he has got the sand To complete with "all and any" With the car called "Overland!"

The town has several churches Where we worship every week; And there's the secret lodges, Where the password you must speak The rink where young folks skate and dance

Where happiness doth rule; Across the street, and up the stairs You play a game of pool!

Then we have our khaki soldiers And those in navy too! They did their part with honor, To the homeland ever true! Our "Red Cross" room is open You're welcome to come in! We did our part in every way Helped "Uncle Sam" to win.

New I've set the "ball a rolling" 'Bout our town 'tho small in size But I fear I'll get "my calling" Lest "He" think I advertise— But I must do my duty— And I'm going to boost the town 'Tho the Editor, very gently, "Calls me up"—then "Calls me down."

DEATH OF JOHN FINLEY

Mrs. Finley received a message Jan. 4, informing that her husband, John T. Finley, died of wounds received October 5, while faithfully serving his country in France.

John's home was formerly at Kirkland, Mich., but after this marriage to Miss Eva Stone, of Whittemore, Mich., in March, 1917, he made his home in Isoco county and went in the draft the following November, with the Isoco county boys to Camp Custer, only staying a few weeks there and also at camp in Texas before sailing for France.

During his short residence at Whittemore he made many friends, who never spoke of him only with favor and praise. He was honest and trustworthy and when called to serve his country, cheerfully answered the call, never even asking for an exemption.

He leaves his wife, parents, four sisters, five brothers and a host of friends to mourn his death, but they also rejoice to know that their loss is his gain.

Our departed loved one leaves with us a knowledge of work well done; a loyal faithful service to his flag and country, and we feel that his mastering from our midst is but his promotion to an office of trust and honor in the higher ranks of the mighty army beyond the vale.

Here and there around our pathway fall the sacred petals of his virtues, filling memory's casket with choicest gems which serve to bind us closer to the home to which he has gone where peace forever reigns.
