REMINISCENCES

A Comparison, 1881-1919

Thirty-eight years ago, on April 3rd, 1881, climatic and traveling conditions in this corner of the universe were very different than on the corresponding day of 1919.

Then there was an unbroken ice field on the lake as far as the eye could reach. Snow was two feet deep on the level, and the drifts would have been over the fences if there had been any fences to have been covered, and roads were impassable because of the many pitch holes and "thank-you-mams."

The only practical means of communicating with the outside world was by Green's stage coach, drawn by four horses and carrying a dozen passengers and a good supply of baggage, which, owing to the condition of the roads was using the congealed surface of Lake Huron as a highway.

As soon as breakfast was over we took the stage at the Miner House, East Tawas, George Hall driving (that was before he went to farming on the Hemlock road.) Drove down to "Robinson's store" and got the mail, then to Dr. Darling's in the store that is now the Hotel Iosco, where the express office was located, and then down on to the ice and made a bee line for Alabaster, where the mail was changed and again onto the ice where we continued until Pine river was reached, half way to Bay City, without again going on shore. Horses were changed a mile off from land opposite Joe Matteson's.

If the reader cares to know where this famous hostelry was located they can look down the shore to where the projecting land fades into the horizon and they will have the spot very nearly.

The "village" was not large, just the hotel and two or three out buildings. At noon, after the "inner man" had been announcing the approaching dinner time, and no sign of the stage turning shoreward, a tent loomed up in the distance. When reached a substantial and appetizing dinner was found spread for the cold and hungry passengers. The tent was a mile off from Au Gres village and was an annex of the Au Gres hotel, whose proprietors thus furnished dinners to both the south and north bound stages. Horses were again changed and we proceeded to Pine river where we went ashore and took the stage road to Standish about five miles to the west.

Remember, this was on the third day of April, when you feel like kicking about the late spring, and telling how much better things used to be than they are now.

DEATH OF WILLIAM H. FRANK

William H. Frank died at his home in Tawas township last Friday, March 28, after an illness of only one day, the cause of death being hemorrhage of the brain. Some ten years ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he never entirely recovered. He had, however, been quite active and had seemed in his usual health up to Thursday evening when he was stricken and died the next afternoon at 1:40.

William Henry Frank was born in New York state Dec. 18, 1845. At an early age he went to Canada with his parents, where he remained until coming to Michigan. On Nov. 26, 1872 he was united in marriage to Charity Jane Lampman at Moulton, Ont., Canada. To this union six children were born, four sons and two daughters, all of whom survive him.

They are: Levi Frank of Rogers City, Harrison of Tawas township, Naaman of Port Huron, Mrs. Thomas Fawell of Niagara Falls, Mrs. Cecil Cox of Tawas City and Abram Frank of Tawas township. All of the children were present at the funeral.

He also leaves to mourn his demise five brothers, two sisters and twenty-three grandchildren. One brother, Andrew Frank of Jordan, Ont., was present at the funeral.

On Aug. 26, 1909, deceased united with the L. D. S. church, of which he remained a faithful member until his death. The funeral services were held at the L. D. S. church on the Townline Tuesday afternoon, April 1, Elder M. A. Sommerfield officiating, and the remains were laid to rest in the Tawas City cemetery. The four sons acted as pallbearers.

The many friends of the family unite in extending sincere sympathy in their time of sorrow.

I. C. M. A.

Paul "Sunshine" Dietrick, a lecturer of the lyceum bureau, tells how Cass and Wabash counties in Indiana, each appropriated 35,000 dollars at the close of the Civil War for memorial purposes. Cass built a mammoth monument in the cemetery three miles from town. Wabash built a three story stone building. The Cass memorial is good to look at, but the Wabash memorial is all that and has been a service all these years to the G. A. R., as well as to all the people. Downstairs it has a kitchen, dining room, and lavatories. The second floor has office rooms, relic rooms, and an auditorium for public meetings. The third floor is for the lodge rooms. The building was built by the county and is supported by the county.

Henry E. Jackson, of the U. S. Bureau of Education says "There is a growing conviction that the conventional stone shaft placed in a graveyard is not a fitting memorial for those who perished for freedom. The suggestion made both in France and America that these memorials take the form of community buildings, dedicated to civic and social uses, is obviously wise and ought to meet universal approval."

Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior says "The war has shown, in the camps and camp cities, the great value of adequate facilities for fellowship and public recreation. Now that the men are returning home they should have the opportunity through the coming year, to perpetuate the democracy of the camps and to share with their fellow townsmen in a suitable building, facilities for discussion of local and national problems and for community singing, dramas, indoor athletics, and other forms of wholesome recreation."

Iosco county has reaped benefits by appropriating to its county fair. It has been placed in view of would be seekers for homes by the Northeastern Development Bureau, by appropriations. Its mission is not entirely agricultural, livestock industry, or real estate.

The mental and moral development awaits an early recognition, not to the amount of Cass and Wabash counties, but in proportion to its resources.

NEWS OF THE SUNDEN DEATH OF Mrs. Moses Kehoe last Saturday afternoon came as a shock to her many relatives and friends, inasmuch as she seemed to be in perfect health up to the very moment of death. She was busy with her usual household duties, and in the act of replenishing the kitchen fire, suddenly fell to the floor. A physician was hastily called and he said death was instantaneous. The cause was given as apoplexy.

Mary Cecilia McGuire was born in Stratford, Ontario, in 1846, and in 1873 was married in Goderich, Ontario to Moses Kehoe, who with six children survive her.

Immediately after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Kehoe came to Tawas where they made their home for about sixteen years, removing from this city to their farm on the Hemlock road about thirty years ago, where they lived for twenty-six years. Four years ago they being left alone in their declining years, they returned to this city.

The children who are left to mourn the loss of a tender mother are: Mary Elizabeth, of Yale, Mich., Mrs. Anna Oliver of this city, William of Eben Junction, U. P. John of Flint, Louis of Flint and Leo of Grand Rapids. There are also seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Kehoe was of a retiring disposition and a lover of home, making for her loved ones a home in the truest sense of the word. Her outside activities were confined chiefly to the Altar Society of St. Joseph's Catholic church of which she was a faithful member.

PLAGUE OF LOCUSTS COMING, MAY-JUNE

East Lansing, Mich., April 1—A visitation from the seventeen-year locust can be expected in the central and southern tier of counties in late May and early June, entomologists of the experiment station at M. A. C. predict. The insect specialists are basing their forecast on records which show that the last "plague" occurred just 17 years ago, in 1902. In scientific circles the "locusts" are called the "periodical cicada."

"Some damage may be expected," declared Don C. Whelan of the entomological staff at the college, "but there need be no great alarm. The ill reputation enjoyed by the cicada has its origin more in the minds of the people than in any vast damage the insect has wrought."

Records of the college disclose that the heaviest visitations of the locust occurred in 1902 in Branch, Calhoun, Cass, Genesee, Kalamazoo, Oakland, St. Joseph and Washtenaw counties, with smaller swarms in Hillsdale, Ionia, Lake, Lenawee, Missaukee, Newago, Saginaw, St. Clair and Van Buren counties. It was expected also that considerable swarms would infest Barry, Eaton, Gratiot, Jackson, Livingston, Monroe and Wayne counties, but the locusts, for some reason, failed to keep their appointments.

The periodical cicades, the entomologists say, while oftentimes harmful, is at the same time one of the most interesting of natural phenomena. After living underground for 16 years, the creature comes to the surface for a few weeks in the spring of every seventeenth year. Its size is about that of an adult cricket—the black fellows that can be found everywhere during the summer months.

This, according to the entomologists, is the seventeenth year, and if nature holds to her customs of the past, the locusts can be expected to emerge from the ground during the last week in May, or the first week in June. When it first makes its appearance, it is without wings, and is called a pupa. This pupa, upon coming to the surface, guided by some unerring instinct, scrambles towards the nearest shrub or tree and begins forthwith to climb and fasten itself to a twig or branch. About a half hour after arriving at its mooring, its skin splits open along the back, and out of this "shell" crawls a new creature, with wings.

Under normal conditions the insects remain in evidence for a period of two months or so, and as a rule their disappearance is almost as sudden as their appearance. Most of them usually make their way back into the ground by the end of July.

Persons who have studied the locust say that as a rule it eats little or nothing during its six weeks' visit. Such damage as is done is wrought by the adults female, which in laying eggs, slits the bark of the young twigs of trees and bushes. If the swarm happens to be in a forest, or woodlot of oak or other similar trees, the damage is usually relatively slight, but if the habitat of the locusts happens to be a young apple orchard, the harm done is often quite extensive. It is sometimes recommended, when locusts are expected, that the usual pruning operations during the winter and spring be deferred in order to offer a larger twig growth, and to distribute by this means the damage over a larger surface.

Considerable damage is sometimes brought, on too, by the open wounds, through which harmful insects and disease sometimes gain entrance to the trees.

The eggs usually are laid in the trees about two weeks after the insects first come out of the ground, and the young hatch out towards the end of July. The larva from these eggs run about the limbs a bit, like so many small ants, and then deliberately loosen their holds and fall to the ground, into which they burrow for their sixteen years' subterranean life. In the ground the larva live on sap sucked from roots, but in spite of their large numbers, it is said that except in unusual instances, they do very little damage.

One of the most striking characteristics of the cicada is its peculiar note or song. Where there are large numbers of the insects, this is said to be so noisy at times as to drown out even the cobs.

TWIXT YOU AND YOUR CONSCIENCE

A Few Little Points that Every American Must Settle when the Victory Liberty Loan Asks Him to Sign up

Anyone who reads the Bible knows about the old trick of whitewashing tombs to make them look like something else.

But no amount of calcimine could change the bones inside.

"Putting up a front" is nothing new in the customs of men.

However, the fact remains that the "front" does not alter the inside facts.

What you are, you are: Pretending to be something else makes no change. Now all this has a Victory Liberty Loan angle.

Before long the Treasury will send a salesman to see you on business.

He will give you a very intelligent talk about the World's Premier Investment.

He will show you very clearly that it is your patriotic duty to buy all you can.

He will tell you what the money is for—why it is necessary to issue the Loan.

Then, if you are as good an American as you should be, you will reach for the blank and will sign on the proper line and hand over a check for the proper "First Payment" to bind you to the best contract you ever made.

That is the way it should go. You should do your duty instantly.

Right here comes the possibility of making a terrible mistake.

Suppose you "stall" and "stave off" the salesman—tell him that you are "broke," or that you "cannot afford" to buy the Victory Liberty Loan." Or suppose you make a mental reservation that you will not take your share of the new loan until you have hawked around the street and sacrificed some of the Second, Third or Fourth Liberty Bonds you have paid for and put into the safe deposit vault for safe keeping—probably to send little Tommy to college!

Quit whitewashing tombs! Quit making "mental reservations." Be too proud to "put up a front" like that.

METHODISTS WILL POSTPONE DRIVE AND AID LIBERTY LOAN

The $120,000,000 financial drive of the Methodist Missionary Centenary has been postponed from the first week in April to the week of May 18 and the entire organization for the Centenary has been offered to the United States government to aid the Victory Liberty Loan drive to be launched in April.

Charles S. Ward, campaign director and other national leaders of the centenary conference with federal authorities on the advisability of postponing the Centenary drive so that it could in no way interfere with the Liberty Loan. It was decided that it would be better to hold the church drive later and the week of May 18 was fixed upon as the time.

This action on the part of the national church brings to the aid of the government for the Liberty Loan a nation-wide organization which has just been completed and which embraces hundreds of thousands of persons trained for the drive.

As soon as the Liberty Loan is finished the Centenary organization will turn immediately to its $120,000,000 drive with only a brief period for preparation before it is started.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, Geo. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

NEW TAX ON PATENT MEDICINES

Under the narcotic law as amended by the revenue act of 1918, grocers and other merchants who handle patent medicines containing any quantity of narcotic drugs are liable to tax at the rate of $1.00 per year.

These preparations consist generally of cough mixtures, many liniments, etc., which, while not containing enough narcotic drug to require the manufacturer to place on the package a revenue stamp, are brought within the scope of the law and require the payment of tax.

Most general stores in smaller cities and many in the larger cities handle these remedies.

On and after May 1st, a tax is levied on the sale of patent medicines, toilet preparations, perfumes, cosmetics, hair dressings, etc., at the rate of one cent for each 25 cents of the price for which sold, and this tax is required to be reimbursed to the dealer by the purchaser at the time of sale. The collection of this tax will be by stamp, which the dealer will be required to attach to the container or package at the time of sale.

Collector of Internal Revenue, James J. Brady, of Detroit, will furnish blanks for registry of dealers on request, and the applicant should specify Class Five, Narcotic Division, when writing.

FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

FROM RAYMOND E. RISTOW

Schuld, Germany, March 4, 1919 Dear Mother and Father:

Must drop you a few lines to let you know that I am still alive and feeling fine. I am now located in Germany, near the Rhine. The place is called Schuld. I don't believe it is on the map, but we are not so far from Colony, and that place is on the map. You can look it up and that will give you an idea where I am located. We made the trip by foot, with our heavy packs on our back. And we sure were tired out. The Infantry never rides. They always walk or as we call "hob-nail express." We sure were a tired bunch as we landed here. It took us 17 days to make the hike. Some days we made 47 kilometers, which is about 29 miles. So you can imagine that it was no fun.

We saw some nice sights along the road. There are certainly some big mountains and hills in Germany. They always plant grapes on the hills.

This sure is some country. I wouldn't live here if they would give me the whole country. There is no country like the good old U. S. A. They are a long ways behind the times. The people certainly use us good. It seems as if they can't do enough for us, especially on the hike. I wish you folks could see the places in France where the war has been going on. There certainly are some awful looking places. You can't see nothing but holes, barb wire, etc., and the places where there has been a town, there is nothing but a big pile of stone, for everything is built of stone and cement. We stopped in some of these places on our way to Germany. I got into the scrap just as it was about to finish, but it was long enough for me, for it sure is hell. We were bombed every night for about two weeks behind the lines, and as the day came that the armistice was going to be signed it sure was a happy day. At 4 o'clock in the morning the big guns commenced roaring and kept it up steady until five minutes to eleven, when everything stopped, and I will never forget that hour. It sure was a happy one. It was the 11th day, the 11th hour and the 11th month. It sure did seem funny as the big guns stopped. We all yelled with all our might for the war was won. We sure did make those Huns run as we got here.

I suppose pretty near all the boys are home now. It will be some time before I come home, for we are put here to occupy Germany, and the Lord only knows how long we will be here. It seems as if we are never going to leave.

Tell all the fellows that I said hello. Is Art Gaul home yet? If he is tell him to write a line once in a while.

I get the Herald every week, and it sure is great to read the news from the home people.

Tell August Luedtke to drop a line. I wrote to him a few times and he only wrote once.

We are having nice weather up here now. We only had about two weeks of real cold weather.

Well I will soon have to close or you will get tired of reading this. You will have to excuse poor writing for I haven't any place to write only on my mess kit.

The boys all feel pretty good, but all want to go home. You can't blame them a bit. We drill every day, same as usual.

Well I will close for this time. Tell Earnest and Fred to write. So good bye for this time.

Your loving son

PLAN NEW BILL TO ADMINISTER ROAD BOND FUND

HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER ROGERS MEETS WITH LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEES TO ARRANGE FOR DISTRIBUTION OF MONEY.

TO MEET FEDERAL AID FIRST

Government to Furnish Equipment. As Well As Cash to Help Pull The Wolverine State Out of the Mud.

Lansing, April 2.—Highway committees of the House and Senate, together with State Highway Commissioner Frank F. Rogers, are busy working out a new bill for introduction immediately following the ratification of the Good Roads amendment at the election April 7, which will serve to arrange for the distribution of the money to be raised from time to time on the Highway bonds.
 Rep. Frank B. Aldrich's bill establishing a sliding scale of state reward for road building, which most people supposed was designed as the machinery for the administration of the Highway bond proceeds, will serve only as a part of the legislative machinery. Commissioner Rogers has gauged public sentiment and is convinced the people now so understand the proposed Highway amendment and so thoroughly approve of a system of permanent roads built under a deferred payment plan and with Uncle Sam matching the states investment on a dollar-for-dollar basis, that he is proceeding under the assumption that the proposal will get an overwhelmingly favorable vote at the spring election.
 New legislation must be provided to assure the use of a portion of the funds raised from time to time from the sale of bonds, to guarantee Michigan its more than $7,000,000 share of Federal aid during the next two years. Some special provision must be made for caring for bridge construction in such a way that it will not be a burden on the local community and there must be machinery to assure the local communities their full quota of state reward. All these points will be incorporated in a new bill which probably will be one of the last pieces of legislation, pushed through the house and senate.

Mr. Rogers also announced that Michigan will receive some 4 per cent of the vast quantities of war equipment and supplies that could be converted to highway building. This will be distributed in the same ratio as the Federal aid and he already has assurance of a large number of trucks, automobiles, stone-crushers, road rollers, surveyors' instruments, tractors, locomotives, cars, narrow-gauge track, steam shovels, concrete mixers, etc. And this is but a small portion of what Uncle Sam will send into Michigan to help the state spend its own and the government money in the most economical, efficient manner in the construction of a comprehensive system of main market roads leading into every community.

SUPERVISORS INDORSE GOOD ROAD AMENDMENT.

Nearly all of the County Boards of Supervisors have passed resolutions indorsing the proposal to amend the constitution to provide the machinery for issuing bonds from time to time for the construction of a system of main market roads leading to every community. In addition to the indorsement of individual boards, the State Association of County Supervisors, in annual session at Lansing, adopted a resolution pledging themselves individually and collectively to help the movement and help educate the people to the true character of the proposal.
