L. J. Patterson went to Alpena Wednesday evening to attend a convention of the postmasters of the third Michigan postal district, of which he is president. The convention was held on Thursday.

April 18 and 19 the Epworth League will hold a sale of cut flowers and potted plants at the store of F. F. Taylor & Co. Those who wish either should leave their orders with Mr. Taylor as early as possible.

Township officials are requested to get in touch with the Herald before placing orders for stationery, order books, or any kind of printed supplies. We do first class work at prices that correspond favorably with those you can get elsewhere.

Remember, the Herald office is prepared to furnish you with anything in the shape of engraved work, wedding invitations, cards, etc., at very reasonable prices. Our prices on engraving are lower than you can have the work done in Bay City.

That the people of the county favor good roads was demonstrated last Monday by the big majority given the proposition to allow the legislature to issue bonds for road purposes. Perhaps the condition of the roads on election day and for some time previous had some effect on the result.

The war loan organization of the Seventh Federal Reserve district announces that an exhibition train with exhibits of guns and material used during the great war will tour Michigan for 2½ weeks beginning this week. A number of the large "tanks" used in the war are also to tour the state in the interest of the loan.

The U. S. Forest Service office at East Tawas has sent out to automobilists, farmers and others throughout the county a letter requesting their cooperation in preventing and controlling forest fires during the coming season. If care is exercised the fires can be easily put out at their inception and much damage prevented.

Fire insurance, H. E. Hanson. adv. Miss Margaret Munroe spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents at Hale.

Eyes tested and glasses fitted correctly by W. B. Murray, optician, East Tawas. adv.

H. J. Jacques and Will Curtis of Whittemore were business visitors in the city Wednesday.

There were 14 births and 11 deaths reported to the secretary of state from Iosco county in January.

Miss Clara Malcolm of Flint has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Malcolm, this week.

English services will be held at Zion Lutheran church next Sunday morning, beginning at 10:00 o'clock. Everyone is invited.

The overwhelming majority against the beer and wine amendment at Monday's election will probably settle the wet and dry question in Michigan for some time to come.

Township and city clerks from nearly all precincts of Iosco county brought their ballot boxes to the court house last Friday, where the Ford-Newberry ballots were transferred in order that the boxes might be used at the election Monday.

PLANT MEMORIAL TREES
The United States Forest Service expects to plant memorial trees in honor of their former employees who lost their lives in the late war. Trees will be planted at each ranger station in Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota and Michigan for the five men who were formerly employed in this district. The action is of particular interest to Michigan, as one of the men was a Michigan resident and memorials will be planted at the Silver Creek Ranger Station and at the Beal Nursery in East Tawas.

The planting of memorial trees will be uniformly practiced throughout the nation on Arbor Day (April 18). Why should not Tawas City plant trees in commemoration of those former citizens who lost their lives in the war? It is true that we do not have any city parks in which to plant them, but trees can be planted in the church yards, near the city schools, about dwellings or along the streets. Tawas City has a number of beautiful trees but should have more.

THE ELECTIONS

Latest returns from the election held last Monday indicate that one of the amendments was carried by a big majority, another defeated by a decisive vote, while the third is still in doubt. The so-called beer and wine amendment was defeated in the state by a majority of about 100,000. The good roads bonding amendment was carried by a majority estimated at 250,000. The salary amendment is still in doubt, with the prospects against it.

In the city election the entire republican ticket was elected with the exception of the city clerk. Following are the city officials elected:

Mayor, John A. Myles; city clerk, Harold Allen; city treasurer, Barbara King.

First ward, supervisor, R. G. Harting; alderman, Wm. Roullier; constable, Albert Krumm.

Second ward, supervisor, W. J. Robinson; alderman, Frank Miller.

Third ward, supervisor, Wm. McCaskey; alderman, full term, George Lanski; alderman, to fill vacancy, Reuben Wade.

In the townships two slip candidates were successful against the regular nominee. In Alabaster township Charles White ran for supervisor on slips and beat T. F. Robinson by a majority of 21 votes. In Reno township Joseph Harsch was a slip candidate for justice of the peace and won out by a good majority.

A complete list of township and city officials will be published later.

Miss Ina Bradley for county school commissioner had no opposition and will therefore fill that office for the ensuing two years.

The entire republican state ticket was elected by a majority of about two to one.

SEND A FARM KIT

Send a farm kit to France. That is what the American Committee for Devastated France is asking the women of this country to do. And they have asked especially the cooperation of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, which is one of the organizations affiliating through the Woman's Defense Committee.

The kit consists of one rake, one hoe and one spade, and the price is $2.50 per kit.

Small farm implements of all kinds are almost extinct in France, and the need is very great if the French peasants are to make their gardens blossom and bear as they did before the war.

The Women's Committee, Council of National Defense, has been asked to make widely known this need for implements.

USE FOR WASTE CORN COBS

A big Middle West hominy plant is to install on a large scale the process for the manufacture of corn cob adhesive developed by the United States Department of Agriculture. This adhesive, a dark brown, gummy substance, is said to be suitable for use in making fiber board and paper boxes, bill posting, labeling, and wherever a colorless adhesive is not required. The process of manufacture is simple and the yield is large, the grade A adhesive amounting to as much as 45 per cent by weight of the cobs, and the grade B to as much as 30 per cent additional. If this material should replace all other adhesives, enough could be manufactured from 3 per cent of the cobs produced in the United States to meet the demand.

Use of this substance in place of starch, dextrine, and flour paste would make possible an enormous saving of these foodstuffs.

Corn cobs have always been one of the great waste products of American agriculture, yet the chemists of the Department of Agriculture have proved that practically the entire cob can be converted into valuable substances. About 37 per cent, by weight, of the cob may be converted into crystalline glucose. The cellulose remaining after the adhesives are removed is practically a pure product, very absorbent, and might be used for a number of purposes. Alcohol can be manufactured by fermentation of the corn cob glucose. A certain amount of sugar may be obtained from the cobs. About 2.5 per cent by weight of acetic acid is recovered as a by-product in the manufacture of the corn cob adhesive. Whether it will prove profitable to recover all of the by-products in the manufacture of adhesive can only be determined by commercial development.

THE LIBERTY LOAN MEETING

Despite the inclemency of the weather and the bad condition of the roads, a good representation was present Tuesday at the meeting of the Iosco County War Board to discuss the question of Iosco county's part in floating the Victory Liberty Loan.

Only a few succeeded in being present at the forenoon meeting, and at eleven o'clock the meeting was adjourned until one o'clock p. m. The soldiers, visitors and a large number of city people then repaired to the Larkin building, where the ladies of the Red Cross had prepared a splendid dinner. By the manner in which the viands disappeared and the many complimentary remarks afterward there is no question but what the efforts of the ladies were highly appreciated.

Shortly after one o'clock the meeting was again called to order at the court house, the court room being filled to capacity. About thirty soldiers were present and were accorded reserved seats in the jury box.

After the singing of a couple of patriotic songs, Chairman Patterson in a short address explained the nature, rate of interest and terms of payment of the new Victory Loan, and urged upon all the necessity of a hearty cooperation in taking the U. S. securities in this, the last popular loan, as in the first. He also touched upon the fact that this meeting as well as numerous others held recently at the county seat showed conclusively the need of a larger meeting place, and urged upon the people of the county the advisability of building a memorial building at the county seat in commemoration of the services of Iosco county boys in the great war.

The chairman then called upon Jas. E. Dillon, a member of the war board, who also spoke upon some of the salient points of the loan, and explained the position of the war board upon the slacker question.

A recess was then taken and the soldiers present formed a platoon and accompanied by the school children in column formation, marched to the depot to meet the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. N. S. Bradley of Saginaw, and escort him to the court house.

Dr. Bradley is an able and forceful speaker and the arguments he put forth undoubtedly did much to eliminate in the minds of his audience any doubts but that the Victory Loan is just as important as any of the four that have preceded it. He stated that at the beginning of the war he was a pacifist, but that he soon changed his mind and saw that only through the conquering of Germany could the world be made a safe place to live in. He is emphatically in favor of going ahead and "finishing the job" by putting over the Victory Loan with as good spirit as has been shown in former loans.

After the meeting supper was served by the Red Cross ladies to the soldier boys and to those who were present from outside the city.

RED CROSS TO PHOTOGRAPH IDENTIFIED GRAVES OF MEN

Announcement is made that the American Red Cross will secure photographs of the identified graves of American soldiers in France, these photographs to be sent to relatives of heroes in this country.

Several hundred such photographs have already been forwarded to the families of men who have died overseas, and an announcement recently received states that the obtaining of these photographs has been speeded up to such a degree that the production from now on is expected to reach about 7,000 every month.

All requests for these photographs should be forwarded to the Bureau of Communication of the American Red Cross.

If angels weep, the scene they saw at the county seat of Iosco County last Tuesday would flood their eyes with tears. It may not be said with truth that Iosco county cannot afford a Community Building as over 60,000 good 100 cent dollars have been turned into its treasury by the Power Co., Iosco county has had the sleeping disease long before the present epidemic came and still sleeps on. Rolls over once in a while and says it wants something. Rolls back again and admits it ought to be done. Murrums in its sleep it would be a fine thing. Dreams it has appointed a committee and that the sun will soon look down on wonderful achievements. In a nightmare of accelerated nerve cells plans and specifications have appeared on vapor, financed by sunset gold. With mirage vision views across the fields of the present the ideals of happiness and considers them realities making all mankind gloriously content. Has sat up in bed and was even willing it should be done as long as it disturbed not its repose or a dollar in the pocketbook. Somewhere it is written "How long Oh Lord, how long?" "but please answer not 'for ever.'" Iosco county is liberal in as much as it yearly pays at least $8,000 for services to keep us out of a hot hereafter and get us into a comfortable climate. A community building would help along this line as well as establish the sincerity of a profession of love for the defenders of our fire-side.

PRESERVING EGGS IN LIME WATER

During the spring and early summer, when eggs are abundant and reasonable in price, attention should be given to preserving them for winter use. Fresh eggs, properly preserved in waterglass or lime water, may be kept for 8 to 12 months in excellent condition and used with good results. Eggs laid during April, May, and early June have been found to keep better than those laid later in the season.

If satisfactory results are to be obtained, the eggs should be fresh and clean, and, if possible, infertile. Eggs that float, when placed in the solution are not fresh, and therefore cannot be preserved. When an egg is only slightly soiled, a cloth dampened with vinegar can be used to remove such stains. Under no circumstances should badly soiled or cracked eggs be used for preserving; if put into the jar while dirty they will spoil, and washing removes a protective coating which prevents spoiling.

Where waterglass cannot be obtained for the preservation of eggs, the limewater method may be substituted. Dissolve two or three pounds of unslaked lime in 5 gallons of water that has previously been boiled and allowed to cool, and permit the mixture to stand until the lime settles and the liquid is clear. Place clean, fresh eggs in a clean, earthenware crock or jar, and pour the clear lime water into the vessel until the eggs are covered. At least 2 inches of the solution should cover the top layer of eggs. Sometimes, a pound of salt is used with the lime, but experience has shown that in general the lime without the salt is more satisfactory.

Fresh, clean eggs, properly preserved, can be used satisfactorily for all purposes in cooking and for the table.

OBITUARY
Arthur Ralph Hatch, whose tragic death came as a shock to all his friends and acquaintances in the Tawasess, was born in Alpena May 17, 1898, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hatch. He came to East Tawas with his parents at the age of three years, and lived here for about nineteen years. The family removing to Flint about eighteen months ago.

Arthur enlisted in the army September last in East Lansing and became a corporal before his discharge.

On Feb. 8, 1919, he was united in marriage to Miss Nellie Brewer, and made their home with his mother until his death.

On April 1st, he went on the police force of Flint as a motorcycle policeman and on the second day at his new work he was struck by a street car while in the discharge of his duty. The accident happened about two o'clock Wednesday afternoon and he lived without regaining consciousness until between three and four o'clock Thursday morning.

The remains were brought to East Tawas on Saturday for burial, and the funeral was held Sunday afternoon from the home of his aunt, Mrs. George Flintoff, Rev. Edwin Stephens officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the family lot in Greenwood cemetery. The following acting as pall bearers: Arthur Gaul, Orville Davison Russel Rollin, and Harry Wheeler.

FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

FROM ROY POPPLETON

Charlotte Amalie, V. S.
March 18, 1919.

R. D. Culture,
East Tawas, Mich.

Dear Friend:—

I received your letter two weeks ago last Sunday and have been going to answer, but never seemed to get around to it until this evening. I don't know how interesting I can make this letter, but will do my best.

When we first got to Cuba, Jan. 6th, we stayed there about two weeks and then went to Guacaquayabo Bay, which is about 200 miles west of Guantanamo Bay. There were a lot of destroyers at the latter place for battle practice and other tests. There were five submarines there the O-2, O-13, O-14, O-15, and O-16. We had torpedo firing practice both submerged and on the surface. We also made trials to see how fast we could go down. The O-13 went from running full speed ahead on the engines on the surface to full speed ahead on the motors submerged with just the periscope showing in one minute and thirty-five seconds, which was as good time as any of the boats made.

We left Guacaquayabo Bay for Guantanamo Bay March 1, and got there Sunday morning, March 2. There the subs O-11 and O-12 joined us. The O-2 left us in Guacaquayabo Bay because she is a Holland type boat and our division is all Lake type. The sub tender Savannah has the Holland O boats while the tender Rainbow has the Lake type boats.

The biggest share of the fleet was at Guantanamo Bay when we got back. There are also a bunch of destroyers, oil tanks, supply ships and colliers. When we were in Guantanamo Bay the first time we made liberty in two Cuban towns, Caimanera and Guantanamo cities, and of course I got a good look at the towns. While we were at Guacaquayabo Bay we made liberty in three towns, Port Casilda, Trinidad and Santa Cruz Del Sur. Trinidad is one of the oldest towns in Cuba. It was founded in 1517 and it also has some of the finest public buildings on the island.

On March 8th, we left Guantanamo Bay for the Island of St. Thomas, which is one of the group of islands known as the Virgin Islands. They were the Danish West Indies before we bought them a couple of years ago.

The town here is known as Charlotte Amalie. The harbor is about the prettiest place I have seen since I got down here. The entrance is about 1/4 of a mile wide and then it spreads out until it is about 3/4 of a mile wide and 1 1/2 miles long. It is entirely surrounded by high hills and the town is on the side of one of these hills and partly in a valley. The natives here nearly all speak English and so it isn't as hard to get around as it was in Cuba. There are four or five good restaurants here where you can get anything just the same as in the states. There is a detachment of marines here and a few sailors on shore stations.

Sunday afternoon 5 of us fellows rented a Ford for 3 hours and went over about half of the Island. The rest of the Island is so hilly that even a Ford can't make it.

We had only been here one day when the order came in for the O-11, O-12 and O-13 to go to Key West, Florida for final acceptance tests, but the O-11 had some trouble in the heavy seas coming here so she couldn't make the trip and so the whole thing was indefinitely postponed. We are now supposed to leave for New York some time between April 20 and 26. From New York we are to go to New London and then to Philadelphia Navy Yard and are supposed to be there all summer and undergo repairs.

There are some changes they want to make in the boats that they think will make them more efficient. One thing I forgot to mention about this town here is that right back of the town on a hill is Blue Beard's castle. I use to think that Blue Beard was a myth, but I guess he wasn't. The original castle is standing, but it is in the yard of a villa owned by some doctor from Brooklyn, New York. There is a watchman there and you can't get in the castle, but can look all around it. Blue Beard's grave is in front of the castle and his right name is on it. I don't remember what the name was, but it was German. He was supposed to have killed eleven wives and hung their heads up.

Next Saturday and Sunday we are going to San Juan, Porto Rico for liberty. It is only about 7 hours run from here.

Well R. D., guess I have told you about all the news for this time. Give my regards to Hales and Misener and the fellows in the shop. Tell Hanson he had better get busy on that letter he owes me.

You will find three snap shots in this letter. The O-13 is the center boat in the large picture. You can make out the O-13 on her bow. The other two pictures have it written on the back where they were taken. Hoping to hear from you again.

Sincerely,
Roy S. Poppleton.

Much has been said and done by our heroes who have faced the terrible Hun on the battle front and of those who have handled the horrible death dealing weapons; but little mention is made of those who by force of circumstance were compelled to remain at home, the men who made it possible for our vast armies to have sufficient ammunition to drive the Boche from his dugout the men who were placed in such positions of consequence, such as the inspector at Penniman, who handled the most deadly and horrible explosive known to mankind.

It has been the chief desire of each and every one of us to face the Hun and meet him hand to hand in mortal combat, that we might, avenge our country's wrongs and that we might further the cause of liberty. Fate intervened, and the "poor inspectors" were left behind to wither away into oblivion. However, no doubt in the annals of this great conflict the paramount factor in the winning of the war will be laid to the fact that our shells, which we have inspected each day of our so-called inglorious work, have found their way and accomplished the work set for them.

Each and every one of us, dear brother inspectors, should feel proud of our duty. We have done our duty as laid down by the law of the land, and have done it to the best of our ability and when we are discharged and go into the world to meet our brother soldiers from overseas, we can at least feel that we have helped make it possible for them to return once more to liberty, home and loved ones.

Now that the conflict is over, let us not depreciate our part in it as some are inclined to do, but be proud of the fact that we had the talent and the patience to use our ability to the best advantage to which the government could put it. To the uninitiated, we must say a few words. Inspecting shells is not as pleasant as it may seem, owing to the dangers which harass one on every side. Who knows what moment the sleeping monsters under those grave-shaped mounds may awaken to life and make Penniman once more the prairie it was before the war. What about the unseen and unfeeling poison that slowly grips and destroys the blood and heart action and turns the pigment of the skin and hair to a dull yellow? Yet through all this may be seen Uncle Sam's soldier inspectors smiling and doing his bit; so "keep smiling" and let us go back to civil life with the same energy and cheerfulness that we displayed in taking up our work in Penniman, and thus further the cause of our great country by being good useful citizens, ready to live or die for our own United States.

Inspector Arthur C. Gaul,
Penniman, Virginia.

Confucius.

Confucius was not a religious teacher. He taught ethics and was a great philosopher. His doctrines dealt with man's relations to man, and not with man's relations or responsibilities to God. The true followers of Confucius can properly be said to have no religion, but most Confucianists have religious notions borrowed either from the Buddhist or Taoist religions, or from both.

Do Your Own Thinking.

You can't become a man of mark, a man of real achievement, so long as you are but an echo of other people. You can't possibly progress as you should in your chosen life work. For the highest success demands vigorous, alert, independent thinking. And your thinking is the opposite of this, as revealed by your blind, uncritical assimilation of other people's ideas.

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

AMERICA NO PLACE FOR THE PESSIMIST

Secretary of the Treasury Glass Says These Should Be Days of Rejoicing, of Confidence and High Resolve.

"A thing difficult of understanding is the reactionary spirit which, in some quarters, seems to have seized hold of American business," declared Secretary of the Treasury Glass in a recent interview on the coming Victory Liberty Loan. "It manifests itself in a gloomy and pessimistic view of the future in no way justified by conditions, present or discernible, and in a disposition to cavil at the further expenditures the government is under the necessity of making in order to liquidate the war."

Secretary Glass declared he saw no reason whatever for dark foreboding. On the contrary, he was firm in the belief that these should be days of rejoicing, of confidence and high resolve. "America is the least injured of any of the nations which took active part in the death grapple with autocracy on the soil of France and Flanders," he continued. "Except for the 60,000 who gave up their lives and the thousands who are returning, maimed or wounded, the United States has made no real sacrifice."

"Is the American spirit less courageous than the spirit of the French or the Belgians? France, sorrowing but undaunted, has set about to repair the wreck the ruthless invaders wrought, and refuses to view the future darkly. Belgium, stripped of all save honor, looks forward to the day when a greater nation will arise on the ruins of the old. Shall America, then, bend and groan under the imaginings of a burden which it should bear lightly, if felt at all?"

"The coming issue of government bonds has been designated the Victory Liberty Loan. It seems to me that it might well be termed also the Thanksgiving Loan, for if people had cause for Thanksgiving, we are that people. "Those Americans who today are among the carpers and quibblers are not worthy of the name of Americans. They are not worthy the boys they seat forth to make, if need be, the supreme sacrifice that liberty might live. "Now that the coming of peace has restored their sons to them, will they tighten up their purse strings and adopt an attitude which seems to say, 'The war is over; I did my part while the fighting was in progress, and now let the government go hang.' I do not think so. I believe that when the next loan is offered they will understand its necessity and will gladly meet its requirements."

HELP "FINISH THE JOB."

LET US DO OUR SHARE

Put the Finishing Touches to the German Dream of World Conquest—it Takes Money to Hold the Obsequies of Kaiserism.

Here is a good answer for the fellow who says: "I bought the bonds of the previous loans, but why should I save and buy more?"

The answer is concerned with sickness and death. Fortunately, the disease is the German dream of world conquest, and the funeral is that of the kaiser's ambitions.

Now, in the average American home, where sickness and death befall, the head of the family first pays for physicians, medicines and nurses. But when he has gone thus far, he does not stop. He cannot. He must go on and call in the undertaker. He must finish the sad business.

And so it is in the family of nations. We have been stricken with war—and now we must pay for it. Happily, the corpse, as has been said, is the German ambition. The United States and our allies must pay for the funeral.

The first, second and third Liberty loans brought together and trained the army of physicians and nurses that was to combat the disease. The fourth loan transported them to the house of sickness and carried them through to the deathbed of Prussian autocracy. But we still have to pay the last bills of imperialism's passing, and the laying away of that dread corpse has been an unavoidable expense.

The man who says: "I bought the other bonds but I'll be darned if I'll save now to buy more," is as illogical as a father who would say: "I paid for the doctor and nurses and the medicines, but I'll be darned if I'll have a funeral."

Let us do our share in helping along the obsequies of kaiserism. It will be the best investment any of us can make.

HELP "FINISH THE JOB."

IS THERE A DOUBTING THOMAS?

Is there any man in this country who is afraid to buy Victory Liberty bonds? Is there anyone who fears that he may not get his money back?

If there is, he would do well to peruse the following table, which Uncle Sam has prepared for him, showing the worth of each of the important nations in the war, together with the total of their national debts:

	Estimated national wealth.	Present national debt.
Great Britain	$80,000,000,000	$38,675,000,000
France	65,000,000,000	23,000,000,000
Russia	40,000,000,000	25,000,000,000
Italy	25,000,000,000	7,000,000,000
Japan	25,000,000,000	1,300,000,000
Germany	80,000,000,000	33,000,000,000
Austria-Hungary	25,000,000,000	20,000,000,000
United States	$80,000,000,000	15,000,000,000

Any Doubting Thomas, after reading that table, will readily appreciate that United States governments bonds offer the safest investment in the world.

HER FIRST REAL MONEY

"This card represents my first real money," recently said a farmer's wife, with an odd look of mingled pride, deprecation and something very like triumph. "At home, as a girl, I had no money. Mother bought things for us children with whatever money father gave her. Since I've been married it's been much the same. I've got things at the town stores and Jim's paid for them. Even my egg and butter money has gone, as a rule, to help with the household upkeep—turned in on the grocery bill, usually. I've never seemed able to hold on to a penny. "But when the War Savings Stamps came along I said to myself, 'Here's your chance, Mary!'
