Mrs. M. B. Ferrey of Lansing is expected to again be present this year.

The trade territory of a town is not all dependent upon the distance to neighboring trading points. The trade territory depends upon the enterprise of the merchants and the residents of the town. If a town does not reach after the trade it will come only as fast as it has to. But if the merchants go after business in surrounding country, advertising in every possible way, and making good every word of their advertising, trade will come from an ever increasing radius, the town will gain a reputation of being awake and it will forge to the front. It is the men in the town, and not altogether the men living within a certain number of miles from it, that makes the town good for nothing.—Ex.

WHAT A PACKER SAYS ON N. E. MICHIGAN

"I believe that Northeastern Michigan is destined to become a very productive section of this great state. Of course it has its limitations in the matter of climate but for the sheep industry, the grazing of cattle and dairying we consider it most excellently adapted. The section has as pure water as is found anywhere in the world and during the summer months it has enormous crops of very fine grasses and clover," said I. W. Taliaferro, vice-president of Hammond, Standish & Co., of Detroit. "Young cattle shipped in and given the benefit of its grass and clover for a season take on weight condition for finishing" with corn and concentrates in the fall.

"The great demand now is for what is known as 'baby beef,' or in packer's parlance, 'long yearlings and short twos.'"

"The Detroit market ought to be a big feeder market and probably will be as your part of the state develops. The great demand for beef in Detroit local markets and in the surrounding territory is for light, fat young stock. This is produced in Northeastern Michigan but not in the quantities that could be easily sold here. We would be glad to purchase a larger part of our supply of cattle from those produced in Michigan if they would come to this market."

Mr. Taliaferro believes that the best results are obtained by grazing cattle during the season on Northeastern Michigan ranches and then shipping to the "corn belt" for the finishing off of the product, but many of the best ranch owners are raising their own feed and doing the finishing on their own ranches, getting big returns for the money and effort invested.

JUDGE WIDDIS AGAIN IN THE LIMELIGHT

Files Charges With Governor Against N. C. Harting, Court Stenographer.

Judge Albert Widdis of the 23rd Judicial Circuit, who attained considerable notoriety about three years ago by committing several members of the board of supervisors and the prosecuting attorney to jail for contempt of court, has again brought himself prominently into the public eye by suspending N. C. Harting, circuit court stenographer, and filing charges with the governor to sustain the suspension.

This action was taken last Friday, when the judge convened court with only himself and the county clerk present, for the purpose of issuing the order of suspension.

The suspension of Mr. Harting has met with almost universal condemnation throughout the county, the majority of the people believing that it was actuated by personal spite. Mr. Harting has been stenographer for the courts in this circuit for about thirty-five years, serving under six or seven different judges, in this and other circuits and never before has there been a word of complaint as to his work, or anything to sustain such charges as are now made against him.

Whether these charges will be accepted by the governor as sufficient to warrant the suspension is, of course, not known, but the majority of the people of Iosco county are hopeful that they will not be so accepted.

It was rumored last Saturday that the editor of the Herald had also incurred the displeasure of the judge and that a demand was to be served on him for the retraction of some published assertions he had made regarding the judge, but to date the editor has not received any official notice of such demand. That there was some basis for the rumor is certain, however, as the judge made a visit to the Herald office (at a time when he was certain that the editor was absent) and showed to an employee a paper relative to something of the kind. The editor has been awaiting with some interest the service of such paper to ascertain what it is that he is asked to retract. He has been served with such demands so many times in the last four years, accompanied by threats of suit for libel or slander, that it has become a matter of mere routine, as the demands for retraction have never been complied with, nor has the action for libel ever materialized. However, with each new demand there is always the chance that something will materialize, so each has its interest apart from the others.

However, there are a number of interesting stories that might be told without liability for either slander or libel, unless the truth would be basis for such action, and if pressed too hard the editor of the Herald will relate these stories for the benefit of the people of Iosco county. They would make spicy reading.

Below we publish the charges which were made against Mr. Harting. Form your own opinion as to their sufficiency:

State of Michigan
It the Circuit Court for the County of Iosco.

In the matter of Nicholas C. Harting, Circuit Court Stenographer.

It appearing to the Court that Nicholas C. Harting, official court stenographer of the 23rd Judicial Circuit, has been guilty of divers instances of conduct unbecoming a Circuit Court stenographer, in particular:

1st. That he upon one occasion while the Circuit County for Alcona County was in session and while the judge thereof was charging a jury in a criminal case, said to the Judge in a loud, grossly improper and insulting tone of voice, "Don't read so fast," which remark so spoken lowered the dignity of the court in the eyes of the jurors and auditors present:

2nd. That said Nicholas C. Harting while the Circuit Court for Iosco County was in session and while the conduct of a friend of his was under scrutiny by the Court was ordered to typewrite that part of the testimony seemingly inimical to his friend and deliver it to the court without fail as soon as possible; that while to the friend of said Harting (who was an attorney) was given a typewritten copy of this testimony within 24 hours as this Court has been informed and believes, this Court did not receive a copy of the same for three months during which time said attorney moved beyond the jurisdiction of the Court:

3rd. That said Harting has upon many occasions during the trial of cases failed to record the remarks of the court, seemingly seeking to show his contempt for the judge of this court in this way:

4th. That the conduct of said Nicholas C. Harting toward this court has been supercilious and insulting upon many, many occasions due as this court believes to the fact that he is much older, has lived in this district much longer, is worth much more money than the judge of this court and to the fact that he appears to be jealous of the judge of this court and to covet his situation:

5th. That this court has been informed and believes that said Harting has lately carried on a propaganda against the judge of this court and has said falsely to others that matters were in awful, awful shape in this the 23rd Judicial Circuit because of the cruel treatment accorded attorneys by the judge of this court:

6th. That said Nicholas C. Harting is now an attorney at law, County Abstractor, Circuit Court Commissioner, Circuit Court Stenographer and has one hip upon the seat of the judge of this court, much to the embarrassment of the judge of this court and the amusement of others who can see; that kindness and gentle admonition given to said Harting in the hope that he would discontinue his superman conduct have been of no avail:

7th. That said Nicholas C. Harting has persisted in the intolerable conduct of acting as legal adviser of litigants in this Court and as Court stenographer also. That a few weeks ago he brazenly said to the Judge of this court concerning a matter pending in this court, "They came to me for advice and I advised them. By God I've got a right to do it and I'm going to do it." It appears that this court has to adopt stringent means to maintain its dignity, safeguard its integrity and keep it and its officers fair, impartial and neutral.

To this end it appears to this court that it is the duty of this court to suspend said Nicholas C. Harting as official court stenographer of the 23rd Judicial Circuit.

Therefore it is ordered that the said Nicholas C. Harting be and he hereby is suspended as official stenographer of the Circuit Court for the County of Iosco, the Circuit Court for the County of Alcona and the Circuit Court for the County of Oscoda, comprising the 23rd Judicial Circuit of Michigan.

It is further ordered that the Clerk of this Court enter this order in full upon the Journal of this Court that he transmit a certified copy hereof to the Governor of the State of Michigan and that he personally serve upon said Nicholas C. Harting a certified copy of this order.

ALBERT WIDDIS,
June 23, 1919. Circuit Judge.

THE ELEVATOR SITUATION

At the present time we lack between three and four thousand dollars of having enough money paid in to incorporate for $40,000. We can not incorporate and issue stock until fifty per cent of the capital stock is paid in.

Those who have subscribed for stock and have not paid in should do so at once, as the rest are thereby being held up. Also any person interested in the welfare of Iosco county and who has not subscribed should take as many shares as possible at $25.00 each, payable at the Ealy McKay Bank in Tawas City, or the Iosco County Bank in Whittemore.

It is essential that the money is forthcoming at once, because crops will be moving to market in about two months, and if a modern, fire-proof elevator, capable of being enlarged is built, the plans will have to be drawn up, contracts let, and work started very soon in order to handle this year's crop. We expect Tawas City to live up to the promise of a free site, and to have it ready in the near future. A suitable site is available in Whittemore.

Within the past week the farmers of Plainfield township have subscribed $1,500 in addition to that already subscribed, although they are located a long way from either elevator; showing how strongly they see the necessity for putting in cooperative elevators. When Plainfield township does this in addition to what has already subscribed, those who have taken the obligation to take stock, should do their duty in paying in without further delay.

CHAS. E. THOMPSON, President.

CUT RYE FROM WHEAT OR TAKE LOW PRICE

East Lansing, Mich., June 24—Federal regulations call for a heavy price discount on all wheat which is mixed with rye, according to notices being sent out by the Michigan Millers Association. The Association has recently sent posters over the State warning farmers that wheat will have to be clean if the top price is paid.

"All rye should be pulled from wheat fields now," is the advice of J. W. Nicholson, farm crops specialist at M. A. C. "The labor required to do the work will more than be paid for by the higher market price, and by the clean seed which will be available for next year's crop."

She gave the alarm and undoubtedly was the means of saving Mr. Sempliner and perhaps other business men from a serious loss.

COUNTY AGENT COLUMN

C. P. Milham

A state tractor demonstration is being planned for this year. The management will be under Mr. Hilderbrand who has handled most of the national tractor events. The demonstration will be held in the central part of the state where best conditions can be found. From thirty to fifty tractor manufacturers will be represented in the demonstration, and from 300 to 600 acres will be required for plowing, which will require from three to five days. Make plans to attend this meet if you are interested in tractors. Further information will be given later.

The Calcium Arsenate poison has been received. From all reports the potato beetles are worse this year than ever before, and the need of spraying thoroughly and often is very great.

The corn crop is very backward in many sections of the state, and in all probability there will again be a demand for high class seed.

A new wrinkle with sweet clover has been discovered. Mr. H. D. Perkins Grand Rapids, discs his sod pasture in the fall, and sows sweet clover seed. It comes up early in the spring, and thrives in the summer when all other grasses are dying down, and two months of good pasture will be added. Sow more seed on that fall! The plants will live over the first winter after pasturing and produce seed the following year. This program will make a permanent sweet clover field.

Poultry men know a rooster does more damage in the summer than good. Kill the rooster and produce infertile eggs. Infertile eggs keep better during the summer.

Now is the time to get a rooster ready for the county fair. The influence the county fair has on the agriculture of the county depends on the interest the people take in it. Most people think a county fair is for horse races, pop and lemonade stands, balloons etc. But these are the trimmings. The real fair consists of displays of county grown products. Where people meet in friendly, helpful competition. We get new ideas for our business at the fair. The fair will be what you help make it.

The red clover situation is serious in many parts of the state, and indications are that there will be a serious shortage of seed another year. Cut that best piece of red clover early enough so a crop of seed can be secured. Clover seed at present price is the best crop to raise for a profit.

In your travel through the county keep your eye open for the best fields of Rosen Rye. This county will have the largest rye crop this year with favorable weather conditions, and indications are that it will all be needed. Spring sown grains are suffering for moisture, and may be a light crop.

GRADUATING EXERCISES

Th Commencement Exercises of the East Tawas high school were held in the opera house last Thursday evening. The class of 17 young people was the largest class to be graduated in many years.

The program was begun by the rendition of the march by Miss Mary Gardner, followed by the invocation of divine blessing by Rev. Edwin of the Episcopal church. A vocal solo by Mrs. Rupert H. Budworth was followed by an address by the class president, Ralph Stickney. Miss Grace Lucille Braddock gave the salutatory and Miss Gertrude Luce rendered a lullaby in her usual charming manner. Miss Ella Stang then gave the valedictory after which the speaker of the evening, Dr. R. Clyde Ford gave his address.

Harsh Egyptian Custom.
 The law of the Egyptians in respect to debtors and creditors was to the effect that no man was permitted to borrow money without paying to the creditor the dead body of his father or nearest ancestor, which every man kept embalmed in his house. It was thought infamous and impious not to redeem so precious a pledge, and by who died without having discharged that duty was deprived of the customary honors of burial.

Tawas City, Mich., June 27, 1919

FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

FROM LEO BLUST AND FRANK TALKNES
 Whipple Barracks, Arizona.
 June 19, 1919.

Mr. James Ballard,
 Dear Friend:
 I am feeling good hoping that the Tawas people are as ever. This is some dry place. It gets dark between 9:30 and 9:45 and I never see it get day light yet. It gets day light so early. There are mountains all around us except where the railroad track runs in and out of Prescott. The town is only a ten minutes walk and every other building is a hospital or a place for a P. B. There are a few fine buildings in the place. Court house and jail are all under one roof. It is a good looking building as the court house at Tawas City.

You probably will be a little surprised to hear from some of the Isosco county boys in the Arizona country. I guess the first town that could be called a town is only 50 miles north of the place it was the place we left the main Santa Fe R. R. The place itself wasn't much better than Tawas City, that is if they wouldn't had any street cars. The name of the place is Ash Fork. When we came out here we left St. Louis at nearly 6 p. m. or a little before. Went to Kansas City 3:30 was to be due at 3 a. m. half hour late and at 10:50 we hit the trail for Arizona, which was Sunday and one could see plenty of people at each stopping place. We hit Newton at 5:15 a little late, hit Dodge City 11:00 p. m. central time to 10 p. m. had 15 minutes stop and 4:30 a. m. hit La Jota, 20 minutes stop, Trinidad 8:05, short stop, got to Albuquerque at 7:30 p. m. Monday and next day at 12:30 we were at Ash Fork. 1:20 we started from the main line to Prescott. Got here 3:30, which is home if one only has to live here. I saw a good long ride from Saturday until Tuesday.

This place is a hot home in the day time and cold about 3 a. m. The place itself is almost a hospital, where one looks. A person is dry all the time. The water has a queer taste from the wells that the people have, but the post has good water, but it is a little warm.

On our way down we saw plenty dead cattle and some of which were not over three rods from the track.

We saw an engine that was nearly as big as the Alabaster and the thing was coming around a curve. She sounded as if she was striking out about 50 miles and we watched about five minutes and here she comes nearly 2 1/2 miles an hour. She was what I would call a mountain climber and the drive wheels were as well under the coal tender and engine. The cylinders were setting up and down which when running turn a shaft which as close as I could see was making all the wheels under the engine and coal tender do the hauling. Since I came on this trip I saw the bare mountains with nothing but a mountain of stone. It looks as if a man could hide in many of the places so as not to be seen. The best view is one not far from here where little streams of water have worn about a foot into the rocks.

Some of the boys are enlisting. What is the idea? I don't know, but anyway I don't want to come here to live. Well I guess that one could write a much longer letter that this if he took time to write about the farms that we pass, coal mines and mountain peaks. We are nearly seven thousand feet above sea level and only 1633 miles from St. Louis.

Say Mr. Ballard, the reason which I wrote you this long letter is that I haven't seen a Tawas Herald since January and if you send me the paper, which I could not say how long, but hoping not many more months, I sure will be glad to have you do so, and when I get back to Tawas or out of the service, I will be glad to make every thing right with you, being I don't know the expected time for a discharge, I can not have the paper sent for a certain length of time. So if it will be the same to you to have the question settled after we see each other. I would be glad to have you see how much a paper around a bunch like this is appreciated. Some paper news comes in handy for we don't get all the news in the letters as we do in the papers.

At the start of the letter I mentioned another boy from Isosco county who was drafted at the same date which I was with the 34 that left Isosco county on July 22, 1918. I don't think there are any more boys from that same draft which are in the same place and outfit. We were in the Depot Brigade together and I was transferred to the Artillery and the other soldier, Pvt. Frank Talknes, north of Osceola was transferred to the 78 Inf., which was on one end of the camp and I on the other 40 F. A. and on the 20th of January I was transferred to the medical corps and some time in February Frank was as lucky as a few of who are still in the service will. We were together and never knew each other, only that we looked familiar to each other until a week ago we got to know each other. We will try to get back together.

The Indians here are not like the Michigan Indian, but mostly what I have seen come to my shoulders and their houses wouldn't last long at home. They are built with the coarse grass, chopped up to about two to three inches in length and mixed up in clay, ground and made into a house. Like a cement house of course only they got the clay color. I went up to one to see what held them together and asked a freshman how they made them and I guess I never asked for any information outside of that, or it may be that I never would of got a letter written.

Before I left St. Louis I saw some of the people that lived at East Tawas once, where I sure spent a few enjoyable evenings, which came to an end in too much of a hurry each time that I saw them.

Well this letter has taken me some time to write, so I am not going to look it over for mistakes, so you may have trouble making out what some of the things I have written about. I was only going to write a few lines, but it seemed if I never could quit.

I forgot to tell you about the trains of burros carrying wood up the rockies. They lay down when getting loaded up and the animals look like a mule with 10 to the train.

With best regards,
 Leo Blust,
 Frank Talknes.

Persons to Avoid.
 Unwelcome are the loiterer, who makes appointments he never keeps; the consultant, who asks advice he never follows; the boaster, who seeks for praise he does not merit; the complainer, who whines only to be pitied; the talker, who talks only because he loves to talk always.—Selected.

Cream is the Stand-by

While the farmer is putting in and cultivating his crops and waiting for the harvest, the receipts from the cream and eggs is practically the only income. Yet, with a few cows there is enough money coming in to pay running expenses and when crops are harvested the cash received for them does not go to

That the Ford is the Universal Car was amply proven in the war where a great majority of the cars in use in the warring countries were Fords. Here is an illustration of the part the Ford played in the war zone.

In France 700 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Italy 850 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Egypt 996 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Mesopotamia 999 out of 1,000 were Fords

This record should prove to the prospective buyer that the Ford is adaptable to all uses and that before buying another make he should thoroughly investigate the merits of the Ford.
