KOSCO COUNTY TO BE RE-ASSESSED

Jas. R. Snody, representing the state tax commission was in the Tawas Wednesday collecting the assessment rolls of the cities. Mr. Snody informs the Herald that a complete re-assessment of property values in Iosco county will be made. He already has one man working in the county and about the first of September expects to have quite a crew of men on the job.

This action in Iosco county is a part of the plan of the state tax commission for a review of the assessments in the whole state. Many counties have already been covered and now it is Iosco's turn.

Mr. Snody expresses the opinion that no radical changes will be necessary in the rolls, especially in the cities, where he believes the assessments are very nearly correct.

THE SHORTEST ROUTE TO "TIP OF STATE"

"Put your hand on an ordinary map of Michigan and cover the territory midway between the Michigan Central and the Detroit & Mackinac railroads and you will find that under the handle lie several counties which have no railroad connections, or very limited ones and which have also been almost entirely neglected by the state highway department in the laying out of trunk line roads," said former State Senator Forsyth, of Standish, while in Bay City a few days ago.

"A great many people unacquainted with this territory believe it to be a vast waste of eight sand lands and jack-pine plains when, as a matter of fact, in this territory lie the largest amount of good hardwood lands and hundreds of fine farms already in operation.

"When the two railroads through northeastern Michigan were built they depended for the bulk of their traffic on the pine forests of the state and they went where the pine was to be found in the greatest abundance. That is why the Michigan Central, instead of taking an almost direct route to Mackinaw, curves far to the west, while the Detroit & Mackinac followed the Lake Huron coast in order to reach the mills found at the mouths of many of the rivers.

"Flourishing towns have been built up along these railroads and when the state highway department came to lay out trunk line roads these towns demanded that the roads must pass through them and as a result two trunk line roads to Mackinac and the upper peninsula have been adopted, but both follow the general route of the railroads, and again the central part of northeastern Michigan has been neglected.

"There is a splendid territory which is entitled to the development which good roads bring and I am going to do what I can to have the state aid these people," said Mr. Forsyth, who is now at work obtaining data on the population, extent of improved farming lands, etc., which would be tapped by such a highway.

The fact that this road would provide a good means of transportation for people who are now without railroads and have only poorly developed highways and that it would shorten by many miles the route of tourists to Mackinaw, are considered of great importance by Mr. Forsyth.

The Northwestern Michigan Development bureau has been in communication with State Highway Commissioner Rogers regarding this subject and has a promise that the matter will be given consideration at an early date.

COUNTY AGENT COLUMN

C. P. Milham

Are your exhibits ready for the fair? Have you secured a premium list? Come on! Let's make it a worth while fair.

A great deal of interest is being shown in the county picnic to be held at Sand Lake August 21st. The merchants of Tawas City and East Tawas have donated premiums for sports consisting of races, stunts, and ball games, and these prizes will be on display in Mr. F. F. Taylor's window during the week of Chautauqua. Mr. Ballard offers a year's subscription of the Tawas Herald to the farmer bringing the largest load of people to the picnic. There is sure to be lively competition for the prizes. Pack your basket and enjoy yourself at the picnic with the best people in Iosco county.

If you are interested in trying lime on land for winter wheat, or on fall plowed land for spring grain it is time to plan where you will get lime, and what form you wish to use. Ground limestone can be secured at a very reasonable figure in carload lots, and there are beds of marl in the county which are fairly accessible. Bulletins on lime and its use on land may be secured at the county agent's office.

Lime has been known to increase the value of rye from $19.75 to $37.25 an acre. Commercial fertilizer has also shown very profitable results. Lime loosens heavy clay soil, and binds sandy soils together, improving the physical properties of both. If you wish to get marl to try this fall, let the county agent know how much you will need for a demonstration, and he will put you in touch with locations of marl.

The following information has been received concerning conditions in the Western States, and what we can do to help relieve the situation.

"Grazing land is needed to accommodate the sheep and cattle from the drought stricken areas of the North Western States. 300,000 acres of grazing land has been secured in the Upper Peninsula, and all is not yet reported. It was not the intention at first to make an effort to obtain grazing lands in the lower Peninsula in Michigan, due to the distance from the drought stricken area. However reports have been received showing the drought condition is becoming more serious every day and that more land will be needed. All lands should be listed with the St. Paul office telling the number of acres, topography, character of soil, nature of vegetation, amount of brush, number of sheep or cattle the area will carry, and what the charge for grazing would be. If you know of any such lands in Iosco county it would be a means of increasing the numbers of livestock in the county, and make use of large quantities of feed going to waste yearly, if it were reported at once. If you know of any such lands report it at once to the county agent or to Mr. Marston, Secy. North Eastern Michigan Bureau, or to Mr. C. J. Goodell, Animal Industry, Exchange Bldg. St. Paul, Minn. It is important that this matter be attended to immediately.

FADS OF LITERARY MEN

A letter from his wife always made Hawthorne wash his hands.

Keats liked red pepper on his toast.

Dickens was fond of wearing jewelry.

Joaquin Miller nailed all his chairs to the wall.

Edgar Allen Poe slept with his cat and was inordinately proud of his feet.

Daudet wore his eyeglasses when asleep.

Thackeray used to lift his hat when ever he passed the house in which he wrote "Vanity Fair."

Alexandre Dumas the younger purchased a new painting every time he had a new book published.

Robert Louis Stevenson's favorite recreation was playing the flute, in order, as he said, to tune his ideas.

Robert Browning could not sit still. With the constant shuffling of his feet holes were worn in the carpet.

TOTAL LOSS, TOO

New York minister says that the modern stage has lost its soul.

We always thought they'd lose something valuable out of those stage costumes some day.

Following a leader is an excellent way to avoid responsibility. Leading the followers gains one a reputation and promotion.
