ANOTHER PIONEER CITIZEN PASSED TO THE BEYOND
The angel of death has again entered the ranks of our pioneer citizens and taken from thence W. G. Richards, who passed away at his home in East Tawas last Friday evening, April 23, after a lingering illness. Mr. Richards had been in poor health for about two years and had consulted the best medical authorities in the country, but without avail. About a year ago he went south, hoping to find relief in a different climate, but returned after a short stay. Last fall he went to the Mayo Brothers hospital at Rochester, Minn., but they could give him no hope and he returned home to await the end. Mr. Richards was a man of fine moral character and strict integrity. During the many years he has been engaged in business in Iosco county he gained an enviable reputation and among his business associates it was counted that his word was as good as his bond. He was for many years engaged with his brother, F. H. Richards, in the hardware business in East Tawas and later engaged in extensive lumbering operations, being associated with W. M. Gardner in the mill which was long known as "the hardwood mill." Deceased was a member of the M. E. church and was a sincere and consistent Christian, putting his religion into every day practice with his friends, neighbors and business associates. He was also a member of Baldwin Lodge No. 274 F. & A. M. and of the O. E. S. In his death East Tawas and Iosco county have lost one of their most substantial citizens and one who will be greatly missed from our midst. William G. Richards was born in London, Ont., Canada, May 9, 1856. When but a few months old his parents moved to Laingsburg, N. Y. where the family resided until 1866, when they moved to Michigan, settling at Alpena. In 1874 they moved to East Tawas, and with the exception of a few years spent in the hardware business in Alpena and one year in Kansas, Mr. Richards has made this his home. On August 16, 1881, he was united in marriage to Susan Adams at East Tawas. To this union three children were born, two of whom with the bereaved widow, survive him. They are: Mrs. Edith Sanderson of Alabaster and Mary Richards, who has been teaching school at Toledo, Ohio. The other daughter, Florence, died in 1902. There are also two brothers, James of Detroit and Fred H. of East Tawas, and three sisters, Misses Sarah and Blanche Richards of East Tawas and Mrs. May Robinson of California. The funeral services were held at the East Tawas Methodist church on Monday afternoon and were attended by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. Rev. Stevens paid a splendid tribute to the deceased, and the wealth of floral tributes testified to the esteem in which he was held. The Masonic and Eastern Star orders attended in a body, and the final services at the grave were in charge of the Masons, Past Grand Master James E. Dillon officiating.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish through these columns to express our sincere thanks to the Masonic order and our friends for the many kindnesses shown us during our recent bereavement and sorrow in the death of our loved husband and father.

N. E. MICHIGAN DEVELOPMENT BUREAU NOTES
Boards of supervisors of two more counties in the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau territory have made appropriations for carrying on the work of the bureau. This leaves only Saginaw and Clare counties which have not, as yet, contributed anything this year.
During the past year Secretary Marston of the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau received many fine samples of corn, some of which the growers have been planting for a long series of years and which they claim have become so thoroughly acclimated that they secure crops from it every year. The bureau has obtained a quantity of this corn from the best and most thoroughly acclimated varieties and will distribute it in quantities sufficient to plant a quarter of an acre to any farmer in the district who will agree to return six selected ears from that planting next fall. In addition President Snody of the bureau will give $25 to be used as prizes for those who send in the best samples of corn.
The Michigan state park commission of which Secretary Marston of the development bureau is a member, has given out that it does not intend to use any of the funds at its disposal for the purchase of park sites, unless it should be deemed advisable to buy some tract for its historical interest. It is the plan of the commission to use all its funds for the development and upkeep of such park sites as may be donated to it, and Mr. Marston says that those communities which hope to have parks maintained, partially at least, at state expense, should have their offers of property ready to submit to the commission not later than the next meeting if they expect to have anything done this season in the way of surveys, making plans for improvement, etc.
The development bureau is receiving scores of inquiries from farmers in the so-called "dry belt" of the Dakotas where long droughts have pretty nearly put the farmer and the stock raiser out of business. "It looks as if a lot of those people could be induced to come to Michigan this year," says Secretary Marston.

MAN OF MANY COUNTRIES SELECTS UNITED STATES
This puzzle in nationality has the Marines guessing:
Louis C. Minette, accepted for enlistment at Tulsa, Okla., recently, said that his mother was an American who married a Frenchman in Italy. He was born on a ship flying the Spanish colors, while lying in the English channel. At the age of five his parents died in Sweden and he was adopted by a German, who brought him to the United States. His adopted father is not a naturalized citizen.
"Would you class him as 'The Man Without a Country'?" the recruiting sergeant was asked.
"Man without a country nothing," said the sergeant, "I'd class him as a League of Nations."

NOTICE
I have made arrangements with the Shedd Creamery Co. of Detroit to buy cream for them. I will pay the highest market price and will guarantee an absolute correct test.
Yours for business,
L. E. KLENOW.

LETTER FROM
P. MILHAM
E. Ballard,
as City, Mich.
Dear Mr. Ballard:—Your communication enclosing card for answer to crop conditions received and answered. Was sorry to hear of the fire which destroyed the creamery at Tawas City, but was glad to hear from you.
Since coming to Grand Haven as County Agricultural Agent of Ottawa county I have been on the jump almost every minute. The last two weeks I have attended twelve meetings, six each week. So I am getting around and getting acquainted with conditions quite rapidly.
I like the work here very much too. Conditions are somewhat different than in Iosco—this is more of a fruit and dairy section, yet there is a great deal of the county engaged in general farming. The poultry production of the county is simply immense. I believe that there are more day old chicks sent from this county every day than any other in the state. A short time ago I had the pleasure of meeting one of the many men who are making a business of raising baby chicks, and this gentleman told me that he took off 3,000 baby chicks that morning. One incubator he is running has a capacity of 14,000 eggs, so you can see they do the poultry work on a large scale.
The farmers here are strong for the Farm Bureau. At the present time we have something above 1,300 members who joined on the $10.00 a year plan. They believe in unity in social and business life, and they believe in the protection afforded by a big, loyal, sensible organization.
Most of the farmers in the county are of Holland descent, but there are a number of Irish, Poles, Swedes, and Germans. But they work together in a very striking way. They all treat me simply fine and are a live, peppy bunch to get into. They are bound to do something and are willing to help all they can in doing things.
Since coming here I have aided in organizing one livestock shipping association, and a Farm Bureau Exchange. And at the present time there is started two more cooperative livestock shipping associations and a cooperative elevator. We are planning on marketing all our wool this year through the State Farm Bureau wool pool, buying all our fertilizers and coal and feeds cooperatively next fall. Twine is being furnished at 15c a pound which is some change from last year. At the present time, including those organized since I came here, we have five cooperative elevators, two cooperative marketing associations, and four livestock shipping associations. This year it is planned to have the county completely organized. This summer we are planning on having a monster Farm Bureau picnic for the whole county and local Farm Bureau picnics for each township. This fall we are planning township Farm Bureau fairs, and the best of these exhibits will be gathered by truck and sent to the county fair, and perhaps the Grand Rapids and Detroit fairs.
Ottawa county is a very picturesque county. Many beautiful scenes may be seen along the Grand River which crosses the county. It reminds me somewhat of the AuSable. Near the lake shore great sand dunes, mostly covered with timber, raise themselves up almost like mountains. The highest one, called Mount Mora, is 300 feet above the lake level. The river goes through Grand Haven, making a fine harbor. Boats may be had to Chicago almost every day. The Grand Trunk ferries, and big freighters traverse the waters between Grand Haven and Milwaukee and Chicago. Grand Haven is quite a fishing center too. There is located at the mouth of the river a life saving station and lighthouse. Many of these things bring back memories to me of the places in Iosco county which became so familiar to me.
Remember me to everyone and wish them all good luck and success.
Fraternally yours,
C. P. MILHAM,

"THE FARMERETTE" WELL PRESENTED
The home talent play, "The Farmerette," given by the young ladies of the Iosco County normal school at the Tawas City Theatre last Monday evening drew a large and appreciative audience and added a nice sum to the class treasury.
This was strictly a girl's play, there being no part for the masculine gender, and was participated in by the seven girls who compose the normal class this year. As the title indicates, the play had a rural setting and the various characters were well depicted by the young ladies who assumed them. Following is the cast of characters: Jane Wellington, sixteen and still Unkissed, Victoria Klish Jocelyn Wellington, the little "Bug-ologist," Hilma Bygden Elnora Wellington, a born homemaker, Beatrice Ruddock Mrs. Beckwith, an unfriendly neighbor, Emma Hempel Nan Wellington, the "Farmerette" Bessie Daley Minnette Wellington Lawson, the sister from the city, Wilma Koehler Gracious Ann Bean, a believer in "Calicothenics," Nona Long

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR M. A. C. SUMMER TERM
Plans for the summer school at the Michigan Agricultural College, which were announced from the office of Director E. H. Ryder this week, call for the most complete course of studies ever offered at the state school during a summer term. The school this year is to run for six weeks, from June 21 to July 30.
Courses especially planned for rural teachers; physical training work to prepare leaders to meet the new requirements for trained instructors in cities over 10,000; general courses in applied sciences, English and economics; and special conferences in different lines of work will feature the work of the school.
Inquiries already received at the director's office indicate a very heavy enrollment for the summer work. The unprecedented demand for teachers, extension workers, and rural life leaders of all kinds is said to be responsible for the large call for summer courses.

SHERIFF'S NOTICE
The attention of owners and drivers of automobiles is hereby called to the laws requiring a license as well as for the driver. Legally no one has a right to drive a car upon any of the highways of this state without having the license tag attached both front and rear, and the driver must also have in his or her possession a driver's license. The car license must be renewed January the 1st each year, and any car found on the highways after this date without license tags attached will be impounded. The driver's license when once obtained is good until revoked for cause, but every person driving a car must have one, except those having chauffeurs' licenses. Every member of the family who operates the car must have a driver's license. If any person who has knowledge that someone is running a car without having their license as required, will convey such information to my office it will be treated as confidential and the matter will be taken care of.

MEMORIAL BUILDING
The Interchurch Drive reading matter endorses the following: "A minister must have three things—a college education, a library and a Prince Albert coat. A wife is a decided asset and children are desirable." The Savior himself lacked all this paraphernalia, especially the Prince Albert coat.
The slow growth of the Memorial fund may be due to the writer not being togged up to date for the job, and it is with pleasure that the announcement can be made of a unanimous vote of "yea" by the Twentieth Century Club to come to the rescue. It would have been a desirable part of the reported meeting if this fact had been mentioned. However, as Mary taught the Infant Jesus the true relation of man to his Creator and to his fellow man in words which when spoken by a lad of 10 confounded the teachers of theories, so we may look for good results to follow swiftly the humble efforts of the past to secure a memorial building fund.
"What you do not like when done to yourself, do not do unto others." This is the golden rule of Confucius at a period of over 500 years before the birth of the Savior. The Chinese have lived it. Foreign people were given the same liberty as America is giving. The Chinaman saw his form of religion scoffed at, his laws violated, his traditions ignored. In self defense he took up the cry of China for Chinamen and the Boxer war followed. The American army was there and passed through the demolished stone wall.
America for Americans presents the same menace as for China. Community discussion will disclose the fact that Americans have an American settlement in every country, talk the English language and live and worship as Americans. Let the sunshine fall clearly into every nook of this question in this country and in full honesty of purpose show the man who enters it that America has something superior to anything he has brought with him. If we cannot or we do not it is the same thing. The Memorial Community building is the melting pot and it is needed quickly.

The slow growth of the Memorial fund may be due to the writer not being togged up to date for the job, and it is with pleasure that the announcement can be made of a unanimous vote of "yea" by the Twentieth Century Club to come to the rescue. It would have been a desirable part of the reported meeting if this fact had been mentioned. However, as Mary taught the Infant Jesus the true relation of man to his Creator and to his fellow man in words which when spoken by a lad of 10 confounded the teachers of theories, so we may look for good results to follow swiftly the humble efforts of the past to secure a memorial building fund.
"What you do not like when done to yourself, do not do unto others." This is the golden rule of Confucius at a period of over 500 years before the birth of the Savior. The Chinese have lived it. Foreign people were given the same liberty as America is giving. The Chinaman saw his form of religion scoffed at, his laws violated, his traditions ignored. In self defense he took up the cry of China for Chinamen and the Boxer war followed. The American army was there and passed through the demolished stone wall.
America for Americans presents the same menace as for China. Community discussion will disclose the fact that Americans have an American settlement in every country, talk the English language and live and worship as Americans. Let the sunshine fall clearly into every nook of this question in this country and in full honesty of purpose show the man who enters it that America has something superior to anything he has brought with him. If we cannot or we do not it is the same thing. The Memorial Community building is the melting pot and it is needed quickly.

ING LETTER FROM
P. MILHAM
E. Ballard,
as City, Mich.
Dear Mr. Ballard:—Your communication enclosing card for answer to crop conditions received and answered. Was sorry to hear of the fire which destroyed the creamery at Tawas City, but was glad to hear from you.
Since coming to Grand Haven as County Agricultural Agent of Ottawa county I have been on the jump almost every minute. The last two weeks I have attended twelve meetings, six each week. So I am getting around and getting acquainted with conditions quite rapidly.
I like the work here very much too. Conditions are somewhat different than in Iosco—this is more of a fruit and dairy section, yet there is a great deal of the county engaged in general farming. The poultry production of the county is simply immense. I believe that there are more day old chicks sent from this county every day than any other in the state. A short time ago I had the pleasure of meeting one of the many men who are making a business of raising baby chicks, and this gentleman told me that he took off 3,000 baby chicks that morning. One incubator he is running has a capacity of 14,000 eggs, so you can see they do the poultry work on a large scale.
The farmers here are strong for the Farm Bureau. At the present time we have something above 1,300 members who joined on the $10.00 a year plan. They believe in unity in social and business life, and they believe in the protection afforded by a big, loyal, sensible organization.
Most of the farmers in the county are of Holland descent, but there are a number of Irish, Poles, Swedes, and Germans. But they work together in a very striking way. They all treat me simply fine and are a live, peppy bunch to get into. They are bound to do something and are willing to help all they can in doing things.
Since coming here I have aided in organizing one livestock shipping association, and a Farm Bureau Exchange. And at the present time there is started two more cooperative livestock shipping associations and a cooperative elevator. We are planning on marketing all our wool this year through the State Farm Bureau wool pool, buying all our fertilizers and coal and feeds cooperatively next fall. Twine is being furnished at 15c a pound which is some change from last year. At the present time, including those organized since I came here, we have five cooperative elevators, two cooperative marketing associations, and four livestock shipping associations. This year it is planned to have the county completely organized. This summer we are planning on having a monster Farm Bureau picnic for the whole county and local Farm Bureau picnics for each township. This fall we are planning township Farm Bureau fairs, and the best of these exhibits will be gathered by truck and sent to the county fair, and perhaps the Grand Rapids and Detroit fairs.
Ottawa county is a very picturesque county. Many beautiful scenes may be seen along the Grand River which crosses the county. It reminds me somewhat of the AuSable. Near the lake shore great sand dunes, mostly covered with timber, raise themselves up almost like mountains. The highest one, called Mount Mora, is 300 feet above the lake level. The river goes through Grand Haven, making a fine harbor. Boats may be had to Chicago almost every day. The Grand Trunk ferries, and big freighters traverse the waters between Grand Haven and Milwaukee and Chicago. Grand Haven is quite a fishing center too. There is located at the mouth of the river a life saving station and lighthouse. Many of these things bring back memories to me of the places in Iosco county which became so familiar to me.
Remember me to everyone and wish them all good luck and success.
Fraternally yours,
C. P. MILHAM,
102 So. 2nd St., Grand Haven, Mich.

THE FARMERETTE WELL PRESENTED
The home talent play, "The Farmerette," given by the young ladies of the Iosco County normal school at the Tawas City Theatre last Monday evening drew a large and appreciative audience and added a nice sum to the class treasury.
This was strictly a girl's play, there being no part for the masculine gender, and was participated in by the seven girls who compose the normal class this year. As the title indicates, the play had a rural setting and the various characters were well depicted by the young ladies who assumed them. Following is the cast of characters: Jane Wellington, sixteen and still Unkissed, Victoria Klish Jocelyn Wellington, the little "Bug-ologist," Hilma Bygden Elnora Wellington, a born homemaker, Beatrice Ruddock Mrs. Beckwith, an unfriendly neighbor, Emma Hempel Nan Wellington, the "Farmerette" Bessie Daley Minnette Wellington Lawson, the sister from the city, Wilma Koehler Gracious Ann Bean, a believer in "Calicothenics," Nona Long

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR M. A. C. SUMMER TERM
Plans for the summer school at the Michigan Agricultural College, which were announced from the office of Director E. H. Ryder this week, call for the most complete course of studies ever offered at the state school during a summer term. The school this year is to run for six weeks, from June 21 to July 30.
Courses especially planned for rural teachers; physical training work to prepare leaders to meet the new requirements for trained instructors in cities over 10,000; general courses in applied sciences, English and economics; and special conferences in different lines of work will feature the work of the school.
Inquiries already received at the director's office indicate a very heavy enrollment for the summer work. The unprecedented demand for teachers, extension workers, and rural life leaders of all kinds is said to be responsible for the large call for summer courses.

The Wonders of America

By T. T. MAXEY

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

A LIBRARY for congress was an unquestioned necessity. Consequently, the congressional library was founded about the same time the government was first established, or in 1800. It was entirely destroyed, by fire in the war of 1812 and also suffered seriously from fire at a later date. So, congress authorized the construction of a building that could not be burned. Result, the present structure, completed in 1897, said to be the most perfectly adapted for the convenient use and storage of books of any large library in the world, likewise the largest, costliest and safest.

It consists of three stories, a basement and a dome, covers almost three and one-half acres and has a total floor space of about eight acres. You can better grasp the magnitude of this building, when I tell you that it contains 22,000,000 bricks, to say nothing of the other materials, and has 69,206 shelves with a total length of about forty miles.

It now houses considerably more than one million books and pamphlets, which is the largest single collection on the western hemisphere. Its estimated total capacity is about 1,900,800 publications. Its more than 2,000 windows render it the best lighted library in the world.

The colorings of the reading room are soft, quiet, rich and warm, being conducive to the greatest comfort. The walls carry many helpful and inspiring inscriptions. Its conspicuous beauty or charm, however, is in the wonderful mural decorative scheme, it being, unquestionably, the most gorgeously decorated public building in America.

Keep Doorknobs Tight.

Doorknob screws often work out and let the knob come off. This may be prevented by removing loose screws covering them with glue and screwing them back into place.

Man's Wonderful Makeup.

No difference how sour a man looks, he contains about 60 lumps of sugar of the ordinary cubical dimensions, and to make the seasoning complete, there are 20 spoonfuls of salt. If a man were distilled into water he would make about 38 quarts, or more than half his entire weight. He also contains a great deal of starch, chloride of potash, magnesium, sulphur and hydrochloric acid in his wonderful system.

CANDIDATES MUST "DOLL UP"

Will Have to Look Their Prettiest if They Expect to Find Favor With Woman Voters.

It is not necessary to go away from home to find either the latest or best, regardless of what is wanted. Consider eyebrow arching, for instance. A local beauty salon announces to the public that it does eyebrow arching, and explains that this operation "gives the eyes a deep, soulful expression with everlasting charm." Eyebrow arching advice for woman electors is more or less superfluous. It is to the men, and more especially to the men who aspire to public office, that this beauty hint is directed.

Throughout the country women are getting the ballot on equal terms with men. Women cannot vote in Indiana, but they are going to have that privilege before long. So many women have been enfranchised that they now hold the balance of power in this nation. So the woman vote will be more and more a real political problem to the candidate.

Some electors care little for the personal appearance of candidates, but most of them prefer a man of character, one who at least is presentable. Candidates in the future will have to bear this in mind. It will be well, in order to match rival candidates, for each to have a good tailor and an advisory committee on the proper shade of cravats. Immaculate linen will have to be in every candidate's platform. The high arched eyebrow will be even more essential to candidates than to the average woman. Doubtless those who have political aspirations will begin early, because eyebrow training takes time.—Indianapolis News.

Of French Origin.

The prefix Fitz (the son of), so common in England, is supposed to have originated in Flanders. It is remarkable that it is now unknown in France, but it occurs in the ancient documents and chronicles of that country. It was brought to England by the Normans under William the Conqueror.

BETWEEN

"And I don't think there is any virtue in helping all these war funds with money given to me by dad, so I'm going to work, and besides buying more War Savings stamps and contributing to the Red Cross, I'll be releasing some man for the service." Marcia Gray spoke earnestly, at the same time unfolding a small piece of paper, which she proudly displayed to Bob Eaton's astonished eyes.

"An elevator operator's license," he gasped, then smiled. "To think of a woman running an elevator, and of all women you!" And Bob, usually so sympathetic, could control his mirth no longer, and was now shaking with laughter.

Marcia's eyes filled with tears. She had worked so hard to gain that precious bit of paper, and had been so in earnest, and here was Bob ridiculing her! Her chagrin gave way to anger. Folding the license with a snap she ran into the house with a curt, "Well, you'll see, Mr. Robert Eaton, and don't ever speak to me again," and shut the door in his face.

The following day, as Bob stepped into the elevator in his office building, he was amazed to see Marcia at the wheel. Then, regaining his composure, he greeted her cheerfully. Marcia met his smile with a cold, unseeing glance as she closed the door and started the elevator. Bob had ample time until Marcia let him off at the eighth floor to change his mind about her capability. He had to admit she was much more polite and efficient than the boy whose place she had taken—and she looked sweeter than ever in her plain gray uniform! All that day Marcia's face, framed in the black curls which rebelliously refused to stay under her severely serviceable little cap, was hopelessly mixed with Bob's letters and reports, and it was with difficulty that he restrained himself from running to the elevator. At last, at five o'clock, he saw her again, and again she ignored him.

So Bob rode up and down in the elevator, hoping against hope that she would relent. Then, when a month had passed without any result he decided to walk, rather than see her so often and not be able to speak to her.

Perhaps Marcia missed him, for many times as she saw him running swiftly up the stairs, she felt an impulse to call to him. However, she still remembered how he had laughed at her, and restrained herself, happy that in spite of his unbelief, she was succeeding far better than she herself had dared hope.

Then one day, at the end of two months of arduous stair climbing Bob was very late, and to save time, took the elevator. Besides, he was wearing a new, wonderful olive-drab uniform, which he was very anxious for a certain little lady to see. Bob was the only passenger in the elevator. Marcia's heart leaped, but she said nothing. And then a curious thing happened.

She stopped the elevator between the seventh and eighth floors, and, turning around, said warmly, "I congratulate you, Mr. Eaton." She turned swiftly back, the light in her eyes forbidding Bob to say anything.

Marcia's heart sank—the brakes refused to yield! Bob was at her side immediately. She silently accepted his solicitous offer to help, and for fifteen minutes they worked together. Marcia sank to the floor when Bob finally told her it was no use for them to try, and that they would have to wait until they were pulled up.

Half an hour later they were released from the elevator. Marcia's face shone radiantly through the oil from the brakes as she stepped out. And the radiance from her countenance was reflected in Bob's, for hadn't she promised to become Mrs. Eaton, and wait for him until he came back from "Over there?" And Bob, having a true diplomatic instinct, had agreed to let Marcia work for the time being.

Eskimo Names.

Eskimos are not able to trace their ancestors back for more than a generation or two because the Eskimo names do not run from generation to generation, and in every Eskimo family each person has a separate name. This is pointed out by Charles Menadlook, an Eskimo teacher, writing in a recent issue of the Eskimo, the only publication issued for the benefit of his race.

Short but Eventful Career.

Tingad, or as it was known in Roman history, Thanugas, was built in 100 A. D. by the order of Trajan. The city had an eventful history during its short career, repeatedly invaded, destroyed and restored. Finally, after the Arabian invasion of 649 A. D. it was left to the mercy of the wind and desert.

Corks of Pine.

Owing to the scarcity of true cork in Sweden, wooden corks are being used in that country, the substitutes being made from quick-growing pine. This wood has wide annual rings, and one of its characteristics is its tendency to swell somewhat after it has been fashioned into stoppers.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

London's Only Street Archway.

St. John's gateway, which spans the north end of St. John's lane, Smithfield, is the only medieval archway remaining over a London street, and was built in 1504.

that my coat if we hadn't I paid the most reliable cleaning establishment in Boston $1.75 plus expressage, for cleaning that same sweater not long ago—a perfectly exorbitant price; why, the sweater only cost $12.50 in the first place. No, it wasn't one of those expensive hand-knit ones, but it was a very pretty sweater. Yes, that soft rose one you have seen me wear.

They say "a penny saved is a penny earned," so I decided that I couldn't earn $1.75 any easier than to wash that sweater myself, with about five cents' worth of soap.

Did you ever try to wash anything? We've always sent the washing out, so haven't any tubs or wringers or things, but there was a bathtub. I believe one of the helps to efficiency is being able to utilize the things.

It takes a lot of energy to get up a suds in a bathtub, if you are not on the inside.

Do you know how much a sweater weighs when it's wet?

I soaped and rubbed and squeezed that garment for the better part of an hour; then, if it never became clean, I wouldn't have given it another souce.

After I squeezed the water out of it the best I could and hung it over the radiator to dry, I went down town to try on a perfectly lovely set of furs that were in Brown & Co.'s window.

There I met Molly Whitman and Tottie Franch and took them to the Sally-Ally Tea Room for something to eat; then I took them to the Strand to see Julian Eltinge in "Couness Charming." I wanted to see if I couldn't tell that he isn't a woman even if I didn't know it.

I dropped around to the office for Jack and we came home together.

We were hardly in the house before he gave me the opening I wanted, by saying:

"Well, what have you been doing today, Hon?"

"Oh, I've got the biggest kind of a surprise for you, Jack; I've been getting behind the conservation board! I saved $1.75 this morning!"

"Pretty good for one morning. Can you keep up that pace for a year?"

Throwing my things on a chair as I passed, I seized the sweater from the radiator and held it up.

"See!" I exclaimed.

"What is it?" he inquired stupidly.

"Can't you see? It's my sweater! I washed it myself and saved $1.75!"

"Um—m—m. Isn't it a little large?"

"Large? No; it never was! It fits all right!" said I, proceeding to invest myself.

My arms were not long enough for the sleeves—by about a foot; but being busy wrinking up the sleeves, I hadn't observed that Jack was having a fit or something; then I looked down at myself. It was right then that I was thankful that I hadn't used wool soap (the kind mamma used, you know), for whatever else happened to that sweater, I would not want to have deprived it of the amount it "shrunk." It was originally a fashionable length; it now escaped the floor by about nine inches. The pockets, which were normally placed, could now be observed as little sacks hanging near the bottom. And the belt! That was also normally placed, but now, if tied, would greatly interfere with locomotion.

I didn't care anything about the old sweater anyway; but there was Jack in fits of laughter; and it is so humiliating to have fallen when one is striving to compete with an economical mother-in-law.

Well, I just stripped the old thing off and threw it in his face and started for the bedroom. Yes, I was crying, but hadn't my head half covered up with a pillow before Jack came, saying:

"There—there—Honey! She did try to economize—did try to save her old man $1.75! There—there—she can get her a new sweater—" and he tucked three yellow-backs in my hand.

NATION PROSPERS WHILE THOUSANDS LACK NECESSITIES

BUDGET FOR RELIEF OF NEEDY REVEALS DIRECT HELP IS NECESSARY TO COMMUNITIES.

$10,000,000 REQUIRED TO CONTINUE FOR HUMANITY

Citizens of Nation Meet Appeal for Aiding Unfortunates Through Home Service Fund May 10-20.

The poor and unfortunate will require next year amounting to at least $10,000,000.

This is the amount of the national budget for service to humanity through the Salvation Army. It reveals that even at a time of national prosperity there is want and suffering which would be sadly in evidence if this great relief organization were suddenly to withdraw its ministrations.

Citizens Take Up Cause.
Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, in President Wilson's cabinet, who is national chairman of the effort, to provide the Home Service fund, has given the opening signal and the great work of enrolling friends of humanitarian service has started fairly under way. Volunteer citizens who are familiar with the ability of the Salvation Army to help those whom others would gladly help if they could reach them, are carrying the appeal to every home in America.

If America's answer falls short, the plans for expansion and extension not only must be abandoned but the present work perhaps curtailed.

Only a small portion of the Army's work is self-supporting. The rescue homes for unfortunate women, the hospitals, including maternity hospitals which care for thousands of mothers of the poorer classes; the slum settlements which are such bright spots in the squalor of the tenement districts, demand constant financial aid. The fresh air camps, the prison work, the founding homes are supported wholly from the Home Service fund. The evangelical work, the bureaus which yearly give away great amounts of food, clothing and supplies to those in dire need; the bureaus for locating the missing, as well as many other activities and institutions of the Salvation Army, derive their means of existence from the same source.

The name of the fund indicates the purpose for which help is sought. The amount was not determined arbitrarily, but by compiling the estimated financial needs of the various districts and corps throughout the United States. The effort of each community, therefore, will be to raise the sum named in its own budget, rather than an arbitrarily fixed portion of the whole $10,000,000, and practically all the money raised in a given section will be spent there, efficiently and economically.

Thousands Rescued.
Out of the great mass of human derelicts—women who have come from homes of culture and luxury—girls who have drifted with the tide for lack of a job, or little youngsters who have been born and reared in sordidness and sorrow—derelicts who have fallen so low that even the underworld scorns them, the Salvation Army has rescued thousands in the United States. Furthermore, more than eighty-five percent of the rescues have proven permanent.

The Salvation Army lassies in many cities saved hundreds from death during the influenza epidemic—went into the homes and cared for the children, cleaned house, brought food and fuel wherever needed.

MISSING SOUGHT THROUGHOUT WORLD

3,000 Cases One Year's Record of Search in United States.

New York.—Thirty-three persons who had been lost to their friends and families were located by the department of investigation and inquiry of The Salvation Army here during the month of March.

This is regarded as a record by the officers in charge of the bureau, for as cases go, missing persons are hard to find. Sometimes the workers are asked to trace persons who have not been heard from in 10 or 12 years and concerning whom absolutely nothing is known.

Remarkable success has accompanied the efforts put forth in this work because of the vast empires touched by the tributary branches of The Army throughout the world. Requests for information concerning persons are published in the War Cry, official organ of the Army, and are also sent to headquarters in districts or countries where those sought are thought to be.

The American branch of this work handles more than 3,000 cases annually, while the international department in London reports that last year it dealt with 100,000 requests.

The labors and facilities of this branch of The Salvation Army's vast undertakings are open to any one. Those in charge of them urge that individuals seeking information of any sort regarding friends or relatives allow their bureau to help. Details other than simply search for missing persons are taken up. Information is often sought concerning the health, condition, character of finance of distant people. Estranged and separated people are reconciled. The bureau also serves as financial agent in transferring money, and in every way strives to make itself as useful as possible.

These things are done without charge, save to cover the cost of printing notices. This department, like almost all those of The Salvation Army, is dependent mainly upon the general Home Service Fund for support. The money in this trust is used to carry forward the American endeavors of The Army. It is for the purpose of obtaining the funds for another year's labors that The Army will make a $10,000,000 Home Service appeal May 10 to 20.

ALTRUISM A BUSINESS.

Theodore Roosevelt once said, "Few serious thinkers fail to recognize the Salvation Army as an invaluable social asset. It has won its way to recognition." The Colonel was right, and this recognition has brought new methods to the Salvation Army. Through more business-like tactics it is not only drawing itself closer to the communities it serves, but is enabled to extend the Army and its work. Economy of efforts and of personnel makes such a consummation possible.

REAL DOUGHNUTS, THESE.

The Salvation Army has given out its recipe for doughnuts. This is the formula from which all the crullers for the men of the A. E. F. were made. There is something magic in it, for it worked wonders. Here it is:
5 cups flour, 2 cups sugar, 5 teaspoonfuls baking powder, 1 saltspoonful salt, 2 eggs, 3-4 cup milk, 1 tablespoonful lard.
Knead and cut and drop into boiling lard. The lassies who made these doughnuts in France say that a happy smile, added to the doughnuts at the time of serving makes them even more delightful.

NO PROFITEERING HERE!

The accounts of the Salvation Army are audited regularly and at frequent intervals. Every cent expended goes for the needy. The Army furnished 3,699,000 meals free to penniless persons in the United States last year. Feeding the hungry is only one of its many activities.

Margaret Cornelia Misiner was born in Brant county, Canada, June 24, 1857, being at the time of her death 62 years, 9 months and 27 days old. Her girlhood days were spent with her parents in Brant county. At about the age of 16 she united with Baptist church in that place and spent many years in active work in the Sunday school. In the year 1880 she was united in marriage to Wm. Papple of the same county. In 1897 Mr. and Mrs. Papple moved to Michigan, settling on the farm where the family now reside.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, William Papple, three children, Mrs. Flossie Boulder, Burton and Vernon Papple, all of this place, four sisters and one brother in Canada. One daughter, Ethel Belle preceded her to the Great Beyond in 1910.
