BAPTIST CHURCH

One night the Angel of Nomenclature visited all the churches in a mythical city, erased the denominational names upon them and painted instead in large letters, names of his own selection. A certain large church, accustomed to seat large crowds, was dubbed "The Church of Oratory." Another, whose congregation was stylish and select, was named "The Church of Fashion." Still another, a congregation famous for orthodoxy, was called "The Church of Sound Opinions." A church frequented solely by the wealthy was renamed "The Church of the Golden Eagle." A sensational church was set forth as "The Church of Big Type." Yet others were named "The Church of the Backward Look," "The Church of Spiritual Cobwebs," "The Church of Dead Wood." Many of course, had beautiful and encouraging names, befitting Christian congregations. But the name that pleased all beholders best was painted upon a modest, homelike edifice. It was called by the angel, "The Church of Divine Friendship."

Let us all work together to make this church worthy of the name. The pastor has returned from Buffalo, N. Y. and will have charge of both services.

You will enjoy attending all of our services.

Morning service, 10:00; subject: "Christian by Proxy."

Sunday school, 11:15.

Evening "Good Cheer" service, 7:30; "Good Cheer" chorus in charge.

Midweek service, Wednesday 7:30.

Homers W. Grimes, Pastor.

PIANO RECITAL

Very entertaining was the recital given by the pianoforte pupils of Mrs. Conant, on Monday evening, June 21, at the home of Mrs. W. M. Taylor.

The ease and technique with which each number was rendered spoke well for the careful training which the pupils had received at the hands of the teacher, Mrs. Conant, who is recognized as one of the leading pianoforte teachers in the Tawas.

ANOTHER SCHOOL YEAR DONE

Commencement exercises for the Tawas City high school and Iosco county normal were held at the court house last Friday evening. Prof. Lazzalere of the Mt. Pleasant state normal college delivered the commencement address.

There were but four graduates from the high school this year, the smallest class for some years. They were: Mabel M. McCaskey, Helen I. Laidlaw, Albert F. Fahselt and Louise A. Lietz.

The normal graduating class numbered seven, as follows: Nona M. Long, Wilma H. Kocher, Beatrice M. Ruddock, Bessie I. Daley, Victoria M. Klish, Hilma C. Bygden, and Emma M. Hempel.

For the first time since the Iosco County Normal was started sixteen years ago, there will be no normal class next year. Not enough applications have been received to form the necessary sized class to conform with state requirements, hence the discontinuance.

HISTORY OF THE IOSCO COUNTY PIONEER SOCIETY

(By Mrs. Nellie Jennings, Secretary)

In 1915 the writer was asked to write a short history of Iosco county to be read at a Gleaner county meeting. Hale has the Michigan Pioneer Collection in the library here, which consists of about 40 volumes containing a history of all the southern counties of Michigan, and I supposed Iosco county also would be there, but I found I was very much mistaken. When I went to look for material for my paper all I could find was these few words: "Iosco—first called Kanotin, an Indian name of doubtful meaning, afterward changed to Iosco in 1843, an Indian name meaning 'Water of Light.' The name was changed by Schoolcraft."

I surely was discouraged and very much surprised. I supposed of course that Iosco was large enough, old enough, and beautiful enough to have a place in the historical collections of our state. I felt as you would, should you see the map of Michigan with Iosco County a blank.

I went bravely to work, however, and by working all winter I found out many interesting things concerning our county, which I gathered together and read at our June Gleaner meeting.

It was at this meeting we decided to make these Pioneer meetings annual affairs, and the next one was held at Hale in the Baptist church June 6, 1916, the first regular Pioneer meeting. Before this meeting I visited Lansing and called on Mrs. M. B. Ferry at the State Capitol, and asked her why Iosco county had no place in the Historical collections. She replied, "Because no one has ever been interested enough in her history to help us to obtain it."

Then and there we arranged for a Pioneer meeting and Mrs. Ferry promised her aid in every way. True to her promise, she was here at our first pioneer meeting June 6, 1916, a day long to be remembered. I think this was the most successful meeting we have ever had. It was under the auspices of the Gleaner organization and a bountiful dinner was served free by that body.

Four young ladies were dressed to represent four different periods in Michigan's history, the dresses worn being the actual dresses worn by governors' wives, and an interesting talk given by Mrs. Ferry on each period.

At this meeting H. M. Belknap gave the history of Whittemore, a history of Plainfield was read which has been preserved, also of Reno township by Mrs. Frocks, but all the splendid talks given by pioneers could not be preserved, as there was no shorthand writer present, and some can never be gotten again, as they have passed to the Great Beyond.

At this meeting the following officers were elected: President, E. V. Esmond; vice-president, J. A. Campbell; secretary, Nellie Jennings; treasurer, John Sullivan.

The second annual meeting was held in the Orangemen's hall on the Hemlock road, also the third was held on the Hemlock road, in the Baptist church, John Campbell acting as chairman at these meetings and Mrs. M. B. Ferry ably assisting us at one more of the meetings, in June 1918.

Last year owing to the homecoming at East Tawas, the society held its meeting at Tawas Beach. A very small attendance but some good talks by pioneers, which could not all be recorded.

Since our organization we have collected the histories of Reno, Plainfield, Grant and Tawas townships. We also have in print the histories of many early settlers, as the Latter family of Reno, Mrs. Anderson and many others.

Our next meeting is again at the regular place, the Hemlock road Baptist church. An appeal is made to you people of Iosco county to attend this gathering, not alone for pleasure but for the sake of your county.

Do you want Iosco county to have a place in the Historical records at your State Capitol? Do you wish to honor your pioneers who have made Iosco the beautiful place to live in that it is? Then men, you take hold of the pioneer work that has been started in this county and push it to a finish.

Very little has been accomplished in the four years we have been in existence as a society. Much could be accomplished if all would take an interest. The cause is worthy your interest.

VALUE OF LOYALTY.

Loyalty puts a man's heart into his work and breeds success. It makes of him a good husband and father, and a conservative citizen. He becomes a lover and defender of law and order, because upon their stability depends the happiness and security of his wife and children, and the permanence of the job that supports them. Many of the problems of the day, perhaps a majority of them, simmer down to a matter of loyalty. The forces of disorder are always disloyal—to their families, their employers and their communities. They repudiate the only principles on which civilization can thrive. The hideous political ideas that lurk in bolshevistic and soviet government leave little room for loyalty to God, country or family, says Omaha Bee. They are wholly devoted to greed and irresponsible power. The misdeeds of unprincipled capitalists the world over pale into utter insignificance when compared with the poisonous and corroding influence of the ungodly radicalism thrown temporarily into power in Russia by the ferment of war.

The poet Goethe declared that "the prime quality of the real critic is sympathy. There is no other approach to a man or a race. Men rarely understand that which they hate, but they rarely fail to understand that which they love." This is all true gospel, as true as the Beatitudes or the Golden Rule. If you are trying to advance a good cause and fight with hate the man who opposes you, you will never win. It is friendship and kindness that gain all the triumphs of social and religious life. Our nation is in a state of torment today because the people have no sympathy for one another. They simply dispute and wrangle. They strive to exalt their own standpoints, not caring a whit what the other's standpoint is. One trouble in the situation is that the sympathy one man owes to another is generally supplanted by self-interest, which is the purveyor of hate and ill will, and which consequently never reaches a just conclusion.

If to stem the tide of bolshevism increased production is necessary, the leader of this great movement should be none other than "Plain Mary" of Bangor, Me. "Plain Mary" is a non-temperamental Jersey cow. She has broken all records in milk production by sending into the marts of trade 15,255 pounds of milk and 1,040 pounds of butter fat for her fiscal—or lactal—year. Plain Mary deserves a medal.

The regent of Hungary says that profiteering and corruption must cease, and that Christian morals must be re-established. This is a big contract for any one ruler to undertake, and the rest of the nations will be interested in seeing how the idealistic regent is going to bring about his millennium.

If next year's influenza shows as great a decrease as this year's has shown, there will be little difficulty on the part of the layman in forgetting it. The scientific research, however, will undoubtedly continue until the cause has been located and a remedy found.

The governor of a western state is said to be wearing a shabby old coat as a protest against the high cost of living. If his example were followed generally, the protest would be highly effectual. In the meantime, it is as heroic as it is timely.

Married men are not wanted as soldiers in occupied Germany. The single men are considered better soldiers under present circumstances, doubtless under the principle that it is destructive to discipline for a man to have two commanding officers.

When the history of the world war is written, not the least proud part of it for this country will be the relief it sent its stricken and hungry foes, and its saving of the child-life in enemy nations.

Spain is one of the backward lands where baseball has never penetrated. Some one threw a bomb at a train carrying the governor of Barcelona and missed it. An American boy eight years old would do better than that.

The latchstring we note is generally on the outside to the fellow who has the price.

GOT OVER THE DIFFICULTY

Chaplain Evidently Found Some Way to Get Around the Regulations of the Navy.

In June, 1911, writes Dr. Maurice F. Egan in his book, "Ten Years Near the German Frontier," the Atlantic squadron stopped at Denmark on its way to Germany. One day the quarry who had been appointed to look after the admiral and his immediate suite came to me in great perplexity. It was shortly after one of the receptions given by the American officers. He held in his hand a little box.

"I am in difficulty," he said, "and I have come to ask you to help me. His majesty has received several letters from the American sailors, and there is one that especially amused him. It seems that he pleased the men by asking for the Scandinavians in your navy. A sailor who addresses him as 'Dear King' thanks him for this and declares that the men like Copenhagen so much that they beg his majesty to induce the admiral to stay a few days longer. Of course his majesty cannot do that, but he has asked me to give the little medal in this box to the sailor. I am told that it is against the rules, which seem to be very strict, yet I really cannot tell the king that I have not given the medal to the worthy sailor. You know the king's kindness of heart. I am at my wit's end, so I appeal to you."

"It is easy enough," I said. "When in a quandary of this kind call in the church."

We found the chaplain, and Frederick VIII received a grateful note, addressed, "Dear King."

BIG SPIDER WRONGLY NAMED

Insect Found in the Southwestern States and in Mexico Not Really a Tarantula.

The famous tarantula, sometimes represented as one of the terrors of the arid portions of the Southwestern states and northern Mexico, is not really, it seems, the tarantula of history and of fable.

An eminent authority in such matters, in remarking that the tarantula is a spider, says of that terrifying creature that it is the Lycosa Tarantula, a species of spider found in some of the warmer parts of Italy and Spain. When full grown it is about the size of a chestnut and of a brown color. Its bite was at one time supposed to be dangerous and to induce a kind of "dancing disease," but now it is known not to be worse than the sting of a common wasp.

It is an old fable, extending to remotest times, that the bite of this spider would produce epilepsy or a strange dancing mania in its victims, and that this epilepsy or madness could be relieved only by a particular kind of music. The tarantula of Italy and Spain—and it is found in those countries today—has hairy legs with black markings on them.

It is very likely that when the early Spanish explorers came upon the great spider of the Southwest, and seeing a good deal of resemblance to the tarantula of the Old World, those explorers, not being entomologists, called the new spider a tarantula. And the name has persisted.

Earthquake Peculiarities.

A peculiar feature of earthquakes is that they seem to undulate the ground with a twisting motion. This effect is quite noticeable in almost every Central American or southern Mexico quake, when straight rows of trees are shifted into irregular zigzags or light buildings twisted about on their foundations, and many odd effects are created in this manner. Statistics tend to show that the maximum of earthquake disturbances occurs in the northern hemisphere during the months of January, August and October, with a minimum during May, June and July. The southern hemisphere's period of greatest activity is November, May and June, while the minimum is in March and August. It will be noted from the above that the period of greatest activity is during the cool months, and although this may not appear to be true in regard to the Southern hemisphere, it must be remembered that its seasons are just the reverse of ours in the northern hemisphere.

First Transcontinental Railroad.

The completion of the first railway which made it possible to go by rail from the Atlantic to the Pacific was celebrated on May 10, 1869, when a gold spike was driven to commemorate the joining of the Central Pacific and the Union Pacific at Promontory, Utah. The scene was depicted by Bret Harte in a poem which is preserved for the future by a massive painting which had wide popularity. The similar last spike of the Northern Pacific was driven September 8, 1883, near the mouth of Gold creek in Montana. On the earlier road the first through car from the Pacific reached New York on July 24, 1870.

Motor as Rival of Camel.

The camel replaces the motor truck for general hauling in Asia Minor. By this means twelve miles a day is traversed, but where the camel "has it on" the motor truck is in the upkeep. The camel needs nothing but the few weeds and blades of grass he can pick from along the roadside. The great difficulty with the animal as a mode of transportation is that all articles shipped by camel must be of a nature that they can stand a long journey without spoiling.

HUMMING BIRDS HAD "SPREE"

Writer Tells of Debauch of Which He Was Witness While Traveling in South America.

When Mr. Leo E. Miller was collecting specimens in the mountains of Colombia for the American Museum of Natural History he observed a curious incident that he describes in his book, "In the Wilds of South America."

As he was working one morning a chorus of chirps and screams attracted his attention, and he followed the sounds, which led him to a tall tree. A number of California woodpeckers had drilled holes in the tree trunk, from which an intoxicating sap trickled in small streams, and a dozen or more buff-tufted humming birds apparently had come for a "jag."

Arriving in a bee line, the newcomers flew against the trunk and clung there like so many moths to drink the sap. Their antics as they reached the different stages of intoxication were most amusing. Some twittered, fought, turned and tumbled in the air, while others dozed on small twigs or fluttered exhausted toward the ground. The performance continued daily for a week; then the sap suddenly ceased to flow, and the tree was deserted and silent. The capricious hand no doubt sobered up from its debauch and went back to its normal and more profitable pursuits in life.

BLOWPIPE SIMPLE IN ACTION

Tool of Immense Power Simply the Application of Elementary Scientific Principles.

An oxy-acetylene or oxy-hydrogen blowpipe is composed of a very light conical tube, slender and slightly curved at the end whence the flame issues, and provided at the other extremity with two nozzles, to which the indiarubber tubes from the oxygen and acetylene or oxygen and hydrogen cylinders are attached.

The principal point about the most up-to-date apparatus lies in the fact that the two gases, instead of being separated up to the very point of ignition, are thoroughly mixed in the interior of the blowpipe, in such proportion as to bring about complete combustion. All danger of explosion has been avoided by giving to the gas a speed of delivery greater than that of the propagation of the flame, in accordance with a scientific law laid down by a French official commission which inquired into the subject of fire-damp.

As an additional precaution against accidents, an appliance called a "safety-mixer" has been inserted at the junction of the oxygen and hydrogen pipes, the mixture then passing to the blowpipe by way of a single tube, which greatly facilitates the handling of the tool.—From "Cutting Ships in Half" in the Wide World Magazine.

New Hebrides Customs.

In spite of the white man's efforts to civilize them, natives of the New Hebrides cling tenaciously to their old habits and customs. Superstition and precedent are so firmly rooted in their minds that any new ideas are looked upon with distrust. The sacred men of the tribes are sternly jealous of their power and ward off encroaching civilization by terrible threats.

The islanders of the New Hebrides like visible reminders of his religion and superstition. Sacred objects are guarded by evil-looking carved figures and a departed chief of a tribe is kept in mind by setting up an effigy in a conspicuous place. There is never any doubt as to the identity of a figure, as the head of the effigy is the chief's skull covered over with clay and molded and painted to resemble the departed one. The rest of the figure is rather like a scarecrow, with a painted clay body and very few clothes. While this effigy remains in the public view, there is no danger of the chief being forgotten. His memory is ever green, and he is fittingly venerated.

Deeper Than the Ocean.

Geologists have discovered a number of suboceanic canyons or drowned rivers, along the east coast of the United States. Both the Hudson and Delaware rivers are in this class, as well as Chesapeake bay. The St. Lawrence river in Canada, and the Congo, in Africa, are also deeper, near their mouths, than the ocean.

The Hudson river, worn by the flowing stream, is considerably deeper than the offshore part of the Atlantic. It is flooded by the intruding ocean. The bay and lower river compose what would be called in Norseland a fiord. The whole east coast of the United States has sunk a good deal in the course of ages, owing to the enormous weight of material brought down by the rivers and deposited out in the ocean off shore. But geologists say that the melting of glaciers has largely to do with the phenomenon.

Conservative Customs Die Hard.

In spite of having a well-equipped mission hospital in the city of Tachow, China, where men and women can receive the best of medical care and treatment, the native doctor or witch still flourishes. He sits at the street corner and the ignorant Chinese flock round him, especially on market or festival days. No method, however painful and drastic, deters the believers in his powers of healing—indeed they expect to be made to suffer acutely in order to "expel the original pain." Or they are held up to the ridicule of the mob because their disease portends the possession of an evil spirit.

The Soy Bean.
The soy bean, almost since its introduction into America, has been exploited at different times as "coffee berry," "coffee bean," "new coffee plant," "domestic coffee berry," and "new domestic coffee berry." For many years the soy bean has been used to a slight extent in Europe, especially Switzerland, as a substitute for coffee in Japan and southern Russia the soy bean is prepared as a coffee substitute and placed on the market. This product is ground very fine and has much the same appearance as coffee.

And He Had Only One Way to Get There
There is at the entrance of the church of San Salvador in the Spanish city of Oviedo a remarkable monument erected by a prince named Siso, with curious Latin inscription which can be read 270 ways by beginning with the capital "S" in the center.

Steam Never Visible.
Actual steam is not visible. The visible white vapor which is frequent referred to as steam is in reality a collection of fine moisture particles which are formed by the condensation of true steam.

MICKIE SAYS

OUR REPORTER SAYS, "WHEN FOLKS TRAVELLED BY TRAIN, I COULD KEEP TRACK OF 'EM, BUT SINCE THESE DOD-GASTED AUTOS ARE LEAVIN' TOWN BY EVERY ROAD EVERY HOUR, I GOTTA FAT CHANCE! WHEN FOLKS GO VISITIN', ER HAVE VISITORS, I WISHT THEY'D TELL ME ABOUT IT."

Decisive in Refusal.
When you do not intend to pay a bill there is nothing like being decisive—your refusal. The other day a book seller had an "account rendered" returned to him with the following reply scribbled across the billhead: "Dear Sir: I never ordered this book. If I did, you didn't send it. If you sent it, I never got it. If I got it, I paid for it. If I didn't pay for it, now go and hang yours. If you're head. Yours very respectfully, John Jones."

Hair-Net Construction.
Human hair goes through many processes before reaching the user in the shape of a hair net, and the best are claimed to be made from hair prepared in England. The hair is bleached, chemically treated to reduce its thickness, and then dyed and combed into lengths ready for setting. After being thus treated it is sent to China to be distributed through properly appointed agencies and made into nets by hand by natives.

The Old Way Was Cheaper.
The good old days of the rheumatism are gone. He no longer totes a raw potato in his pocket. He goes to his doctor, his doctor sends him to the tonsil expert, the tonsil expert sends him to the X-ray expert, the X-ray expert sends him to the dentist, and the dentist returns him to the doctor, and the doctor sends him to the drug store. It's the life, boys.—Houston Post.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. All Druggists. Circulars free. S. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

PARTS OF LOST CONTINENT?

Reasons for Believing That South Sea Islands Were at One Time Joined Together.

I have been reading a book on the South seas which says that there are reasons to suppose that in some instances the numerous islands in the South seas were at one time parts of continents. What reasons are there for such a supposition? asks a correspondent.

The only reasons that we are familiar with are the character of the inhabitants of the islands and their language. It is reasoned that these islands bear marks of very early habitation by man. Navigation was in its infancy, as only long boats, propelled by oars, were known, and they would not be safe for voyages over rough seas to search for unknown lands. The fact and the resemblance of some of the South sea islands to our race lends reasonableness to the supposition that these places were inhabited while they were still a part of the mainland which in some subsequent age sank in places below the surface of the seas. Such a supposition is moreover, strengthened by discoveries from time to time of ocean levels that seem to have been at one time islands or parts of continents. These discoveries have been made in different parts of the several oceans. It is not so long ago that a vast submarine bank was located by Capt. J. K. Davis of Doctor Mawson's Antarctic ship Aurora, during an oceanographic cruise. Captain Davis reported that for about 100 miles south of Tasmania the ocean bottom deepens to 12,488 feet; it then rises again to the crest of a ridge 150 miles long by about 100 miles wide, standing over 11,000 feet above the general level of the neighboring sea floor. It has been concluded that this ridge was without doubt a fragment of a lost continent.

WESLEY READ ON HORSEBACK

And Many Noted Writers Took Their Walks While Engaged in the Perusal of a Book.

Reading on horseback—one of the rarer accomplishments of man, according to Mr. Fisher—was sedulously practiced by John Wesley. "History, poetry and philosophy," Wesley relates, the Manchester Guardian recalls, "I commonly read on horseback, having other employment at other times."

Wesley maintained that this practice made for safety on long country rides.

"I asked myself, How is it no horse stumbles when I am reading? No accident can possibly be given but this: Because I throw the reins on his neck. I then set myself to observe, and I aver that in riding about 100,000 miles I never remember my horse (except two that would fall over heels anyway) to fall or make a considerable stumble while I rode with a slack rein."

Shelley used to read when out walking and frequently collided with other walkers because his eyes were fixed on a book.

Macaulay was also a pedestrian reader; so was Southey, who gives a long list of books read while taking his evening walk. These range from "a batch of volumes relating to the events of the last ten years in Spain" to "the Nibelungen in its original old German."

Rich Undeveloped Region.

The Amazon valley is said to be the greatest undeveloped region in the world today; on every side there are natural resources of immense value, with commercial possibilities, which are as yet untouched. The soil is said to be extraordinarily fertile. The forests offer woods in inexhaustible variety, many of them cabinet woods of rare value. Of vegetable oil nuts, a tenth part only is known to the outside world. Resins, gums, spices, medicinal plants, fibers, abound in infinite variety. Kapok grows along the banks of most of the main rivers, but not a pound of it is exported to the United States, although America imported 7,000,000 pounds last year from far-away Java. There are mineralized areas said to contain coal, iron, gold, silver and precious metals of many kinds. They have not yet been prospected.

Relish of the Right.

Whoever has so far formed his taste as to be able to feel and relish the beauties of the old masters has gone a great way in his study; for merely from a consciousness of this relish of the right, the mind is almost as powerfully affected as if it had itself produced what it admires. Our hearts, frequently warmed in this manner by the contact of those whom we wish to resemble, will undoubtedly catch something of their way of thinking; and we shall receive into our own bosoms some radiation at least of their fire and splendor. That disposition which is so strong in children still continues with us, of catching involuntarily the general air and manner of those with whom we are most conversant.—Sir Joshua Reynolds.

Inexplicable.

"I can't make out what's the matter with John," complained the newly wedded wife of the new civilian. "What's he been doing?" inquired her neighbor. "He's broken twenty-seven pieces of our best china trying to fasten two plates together with his fork."—The Home Sector.

How He Saved Coal.

"I suppose you got your winter coal in before the great strike, didn't you?" was asked of Mr. Thompson.

"Well, I fixed it another way," was the reply. "In what way?" "Why, I got to thinking what 12 tons of coal would cost and we moved into a house where there were already two families. Three families of us in eight rooms, you see, and we each pay one-third of the cost of heating. There are six of us grown folks and eleven children, and so far the house has been so hot that we haven't had to burn half a dozen scuttles of coal. Try my plan once and you will take no other."

Shah Believes in Mascots.

Probably no monarch is a more firm believer in the power of the mascot than the young shah of Persia. He has nearly 200 mascots, most of them helms, which have played some part in the history of his predecessors. Chief among these is a cube of amber which, according to eastern lore, fell from heaven in Mahomet's time. It is supposed to ward off danger, and the shah usually wears it round his neck.

The IHC Line
By the
INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY
REPAIRS made for International implements and other farm equipment by the Harvester Company are the only repairs made from the original patterns. All others are copied from copies, and in this roundabout reproduction they may lose in correctness of shape, sharpness of detail, closeness in fitting, and quality of material. These repairs are made for Deering, McCormick, Milwaukee, Titan and other International-made machines.
Genuine IHC Repairs
Are Better in Quality
Fit Better and Wear Longer
The Harvester Company stands back of its machines. Be fair in the matter. Do not substitute imitation repairs for the genuine and expect best service. Repairs made by other concerns and marked "Made for" or "Will fit", are not genuine IHC repairs. They often lack weight, are not always correct in shape, are imperfectly finished, do not fit properly, or are made of inferior material.
