He was alone at the time the accident occurred and in some manner fell into the bin, which is about 24 feet square and 18 feet deep. Before help could reach him a mass of the crushed rock had fallen on him and he was smothered to death. It was necessary to cut a hole in the steel bin to let the rock out before the rescuers could reach him. An inquest was held Thursday before Justice Davidson in this city, and the jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts above stated.

BAPTIST CHURCH

When you wish to learn the science of measurements, angles and curves, you study mathematics and when you prepare to travel you consult maps and guide books. The farmer reads the farm journals and the housekeeper the cook book for practical instruction.

Many books, each giving helpful information about some detail of our lives, but there is only one Manual of Life, an ancient book of wisdom upon which modernity has not improved.

The Bible is unique as the one great universal textbook, equally congenial to youth and age, and adaptable to every condition of life in every climate. You isolate yourself from the universal creed of progress when you neglect your Bible. Read it at home and take advantage of the church services, Bible classes and prayer meetings for instruction.

Rev. John B. Lomas, the newly assigned minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, desires to extend his cordial greeting to the community, after 47 years continuous ministry, 35 years in the Wesleyan Methodist church, England, and 11 in the Methodist Episcopal church in the United States. In early life he was designated the boy preacher and he is in the line of descent of preachers in the family since the time of John Wesley, over 200 years. A great ancestress of his was one of the first converts of John Wesley, and a former namesake, Rev. John Lomas, was president of the Wesleyan Methodist conference in England and one of England's brilliant preachers. The youngest son of John B. Lomas is preaching and pastor of three churches on the Port Hope charge.

BIG HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION AND COMMUNITY FROLIC

Something new in the way of a community frolic is being planned for Halloween this year under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club. For some time the thought has been uppermost in the minds of many that if the surplus energies of the young folks who delight in soaping windows, overturning outbuildings and the many and one depredations that occur during the evening, could be given an outlet in another direction, a good deal of the useless destruction to property might be avoided. Several small towns have adopted a plan of a "get-together or community frolic" for Halloween where everyone contrives to take part, in masquerade as far as possible, for a few hours, and there is no reason why a similar plan will not be successful in Tawas City.

A grand masked parade, lead by a spirited band, will start from Taylor's corner and proceed to Friedman's corner, where the judges' stand will be located, and then counter-march to place of beginning. Everyone is requested to appear in masquerade costume and prizes have been offered by local merchants for the most fantastic costumes. A complete list of prizes will appear in next week's Herald.

MRS. MALINDA WINGROVE

Another long-time resident of Tawas City passed away last Friday in the person of Mrs. Malinda Wingrove, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Weaver, in Jackson. The cause of death was paralysis, which had incapacitated her for the past five or six years.

Malinda Evans was born July 3, 1837, at Lemington, Canada, and was 83 years, three months and twelve days old at the time of her death. In 1858 she was married at Lemington to William D. Wingrove, who preceded her in death exactly eighteen years, having died October 15, 1902.

The family moved to Tawas City July 12, 1882, and she has since made her home in this city up to a few weeks ago when she went to Jackson to make her home with her daughter.

Mrs. Wingrove was the mother of thirteen children, six of whom are dead. The seven who remain to mourn her loss are four sons, Joseph, Will, George and Robert Wingrove, and three daughters, Mrs. Sarah Weaver, Mrs. Milton Beemer and Mrs. Lucy Brown. Also a number of nieces and grandchildren.

The remains were brought to this city on Monday and taken from the train to the cemetery, where the last rites were observed at the grave, A. R. Gold officiating.

Mrs. Wingrove had a large number of friends in Tawas City and vicinity whose sincere sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

TOWN LIVES WITHIN ITSELF

Seibo, on the Island of Santo Domingo, Entirely Without Accommodation for Travelers.

The town of Seibo, on the Island of Santo Domingo, notorious for its bandit tribes, is one of the few communities on the island that has no hotel accommodations, the unbefriended stranger finding nothing but miserable thatched huts with nests on three legs for beds, and a ragged old negro crone for a servant. Seibo is the most out-of-the-way, astonished-at-strangers, unacquainted-with-the-world town of any size that can be found in the West Indies. Though a large detachment of United States marines camp at its bandit-threatened door, the people show unbounded surprise to see American civilians. Groups of almost foppishly dressed men lounge in the streets, yet the town itself is little short of filthy.

A curious old church, a part of it built 400 years ago, on the top of which is the marine wireless station, is the only building of importance. From the top of this church Seibo is seen to be surrounded by low hills, everywhere wooded, without a hut outside its compact mass, described by Harry A. Franck in the Century Magazine, as having "its skirts drawn up like those of a nervous old maid in constant dread of mice." The town also has the proverbial garrison house that seems like a fort of the medieval ages.

BEYOND THE POWER OF MAN

Vainly Does He Attempt to Still a Woman's Tongue or Stop Her Garrulous Fingers.

A woman's talent—amounting almost to a genius—for letting her husband know that he is not much of a fellow in her estimation, would seem to be seriously impaired when she happens to be a deaf mute. But, according to the testimony submitted in a divorce case tried in court recently, feminine ingenuity refuses to admit any handicap in this oldest of all games. She annoyed him in the sign language.

The husband, being merely a man, did not adopt the simple expedient of tying her hands together when he wanted a little soul quiet. He failed to have recourse to the obvious expedient of shutting his eyes when she fingered to him that she thought he was the biggest donkey in creation.

Thus he proved once more that man truly is a creature of a lower order. He can build ships and fight wars, till the soil and manage big industries, but when it comes to stopping a woman's tongue or her garrulous fingers, he is not there.—Detroit News.

Extraordinary Hurdling.

William Priestly, of Hull, England in 1863, jumped one thousand hurdles, each three feet six inches high, in sixty-one and a half minutes. That is equal to lifting his own weight nine times the height of St. Paul's, in London, and running six miles into the bargain.

Siberian Bride Put to Test.

STATE POLICE HAVE BIG YEAR

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS STATE TROOPERS HAVE PERFORMED VARIED SERVICES IN ENFORCING LAW.

WORK HAS GROWN GREATLY

A revelation of the great scope of the work of the Michigan State Police is given in the report recently made by Major Robert E. Marsh, commandant, to Governor Sleeper. This shows that the troopers on patrol and special assignments have travelled an aggregate of 597,974 miles during the twelve months and visited more than 2,000 towns and villages.

That the money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely net outgo is evidenced by the fact that the fines collected in state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $30,476.50 and in the federal courts the fines were $75,500. Altogether, 4,568 persons were required to take out licenses of various kinds. Stolen goods of a value of $57,000 were recovered.

In a monetary way, however, the greatest accomplishments of the force were of a preventative nature. Putting out forest fires, preventing destruction of property, breaking up incipient race riots, protecting banks and other business establishments in the smaller cities and villages, guarding orchards from raiders and similar services bulk large in potential saving of loss.

During the year 1,046 arrests were made for almost every crime from murder down. Of those arrested 852 were convicted during the year, 85 cases were pending, 99 prisoners had been turned over to other officers and only 10 were discharged. This proves that the State Police were exceedingly careful in the arrests made.

Whisky Traffic Fought.

A constant attempt was made to stop bootlegging and moonshining. Liquor amounting to 22,595 gallons, of an estimated value of $515,000, was seized and 53 stills were destroyed. Two members of the force were seriously injured in battles with liquor runners. Particular activity was displayed in breaking up illicit distilling after it was proved by analyses that most of the home-made whisky is poisonous in nature and likely to cause death if taken in any quantity.

Much has been done by the troopers to make the highways of the state more safe and the arrest of speeders has also protected the macadam and gravel roads which are torn up by reckless drivers.

Protection was extended to a number of towns which had been the sufferers from gangs of criminals who used motor cars in their raids and these raids were effectually stopped. Many gambling resorts were raided by the State Police and the crooked gamblers forced to close up, while their apparatus was seized and destroyed.

Police Made Investigations.

Investigations were made for the attorney-general and other state officers. Assistance was given to storm-swept districts and many citizens were also given aid when they were found ill or injured on the highways by the troopers.

State Police are forbidden to discuss religion or politics, are told to give warning rather than to use forcible measures wherever law violation appears to be due to ignorance or heedlessness and are instructed to render every aid possible at all times to women, children and persons in distress.

Larger Force Needed.

In conclusion, Major Marsh reports: "The impossibility of protecting the rural districts of a territory covering forty-two thousand square miles, practically without police protection except that furnished by the State Police, and of complying with the two thousand, five hundred and one requests for assistance received during the past year and which are constantly increasing as the force is becoming known. With a force of only two hundred and four officers and men this must be acknowledged and does not admit of argument. Although the population of the state has increased over one-half million since the force was first organized, the strength of the force has not increased one single man.

"While the amount of pay provided by the Act of 1919 helped at the time to keep the experienced men, the increased cost of living during the past year and the large increase in wages of all classes of labor, has not only made it difficult to secure desirable recruits, but has influenced members of the force to resign so as to accept much better paying positions.

POLICE EXTINGUISH FIRES

M. A. Corey of Gaylord has written to the State Police thanking them profusely for their patrol and guard service during the recent forest fires in that region. It was largely through the efforts of the State Police that many fires were extinguished, any one of which might have proven disastrous. A patrol rides through the district daily keeping a sharp lookout for new fires.

TO THE VOTERS OF IOSCO COUNTY

Tawas City, Mich., Sept. 30, 1920
Whereas stories have been circulated to the effect that I was negligent in the discharge of my duties in connection with the enforcement of the prohibition laws of the state in the detection of persons violating the law, I desire to say that it is impossible for me or any officer of the county to do anything in regard to the arrest and conviction of a violator of the law, unless complaint is made to him in a regular and legal way. That an officer has no right to go into the houses and premises of persons who may be suspected of violating the law, unless he has some legal paper or complaint upon which to base his search and entry upon another man's premises.

If any citizen of the county will come to me and make complaint, or go before a Justice, it will be promptly and energetically attended to at once and everything done which can possibly be done to bring the guilty parties to trial. It is the duty of the state constabulary, or officers of the Pure Food Department to make searches and arrests upon information or complaints made to them; and they have a right to call upon the county officers to assist in making arrests or perform any other duty which may be necessary to bring guilty parties to trial or arrest; but such duty does not attach to county officers and they have no right to do these things unless proper legal steps are taken to give them the right.

adv-45 Collie Johnson, Sheriff.

TO THE PEOPLE OF IOSCO COUNTY

Whereas a number of circulars were spread about the county at the primary election held last month attacking me upon certain religious grounds and the same were absolutely false and untrue in fact, and I was injured thereby unjustly; I now wish to be set right before the voters of this county and hereby state openly and candidly that my father and mother were Swedish Lutherans, and what religious instruction I have had was in that church, and I have never in any manner altered or changed therefrom. I have never felt that I had any right to interfere with any other person in that regard, and that it is wrong and a great injustice if I should be accused and blamed for something with which I had nothing to do, and feel that such attack upon me was very unfair and unjust.

A number of lies and untrue stories were also circulated about my joining certain lodges and societies. The fact is that I never belonged to any lodge or society except the Maccabees at one time, now out of date, and the Knights of Pythias, and am one now, and that is all.

A SQUARE DEAL

To the Voters of Iosco County:
After due consideration, and at the request of people from all over the county, I have consented to become a candidate for the office of Sheriff at the election Nov. 2nd, next.

It has come to my knowledge that certain scandalous, false and libelous circulars were distributed throughout Iosco County for the avowed purpose of defeating me at the primary, and all kinds of falsehoods were used for that purpose.

You who have known me know that I do not resort to such methods in politics; and feeling that many voted against me on account of said falsehoods and circulars being so used against me, I now ask for a square deal at your hands.

You will find my slips in the booths at all the polling places, and if you are in favor of clean, honest and upright politics, and believe in a square deal I would respectfully ask you to use one of my slips on election day.

Yours very truly,
adv-45 Collie Johnson.

Bird's "Love Dance."

On some of the islands of the Pacific, in tropical South America, is found the beautiful bird known as the jacana. It is famous for its so-called love dances, which appear to be executed by the males to excite the admiration of the female birds. When the mating season approaches the jacana will single out its favorite lady and try to win her admiration with all its bewitching maneuvers. In the dance the wings are spread and worked in such a manner that the beautiful colored feathers produce a brilliant effect.

The World's Most Beautiful Volcano!
Nevertheless It is a Reservoir of Titanic Destructive Powers.

Mayon Volcano, now quiet, but which in the recent past has taken many lives and destroyed much property. The Philippine Islands are one of the most interesting lands in the world for the American tourist to visit.

Mount Mayon, in the province of Albay, Philippine Islands, is declared to be one of the most beautiful volcanoes in the world. No matter from which side the mountain is viewed, the cone is almost perfectly symmetrical. The setting of the volcano has much to do with its exquisite beauty, as it rises to a height of 7,043 feet from an almost level plain. The peak is visible for more than 60 miles, its regular, bare slopes near the top giving rare reflections from the illumination of the sun, while at its base is one of the most productive and picturesque landscapes to be seen anywhere in the world. A magnificent road, 120 miles in length, circles the mountain at its base, passing through the most varying scenery. Mayon has a history as an active volcano. It has destroyed whole towns. The most destructive eruption was in 1814, when 1,200 persons were killed. It last came to life in 1900, sending a river of lava into the sea at a distance of 8 miles from the crater. Since then it has been quiet.

Declares Filipinos All Want Independence

Former Illinois Congressman, Back From Philippines, Gives Interesting Views on Island Affairs.

By FORMER CONGRESSMAN CLYDE H. TAVENNER.

Clyde H. Tavenner.

The 10,500,000 inhabitants of the Philippines are practically unanimous in their desire for independence. This is the strongest impression that I have brought back with me after touring the islands from one end to the other, and after having come in contact with all classes of the people. I found, however, that the viewpoint of Americans in the Philippines, and Americans in the United States, on the subject of independence, is not the same.

The attitude of the American government, and the great mass of the people of the United States, is to consider the Philippine question from the selfish viewpoint of what is best for the Filipino people. Ninety-five per cent of the opposition to independence emanates from American investors in the islands who are quite naturally more interested in the size of their dividends than the freedom of an alien people.

The unfortunate feature of the situation is that the opponents of independence, in order to convince the people of the United States that the Philippines should not be granted their independence, find it necessary to label an entire race. To tell a sensitive Christian people that they shall not have their promised independence because they are not fit for it will in the end prove a mistaken policy. It will only make their demand for independence the stronger.

At the present time, however, the masses of the Filipino people still have absolute confidence in the good faith of America. Their loyalty and gratitude to Uncle Sam has not as yet been impaired by the misrepresentations of the retentionists. Their leaders are intelligent enough to distinguish between those Americans who oppose their aspirations to independence for purely selfish reasons, and the great mass of the American people whom they know desire this government to do by the Filipinos only that which is just and right.

In this connection, it is interesting to review the development of the present friendly relationship between the Filipino and American peoples.

Previous to 1916 the Philippine-American relationship is declared to have been not of the best. But with the passage in that year of the Jones law by practically both the Republican and Democratic memberships of Congress, a better feeling developed. This "better feeling" has now grown into a very strong bond of sympathy and affection.

The happy attitude of the Filipino people toward America is due not principally to the fact that Americans have shown the Filipinos how to make their country a better place to live in; not principally to the fact we have superintended the implanting in the Philippines of one of the finest educational systems in the world; nor to the building of high class roads, bridges and public works—but is due principally to the fact that in the Jones law America gave the Filipinos her word of honor that as soon as a stable government could be established we would withdraw our sovereignty from the Philippine Islands. It might, at first thought, seem strange that in their sincere appreciation of all that we have done for them the Filipino people should place most emphasis on the promise to grant them their independence. For it cannot be successfully denied that on the whole the United States has treated the Filipino people better than any nation ever treated a dependent alien people in all the days since the curtain rose on the dawn of civilization. If we do not spoil it, it is a record that we can be proud of.

But it really isn't so strange that the Filipino should love us more for our promise to give them sovereignty over themselves than for our other good works, for which, after all, outside of army and navy expenditures, the Filipinos have been taxed, and properly so, for every cent of the cost. If we but reverse the situation, and place ourselves in the shoes of the Filipinos, which cannot be said to be an unfair way of getting at the other fellow's viewpoint, we shall see that it is not strange.

Suppose that Great Britain or any other power that you can think of by referring to your geography or history, should impose its sovereignty upon us against our will and then give us an infinitely better government than we now enjoy? Could any such foreign power ever succeed in convincing us that it had our welfare more at heart than we have ourselves.

But, to return to my story, the Filipinos heartily thanked us for the Jones law, considering it a sort of a covenant between the Filipino and American peoples, and immediately applied themselves to the task of setting up the prescribed stable government. And they set it up. It is in the Philippines now. America's own representative in the islands, the governor general, officially reports it is there, and recommends that since the Filipinos have earnestly fulfilled their part of the agreement, America should be as prompt in carrying out its part of the contract.

So that, in a few words, it is not the Philippines that now are on trial, but the United States.

There is but one answer. America will carry out its agreement. And since we are going to do it, we cannot afford to quibble and split hairs and hesitate until our tardiness robs us of half the glory of our achievement. Let us act with a promptness and willfulness really worthy of America.

And when the people of the United States set up the Philippine Republic as the first Christian democracy of the Far East, they will be building a monument to themselves that will stand throughout eternity. On that day the beacon light of hope, humanity and justice will flash around the world. Such an example by America will accomplish more for the weak and struggling peoples of the earth than the four year world war, with all its cost in life and treasure.

What Else Should She Do? A curly-headed tot named Evelyn, three years old, was asked by her mother if she had been at the hair tonic bottle and she replied, "Yes, mother, I did use it—my dolly's hair is coming out in bunches. I had to do something to stop it."

The Whyfere of the Lakes.

Lakes are numerous in the northern part of this country and rare in the southern part because the gradual effects of atmospheric agencies and the power of water to carry solid matter from elevated places and deposit it in depressed places tend to reduce the land to a general level and to fill up the basins of the lakes.

The "Old Age of Want" Bogie

"She died old and poor." It was a pitiful phrase found in the ancestral records of a certain family. One pictures a faded little gentleness, shabby and threadbare of raiment, neglected because she had not even the merest pittance to leave behind her—could any fate be more tragic?

No matter how small the amount, invest now in a safe security to protect you from an old age of want. Remember the appalling total—95% of all men at sixty years of age are dependent upon their daily earnings or their children for support.

World's Smallest Book.
The record of the complete French version of Dante's "Divine Comedy," which was shown at the Paris exposition in 1882, does not seem to have been less than half an inch square, and though containing over 500 pages, required only two sheets of printer's paper for its makeup.

Get Along Without Meat
Whole races of men, comprising many millions of individuals, live their entire lives without meats of any sort, and when fed a sufficient amount of other foods are wonderfully vigorous, prolific, enduring and intelligent. Witness the Brahmins of India, the Buddhists of China and Japan and the teeming millions of Central Africa.

The olive oil product of Spain varies greatly from year to year and there is a notion among the growers that the yield is always greater in the even numbered years.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS OF NATION AND OF STATE

Their election is urged in behalf of home interests, for the welfare of our state and its citizens, for a return to government by the people, for freedom from autocratic personal rule and to close the present era of national extravagance.

FOR GOVERNOR

Alexander J. Groesbeck

FOR STATE AND NATION STATEMENTS BY GROESBECK

The Republican party proposes to devote its entire efforts to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of the American people, and to maintaining the principles of self-government that have given to our country its favored and unique position.

Let us seek to avoid industrial chaos and to bring to a close the present national era of enormous war-time expenditures.

Vote for a purpose far greater than the success of the party, for the ultimate goal that no harm shall come to the Republic.

FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR

Thomas Read

The Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, the second in rank on the list of state officers, was chosen Speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives by his fellow members of that legislative body at the opening of the 1919 session. This honor was given to Mr. Read without opposition. His prospective promotion to presiding officer of the State Senate is therefore logical and deserved. Thomas Read graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan. Mr. Read is assured of election by a majority equal to the largest that will be given, and the same assurance can be given as to his zeal and success in the after performance of his official duties.
