It has now become common to figure in billions, yet few people are able to visualize the amount which the term "billion" symbolizes. Some idea, however, may be had from the statement that a person 81 years and 9 months old has lived only a billion seconds.

On Tuesday of this week this locality enjoyed (?) a forty mile gale from the southeast, accompanied by some rain. With the exception of the storm some three weeks ago, when the wind reached a velocity of fifty miles an hour, this was the heaviest wind in some months.

George Basso of Calumet, Mich., has just purchased through the Strout farm agency the 40 acre farm just off the Hemlock road known as the Pangborn place, and expects to move his family onto the farm in the near future. He has already taken possession and is putting the buildings in shape for occupancy.

Another hold-up was staged at Alabaster Monday evening, when a masked man entered the store of Mrs. Thos. Sheldon and, ordered Mrs. Sheldon's sister and a customer to hold up their hands, while he rifled the till, securing between $35 and $40. The robber then made his escape and though searching parties were organized at once, he was not located. It is thought that he walked to Melvor and slept in the depot there all night, as a stranger was seen by the agent in the evening and in the morning the door was found locked and barred and the man had apparently climbed out through the window. Considerable feeling is rife at Alabaster and it would have fared ill with the miscreant had he been caught, as Mrs. Sheldon is a widow who makes her living from her little store and could ill afford to lose the money that was taken.

Walter Campbell, agent for the Agricultural Life Insurance Co. and well known to Tawas City people, was held up in Bay City Tuesday evening while on his way home from a collecting trip and relieved of about $400.00. Walt says that "when they get the drop on you the only thing to do is to deliver."

"The Day of the Children"

The mute appeal and heartrending cries of the millions of innocent children in Europe, born to suffering in-credible through the horrors of war, appeal to us. Scores of thousands have died—millions will perish if help is not speedily rendered. At this season of commemorating our Heavenly Father's gift to the world, the best that He had, "His only begotten Son," when we consider what the blessing of that gift has been to the nations of the earth and to us. The wise men from the East came to the baby Christ in the stable manger with their gifts. What greater honor can we confer upon Jesus at this celebration of His birth and to our Heavenly Father for His gift than putting our Christmas gifts upon the altar of service for these little ones? Their cries reach to Heaven and their mute appeals are all known to Him. I am persuaded that the churches will do a noble part as a sacred privilege.

It is recorded in Heaven "Ye have done it unto Me." Put in an envelope your gift and name and hand to the Sunday school superintendent and recording steward, F. F. Taylor, or to any of the board of stewards.

$10 will keep a famished suffering one from death all winter.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR TEETH

Editor Tawas Herald,

Dear Sir:—About nine out of ten students whom I have examined thus far in the county survey have teeth which are in some degree dirty, deformed, or decayed. A fortunate few have teeth which are sound, clean and handsome. Sound and clean teeth are not common. If through your columns I might say to these students and to their parents some of the things which I have been saying to individuals, it would save much time for us all.

First, wild animals have sound teeth. Our ancestors a dozen generations back, had neither dentist nor tooth brush, yet they also had sound teeth. Our civilized food has made the difference, and has cost us much pain and expense, for our teeth today must have constant care or they decay.

Second, to prevent this decay, these things must be done, beginning as soon as teeth appear in the baby: Clean the teeth daily. Eat rough food as soon as suitable. Fill each hole as soon as it appears.

Third, because this has not been done, these additional precautions must be taken by most of us if we are to have our own home-grown teeth, sound and strong, for life-long friends:

1. Keep a good, clean brush, and a standard paste made by any reliable dealer.

2. Brush teeth at least every night at bed-time. If oftener, add morning brushing, and also after dinner if you can.

3. Brush thoroughly, up and down, behind, between, and on the grinding surfaces of the big molars.

4. Use a good wooden tooth-pick after meals.

5. See a dentist twice yearly. Have him polish every tooth close to the gum and between teeth, and fill every decayed tooth as soon as it appears.

6. Make sure that no adenoids, obstructed nostrils or mouth-breathing deform the mouth or put the teeth out of line. Have no tooth pulled without the advice of a competent dentist.

7. As long as you eat at all, eat plenty of stuff to make the teeth work: Coarse breads, toast, crackers, crusts, or anything which requires much chewing. The average beefsteak might help. Only make those teeth work. Avoid, however, biting things like nut-shells and metals, which might injure the protecting enamel and allow decay.

By doing these things, we would surely avoid pain, unsightly mouths, expense, loss of teeth and much of the infection which makes tonsillitis, rheumatism, bad hearts, pyorrhoea, diphtheria, and tuberculosis. It would seem like good sense to avoid all these ills by keeping the teeth clean and seeing a good dentist for an hour twice a year. School youngsters in the big cities are learning to make this sensible choice. Can't we, with the parents' help, keep up to them? Here's hoping that the Red Cross will be able to help by getting a dentist to visit the small villages and all the townships, and that each parent will try to give his own children a fair chance.

CLUB PROVIDES FOR ORPHANS

The Twentieth Century Club spent a profitable afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Baguley last Saturday.

Dr. Plant of Lansing demonstrated his work among school children, assisted by Miss Francis Osborn, local nurse, and Miss Ina Bradley, county school commissioner. A real examination was made upon Walter Taylor, who volunteered for the purpose. Following the examination Dr. Plant lectured on "Health From a Moral Standpoint."

Mrs. Grimes gave a brief address on the Spirit of Christmas, and the club then got to work.

The club's Christmas benevolences include the presentation of five dolls with complete hand made wardrobes to orphan children, baskets of groceries for local poor, and the support and education of a child in the Near East for a year. Hoover's appeal warmly championed by the club, many of the members subscribing individually.

The afternoon closed informally with refreshments and visiting.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their kindness and assistance in the hour of our trouble. Mrs. Orilla Allen and all the Children

Unto Us a Son Is Given

by ALICE MEYNELL

GIVEN, not lent,
And not withdrawn—once sent,
This Infant of mankind, this One,
Is still the little welcome Son.

NEW every year,
New born and newly dear,
He comes with tidings and a song,
The ages long, the ages long;

EVEN as the cold
Keen winter grows not old,
As childhood is so fresh, foreseen,
And spring in the familiar green.

SUDDEN as sweet
Come the expected feet.
All joy is young, and new all art,
And He, too, whom we have by heart.

WILLIAM ALLEN MEETS TRAGIC DEATH

William Allen of the Hemlock road, one of Iosco county's pioneer residents, met death in a tragic manner last Friday, Dec. 10, when the car in which he was riding with his sons, Earl and George, and Earl's wife, turned over in a ditch near Saginaw and pinned him underneath the car in the water of the ditch.

Mr. Allen had suffered since the latter part of September with sciatic rheumatism, and not being able to secure relief at home, was making the trip to Mt. Clemens for treatment when the accident occurred. He was riding in the rear seat with his son, George. The boy had lighted a small oil stove which was being used to keep the car warm, and Earl, who was driving, turned around to see if the stove was properly adjusted. As he did so the car swerved toward the ditch and turned over into the water, pinning Mr. Allen underneath. Earl and his wife were also held down by the car, and before George could secure help and lift the car his father was dead. The rest of the party were not seriously injured.

The body of Mr. Allen was taken to a Saginaw undertaking room and later shipped to his home for burial.

William Allen was born in Toronto, Canada, March 14, 1839, and was 81 years, 8 months and 26 days of age at the time of his death. He was married Nov. 15, 1862, to Miss Elizabeth Johnson, and to this union five children were born, Mrs. W. S. Crenan of Alpena, J. E. Allen of Warren, Pa., Mrs. Mary Cox of Onaway, Theodore Allen of Posen and William Allen of Milwaukee, Wis.

His first wife died Jan. 7, 1878, and afterward he married again to Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, who bore him one son, John B. Allen of Milwaukee, Wis. She passed away July 22, 1888, and later he married again to Mrs. Orilla Start. To them were born eight children, six sons, Earl, Austin, George, Charles, Clarence Arthur, and Frank, and two daughters, Hattie, now Mrs. Joseph Rapp, and Annie. All of these are residents of Iosco county. The wife and fourteen children are left to mourn his loss, and all were present at the funeral.

In 1866 Mr. Allen moved with his family to Michigan and settled at Muskegon, where he resided for fourteen years, then moving to Iosco county and settling on the farm which has since been his home. In his forty years residence here he made a host of friends and was considered one of the most substantial citizens of the county. He served several terms as highway commissioner of his township and was for 21 years a member of the district school board. The whole community join with the bereaved family in mourning the loss of a loving husband and father and a kind and thoughtful neighbor and friend.

The funeral was held from the Hemlock road Baptist church on Tuesday and interment was made in the Tawas City cemetery. The large concourse of people who attended the funeral and the profusion of flowers attested the esteem in which the deceased was held.

SHERMAN SHOTS

Mrs. Tom Rewers is on the sick list. Frank Smith was at Tawas City on business Friday.

The Iosco and Arenac Telephone Co. made a big improvement in the line by dividing the McIvor division into two parts. This makes the line into four divisions and all about the same number of boxes.

REMEMBER THE UNFORTUNATE

At this happy holiday time when the minds of all are taken up with the plans for giving happiness to others, our whole attention should not be given to our own kin or our own friends, but we should devote a few moments of our time and a few dollars of our money to remembering and assisting those unfortunate ones who, but for the liberality of others, must spend a miserable and unhappy Christmas.

There are calls from many parts of the world for help for the neglected and famine stricken. In Europe there are thousands of children to whom Christmas this year will mean but another hungry day, and who would be made more than happy by a good square meal. Then there are the people in the Near East, about whom we have heard so much and who are in dire need of food and clothing to keep them alive.

Then, in the northern provinces of China there is a famine, said to be the most terrible in the history of the world. According to the Christian Herald 25,000,000 people are already affected and 15,000,000 more are being involved as the famine spreads. A long continued drought blasted the crops and even the seed wheat has been eaten, so that now they have no prospects for food except what may be sent from outside. The bitter cold winter has already set in and many thousands are dying daily from cold and starvation.

You, who are warmly clad and who sit down each day to plentiful meals of wholesome food, and who have many of the luxuries of life, do not forget these suffering millions in distant parts of the earth, but contribute your share to help save the lives of these starving people. Your own Christmas will be happier if you can feel that you have done something to alleviate the suffering of these people less fortunate than you.

BAPTIST CHURCH

As Christmas draws near we think of the coming of Christ. He came to bring peace and good cheer among men. In the gospel of Luke we find another phase of His coming: "The Son of Man came to seek and to save that which was lost."

In coming to live among men He became known as the Son of Man. He lived as a man, He was tempted as a man, He suffered as a man, yet, "never spake man like this man" and "none could do the works that He did except God be with him." Thus the Son of God came to be the Son of Man to make salvation and eternal happiness possible for all who would believe and serve Him.

Your little child plays at the doorstep of your home. While mother is busy with her household duties it wanders away and is lost. Everything is laid aside; the neighbors are called; the roads and the woods are searched until the child is found. Christ laid His heavenly glory aside to search for and redeem those who had wandered from the doorstep of His love and mercy.

He did not come for self-glorification, or to establish an earthly kingdom. He came in the interest of character and the souls of men.

The angels proclaimed Him as a Savior. He preached of Himself as the Author of Salvation. He knew of man's inability to save his own soul. He knew the worth of a soul—that it must be "bought with a price."

With the thought of redemption He willingly came. He donned the garb of a humble servant; bore the brunt of ridicule; suffered the pains of crucifixion that you and I might be better prepared to live and more fit for the Kingdom of Heaven.

Let Him be your Savior today.

SOME RESULTS OF WARFARE

Awful Price That is Paid in Broken Lives as Well as in Dollars and Cents.

In an aerodrome in France is an attendant. He wakes the boys, looks after their clothes. That is all he is fit for now. But he is treated with the greatest respect, for he was once an aviator himself. Sometimes he murmurs to a newcomer, as if in apology for his present occupation: "I spent 500 hours in the air." Five hundred hours, and he is now a nervous wreck! The other day a Canadian invalid aviator passed through Chicago. We rode with him for a few hours on the train. He will never fly again. He has no lesions, no broken bones. His nerves are gone. In his last flight his muscles, through sheer nervous strain, refused to function, and he dropped like a plummet for 5,000 feet—a mile—and redressed his machine just in time to save himself from annihilation. Each time that the brakes of the train began to grind his lips would set like the jaws of a steel trap. The motion of the slowing train was like that of falling. Each time it happened he would apologize in a stuttering voice. Then he would apologize for stuttering. Before that awful dive from cloudland he had never stuttered, he said. We know something of the cost of dreadnaughts, torpedoes, and the shells of 14-inch guns. We give little thought to rifle cartridges. But they cost five cents apiece in America and 15 cents apiece, it is estimated, by the time they are delivered to the firing trench. These rifle cartridges are used in the machine guns, and an ambitious gunner can use up $97.50 worth of them every 60 seconds—almost the receipts from two small Liberty bonds.—Chicago Evening Post.

Genius is supposed to be a power of producing excellencies which are out of reach of the rules of art; a power which no precepts can reach and which no industry can acquire.—Sir Joshua Reynolds.

A Christmas Stocking

By Bertha Esmond Ridgeley

(© 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

CHRISTMAS and the high cost of living do not make a very harmonious combination," observed Mrs. Ralston, in her quiet, patient way.

"I was just thinking of that, mother," replied her married daughter, Eunice Marsh, who sat with her work basket in her lap, her needle threaded with mending yarn, and rounding one of her husband's stockings at the heel. "There! that is done, and I hope it will pass muster as half respectable pinned up to Aunt Mary's maid."

Mrs. Ralston sighed, and Eunice did not act any too cheerful. They were lovable, generous souls, and until the past year or two had never known what it was to skimp and watch the corners closely. The mother picked up the stocking Eunice had placed on the table.

"Come to think of it, Eunice," she said, "we can do better than that. Just run up to the storeroom. Here is the key. You'll find father's clothes and things as they were when he died."

The last years of John Ralston's life had been full of anxiety and struggle. There was a mortgage on the old homestead, and at one time it seemed a foreclosure could not be avoided. Then in some way he secured the money to pay it off, and fortunately it was clear of encumbrance when he died. That was just a month after Eunice married Randal Marsh.

Her heart warmed as she thought of the loyal, whole-souled man who had come into her life at a critical time. It had been generally supposed that Randal had some little means, for he was industrious and thrifty, but when Mr. Ralston died Randal stepped into his place, practical, hard working and self-sacrificing.

The tears fell as Eunice reached the storeroom, and lifted the top of the fancy box she had herself covered, in which her father had been accustomed to store his extra clothing. Randal himself had made the receptacle, and together they had given it to Mr. Ralston on his last birthday. Eunice removed some articles of apparel tenderly and with care, placed them on a chair, and discovered some handkerchiefs and three pairs of stockings rolled up neatly. She took the top pair, undid it and with satisfaction noted as it unrolled that it was new and whole.

"Why, what can this be!" she uttered, as an envelope fell from the released folds. Her wonderment increased as she picked it up and found it unsealed and inside a written page and a peculiar looking key. Then with staring eyes, breathless, stirred to the depths of her soul, she read:

"After I am gone see that this letter and key are given to Randal Marsh. It has been a secret he made me promise never to divulge, that he gave me money to pay off the mortgage. Poor, noble hearted fellow! he saved the $2,000 to build a little home, and gave it feely to benefit us all. Month by month I have saved what I could, and have placed the money in a safety deposit box in the City bank, where there is nearly the amount he gave me."

Eunice with difficulty suppressed a great cry of joy. She could scarcely refrain from rushing downstairs and revealing her marvelous discovery to her mother. As she reflected how much this generous donation would mean to them all, in a transport of happy tears she sobbed forth her love for the worthy helpmate who had so well fulfilled his duty to herself and her family.

Eunice was alive with half-subdued excitement all that evening. She waited when they had reached Aunt Mary's until her mother and the others had placed their little gifts in the stocking bearing a card with Randal's name. All alone, she kissed the precious envelope and slipped it into the stocking.

"A necktie, gloves and a pen knife. That from aunty. Something always useful. A letter, no! a card of greeting, no! Why, what does this mean!" spoke Randal Marsh, and read it as they all gathered about the fire place and then he knew. Unselfish man that he was, he actually blushed like a culprit detected at the revelation of a sleeping secret of years.

"It means that I have the dearest, most noble husband in the world!" cried Eunice, her arms about him, her lips raining kisses. "Oh, my love, my true one! And who in the world today deserves the blessings of Christmas more than you!"

On the Wrong Scent.
Half the world is on the wrong scent in the pursuit of happiness. They think it consists in having and getting, and in being served by others. It consists in giving and in serving others.—Drummond.

No Lack.
In spite of the fact that there are always so many people looking for trouble and so many people finding it, there seems to be always enough trouble to keep everybody who desires it supplied.

What Dreams Mean.
To dream you are connected with the mail service denotes great disappointment and sorrow. To receive a great quantity of mail signifies empty honor. To mail a letter foretells happiness of short duration.

CHRISTMAS THINGS FOR BOYS

Youngsters Like Presents That Afford Amusement as Well as Being of Educational Nature.

IT IS to be wondered if the small boy's taste and temperament are really and truly considered when buying gifts that are meant to appeal to his inventive mind, or whether we simply purchase for him some toy or object of entertainment which we in our never-falling judgment think fit that he should have. It happens oftentimes that the boy who would give half his little kingdom for the Humpty-Dumpty circus that some other small youth received as his share from the Christmas pack receives a necktie, a pair of gloves and books, and vice versa. With the host of wonderful inventions for the entertainment and education of childhood, why not study the boy's bent and give him something with which to develop his bent?

One boy, in fact many, would prize a box of tools, and these very desirable outfits may be had in any size desired; another lad of the spirited age of ten or twelve, would like a football and a suit to play in; the mechanical mind just revels over the mechanism of a wonderfully constructed railway, a miniature airplane, or just a simple engine that can be made to run gives hours of pleasure; then there is the popular pushmobile, the wonderful joy everlasting, while snow and ice lasts, sled and ice skates. If the young man is a collector of stamps, large packages of foreign postage may be had, and the nearest approach to attending a moving picture show is to give the boy a postcard projector with which he can have a picture show of his own and invite the other boys if he wants to.

To these few suggestions may be added games, boy scout stories, numerous articles of wearing apparel and possibly a wash, an Indian or some other masquerade outfit, a wigwam and so on through an indeterminate list, but give him something he wants.

Charm.
Many people regard "charm" as a gift of the gods, given to some and denied to others, like all other natural gifts. But "charm" is a "gift" that all may possess in a greater or less degree if they are prepared to cultivate it. This quality is the outcome of true sympathy and kindness of heart.

The Useful Chicken.
As the old darkey said "A chicken am de mos' usefulest animle dere be. Yo can eat him befoah he am bohn an' atfah he am dead."

In Southern Michigan alone, Consumers Power Company supplies 2000 factories with power to manufacture the fundamental necessities of human life—food, clothing, furniture and similar products. Moreover, in a rich territory of 800,000 people, Consumers Power Company is supplying 170,000 homes with gas and electricity.

A Profitable Opportunity for You

Throughout this vast territory the demand for power has increased to such an extent that Consumers Power Company needs to develop its 200,000 available horse-power from its facilities at 28 dam sites along the Au Sable, Muskegon, Manistee, Grand and Kalamazoo Rivers. The customers to use this power are ready and waiting. You are offered the opportunity of investing in this profitable enterprise.

Preferred Stock Pays 7.37% Dividends

So vast are the resources of Consumers Power Company, and so splendid its record of achievement that it could raise the needed funds for this new development in the big financial centers of the country, where it has raised money in the past. But times are changing. Public Utility enterprises are coming more and more to be owned by the people in the communities they serve. Consumers Power Company prefers to offer this stock issue first to the people of its home state.

TRI-COUNTY Y. M. C. A. NOTES
A. R. Gold, Secretary

Boys' Clubs in Rural Communities
The average boy's desire to run with the gang and belong to something is too well known to need enlarging upon. The thing that concerns us is how to keep the spirit of the gang from running contrary to the ideals of the home.

A Place to Meet Not the Real Problem

It is not so much where the boys meet as who they meet with that constitutes the problem. In every village there is unused equipment that can easily be put to use, there is room in some church, hall, or school where a boys' club or scout troop can meet. We sometimes hear the complaint, "Our boys have no place to go," and "We ought to have a hall to meet in," but frequently it is found that the boys have too many places to go but no proper direction of their activities. A community hall would be a splendid thing for any town or village to have, with proper supervision, but without it the place would either be another rendezvous for loafers or else be locked up most of the time.

While it is sometimes difficult to finance the building of a hall the most difficult problem is more often that of providing a program of activity in which the hall can be used to the best effect.

Real Problem is Leadership

Agricultural club leaders, promoters of scouting, and county Y. secretaries agree that the most difficult part of their work is to find or train leaders. The scout age boy needs leadership in physical activities it is true, but his need along other lines is just as urgent. Splendid work can be done and is being done by voluntary leaders of boys, but more men are wanted. Very few of us realize the effects registered in the lives of teen age boys by the late war. At a time when waves of crime are sweeping over the country and a spirit of irresponsibility is noticeable everywhere, men are needed who will lead a group of boys, men who can help them clear up the mists of moral and intellectual confusion which are clouding their minds, men who can help them relate themselves to the best things in life and find some sense of direction in a maze of conflicting purposes.

Types of Club, Group and Troop Work

The Y. fourfold standard of development has been heard of everywhere though many have not seen the Pioneer, and Comrade, Leaders' Manuals and Boys' Handbooks. These set forth a very carefully worked out program covering six years work with a credit system for each year's work. It is a "Christian Citizenship Program." The Scout program is also a program of good citizenship and also contains the fourfold idea, as can be seen in the following extract from the Scout Law: "To help other people at all times, to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight." The physical, educational, devotional and service idea of the Y. is plainly stated in that oath and the same ideas are set forth in the Four H Clubs of the Agricultural College. The boys and girls in extension club work know this Four H sign to stand for the training of the head, the hand, and the heart, and care of the health. The success of either type of work depends largely on the thorough working of the program.

Attorney Gained Point

A St. Louis jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, was dismissed and adjourned to a near-by cafe. The defendant's attorney went along. An hour later the jury was back in court wishing to give a new decision.

HEMLOCK SLIVERS

"Not in cruelty, not in wrath, The reaper came that day. It was an angel that visited the green earth And took this flower away." The whole community was shocked and bowed its head in grief when Bird, one of our most loved young boys, was called from among us to his home beyond this veil of tears. Alfred Bird Wilson, aged nineteen years, four months and twenty days, was born at Ashley, Mich., July 19, 1901, and departed from us Dec. 5, 1920. About five years ago Bird came with his mother, father and only sister, Midge, to live in our community. Since he has been with us all, from the smallest child to the aged, have loved him and appreciated his kind and cheery words he always had for young and old. We will miss Bird's happy smile and kind deeds but we can never forget them. That sad vacant space will ever remain in his great circle of young friends. The community extends their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved parents and sister. Not a heart but shares the great sorrow. Sometime, when all life's lessons have been learned; The sun and stars forevermore have set The things our weak judgment here have spurned, The things o'er which we have grieved with lashes wet, Will flash before us out of life's dark night, We will see how all God's plans were right, That which seemed reproof was love most true. CARD OF THANKS We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who assisted us during our sad bereavement in the loss of our loving boy. Also for the beautiful flowers. Robert Wilson, Margarette Wilson, Midge Wilson.
