THE SPECIAL ELECTION

Tomorrow, Saturday, May 28, the people of Tawas City will vote upon the proposition to bond the city for not to exceed $7,000 for the purpose of building a new city hall in connection with the proposed Memorial Community building. The polls will be open at seven o'clock in the morning and will remain open until five o'clock in the evening.

Very little opposition has been heard to the proposition, and the consensus of opinion seems to be that the measure will carry by a large majority. Every registered voter in the city is privileged to vote upon the question, whether a tax-payer or not.

When the proposition is considered from the standpoint of percentage on the assessed valuation of the city, the amount paid each year by each taxpayer is so small that it seems impossible that anyone could oppose it from the standpoint of increased taxes. Even if the whole amount of $7,000 were to be raised in one year (which it cannot nor will not be) and the amount spread upon the tax rolls, the tax would amount to only about $1.45 on a $1,000 assessment. Many of the largest taxpayers in the city have expressed the wish that this could be done and have the matter over with. But the limitations beyond which the city cannot go in spreading taxes forbid this, and the amount will be spread over a term of years, which will make the amount paid each year so small that the average taxpayer will not notice it.

No better opportunity will ever be offered to replace the old, ramshackle structure now used as a city hall with a new up-to-date building, and at the same time assist in a worthy project like the Memorial building. The cost to the city will be no more, if as much, as the cost of a city hall if built separately, and the Memorial building project will be considerably aided thereby.

Every person interested in the progress of the city is urged to get out tomorrow and vote on the proposition.

CRAMPTON TO SPEAK AT BALDWIN LODGE GATHERING

Baldwin lodge I. O. O. F. will be host to big gathering of Odd Fellows and their friends at an open meeting to be held on Friday evening, June 3. Neighboring lodges have been invited and a capacity crowd is anticipated.

Grand Master Louis C. Crampton and Grand Secretary Fred A. Rogers will participate in the meeting. Mr. Crampton, who is congressman from the seventh Michigan district, is an eloquent and fluent speaker and as a feature of this meeting he will give his lecture on "The Balkans." During the closing months of the great world war he visited the battle fronts in France, Italy and the Balkans, at a time when the greatest drama of the ages was being enacted. He was the only member of congress to visit the Balkan region, and being received as the guest of the Italian, Serbian, French, British and Greek authorities, thus making his trip most interesting.

He crossed the Adriatic sea on a British cruiser from Brindisi to Valonia in Albania, lunched with Alexander, prince regent, of Jugo-Slavia, at his mountain military headquarters, traveled with Venizelos in remote parts of Macedonia, and visited the battle fronts at a number of points. In Athens he was received by King Alexander who died recently.

Mr. Crampton was accompanied by Major Blayne of the United States army and from the photographs taken by them he has had a series of 100 lantern slides made which illustrates his lecture, thus making it doubly interesting.

Tawas City Drops Another

East Tawas came down to the fair grounds and caught our boys as unprepared for a regular ball game as they were the previous week.

The story of the game could be told very effectively by simply saying that although the score was 10 to 2, the only earned run was made in the ninth inning by Tawas City. The box score could furnish the story. But we will say that the last five innings constituted a good game, wherein only three hits were made off Art Siefloff, the run scored off him in the 6th, through two errors and a sacrifice. In the ninth Art fanned Bolen, Dillon and Whitman in succession. We would like to see him pitch a full game.

Although Felix Stepanski isn't the same pitcher he was a few years ago, when he turned in an average of 18 strike-outs a game, still his four innings would have been scoreless had the team played real baseball behind him. But—oh, well, what's the use? They didn't.

Our run in the second was handed to us by our ex-fellow-townsmen, Vic Marzinski, when he booted Musolf's grounder and let Nelem reach first and Musolf third on an error of omission. In the ninth singles by Musolf, Siefloff and Frank brought in the only earned run of the game. You will notice that we have said nothing about the first innings. We haven't the heart to show the boys up in black and white.

O. Johnson pitched a first class game and had our boys at his mercy at all times, the ninth inning being the only time any liberties were taken with his delivery.

Art Dillon and Mart Musolf pulled off spectacular one-hand running grabs of line drives and furnished the only thrills of the game.

Tawas City goes to Alabaster next Sunday, where they will be given a chance to redeem themselves. We know that they can play ball, the only question is—how soon will the boys come to the same conclusion?

With so much help the new building went up fine. Mrs. Cottrell also had plenty of help, as the ladies and children turned out in goodly number also.

A long table outside, 36 feet long, to set and fill four times means some work. About 40 autos on the front lawn looked as though something was doing. We hope that many more shots will be fired in this direction both in Iosco and Arenac counties.

SOME ACTIVITIES OF THE DEVELOPMENT BUREAU

The Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau is carrying out a plan for advertising good farms of the district in the farm publications and papers which have a circulation among farmers in other sections of Michigan and in adjoining states, for the purpose of attracting more settlers to this part of the state. Recent advertising by the bureau is also bringing in a large number of inquiries from farmers who have gone from various parts of the United States to the Canadian Northwest and who, having found that conditions there are not nearly so rosy as had been painted, now want to get back on some of the good lands of Michigan.

For the purpose of disseminating specific information about Northeastern Michigan the bureau has contracted for the "Ask Mr. Foster" service in the cities of Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis. This service maintains information bureaus in some of the principal hotels, department stores, etc., of these cities and is especially valuable to the bureau in providing information to summer tourists, intending settlers, etc., regarding the attractions of the district.

Plans are being made to bring several parties of farmers into Northeastern Michigan for summer automobile tours this year, and to provide camping accommodations for members of these parties the bureau has purchased 20 tents and 50 folding cots, which will be leased or resold to tourists.

The Michigan public domain commission has contributed $500 to the bureau for carrying on its work this year. The boards of supervisors of Alcona and Oscoda counties, at their sessions last week renewed their subscriptions to the bureau, and it is expected that the Oscoda supervisors will adopt a similar course at their forthcoming meeting.

THE RURAL COMMUNITY CENTER

A number of agencies have been responsible for the origin, growth and development of the rural community center. Perhaps the most obvious is the automobile, because it has enabled farm people to gather together much more easily than they could in the old days. It's a matter of a very short run from corner to corner of the average township, and it's easy to get to evening meetings of one kind or another. The state agricultural colleges have done much to advance this work, too, by arranging programs for evening meetings, furnishing speakers and giving all the assistance in their power.

One other thing has been particularly helpful in this respect, and that has been the farm electric light and power plant introduced within the last few years. Many a rural schoolhouse that formerly held its evening meetings with the aid of dim and smoky oil lamps or held no meetings at all, now shows a blaze of bright, cheerful electric light from every window on one or more evenings a week. In the first place, electric light makes for good cheer, as compared with the old methods. It is an easy thing, too, to arrange the electric lights just where they will do the most good.

But perhaps the greatest advantage of electricity in the rural community schoolhouse lies in the fact that it makes possible the use of stereopticon and motion pictures. For real entertainment and educational work there are few things as good as the motion picture. It speaks a universal language. With its aid one can travel to the four corners of the earth in the short length of an evening. Its straight educational value is tremendous. A good film showing the latest and best way of carrying on agricultural work can make clear in a moment what a speaker would have difficulty in explaining at all.

With all these agencies working in its favor, not the least of which is electricity, the rural community center is an assured success.—Ex.

Ever Catch a Micropterus?

The black bass are of two species—the small-mouth black bass and the large-mouth black bass, writes Dr. W. W. Shufeldt in the American Forestry Magazine. Both belong to the genus Micropterus, and are readily distinguished through the fact that in the last-named form the angle of the gape of the mouth is back of the imaginary vertical line from the center of the pupil of the eye upon either side. So gamy are these fish that they are known as the "gamefish of the North," and anglers prefer to fish for them above all other kinds.

"ARMENIAN NATION LOOKS TO U. S. FOR SUCCOR FROM DEATH"

Edwin M. Bulkley, Financier and Philanthropist, Defines Near East Relief Work.

New York.—There is no spot on the globe today where there is more desperate and hopeless suffering than in Armenia. Edwin M. Bulkley, the well known New York banker, who has just been elected chairman of the board of trustees of Near East Relief, declared today. Mr. Bulkley succeeds the late Alexander J. Hemphill as head of the American relief work in Armenia, Turkey, Palestine, Syria, Mesopotamia and Persia. He has long been connected with the banking house of Spencer Trask & Co., and is thoroughly conversant with the Near Eastern situation.

"Elsewhere," Mr. Bulkley continued, "there is famine that tears at our heart-strings and evokes our pity and our help. But in Armenia it is not starvation alone that the people face—but starvation coming after six years' destruction, wrought by a war that has never ended and that today is not even ended. It is starvation following pestilence, and stalking hand in hand with death from exposure, from violence or from disease.

"In the mountains between Kars and Alexandropol there are 263,000 human beings without clothing, food or shelter in the bitter winter, who are wandering from place to place like people in a nightmare. Unless they are succored before the end of another month, they will all be dead. In southern Persia, the remnant of the ancient family of Chaldean Christians have been forced to renounce forever all hope of ever returning to the homeland where they have dwelt and flourished for 1,600 years, and to become pitiful fugitives, dependent upon the generosity of strangers for life itself. In Cilicia, 15,000 Armenian refugees have crowded into the coast regions seeking safety from the anarchy which reigns in the interior, in terror for their lives. They live from day to day on the food which is given them in the soup kitchens established by the Near East Relief. Scattered throughout the Near East, there are some 7,790,490 Armenians, the remainder of a nation of 4,000,000, who have neither government, country, homeland, shelter or hope of regeneration, save that which lies in the great heart of America.

"It is a tragedy so stupendous that it is difficult for us to grasp its meaning. A whole nation, a living, Christian people, face to face with extermination today, unless we help. We shall see an entire nation disappear from the face of the earth before our eyes if we withhold our hand now, when the call comes to us to save by giving, or by inaction to condemn to death.

Save the Children!

"Perhaps we cannot save all the grown people of this oldest Christian nation in the world. But at least we can save the little children who hold the future in their hands. They have wronged no one. They have harmed no one. And they have suffered through the precious years of childhood a calvary of agony and wretchedness. For three years the Near East Relief, an American organization, incorporated by Congress, has built up the nucleus of a new generation in the Near East, with the little children that it has taken in from the roadside and barren places, and nursed back to health, fed, clothed, housed and educated, in the name of the American people who have furnished the funds for this great work.

"This has been our signal contribution to the world's future peace—that tens of thousands of these little ones shall all their lives look to us with gratitude and faith. It is a seed of world brotherhood that we have sown. Shall we let it die now?

"The Near East Relief is appealing to the American people for the money to go on with this work—to keep these little ones alive and to save this martyred Christian people. Sixty dollars per year—$10 per month—feeds a child. We have taken this great responsibility upon us. A whole nation looks to us in faith and trust.

"We cannot betray them now." Contributions may be sent to Cleveland H. Dodge, Treasurer, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City.

"Salt River."
"Salt river," as commonly used refers to an imaginary river up which talented politicians and political parties are supposed to be sent to oblivion. The phrase "to row up Salt river" had its origin in a small stream of that name in Kentucky, the passage of which is made difficult and laborious by its tortuous course and abundance of shallows and bars.

The Glory of the O'sanders.

This bright morning we looked from the roof of our veranda, and our neighbor's oleander-trees were glowing like a great crimson cloud; and we said, "There! the oleanders have come back!" THE WOODS
BY DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE SOUL.

FIGGER the soul of a man is the same underneath of a coat or a shirt. An' I figger the heart that pumps life through his frame is the same under d'monds or dirt. Fer his face may be homely an' tough be his hide an' busted the bridge of his beak, But the Soul of the cuss is a-a-tin' inside an' awakin' its moment to speak.

The Soul of the cuss is a-settin' 'way back, until maybe the lobster fergets There is any such thing as a Soul in the shack to take note of his devilish fits. But amuck with the gang, on the long mooch alone, then it follows his foot-steps to see:

God Knows that I tell what I know, fer my own it has risen an' spoken to me.

It has risen an' spoken its speech by the light of the flickerin' flame of the fire: It has come with its voice where the lamps glittered bright on a mob that was drunk with desire.

Fer I know not the hour that the visitor brings—in the night, in the day, it is near:

It has come when no step stirred the stillness of things, it has come when a hundred were here.

An' it knows all the past, ev'ry step of the road I have traveled the years that are gone:

In the springtime of youth it was there when I sowed in the fields that was yellow with dawn.

It has followed my trail in the woods an' the town, it has stood by my side at the bar.

It has followed my trail either up hill or down, an' has judged of my deeds as they are.

So it stood by my side in that old-time affair when the night turned to red in my eyes.

An' it knows jest how much of my story was square an' it knows jest how much of it lies.

Fer it saw the blow fall, an' it saw the steel shine, an' it saw the thing leap to its goal—

You can fool all the world with a yarn such as mine, but you can't tell a lie to your Soul.

I have spit on the doors of their law-makin' shops, I have spit an' have laughed at the law;

I have drunk with their sheriffs an' played with their cops, with my life as the stake in the draw.

I have traveled their streets in the glare of the sun, while the he-hounds were hot on the track—

I have shaken them all, shaken all but the one, but the one that will never turn back.

Fer the world may ferget, er the world may not know, er the world it may know an' not care,

But fer ever beside me wherever I go still another walks close who was there.

Yes, the deed may be done an' the deed may be hid, may be hid by the snows— an' the sod,

But the thing that I planned an' the thing that I did one witness will whisper to God.

They know me back home as a man who is dead an' who passed in his checks as he should,

An' I answer up here to a new name in- stead that in every way is as good.

I have shaken the teeth of the hounds of the past, forgotten like all men who die.

But I know that my Soul will be there at the last—fer my Soul knows that I am still I.

EASY TO GET FINGER PRINTS

Most Parents Will Agree That Baby Will Be Glad to Co-operate in the Matter.

A campaign is now under way to require the finger-prints of all babies, records to be preserved for identification purposes in any misfortune which may come to them throughout their lives.

Fathers interviewed said the plan would check an enormous waste of effort. Babies have been finger-printing themselves ever since the human race first crossed the starting line, but the records never have been preserved.

Parents generally approved the idea and suggest also the recording and preservation of finger-prints on the following subjects:

1. Papa's linen collar.
2. Daddy's shirt bosom.
3. The leaves of the Harvard classics or the Century dictionary. These volumes, and the like, always seem the most eagerly sought after by a 2-year old on a lark in the library.
4. The suit of the Old-Gentleman-Who-Sits-In-the-Seat-Just-Ahead-of-Baby on the train.
5. Any white woodwork or window sills.

Parents in registering the prints should proceed in the following manner:

1. Get one jar of raspberry jam.
2. Get baby. (Possibly this should be done first.)
3. Allow an interval of fifteen seconds to elapse.
4. If the print is to be taken on a collar the father should sit on the floor, back to the baby, and repeat softly "Come snookum-ookums," until the kid grabs the idea. Not more than fifty finger prints should be taken on any one collar.
5. Set collar in a cool place to dry.
6. Attach the infant's name and picture on the inside of the collar.
7. File the collar away in a card index.

If a parent prefers to register the prints on a shirt bosom all he needs to do is to take the child on his lap and say severely, "Don't touch papsy's shirt! Naughty man will eat you if you do." Inside of five seconds it will be possible to file the shirt, although a larger card index cabinet is needed if prints are taken this way.

In taking the prints on book leaves no preliminary preparation is necessary beyond cautioning the child never to go into the library or touch a book.—Kansas City Star.

BIRD'S Art-Craft Roof TILE DESIGN

Looks $1,000 Better

HERE are two houses of similar type. The house at the right easily looks to be worth $1,000 more than the one at the left.

The difference is in the roof. At little cost Bird's Art-Craft—the wonderfully popular tile design roll roofing—has been laid right over the old wooden shingles.

Art-Craft gives the look of prosperity to residence, bungalow or cottage. Won't catch fire from falling sparks. Costs less to buy. Costs less to apply. Saves ripping off old shingles. Makes a double roof. Saves time, labor and money. Slate-surfaced in natural red or green.

Come in and let us tell you more why Bird's Art-Craft is the best roofing buy on the market.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Last Friday evening the class of 1921 held commencement exercises at the M. E. church. The class numbered ten: Basil Humphrey, president, David Bernard, vice-president, Esther Kocher, Secretary, Genevieve Caton, treasurer, Bertha Mason, Florence Humphrey, Helen Dorcey, Rose Morrison, John Follett, John LeClair.

Green and white, the class colors were used in decoration. At the rear of the platform was a bank of evergreen and white lilacs. Blossoming plants, ferns and a canopy of white and green crepe paper completed the tasteful decoration. To strains of a march played by Miss Genevieve Gardner, the graduates took their places. Following them came the eighth and ninth grades, who were seated at the front of the church. The girls are to be complimented on their choice of gowns, white middie suits with black ties being worn by all.

Glenn Healy and Chas. Gardner, accompanied by Miss Genevieve Gardner played the opening number which was followed by the invocation by Rev. O. L. Fox. Rose Morrison was the first graduate to speak giving the salutation. She was followed by Helen Dorcey as valedictorian. Florence Humphrey willed away the various class possessions, while John Follett painted for us a word picture of his class mates. Bertha Mason spoke of the beauties of the class flower, the white rose, and Genevieve Caton recited the class poem. Esther Kocher prophesied the future of each graduate and Basil Humphrey as class president gave the farewell address. Each graduate spoke well and the class song was much applauded. Solos were rendered by Miss Ruby Love and Kenneth Bernard, and after presentation of diplomas by Lewis Nunn, the benediction was pronounced by Rev. O. L. Fox.

Following the program a banquet was given for the graduates and their relatives.
