Where We Get Pineapples. Singapore was formerly the chief source of the world's supply of pineapples but our fresh fruits now come mainly from the West Indies—especially from Cuba, Porto Rico and the Bahamas—and our supply of canned fruit from Hawaii. The first attempt to grow the pineapple in the United States was made in St. Augustine in 1520. Florida growers can now hope to compete with the more favored rivals in this industry.

Bull Baiting. This was a sport once popular in England, but declared illegal in 1835. A bull was attacked by dogs, and sometimes the nostrils of the bull were blown full of pepper to increase his fury. Another form of the sport was to fasten the bull to a stake by a long rope and then set bulldogs at him, one at a time which were trained to seize the bull by the nose. The bulldog seems to have been developed for this sport from a short-eared mastiff called "balaunt."

More Power, Less Weight—Economy!

HERE is the most economical tractor—the one that furnishes the greatest traction power with the lightest tractor weight and smallest fuel consumption. It pulls three 14" plows, turns an acre an hour, and is light enough to work on plowed ground without packing it down.

It uses little more fuel than many two plow tractors—does half more work in the same time and saves labor cost; does half more work every mile it travels and saves maintenance, repairs and depreciation.

Just as the three-horse team is the right animal unit for heavy work on farms of all sizes, the Huber Light Four is the right power unit.

It plows, harrows, pulls the binder, hay loader and manure spreader economically and will run the small thrasher, silo filler, hay baler, etc. So simple that a woman or boy can operate.

Makes better crops possible by getting work done at the right time. Often pays for itself in a single season.

Let us show you the Huber and tell you what it will do for you.

Ralph Anderson
Siloam, Mich.

Weight 5,000 pounds; pulls three 14" bottom plows; 12 h. p. delivered to the draw-bar; 25 h. p. at the belt; Weasels four-cylinder motor; Perflex Radiator; Hyatt Roller Bearings; burns gasoline, kerosene or distillate; center draft two speeds; 2 1/2 and 4 miles per hour.

Long Thumbs, Strong Wills.
If the top joint of your thumb is long, it shows that you have good will power. Well-developed reasoning faculties are possessed by those people who have thumbs the second joint of which are long. Thumbs that work easily are owned by careless, happy-go-lucky, spendthrift individuals. A stiff, firm-jointed thumb, however, shows that the person is keen, careful self-possessed, and cautious—the sort of man who would get on in the world.

Three Cents a Bath.
The pet dogs of the gay Parisians supply a source of livelihood to many men in Paris. They are stationed along the Seine river, and do a good business bathing dogs for their owners. Milady sits on one of the park benches along the river while Fido is given a good bath and thoroughly dried—all for three cents.

Hand Kissing is Old Custom.
Amongst the Romans the custom of kissing hands was very common: people desiring a favor of anyone, even if he was an equal, would come near, and thus salute him before making the request, though usually equals gave each other their hands or embraced. Soldiers in the army kissed the hands of their generals to show respect; the same honor was given to the consuls and praetors.

Proper Ambition.
It is very sad for a man to make himself servant to a thing. His manhood all taken out of him by the hydraulic pressure of excessive business. I should not like to be merely a great doctor, a great lawyer, a great minister, a great politician—I should like to be also something of a man.—Theodore Parker.

Something to Think About
THE JOB AND THE MAN
By F. A. Walker

TELLING IS SELLING

IN THESE days of time-saving devices, money-saving inventions and effort-saving ideas the thinking man finds much to interest him when he hears another thinking man compress a big thought into the fewest possible words.

The literary man has a name for these examples of condensed wisdom. He calls them "epigrams."

"Epigram" is an interesting word. You can spend a useful fifteen minutes studying out in some good dictionary just what it meant in the original Greek and how it came to have an entirely different meaning in English.

One of the most condensed and meaningful phrases I have ever seen written or heard spoken was used by a great editorial writer who boiled down a whole sermon into three words when he said "Repetition is reputation." That is sound, unassailable truth in the fewest possible words.

Alongside that condensation of wisdom I have filed away in my memory the three-word statement that I heard an advertising solicitor use the other day in convincing a prospective buyer of publicity that advertising would be the best possible investment that he could make.

These were the three words he used: "Telling is selling."

That comes pretty near reducing the statement of what advertising is to the fewest possible words and stating it in the simplest possible way.

To a greater or less degree every human being is an advertiser.

The man or woman who dresses well advertises prosperity.

The man or woman who uses the proper words in the proper places and shows a broad acquaintance with facts advertises education.

The man with the light step, quick movement, unceasing activity, advertises energy, probably ambition.

You say "I am a good judge of human nature." That is only another way of stating that you are an accurate reader of the personal advertising of individuals.

Every day we unconsciously "tell" ourselves—advertise ourselves—by our actions, by our habits, by our conversation. Everyday we unknowingly succeed in or fail in "selling" ourselves.

If "telling is selling" it is equally true that "overtelling is underselling." Nobody ever permanently gained anything by wandering from the truth. Boasting is only a polite name for lying.

Any buyer of men or merchandise would rather be surprised by finding his purchase better than he thought it was than to discover that it failed to come up to what he had a reasonable right to expect.

If you have occasion to talk about yourself tell just what you are.

If you find it necessary to sell yourself do not bargain for more than you can deliver.

"Telling is selling," but the telling must be the truth and the selling must be on the basis of turning over just what you have agreed to—of having the goods test 100 per cent of what they were represented to be.

THE GIRL ON THE JOB

How to Succeed—How to Get Ahead—How to Make Good

By JESSIE ROBERTS

THE RENT COLLECTOR

RENT collecting is a branch of the real estate work that appeals to many young women who are interested in housing problems, and several such have entered it from settlement work. The landlords find that women make better rent collectors than men, that they get closer to the tenants, and that they promote a better understanding between the parties to the renting business.

Rent collecting is not a mere turning up at the first of the month with the demand for the rent. It is to the interest of the landlord that the houses he owns be properly run and kept up, that undesirable tenants be ejected, and that the right kind get right treatment. Women are good at getting results in these directions. It is usually the woman of the apartment who pays the rent; it is she who has complaints to make or alterations to demand. And she speaks more freely to another woman, and the other woman understands better the usual problems of housekeeping. It works well both ways.

A rent collector is in a position to know more than most persons about vacant apartments, various types of renters, possibilities of development, bargains. There are really fine business opportunities in this line, and women should study them.

After all, it is women who live in the home and who manage the home. When it comes to homes, women make the better agents and better rent collectors, and women are entering the new field with enthusiasm.

STATE FAIR TAKES BIG STEP FORWARD

GIFT OF PROPERTY TO STATE MAGNIFICENT ONE; MEANS MORE SUCCESS.

1921 EXHIBIT, SEPT. 2-11, TO BE AMERICA'S FINEST

Under an arrangement made between the Michigan State Agricultural Society and the State of Michigan, the people of this commonwealth have just received the most magnificent gift in their history, in the transfer of the property of the Michigan State Fair at Detroit to the people of the state.

Besides landed property and buildings, there is more than $210,000 cash which goes to the state to be used for the further building up of the fair. The Michigan State Agricultural Society, just before the recent session of the legislature, offered to turn the property over to the state in case the latter would continue to operate it for the benefit of the people. This offer was accepted.

The fair has come to prosperity only in recent years. The turning point was the year 1913. Up to that time the enterprise had lost money annually and had every prospect of continuing to do so. It was then that the directors of the fair prevailed upon

H. H. Halladay, State Commissioner of Agriculture, who is Chairman of Board of Managers, Michigan State Fair.

George W. Dickinson to resign as state railroad commissioner and become Secretary-Manager of the fair.

Under his management the fair became much less of a horse-racing and side-show affair, and devoted its attention to featuring the constructive activities of Michigan life. This course has proved financially profitable, as the public was better satisfied, and this accounts for the fact that Dickinson paid up about $100,000 in debts, made many permanent improvements to the grounds and laid up a cash surplus of $210,000.

Formal taking over of the fair by the state is hailed as the most important forward step since the inception of the fair "way back" in 1849. The scope of its activities now will be widened extensively and without radical changes in management.

John S. Haggerty, the Detroit manufacturer, former president of the fair, heads the list of appointments to the new board, and the state also takes over the contract of Secretary-Manager Dickinson. The policy of the fair as a non-profit organization will be maintained as in the past, all excess receipts to go towards building up the fair and increasing premiums and prize awards.

The new board of managers of the fair, named by Gov. Groesbeck, represents all sections of Michigan, upper peninsula as well as lower, and retains in its personnel many of the men who have helped bring the fair to its present high standing. H. H. Halladay, former livestock sanitary commissioner, and now state commissioner of agriculture, is chairman of the board, whose membership follows:

John S. Haggerty, Detroit; Fred M. Warner, Farmington; Edward N. Hines, Detroit; Oscar K. Webber, Detroit; Andrew J. Crawford, Detroit; Charles T. Prescott, Tawas City; Robert N. Wallace, Saginaw; A. E. Stevenson, Port Huron; Jacob DeGeus, Alicia; Frank Coward, Bronson; H. S. Newton, Hart; Frank H. Milham, Kalamazoo; Clark H. Brody, Three Rivers; Forrest A. Lord, Mt. Clemens; Perry F. Powers, Cadillac; Edward A. Hamer, Chassell; John A. Miller, Swartz Creek; Thomas E. Newton, Detroit; Arthur Peterson, Escanaba; and William H. Oliver, Grand Rapids.

For the coming fair, Sept. 2 to 11, the biggest on record, arrangements have been made to broaden the scope of all existing departments in a way that will keep pace with the tremendous growth of Michigan in agriculture, breeding, livestock raising, automobile making, and all other forms of manufacture.

The cattle exhibition at the state fair in Detroit September 2 to 11 will be under the administration of H. W. Norton, Jr., state livestock sanitary commissioner, and successor in that position of H. H. Halladay, who now is state commissioner of agriculture and chairman of the board of managers of the state fair.

Shared Fame With Friend.
It is said that virtually all the plays to which the names of Beaumont and Fletcher are attached were written by Fletcher alone. Beaumont was a friend of Fletcher's and lived with him. They had a kind of David and Jonathan affection for each other, and Beaumont's name is said to have gone on the plays more for sentimental reasons than for any other.
