True to Form

Our temperamental ball team went down to Omer last Sunday and as they had played good ball the week before it was impossible for them to repeat. Only ten errors were chalked up against them in the record, but the number of misjudged flies was legion. The boys have played like petted primadonas this year. Four of their games were first class exhibitions, while the remaining four were exactly the opposite. The only explanation we can give is temperament. It is such a useful word.

Omer hit for a total of 22 bases, while our hopes garnered but 8 hits, all singles. A number of the extra base hits were misjudged flies and it is a shame to have to charge them to Art Sieloff. Although he wasn't nearly as effective Sunday as the week before, he pitched a much better game than the hits against him show.

The boys go down to Alabaster next Sunday and we hope to have a better story to tell next week.

The Detroit & Mackinac Ry. has re-established the office of agricultural and industrial agent and has appointed V. M. Curry of Bay City to that office.

Mr. Curry's duties will be to assist in bringing new settlers into the territory which the Detroit & Mackinac covers and to aid local boards of commerce in the towns along the route to secure new industries of the sort that will be permanent.

As Northeastern Michigan is chiefly an agricultural and grazing country his chief work will be in bringing farmers to the good lands of the territory, in planning for colonization of some of the large tracts of land still unsettled and in cooperating with land owners throughout the district to bring farmers to the district.

Mr. Curry's office will be at 816 Adams street, Bay City, and his services as a representative of the Detroit & Mackinac will be available to any person along the route of the railroad. He proposes to maintain representatives in various towns along the route, to locate soliciting agents in Michigan and other states and to carry on a campaign of advertising of Northeastern Michigan lands.

FOREST SERVICE NOTES

G. R. Veal, U. S. surveyor from the general land office, Washington, D. C., is getting a crew of men together to make a survey of Township 23 North, Range 7 East. This is the township in which the Silver Creek ranger station is located.

It is reported that more campers have visited the region of the AuSable river this year than ever before and it is plainly evident that the popularity of this river is increasing. Fishing is reported very good on all streams and rivers on the Forest. We hope that during this dry period all visitors to the Forest will use the utmost care in the prevention of forest fires.

A fire observer's lookout has been constructed at the Beal Nursery at East Tawas upon which has been established a table and oriental improved map board which will aid materially in the detection and accurate location of forest fires. All lookout towers on the Forest have been supplied with improved map boards and large location maps have been furnished each ranger station so that the detection of forest fires has been made as efficient as possible. All observation points are being equipped with telephone equipment so that direct communication can be obtained from the observers on duty.

Some repair work is being done on the road between the Tawas and Hale. Funds are being furnished for the work by the U. S. Forest Service, the Iosco county board of supervisors and private individuals. Some very good work has been accomplished at Round Lake and the hill at that place which up to this time has been a sand hole, almost impossible to drive through in dry weather, has been sanded over and put in good shape. A bridge will be built at this place which will further benefit the road. Other improvements have been made by the U. S. Forest Service on the Michigan National Forest at Pickett Creek and Vaughn Creek. Those people who are desirous of driving over these roads will find them in very good shape in any kind of weather. Ranger Ralph H. Johnson is in charge of the crew which is doing the maintenance work.

STATE FAIR LIKE GREAT UNIVERSITY

HAS SOMETHING TO TEACH ALL BY DISPLAYING BEST OF ALL PRODUCTS.

GIVES TRUE REFLECTION OF MICHIGAN'S PROGRESS

Few universities are enabled to disseminate as much knowledge along the lines of all of life's activities as does the Michigan State Fair, which will hold its 72nd annual exhibition in Detroit, Sept. 2-11. For the people of the state generally the annual state fair is a fountain of information about the things they are most concerned with in their every-day existence.

The state fair exhibits show the best that is produced in agriculture, livestock, dairying, poultry, automotive trades, machinery, industrial work of varied sorts, road building, arts and sciences, city and country school work, home work, such as needlework, handicraft work, garment-making, canning and numerous other sorts of endeavor. No matter in what line or variety of lines any person is interested he can find much of an instructive nature among the fair exhibits.

Michigan's state fair has taken rank as the best in the whole of America. Its coming show will be greater in scope and size and pay more in premiums than any ever held before. It will be the most instructive exposition of its kind to date.

"More than ever the state fair of today has become a leading educational institution," said Secretary-Manager G. W. Dickinson, of the state fair, discussing this feature. "It shows better than any other way can show how the state is developing and what it is accomplishing. It brings the people of the state together—the farmer, the manufacturer, the business man, the professional man, the women interested in industrial or domestic matters, and the children who are just becoming interested in some line of life's activities.

"It shows to each one the best that is being accomplished in what he is most concerned with, and it gives to each one the opportunity to see what others are doing. The fair is a great mirror of the state's progress and this year it will have more such progress to reflect than ever before in its history."

DETROIT MERCHANT HEADS STATE FAIR ART EXHIBIT

The state fair as a whole is a work of art. It should be made attractive to all who come to see it, both in its entirety and in all its details. The art department of the fair will encourage the development of artistic displays and aid in making all features artistic in the fair to be held in Detroit, September 2-11.

OSCAR K. WEBBER

This is the attitude of Oscar K. Webber, of the J. L. Hudson Co., Detroit, member of the State Fair Board of Managers in charge of the art department of the fair, and of H. M. Kurtzworth, director of the department. Their idea is that everyone should be something of an artist in the things he buys and uses and something of a designer in the things he makes and sells.

Therefore the aim is to have the art department at the fair show how the American home can be made more attractive in its appearance; how the libraries, museums and public buildings may be improved; how raw materials may be made into better designed products; and to enable the department to bring the hundreds of thousands of state fair visitors into contact with artistic displays of makers of fine goods.

Splendid exhibits in the arts and crafts will feature the 1921 fair. There will be daily lectures and demonstrations in both throughout the ten days of the fair. Director Kurtzworth, of the Michigan Art Institute, Paul Honore and other authorities will lecture each day on some definite topic related to art, their talks being illustrated with studio material or live models. In the crafts there will be special lesson lectures on definite topics each day, including stenciling, designing, weaving, carving, enameling, decorating and other subjects.

Mother's Cook Book

The longer on this earth we live and weigh the various qualities of men, the more we feel the high, stern-featured beauty of plain devotedness to duty. Steadfast and still, nor paid with mortal praise.
But finding amplest recompense For life's ungarlanded expense In work done squarely and unwasted days.
—James Russell Lowell.

GOOD THINGS FOR ALL THE FAMILY.

ONE of the first essentials to a good meal is good bread of some kind. The following recipe will be found all right:

White Oatmeal Bread.

Four two cupfuls of scalded milk. Pour one cupful of rolled oats. Milk and water may be used if all milk is not economy; add a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of shortening and when lukewarm add one-third or more of a compressed yeast cake, softened with half a cupful of water. Add wheat flour to make a dough to knead and knead from five to ten minutes. Return to the mixing bowl, cover and let rise until double its bulk. Shape for two-pound loaf bread pans. When light, bake one hour. This recipe requires about five cupfuls of flour.

Lemon Honey Cakes.

Heat one cupful of honey to the boiling point; add two and one-half tablespoonfuls of shortening and let cool. When cold stir in one and one-third cupfuls of flour and set aside over night. When ready to bake add the grated rind of a lemon, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one-third of a cupful of finely chopped blanched almonds, one-third of a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one tablespoonful of water. Beat all together thoroughly. Bake in small round cup cake pans for 20 minutes.

Molded Rice Pudding.

Cook one-half cupful of rice in one cupful of boiling water, to which half a teaspoonful of salt has been added. When the water is absorbed add one cupful of milk and one-half cupful of raisins, one-quarter of a cupful of sugar, and cook until the rice is tender, adding more milk if needed. Fold in the beaten white of an egg and turn into a mold. Serve cold with a sauce made from one pint of milk, one teaspoonful of cornstarch, one-third of a cupful of sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt and the beaten yolk of an egg; cook the cornstarch in the milk 15 minutes before adding the egg yolk. Use the sauce when cold. Garnish with a few raisins cooked until plump in boiling water. Flavor with vanilla. A chocolate sauce is liked by some for a rice pudding and may be served either hot or cold.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"CAUCUS"

THIS thoroughly American word, meaning a secret conference or meeting of the leaders of a political party, is frequently encountered in reports of the activities of congress or in connection with the work carried on during the time which immediately precedes presidential elections. Moreover, "caucus" owes its origin to one of the earliest of American politicians, Henry Adams, who was very prominent in colonial political circles during the early part of the Eighteenth century.

Being desirous of controlling certain offices and of securing the appointment of men who were friendly to his interests, Adams organized a club composed for the most part of sea captains, shipwrights and other persons connected with mercantile interests. Partly to conceal the real nature of the club and partly because of the nautical atmosphere which surrounded it, the organization was known as the "Caulkers' club." Before long, rumors of its activities began to seep out and, when favorable appointments were named, people commenced to say, "That was settled by the Caulkers." As time passed the name of the club took on a more phonetic spelling and the new word, "caucus" was coined.

GENEROUS FARM PRODUCTS' PREMIUMS AT STATE FAIR

With a more generous premium list offered than ever before, it is confidently expected that the display of Michigan-grown farm products at the state fair in Detroit, Sept. 2-11, will outrank any ever seen at the state fair before. Last year there was no display by Michigan farmers, the entire space being given over to the Michigan Agricultural College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the design being to aid in increasing farm production at a time when the world held food to be its most vital problem.

Clarke L. Brody, of the Michigan State Farm Bureau, Lansing, will be the state board member personally in charge of the farm products department. He announces that in addition to the general display of products there will be a special display in the wool department, including blankets and suitings made from Michigan wool. This exhibit will hold both an educational and a commercial interest for Michigan farmers.

There are no entry fees for farm products exhibits. Entries will close August 20 and exhibits must be fully placed by 8 a. m. Sept. 2, the day of the opening of the fair. Competition is open to Michigan only. Products compete in one class only and no exhibitor will be awarded more than one premium in the same class. Competitors all will be allowed the same space.

There will be special county contests for farm displays, with $2,000 in prizes for the county making the best display of general farm products excepting livestock, fruit and flowers. There also will be $1,000 in prizes for the best county display of Michigan grains and potatoes.

The Michigan Agricultural College in the east half of the agricultural building, will present a complete display of material helpful to the farm interests of the state. This display, including exhibits by 16 college departments, will be of special value to the farmer, his wife and children. The M. A. C. also will show horses, dairy and beef cattle and poultry in those departments. Those in charge of the college displays will gladly give advice and help solve problems of farm visitors.

The Michigan State Fair opens at Detroit this year Friday, September 2 at 8 a. m. and continues for ten days and nights, concluding the evening of Sunday, September 11.

The Michigan State Fair now ranks as the biggest and best fair in all America. Its next exhibition in Detroit will be from September 2-11.

The state fair is a wonderful educator. You can learn something by seeing what it shows in Detroit, September 2-11.

STATE FAIR FOSTERING BEE-KEEPING INDUSTRY

The bee-keeping industry is one of the growing lines of business in Michigan, more and more interest being taken in it annually by farmers and others. There are many more bees in Michigan at present than most people imagine. The state fair, which will have a splendid apriary display next Sept. 2-11, has done much to foster this industry and is adding in every possible way to increase it. E. B. Tyrrell, of Detroit, former secretary of the National Bee Keepers' Association, will be superintendent of the apriary division and will show all visitors to the fair how an expert handles bees. Mr. Tyrrell has one swarm of bees already that he took off the office wall adjoining the state fair offices in down-town Detroit late in May. It has been making honey at the fair grounds ever since.

ONLY TUBERCULIN-FREE CATTLE AT STATE FAIR

All cattle presented for exhibition at the Michigan state fair in Detroit, September 2-11, must either be from a tuberculin-free accredited herd, or shall have passed a satisfactory tuberculin test and found to be free from tuberculosis not more than ninety days prior to the opening date of the fair.

This is an official ruling and applies also to all fairs held in Michigan. The cattle exhibit at the state fair will be in personal charge of H. W. Norton, Jr., state livestock sanitary commissioner, and successor in that position of H. H. Halladay, state commissioner of agriculture and chairman of the board of managers of the state fair.

WILL DEMONSTRATE DAIRY COWS AT THE STATE FAIR

Dairy cow demonstrations will form a daily feature in the dairying department at the state fair in Detroit, September 2-11. They will be conducted by the state dairy bureau and include cow tests as to milk production, quality of milk, amount of butter fats and comparisons of results obtained from different methods of caring for dairy cows. These demonstrations will afford visitors an opportunity to learn the best methods in milk production as developed by experts.

By C. N. Lurie
Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

TO "RAISE" CHILDREN.

GRAMMARIANS generally are agreed that it is not correct to apply the term "raise" to the rearing or education or bringing up of children. The verb "raise" is applied with propriety only to crops or cattle, never to human beings. "She raised a family of eight children," says a charity report; it should have said, "She reared" or "she brought up." The Standard dictionary ridicules the expression, attributed to a Southern county, "She raised thirteen head of children."

The term "brought up" is the more modern of the two; the term "reared" is older. The misuse of the term "raised" is a colloquialism that is common in some of the Southern and Western states. Some authorities criticize the use of the verb "grow" in connection with crops, asserting that we should not say, "We grow wheat on our farm," but should say, "We raise wheat."

Harvest Moon.

Sir John Frederick William Herschel, the great English physicist and astronomer, said that the full moon which happens on or nearest to the 21st of September is called the harvest moon. At or about the time of harvest in the north temperate zone, the sun in its usual course is approaching the celestial equator, which it crosses from north to south on September 22. On that date it sets close to the western point of the horizon. If it happens to be then also full moon, the moon rises that evening as the sun sets, and it at its rising opposite the sun, or close to the exact eastern point of the horizon. Thus it begins to give light at sunset and continues to do so until sunrise, when it sets opposite the sun, just as the latter rises. This arrangement holds good without any great change for several days, so that there is practically no darkness, especially if the weather is fine. The full moon which thus illuminates the autumn nights is called the harvest moon.

More Power, Less Weight = Economy!

HERE is the most economical tractor—the one that furnishes the greatest traction power with the lightest tractor weight and smallest fuel consumption. It pulls three 14" plows, turns an acre an hour, and is light enough to work on plowed ground without packing it down.

It uses little more fuel than many two plow tractors—does half more work in the same time and saves labor cost; does half more work every mile it travels and saves maintenance, repairs and depreciation.

Just as the three-horse team is the right animal unit for heavy work on farms of all sizes, the Huber Light Four is the right power unit.

It plows, harrows, pulls the binder, hay loader and manure spreader economically and will run the small thresher, silo filler, hay baler, etc. So simple that a woman or boy can operate.

Makes better crops possible by getting work done at the right time. Often pays for itself in a single season.

Let us show you the Huber and tell you what it will do for you.

Mrs. Emma Pierson was very pleasantly surprised Sunday, when two auto loads from Sherman came to help her celebrate her 35th birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Graff of Tawas City also came to help celebrate the day. The crowd brought plenty of ice cream and cake with them and all had a good time.
The friends of Miss Olga Rhode were much surprised last Saturday at her marriage to Mr. Andrew Sanburn of Lachine. The bride is well known here and has many friends who unite in wishing them a long and happy wedded life. Mr. and Mrs. Sanburn left Monday for Lachine, where they will make their home.

When Furniture is Dented

For a dent in furniture, first of all wet the part with warm water. Double a piece of brown paper six thicknesses, soak in warm water and lay it over the dent. Then apply a hot flatiron until the moisture has quite evaporated. If the dent has not gone, repeat the process until the dent is raised level with the surface.

CITY WAITS TO BE CLOTHED

Jerusalem Far From Being Restored to the Glory That Has Been Promised Her.
The view of Jerusalem as one leaves the Garden of Gethsemane draws the heart with sympathy. The walls rise severely above bare slopes where nothing grows, for it is outside of the city proper that Biblical prophecies of the desolation of Jerusalem seem to be fulfilled.
Today the city stands midway between the horrors of the Turkish regime and the promised good of the British mandatory rule. Nothing has been done as yet in a public way to beautify the city. North and west the houses straggle outside the walls; on the south forbidding slopes border the road to Bethlehem, and on the east lies the terrible Valley of Jehoshaphat—a valley of dry bones, William D. McCracken writes in Asia Magazine.
Seventeen times destroyed—bitterly hated, anxiously sought—how desperate a history since Nebuchadnezzar captured it more than 25 centuries ago!
Redeemed today, but in her nakedness, Jerusalem waits to be clothed. She has as yet no grace; no covering for her ugly wounds. Some day her sides will glisten with the brightness of a heavenly radiance; she will be washed and anointed like a bride waiting for the bridegroom.

NOT REALLY A DEFORMITY

Young Housewife Had Something to Learn Concerning the Physical Structure of a Duck.

They dined out the other evening with some friends, where roast duck was the principal dish. Husband seemed to enjoy it so much that the little bride decided to surprise him with a similar treat at their next day's dinner, although she had never cooked one in her life.
The next morning when the duck arrived she proceeded to finish the cleaning, when suddenly she stopped and going to the telephone, she called up the butcher and told him she wanted some one to come after that duck right away, as she would not keep it.
"Why?" asked the butcher.
"Because it is deformed," she replied, "and I could not eat a single mouthful."
"But," said the perplexed man, "I personally cleaned that duck, and I thought at the time I had never seen a finer one. Just where is it deformed?"
"Why," she said, "on its windpipe is a hard growth that looks just like a shell."
As soon as the choking butcher could control his voice he called back: "Heavens, woman, that is the thing it quacks with."

Novel Solution.

A lot of mystery still clings to the Chinese in New York, despite metropolitan influences. Often the whole personnel of a Chinese restaurant or laundry will change overnight, and you can't find out why or where the others vanished to. It may be they gamble for them.

Not long ago a man who had been patronizing a Chinese laundry so long they didn't give him a check for his wash called for his shirts and collars and found one of those strange overnight changes had taken place. No one knew him, and his check was demanded. He raved and argued in that exasperatingly futile way so well known to one who has tried to talk to a Chinaman.
Finally he had an inspiration, took off his collar and showed the Chinaman the laundry mark in their own hieroglyphics. He got his bundle.

How Children Help.

American school children, through the agency of the Junior Red Cross, are making possible the teaching of trades to the children of Albania. The first vocational training school in that country is located at Tirana. It was established by representatives of the Junior Red Cross of America and is being maintained by that organization. In addition to providing machinery and equipment for this school, the Junior Red Cross is supplying books, maps, globes, pencils and all sorts of school supplies to the public schools, which were stripped of all equipment during the war. Particularly entertaining and instructive to the Albanian children are the colored pictures sent overseas by the American children.

Diversity of Immigrants.

The immigrants passing through Ellis island last year represented 53 different nations, according to a recent statement on the social work of the island. Some of the difficulties of the 15 social workers who meet these people can be imagined, even though each worker speaks several languages herself. The social work of the island is directed by Col. Helen Bastedo of the Department of Labor in Washington, and one of her assistants is a member of the staff of the foreign-born division of the national board, Y. W. C. A., a Czecho-Slovak by birth, and a social worker with experience in both Europe and America.

Supply and Demand.

"Were things very high at the summer resort where you spent your vacation?"
"Yes, very high for everything except fishing worms. A native let me have all the worms I could find for spading up half of his garden."—Hous-ton Post.

MILLS STATION AND LOCALITY

Sensible Mr. Dubwaite.

"Did you ever come in unexpectedly and find your office boy reclining in your easy chair, with his feet propped up on your desk?" "Oh, yes," replied Mr. Dubwaite. "And what did you do?" "I registered a mental vow that I would quit setting him a bad example."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"Poor Whites" of Porto Rico.

Nor was servitude confined to Africans. Spain long used Porto Rico as a penal colony, and when public works no longer required them the convicts were turned loose to shift for themselves. Most of them took to the mountains, where the "poor white" population is numerous to this day. Yet the later generations are no more criminal than the Australians; if there is much petty thieving, it is natural in a hungry, overcrowded community.

Bull-Dog Drummond

By CYRIL MCNEILE

Author of "The Human Touch," "Michael Cassidy, Sergeant," etc.

A thoroughly exciting tale and a charming love story in which are delineated the remarkable adventures of "Bull-Dog Drummond" against a band of international criminals as sinister as any the world of fiction or actuality ever has produced. They mold everything to their purposes even utilizing Bolshevism and the discontent of the poor. Police and secret service agents are powerless against the genius of the arch criminal.

"Bull-Dog Drummond" who earned his title in the war, is thrown quite by accident into contact with the gang. His cool courage and resourcefulness developed in night raids and going "over the top" at the front, give him extraordinary daring—but to tell you more would spoil the story.

"Oh Boy! Ain't this the life!!"

I LIKE my job.
BUT DAYS do come.
WHEN SKIES are blue.
ABOVE THE city smoke.
AND BREEZES stir.
THE PAPERS on my desk.
AND THEN I think.
WHAT I would do.
IF I were boss.
I'D OPEN shop.
AT TWELVE o'clock.
AND CLOSE at one.
WITH ONE hour off.
FOR LUNCH, and I.
WOULD GET old Sam.
TO RUN me out.
IN HIS big six.
AND DROP me off.
UNDER A greenwood tree.
BESIDE A babbling brook.
AND THERE I'd lie.

AND EVERY once.
IN A while.
ROLL OVER.
OR MAYBE sit and think.
BUT MOST likely.
JUST SIT.
AND EVERY once.
IN A while I'd light.
ONE OF my Chesterfields.
AND OH BOY.
I GUESS that wouldn't.
SATISFY!

COMPANIONSHIP? Say, there never was such a cigarette as Chesterfield for steady company! Just as mild and smooth as tobacco can be—but with a mellow "body" that satisfies even cigar smokers. On lazy days or busy ones—all the time—you want this "satisfy-smoke."
