LEGEND IN NEW CLOTHING

Story of Samson and Delilah as it Might Have Been, but Undoubtedly Was Not.

"Now, Sammy," began Delilah, coaxingly, as she advanced toward him with her hands behind her holding a pair of scissors. "Just look up that tree—see the little birdie?"

And she coquettishly displayed the gold fillings in her five front teeth. Samson could never refuse Delilah anything when she flashed all that gold on him.

Delilah gently took hold of a lock of Samson's hair with her left hand, but before she could snip it off with her right, there was a thunderous knock on the door.

"Twas a man on horseback. 'Away! Away!' cried his ancient Paul Revere. 'The flood is coming down Mount Dingus. Flee thee hence!'"

"Oh, Sammy!" wailed Delilah, dropping the scissors. "And I just paid off the mortgage on the house this very week. Now all that money is wasted. Oh, Sammy!"

Samson thought hard for a moment. Then Delilah flashed her teeth once more.

"Up! Go up in the attic!" commanded Samson. Then he planted a kiss on Delilah's eyebrow and she flew.

Samson dashed out the door and lifted up the house in both hands and tied the doghouse around his neck.

And thus stood he, with Delilah high and dry, while the flood rushed down Mount Dingus and by.

"Gosh!" said Delilah to herself, after it was all over. "I'm glad I didn't cut his hair off before the flood."—Detroit Free Press.

FREEDOM MUST BE BOUGHT

And the Price to Be Paid is Complete Mastery of All Passions and Appetites.

Freedom is not a gift, but an attainment. It does not characterize the state of nature, but flowers from the growth of personality and civilization.

Action issues from character and there is inner discord and the feeling of restraint until the individual is happy and satisfied in his act and attitude.

A divided will marks incomplete personality, and it is not a free will. Every man must win his own freedom. He must desire it enough to pay its price, and its price is the mastery of passions and appetites.

As a man gains mastery over his own powers and desires he is free. Resolutions are good, because they witness to the sense of incomplete self-mastery and to the vision of greater self-control and freedom that are possible.—Minneapolis Journal.

Original Galoshes.

The fashionable galoshes that are now flapping about the ankles of pretty girls were first introduced in America about 1830 in Boston. The galoshes or boots were as ugly and clumsy as they are today, but were even more popular. They required peculiar care, as the manufacturers had little knowledge of the use of rubber gum. In winter they froze hard and stiff, and had to be thawed out before they could be worn, and care had to be taken not to thaw them too well, or they would run into a sticky mass. In the summer they got sticky and shapeless unless kept on ice and taken out during a rain-storm only. No one who was anyone thought his or her toilet complete without a pair. They had to be watched carefully, for once they started to rot the smell was terrible, and it was necessary to take them out and bury them.

Plan War on Hair Seals.

Hunting hair seals by airplane and destroying them by machine-gun fire has been seriously proposed to the Canadian fisheries department by fishermen, says a report from Vancouver, B. C. The scheme proposed and tried last spring of trapping the salmon-destroying hair seals at the mouth of the Fraser river by means of set lines and short laterals armed with strong hooks brought a measure of success, but was not entirely a victory over the wise mammalia of the ocean. The new proposal is to come down on them from the unsuspected heights, as they bask on the sandbars in thousands, and pour a stream of bullets into them.

Welding Optical Glass.

The improved method of welding optical glass worked out at the United States bureau of standards, gives perfect union with practically no distortion, and is adapted for many purposes, such as making glass cells and hollow prisms, joining lenses and closing glass tubes with accurately fitting flat ends. The shaped-glass object is heated in an electric furnace to the annealing point, when the application of a small blowpipe flame along the edges to be united produces a quick welding.

Unable to Choose National Tree.

American forests are so rich with infinite variety that President Wilson is unable to name a choice for a national tree, he wrote to the American Forestry association, which is compiling a national referendum as to what tree best represents America.

"Speaking for myself," said the President, "I find that I am quite unable to choose amongst the infinite variety and richness of American forests."

HUGE DEPARTMENT BACKS STATE FAIR

NEW DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE INCLUDES FULLY 40 STATE ACTIVITIES.

COMMISSIONER HALLADAY'S FORCE COVERS BIG FIELD

One of the principal and most far-reaching reorganizations of state departments and bureaus accomplished by the last legislature was that which resulted in the creation of the state department of agriculture. This new department includes the Michigan State Fair, the commissioner of agriculture being, ex-officio, chairman of the board of managers of the fair.

The new alignment means that the State Fair now will have the complete backing and active aid of all the varied officials and bureaus that come under the department of agriculture. To realize the importance of that backing and aid, and what it will mean in the continued development of Michigan's great state fair, already ranked as the best in all America, one has but to view the ramifications of this new department of agriculture. The coming fair in Detroit, September 2-11 will be the first to feel the benefits of the arrangement.

The state department of agriculture now consists of a general department, with four main bureaus, or sub-divisions. Included in these are fully forty various activities.

Heading the department is the commissioner of agriculture; H. H. Halladay, former Commissioner of Animal Industry, having the honor of being the first commissioner. Working directly with him is his private secretary and his deputy commissioner, with a chief clerk in charge of general office work, bookkeeping, filing, stenographic work, etc.

The commissioner and deputy commissioner have general charge over the four bureaus into which the department is sub-divided. These are the bureaus of agricultural development, foods and drugs, animal industry and dairying. Each of these bureaus has its own director.

The director of agricultural development has under his charge all matters affecting immigration to Michigan; settlement of lands; state and county fairs; preparation and dissemination of agricultural statistics; land problems of all sorts; drainage throughout the state; orchard and nursery inspection; and apiary inspection.

The director of the food and drug bureau has charge of food inspection; drug inspection; weights and measures; fertilizer inspection; feeding stuffs inspection; insecticides and fungicides inspection; and seed inspection. Also, through the chemical laboratory attached to his bureau, with an expert chief chemist in control, all chemical and bacteriological analyses are made for the entire department of agriculture.

The director of the bureau of animal industry has charge of state farms and herds and of appraisals; and other business matters connected with the Bureau; the veterinary division, which includes a chief veterinarian and assistant who look after all veterinary activities, act as the chairman of the board of veterinarians and as the stallion board, meat slaughter house and meat inspections and co-operate generally with the federal bureau along these lines.

The director of the bureau of dairying has charge of all market milk inspection; creamery and cheese factory inspection; condensed and powdered milk factory inspection; and ice cream plant inspection.

As a whole, it is anticipated that the co-ordination of all these lines in one department will mean far more efficient endeavor and concrete results. The state fair will be the mirror in which will be reflected the activities and the accomplishments of the entire department.

WILD LIFE EXPOSITION AT COMING STATE FAIR

Under the supervision of the state department of conservation, John Baird, director, a complete wild life exposition will be put on at the state fair in Detroit September 2 to 11. Ground space has been set apart for this splendid feature, which will be of interest to every nature lover, sportsman and fisherman who visits the fair.

Wild animals native to Michigan will be shown in places set aside for each variety, the specimens being brought to the fair grounds from the state game preserves. They will include deer, bear, foxes, wolves and many varieties of smaller animals.

Fish native to Michigan waters also will be shown in a big aquarium and will be especially interesting to those who have never had the opportunity to see more than a few of the many varieties of fish that swim the lakes and rivers of the state.

Like the other exhibits at this year's fair the educational possibilities of this wild life exposition will be utilized and the visitors to the fair will have the chance to learn from experts how the animals of the state live when they are free to roam the woods and fields.

Mother's Cook Book

Make yourselves nests of pleasant thoughts, bright fancies, satisfied memories, noble histories, faithful sayings, treasure houses of precious and restful thoughts, which care cannot disturb, pain not make gloomy, nor poverty take away from us—houses built without hands, for our souls to live in.—John Ruskin.

SIMPLE DESSERTS.

CUSTARDS, in various forms and flavors, rice, tapioca, gelatin and fruits are all good desserts for the little people. Fruits are stimulating; milk, eggs, and such combinations are nourishing, and these simple foods, when served in variety, will never become monotonous.

Apricot Charlotte.

Wash one-fourth pound of dried apricots, cover with cold water and soak over night. Cook in the same water until soft, then rub through a sieve. Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in one-third of a cupful of cold water, add one-third of a cupful of boiling water, the juice of a lemon, one cupful of sugar and the strained apricot. Cool, and when the jelly begins to thicken, beat until light, then add the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and continue beating until the mixture holds its shape. Chill and serve with whipped cream.

Mock Sherbet.

Cook one-half cupful of minute tapioca, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one cupful of sugar and two cupfuls of boiling water, together until clear, using a double boiler. Add the juice of two lemons about five minutes before taking from the fire, also the yellow rind of one lemon. Pour the mixture on a platter which has been dipped in cold water. As soon as the edges begin to jelly add two egg whites beaten stiff. Beat until light and foamy. Serve very cold in sherbet cups with whipped cream on top.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"BOLSHEVIKI."

LIFTED bodily from the Russian where the term means the left or radical wing of the political party as opposed to the "menseviki" or conservative element, "Bolsheviki" has been imported into America together with many of the false and unsound doctrines to which its members subscribe.

Originally the term was analogous to and had no more sinister meaning than "radical," as used in connection with British politics. A Bolshevik was one who opposed the conservatives—not necessarily an advocate of arson and bloodshed, but a person who believed in a progressive policy instead of following a reactionary course. Until the overthrow of the Romanoff dynasty, the Bolshevik did not number anarchists and nihilists in their ranks. These disturbers of the peace were kept under close surveillance by the police and were given no opportunity to ally themselves with any political organization. During the chaos which followed the death of the czar, the extremely radical element came into control and the name Bolshevik fell into disrepute—becoming synonymous with "red," the red flag having been from time immemorial the symbol of lawlessness and disorder. FOUND UNDER A TREE

NO ONE ever knew how it came there, but after it was all over, Mr. Fox, who visited the farms often than any of the others, thought that some one had a picnic in the woods and left it under the tree.

It was a box, not a very large one, but large enough to attract Mr. Fox as he walked through the woods one day under the bushes and back of the trees.

He, being a very wise and cautious fellow, did not touch it, but ran over to Billy Possum's house to tell him about it, and Billy, being very curious, ran with Mr. Fox to where the box was under the tree.

But after looking at it a while Billy Possum decided that Tim Coon was the boy who should be given a chance to investigate; that is, to poke the box with his nose or paw and see what would happen.

So over they went to Tim's house and told him about their discovery. "We did not want to be selfish," said Mr. Fox, "so we came for you to share in the fun of seeing what is in it."

Tim was very much flattered when he heard this and off he went to see the mysterious box.

Mr. Fox, Tim Coon and Billy Possum all sat still and looked. Not one of them wished to touch it, although from all sides there seemed to be nothing that looked like a trap.

"What are you all looking at?" asked Jack Blackbird, looking down from the tree overhead, and when he saw the box he flew down in a hurry to look it over.

"Poof," he said, with a toss of his saucy head, "it won't hurt you," and he gave it a poke which turned the box over and there on one side Jack saw a little hook which held the cover.

All three animals moved back a little as Jack pecked at the hook with his bill and they looked on with wide open eyes.

"Peck, peck, peck," went Jack Blackbird, and then the hook slipped back and off flew the cover and up jumped a hooked nose little fellow who had on a pointed cap and carried a stick in one hand.

The funny little fellow jumped so hard that his spring gave way and up he went with a bound into the lower branch of the tree, where he caught on a twig by the back of his red coat.

All the animals ran to a place of safety and Jack Blackbird flew to a nearby bush to see what had happened.

Mrs. Bluejay soon told them, for she lived in that tree and her peep had been disturbed by what had happened.

"I should like to know," she said in an angry tone, "if you fellows haven't anything better to do than play with toys and scare a body nearly out of their senses."

"Here you have sent this creature up here in my tree and my children will never learn to fly while it is here, it will frighten them so, and I suppose I will have to remove it. I will pick out your eyes if I catch any of you around here again."

Then down to the lower limb flew angry Mrs. Bluejay, and, giving the little creature with a crooked nose a vicious peck, down he fell right on his face, while all the animals, as well as Jack Bluejay, went home as fast as they could.

"I am sure it was a toy left there by some children," said Mr. Fox that night when they were talking it over; "but you never can tell and it pays to be careful, I find."

SALMON HAD TRAVELED FAR

Fish "Tagged" at Point Partridge, Washington, in 1918, Taken in Waters 600 Miles Distant.

The Canadian department of marine and fisheries has notified the bureau of fisheries of the United States Department of Commerce of the capture in the Skeena river, British Columbia, in the spring of 1920, of a chinook salmon bearing an aluminum button or tag with the letters "B. F." stamped on one side and the number "1911" on the other. An examination of the bureau's records shows that the tag in question, one of a special series employed in connection with an investigation of the rate and route of migration of the sockeye salmon in the Fraser river-Puget sound region, was attached to a fish at Point Partridge, Whitley island, Wash., on August 13, 1918. It is now evident that the fish was a chinook salmon tagged by mistake.

The fact that a chinook salmon should be caught in a shore trap far from the sea two years after the fish attained the spawning condition is interesting and suggestive, and the wanderings of this fish before and after tagging would be a fascinating theme for speculation. The distance between the two points at which it came under observation is about 600 miles by the most direct water route.

At Four-Forty.

Theater orchestras throughout the country have fixed on a tone standard for general use in all theaters. The A is toned to 440 vibrations a second. Louis Ruth, manager of B. F. Keith's orchestra, called up a local piano tuner and asked him to go to Keith's to tune the piano.

"I wish you would give it immediate attention," Ruth told the piano man. "Tune it at four-forty."

A day passed and the piano in the Keith pit remained untuned. Ruth called up the man who took the job.

"You haven't touched our piano," Ruth said a bit indignantly.

"Well, I was over there at 20 minutes to five yesterday afternoon and couldn't get in," was the excuse.

And then Ruth explained what he meant by four-forty.—Indianapolis

Bells Heard Eight Miles

The oral law of the Jews, consisting of many traditions touching the Mosaic law, tells that the ancient Hebrews employed large bells, which were called Mezeruphita. These were used on different occasions by the multitude of temple officers and caused frequently such a noise in the streets of Jerusalem that it was hard to catch the words of a speaker. Their purpose was three-fold: To call the priests for service, to summon the Levites to come and sing, and to apprise persons generally that the mclean might be brought to the gate named Nicanor.

Annie Laurie.

Annie Laurie was the oldest of the three daughters of Sir Robert Laurie of Maxwellton, in the county of Kirkcudbright, Scotland. In 1709 she married James Ferguson, of Craigharroch, and she was the mother of Alexander Ferguson, the hero of Burns' song, "The Whistle." The song of "Annie Laurie" was written by William Douglas of Finland, in the stewardry of Kirkcudbright, hero of the song "Willie Was a Wanton Wag."

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

A serious accident occurred here on Tuesday night about 10:30 after the close of a revival meeting held at the township hall. Mrs. Will Lorenzen and Mrs. A. W. Thomas started on foot for their homes and while walking together near the hall on the main road, young Kenneth Figley started for home on horseback on a full gallop. He ran into the two ladies, knocking Mrs. Lorenzen into the ditch and breaking her shoulder blade and otherwise bruising her. Mrs. Thomas was knocked unconscious. They were at once taken back to the hall, where help was given them. Dr. Stealy of East Tawas was called and upon examination found that Mrs. Lorenzen had to be taken to her home and put under chloroform while the shoulder was set as well as possible. She was taken to Bay City on the morning train. Mr. Lorenzen was at Lansing at the time, but was sent for and arrived in a short time.

TALK ABOUT dime novels. THEY SENT Jim down. TO TEXAS to investigate. SOME OIL wells there. WHICH THEY might buy. IF JIM said O.K. AND HE was to report. BY WIRE in secret code. NOW—ENTER the villain. A SLIPPERY crook. GOT WIND of it. AND TRAILED Jim down. COPIED OFF his code. AND BRIBED a boah. IN THE telegraph branch. SO THE crook could get. THE EARLIEST word. AND CORNER stock. AND WORK a hold-up. IF LOOKED like easy cash. BUT JIM got wise. AND THREW away his code. AND WHEN he sent. THE FINAL dose. HE FOILED the villain. THE MESSAGE just said. "CHESTERFIELD." AND HIS directors knew. THAT ALL was well. WITH THOSE oil wells. FOR OIL men know. THAT "CHESTERFIELD" means. "THEY SATISFY."

YOU'LL know you've "struck it rich" when you discover Chesterfields. You'll say "they satisfy." A wonderful blend—the pick of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos—put together in the Chesterfield way—that's why "they satisfy." And the Chesterfield blend can not be copied!

Firestone
30x3 1/2 STANDARD NON-SKID

The Fastest Selling Tire In America

The increasing popular demand for the Firestone Standard 30x3 1/2 inch tire over a period of years has given us big volume. Our Plant No. 2 devoted wholly to this size tire with a capacity of 16,000 tires and 20,000 tubes per day cuts costs on every operation. On May 2, we dropped our price to $13.95 passing on to the car owner the full benefits of this big sales volume and this labor-saving plant. This tire has been our standard for years—four plies long staple fabric—extra gum between plies—heavy non-skid tread. The greatest value ever offered car owners. Insist on Firestone.

Our Cord Tire Values

Firestone Cord tires are made exclusively in Plant No. 1. Our process of double gum-dipping each ply of cord gives thicker insulation. The massive non-skid tread, with extra thickness where wear is most severe, gives real effectiveness in holding the car against slipping and adds many extra miles of service.

Firestone Cord tires are sold at the lowest prices in cord tire history: 30x3 1/2, $24.50; 32x4, $46.30; 34x4 1/2, $54.90.
