PROF. KAHN TO OPEN DANCING CLASSES AT EAST TAWAS

Prof. Kahn, director of modern ball room dancing at the Auditorium, Saginaw, was in the city Monday and Tuesday of this week making arrangements for the opening of a branch school in the latest dances at the Community building, East Tawas, on Monday evening, Jan. 9th. Prof. Kahn consulted quite a number of people in regard to the classes, and was very much pleased with the enthusiasm shown. "The popularity of the new social dances seems to be greater than ever," he said. "as many of the older personages have been seen tripping the 'light fantastic' of late; which goes to show that dancing has no age limit." He commended very highly the different married people's dancing clubs which are being organized in the different communities of the United States, and hopes that one may be started here, as they have done a lot to elevate the standard of dancing. adv

REVIEW OF 1921 IN THIS ISSUE OF THE HERALD

The year 1921 will go down in history as a period during which many events of 'world-wide interest transpired. Readers of the Herald will appreciate the opportunity afforded them in this issue to refresh their memories by reading the Review of 1921, appearing on another page.

It is the story of 1921, a flowing narrative, written by Edward W. Pickard, a recognized authority on the age-old subjects of men, countries and governments.

BISHOP URGES APPEAL AMONG CATHOLICS

In a letter to the state director of Near East Relief of North Dakota, Right Reverend James O'Reilly, Bishop of Fargo, says: "My Dear Mr. Shuder: You have my permission to ask the Catholic clergy and the Catholic schools to receive offerings for Near East Relief. I believe the tragedy now taking place among those unfortunate peoples for whom you appeal in the name of humanity is one of the saddest ever enacted in the history of the whole world. I only wish that I could afford to make the enclosed check much larger, but small as it is it expresses my feelings."

The check which Bishop O'Reilly offers an apology for is for fifty dollars. If every person in the United States would feel the responsibility towards the starving children of the land of Christ as this fine Catholic leader has done, the hundreds of thousands of children in the Near East could all be brought to healthy, self-supporting manhood and womanhood.

The Storm Centers

A New Year's Promise
Miriam Lee

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

NORMAN HARDY was born on New Year's day, and deemed the fact a decided misfortune. There was one feature in which his father specialized -- system -- and this involved discipline. "A strict disciplinarian," he would boast to his neighbors. "That's me," and he looked it and acted it out until Norman fancied he had been placed in the world simply to become the butt and victim of rigid rules.

When Norman's tenth birthday was only eight hours distant, his father gave the order, sternly spoken: "You will be in the house for the night at seven o'clock," and Norman moped in a martyrlike way, envying his boy friends who had mapped out a joyous New Year's eve program of skating, hill sliding, and like boyish pranks. He wondered what was coming, but his father simply viewed him speculatively and sent him to bed at the usual time. He was awakened to find his father roughly pulling at his arm.

"Get up, Norman, and come down to the kitchen," said Joel Hardy; "you needn't dress."

Norman arose, rubbed his eyes, and followed his father downstairs. There was a light on the table and beside it the house clock. Norman noticed that it told the time as ten minutes to twelve. All was still and solemn except its monotonous tick, and outside an occasional echo of shooting, announcing impatient celebrants already prepared to herald in the new year.

"My boy," spoke his father after a moment of ominous deliberation, "when I was a lad of ten, my father taught me a lesson that has left its impress on my whole life in a salutary way. Upon the tick of midnight just preceding my birthday he always called me down to the kitchen and gave me a good sound strapping. It hurt him more than it did me, he used to say, but the reminder would be ever present with me. Until I was twenty-one, regularly, upon each birthday the strap played its part and I think it did a good deal towards teaching me that I had a master and in making me a better man. I have concluded to adopt that feature with my system. You're a pretty good boy, but for fear you might kick over the traces I'm going to bulk the system until you are of age. Now, then, take your punishment like a man."

Joel Hardy produced a short, thick piece of tanned cowhide and Norman winced, but did not cry out during the unique castigation. It was five years later, and with the usual routine late in the afternoon Joel Hardy reminded Norman of the pending midnight event. His eyes bulged and his face betrayed overwhelming amazement as Norman stood up before him, a tall, well-knit stripling, almost menacing in his bearing as he said:

"Father, there will be no strapping

The New Year

WITH the whirling and drifting of snows Comes breathless the wild New Year; While bitter north wind blows, O'er the fields that lie stark and drear.

Yet hope is a light in her eyes As she looks from the heart of the storm, "Earth sleeps in her shroud," she cries, "But the life in her heart is warm."

"Death is but a dream of the night And the hymn of joy is begun, For slowly seeking the light The great globe turns to the sun."

"Behold, I will bring delight In place of darkness and cold; Safe under the meadows so white Is hiding the buttercup gold."

"And summer's splendor shall reign In place of the winter's dearth, Her color and music again Shall gladden the patient earth."

Hark to the New Year's Voice Through the murk of winter drear! Oh, children of men, rejoice! At the tidings of hope and cheer. —Celia Thaxter.

this time. I'm through with it. Half the town has heard of it, and the boys taunt me and the girls twit me. Not that I care for any of them except Milly Daniels, and she's true blue and stands by me, and I won't have her humbled and shamed. I'm going to spend this New Year's eve with the crowd, and I'll be home to breakfast."

"If you don't report here by ten o'clock I'll send the town marshal after you," pronounced his father, with fire in his eye.

Norman marched out of the house, hung around, downtown until eight o'clock, and then repaired to the agreed-on rendezvous of the crowd, an old buggy shed attached to a great barn owned by Farmer Logan. He felt uneasy, stubborn and nettled. Recently he had been dared by his companions to smoke a cigarette. He had met the dare and now, with two of them in his pocket, he lit one, and, in sheer rebellion against his father's system, was about to puff out his resentment when the signal cry of his comrades echoed forth. Carelessly throwing the lighted cigarette into a corner of the shed, he bounded out and for over an hour forgot all save the excitement of the moment. The unruly coterie rolled a giant snowball and let it slide down the hill leading to the town common; they got up into the town hall tower and rang its bell. In the midst of setting loose a drove of cattle from a live stock enclosure they were attracted by the dash and rush of the village fire cart, marking for a vivid, spreading glare.

"Why, it's Farmer Logan's place!" shouted a chorus of excited voices, and Norman Hardy's heart stood still. He recalled the cigarette and the littered woodshed. He stood dumb and scared. The flames completely engulfed the great frame barn. Norman slunk off alone by himself, oppressed with an appalling sense of guilt. His emotions were doubly intensified when he heard some one say:

"Logan thinks it was set ablaze. Arson. I pity the firebug if he's caught. It's straight 14 years in the penitentiary."

"It will ruin Logan, they say," spoke another. "The barn was stored with grain and machinery and the insurance ran out last week."

Norman was crushed with a sense of his culpability. He felt like flying from home, town and all the people he had ever known. He skulked behind a hedge as a group of girls came along. They were discussing the fire so excitedly that they paid no attention to a lone member of their group trailing on behind them. Norman noticed her, however. She was Milly Daniels. He startled her by stepping directly in her path.

"Just linger for a moment, will you, Milly?" he spoke under high agitation, "or I'll walk with you a bit. I'm in terrible trouble, and I'm going to leave town for good," and Norman recited the entire story of the evening.

"There's only one way out, don't you see it, Milly?" he said. "I don't dare to face Farmer Logan; I'm going away to make something of myself, and the day I have got the money to make it square with Mr. Logan I'm coming back. And Milly, dear, you have been my truest friend and have always stood by me. Will you try to think of me while I'm gone, will you—will you wait for me? For I shall never love anybody but you."

Five years went by. Not a word had been heard from the truant son. Joel Hardy had forbidden even the mention of his name in the home. Mrs. Hardy, half heartbroken, repined in silence. Milly Daniels became an orphan, and when Mrs. Hardy needed a nurse and then a companion, it came about that she found a permanent home with the mother of the man she loved.

She and Mrs. Hardy, with the tyrant father, all unaware of it, cherished a mutual memory of the absent youth and took comfort in watching and hoping for his return.

It was a few minutes after midnight, five years to a day since Norman Hardy had gone forth into the world to seek his fortune. Milly had pleaded to sit up and watch the old year out and the new year in. All three of the family, though in different ways, were thinking of the boy who had run away from home. The bells had just finished a resonant chime when the knob of the outside door turned. There stepped into the room a bronzed, stalwart young man, at a sight of whom Joel Hardy gasped incredulously, his wife uttered a joyous scream, and Milly stood breathless and fluttering.

"I waited till I was sure the final hour of discipline and the strap was past and gone," spoke Norman Hardy. "Mother," a warm embrace. "Father," and a sturdy hand reached out. "Milly," and the young girl swayed to and fro and would have fallen had not Norman caught her.

"I said I wouldn't come back till I could pay for the damage I did to good old Farmer Logan," continued Norman. "I've kept my word. I hear you are struggling with a two-thousand-dollar mortgage, father; I can pay it off and loan you as much more if you need it. Milly, dear, am I welcome? I have come to keep my promise true."

Joel Hardy left the room. He returned with the strap that had been so familiar to his son. Taking out his pocketknife, the old man proceeded to cut the strap to pieces and flung them into the blazing grate.

"You've cheated me out of several years, my son," he observed, "but I forgive you. It's enough to know that you are back home safe and sound this blessed New Year's day!"

MORTGAGE SALE
Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Marion Bohmer and Irma Bohmer, his wife, and Albert H. Bohmer, Jr., an unmarried man to Stella VanCamp, given that on Saturday, the 11th day dated the 5th day of April A. D. 1918, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Iosco and state of Michigan, on the 19th day of April A. D. 1918, in Liber 21 of Mortgages, on page 260, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of seven hundred seventy-nine dollars and ninety-five cents, and an attorney's fee of twenty-five dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof; Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby of February, A. D. 1922, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, I shall sell at Public Auction to the highest bidder, at the court house in the city of Tawas City (that being the place where the Circuit court for said county of Iosco is held) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with an attorney's fee of twenty-five dollars, as provided by law and as covenanted therein, the premises being, described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit: The south one-half (S½) of the southeast one-quarter (SE¼) of Sec. 7; and the north one-half (N½) of the northeast one-quarter (NE¼) of Sec. 18, Town 21 North of Range 6 East.

ACROSS the gardens of Life they go,
A strange, ill-mated pair;
By paths where naught but blossoms blow,
By paths neglected where gaunt weeds grow,
But hand in hand, through joy, through care,
Across the gardens of Life they go.

The one is old, and grim, and gray,
His eyes stare off, like one in dreams;
Across his breast his white locks stray;
The sands in his glass fall day by day;
Over his shoulder his scythe-blade gleams,
And he is old, and grim, and gray.

And one is young, and bright, and fair;
The golden curls about his head
Shine as a halo; his red lips dare
The birds in song; he knows no care,
Joy in his heart is never dead,—
He lives to love and he is fair.

Hoar-headed Time was never young,
And Love on earth can not grow old;
And yet, since first to that hand he clung—
Since first his tender song he sung,
Since first his love-tale he had told,
And to a dart his bow had strung—

Together, through ways of joy, of woe,
Though one is old and one is fair,
By paths where naught but blossoms blow,
By paths neglected where gaunt weeds grow,
Together, a strange, ill-mated pair,
Across the gardens of Life they go.

New Year's Ghost Party

HERE is a pleasant old superstition that jollity in a house during the first week of the New Year brings pleasure and happiness to that household during the entire year. There are many interesting ways of entertaining a New Year's party, but the favorite of all is the masked dance or party, and the most interesting way of having this sort of entertainment is to give a ghost party. The invitations read in this manner:

Our good old Father Time,
Has promised to convene
The shades of many notables
To meet you New Year's e'en.
We'll look for you, you know,
To help to make things go,
And incidentally to meet
Some ghosts you're sure to know.

There should be 20 or more guests, and after the invitations have gone out, the hostess has a little private chat with her guests over the telephone. She requests them to come dressed to represent some famous person now dead, pantomime, words, gestures and costume being used to carry out the impersonation.

Dressed in a misty black robe covered with stars cut from gold paper, the hostess will receive her guests in a room draped all in white. Sheets or cheesecloth can be used for this. No word is spoken until a little red imp distributes cards and pencils to the assembled guests. Then each in turn speaks some word or does some stunt to suit his or her character. The person guessing the greatest number correctly receives a pretty copy of the book, "Ghosts I Have Met."

Games, contests and dancing will follow, and the supper or refreshment table will be filled with things tempting enough to attract even the most ghostly appetite. The table decorations should correspond with the festivities of the season. A New Year's pie made of crepe paper over a deep pan is filled with dainty little favors for the guests or cards upon which some funny rhyme is written for each individual guest. Part of the entertainment for the evening may be the telling of fortunes, informing each guest of their fate for the coming year.

Whatever you do, don't let anyone shatter your faith in New Year's resolutions. They are the best things ever if you know how to handle them, and the most discouraging things if you don't.

Resolutions

Let's us girls form little clubs and boycott th' mop top hair cut.

Let's break up th' practice o' wearin' cloth top shoes with broken arches.

Let's all resolve t' spend our money at home.

Mothers, keep a closer surveillance on your daughters in 1922.—Abe Martin.

A. E. Greve returned Monday from a ten days visit in Detroit. James Munroe was up from Saginaw to spend Christmas at home. Mrs. D. D. Allen is spending six weeks visiting friends near Chicago. Albert Nunn of Ohio is spending his vacation with Hale and Tawas City friends. Miss Ida Scofield was home from Toledo for Christmas, returning on Monday. Miss Selma Curtis was home from Bay City for Christmas, returning Tuesday. Rex and Clayton Jennings are home from Ann Arbor for the Christmas vacation. Chauncey Livingston spent the Christmas holidays with relatives in Flint and Detroit. The proceeds of the Epworth League Christmas bazaar amounted to over one hundred dollars. Dr. and Mrs. Hull spent Christmas day with Mrs. Hull's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Karmell of Turner. Archie Ewing returned Monday from Chesaning. He is improving rapidly from his recent serious illness. Miss Alice Shattuck, who is a student at the Clary business college at Ypsilanti, is home for the holiday vacation. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graves entertained about 50 of the young people Monday evening to welcome the young people who are home for Christmas. A fine time was had. Mrs. Lewis Nunn was called to Toledo Tuesday by the death of her grandmother. She will visit her father for a few weeks before her return. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miles sold the Thompson farm last week to a Mr. Bussy of Flint. Mr. King of Flint is here acting as manager. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miles have returned to Flint. The Epworth League invites you to attend a musical program at the M. E. church Sunday, Jan. 1st, at 7:00 p. m. standard time. An interesting and varied program of both vocal and instrumental music is being prepared.

TOWNLINER TOPICS

Guy Halligan of Kalamazoo spent Christmas with his family here. We are glad to hear that Mrs. Reese is much better at this writing. Arthur Ulman was a business visitor in Flint the forepart of this week. John Eberle of Detroit came home to spend the holidays with his parents. Don't forget the M. E. church service Sunday, Jan. 1. Everybody welcome. Howard Freel spent Christmas in Alabaster with his uncle, Robert Webb and family. Louis Gauthier fell one day last week, sustaining a very painful sprain in his right wrist. All reported a fine time at the farewell party for Miss Erma Ulman, which was well attended. Miss Violet Ulman came home from Flint to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Tom Ulman. Mrs. Clarence Fowler and son, Junior, spent the holidays with her mother, Mrs. T. H. Winchell. The program at the school house was well attended, showing the people appreciated the teacher's work. Albert Marks of Wisconsin came home to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marks. Miss Bessie Loop, who has been visiting relatives at Freeland, returned to her home here last week. The party is known who took the big gate from the M. E. church yard. We hope you don't take the church. Miss Erma Ulman of Flint came home to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ulman. Mrs. John Fredrickson and daughter, Martha, left Saturday for Alpena to visit Mrs. F's daughter, Mrs. Joe Gonsler. Paul Rutterbush came home Saturday from the hospital in Bay City, where he had his leg removed. His son, Will accompanied him home. The district wishes to thank the party who left the box of oranges at the school house in Dist. No. 2, Tawas township. They were appreciated by one and all.

WILBER WARBLINGS

Mrs. Abbott is suffering with a felon on her thumb. Elmer Newberry of Jackson spent a few days with relatives and friends here. Barton Corner of Detroit is visiting relatives and friends here for a few days. Mrs. Byron Brooks of Twining is visiting for a time at the home of Fred Brooks. Miss Amy Abbott, who is teaching on the Townline, is home for the holiday vacation. Henry Herman is spending the holidays with his father, John Herman, sr. and other relatives. Wm. Holmes and family of Baldwin spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Goings and family. Henry Herman motored up from Detroit and is spending the week with his relatives here. George Kirkendall and daughters, Hazel and Leona, of East Tawas were visitors here last Monday. Miss Pearl Newberry, who teaches school near Prescott, is spending her vacation at her home here. Jeannette Brooks, who is attending high school at East Tawas, is spending the vacation at her home here. Miss Laura Searle, who teaches school in Flint, is spending the holiday vacation at her home here. Guy Powell, who has been employed in Detroit for the past two months, returned home Christmas morning. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brooks and family spent Christmas in Tawas City with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schrieber. Mr. and Mrs. John Bulley, jr. of Flint are visiting at the home of Mr. B's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bulley, sr. Mr. and Mrs. Erving Styles of Detroit came last Saturday and will visit for a time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Styles. Miss Fanny Goings, who is employed in Toledo, Ohio, is spending a time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Goings. Miss Ida Lilyquist, accompanied by her friend, Mr. Olson, who has been visiting here, left last Friday evening for Detroit, where they were united in marriage. From there they intended going to Indiana to visit Mr. Olson's folks, then coming back here, where Mrs. O. will resume her duties as teacher in one of the schools here.

RENO RUMBLINGS

Happy New Year. Rolandis Harsch returned to Flint Tuesday. We are having winter weather in good earnest. Mr. Burtless spent the first of the week at the ranch. Best wishes for a healthy and prosperous New Year 1922. A. M. Welsh shipped his sheep out on Thursday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Webster served Christmas dinner to 31 relatives. Miss Myrtle Armstrong is spending the holidays at the parental home. Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCrum were at Tawas on business last Wednesday. Mr. Green and daughter, Pearl, went to Flint last Monday for a few days' visit. Louis Harsch was at Maple Ridge Tuesday to have some dental work done. Miss Anna Seafort and brother, Joe spent Sunday evening at the Harsch ranch. Dr. Weed of East Tawas made a professional call here one day last week. Miss Erma Hall of Whittemore was the guest of Mrs. McCrum last Saturday. Mark Robinson, who was under the doctor's care last week is reported some better. Earl Stockdale of Saginaw is spending the holidays with his sister, Mrs. Harry Webster. Mr. Teachout and son of Twining spent Wednesday and Thursday at the Burtless ranch. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald entertained on Christmas Mr. and Mrs. McDougald and family. Mrs. Ellen Daugharty went to Rogers City last week to spend the holidays with her children. Some of our farmers are hauling poles for a buzz pile and taking advantage of the good sleighing. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Williams and family spent Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Alva Hutchinson. Octive St. James and Miss Mary Williams were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Hutchinson. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Partlo are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy at their home Sunday morning. Hollis Abbott called on relatives at Taft on his way to Wilber last Saturday—going home for Christmas. Mrs. Thomas Frockins, jr. and children of Tawas City are spending the holiday vacation with relatives here. Ellsworth Glendenin called on friends at Taft while on his way to Emery Junction enroute to his home in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Harsch entertained at Christmas dinner Mr. and Mrs. Green and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harsch and family, Roy Green, Will McCollum and Hughie Ranger. The Christmas tree and entertainment last Thursday evening at the Taft school was much enjoyed by all those attending. There was a full house. Rev. A. N. Fields will preach at the Reno Baptist church on Sunday, Jan. 1st, at three o'clock p. m. Mr. Fields will be remembered as the evangelist who held meetings here early in the fall. An all day meeting of the M. E. Ladies' Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. Westervelt on Thursday, Jan. 5, followed by a social at the town hall in the evening. Everybody is invited. Mrs. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Hurford, Mr. and Mrs. Burr Hall, all of Whittemore, and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McCrum and family of Tawas City spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCrum. The Prescott doctor has been laid up the past week by an injury caused by slipping and falling on some icy steps. We find it hard to spare so busy a man as Dr. Voorheis, and hope for his recovery soon. Mr. and Mrs. Westervelt were visitors on the county line last Friday. Owing to the condition of the roads since the big snow storm, they did not return until the morrow. A little grandson was the attraction. We wish to correct an error in last week's Reno notes. It was the doctor from East Tawas instead of from Prescott who came to prescribe for Mrs. G. Robinson last week. We are glad to report that the lady is somewhat improved in health at this writing.

HEMLOCK SLIVERS

Mrs. Herman Brown is on the sick list. Harvey McIvor is spending the week in Tawas. Everett Latham is busy buzzing wood for A. McIvor. Miss Bernice Smith spent Christmas with her parents here. Miss Ardith Pringle is spending the week with Lois Fraser. Lillian VanSickle spent Christmas with friends in Sherman. Victor Herriman spent Christmas at R. VanSickle's at Prescott. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Allen spent last Saturday with her parents. Mrs. Sampson spent Christmas with her son at Emery Junction. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Rempert of Detroit spent Christmas here. A number from here attended the Christmas dance at Whittemore. Miss Blossom Fraser of East Tawas is spending the week at her home. Mrs. E. Hall of East Tawas spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. John Fraser. Raymond Kendall spent the Christmas holidays in Detroit, Cleveland and Saginaw. George Allen of Detroit spent Christmas with his mother and other relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Will Brown of Tawas City and Paul Brown spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McIvor. The Christmas program at the Greenwood school was surely a success. A large crowd was in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Smith served their Christmas dinner on Monday and had all their children at home except Mrs. Pfahl. Mr. and Mrs. Little left Tuesday for Bay City after spending the summer and fall at their cottage at Sand Lake. Fred Pfahl wears a big smile. Why? It's a new baby girl, born Christmas morning. Mrs. Pfahl was formerly Miss Mary Smith. The young folks had a skating party at Sand Lake Tuesday evening and every one reported a good time. Did they fall? No, they just slipped. Mr. Whitney spent Christmas with his family here, returning to Bay City Monday accompanied by his daughter, Eileen, who will spend her vacation there. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Katterman entertained at Christmas dinner her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seafort, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and family, and Louis Harsch of Reno. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brown entertained on Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Frockins, Mr. and Mrs. Will White, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Murray and Miss Ellen Frockins of Reno, Mr. Pearsall of Hale, and Thomas Frockins and family of Tawas City. J. A. Farrand passed away at his home here last Saturday after an illness of about two weeks. The funeral was held from the home on Tuesday at one o'clock. Although Mr. Farrand was an old man, his death came as a shock to his many friends and neighbors. He leaves to mourn his loss three sons and a number of other relatives. Our sincere sympathy goes out to the family.

SHERMAN SHOTS

L. A. Powell was at Turner on business Tuesday. Most of the schools here are closed for a few weeks' vacation. Ben Crum and A. B. Schneider were at Bay City one day last week. G. A. Pringle of Tawas City visited relatives here the first of the week. Miss Gladys Dennis of Bay City is visiting at the home of her parents here. Mark Wood of Grand Rapids is spending the holidays at his home here. Miss Kate Pavelock of Detroit is spending the holidays at her home here. Miss Nellie Hinkley of Standish is visiting relatives here for a couple of weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crawford returned last week from Flint, where they have been visiting. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schroeder of North Liberty, Ind., are visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Hildebrandt. Miss Myrtle Johnson, teacher in Dist. No. 2, had a Christmas tree and program at the school last Thursday evening. She had a splendid program that was enjoyed by all. Miss Hattie VanHorn, teacher in Dist. No. 1, Miss Mary Mielock, teacher in Dist. No. 3, and Miss Nellie Wheeler, teacher in Dist. No. 5, held their Christmas program at the town hall last Friday evening. One of the largest crowds that ever gathered in the township was present. Had the hall been twice as large it would have nicely accommodated the crowd. People came from all parts of the county. Aside from an argument between two of our home town fellows that nearly ended in a fight early in the evening before the program started, everything went fine and good order was maintained, considering the large number of people present and the hundred pupils who were taking part in the program. The hall and Christmas tree were nicely decorated for the occasion. Many presents for the pupils were handed out by Santa Claus. A. B. Schneider called the meeting to order, gave the opening address and acted as chairman during the program. Each school furnished about an equal part of the program, which consisted of songs, recitations, dialogues, etc., and was nicely arranged. Much credit is due the teachers for their splendid work and good management. All the pupils were well trained and went through their parts without any trouble or mistakes. The program lasted nearly three hours and was greatly enjoyed by all.

EMERY JUNCTION NOTES

Marcella Sase was at Bay City one day last week. Maude Sloan spent Christmas at her home here. Mrs. Frank Peters left Tuesday morning for Saginaw. Mrs. Frank Field entertained her parents over Christmas. Miss Helen Sase was in East Tawas on business one day last week. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Crawford returned last week from a few days' visit in Flint. A good crowd attended the entertainment which was given at the school last week. Marie Mark returned home last Thursday from Flint, where she had been visiting for the past three weeks. Several from here attended the dance at Prescott last Friday evening and also attended the dance at Whittemore on Monday evening.

MILLS STATION AND LOCALITY

Mrs. Peter Sawyer is on the sick list. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Webster entertained 30 relatives at Christmas dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Partlo spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Black. Miss Lou McMurray came up from Flint last Friday to spend the holidays at her home here.
