Attention is called to the communication in another column signed by "A Dreamer." It presents a picture of what our city might be if all would work toward the end of having a "city beautiful." The changes mentioned in this article, together with some others are being actively pushed by the Board of Trade and the city council, and if every citizen will do his share we can make our city one of which we all may be proud.

At the regular meeting of the city council held last Friday evening it was voted to change the regular meeting nights from the first and third Fridays of each month to the first and third Monday evenings of each month. With the Board of Trade holding meetings on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month it leaves only an occasional Monday evening unoccupied and it is hoped that this will be borne in mind when fixing the dates for other meetings or entertainments.

Addison Holloway of the Townline was the lucky one to get the quilt given away by the Community Club in School Dist. No. 3, Tawas township on April 19. The club donated $12.85 for library books, which were presented to the school.

"Clean-up Day," April 25, was generally observed throughout the city and much good work was accomplished. A crew of men (not so large as was hoped for) attacked the brush and rubbish on the beach and from the Larkin building to the library made a clean sweep, cutting down the unsightly trees and brush and piling them up to be burned. It is hoped to get out another and larger crowd and finish the good work so that visitors to the city will have an unobstructed view of the beautiful body of water that is one of the chief attractions of Tawas City.

John Westerlund, aged 11, son of Gus. Westerlund of Alabaster, got hold of a dynamite cap last week from a supply which had been left in the house where township road tools were kept. He took the cap home and while holding it in one hand lighted it with a match. The result was that his hand was severely injured and it was at first thought that he would lose a couple of fingers. However they were saved by skilful medical treatment. The tool house is located near the school and the children have been in the habit of playing there and accidentally discovered the caps, which had been left at some former time. It is fortunate that no other accidents resulted.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Emilie Rempert, who departed this life three years ago April 27th. What would we give to clasp her hand Her loving face to see; To hear her voice, to see her smile, That meant so much to us. Just a token of affection, And our hearts still ache for her. Gone and forgotten by some she may be, But dear to our memory our mother will always be. Her Loving Husband and Children.

The Old, Old Story

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY DRAWS A GOOD HOUSE

The high school play entitled "A Poor Married Man," which was presented at the Auditorium on Monday evening, was greeted by a full house and the financial returns were very gratifying to the athletic association, under whose auspices it was presented. The actors were very well drilled and took their various parts in a manner which showed that they had confidence in themselves and entered wholeheartedly into the part they were playing.

Following is the cast of characters. Professor John B. Wise, a poor married man, Harold Groff.

Doctor Matthew Graham, a country physician, Waldy Buchholz.

Billy Blake, a popular college boy, Ronald Curry.

Jupiter Jackson, a black trump, Clarence Gates.

Mrs. Iona Ford, some mother-in-law, Beatrice Bright.

Zoie, her charming daughter, Louise Burgesson.

June Graham, a little freshman, Ellen Kane.

Rosalind Wilson, a college reporter, Rosetta Lietz.

A number of good specialties were also given, as follows: Vocal solos by Miss Milver Hamilton and J. F. Mark, the former accompanied by Mrs. M. C. Musolf and the latter by Mrs. Mark; a dialog by Archie Ruckle and Meta Wendt and a monolog by Archie Ruckle. All were well received and elicited a generous meed of applause from the appreciative audience.

DEATH OF A. S. LARABEE

A. S. Larabee, a former resident of Tawas City, died at his home on a farm south of Flint, April 13, 1922. Mr. Larabee was born at Goodrich, Genesee county, March 11, 1860. In 1880 he came to Tawas City and took a position as clerk in the drug store for Dr. G. S. Darling. In 1886 he was united in marriage to Carrie L. Taylor of this city. In 1910 the family went to Flint, where Mr. Larabee engaged in the drug and grocery business until 1920, when he disposed of his business and removed to the farm twelve miles south of Flint where he died.

Besides the widow he leaves three sons, Bert and George on the farm, and Lafayette at Davison, and one brother, Frank Larabee of Flint.

Mr. Larabee had many friends in Tawas City, who will learn with regret of his demise.

A DREAM OF THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Reading in the Herald that April 25 would be Clean-up day, I paused and wondered, would it really be clean-up day or just a day for drawing away rubbish. Involuntarily my eyes closed and I beheld our "City Beautiful." Driving in on the Meadow road, as all traffic must come this summer, I beheld that that most disreputable of all things known to our city had been covered from sight and in its stead grass was growing green and beautiful. I also beheld that the ground in the clump of pines near the once despised rubbish pile had been thoroughly cleaned and camp privileges provided. Then all along into town, clear to the railroad, the dead grass had been burned, as also in the vacant lots near the L. D. S. church, and under the spreading tree in front of the church a sign read "Rest for the weary."

Then on coming to the river, behold! The old city hall was gone and looking up and down the stream I could see nothing but what was pleasing and restful. The brush and rubbish had all been cleared away from the beautiful little stream, and flowers had been planted down to its very brink, which added much to its beauty. Then on to Lake street, and here too clean-up day had been fully understood. The beach, the place where tourists love to go, had been cleaned of its brush and rubbish piles clear up to the fisheries, and between the abstract office and service station stood a beautiful stucco building which I understood to be the new city hall and community building.

Then on to the depot and here, too, wonder of wonders, from Lake street to the railroad the road was paved from sidewalk to sidewalk and no mud was in sight. But the shock was such that I awakened only to exclaim: "It's only a dream."

But dreams sometimes come true. Here's hoping it will be true of Tawas City.

Signed,
A Dreamer.

The flower girl, little Gertrude Neumann, was dressed in ruffled white organdie and carried a large bouquet of white roses and sweet peas.

The bride's gown was of white satin and georgette, trimmed with pearl fish scales. Her veil of white tulle was caught with sweet peas, and she carried a shower bouquet of tea roses and sweet peas.

During the services a duet entitled "Whither thou goest" was rendered by Miss Margaret Neumann and Mr. Theo. Pelzl, and a song entitled "Lord be thou our guide" was rendered later by the Concordia choir. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to about seventy-five guests and a pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent with games and music.

Out of town guests were Messrs. Ed. Kosary, Joe Kosary, Ervin Stark, Mesdames Robt. Steinberg and W. Brown of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. JEWEL BOX BURGLAR PROOF
 Valuables May Be Accounted Safe
 When Placed Within This Up-to-Date Receptacle.

Among the newest things that inventors have given us in the last few months is a box that comes as near to being burglar proof as it is possible to imagine. It looks like an ordinary steel box with a keyhole in its side.
 But just lift it or move it and a loud
 alarm bell begins to ring inside it.
 This bell keeps on ringing for five hours and it cannot be stopped without unlocking the box.

A burglar might carry off the box,
 but its alarm would keep on ringing and would give him away before he could get it to a place of safety. If he touches it, even stumbles against it, the alarm will arouse the household, for the slightest movement suffices to set it ringing. This is also true of the dishonest servant.

The owner can, however, open and close the box at will, as he has the key. And the only way in which he can be robbed is by some thief stealing the key before tampering with the box.

This safe is arranged inside with trays for small articles, money and jewelry and with space under them for securities, such as bonds and mortgages. The whole is made of seamless steel, nickel-plated, with a piano hinge and strong double lock.
 There are no duplicate keys, nor is there a master key that will open it.

IMPORTING HOUSES NEW FAD
 English Residences Centuries Old Are Actually Lived in by Wealthy
 New York Residents.

Several houses complete in every detail, dating from the sixteenth century, have recently been imported from England. Lovers of the antique may enjoy the unique experience of living in the actual rooms which were built and decorated three centuries or more ago, and be within convenient commuting distance of New York.
 Such homes are naturally expensive,
 for the original cost is not only considerable, but the cost of transportation, the tariff and the expense of rebuilding are naturally great.

An English firm makes a specialty of selling these houses and keeps a number of them on hand in their show place near London for inspection. When an old house is to be torn down to make room for some improvement, the building is bought in, usually for a nominal sum. After being carefully taken apart it is rebuilt in the show place near London, ready for the inspection of purchasers. If it is bought by an American, for instance, the house is once more taken down and packed with care for shipment. This work is done by experts, so that the parts, especially the woodwork, will not be injured. The English builders usually come to America to set up the house exactly as it originally stood in England. In some instances these old houses have been surrounded with English gardens, reproducing the original setting in England of centuries past.

Camps for Motorists.
 Here is the latest idea in camps for motorists, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine: An Oakland (Cal.) concern is spending no less than $80,000 in erecting "bungalows" on an eight-acre tract to be let to motoring tourists by the night or for any longer period
 "up to fifteen years" (as the management jokingly announces), which is the length of the lease on the land.
 These simple residences are designed to take the place of tents, and while their furnishings are meager compared with regular houses, they offer considerably more in the way of conveniences than is commonly offered by an ordinary tent. These bungalows are of two types, some with one room and some with two rooms. They are built entirely of wood, and are equipped with sinks, running water, electric lights, two-burner gas plates, etc.

Spring Beauties.
 One of the commonest varieties of flowers found after the snow has melted away is the Spring Beauty.
 The little blossoms are a very delicate pink. Each petal is lined with hair lines of deep pink. Some naturalists claim that these hair lines of deep pink are honey guides for insects, lines that point the way to the tiny sac of honey to be found in the center of the flower.

Although the stalk of the Spring Beauty is very slender, it is quite sturdy enough to support the two slim green leaves, in the base of which is held the flower, and a cluster of diminutive buds, each on a stem no larger than a fine thread.

An Unwelcome Dance.
 Lady Constance Stewart Richardson, whose bizarre dancing made her known in America, was married recently in oriental dress. There is a story about her and the duchess of Marlborough.

Once, at a charity concert at one of the great houses of London her host whispered to the duchess:
 "We're to have an extra number.
 Dear Lady Constance has consented to do her barefoot Persian dance."
 "Oh, dear," the duchess cried. "I knew when I spilled the salt at dinner that something dreadful would happen before the night was over."

Jud Tunkins.
 Jud Tunkins says there is always a little something to be thankful for.
 Since fruit has gotten to be so expensive, there aren't nearly so many orange peels thrown on the sidewalk.

POSTAL IMPROVEMENT
WEEK IS OBSERVED
 May 1 Sees Inaugurated First General Campaign of Kind in Service.

Without the Postal Service, business would languish in a day, and be at a standstill in a week. Public opinion would die of dry rot. Sectional hatred or prejudice only would flourish, and narrow-mindedness thrive.

If it is the biggest distinctive business in the world and it comes nearer to its innermost interests of a greater number of men and women than any other institution on earth. No private business, however widespread, touches so many lives so often or sharply; no
 church reaches into so many souls, flutters so many pulses, has so many human beings dependent on its min-istrations.

"Postal Improvement Week" has been set for May 1, by the Postmaster General. This is the first general campaign of its kind in the Postal Service for several decades. Business men and their organizations, large users of the mail, newspapers, motion pictures,
 advertisers, and the entire organization of $28,000 postal workers are to be enlisted in this country-wide campaign
 of interest in postal improvements.
 Your help is vital. Address your letters plainly with pen or typewriter.
 Give street address. Spell out name of State, don't abbreviate. Put your return address in the upper left hand corner of envelope (not on the back)
 and always look at your letter before dropping in the mail to see if it is properly addressed. This care in the use of the mails is for your benefit and speeds up the dispatch and delivery of mail matter.

If you have any complaints of poor service make them to your postmaster.
 He has instructions to investigate them
 and report to the department.

COURTESY

It sticks in human relations like postage stamps on letters. The POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT expects it to be used by its postmasters and employees in dealing with the public.

Help them in its use beginning
 with POSTAL IMPROVEMENT
 WEEK, MAY 1-6, 1922.

MIGHTY RIVER IS THE YUKON

Rank as One of the World's Greatest, Though It Was Long Comparatively Unknown.

The Yukon is one of the great rivers of the world. It is more than 2,300 miles long and is both the longest and the largest river flowing into Pacific waters in the western hemisphere, surpassing by a considerable margin its nearest competitors, the Columbia and the Colorado. Among all the rivers of North America the Yukon is surpassed in length only by the Mississippi system and the Mackenzie. It is longer than the St. Lawrence, as well as all the other rivers except the Mississippi system which flows into the Gulf of Mexico or the Atlantic.

The existence of such a large river as the Yukon in the Far North was long unsuspected. A Russian lieutenant, Zagoskin, entered its mouth by boat in 1842 and traversed it for several hundred miles. The Hudson's Bay company had discovered its headwaters in Canada; but the two bits of information were not pieced together. The existence of the river as a stream of great magnitude and length first became really known through the daring and romantic project of installing land telegraph wires between America and Europe across Alaska, Behring strait and the wastes of Siberia. Robert Kennicott, in connection with this enterprise blazed the Yukon trail by descending the river in 1895. The first trading steamer ascended the stream in 1899. The Yukon really came into its own with the discovery of gold in the Klondike in 1896.—Bulletin of National Geographical Society.

WHISKERS IN ANCIENT EGYPT

Believed to Have Been Introduced into Country By Horsemen Who Came From Asia.

What could have been the explanation of black, bushy whiskers on an ancient Egyptian? Historically, socially, customarily, they did not belong there, and yet, thus accoutered lay the occupant of one of the tombs in the Theban necropolis which the Metropolitan museum's expedition at that place came to excavate. He was named Atefamon, "Charioteer to the General," and in his coffin they found his whip, broken into three pieces, and tied up in its own lash. Now, in his day, T. E. Winlock explains, horses and chariots had long been used in Egypt, but it was still remembered that they had first come from Asia, and probably the best horses, and the most skillful drivers were aliens. The Asiatics always wore beards, and so this Egyptian charioteer, to be in the height of fashion, imitated them. "It makes me think of the days of horses and carriages in this country," adds the archaeologist, "when the most stylish coachmen were English, and so those of Yankee birth copied the English side whiskers."—New York Evening Post.

Whaling Customs of Eskimos.

The Eskimos of the Arctic have strange customs. It has proved difficult to convert them to the ways of the white man. Of the practical arts of the latter, the natives have adopted whale boats and firearms. The methods of hunting are their own.

When a whale is captured the boats of the hunters assemble at the scene as quickly as they can. The boats are lined out, with sails up, each towing the other, the dead whale bringing up the rear, and the slow voyage homeward is begun.

When the whaling season is over, each successful hunter gives a nu-lu-ka-tak (celebration), with the rest of the villagers as his guests. There is feasting, blanket tossing, and a dance at the end of the program, which often lasts for days. All the old men and women, and the sick Eskimos, are guests of the prince of the whale hunt. Those not able to walk are carried by the men or hauled on sleds to that part of the village selected for the feast.

Tall Mountains.

At least 60 mountains in California rise more than 13,000 feet above sea level, but they stand amid a wealth of mountain scenery so rich and varied that they are not considered sufficiently noteworthy to be named, according to the United States geological survey, Department of the Interior. Yet if any one of these unnamed mountain peaks were in the eastern part of the United States it would be visited annually by millions of people. But California has several additional mountain peaks more than 13,000 feet high that have been named, or 130 in all, as well as a dozen that rise above 14,000 feet.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF CHILD EDUCATION
By Ellen Creelman

There is no question in the minds of intelligent persons regarding the deep significance of education during the first six years of life. To be fully appreciated however, this period must be considered in the light of its relation to the sum total of all education.

In the first place, as life is a continuous process, so education should be a continuous guiding of life to its highest fulfillment.

The various stages of life—infancy, childhood, youth and manhood, should merge naturally into one another.

The goal of the entire process of education is good character, realized through the acquisition of good habits and it may readily be seen that this fact should be kept in mind by every educator of the infant, child or youth.

The educator must also bear in mind the fact that the foundation of education is laid in infancy and childhood.

Physiologists and psychologists agree that many of the physical weaknesses and harmful mental habits of late years may be traced to faulty guidance in childhood.

During childhood a fund of resistance, physical and mental, should be acquired through observance of the laws governing development. In order, however, that these laws be observed in the nursery, they must be understood by the parent, and that they be understood, they must be systematically taught as other subjects of education.

An educator recently made the following statement: "My brother and his wife are University graduates. When their first baby came to their home, neither of them knew anything about the care of it, physically or mentally." The speaker went on to say: "It is incredible that students should be permitted to graduate from our higher institutions of learning without any knowledge of one of the most important subjects of education, the care of the child."

Observation of young mothers at their task reveals the fact that many of them do not realize that their work calls for especial preparation, and frequently the crowning joy of parenthood, true satisfaction, is missed. But sadder still is the fate of the small pupil, who, commencing life with an impulse to realize his inborn possibilities, is handicapped not only by his own short-sightedness, but also by the faulty guidance of one who loves him but does not understand him; one who cannot discriminate between the natural impulses that should be cherished and strengthened, and those that should be eliminated.

Until the fact is recognized that the first six years of life comprise the most important period of all education a heavy handicap will continue to be placed upon the efforts of the pupil both in the home and in the school.

Every high school, college and university should offer a thorough course in child education, physical and mental, and this study should be second to none on the required list of subjects for graduation. In this way parents could be prepared for their special work as educators, and the child permitted to realize his innate possibilities.

SEED TREATMENT WILL SAVE OAT SMUT LOSS

That a two million dollar annual toll, levied on the oat crop of the state by oat smut, a fungus disease, can be largely eliminated by proper seed treatment is the statement of Prof. G. H. Coons, plant pathologist at the Michigan Agricultural college.

Formaldehyde treatment of the seed a method which is cheap, safe and easy, will almost completely eliminate the smut, says Coons. The method outlined below has been used in every county in the state, and has become very popular. Oats are less subject to formaldehyde injury than wheat, but close following of directions is advised for safety with the treatment.

In treating by the new concentrated formaldehyde method, use formaldehyde at the rate of one pint to 50 bushels of grain. For smaller amounts of grain use correspondingly smaller amounts of formaldehyde. Put the right amount of fresh formaldehyde, just as it comes from the dealer, into a pint or quart hand spray or atomizer and spray the grain, and if treatment is given in a room with a good draft, the penetrating odor of formaldehyde will give no discomfort. When the right amount of formaldehyde has been applied, shovel the oats into a heap and cover for four hours, or the grain may be sacked immediately. Planting should take place at once, since it is unsafe to hold treated grain after treatment. Do not treat more than can conveniently be planted the same day.

The old, or so-called "sprinkling" method is also efficient, and may be used with success in treating for oat smut.

THE ROBIN

When we see a robin stealing a cherry we are apt to get angry. When we know that this same robin kills a hundred cutworms a day, we feel like saying: "Have a cherry, please, you've more than earned it."

The robin has a right in the cherry tree. He has been diligently working there all spring and we owe him for services he has already rendered.

Cherries are only a small part of the robin's food. Forty-two per cent of its food consists of insects. Sixteen per cent of these insects are beetles, five per cent are grasshoppers and nine per cent are caterpillars of various kinds.

The robin's appetite for grubs and worms is wonderful. Professor Treadwell, who experimented upon some young robins kept in captivity, learned that they ate 68 earthworms daily. That is, each bird ate 41 per cent more than its own weight in 12 hours. If a man ate at this rate he would need 70 pounds of meat a day and would drink five or six gallons of water.

In the north the robin is one of the cheeriest of our birds. He has a strong aggressive personality and is full of life and vigor.

THE PLANTING OF TREES
By Albert Stoll, Jr.

The planting of a tree is an act of faith. Faith embodied in a work of this kind is an exemplification of a most simple and genuine belief in the fertility and productiveness of nature. A belief based upon the inexorable example and mute evidence uncovered along the by-ways and path-ways of the out of doors; that nature will rear to healthy maturity any living thing that finds comfort, contentment and existence in her domain.

This is the same faith that laid the foundation of all agricultural development the world over.

In forestry, as in no other endeavor, this faith is often sorely tried. With a constant fear of the merciless, devouring forest fire; the unrelenting efforts of the invading army of millions of injurious insects; the terrific devastation of fungus growth and diseases; all arrayed against the growing things of the open and faced by the realization that a timber harvest comes but once in a generation; the incentive for the individual to put into practice reforestation or the planting of a tree, is invariably found at a low ebb.

However, the planting of trees on a great scale in America and in Michigan particularly, is an economic necessity. Trees give shelter to man and beast. They protect and preserve our water supply. They prevent soil erosion. They provide food and clothing for millions of Americans, by providing them with work. They build all our homes, our ships, our factories. They protect our crops and keep fertile our lands that without their aid would soon become desert areas. They beautify the out of doors, ever inducing you and I to play in their domain. Trees are the very foundation of our progress and our lives; without them the broad expanse of this much cherished country of ours would be a land of desolation and barrens.

The planting of a tree is an act of faith. Reforestation is the amplification of this faith. May it take deeper root in the being of every patriotic citizen of the state.

SUMMER SCHOOL WORK ANNOUNCED AT M. A. C.

Special work for teachers of agriculture, and instructors in rural and consolidated schools features the announcement of the summer session at the Michigan Agricultural college, to run from June 26 to Aug. 4 this year.

In addition to regular undergraduate courses in all divisions of the state college, adapted material in agriculture, home economics, applied science and engineering is being planned for the special courses. Increasing demand from teachers of the state for work designed to meet their needs for advanced training along special lines has led to a considerable broadening of the curriculum for the summer term.

Vocational education for home economics teachers who need further work to qualify under the Smith-Hughes legislation is included in the courses listed for the first time this year.

A model one-room school, with real pupils in attendance, will be maintained during the summer for demonstration work with the class of rural teachers, according to Prof. E. H. Rider, director of the M. A. C. Summer school.
