BOARD OF TRADE LUNCHEON

The first luncheon of the Tawas City Board of Trade, held at the Iosco hotel last Monday evening proved to be a real success and was greatly enjoyed by those who attended. The dining room of the hotel was prettily decorated for the occasion and Landlord Barnes and his assistants served a satisfying luncheon.

There were about forty members and guests present, the latter including Dr. Orien Fischer, who has recently located in Tawas City. Some mass singing of old songs by the entire assemblage and solos by Rev. Homer W. Grimes and Wm. H. Fitzhugh started the meeting off in fine shape. Short talks were given by a number of members and guests and action was taken on several matters of importance to the city.

A date was set for the cleaning up of the beach fronting the court house, this date being set for Thursday of this week. The matter of cleaning up the city property near the Glen as a camping place for tourists was also taken up and this work will be done.

A committee of two consisting of M. H. Barnes and F. T. Luedtke, was appointed to take up with the city council the matter of placing new signs at the city limits on the various streets leading into the city.

It is proposed to make these luncheons a monthly affair, holding each alternate meeting of the Board of Trade at the hotel. Judging by the attendance last Monday they promise to be popular with the members.

GETTING READY FOR GRADUATION

In thousands of schools and colleges, graduating classes are now preparing for the great event of Commencement day. No other occasion of life save possibly marriage, will seem of such tremendous import to these young people.

They now approach a great landmark of life, a time of fresh beginnings, and face untried issues. But young folks make these sharp breaks with ease. Most of them are delighted to try their inexperienced wings.

Getting ready for graduation, in the minds of some young women, means principally long sessions with the dressmaker, and a splendid display of fine feathers. The girl of the struggling home sometimes makes more show than the one from the abode of wealth. The former may feel that this is her one chance to show that she is as good as anybody. Her parents may sacrifice on the absolute necessities of life to give her this splashy send-off.

School authorities should try to persuade young people not to waste family resources in this manner. The necessity of providing costly graduating clothes and incidentals has deterred many parents from sending their children through the schools. The principles of American democracy would have every one of these young women appear in a simple and inexpensive gown, with special applause for all who make these frocks for themselves. Those that adopt such ideas show that school training has put some very wise ideas into their heads.

Young people preparing for graduation should have their hearts on higher purposes than dress or sports. They should be anxious to keep up their achievement in study until the last day of school. They should not be content merely to get by, but should covet marks that will send them out with honor.

The many young people of Tawas City who have this spirit, are observed with peculiar interest and pride and confidence that they will make their mark in the world.

PHELPS—WEBSTER

A pretty home wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of Baldwin township on Thursday, May 4, at six o'clock, when Miss Anna Phelps of Wilber, daughter of Mr. Wm. Phelps, was united in marriage to Mr. Kenneth S. Webster of Tawas City, son of Mrs. Jessie Thornton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Aaron Mitchell, pastor of the East Tawas Methodist church.

Little Winnifred Phelps, youngest sister of the bride, acted as ring bearer and carried the ring on a bouquet of arbutus. Miss Clara Latter of Reno, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Herbert Phelps, brother of the bride, attended the groom.

A very pretty march was played as the bride and groom took their places before a lattice work of pink and white crepe with evergreen and ferns trimmed with arbutus. The home was tastefully decorated in the bride's colors. The bride was attired in a gown of white crepe de chine trimmed with beads and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid was attired in a gown of pink organdie and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony a three course dinner was served to about forty guests, relatives and friends of the bride and groom. Four friends of the bride acted as table waitresses. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass and linen.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster will make their home in Detroit. Friends of the young couple extend their congratulations and best wishes for a long and prosperous wedded life.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Nothing goes so far toward making a town what it ought to be as a well-attended, live church. Churches are built for the good of the community. The people in the community should support them. Your good wishes toward the church and the minister do not amount to much if you do not link some visible service with them.

It is a pleasure to note the steady increase in attendance at the services of the Baptist church. I cannot help but note the interest of our local young people. With the cooperation of our members and friends we hope to make the services appeal to everyone. It is our earnest desire to contribute something toward the moral and spiritual life of our community. We want to help you!

DEATH AND BURIAL OF S. A. WESTFALL

Funeral services were held last Monday afternoon for S. A. Westfall, notice of whose death appeared in last week's issue. Mr. Westfall had been taken with an attack of appendicitis a little more than a week ago, but being a man of unusual vitality, he went to work as usual. On Wednesday, April 26, he was taken with a severe attack at Emery Junction on his return trip on the Prescott train. He was taken to East Tawas and at 11:45 a special train carried him to Bay City, accompanied by his wife, Dr. Albert Stealy and railroad men. He was taken to the Samaritan hospital and operated upon. His condition was very serious, the appendix having burst some days previous.

On Wednesday, May 3, the family was summoned and early Thursday morning, May 4, at 12:55, he passed away. The body was taken to the home of F. C. VanTuyt, an undertaker in Bay City, who is a cousin of Mr. Westfall. On Friday morning the remains were brought to East Tawas and funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from Christ church, Episcopal, Rev. C. E. Edinger officiating. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in East Tawas with the exception of the E. L. King funeral. A large number came from Whittemore, Prescott and other points. The Orangemen, of which deceased was a member, attended in a body and conducted the service at the cemetery. Rev. Mitchell of the East Tawas M. E. church and Rev. Cross of the Tawas City M. E. church, chaplains of the Orangemen, officiated at the grave. Rev. Mitchell sang two solos during the service.

Sylvanus Andre Westfall, known to his friends and relatives as "Vene" Westfall, was born in Pontiac May 6, 1878, and would have been 44 years of age last Saturday. During his life he resided at Lovells, Rose City and East Tawas, the family having lived in East Tawas for the past twelve years and previously residing in Rose City for five years.

On January 24, 1900, Mr. Westfall was united in marriage to Miss Bertha Bower, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bower of this city, at Gladwin. Four children were born to this union, one having died in infancy. One son and two daughters survive.

Mr. Westfall had been in the employ of the D. & M. Ry. nearly fifteen years and was brakeman on the Prescott branch. The large attendance at the funeral and the beautiful floral tributes testified that the deceased had endeared himself to all who knew him.

Relatives left to mourn are the wife and one son, Roy, of this city, two daughters, Mrs. Grace Haight of Tawas Point and Miss Hazel of this city, his mother, Mrs. E. L. Westfall of Kissingimie, Fla., a brother, Frank Westfall of Detroit, and a sister, Miss Alpha Westfall of Kissingimie, Fla., now attending school at Marysville, Tenn.

He was taken to the Receiving hospital, where he passed away shortly afterward.

The body was taken to Saginaw to the home of one of his sons, from where the funeral was held.

Mr. Fluelling was 63 years of age. The family were residents of East Tawas in the 80's and 90's. Of late years they have been residing in Detroit. Mrs. Carrie Brown of this city is a sister of Mr. Fluelling and went to Saginaw Tuesday morning to attend the funeral.

WOODPECKERS

The woodpeckers are the "conservers of our forest." They are especially equipped to protect the bark and wood of trees.

All the woodpeckers have stiff pointed tail feathers which act as a prop when they are clinging to the side of a tree. The claws are strong with two toes pointing to the front and two to the back. The back toes are long and well developed so that they support the bird when it is climbing.

The bill is long, sharp and strong, with a chisel shaped point. The tongue of the woodpecker is long, sharply barbed at the point and can be thrust far out. There is no escape for a woodborer when once this long cylindrical tongue, with its barbed point, is headed its way.

Seventy-eight per cent of the food of the hairy woodpecker consists of insects. Almost half of these are woodborers—the worms that do so much damage to our forest and fruit trees.

The downy woodpecker is slightly smaller than the hairy woodpecker, but its markings are the same.

All members of the woodpecker family eat great numbers of ants. The flicker leads in this respect—from 300 to 500 ants have been found in the stomach of a single flicker.

The yellow-bellied sapsucker is the only woodpecker which does serious damage. It bores holes in the trees and feeds on the sap. The damage done to timber, especially in the southern states, is serious.

Building Stimulates Local Prosperity—Materials Plentiful and Prices Down

(Copyright, 1922, by Real Estate News, Chicago.)

Next to farming, local prosperity depends upon building activity. The reason is plain. Building is the country's second largest industry. It employs millions of workers directly, millions to make the materials for building, and hundreds of thousands in lumbering, quarrying, and mining.

Everyone knows that a building shortage exists. One way to restore prosperity then, is by a lively resumption of building. Materials and labor now are plentiful. Costs are lower. Cement will serve as a good example because it goes into nearly all building.

For every ton of cement, 1 1/2 tons of raw materials and coal must be mined, shipped, assembled, dried, ground, weighed, mixed and then fused at about 3,000 degrees to a hard "clinker." This "clinker" must then be ground again, this time to a powder so fine that 78% will pass through a sieve having 40,000 holes per square inch. To make cement, one literally must "tear down a mountain and put it through a sieve." And yet, cement sells at the mill for about $8.00 per ton! These facts caused the United States Geological Survey a few years ago to say that "one could not scrape the free sand from the gutter for much less cost per barrel."

Cement Competition Keen.
That competition has been active as noted in government reports. According to the United States Geological Survey, the production of cement has steadily increased and the price declined. It shows that in 1880, cement sold at $3.00 a barrel average at the mill; in 1920 at $2.02; in 1921, at $1.87. Now it is selling at many large plants as low as $1.50 a barrel, only half the average price in 1880, and less than the average for the 40-year period covered in the government report.

At one of the country's largest cement plants the price now is 48 1/2% higher than in the pre-war year 1913. The latest report of the United States Department of Labor shows the average price of "all commodities" as 1% higher than 1913. Some of the items whose prices enter into this figure of 51% have undergone radical decreases, while others are very much higher than the average of 51%. Few, if any, items of the former class enter into cement manufacturing costs, but several items of the latter class do affect the cement costs. In fact, the principal elements in these costs are labor, freight rates, coal and limestone.

In February, 1922, the cement plant referred to paid for its coal at mines

208% more than in 1913, for limestone at quarries 60% more and for labor 54% more. Freight rate on coal was 107% greater and on limestone 52% greater. A comparison of these increases with the increase of 48 1/2% in cement price and 51% in the price of "all commodities" is enlightening. Cement is so widely used that users themselves have standardized it. Today every cement maker, regardless of his brand, meets the specifications set jointly by the United States government and the country's leading engineering societies. All brands of cement, therefore, are alike.

Jevon's Economic Law.

Because of this, the prices of various brands of cement in any given market usually are the same. The reason for this puzzles many. But the answer is simple and well stated by W. Stanley Jevons, L. L. D., M. A., F. R. S., in his standard work "The Theory of Political Economy," which says:

"If in selling a quantity of perfectly equal and uniform barrels of flour, a merchant arbitrarily fixed different prices on them, a purchaser would, of course, select the cheaper ones. Hence follows what is undoubtedly true * * * that in the same open market, at any one moment, there cannot be two prices for the same article."

Applying Jevon's economic law, a simple illustration of cement competition may be cited thus: A, B and C are cement makers. Each seeks business at M, a town with a 30-cent freight rate from A, 25 cents from B and 40 cents from C. This gives A a 5-cent advantage over B and 10 cents over C. A figures he can sell at, say, a mill price of $1.50, so adds the 30 cents freight and quotes $1.80 at M. Then if B and C want to do business at M they must meet A's price, requiring B to go 5 cents below A in his mill price and C to go 10 cents below A in his mill price. Unless B and C can make the mill price sacrifices required by the market at M as made by A's $1.80 price, then A will monopolize the market at M.

Similar principles apply to other materials. Prices are not arbitrarily made. They are based upon supply and demand and upon the cost of transportation, raw materials and labor. Supply of labor and materials now is plentiful. We cannot afford longer to delay needed building improvements. This is particularly true because building is so entwined with the nation's prosperity that a full revival of building will hasten a revival of other lines of business.

TOWNSEND VIGOROUSLY PRESSES BILL FOR RELIEF OF ONE OF MICHIGAN'S GREAT-EST HEROES.

"BRAVEST MAN IN THE WAR"

Washington—Through a bill recently introduced by Senator Townsend of Michigan, one of the most heroic exploits of the World War—and likewise one of the most tragic examples of governmental red tape toward one of its heroes—has come to light.

It deals with Robert Guy Robinson, of Ypsilanti, one of the two Michigan men to be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor—the nation's highest tribute to valor in action.

Robinson's military record relates that Robinson as a marine aviator took part in an aerial raid over the German lines, and that as a result of his squadron breaking up, he was obliged either to surrender or to fight his way back to the American lines through a German "circuit" of nine Fokkers.

Determined to Fight.

He and his pilot determined to fight. At the first burst of German machine gun bullets, the goggles were shot from the pilot's eyes. Robinson received one bullet in the back and another in the elbow.

But flying fast toward a German salient, the American plane fought its way through the enemy flyers, shooting down two of them. Robinson then hit upon the most daring maneuver of all. He directed his plane directly over the area of the salient where the anti-aircraft guns were located.

Their aerial barrage was a trifle too late to catch his plane, but it so endangered and delayed the enemy pursuers that the Americans gained their vantage, and volplaned to earth within the allied lines. But by this time, the pilot had received wounds from which he died, and Robinson had been struck by four more bullets.

The report of the commander of the Belgian hospital to which he was assigned is that Robinson was the bravest man whom he encountered during the war.

Honors—Then Neglect.

Citations, honors and medals followed. And then came the governmental neglect of one of its heroes returned to civil life.

Under the law, Robinson was entitled to be retired as a lieutenant of marines, with pay. Inasmuch as he is still disabled, and his parents died while he was in service, he needed that money.

But no notification ever was given him, and the first he ever heard of it was through the American Legion on the day of the burial of the Unknown Soldier.

And—under the law—that was 20 days too late to file his claim!

The Legion took the matter up with Secretary Denby, but the latter was unable to unwind the red tape. However, he is co-operating with Senator Townsend to the fullest degree in having adopted a special act of Congress for Robinson's relief.

ORGANIZATION—TOWN-SEND IS FOR IT.

NOW LOOKING FOR RIGHT SITE

A "War Memorial Everlasting," in the form of a school and home for the orphans of veterans of the World War has been outlined by the state executive committee of the American Legion.

The committee ded that instead of a monument or other ornamental structure, it would establish in Michigan an institution of practical aid to the fatherless children of the war.

Townsend Approves Plan.

As the plan was proposed, the Legion itself would carry on the work without seeking the aid of any public funds.

Senator Townsend of Michigan has written from Washington his hearty approval of the plan, and will co-operate with the Legion in carrying it through.

"Our idea," said Paul A. Martin, State Commander, in presenting the plan, "is that the highest type of war memorial must combine the elements of useful help, permanency, and a just appreciation of the sacrifices of the dead.

"When the American Legion of Michigan undertakes this great work, it will have assumed national leadership in a movement which cannot fail to catch the spirit of patriotic imagination and support everywhere.

"My idea is that the home should be located in the country, where the best combination of healthful surroundings can be found.

"There is no need for us to decide just where, for there will be much competition among various communities to obtain this unique war memorial."

The prayer meeting folks gather at the parsonage again next Tuesday evening for an hour of prayer, song and fellowship.

The Ladies' Aid is planning to hold a sale of baked goods every Saturday afternoon this summer. Watch for a later announcement regarding the date of the first sale.

Not being able to hold our Aid meeting with Mrs. Graves, a goodly crowd of members enjoyed a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Colegrove. On May 17th we plan to meet with Mrs. Graves.

Last Sunday evening three new members were received into active membership in the Epworth League. "His Mother's Sermon" is the title of the service to be given next Sunday morning in honor of Mothers' Day. The story to be used in this service was written by Ian MacLaren, the writer of "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush." So beloved is this inimitable Scotch writer that no further introduction to the story is necessary. A large part of the service is music and the sentiment of the songs is well suited to the story. We feel that our church has never offered a more beautiful service to the people. The program is to be given at the church hour, 10:00 o'clock standard time. We invite the mothers of our community to be our special guests at both this service and the Sunday school session immediately following.

GOING NATURE "ONE BETTER"

Man Has Been Engaged in Work of Altering Domestic Animals for Many Centuries.

What a curious thing it is to realize that a St. Bernard, a Pekinese, and a Skye terrier all three come from a common wild stock!

Man has been altering domestic animals of every kind for centuries past. He has taken the common pigeon and invented something like 60 distinct varieties, while hundreds of different sorts of fowls have come from the original jungle bird of Ceylon.

Curious experiments have been made in coloring birds by feeding them on certain foods. One man obtained pigeons of a beautiful red by putting in their food a chemical with the terrible name of "methylthiobromo fluoresine," and he got others of a rich blue by similar means.

Man is changing not only animals and birds, but also fish and insects. Take bees, for instance. Of course, various species of bees are constantly crossed in order to get kinds that will produce a bee which shall be more useful for fertilizing flowers than any of the present sorts.

With object, certain breeders are trying to produce a bee with a longer tongue than any possess at present. For flowers like clover such a bee would be invaluable, since the result would be a great increase of fertile flowers, and, consequently, seed.

The latest branch of creation which man is tackling with a view to modifying is fish. The experiments were begun at the University of Chicago, about five years ago.

NEVER LINCOLN'S REAL LOVE

His Marriage With Mary Todd Seems to Have Been Largely Matter of Convenience.

Mary Todd, wife of Abraham Lincoln, was the sort of woman who is described as "capable and upright." Lincoln, it is testified by biographers, was not deeply in love with Mary, either before or after their marriage. As a matter of fact, his heart was buried in the grave of his first love, and he had proposed marriage to a second and unwilling young woman. By the time he married Mary Todd, who was neither beautiful nor gracious, he had come to regard marriage as a necessity rather than as the ultimate result of love and romance.

Their courtship was long and suffered many bumps and separations before it culminated in marriage. When Lincoln first met Miss Todd she was only sixteen years old and was being courted by Stephen Douglas the great man's rival in many things.

Lincoln had suggested in a rather offhand way that he would marry her. Apparently regret set in rather soon, for he made several attempts to gracefully withdraw from the compact. But Mary, with prophetic vision, had an idea that he would one day reach the White House and she was determined to be his mistress.

"Kidnap" Camera.

When you inquire about the big camera the station photographer uses in taking the 1 1/4-inch square photographs for the 50-trip family ticket he says, "Oh, it is a special one we invented years ago for kidnaping."

"How do you number them?"

"It is a six-exposure plate, and each of these spaces on the sheet of paper corresponds to one on the plate. Each plate is numbered. We used to use this camera for kidnaping."

Then you swallow your pride and ask boldly:

"What do you mean—kidnaping?"

He laughs kindly at your ignorance.

"Why, you know," he says, "we take our camera and go out on the street and see a little boy and take his picture. We get his name and address. By and by, after we develop the picture, we go around to his home and show it to his mother. If she likes the picture, she buys one. That's kidnaping."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Furs.

Trapping is being carried on more extensively this season than for the last ten years, and the catch is abnormal, reports the manager of the Winnipeg Fur Auction Sales company.

Economic laws work as rigidly in the fur north as elsewhere. A shortage of any commodity runs prices up. Then high prices lure larger production. With the supply increased, price slumps. Then production falls off.

It's the eternal merry-go-round, with speculators playing the turn in the market.

He Found Himself.

The marine had tumbled off a motorcycle, and he was dead to the world when they carried him to the hospital. The next morning he woke up just as the doctor came around to see how the patient was getting along.

"Well, well, my man," said the doctor cheerily, "how did you find yourself this morning?"

"I opened my eyes," said the Gyrene, "took a good look at the bed—saw some guy lying in it—and there I was."—The Leatherneck.

The Youngest Soldier Killed.

Representative Isaac Sigel, of New York, recently made claim in the house of representatives that Albert Cohen, whose parents now live in Memphis, Tenn., was the youngest soldier to be killed in action in France. He was killed in action on October 5, 1918, while serving with the 26th infantry. At the time of his enlistment he was thirteen years and six months old.

Effect of Color.

If a color is to be introduced into a room by means of colored shades or lamps, the color scheme of the room must be considered. Lighting effects should not be in pure colors. Tints of rose or buff add something pleasing to the complexion while red, orange or bright yellow do away with the flesh tints of the face.

Handicap of Fear.

The fear of many brings a snare. By halting in our duty and giving back in time of trial, our hands grow weaker, our ears grow dull, so that when we look at the way of the righteous, it seems as though it was not for us.—John Woolman.

THE INDIAN DRUM

by William MacHarg and Edwin Balmer
Illustrations by Irwin Myers

NEAR the northern end of Lake Michigan, where ore-carriers and wheat-laden steel freighters from Lake Superior push out from the Straits of Mackinac and disport the island divided channel with white and gold, electric lighted, wireless equipped passenger steamers bound for Detroit and other cities, there is a cove of pine and hemlock back from the shingly beach. From this cove—dark, blue, primeval, silent at most times as when the Great Manitou ruled his inland waters—there comes during storms a sound like the booming of an Indian drum. This drum beats, so tradition has long maintained, whenever the lake takes a life.

Men say they have heard and counted the beatings to the exact number of crew and passengers lost in various sinkings of ships. Once only, it is said, has the drum counted wrong.

This belief in the drum and a case in which the beatings failed to tally with the records of men, forms the basis for an absolutely fascinating story of mystery, to be printed as a serial in these columns.
