TAWAS CITY SCHOOLS
If Lincoln Were a Student in Our School
(Theme of Ninth Grader)

If Abraham Lincoln were a student in our school today, and was the same as when he was a boy, he would be almost a perfect student.

He would make the most of every opportunity that came along. He would study very hard and get everything out of his books that he possibly could. During school hours he would not fool away his time in playing. And perhaps if his family were poor, as they were at that time, he would work for his board and earn enough to pay for his school books.

I think Lincoln would be delighted to write themes and to study the stories and write book reports that the English students are required to do.

History would interest him too. He would be interested in the world's progress. It would be a wonderful thing for him to hear a radio or see an airplane soaring up high in the sky, or to learn the different parts of the workings of an automobile.

He would love to work at chemistry experiments in the laboratory and to figure out the problems in algebra and geometry.

The work would most likely be easy for him, for he was a very intelligent boy and if he had had the chances then as he would have now, he would have made a good student.

If a teacher would ask Lincoln to do a thing, he certainly would do as he was told without a question or an impolite word. But he wouldn't have to be told very many times, if at all, that he was doing wrong. And he would appreciate the advice and help of the teachers.

He would be a proud graduate when he finished high school. But even if he was above anyone else or the least bit better than his school mates.

He would honestly help his friends and classmates as much as he could with their work without doing it all for them. He would be fine in athletics and he would be liked by all the students and perhaps he would be president of his class.

MEMORIAL DAY IN TAWAS CITY
The Memorial day program as announced in last week's Herald was carried out on Tuesday in a very satisfactory manner. A good representation of the local American Legion post turned out in uniform and marched from the court house to the cemetery, being joined on the way by children from the public and parochial schools.

At the cemetery President Emerson of the Memorial Association acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the various numbers on the program. The mass singing was led by Rev. H. W. Grimes and was accompanied by Clarence E. Grimm of Coleman on the violin in a pleasing manner.

The first thing on the program was a roll call of the veterans of the Civil war, the Spanish-American war and the World war. Only two responded to each of the first two roll calls, but about twenty-five of the members of the Legion were present.

The speaker of the day was Rev. S. S. Cross, who gave a splendid patriotic address, reviewing the various causes for which America has fought and bringing out the thought that our wars have always been for the relief of the oppressed and down-trodden. He paid a fine tribute to the manhood and patriotism of the veterans of the various wars and assured them that their bravery would not be forgotten in the years to come.

Several recitations by pupils of the Tawas City public schools and the Zion and Emmanuel Lutheran parochial schools were very pleasingly given. The American Legion bugler then blew taps and the firing squad fired a salute of three volleys for those who had given their lives for their country. The ceremony of decorating the graves of deceased soldiers concluded the program.

EAST TAWAS 10; OMER 7
East Tawas and Harrisville are now tied for second place, with Oscoda in the lead by one game. Omer came up last Sunday and took back the small end of a 10 to 7 score.

They started a left hander in the box and he pitched good ball, but was given poor support. With Johnson going along a steady gait and the home team coming through with scores every other inning the game looked safe with the score 10 to 2 at the start of the ninth.

The Omer team came from behind in the last turn at bat and before the side could be retired scored 5 times through long drives to the left field fence. The home team showed to good advantage in the field as well as on the bases. R. Warren of the Omer team was the leading hitter with 3 clean drives. Next Sunday the team goes to Harrisville.

MEMORIAL DAY
At eight o'clock Tuesday morning the G. A. R., W. R. C., American Legion, Audie Johnson Post, American Legion Auxiliary, and Veterans of the Spanish-American war all assembled at the G. A. R. hall and carmen's hall, together with many of the citizens of the city and school children, and left in cars for the cemetery.

The American Legion marched to the cemetery and presented a fine appearance headed by their new silk banners, the American flag and the Audie Johnson Post banner in navy blue and gold. At the cemetery the American Legion memorial service was given at the graves of Edward Karziske and Grant Gordon. Rev. Edinger read the memorial by request of the Post commander. The graves were then decorated with wreaths by the American Legion and Auxiliary and with flags by the W. R. C. The salute was then given and the last taps sounded from a distance, a very impressive part of the service. Supt. J. K. Osgerby then gave a stirring patriotic address in the soldier's cemetery, while the American Legion stood at attention. Following the address the W. R. C. gave their memorial service at the mound. The graves of the Civil war veterans and W. R. C., numbering more than 80 graves, were then decorated with sprays and flags by the W. R. C. and the W. C. T. U.

At noon a picnic dinner was served at the G. A. R. hall and many brought their baskets and enjoyed a social time with their friends. The hall was fittingly decorated with bunting, red, white and blue streamers and tiny flags.

MEMORIAL SUNDAY SERVICE
The Memorial service was held last Sunday morning at ten o'clock at Christ church, Episcopal. The G. A. R. veterans, only two in number, were present, viz: William Legacy and Charles Frost. The altar was decorated with pink and white carnations and roses. The choir took their places during the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," the leader carrying a cross and a large American flag. The national airs, "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner" were sung.

Rev. Edinger gave a beautiful memorial address and the service closed with the hymn, "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus." The members of the patriotic organizations then marched up the aisles to the strains of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

EPWORTH LEAGUE PAGEANT
In celebration of the Epworth League anniversary, which occurred Sunday, May 21, a pageant was given at the M. E. church last Sunday evening. Members of the League had charge of the service, Mr. Ford leading. Musical numbers were given as follows:

Violin solo, Torrey Osgerby, with piano accompaniment by Allan Mitchell

Vocal Solo, Rev. Mitchell with organ accompaniment by Allan Mitchell

Piano trio, Louise Murray, Elizabeth Price and Vera Harwood

Selections were also given by the choir.

The pageant, "Thro' the Epworth League Looking Glass" or "The Story the Emblem tells" was a story of a group of young people going to an Epworth League service and meeting a young man who was not interested. By telling him what each saw in the emblem of the League they convinced him that the work of the League was worth while.

After the pageant a class of five were taken in as members of the Epworth League.

DANGER IN BORING FOR OIL

Fluid Frequently Comes With Force and Suddenness That Workers Find Hard to Control.

Fuel oil, as a means of propulsion, has been gradually coming into favor for a number of years. The war increased its use in many ways, and the coal strike gave a fillip that may only be overcome when the comparative cost between coal and fuel oil gives the former the advantage. Boring for oil is often accomplished with danger to the men from the pent-up force which is released. The first indication that oil has been reached is a rush of gas and then comes oil, sometimes with such terrific force that it has been known to carry tools, gear and loose stones and earth to a great height. Large quantities of oil are often lost before a valve can be placed over the hole and a check put upon the gusher. So great is the pressure—it varies from 200 pounds to 1,000 pounds—that oil may spout hundreds of feet into the air. In Mexico, a few years ago, a column of oil reached 600 measured feet. It is unsuitable for use when first got out of the ground, owing to the mud it contains, but when this has settled to the bottom of the settling tank it is refined. First petrol and benzine are extracted by distillation before it is sent to the storage tanks to be used as crude oil. So far the method which finds most favor for burning oil in furnaces is known as the low pressure furnace, and is forced through pipes to the burner under the boiler in the form of a fine spray.

RAP AT MODERN PREACHERS

Bishop Denny Tells Good Story in Which Distinct Moral is Not Too Well Hidden.

Bishop Collins Denny said in an address in Richmond: "I heard a story the other day that hits a good many preachers. It seems that the janitor of a fashionable church was showing his wife through the edifice. At the end of the inspection he said to her: "Would you like to hear me preach?" "Go on! You can't preach!" she objected. "Can't I, though?" said the janitor, and he went up into the pulpit and ranted and roared and raged a good 20 minutes or more about the vile sins committed daily by the heathen in equatorial Africa. "Then when he finished, he said, as he came down, wiping his hot face: "There; how was that for a sermon?" "It was mighty fine," said his wife. "But you told all about the sins of the natives away off in Africa and never a word about the sins of the folks right here at home." "The janitor chuckled. "Ha! Ha!" he said. "I know the tricks of preachin' too well for that." —Los Angeles Times.

Iron.

Iron is the essential element in the food of man and the higher animals, and the only effective way to take it into the system is not in the form of pills and tinctures, but by the consumption of vegetable food containing the mineral. So says an exhaustive study of the distribution of iron in various parts of plants made by L. Maquenne and B. Cerignelli, whose report appears in the Comptes Rendus (Paris) of the French Academy of Sciences.

VETS' HOSPITAL IN MICHIGAN SURE

May Go to Ann Arbor, But Other Cities Make Offers of Large Sites.

Detroit—Prospects for the erection in Michigan, probably in Ann Arbor, of a government hospital for ex-service men with mental diseases, brightened with the announcement of Senators Townsend and Newberry that President Harding now favors Michigan over Illinois in his plans for hospitalization of World War veterans. President Harding's original plans called for the erection of this hospital at Great Lakes, Ill., despite the fact that Illinois already has far more government hospital facilities than Michigan.

That the hospital will be located in Michigan is due to the earnest efforts of the American Legion.

Orders Cancellation.

President Harding told Senators Newberry and Townsend that he would instruct the hospitalization committee of the treasury department to cancel plans for constructing such a hospital at Great Lakes, Ill.

Dr. Frank B. Broderick of Detroit, state welfare officer of the Legion, announces that a site of approximately 200 acres is needed. The Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce has pledged cooperation with the Legion in securing such a site near Ann Arbor, and other cities are expected to make similar offers.

Barrett to Aid.

Dr. A. M. Barrett, head of the university psychopathic hospital, at Ann Arbor, one of the greatest authorities on nervous diseases in the country, has agreed to work with the government and the Legion if the hospital is built there.

It has been necessary to send disabled veterans from Michigan to Illinois, Wisconsin and other states for treatment. Michigan has the greatest percentage of disabled veterans in proportion to its military strength in the war of any state.

LAUDS HOSPITAL IN BATTLE CREEK

Legion Commander Says Attacks Are Without Foundation.

Detroit—"No man who attacks the American Legion's hospital at Battle Creek is fit to be a Legionaire," Paul A. Martin, state commander of the Legion, told members of Charles A. Learned post here.

"Attacks such as have been made recently are absolutely without foundation. All that those in charge ask is that you come and see for yourselves.

"A visit will convince all that the Legion hospital is more than a hospital. It is a home for the ex-service man making the hard journey back to health."

Learned Post, the largest in the state, is installed in its new home, in the Wheelman's club.

Commander Martin complimented the post on its growth, and referring to the recent differences between Learned Post and the Wayne County Council, expressed his thanks for the action of the post in standing behind the constituted authorities of the Michigan Legion.

Fred Z. Pantind of Grand Rapids is chairman of the Legion hospital committee. Other members are John G. Emery, former national commander of the Legion, and Alton T. Roberts of Marquette, Frederick M. Alger of Detroit, Wilbur M. Brucker of Saginaw, Clarence V. Spawr, M. D., of Benton Harbor, and O. G. Johnson, M. D. of Fostoria.

EFFECT OF POISON GAS IMPAIRS VOICE

Stricken Veterans Urged to Have Throats Examined.

Washington—Poison gas inhaled by American soldiers in France is beginning to show its effects by causing service men to lose their voices. The bureau has asked the American Legion to inform gassed veterans whose ability to speak is becoming impaired to report to the nearest Bureau physician for examination. American Legion posts will give information as to where these may be found.

The Bureau states that a large number of young veterans have recently been found suffering from tumors of the vocal cords, apparently in their inception. The growth prevents vibration of the cords, due to pressure, and thus affects the voice.

The Legion is asked to spread the information and to get service men suffering from a growing inability to speak to go before Veterans Bureau doctors for prompt examination. In the case warrants, the Bureau announces, the former soldiers will be sent East for operations.

A post of the American Legion was organized at Reese, Michigan, on February 10th by "Mike" Murray, District Welfare officer. The post has already secured an enrollment of 57 members.

She has been deeply interested in Hayakawa's work of translating Shakespeare's plays into the Japanese language.

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

DON'T AIR YOUR ILLS

REMEMBER that the man who makes a point not to air his bodily ills, and who makes it a matter of principle not to grumble about the ups and downs of his health always has an advantage over the man who keeps his associates posted concerning the way he feels.

Instinctively your associates feel that you are superior when they realize that possibly you too sometimes feel under the weather but that you never grumble about it. The thoroughbred man, like the thoroughbred animal, does not whimper over the slightest discomfort. There is something of the Stoic in all true aristocrats and it is a characteristic of all mean and ill-bred natures to like to reveal the fact of their discomfort even to close associates. This is, of course, absurd—absurd because it actually causes more discomfort to your associates than would an admission of your illness.

Remember that there is only one person in the world to whom you have a right to tell all the bad feelings that you experience, only one person whom you are privileged to burden with your symptoms—and that is your doctor, and the only reason you are privileged to tell him is because you pay him to listen and because by telling him you hope to remove the symptoms.

YOUR HAND How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—the Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm

THE HAND OF A SOLDIER

AS MIGHT almost be expected, the hand of a successful soldier must be square and firm. The top phalanx of the thumb must be strong, to indicate will power and ability to command. As the soldier—that is, the officer—must frequently use tact and diplomacy, the second phalanx of the thumb should be well curved.

Ambition is indicated by a line running from the line of life to or toward the mount of Jupiter, under the forefinger. A star on the mount of Jupiter reveals distinction gained in the field or elsewhere.

If there is present in the hand what is called a second mount of Mars—that is, a mount lying between the line of life and the mount of Jupiter—it indicates unusual bravery and daring. A short line running from the line of fate, which runs vertically up the palm of the hand to Saturn, shows a government appointment. The mount of Mars—about the middle of the palm, on the outside—should be strong, to express endurance.

Peculiar Rock Formation.

All of the mountains of Montenegro, Bosnia, the Herzegovinian and the Dalmatian coast are made of a spongy limestone rock through which water seeps readily. Sewers are unnecessary, for if one digs down for fifteen feet in any part of the country one finds a natural opening, and anything thrown into that opening is immediately carried away. That is why no navigable streams have ever cut through Dalmatia's mountain wall. The water soaks through and doesn't need to cut. —Saturday Evening Post.

How It Happens.

Five villains, with gyves upon their wrists, sat in durance, vile. "It is strange," said he, "that you five stalwart scoundrels, after robbing the bank and maltreating all persons who sought to stay you, should have allowed yourselves to be knocked down and hog-tied by a lone cripple equipped with naught but a crabtree cudgel."

"Alas, sir," replied the most low-browed of the lot. "Our lack of forethought was our undoing. We expected to encounter only the usual heavily armed guard, which could not run and capture a lost gosling. Instead, we met this lame lad with a club, who meant business and had no desire to show off. Of course, we did not know how to comport ourselves." —Kansas City Star.

Refused to Award Prize.

Eighty-three years ago the city of Frankfurt-am-Main, birthplace of Goethe and home of Germany's greatest bankers, established a Mozart prize to be awarded annually for the best musical composition along any line that the competitors might feel disposed to follow. Forty-five manuscripts were submitted in 1921, but for the first time in the history of the prize, worth 5,000 marks, no award was made, the reason being inferior quality of all the works sent in. One of the competitors was Engelbert Humperdinck.—New York Evening Post.

The Squaw Man

By ANDREW R. THOMAS
Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

It was Estelle Denton's laugh that the Squaw Man always remembered after that day when, sodden with drink, he opened his eyes to the sun to see the little party of pleasure-seekers resting their horses outside the adobe hut.

"That?" she asked, pointing to him. "Why, that used to be a man. Now it's our only original squaw man."

The others laughed too, and they remounted and went on their way. Into the bulk that had been the Right Honorable Archibald Phillip Cressley there crept a little spark of shame.

It was true, all true, only—none of them guessed at the reason that had brought him to what he was, the shame, scandal, and laughing-stock of Las Vegas, the little desert community at the foot of the Sierras, where the boom in citrus fruits was building up a busy town on land that had been too parched for anything but sage and cactus until the irrigation company built the big dam which diverted the flow of the river into the ancient bed.

Cressley had gone out one of the original engineers. He had been a pioneer in Las Vegas, respected once, though hardly any one recalled those days. Then—something happened that made human faces, particularly women's faces, hateful to him. At least, white women's.

Nobody knew; if any guessed, they did not hazard their opinions. Cressley had thrown up his job and left the company. He reappeared as a companion of drunken Indians, a prodigy of those hard-working regions, a white pariah, of whom nothing was too bad to be said.

Perhaps Estelle Denton, the only daughter of the company's president, had seen him drunk asleep beside the road. Perhaps that memory was what had hardened her tone to the point of disgust.

Yes, Cressley had a dim memory of having been booted off the Denton lawn by a big young man, but, like all the past, that memory was obscured by the fumes of the poison that had eaten away the moral nature of the man, and left only a shell behind.

The Squaw Man left his hut toward sundown and went up toward the mountains. He could breathe there, he could think, above all, he could best form those never-ending resolutions of amendment up there. For here, where the big dam held the torrent, he had played a man's part once. He had cut this conduit between the old and the new river-beds; but he had not built that span of masonry that stretched from flank to flank of the Sierras. That had been the work of Holden, and Cressley had told him he had not allowed for the force of the spring freshets. If that ever gave—

The Squaw Man was always a little anxious about Holden's work. He always made his way there . . .

He uttered a cry of dismay. Right in the center of the middle span the scour of the torrent had displaced three blocks of masonry. A stream of muddy water was pouring through. It would be the work of days to hold it. It was streaming down to the dam below, instead of into the bed of the river. Instantly the Squaw Man saw the picture. Two hours, he estimated, would be required to flood the dam; once the level was reached the torrent would pour down the valley and sweep every vestige of Las Vegas forty miles to the Pacific.

In another moment the Squaw Man was running at full speed down the mountains. He calculated that it would take him the better part of two hours to reach Las Vegas. It had grown dark long before he reached there.

All the while he ran he listened subconsciously for the sound of the torrent that would spell death to every living soul within the valley.

The president's house stood on the bank of the stream—a spacious mansion, with broad lawns and shady trees. That would be the first to go. Then the flood would pour through the business section, widening into the outskirts . . .

Lights, music, dancing, laughter! He broke into the crowded reception room. He elbowed aside the men in evening clothes who tried to stop him. He had seen that big man somewhere—on the lawn. He knocked him to the floor.

"The dam's burst; ride for the hills!" he shouted, seeing Estelle's furious face—and broke away.

Now he was in the town, shouting his message amid a confusion of horses and cars. The streets were filled. They knew! Some one had telephoned from the Denton house. But there were the Chinese cabins upon the outskirts. Only Chinks—but he was a squaw man!

But Las Vegas was empty! Still he ran to and fro, shouting his warning. He ran from house to house, each empty, dark, abandoned. What was that roaring in his ears? Was it his heart pounding or—?

Far up the valley gleamed the white wall of the torrent. The Squaw Man sat down; he could not have run, and it was too late to run. So, quite contented, he lay back on the brink of the stream and waited.

You Don't Know Wallboard Unless You Know Upson Board
by John L. Lewis, Contractor and Builder, Binghamton, N. Y.
What this prominent contractor and builder says—
FOR years I did not recommend wall board. I would not let my customers use it except for attics where quality did not matter.
"I believe that all wall board was alike but I did not know Upson Board, I had not tried it because I said 'What's the use?' Upson Board is no different from all the rest!"
How my eyes were opened
"And then one day a salesman asked me to try some Upson Board. I placed a trial order but even at that I was almost afraid to try it on a real good job."
"My first surprise came when I unloaded the big panels. I expected breakage. There was none. Surprise No. 2 came when we commenced to cut the board. Instead of breaking like a graham cracker and fraying at the edges, we found that it cut and sawed like lumber.
"We finished a whole room without breaking a single piece. You know what that means if you have had experience with ordinary wall board.
A wonderful painting surface
"The biggest surprise of all was the finishing. I have seen all kinds of wall board painted. Some boards drink paint like a sponge, others have a waxy coating which is the ruination of a good job of painting.
"But with Upson Board the first coat covered perfectly and two is all that is ever needed. I understand that big paint companies use Upson Board for making up their samples of paint.
"I have used it in my own home as well as in the finest homes and buildings.
"If you are in doubt as I was, I suggest that you get some samples of Upson Board and learn the truth for yourself."

It appears that not all the road hogs have disappeared. On Decoration day one of these hogs made himself conspicuous by crowding a vehicle containing five persons nearly into the gutter. The quick action of the driver and a gentle horse saved the occupants from serious injury or death. A stiff fine or jail sentence might do some good. Another auto driver made himself obnoxious by seeing how near he could run his car to the parade without striking them.

Starvation on Sunday.

Restoring Fire Ferns.

House ferns, set in a pan of hot water once a week, will produce new shoots in a short while.

TAWAS CITY'S FIRST WIN

The entire story of Tawas City's win over Alabaster last Sunday can be accounted for by the facts that Walt Moeller pitched a two-hit game, our gang bunched eight hits, and Alabaster erred nine times.

Neither of Alabaster's runs was earned, while the first and last of Tawas City's markers were hit across.

Bolo sure was going good, his steam ball getting by the batters before they could swing and if he pitches like that all summer the home team will win several games in spite of the error column, which is no inconsiderate item with them.

In the third inning Bill Groff and Toot Swartz doubled for a marker and in the seventh with the bases full on hits and a fielder's choice, Frank counted the other earned run. Tawas City pulled off two snappy double plays during the fracas. Also eight stolen bases.

The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Tawas City	0	0	1	2	1	0	1	0	0	5	8	6
Alabaster	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	2	2	9

Batteries, W. Moeller and Zink; F. Baker, Erickson and Delosh. Doubles, Swartz, E. Moeller, Groff, Spring. Struck out by Moeller 8; by Baker 5. Base on balls off Moeller 2. Hit by pitcher, by Baker 2. Umpire Bergeron.

7th. Kehrberg fied to Woizeschke. Groff safe when Olli threw wild. Musolf fanned. Daniels safe when Woizeschke threw the ball away. Franks' hit scoring Groff and Daniels, Frank scored on passed ball. Lanski hit by pitched ball, but caught on second. 3 runs, 1 hit, 2 errors.

Olli hit safe. G. Halligan out when he hit a high foul to Kehrberg. J. Halligan safe when Lanski tried for double. Olli scored. Groff fumbled Barkman's grounder and Halligan scored. Dillon singled. Johnson out, Groff to Musolf. Barkman scored. Frank dropped Woizeschke's fly. Luce safe when Groff threw wild. Lomas walked. Olli hit, Woizeschke and Luce scoring. Progress.

Progress in human history has been traced by the destruction of barriers. While science has found a way to span the seas and bridge the continents, philosophy has made planes of thought on which men of every race may meet together in harmony of faith and purpose.—Walter S. Young.

AUTOCRAT HAD UNHAPPY LIFE

Mighty Czar Could Find No One in His Dominions That Would Tell Him the Truth.

A dramatic little story that illumines in a flash the strangely unwholesome life that the czar of Russia had to live in the old days is to be found in Mr. James L. Ford's book, "Forty-Odd Years in the Literary Shop." Mr. Ford had an intimate acquaintance with Baron de Grimm, whose father had been the tutor of Alexander II of Russia, and who himself had been an intimate friend of the czar.

From De Grimm, he writes, I gained an idea of the isolation of an autocrat and the atmosphere of dread, suspicion and uncertainty that surrounds an autocratic court. When the Czar Alexander II sent his son to the Riviera for the sake of his health he received from the young man's attendants only vague reports in regard to his condition, although couriers arrived daily with letters. On one occasion the soldier who brought the post bag was ushered into the presence of the czar, who after a hasty glance at his correspondence exclaimed: "There is no letter from my son, and it is some days since I have heard from him!"

"But, sire," exclaimed the soldier, "he is no longer able to write!"

"Not able to write!" exclaimed the sovereign of all the Russias. "Will nobody ever tell me anything?" And it may be remembered that Nicholas II uttered a like despairing cry when the news of the January massacre, which his courtiers had sedulously kept from him, finally reached his ears.—Youth's Companion.

"WHO'S WHO" WINS PASSPORT

Writer's Somewhat Caustic Comment on Authorities Would Seem to Have Some Justification.

A man who applied in New York for a passport recently was told that he must have a certificate of birth before the document could be issued. He had a passport issued during the war bearing the visa of several European countries. That passport bore the date of his birth. The passport was rejected because it was issued before 1917.

There was no time to send to Chicago for a copy of the certificate of birth. A certificate of baptism was offered and rejected, the explanation being that he might not have been baptized for years after his birth.

"What is your business?" asked the clerk. The applicant said that he was a writer. "Are you in 'Who's Who'?" was the next query and the answer was in the affirmative.

"That settles it," said the clerk. He got a copy of "Who's Who" and found that the brief biography gave the date of birth. The application was indorsed. "See 'Who's Who' edition of 1921. page empty ump," and the document was forwarded to Washington with the assurance that the passport would be back in a few days.

"The government," said the writer afterward, "will not take its own word and would not take my word, but accepted a printed biographical sketch which presumably I had written."

After Pirate Lafitte's Chest of Gold.

Two energetic young men have established a camp on the lower part of Padre Island in the Gulf of Mexico on the Texas shores, in an effort to locate the gold-laden chests of the pirate Lafitte who, according to the legends of the country, frequented those parts and it is supposed that some of the wealth which he accumulated must be buried in the sands of that shore. The men say they are there to stay and they have brought some machinery with which the work will be facilitated. It is said that they have uncovered some interesting material which leads them to believe that they are on the right track.

Oh, Boy!

A filing clerk in a downtown department store, one of those light jazz models whose mind is always out toddling at the last dance of the night before, or the next one to come.

One day she went to the manager's desk with a salesman's report on a city customer. The report gave the customer's name and bore the notation that he was "hopelessly ill."

"Mr. Grant," she said indignantly. "I have looked through all the directories and I can't find any city like Hopelessly in Illinois."—Los Angeles Times.

Some Other Fellow's Sister.

Our family consists of my father and mother, myself and my sister, who is several years younger than I am. Returning home unexpectedly after a long absence in China, I walked in unannounced. About the time my father and mother and I were through hugging each other, a young girl of nineteen entered the room. I grabbed her in my arms, kissed her and said, "Kid, if you were not my sister I would fall in love with you." "I am not your sister," said a smothered voice. And she wasn't. But I kept my promise.—Exchange.

"Calls" Telephone Users.

A miniature "hour glass" is now being used to time the telephone conversation, says the Scientific American. Its upper compartment exhausts itself of sand in just three minutes; with one eye on the glass, the telephone user sees when the time is almost up, and can speed up his business accordingly, so that the talk may be finished within the specified three minutes of the long distance call.

IOSCO COUNTY NORMAL TRIP TO YPSILANTI

On Thursday evening, May 25, at Pease Auditorium, Ypsilanti, there assembled a large crowd from Washtenaw county and the county normals of Michigan to witness the graduation of the eighth grade pupils of the district schools of Washtenaw county. H. Z. Wilber gave the address to the pupils, while Evan Essery, county school commissioner, presented the diplomas. Carl Lindgren, a baritone, sang two beautiful solos.

Then a one act play was given by the Trailblazers club. It showed that by cooperation of the schools, parents, teachers and pupils a great many things can be done to make our district schools cope with our city schools and made it manifest that organization is needed in rural districts.

The program for Friday began with a trip to the University of Michigan. The visitors were all transported to Ann Arbor in cars furnished by members of the local Kiwanis club, who were all very kind in pointing out features of interest. The University proved to be very interesting and impressive. The party was shown through the Hill Auditorium, the library and the alumni building, which contains the memorials and beautiful statuary. Owing to the limited time the numerous other college buildings had to be viewed from the outside.

On the return trip we visited the Stone school, the model rural school of Michigan. Here students from Ypsilanti teach under the supervision of Miss Muriel Wilkinson, rural critic. The pupils in the Stone school have all the advantages of children in a city school.

Upon our return to Ypsilanti Dr. Pittman conducted a tour of the normal buildings, after which we viewed a wonderful exhibition given by the physical training classes. There were several aesthetic dances, an exhibition of Swedish exercises and a game of indoor baseball.

At twelve o'clock a delicious dinner was served by the Catholic Rotary club of Ypsilanti. President McKenny of the normal college, Evan Essery, commissioner of Washtenaw county, Mr. Day and Mr. Cotton, the president and the secretary of the Kiwanis club, were the guests of honor. Songs, yells and speeches were given between bites.

The feature of the afternoon was a program at the Pease Auditorium. This began with a series of stunts given by each county normal represented. Then Dr. Pittman and Miss Ortal Krause were presented with beautiful roses by the Teachers' Club of the Helping Teacher Zone, as a token of their love and gratitude for the wonderful help in their work given by these two. Miss Krause supervised the pageant which followed, a dramatization of "Hiawatha" in nine acts, given by nine rural schools of Washtenaw county. Each school had been assigned a part and the play was given without their having had a rehearsal together, showing what wonderful things can be done in rural schools by cooperation. The play was beautifully given and closed with a tableaux by the entire group of children. Some of the children had even made their own costumes.

This wonderfully inspirational convention closed at four o'clock with a short address by Dr. Pittman.

Darning Loom.

Darning is made into a pleasant occupation, it is claimed, when done with a device recently introduced in England. The little darning machine consists of a flat stretcher which is placed behind the heel in the stocking, and over which is slipped a saddle that holds the stocking in place. The thread is wound back and forth over the hole on hooks on this saddle. A third piece, hinged on the saddle, hooks under every other thread and raises or depresses them alternately while a threaded needle is passed back and forth between them, as in weaving.

Cracks in the Wall.

To remedy unsightly cracks in a wall place in a saucepan one pound of flour and rub in a little cold water until free from lumps. Add three quarts of boiling water, place on the stove, bring to a boil and stir in a tablespoonful of alum. Cut a quantity of newspaper into fine bits and stir it into this paste until it is about as thick as putty. Boil and stir until smooth. Fill the cracks with this with help of a putty knife or a broken pointed case knife. Crowd it into the crack as far as possible, and finish it off level and smooth.
