Florida and California with their orange groves have nothing on Tawas City. Charles Fowler of this city has a snow apple tree that has ripe apples and blossoms on at the same time. Can you beat it?

Mrs. Arthur Welcome returned last Saturday to her home in Bay City after a few days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Welcome leave this week for California, where they expect to make their home in the future.

Mrs. F. C. Hamer left Thursday morning for Flint after spending some weeks with relatives here. Next week she will join her husband in Detroit and they will make a trip through the eastern states before returning to their home at Lincoln, Neb.

H. Z. Wilber of the Ypsilanti State Normal college will be in the city Friday, Sept. 15, (today) and will hold a meeting at the high school building at 7:00 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of organizing an extension class for the coming winter. Everyone interested is urged to be present.

Deputy United States Marshall Wright was in East Tawas last Saturday and served a copy of the injunction recently issued at Chicago against the striking railroad shopmen on John Moran, general chairman of the local branch of the union. Considering that the local men did not go out on the strike, this appears to be a somewhat useless precaution.

The first game of a series of three between the Bentley team, winners of the N. E. Michigan league championship and the "Ioscoes" of Oscoda, winners of the D. M. league championship, will take place at Oscoda ball park Sunday, Sept. 17. Metevia, the one-armed, left handed wonder, will be on the mound for Bentley. A fast, snappy game is anticipated.

Married, on September 4, 1922, at Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. William I. Bradley and Mrs. M. Louise Goodwin, both of Cleveland. Mr. Bradley has for a number of years been identified with the Keith theatrical interests and is now at their 105th St. theatre. Mrs. Bradley is a sister of Mrs. G. A. Pringle of Tawas City and visited here in June. They will reside in Cleveland.

Anson Graham of Alpena and his nephew had the misfortune to turn upside down in the ditch on the road between Oscoda and East Tawas last Sunday. Mr. Graham was driving at about 30 miles an hour, when he struck some loose gravel and lost control of the car, a Studebaker. The car turned bottom side up, smashing the top rather badly, but the occupants escaped serious injury. Mr. Graham had a bad cut on his hand.

ATTENTION—SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS!

The Iosco county Sunday school association will hold their annual Sunday school convention at Whittemore on Tuesday, Sept. 26, 1922.

Every Sunday school superintendent and teacher is urged to attend this convention.

J. H. Engle, our state secretary will be with us all day, also Miss Irene Rockenbach, state superintendent of the children's division, will give us some helpful talks.

If you are interested in the Sunday school work come, and if you are not, come out and get interested. If you have a splendid Sunday school come and tell us all about it. Maybe it will help someone. If you are discouraged in the work, come and maybe we can help you.

Don't forget the date and plan to attend the convention at Whittemore, Sept. 26, 1922.

Everybody welcome.

ARENAC COUNTY FAIR, STANDISH, SEPT. 19-22

This year the Arenac county fair at Standish, Sept. 19-22 presents one of the best programs ever arranged for a county fair. RESULTS OF PRIMARY ELECTION

The primary election on Tuesday of this week called out a fairly heavy vote in all parts of the state, several sharp contests for nominations making the election particularly interesting.

The state-wide interest centered chiefly on the nominations for United States senator and governor. There were four contestants on the republican ticket for senator, and Charles E. Townsend appears to have been renominated by a plurality of from 25,000 to 30,000 over his nearest competitor, Herbert F. Baker. Patrick H. Kelley and John G. Emery were far enough behind the leaders to be classed as "also rans."

In the governorship race Alex J. Groesbeck, the present incumbent and candidate for renomination, swamped Richard Fletcher by about a two-to-one vote. Theodore Joslin, the third candidate, received only a small vote.

Thomas Read for lieutenant governor and Roy O. Woodruff for representative in congress had no opposition.

The race for the nomination for state senator between H. S. Karcher and John Schmidt appears to be a close one, with Karcher in the lead according to figures available at this time.

In the contest for representative in the state legislature from the Iosco district L. S. Little appears to have beaten F. B. DeWitt, candidate for renomination, by a substantial majority.

The results of the election as affecting county nominations was as follows:

Sheriff—W. J. Robinson 1036; Colie Johnson 815. Robinson's majority 221.

County Clerk—Frank E. Dease 1270; Thomas Galbraith 443. Dease's majority 827.

Theasurer—W. H. Price, no opposition.

Register of Deeds—G. A. Pringle, no opposition.

Prosecuting Attorney—John A. Stewart 991; Clark H. Snyder 774. Stewart's majority 217.

Circuit Court Commissioner—N. C. Harting, no opposition.

Drain Commissioner—R. C. Arn 828; E. O. Putnam 794. Arn's majority 34.

Coroners—H. W. Case and L. N. Gagner, no opposition.

Surveyor—J. W. Applin, no opposition.

County Road Commissioner—W. J. Grant 818; R. A. Bentley 635. Grant's majority 178.

Thomas Hill won the democratic nomination for sheriff, having 19 votes in the county to 18 for H. E. Hanson.

AMERICA

By F. A. Perry

America is an ideal, a goal, a standard.

America was an ideal when the Pilgrim fathers landed on these shores. America was an ideal when the Declaration of Independence was signed by representatives of the colonists.

America was an ideal when the Constitution of the United States was drafted and adopted by the fathers of our country.

America was an ideal when Abraham Lincoln saved the nation from dissolution.

America is an ideal today, though often threatened and defamed by its enemies.

And every day finds a fuller and better realization of the American ideal.

What then is the great American ideal?

It is: The promotion of the common good. Obedience to the established laws. Belief in the sovereign will of the majority.

Insistence upon a square deal and a fair fight.

Active participation of every citizen in active politics.

Dignity of honest toil and a full reward for labor performed.

The liberal education of every child.

The opportunity to succeed for every one who will try.

Radicals of all sorts, who are today over-running America, seem to think that they have a cause worth while, so they speak print and scatter broadcast their messages of revolution.

They work and give freely time and money to promote class consciousness, and to stir up industrial strife.

Why then are the rest of us quiet? Why not talk America awhile? Is it not worth talking about? Our glorious history—our righteous laws—our educational opportunities—our unbounded charities—our increasing wealth—our happy homes. What! with unnumbered blessings and privileges within reach of all, have we not something worth talking about?

THE COUNTY FAIR

Although the dates for the Iosco county fair were advanced two weeks this year to escape the bad weather usually prevalent toward the last of September, it was without avail, as the weather this week was cold and wet and had a marked effect upon the attendance at the fair.

As an agricultural exhibit the fair this year was almost a total failure. There were only small entries in the stock departments and in the vegetable department there were practically no entries. There were good showing in the fruit and floral departments and these constituted the principal displays in the floral hall.

St. Joseph's school had a nice display of the work of the pupils and this was the only school display shown. The fancy work department had a small showing, but in the youth's department there was but one single entry.

The aeroplane engaged to give flights during the fair was damaged on Monday and was out of commission during the first two days. The repairs arrived on Wednesday afternoon so the machine was repaired for use during the last two days.

Motorcycle races, horse races and ball games furnished amusements for the crowds and some good sport in these lines was witnessed.

The midway was lined as usual with kewpie, blanket and other grifters, and there were also a few legitimate lunch and refreshment stands conducted by local people and organizations. There were several displays of tractors, farming implements and automobiles by local dealers.

If more interest is not taken by the people of the county in making the fair representative of the agricultural interests of this section, it is the humble opinion of the writer that it might better be discontinued as an amusement enterprise exclusively.

The expense and labor of conducting the business would thereby be lessened by about one-half and the exhibition would probably draw just as big an attendance as under present conditions. The fair was originally an exhibition tending to show the resources and capabilities of the county, but is far from that at present, and as an advertisement for the county and its progress is practically worthless.

These are plain facts and are not meant as a reflection upon the present administration of the fair, as the conditions have been gradually growing worse in this respect for a number of years. It is certainly a misnomer to call an institution a county agricultural fair when it neither represents the agricultural development of the county nor the county at large in the few exhibits that are made.

The Herald expects a great deal of criticism and condemnation for the foregoing statements, but we are willing to accept the same if it will but arouse the people of Iosco county to an added interest in their fair and bring about a co-operation that will make of the fair something of what it is intended to be and return to it some of its pristine glory as a representative of the growth of the county.

Kate Dease is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ralph Flanagan, in Detroit.

Mrs. Fred Wilkins of Alpena was a visitor in this city the forepart of the week.

Ernest Cecil was in Bay City Wednesday and Thursday for medical treatment.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a business meeting at the home of Miss A. M. Ross this Friday.

The East Tawas school was closed on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons on account of the fair.

A social meeting of the Luther League will be held at the home of Sanford Jacobson next Monday evening.

Miss Laura Eleanor Osborne returned this week to Detroit after a short visit with her aunt, Mrs. W. J. Phillips.

Arlene Misener has returned to the Bliss-Alger business college in Saginaw, where she is taking a course in book keeping.

A business meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. Clare Grant next Friday afternoon, Sept. 22.

Mrs. Ira Case returned home this week from Canada, where she has spent the past three months visiting with relatives and friends.

Mrs. B. F. Oakes, Mrs. W. B. Piper and Miss Louise Oakes returned from a boat trip this week. Mr. Piper met them at Port Huron and the party motored home.

A get-together party was held at the East Tawas high school building on Thursday evening for the benefit of the high school students. A very entertaining program was given and an appetizing lunch served, after which games were enjoyed by those present.

On Tuesday of this week Wm. Legacy celebrated his 85th birthday. A number of his intimate friends were invited to dinner at his home and a very pleasant time was spent. Mr. Legacy's many friends extend congratulations and best wishes for a great many more pleasant birthdays.

Last Sunday evening a farewell sermon was given to the confirmation class of the Swedish Lutheran church. Special numbers were given by a mixed quartette and a vocal solo by Mrs. J. F. Mark of Tawas City, with J. F. Mark as accompanist. Miss Lillian Johnson gave an appropriate recitation and the class song was given.

A NARROW ESCAPE
The crew of the local freight coming from Harrisville Tuesday noon had a narrow escape from being scalded to death when the boiler exploded and steam, smoke and fire flew in all directions. The freight was slowing up to take on a car and there was 195 pounds of steam on the boiler when the explosion took place.

Lyman McAuliffe, engineer of the train, and other members of the crew jumped from the engine and the train stopped after going about a car length. Mr. McAuliffe was scalded about the ankles and face and Louis Alverson, a brakeman, was scalded about the arms.

DEATH OF WILLIAM J. FOX
William J. Fox died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. W. Black, 617 Lincoln Ave., Bay City, on Monday, Sept. 11, at eight o'clock after an illness of one year's duration.

Funeral services were held from the home on Tuesday afternoon and the remains were taken to Ionia for burial on Wednesday. Mrs. Fox died several years ago and is also buried at Ionia.

Mr. Fox leaves two daughters, Miss Julia Fox and Mrs. A. W. Black, both of Bay City, and a host of friends to mourn his demise.

William J. Fox was born in Massachusetts on November 15, 1854, and was 67 years of age. He lived for a time at Ionia, Mich., and from there moved to Tawas City and later to East Tawas. He held the position of general foreman of the D. & M. shops here for many years. The family moved to Bay City five years ago.

Deceased was a member of Baldwin Lodge No. 274, F. & A. M. of East Tawas and of Bay City Lodge B. P. O. E.

C. W. Luce and Mrs. H. T. Thomas of this city attended the funeral at Bay City and Ionia.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEKEEPER
Lettuce and cabbage can be quickly shredded by scissors.

Articles to be dyed should first be washed so they will be free from dirt.

Nuts, because of their oil, form a valuable contribution to the dinner menu.

When beating eggs use a pinch of salt and they will be much lighter for the cake.

A nice way to serve grapefruit is to garnish it with cubes of firm red and yellow jelly.

Cheaper cuts of meat, well cooked with a fine sauce, are quite as appetizing as the more expensive ones.

In planning meat for boiling remember the thinner the piece of meat the greater will be the loss of taste and juices.

It is said that a gas mantle will give a much brighter light if it is soaked in vinegar and hung up to dry before being used.

Brass bedsteads will keep in much better condition if they are occasionally rubbed with sweet oil, and then wiped and polished.

The great secret of frying is to have plenty of fat and have it hot so the food cooks on the side without absorbing any of the fat.

PRINTED STATIONERY PAYS
What about that up-to-date stationery you were to have had made? We recently heard of two farmers who happened to apply at about the same time for loans from a trust company.

Farmer A had printed stationery and wrote his letter on a typewriter; Farmer B, just as well off as A in this world's goods used a pencil and scratch paper, and wrote on both sides of the sheet.

The result was, B's letter made so bad an impression that he experienced considerable delay, while A's was granted almost immediately. In getting results from correspondence, the neatly written letter on printed stationery is as far superior to a pencil scrawl on a piece of scratch paper as a twelve cylinder automobile is to an ox-cart. —The Progressive Farmer.

TEST FOR THE DIAMOND
Of course you have a diamond or two, so the following test to prove their "genuineness" will be of interest to you.

Trust a diamond ring into a bowl of water and the stones will glitter through the liquid; but an imitation stone loses all its brilliancy under water. If you look through a diamond at a black dot on a piece of white paper you will see one black speck quite clearly. If the dot is blurred or multiplied the stone is probably not genuine.

KITTENS ALL "CAME BACK"

Man Tried to Lose Them, but Kind-hearted Woman Spoiled His Carefully Laid Plans.

A Jackson county farmer recently decided that his household possessed four nonessential cats. His children, however, did not agree with him; at least they would not consent to any fatal form of riddance. Finally a compromise was reached whereby the superfluous cats were to be banished—taken far from home and left to look out for themselves. The children, however, insisted upon a conditional banishment. They demanded that the cats be placed where they could find a new home without too discouraging a search.

So the next time the farmer had occasion to go to Kansas City the excess cats were packed and loaded into the family "flivver." About five miles from home he observed a favorable-looking house. The most favorable feature at the moment was an apparently temporary absence of human occupants. The farmer preferred to make an unostentatious presentation. The string which bound the mouth of the sack was quickly untied. Just before the slowly moving car came opposite the house the farmer lifted the sack and, leaning over the farther side of the car, poured the contents of the sack out upon the highway. Then he "strapped on the gas."

Returning home that afternoon the farmer was seized with a feeling of misgiving as he neared the scene of parting. He saw a woman signal him to stop and he could think of no good excuse for ignoring the signal. Simulating extreme perplexity he stopped the car. The woman approached and deposited a sack in the tonneau.

"You lost your cats this morning, mister. I happened to be looking out the window when they tumbled from your car. They were a little wild, but we gathered them all up—four of 'em."

"Thank you," mumbled the owner of the cats as he drove on. He wondered how many grinning faces were watching him from the house.—Kansas City Star.

LOCOMOTIVE NOW DIGS DITCH

Work Done Is in Marked Contrast to the Old Days of Pick-and-Shovel Brigade.

The new method of digging a ditch alongside a railroad track is to hitch a kind of scoop to the front of a locomotive. By this means twenty miles of ditch can be plowed in one day at a cost of about $6.25 per mile.

The ditch can be thus dug three feet deep and fourteen feet from the center line of the track, the amount of dirt removed being eighteen cubic feet per lineal foot of ditch. The operation of the digging machine is controlled from the deck of the locomotive by air valves.

Contrasted with the old pick-and-shovel method, the locomotive ditch digger has achieved what, years ago, was regarded as a physical impossibility so far as speed is concerned.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Portuguese Named Japan.

The English name Japan seems to have originated with the Portuguese who spelled the Chinese Yih-pen Japan, the letter J being silent or similar to H according to their language. This is the way the Spanish and the Portuguese still pronounce Japan.

FIRE TREE.

One of the most extraordinary of Australian trees is the "fire tree," which is common in New South Wales. When in full bloom it is a mass of flame-colored flowers, and looks at a distance like a tree on fire.

HE DIDN'T QUITE UNDERSTAND

Possibly British Officer Thought Orderly's Proper Place Was Under the Table.

At the Army and Navy club in Washington they tell a story of a newly appointed officer in the British army who was making his first visit to the mess, with the usual inquiry of "any complaints?" Now, he had arrived at the mess somewhat earlier than expected, and the orderly of the day, being taken by surprise, and in his shirt sleeves, dived under the table to save a reprimand.

"Any complaints?" asked the officer. Grasping the situation at once, the corporal answered for the absent orderly.

"None, sir."
"Who is this?" asked the officer, suddenly catching sight of the orderly under the table.

Again the corporal rose to the occasion. "Orderly of the day, sir," was his answer.

"Oh!" said the officer, and passed on.

The next mess were quite prepared, with the orderly, spick and span, standing at attention at the head of the table.

"Any complaints?"
"None, sir," answered the orderly. The officer gave him a careful survey.

"Oh!" said the officer, and passed on.

MAN'S JUDGMENT OF WOMEN

Real Truth, Though Long Known, Is Here Published Absolutely for the First Time.

A man notices, first a woman's face, second her skirt, third her shoes and fourth her hands.

He rarely sees her hat, but probably feels it. He gets the effect of it unconsciously.

Mentally, a man is first conscious of a woman's eyes, second her voice. Beyond these two his curiosity doesn't go.

But if her voice shows too much of the clever or the intellectual he begins to back off, and then probes her eyes to see whether they belie her voice or not.

A woman's eyes often do this same thing. Her voice may say, "I am very highbrow," while her eyes are saying, "Don't you believe it!"

This is the way, all over the world, men are judging women and have always judged them. But it is a great secret. Nobody knows it but a very few people who have solemnly agreed never to divulge it.

It is so universal among all men that they are quite unconscious about it.

It is here published for the first time, thus violating tradition and custom, which declare that what everybody knows should never be revealed.—Thomas L. Masson in the New York Sun.

TREES LINE MEMORIAL ROAD

People of Pennsylvania County Have Worthily Paid Tribute to Fallen Soldier Heroes.

York county, Pennsylvania, has the honor of possessing the largest stretch of road lined with memorial trees in memory of the fallen heroes in the great war in this country. The trees, numbering several thousand, have been in course of planting for two years under the auspices of the York Woman's club. They extend in a continuous line on both sides of the Lincoln highway entirely across the county. Two tablets, at either end of the 26-mile thoroughfare, were recently unveiled and dedicated. At the exercises a letter from Mrs. Warren G. Harding was received by the Woman's club, in which she said:

"In the planting of 25 miles of that famous highway, you have erected a memorial that the entire country can enjoy in the years to come. May long life attend the trees you have placed in the care of the Lincoln Highway Memorial and Tribute Tree association."

Every tree is worked with the name of a Pennsylvania soldier who gave his life in the war, and the trees have been registered with the American Forestry association.

Some Water Power.

Thirty-one per cent of all water power in this country is on sites within the national forests, while all that on sites outside the national forests is dependent upon water arising in them, says the American Forestry association, which is fighting to keep the control of these forests out of the hands of the Interior department. The western mountains contain 72 per cent of our total potential water power and of this, 42 per cent is in the western forests. This power is being rapidly developed. The United States forest service has in force 174 power transmission lines and 197 power projects, with minimum discharge capacity of 899,000 horse power.

The Daring Dinner Gown.

"The late Mrs. George Gould," said a New York woman, "dressed beautifully, but she never dressed daringly. She didn't approve of daring dress."

"Mrs. Gould entertained an Englishwoman at her Lakewood place last year. This Englishwoman was very lovely. Very ultra, too."

"I was invited to dinner to meet her. She is an athlete, you know—a swimmer, a barefoot dancer, a polo player and all that sort of thing. As she passed down the long salon of Georgian court in a marvelous dinner gown I said to Mrs. Gould:

"Oh, her figure is too divine."
"I think," said Mrs. Gould, "it's too divivable."

Old Sea Captain Vanishes.

Among the sea's mysteries there is none more interesting than the fate of Capt. Joshua Slocum of Fairhaven, Mass.

Captain Slocum, a retired sea captain sailed around the world in a small boat, with an old clock by way of a chronometer, and not even a dog for companionship.

Captain Slocum completed his three-year trip in 1898, rested for ten years, and then took to sea again in his thirty-six-foot Spray. He was never heard of afterward.

Ostriches by Parcel Post.

From the southeastern corner of the United States in the Florida peninsula to the far northwestern corner in the state of Washington, probably the longest straight-line distance that can be traveled in the continental limits of the country, two baby ostriches were brought to their destination alive and kicking through the medium of the parcel post. The ostrich "peeps" were about the size of full-grown brown Leghorn hens.

Rich Return From Timber Lands.

The state of Washington has realized more than $21,000,000 from the sale of land and timber on original grants to the state by the federal government.

AT REST ON BARREN ISLAND

Land Where Sir Ernest Shackleton Sleeps Was Discovered by the Famous Captain Cook.

South Georgia Island, where Sir Ernest Shackleton will sleep on the fringe of the wild and frozen solitudes against which he opposed the might of a hero's will, is in about the same latitude as Cape Horn, which lies 1,200 miles westward of it.

When Captain Cook was making one of his historic voyages around the world in the Eighteenth century he happened on South Georgia Island, it is recorded. At first he thought it might be the "terra incognita Australis," he was in search of, so he went ashore and as he recorded in his diary, "took possession of the country" in his majesty's name, under a discharge of small arms.

When the great circumnavigator examined his discovery a little more closely and found it to be a mere bunch of icy mountains, he concluded that it was "not worth the discovery." Nevertheless he called this land the Isle of Georgia in honor of his majesty. His majesty, by the way, was none other than George III.

A hundred years later the seafaring men of New England came to the conclusion that South Georgia Island was not as worthless as Captain Cook had supposed. It was a great place for fur seals. They slaughtered more than 1,000,000, virtually exterminating them in that part of the Antarctic. Then came a harvest of "elephant oil," extracted from the blubber of the sea elephant, the giant of the seal family.

HOUSEHOLD WORDS NOT OLD

In Everyday Use Today, but Really Have Not Long Been Incorporated in the Language.

Most persons probably think that the word "starvation" is as old as the language; but it isn't. It was first used in 1775 in a speech made in parliament by Henry Dundas, who in consequence became widely known as "Starvation Dundas."

"Intensify" and "outsider" are two words less than a hundred years old. The English poet, Coleridge, deliberately coined the former word because there was no other in existence to express the particular shade of meaning which he wished to convey; and "outsider" came into being in 1844, during the convention that nominated James K. Polk for President. The delegates were subjected to uncomfortable pressure by the throng of spectators gathered without the hall, and some one happily described it as a pressure from the "outsiders." The term was taken up by the reporters and at once became popular.

Other words unknown until the middle of the Seventeenth century include such now familiar ones as "sculptor," "umbrella," "opera," "suicide" and "peninsula." While Bentley in the Eighteenth century had actually to defend himself for using such strange terms as "timid," "concede," "repudiate," "idiot" and "vernacular," and George Campbell in 1776 hesitated to use such queer new words as "originate," "sentimental" and "criminality."

Napoleon Relic Stolen.

The sofa on which Napoleon I rested on the day before the Battle of Jena has been stolen from the Grunnenbaum Inn by Germans. This is not the first time that relics of the great captain tempted the cupidity of "collectors." In 1864, the saber presented by the city of Paris to Napoleon on the occasion of the birth of the king of Rome was stolen from the castle of Stolzenfelds. This saber had been found, it is said, by the Prussians in the imperial coach after the Battle of Waterloo. The hilt and scabbard were of solid gold, encrusted with precious stones. At the same time the robbers made away with Prince Murat's saber, which was also very valuable, and several other souvenirs, including Blucher's sword.—From Le Petit Parisien. (Translated for the Kansas City Star.)

The Right Way.

Motorists on the highway between Greenfield and Pendleton have been having considerable difficulty in getting through a certain bad spot in the road. A few days ago an automobile sunk to axle depths, but, after a titanic struggle, succeeded in backing out. The destination was forward, however, so the driver went to a farmhouse nearby and asked a boy whether there was any other road he could take to Pendleton.

"Only road to Pendleton," the boy answered. "Ain't no other way."

"Oh, there must be some other way," the motorist insisted.

"Nope, no other way. Just go on into the hole and pa will be along in a little bit an' pull you out for $4."—Indianapolis News.

Jews as Farmers.

Gabriel Davidson, general manager of the Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid society, has issued a report concerning its work. The society's goal has been, to quote the report, "to build up a substantial, progressive and permanent Jewish farming class in this country." Twenty-two years ago, when the organization began to function, there were 216 Jewish farm families in the United States. Today the number exceeds 60,000. In 1900 the total acreage owned by Jewish farmers was 12,029. Today more than 1,000,000 acres are farmed by Jewish hands, and the real estate and personal value of these holdings are above $1,000,000.

Photograph by Wireless.

Through wireless means, supplemented by an instrument some what resembling in its mechanism the human eye, we shall be able before long to talk to a person hundreds or thousands of miles away, and at the same time see that person's face. Conversation by radio will thereby be rendered more intimate and agreeable. We can even watch the other person's changes of expression while he talks—see him smile at a joke while we hear him laugh, etc.

Nikola Tesla, the famous electrician, is responsible for this prediction. He says that he is now trying to perfect the requisite apparatus for this expected new development of radio, which he calls "television."—Exchange.

Boom in Leeches.

After many years of comparative neglect, the humble leech is again coming into its old popularity. But the old leech farms have long disappeared, and modern physicians who claim there are few better methods of relieving inflammatory areas than by the application of these blood-sucking creatures find difficulty in the supply. The "animated mustard plasters" are exported in baskets from Turkey, and Paris has one leech farm selling 130,000 a month, but it is said that chemists in England could easily dispose of double the number they are able to buy.—Scientific American.

A Glimpse of Mars.

The planet Mars, which drew a little nearer to the earth on June 18, seen through the telescope is to the novice a somewhat disappointing object. A wise astronomer never allows a visitor to look at Mars at all, if he can help it. For the casual visitor never realizes that the published drawings of the planet represent the very most that can be seen at the most exceptional moment. In fact, the trained observer cannot see 5 per cent of the whole for 99 per cent of the time. But the novice invariably expects to see the spider webs of canals and he is invariably disappointed.

German Fish for French Waters.

Two hundred thousand small freshwater fish, from German lakes, have been transported to France and safely consigned—without one casualty—in their new homes in the lakes of Picardy, famous for their fine fish. The transaction is a reparations item. The fish were transported in a special train consisting of wagons containing cisterns of water. The purity of the water was renewed every four hours with oxygen.

Recreation.

"I suppose these boarders of yours are here for a rest," remarked Si Simlin.

"No," said Farmer Cornstossel. "They keep playin' games all day an' playin' the phonograph all night. Then when they get good and tired they go back an' appreciate their quiet city homes."

Beginning of Great Industry.

The first bale of cotton exported from this country to Europe was shipped from Charleston, S. C., in 1784.

Sunshades That Sit Over the Hat.
Tourists in Greece during the last summer have been struck by the "hot hats" offered in the streets of Athens. They are of light silk or muslin with-out a crown of any description, as they are built over a large, light frame that fits over the regulation hat. Though known under the name of hats, they are in better truth sunshades. They are said to lessen materially the discomfort of the Mediterranean sun, and to be in general use in Greece. Perhaps we shall yet see them on this side of the ocean.—Scientific American.

Misplaced Energy.
"Son, I'm afraid you are not trying to make yourself useful about the office."
"But father—"

"I'll admit that the gallantry of your conduct toward our prettiest stenographer could not be improved on. Raising a window to give her fresh air and putting one down to prevent her from catching cold; fetching her a glass of water at frequent intervals and taking her out to lunch is all very well in its way, but it's no great help to the business."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Yukon Timber In Demand.
For all the timber produced in the Yukon there is a local demand, so that there is no export. During the great rush of mines in 1898 there was a pressing demand for lumber for the building of houses, sluice boxes and the other equipment of mining camps. Sawmills were established at Dawson, Selkirk and Whitehorse. Large quantities of wood were required for fuel, and that demand continues. Mining also still calls for large quantities of timber for shafts and tunnels.

Human Hair as a Commodity.
Forty bales of human hair is one item of a cargo reaching Seattle from China. Each 133-pound bale is worth more than $400 here; our annual imports exceed $500,000, and most of the hair goes into hair nets.—Scientific American.

Curious Arizona Cactus.
In the Rincon valley, 18 miles from Tucson, Ark., is a giant cactus, the summit of which has been so deformed as to make it an object of curiosity to visitors. The inhabitants of the valley are proud of their freak cactus and refuse to allow botanists to cut the tree to determine the cause of the deformation. The botanists think it is due to the work of insects, but the country people believe that a stroke of lightning was the determining cause. This species of cactus, the Cereus, not infrequently develops strange forms. In this case the head has assumed the appearance of a gigantic cauliflower.

First Plant Life Probably Aquatic.
As all animal life is dependent directly or indirectly upon plant life, it follows that the earliest life on the earth must have been plant life. As at that time there was little or no land the earliest plant life was probably aquatic.

ONLY FEW DAYS OF SUNSHINE

Composers of Popular Ditties Seldom Repeat, Though They Never Seem to Give Up Hope.

Tin Pan alley, like its lyrical refrain, has its joys and sorrows. Ob-scure youths with a flair for popular ditties are suddenly showered with gold. Broadway welcomes them with open arms. In the dazzling new world the gleaners of the White Way are soon on the trail. O. O. McIntyre writes in the New York Mail.

Four composers whose tunes were whistled in every city and hamlet have in the last few days fallen upon evil days. Still another—the composer of 50 successful songs—died friendless in the charity ward of the bleak Blackwell island charity hospital.

It is possible to count on the fingers of one hand song writers who have made fortunes and kept them. The two most noted examples are Irving Berlin and Gene Buck. The Society of Authors, Composers and Publishers has voted donations amounting to $1,500 to indigent composers during the last month.

The money comes suddenly and Broadway has its hall fellows who are ever ready to aid in the spending. There are quite a few composers and lyricists who have dashed off a song in a publishing house in a single afternoon and received royalties of more than $50,000.

Because of this miracle they believe that they can do the same thing almost any afternoon they gather around the piano. The truth is that no composer has more than four distinct song hits. A hit, incidentally, is not a mere successful song. It means that the sales must amount to more than 100,000 copies.

BLOW AFFECTS THE NERVES

Sudden Shock to Brain Causes Sensation Known to Many of Us as "Seeing Stars."

Each of the five senses has its special set of nerves through which sensations are recorded in the brain.

With the exception of the nerves of touch, which extend to all parts of the body, these perform special functions for certain individual organs, the nerves of sight being connected with the eyes, those of smell with the nose, those of taste with the mouth, and those of hearing with the ears.

Whenever the brain receives a sudden shock, such as would follow a blow on the head, the vision nerves are disturbed in such a way as to produce the effect of seeing flashes of light, or "stars."

The sensitive eye-nerves cannot be jarred without producing this effect of light, while a severe blow will often react in a similar manner on the nerves of hearing, thus leading the person who is struck to imagine that he is listening to unusual noises.

Fresh Water in the Sea.

A spring of fresh water, which wells up through the sea off Elbury cove, Churston Ferrers, in Torbay, off the British coast, is attracting a large number of visitors.

This is the best time of the year to locate the spring, and yachts are being anchored at the spot, so that visitors may taste the water.

The real source has never been found. It is surmised that the waters from the rain fall near Elbury and the northern hills finds a course in the same valley, and then forces itself up through the sea at a distance of 90 to 100 yards off the beach.

Preparedness.

In one of the Southern states the negroes are great patrons of a matrimonial agency. One darky, anxious to find a wife for his son, went to this agent, who handed him a list of lady clients. Running through this the man came upon his own wife's name, entered as desirous of obtaining a husband between the ages of twenty-eight and thirty.

Forgetting about his son the darky hurried home to announce his discovery to his wife. She was not at all disturbed.

"Yes," she said. "I done give him my name. I puts it down when you was so sick in de winter and de doctor he says we must prepare for de worst."—Saturday Evening Post.

Cumulative Effect.

Some years ago there sat as a member of the state legislature in Colorado a quaint character known as Uncle Boggs. In a speech delivered by one of the members a gentleman of the other party was hotly assailed, the latter, however, disdaining to reply to the castigation. The speaker concluded his remarks by pointing to the object of his attack:

"There he sits, Mr. Speaker—there he sits, mute, silent and dumb!" "Yes Mr. Speaker," interrupted Uncle Boggs, "and he isn't saying a word."—Pittsburg Leader.

Some Shot.

Marvin, age nine, from Darlington, was visiting his aunt in Frankfort, when she overheard a playmate ask him whether the boys played marbles in Darlington. He replied, "I'll say they do; there 's a boy there got 25,000."

Thinking he might have the number 1,000 or more too high, his aunt said: "No, no, Marvin you don't mean 25,000, you mean—"

"Yes, I do, auntie, cause he never loses."—Innapolis News.

WHOM DO YOU 'TAKE AFTER'?

Men Who Resemble Their Mothers Said to Be More Intelligent—Reverse True of Women.

Do you resemble your father or mother?

Men who resemble their mothers are always more intelligent than men who resemble their fathers, according to William Windsor, psychologist.

"If a man resembles his father, his skull is usually not symmetrical and he is not as intelligent as one who resembles his mother," said Mr. Windsor. "But if a woman resembles her father, she is usually more intelligent than the woman who resembles her mother. When a girl resembles her mother she becomes too effeminate to be intelligent. Most girls, very fortunately, resemble their father."

Mr. Windsor has examined more than 50,000 heads in all parts of the North American continent.

"You see this skull," Mr. Windsor held up a specimen. "This was the head of a negro beggar woman in New Orleans. One can easily tell that she lacked intelligence by the dimensions of the skull. This skull, however, (he held up another), 'belonged to' Piker Meyers of Pittsburgh. He distinguished himself by seizing a red-hot poker from the stove and ramming it through a man's stomach." The skull was short and thick, while that of the negro woman was long and narrow.

CHOSE POOR TIME TO LISTEN

Small Donald Got Very Little Satisfaction Out of What Elders Called "Intermission."

The family was encircled about the radio listening to WLK's program. The receivers were being interchanged at intervals so that each member got a fair share of the entertainment.

"What's on now?" was a frequent remark and father with the receivers clamped on his ears would talk loud, saying, "Plano. Fine! Fine!" Then after a pause, "Here, mother, you want to hear this vocal number now?" and mother would take over the receivers.

It came Betty's turn. She enjoyed a number and then she heard intermission announced. "What's on now, Betty?" someone asked, and smilingly she said, "It is intermission now."

At once eight-year-old Donald put out his hands appealingly for the receivers saying, "I want to hear some of that."

Everybody laughed and some tried to explain, but he insisted on hearing "some of it." Mother said, "Let him," so Donald listened to intermission and finally announced rather disgustedly, "Why, I don't hear nothin'."—Indianapolis News.

To Protect Christian Missions.

The new political status of Egypt carries with it certain provisos whose exact limits are not yet defined, but whose general character and scope are known. The first proviso, however, seems to insure the permanency of the Christian missionary work. Under the new constitution all religions are free and are protected by the state, in so far as they do not interfere with public order or morals. All Egyptian citizens are declared equal before the law and all are eligible for public offices and honors.

This situation presents to all of the Christian missionary work in Egypt an unusual opportunity. The Christian educational work is especially face to face with a challenge seldom equaled.

Fine Medieval Buildings.

There are many remains of Roman buildings in different parts of Europe. Their bricks are much smaller than ours, more like the modern tiles in shape. The workers in England called tilers (we have all heard of Wat Tyler) were probably brickmakers. Two fine examples of brick architecture in the England of medieval days are Hampton court and Lambeth palace London.

Blunt Railroad Owner Simply Couldn't See Any Sense in an Automatic Signal System.

A certain western railroad which has not yet been "reorganized" is still owned and operated by the blunt-spoken old lumberman who built it. Last year, after a particularly severe accident upon it, the agent for an automatic block signal system called and tried to get a contract for installation.

The old lumberman examined the device attentively and seemed much interested.

"Your chief engineer recommends it highly," said the agent. "He told me to use his name with you and he would see you later."

"Well," said the lumberman, "I guess it is a pretty machine. I like to sit here and see it work myself. It's so all-fired sure. But come to using it on my road—now, young feller, I've been running a railroad some longer'n you and I'll tell you something.

"Accidents is bound to happen about once in so often, no matter what you do. I've got three brakemen in jail now and I've sworn to hang the next one, and the public is pretty well satisfied. But what satisfaction is it going to be for any one if I go to work and hang an old automatic machine?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

REMINDED COLONEL OF HOME

Use of Word "Tote" Brought to Virginian Joyous Memories of His Boyhood Days.

Colonel Culpepper came from Virginia so many years ago that he thinks he is a New Yorker, and he has lost most of his Virginia speech. Occasionally, when excited, he uses a word that is seldom heard in this city, but generally his speech is correct in syntax and orthoepy.

"I was made homesick today," he said, "when I saw a word I often heard in my youth, but which is seldom used in the North. It was the word 'tote.' Some man who does business on the cash and carry plan has named his store the 'Tote Service.' Tote is a mighty good word, and when I was a boy we used it regularly. It is good Elizabethan English. Up here you use the word 'carry.' Down in Virginia we use that word in a broader sense. We carry a horse to water, carry a girl to church or home therefrom. If we mean to take up and convey bodily we say tote.

"The store sign took me back to my boyhood—back to the time I toted a girl's school books when I carried her to school."—New York Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Building a Church in a Day.

Rome was not built in a day, but then Rome was very much behind the times! On the outskirts of Chicago a feat that would have astonished the Romans has been performed, and it sounds a little startling even to our ears. A contract was signed on a Friday for the building of a church. The document stipulated that the church should be ready for dedication on the Sunday following. Just one day was left for the putting up of a building which was to hold about three thousand people! At dawn on the Saturday morning the workmen started, and at seven o'clock that evening the men were putting in windows, doors, and electric light. No floor was laid, but by midnight all else was done and the dedication services were held the following day. This feat had a parallel in Pontiac county, Que., about forty years ago.

Infallible Weather Signs.

Weather signs are as follows: A red sunrise with lowering clouds later means rain; a morning fog usually melts away before noon; a deep blue sky means fair weather; a growing whiteness in the sky forecasts a storm; fogs assure settled weather as a rule; a gray lowering sunset is a forerunner of rain.

The Palace Pigeons.

One of the favorite roosting places of the ringdove or wood pigeon is in the grounds of Buckingham palace. Soon after three o'clock in the afternoon now they may be observed gathering in the upper branches of the tallest trees. On city of the stormy days, such as we have recently, when the western sky is stormy, the delicate outline of the birds and twigs against the setting sun is blotched with the forms of scores of roosting birds, huddling with fluffed-up feathers upon their stony perch.

Obituary

William E. Soper was born at Auggres, Arenac county, on January 3, 1887, and departed this life at his home in Plainfield township on Sunday morning, Sept. 3, at eight o'clock. With the exception of four years in his infancy, practically all his life was spent in the neighborhood, where he ended his life.

On May 13, 1912, he was married to Miss Iva Ehmecke and to this union two sons were born.

Besides his immediate family and an aged father, he leaves two brothers and two sisters to mourn his untimely death. The two brothers, Leonard and Mertin live in Detroit and the three sisters, Edith, May and Maude, reside in this county. Edith, as the wife of Thos. Robinson, May as Mrs. Chas. Love and Maude as Mrs. Elmer Graves.

Before his conversion, he was honest and upright, and a man of good and right principles and since that time, November 1920, his life and profession have been such as to command the respect and confidence of all who knew him. In his home he was very much attached to his family and they to him.

He had been unwell for several days before he finally took to his bed, for pressure of business seemed to make it necessary for him to keep going. So he was a much sicker man when he was first confined to his bed than his friends thought. Malarial fever in a virulent form quickly made him a victim and all the community was called to mourn.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. I. C. Grabill at the Reno Baptist church on Wednesday afternoon and interment was made in the Reno cemetery.

About 40 friends of Mrs. Lewis Nunn gathered at her home on the evening of her birthday, Sept. 2, taking her completely by surprise. The evening was pleasantly spent with games and music, and refreshments were served. Mrs. Nunn was presented with a set of dishes with the best wishes of the friends assembled.

With the school year beginning, a larger number than usual of our young people have left to continue their high school work. John LeClair, Thelma Humphrey and Faye Yawger to East Tawas; Thomas White, Rose Ewing, Rose Morrison and Genevieve Eaton to Tawas City; Mina and Carvel Nunn to Bay City, and Leah Brown to Saginaw.

A deep grief spread through the community last Monday as the message telling of the accidental death of Clarence Cowie at the Rogers dam was made known. Full particulars of the accident are not known at this writing, but in some manner he touched a live wire while repairing a generator at the power plant of the Consumers Power Co. at Rogers near Big Rapids. Clarence has a large circle of friends here having spent five years with his uncle, Dr. A. H. Cowie, and attended school, completing our high school course. He has since held several positions of trust and served in the A. E. F. one and one-half years. He has been with the Consumers Power Co. nearly a year. The body was brought to Hale Wednesday and the funeral services were held in the Baptist church. The remains followed by a large number of mourners and veterans of the World War and sorrowing friends, was carried to the last resting place in Evergreen cemetery and laid beside his father, Dr. Walter Cowie, and his brother, Sheldon. Obituary next week.

Ancient Olympian Games.

For the first 50 years from 776 to 725 B. C. the Olympian games were merely a 300-yard foot race. Then came the Pentathlon—running, jumping, wrestling, discus throwing and javelin throwing. Next was added the Pancratium, a combination of boxing and wrestling. Later chariot races. Athletes were required to train ten months and spend one month before the contests at Olympia.

Lily of the Valley.

The number of its names testifies to the popularity of the lily of the valley. Prettiest of all these is "lady to heaven," which refers to its quality of purity and humility. The French call it "Muguet de Mal," the Germans, "Mai Blume."

Area of World's Coal Fields.

The world's coal fields cover at least 1,200,000 square miles.

LEADS IN HOME OWNERSHIP

According to Population, Canada is at the Head of All Nations in That Respect.

Canada has a larger percentage of home owners in its population than any other nation, according to recently compiled figures of the census department.

London, Ontario, leads among Canadian cities with 80 per cent of its inhabitants owning their own homes. Hamilton and Calgary have 80 per cent, Halifax 51 per cent, Vancouver 45 per cent, Edmonton 45 per cent, Winnipeg 44 per cent, Ottawa 40 per cent, Montreal 5 per cent.

Montreal, the largest city in Canada, pulls down the general average to 35 per cent for the ten cities. Taking into consideration the country districts, it is believed by the census experts that nearly 50 per cent of the people of Canada own their own homes. Canada is a land of farm owners where the tenant farmer is almost unknown.

The ten cities covered by the figures range in number of residences from 9,000 to 134,000. Of 72 cities in the United States with a population of 100,000 or more, only two, Des Moines and Grand Rapids, it is declared, have a 50 per cent population of home owners. Des Moines tops the list with 51.1 per cent while Grand Rapids has only a shade fewer. Recent government statistics in the United States show that 45.9 per cent of the people of the United States own their own homes and 54.4 per cent live in rented quarters.

GOT VERIFICATION FROM DAD

Small Boy Satisfied That Malachy Was Right About the Steering Gear of Bulldozers.

An eminent college professor is the father of a small boy who is very observant and inquisitive, and is the employer of a man who has much Irish wit and humor.

One day Alfred, the small boy, was playing with a cat in the stable while Malachy cleaned the harness.

"Sny, Malachy," the child asked, "why do cats always land on their feet?"

"They steer thimselfes wid their tail."

"Well, how do rabbits stee, themselves? They haven't long tails, only a stub."

"Wid their ears; that's phwat they have their long ears for."

"How does a bulldog stee himself? He doesn't have long ears or a long tail."

"Wid his bark."

"At this the boy looked doubtful. Presently he ran to his father's study, and in a few minutes came back to the stable.

"Malachy!"

"Yis!"

"That's true what you told me about bulldozers. I asked papa, and he read something to mother out of a book about 'barks that steer against the wind.'"—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Unexpected Cander.

My most embarrassing moment occurred one day last winter. I was attending a church bazaar with a friend of whom I was very fond. All went well until we came to the pillow booth, where I made my horrible break. Quite confidentially I told her: "Now, some of those pillows aren't so bad looking, and some of them are really quite good looking, but did you ever in your life see one in as poor taste as that?"

My friend looked at me queerly for a moment and then said: "I'll admit it is in poor taste, but, then, you see, I am rather noted for my lack of taste, and I made that."

I made a hasty exit, and have not since had the courage to face her, though she insists on considering it a joke.—Chicago Tribune.

Effect of War Against Disease.

The effect of successful war against disease and death is to make life better worth living. There is no doubt that whole cities and even countries have lived at a low physical level of well-being. Settlers in malarial districts of the United States are pertinent examples. For them life was a sad affair. Low death and sickness rates signify a more exuberant vitality, and more general enjoyment of life. The possibilities in a nation which really enjoys life are limitless.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Double Cylinder Air Motor.

An air motor, on the order of those used in pneumatic tools, but of such extreme compactness that it is no bigger than a safety-match box, weighs only three ounces, and yet develops over half a horsepower, was an outstanding feature of a recent model exposition at Dublin, Ireland. The motor, illustrated and described in Popular Mechanics Magazine, is double-acting, with two opposed cylinders of three-quarter-inch bore and stroke, and runs on compressed air at 100 to 300 pounds' pressure.

Bottled Fresh Air for City.

With summer all minds turn toward vacations, and seek new scenes and cooler airs than the city affords. A German savant is said to have found the means of procuring pure mountain air inclosed in earthen tubes for home folks. An English savant is said to have discovered the means of conveying sea breezes to city homes. All this is very nice, but to complete these inventions a third savant would have to find the means of offering in the domicile the joys of open air!

SEEN THROUGH ENGLISH EYES

Traveler Declares American Women Splendidly Domesticated and Versatile to a High Degree.

An entertaining way for the American woman to see herself as she is seen is to follow the comments made by the Manchester Guardian's correspondent in America, Muriel Harris:

In her home the American woman is domestic almost in the German sense. There is no handling over the kitchen entirely to the cook, for instance. There is no hard-and-fast line which leaves this to the maid and that to the mistress. Domestic crises are more frequent even than in England, but when they occur it is no special tragedy, because the mistress of the house is practically always able to fill in the gap without shaking the foundations of the household. American women can nearly all of them cook and sew and do anything in the house from managing the furnace to seeing that the electric fuses are in order.

In our sense, she is far more domesticated and less well educated than is the European girl. The rather casual education of the girl gives full play to any versatility she may have, and there are, correspondingly, brilliant flashes in her, as also unexpected failures. To the foreigner, it is odd to see her scrubbing her own sink—a very nice white sink, by the way—and attending assiduously lectures on French—all with the same enthusiasm. It completely dispels the idea of the luxury-loving, restless woman that in Europe she is commonly regarded as being.

PEAT BOGS TO BE UTILIZED

Commercial Value of Immense Deposits in Northwest Germany Has Not Hitherto Been Realized.

The more or less successful installations in northwest Germany for the utilization of the immense peat bogs that exist there has led to the suggestion in England that the huge bog of Allen in Ireland may next become a great center of industry. The German undertaking has contemplated the bringing of a large part of the bogs under cultivation, together with the conversion of the peat into fuel, to be employed in the development of electrical energy for agricultural purposes, as well as for supplying light and power to a number of towns situated within a radius of fifty miles. A network of canals is, it is reported, in process of formation to drain the ground, and the peat dredged out is to be utilized in the way just described. It is estimated that the gas produced from the peat will furnish work to the amount of 600 horsepower hours for each ton, and a large quantity of ammonia will be recovered for use as fertilizer.—Washington Star.

Steel Has Great Cutting Power.

"High-speed steel" for cutting tools has been well known for years, and an improved form of this material has been introduced in Sheffield, England. It is reported that this steel has four times the cutting power of any other in use. The composition is, it appears, still a secret, but it is said to be the first "high-speed steel" that can be hardened in cold water without danger. It can also be hardened with oil or in a cold blast.

Tools made of it wear out much less rapidly and require much less grinding than those of the older kinds of steel. They will also go on working at high temperature longer. But the makers themselves say that this steel does not by any means mark the final development of "high-speed steel."—Washington Star.

Imperfection at a Premium.

It was not so long ago that brick "seconds" sold cheaply and were used only in foundations and low-grade work which the eye never found. They were the misshapen, distorted part of each baking and the manufacturers were glad to dispose of them. But finally a builder with an eye for the artistic noticed their colors, which ran from the natural red to odd browns and blues. He experimented and found they had an ancient appearance even when newly laid and, when capped by a rough roof of off-colored slate, carried a distinct atmosphere of antiquity. As a result, strange, queerly attractive houses are appearing all through the country and brick "seconds" are quoted far above their perfect mates.—Wall Street Journal.

He Had Help.

An alumna of Radcliff was helping in the recent drive to raise money for the Radcliff endowment fund by selling soap, says the Indianapolis News. She employed two small boys to take the soap to the houses of some of her friends. Little Johnnie, with the boxes under each arm, marched up to one door and knocked.

"Why are you selling the soap," inquired the lady of the house.

"To raise $3,000,000 for Radcliff."

"Three million dollars! And are you trying to raise it all by yourself?"

"No," came the quick response, "there's another little boy helping me."

Hard-Fisted Fielder.

An outfielder of the Los Angeles team in a recent game with San Francisco collided with the fence in making a wonderful catch and was knocked unconscious, and when he was carried to the clubhouse the ball was in his hand in a viselike grip. Most managers would be satisfied if their players would clutch the ball like that when they are conscious.

MILLS STATION

Several from here attended the West Branch fair last Thursday.

Mrs. Rose Webster, who has been caring for her daughter, Mrs. E. Cole, who has been ill, is spending a few days at her own home.

GOOD ROADS MODERN MARVEL

The good roads movement of the present century might be compared with the development of the railroads in this country during the nineteenth century. No less marvelous than the rapid spread of the steel rails to practically every county in every state is the broadening scope of hard-surfaced roads in this generation, doing for the pleasure and commercial benefit of the people in remotest settlements what the iron roadway did in the pioneer days.

Good roads have come to stay. Not only that, but new roads are needed in sections yet handicapped by lack of them, and education must go on until every point may be reached in comfort and at small expense of time and money, and farmers and other producers secure the outlet for their goods which tends to expand trade, change loss to profit and develop rich sections inconveniently placed.

The good roads column in the Tawas Herald contains much information in connection with improved methods in construction and maintenance and should be followed by all readers who wish to see the rapid development of this phase of our national life.

WHY WATCHES LOSE TIME

The reason of variations of the time keeping qualities of a well regulated watch have been the subject of investigation by scientists lately. The popular theories that animal magnetism and bodily temperature are causes are denied by the investigators. Rather, different rhythms of movement as well as the angle at which a watch hangs are given as the real cause for irregularities.—Auburn Advertiser.

CHINESE CHORUS GIRLS

In some Chinese theaters the stage manager has an economical custom of employing dummy figures cut out of cardboard and the like to swell the ranks of the chorus without at the same time swelling the salary list.

Odd Name for Secret Society.

The Order of Mules was the name of a secret society organized by farmers in West Virginia and Kentucky, just after the close of the Civil war, to put a stop to horse stealing and other forms of lawlessness.

Potential Wealth for Argentina.

All the plants cultivated in Europe for the sake of their volatile oils will grow readily in some parts of Argentina and experiments show that they will give a yield of oil equal in quantity and quality to the European products.

Jane Austen's One Kiss.

There is not a single lovers' kiss in all Jane Austen's novels, says A. B. Walkley. One kiss, and only one, is mentioned in the letters; but that was only one a gentleman wanted to give and there is no evidence that he bestowed it.
