PIONEER DAYS IN SHERMAN TOWNSHIP

(Editor's Note—The following paper was given by George A. Pringle at the Pioneer picnic held a short time ago. Mr. Pringle was a resident of Sherman township for about thirty years, and is familiar with its history.)
The earliest settlers in this township were Joseph Jordan, Sr., Matthias Schneider, Patrick McGrady, Thomas H. Wood, Charles Wood, Anthony Droege, Thomas Shepard, James Norris, John McNally, William Draeger, William and Edgar Kohn and Reuben Barstow. These men mostly all took homesteads from the United States and all settled in the township between the years 1868 and 1872. They were a mixture of nationalities of English, Irish and German, all emigrating from the old countries except Shepard and Barstow. There was also one more American whom I had almost forgotten to mention, namely Smith Gregory and a very distinguished character.
Most of these men procured employment at the Alabaster company plant in various capacities, and after building log huts on their homesteads moved their families in and tramped home on Saturday nights with a back load of provisions on a trail, and after getting sparsely established on their claims with small clearings the women would work and clear land and plant crops in many cases, and also tramp out to Alabaster and carry in sacks of flour and other necessities through the week. And many a time did the German mother carry a load of vegetables and other produce to Alabaster, 9 miles, and return home with a load of groceries.
Then the question of a school soon confronted them, and the first school house was built on the southwest corner of Section 23 on a little knoll, it being a small log building about 16 by 20 feet with three windows of one sash each to furnish light. The first teacher I get any record of was a young man by the name of Jackson. Later on other school districts were organized and today the township boasts of five very good school buildings.
Back in the pioneer days the settlers held their town meetings in some neighbor's living room, and not more than thirty years ago I have attended township caucus by the side of the road with a small dry goods box for the secretary's desk, and on election day the polls were held in an old blacksmith shop. Now the township boasts of a nice brick town hall.
The old pioneers all have passed on to their last resting place except Mr. Droege and John McNally.
In the fall and spring of the year it was almost impossible to reach the settlement with a horse and wagon and for about three miles the settlers had to fall trees and make a trail over them to keep out of the water; and not later than 30 years ago Smith Gregory had to walk logs for two miles and carry his groceries on his back. They all made a practice of getting in the heavy bulk of their supplies in winter.
The first postoffice was established about the year 1877 with James McIvor as postmaster, who operated a sawmill about two miles east of the present postoffice site. Some years later he moved it to the present locality and one, John Arn, a lumberman, became postmaster and held the office until about the year 1896, when Geo. A. Pringle was appointed postmaster and holds that distinction until the present time with Walter H. Pringle as deputy.
Referring back to the pioneer days, about 84 years ago the township boasted of 14 settlers, and today there are about 120 residences in Sherman township and only one-third of its lands are improved as farm lands, not.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

The republican county convention to elect delegates to the state convention to be held at Muskegon Sept. 27, was held at the court house Thursday forenoon, and the following delegates were elected: Mrs. Anna Matthewson, Joseph Light, Will McGillivray, H. M. Belknap and G. A. Prescott, sr.
The convention unanimously adopted the following resolutions:
"Resolved, That we, the representatives of the republican party of Iosco county, in convention assembled, reaffirm our allegiance to the principles upon which this party is founded, and pledge our efforts to the carrying out of those principles in state and national affairs. And we urge upon the voters of Iosco county the necessity of supporting at the coming election in November those candidates who are pledged to support the principles of the republican party, which have ever been the bedrock upon which our national prosperity is founded.
"We sincerely deplore the terrible conditions in the Near East and urge our government to use every means to ameliorate the situation of the Armenians and other Christian peoples who are suffering from the inhuman persecution of the Turkish army. The protection of these countries where civilization had its inception should be the duty of every Christian nation.
"We condemn unsparsingly the action of our republican national committee, Fred M. Warner, in using his position to further the candidacy of one contestant in the recent primary against that of Senator Townsend, who has ever been a faithful servant of the people and a strong adherent to republican principles. We also condemn the Detroit News and allied newspapers for their vicious attacks upon Senator Newberry, whom the highest tribunal of the nation has vindicated in his fight against un-American opponents.
"We heartily commend our county officials for their efficient work and fearless manner in which they have upheld the law in our county during the past two years. Also the work of the state police in bringing to the bar of justice offenders against the law of the state and nation."

CHURCH LAYMEN END SUCCESSFUL CONFERENCE

Laymen of the Methodist church for the eastern half of Michigan and the upper peninsula last Friday closed the second annual gathering of the Detroit conference laymen's association at Pontiac after a two days program, which was said by leading Methodists to have been the most constructive ever given by the laymen of all Methodism.
Men of national and state reputation were on the program which was given in its entirety, not one speaker failing to do his part. Every phase of the church work as it relates to the laymen was presented by speakers, followed by live discussions with the result that the men of the Detroit conference joining with those of the Michigan conference will, the coming year, be able to do the best work ever attempted by the laity of the church.
Prominent newspaper men, including Grove Patterson, managing editor of the Toledo Blade, commercial travelers, specialists in the various branches of the church work, manufacturers who employ hundreds of men, professional men, and others who are giving not only of their money but actual time, were on the program so that the laymen were given many new angles in which to push the work of the church and the uplift of their respective communities. Various walks of life are also represented by the officers which was elected as follows:
President: Frederick H. Zeigen, Ypsilanti; first vice president J. L. Transue, Flint; second vice president, T. O. Huckle, Ypsilanti; secretary, D. D. Spellman, Detroit; treasurer, R. S. Campbell, Port Huron.
Lewis B. Alger, a retired manufacturer of Detroit, is the director of lay activities of the Detroit area, which includes both conferences in the state and is devoting his entire time without pay for the advancement of Michigan Methodist men.
Before closing their sessions Friday the laymen's association went on record as repudiating the article which appeared in a Detroit paper Friday morning, stating that the laymen were against having district superintendents and other officials which the article stated were a financial burden and unnecessary. The laymen are said to be working in hearty accord with the church officials and in their resolutions asked the Detroit paper to retract the unwarranted statements published.

STATE WORKERS AT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The Sunday schools of Iosco county are exceedingly fortunate in securing for their convention to be held in Whittemore on Tuesday, Sept. 26, the new state secretary, Mr. J. H. Engle, and the new superintendent of the children's division, Miss Rothenbach, both of Lansing.
Every Sunday school in the county should be represented by its officers and the entire teaching force, and organized classes should send their officers. If you want a bigger and better Sunday school, see that your leaders come in contact with these experts.
Whittemore expects you and can take care of you.

FALL GRAINS CAN USE SOIL FOODS

The right kind of fertilizer applied to fall grains will be a first class investment, declares Dr. M. M. McCool, head of the soils department at M. A. C. Farmers should distinguish carefully, however, between their treatment of light and heavy soils, if they expect to obtain the best results. Light soils need nitrogen and phosphorus both, but heavy soils respond only to phosphorus.
Dr. McCool has the following to say regarding fertilization of light soils: "A mixture carrying two per cent ammonia and twelve per cent phosphoric acid applied at the rate of 250 or more pounds per acre is very promising and this should be added by means of a fertilizer attachment on the grain drill at the time of seeding. In addition 75 to 100 pounds of nitrate of soda should be added early in the spring or at the time growth begins. This may be spread broadcast by hand."

By delaying this latter operation until spring the nitrates are not lost during the winter rains and thaws. Instead of the nitrate of soda stable manure may be used.
Heavy soils need phosphates in the main, according to Dr. McCool, and unless they have been depleted of their humus there is no need for applying commercial nitrogen to them. "The use of stable manure liberally reinforced with acid phosphate is a very satisfactory procedure for small grain growers on heavy soils" says Dr. McCool. "Not less than 200 pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate or an equivalent amount of treble phosphate should be applied per acre and in many instances 300 pounds would doubtless be more profitable." Experiment with acid phosphate applied to oats, wheat and clover on southern Michigan farms showed greatly increased yields.

UPPER STATE SECTION TO HAVE SOIL SURVEY

Four northern Michigan counties situated in the so-called cutover area in the upper end of the lower peninsula, will be reached by state and federal soil survey workers during the coming fall, according to announcement at Lansing this week by Dr. M. M. McCool, head of the M. A. C. soils department.
Four men from the college staff, headed by J. O. Veatch, of the soils department, and an equal number from the United States bureau of soils comprise the survey team. Presque Isle, Alpena, Montmorency and Cheboygan are the upper counties on the list for survey work. Other counties which have already been covered in the state include Berrien, St. Joseph, Kalamazoo, Ottawa, Manistee and Ontonagon.

It's the fellow who never had brains enough to attempt to put what few weak and sickly ideas he has on paper that makes the most fun of high school graduation essays. The young people may never save the country with their literary efforts, but we should give them credit for trying.

ALWAYS WHITE MAN'S FRIEND

Washakie, chief of the eastern band of Shoshoni Indians, was always friendly with the whites and magnificent fighter against his red enemies. More than 9,000 emigrants over the Oregon trail signed a paper extolling his kindness in helping to recover lost stock, in aiding them over dangerous crossings, in leading back men who had strayed and become lost. This was in the Shoshoni country of Wyoming and during the great migrations of the fifties.

In personal appearance he is described as being tall and powerful of build, of dignified bearing. When a young man he was autocratic as a chief and refused hospitality to any horse thief or vagabond. He retained his great popularity in his tribe by his victories over the Blackfeet and Crows. He was employed at times by the American Fur company, and more than once saved hunters and trappers from death.

At the age of 70 the average white man begins to think of retiring. Not so with Washakie. Some of the newest generation decided he should be deposited.

Washakie vanished and was missing for two months. The council met to elect his successor. The old chief entered the lodge with dramatic abruptness and threw on the ground six enemy scalps he had taken while away. He continued as chief. Men of his hand served as scouts for the government after the Custer defeat.—Adventure Magazine.

BROUGHT IT ON THEMSELVES

According to Uncle Henry, Men Liberally Surrendered First Place to the Female Sex.

"I see where they are going to take the words 'obey' and 'serve' out of the marriage service entirely," commented Barney, the cigar-stand man. "No, that they meant anything for some time," he added sarcastically. "Darned if I know what's got into the women lately. Before long they'll grab the pants, and we'll be wearin' Mother Hubbards an' swappin' recipes over the back fence. From now on I won't take off anything at night but my hat, and I'm even goin' to look that up."

"It's all our own fault," Uncle Henry remarked philosophically. "We started the whole business when we gave up our velvets an' satins an' turned bright clothes over to the female of the species. It was goin' against nature, Barney, an' nature never forgives. Look around yourself an' you'll see that the male bird is always the one with the top-knot, the long tail an' the brilliant plumage. Back in the days when we ordered our business suits from the steel mill an' it took a whole herd of silkworms to turn out a simple walkin' suit for us you didn't hear anything about equal rights, did you? No sirree, women never peeped until we stepped out of our fiery hose an' doublets an' ostrich plumes an' put on the hard-bolled hat an' pin-check pants of modern civilization."—Collier's.

Murat Brave, but a Coward.

Murat was a most singular character. He loved—I may say adored—me. Order him to attack four or five thousand men in such a direction, it was done in a moment; but leave him to himself, he was an imbecile without judgment. I cannot conceive how so brave a man could be such a coward. He was nowhere brave except before the enemy. But take him into the cabinet, he was a poltroon without judgment or decision.—Napoleon.

FOR THE EYES OF POSTERITY

Satisfactory Way Said to Have Been Found to Preserve Newspapers for Indefinite Period.

How to so pickle newspapers that they can be preserved indefinitely in the public libraries is a problem which has apparently been solved, according to the American Paper and Pulp Association.

Eight years of experimenting, participated in by three big New York newspapers at a cost of $5,000 a year each, under the supervision of the New York public library, has taught librarians how to preserve for posterity newspaper files. The solution seems simple, being the mounting of each newspaper sheet between two sheets of thin Japanese tissue, shutting the air from the original sheets, reducing its legibility but slightly, and strengthening the page. Bound volumes of the mounted pages are now in constant daily use, and are free from the wear and tear which destroyed the untreated newspapers.

The New York experiments have been so successful that a big Western newspaper has sent representatives to New York to study and adopt the practice for use there. The first investigation was made in Boston, and the library there tried to persuade the newspapers to print library editions on an extra paper, but the expense was too great. This is now done by a London paper, and was tried by a Brooklyn paper, but the cost was prohibitive.

In the New York experiments silk was first used, but the Japanese tissue was found the best for the purpose, as it hermetically sealed the newspaper pages from the air. Shells, varnishes and other substances were tried, with little success. Under the method now in use the operator wets a glass or steel-covered table, lays down a sheet of tissue; with the pasting machine, rice paste is put on, then in turn the newspaper page, paste and tissue, when the page is dried and pressed under a gas-heated mangle.

CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Precipitate Individual Foresaw Hard Task in Squaring Himself With His Fellow Citizens.

Clad in knickers and driving home from college two girls stopped at Noblesville. While there they went into the library.

When they came out into the street, most of the town was out to see them. Deciding that knickers must not be the thing in Noblesville, they hurried to get under the shelter of their car.

A man came up to them and invited them to stay longer as guests of the town. They refused, saying that they were in a hurry to get to Warsaw. "Warsaw?" he stammered. "Why, aren't you the two girls who are bumping your way from New York to Indianapolis, and whose picture was in the paper this afternoon? We have been expecting two girls all day and as soon as I saw you go into the library I thought you were the ones, and had gone in to see what the Noblesville press had to say about you, and I hurried around and told everybody you were here. What'll I do?"—Indianapolis News.

Walking to Learn the World.

President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia has lately given another example of his practical idealism and wise foresight. He is furnishing the funds for a walking tour of the world this summer by students of Prague university. In the group are two Czechs, a Serb, a Bulgarian and a Russian. After walking through Yugoslavia and Bulgaria the students will go to Constantinople and then to China and Japan. Thence passage will be taken to San Francisco and the leading cities of the United States will be visited on foot. Prague university will publish a report of the expedition. President Masaryk knows the folly of national isolation and the value of learning something about other nations besides his own.—Christian Science Monitor.

Toronto's Vacation Schools.

Utilizing schoolhouses, churches and public buildings, Toronto is maintaining this summer daily vacation schools in the congested districts of the city. More than 3,000 children are in attendance, says the Christian Science Monitor. While the primary object is to provide a place of refuge from the hot streets, the school has also a distinct educational value. The morning session is devoted to "play-work" and includes basketry, sewing and raffia instruction, story-telling, kindergarten activities and occasional moving picture exhibitions. In the afternoon come picnics, hikes and organized sports.

Unearth Ancient Roman Barge.

Important archeological discoveries have been made at Castello di Porto, near Rome. The hull of an enormous Roman barge has been excavated near a small lake. It is presumably a relic of a mercantile fleet which was used to ship wheat from Sicily to Rome, before Castello di Porto shipped by the Tiber. The hull is like a similar relic of Nero's fleet at lovely Lake Nemi. Excavations are proceeding and other discoveries are expected.

Newsboy, Seventy-One, Follows Races.

David Stevens, a seventy-one-year-old "newsboy" of Dublin, has attended every running of the Epsom Derby for 50 years. The week of the great race is his only holiday. At all other times he is to be found on the street corner in the Irish capital selling papers.

MORE THAN A RAIN SHEDDER

African Chiefs Take the Possession of an Umbrella Very Seriously, According to Reports.

Some time ago, there was what the news described as unrest in the West African colony of Lagos; telegrams were dispatched between that country and Great Britain, governors and deputy-governors were interviewed, and it was with difficulty that a native war was averted. The cause of all this commotion was an umbrella!

Now, in our country, as we all know, an umbrella is looked upon as a harmless possession—but not so in West Africa. There, among most of the native tribes, the umbrella is regarded as an emblem of royalty, and its possession is strictly confined to the chief or king of the tribe.

Therefore the indignation was intense on the part of one of these kings, when he found an inferior chief putting up an umbrella of his own. The king at once took a journey to Lagos, to lodge a formal complaint of the chief's treasonable conduct with the British governor.

An African king's umbrella is a very elaborate affair, and it often costs large sums of money. Most of the umbrellas for Ashanti and the Gold coast are made of gigantic size, some of them when open measuring ten feet across.

The coverings of these umbrellas are of colored silk—the brighter the better, with very deep fringes. The largest umbrellas are carried over the heads of chiefs, by bearers while other bearers steady the umbrella by cords attached to the uppermost parts.

One state umbrella had for its apex a silver eagle standing on two silver canons, while another umbrella had a gold hen on the top, the hen being surrounded by numerous chickens, to represent the chief and his tribe.

CHANGES IN "OLD FAITHFUL"

Yellowstone's Famous Geyser Has Slightly Lengthened the Periods Between Its Eruptions.

Old Faithful, Yellowstone's most famous geyser, has slightly changed the period of its eruptions. According to the observations of the park naturalist and the rangers, the geyser now spouts on an average every 64.6 minutes. Last year the average period was 60 minutes.

The alteration in Old Faithful's "tempo" does not indicate any lessening of its vigor or "faithfulness." On the contrary, Naturalist M. P. Skinner's observations show the mighty fountain to be increasing in volume. The change is believed to be due to an alteration in the subterranean tube of the geyser. For the last year or so Old Faithful has acquired a habit of occasionally throwing out small rocks. The passage of the rocks through the tube is believed to have enlarged its dimensions slightly, this in turn being responsible for the lengthened period between eruptions and the increased volume of water. A number of other interesting changes, lending a constantly varying interest to the mysterious manifestations of the park's performing natural wonders, also are reported by official observers.

That Word "Corker."

The American word "corker," meaning a person or thing of superlative quality, is only a slang use of a legitimate English word. Corker, in its original sense, meant a conclusive argument. It probably originated from the finality which a cork thrust into the mouth of a bottle stops all egress, or ingress of material in it.

The relegation of the word as used in America to the limbo of slang by the dictionary writers has neither weakened the word nor limited its use. The word "corker" is a perfectly good word. It expresses precisely a shade of meaning that needed to be expressed, and the chances are that it will be a word of good and regular standing long after the bones of the last living dictionary writers have thoroughly bleached.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Newspaper Accuracy.

B. A. White of the Detroit News, after long investigation, finds that daily papers make only one error in every 3,250 opportunities for mistakes. This country recently celebrated the anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock and history has pointed out the very spot where they landed. Now a scientist discovers that at the time the Pilgrims landed this spot was under sea. Which leads Mr. White to ask, "If history cannot report a fact correctly in 300 years, ought we expect a newspaper to be unfailingly accurate in six or eight hours?"

Diphtheria Germs in Wild Horses.

Wild horses running on the open range and never in contact with human beings have been found to be infected with the diphtheria germ, according to Dr. H. V. Schoening of the pathological division of the bureau of plant industry, at Washington. This fact, he claims, indicates that the diphtheria organism is widespread in the soil and is not carried to the horse by some human being, as has been held.

As She Appeared to Him.

Miss Sarah Bellum—No one of this generation appreciates me. I was born too soon. Max Multirox—Quite so. I believe you'd be a pretty young girl right now if you had only been born about 20 years later than you were.

Blessings of Slumber.

Now, blessings light on him that first invented this same sleep! It covers a man all over, thoughts and all, like a cloak; it is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold and cold for the hot.—Cervantes.

Origin of the Zuider Zee.

The Zuider Zee is a result of the bursting of the dykes. This happened in the Thirteenth century, and, in addition to Holland being cut in two, and Friesland being separated from the rest of the country by a large sheet of water, hundreds of villages were submerged and about 80,000 persons were drowned.

Enjoyment in Chasing Knowledge.

Our remote forefathers chased knowledge, so to speak, through the heavens and over the earth on a hippopotamus, and they doubtless wasted a good deal of time; but they enjoyed a fine exhilaration, beyond any they could have got in chasing it down a rathole like a weasel.—Robert M. Gray

License Your Dog or Lose Him

Homeless canines, running at large and lacking care and control, largely are responsible for the epidemics of the dread hydrophobia and for the wholesale sheep-killing in the rural districts which inspired the Michigan Legislature to enact laws invoking the death penalty upon all dogs whose owners do not consider them worthy of the trouble and small expense entailed in obtaining a license. License may be paid to County Treasurer.

This law was passed for the purpose of ridding the State of animals which are a menace to life and property. It is based on the theory that any citizen who cares enough for his canine pet to obtain a license for him will make the effort to keep him within restraint.

Almost invariably it is the wandering dog which is afflicted with rabies and becomes a menace to all other dogs and to children.

The License Fee Was Due June 15th.

After that date, county treasurers are compelled by law to furnish a list of unlicensed dogs in their vicinity to the sheriff of the county or the Department of Safety at Lansing, and the same statute makes it the duty of these officers to destroy any animal which has not been licensed.

WHEN MEN WERE "FLAPPERS"

Grandpa Wore Corsets and Was Surely Some Dude in the Days of His Golden Youth.

"There is so much talk against the flapper these days, but history records that men were the flappers 50 years ago," remarks the Gillette (Wyo.) News. This assault on the dignity and good fame of the generation of grandfathers is bolstered by certain evidence: "They greased their hair, wore corsets and otherwise made themselves look fine. Twenty years ago they wore stiff-bosomed shirts, silk belts six inches wide, parted their long hair in the middle and wore neckties that puffed out in front like the breast of a pouter pigeon."

Reading further in sartorial history, it will be found that at one period the shoulders of men's coats were heavily padded to make the veriest wrenking appear an athlete. It may even be suspected that the sterner sex gave up wearing breeches because so many did not possess the proper shaped leg.

Alring of the facts brought up by this Wyoming editor has the benefit of inducing a better spirit of humility. It serves to remind also that the fashion of one age almost invariably appears grotesque to the next, and suggests that the present modes are but transitory, being destined to give way to something perhaps worse, perhaps better, but surely different.

MUST HARMONIZE WITH PIANO

Infallible Test for Discovering Cracks and Defects in Locomotives Has Been Devised.

A piano seems to be out of place in a locomotive workshop, yet it has been found to play a very useful part. There is no better way of discovering cracks and defects in the different parts of the machinery than by striking the metal with a hammer and then comparing the noise of the vibrations with the piano notes. The man operating the piano must have a trained ear for music, seeing that it is his business to listen for the slightest discords. If the metal rings harmoniously with the piano note all is well; the least flaw will result in a discord. Defects that are hardly to be noticed by the ordinary method of hammering are at once evident when the piano test is employed. A locomotive that rings true all over, each note which it yields synchronizing properly with the same note as given by the piano, is certainly fit to take its place in service on the railway.—Scientific American.

The Human Mouth.

Talking has greatly modified the human mouth. The important sounds of P, V, B, O, U, W, F, and M, are made with the lips. The prehensile bulb of the lower has grown large from constant use, crowding the two outer curves on either side to the corners of the mouth. In many mouths the lower lip exceeds the upper in size. You can gain a very clear idea of the difference of motivity for the two lips by inverting your head and looking at some one talking. Habit has accustomed you to see the lower lip in strong motion, and so you do not notice it, but when your head is inverted the speaker's mouth appears upside down, and a difference is readily apparent.

Good Effect of Brief Absence.

I am not sure if the ladies understand the full value of the influence of absence, nor do I think it wise to teach them, lest they should resume the humor of the women of yore of sending their lovers into banishment. Distance, in truth, produces in ideal the same effect as in real perspective. Objects are softened and rounded and rendered doubly graceful; the harsher and more ordinary points of character are mellowed down and those which are remembered are the more striking outlines that mark sublimity, grace or beauty.—Walter Scott.

Days of the Cave Man.

Almost all of the caves of Europe give evidences that men once lived in them. Ashes and unburned black charcoal are heaped amid the rubble of the falling stones. Signs of occupation are not confined to the caverns' mouths alone. They extend deep into the black recesses. Handiwork, lost by savage men, is discovered by the acetylene lamp lying as its owner dropped it centuries or scores of centuries ago. Nor were men the only dwellers in these caves. Wild beasts lurked in their darkness, cave bears, lions, and most particularly cave hyenas sought them out.

Rubber Gloves.

Rubber gloves will last much longer with proper care. After wearing them, wash out and thoroughly dry with a soft cloth. If the hands perspire, dust talcum inside the gloves. As soon as you notice a tear, patch it with adhesive.

Not Till Then.

After a woman finds out that nobody believes her when she lies about her age she begins to boast about the beauty and brightness of her grandchildren.

Economies.

Health and morality go hand in hand, and the money you save from doctors is just as good as that you keep from paying to the lawyers.—Kansas City Star.

And He Often Succeeds.

Many a humorist is afraid of making himself ridiculous.

SLANG OF "GOOD OLD DAYS"

Great-Grandfather Enlightens Flapper as to the Meaning of Some Terms of Long Ago.

"He's a poor nut!" Jeered the flapper.

"In '59 we should have called him a 'ninny-hammer,'" put in her great-grandfather, unexpectedly.

The flapper looked interested. "What was '59 for hip-pocket?" asked she.

"'Bingo,'" answered the old man promptly. "And home brew we should have called 'blue-ruin'; a gentleman occasionally was 'disguised.'"

"Go on," cried the flapper, delighted. "You, my dear!—he bowed to her—" "would have been 'smart as a carrot' in my day. Some of your contemporaries I've seen 'slamming' about in their 'clumpers,' more like men than women, but you are always—'Jimmie.'"

"Next you'll be telling me you shinned in '59!"

"No, we 'hopped.' Do you know what we meant by a 'hummer'?"

"A good one," guessed the flapper. "How did you get excited?"

"We were in a 'pucker,' or we went on a 'burst,' or there was a 'plather,'" said her great-grandfather. Then he ended: "But there's one word that your generation can't parallel. What did we mean by 'mannersbit'?"

"You have me, grandfather," admitted the flapper.

The old man opened a little, worn book on the table beside him and read: "'Mannersbit—a portion of a dish left by the guests, that the host may not feel himself reproached.' Those were good old days—what?" said he.

HIGH FOOD VALUE OF DATES

Ideal Diet Never Properly Appreciated by the American Public, Is Physician's Assertion.

"The value of the date as a food is not half appreciated by the American public," writes Dr. John Harvey Kellogg. "The date not only furnishes a variety of sugar which is readily assimilated and which is much more wholesome than cane sugar, but it supplies a fine quality of food iron. An ounce of dates, in fact, supplies one-third more food iron than an ordinary beefsteak and iron of much finer quality."

"The date is equally superior as a source of food lime and other food salts, supplying seven times as much lime as does beef tenderloin. The date requires nothing but the simple addition of milk to constitute a complete diet. A pound of dates and a quart of milk afford nourishment not only sufficient in quantity to supply the needs of the average person, but of the highest quality."

"The American people are suffering from lime starvation, which is resulting not only in a loss of stature, due to lack of bone development, but an almost universal decay of teeth. The free use of dates with milk as a part of the American breakfast would conduce greatly to improvement of the national health and the lowering of the mortality rate."

The Mosquito Plant.

The virtues of the species of basil (Ocimum viride) known as the mosquito plant are attracting attention in England. An army officer has given a growing plant to the botanical gardens at Kew. He obtained it in Nigeria, where, he says, it is known to drive mosquitoes from its neighborhood, and the natives use an infusion of its leaves as a cure for malarial fevers. Its virtues are known in India also, as a border of it was planted round the Victoria garden in Bombay because the workmen were pestered by mosquitoes and suffered from malaria. As soon as the hedge was completed the mosquitoes left and there was no more malaria among the workmen.—Exchange.

Figures for Home Builder.

Unless very much interested in figures, the home builder does not know how each dollar is spent that he puts into the construction of his home. He knows in a general way that there are several general groups, but as he looks at the finished dwelling he does not know what per cent of the cost went for masonry or carpentry or something else. Using the dollar for illustrating the relative costs, it is estimated that 36.1 cents go for masonry, 29.1 cents for carpentry, 8.7 cents for heating, 6.5 cents for electrical work, 6 cents for plumbing, 3.5 cents for sheet metal work, 2.9 cents for roofing and 1.2 cents for hardware.

Soap Bubbles Aid Scientists.

Every one who buys gasoline for his automobile has a direct concern in the efficiency of engines, the study of which is being assisted by soap bubbles, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. These are now being used at the bureau of standards in determining the rate of propagation of flame in combustible mixtures of gases. Strangely enough, for years there has been sought a means whereby explosions could be studied under constant pressure free from complicating circumstances, but it was just recently pointed out at this institution that soap bubbles afford in ideal fashion just what is wanted.

Would Help.

"I get along pretty well at golf," said Paw Nuritch. "The caddy hands me the proper club."

"Well?"

"I wish the butler would deal out the forks at dinner the same way."

Would Have Been a Jack. Ajax defied the lightning, but he would have made a sorry figure at the end of an electric light wire.

SURVEY SHOWS PROFIT IN THE POULTRY FLOCKS

An average return of two hundred dollars above feed and other direct costs is reported for 39 Michigan farm poultry flocks included in a survey recently completed by the farm management department of the Michigan agricultural college, an indication that poultry are one of the farmer's most profitable enterprises.

"These were average Michigan farm flocks," says H. M. Elliot, head of the farm management department. "They average 118 hens to the flock, with the average return per hen of $1.70. Thirteen of the flocks show returns below $1.50 per hen, seven above $2.25 per hen, and nineteen between these figures."

A striking feature of poultry management brought out by the survey was the beneficial effect of protein feeds upon both egg production and net returns per hen.

PRICES REDUCED ON OVERLAND AND WILLYS-KNIGHT CARS

"The Willys-Overland Company has just announced another price reduction covering both Overland and Willys-Knight motor cars. This is the second price cut this year and is due to the great economies effected by an enormous manufacturing performance." Thus speaks a representative of the Willys-Overland Company.

"Our prices are now at a level heretofore thought impossible," he continues. "We never thought it possible to produce a car as fully equipped as is the Overland, having triple-coat enamel finish, all steel body and Triplex springs at a price so low as $525. The new Willys-Knight prices are the lowest at which any car ever sold with a Knight sleeve-valve motor."

Following are the new low prices on Overland and Willys-Knight cars; f. o. b. Toledo, Ohio:
