Mrs. Chas Grabow of Baldwin left Saturday morning for Lansing, where she will spend some time with her parents.

J. H. Marlette and son, L. A. Marlette, of Adrian, and a friend are camping at Indian Lake and enjoying the fishing.

Jas. E. Ballard left Wednesday for Ann Arbor to attend the annual meeting of the University Press Club held in that city this week.

Mrs. Thomas McFadden and father, Mr. Mueller, left Wednesday for a visit at Standish, Saginaw and Ludington. They will make the trip by auto.

The state Sunday school convention will be held at Lansing Nov. 1-2-3. Every Sunday school teacher and officer is invited to attend. Special rates on railroads.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Carrall and Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Collins motored up from Grand Rapids, arriving Sunday. They spent a couple of days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Taylor.

Rev. and Mrs. Sievert went to Bay City on Wednesday for a week's visit with Mrs. Sievert's parents. Miss Edna Quast of Bay City, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Waterbury and Mrs. Waterbury's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Russell, all of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived last Saturday for a week or ten days visit at the home of Mrs. J. M. Waterbury.

A letter from John Dempsey, who went to Hibbling, Minnesota, some eleven months ago, states that he is well and expects to return to Tawas some time in January. He states that work is plentiful in the ore mines there and that everyone appears busy.

During the absence of Miss Claire Shaw from her home Monday evening, some person or persons entered the house and ransacked it thoroughly, supposedly searching for a sum of money which had been hidden by Miss Shaw. Fortunately they secured nothing. No clue has yet been secured of the burglars.

The M. A. C. all college run which occurred last week was won by Keith L. Baguley. The course was 4 1/4 miles and the time Keith made it in was 26 minutes and 24 seconds. This was better time than was made last year. This gives him a place on the team which will compete with Notre Dame in a dual run to be held at Lansing October 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mueller and family motored to Bay City last Saturday evening to attend the wedding of their son, Ernest, to Miss Alma Kukuk, which occurred at the Emmanuel church in that city on Monday, Oct. 23. Ernest has a host of friends in Tawas City, who extend congratulations and best wishes. The young couple will make their home in Bay City.

The ladies of the Twentieth Century club of this city are making preparations for another Halloween frolic next Tuesday evening, similar to the one they put on last year. Prizes will be offered for the best costumes in several different classes. The parade will form in front of the court house at 6:30 and the judging and awarding of prizes will be done at the Auditorium. Afterward there will be dancing at the Auditorium until twelve o'clock.

The first drawing of dishes at the stores of C. H. Prescott & Sons and F. F. Taylor & Co. was held Wednesday afternoon. A good crowd was on hand with their tickets looking for the lucky number. The nearest number to the one under the seal was 42014 which was held by Mrs. M. H. Barnes who received the dishes.

Tawas City's new bakery is fast gaining popularity and W. S. Eisenbrandt, the proprietor, can hardly keep pace with the demand for his excellent baked goods. Mr. Eisenbrandt is a first class baker and the fact that his products are almost exclusively taken from out of the city shows that the people appreciate the opportunity to obtain fresh goods at home.

The English II class have nearly completed the study of "Silas Marner." They have found it to be quite interesting. For composition they are working on sentence structure.

To make agriculture more interesting, the pupils of the class are reading and reporting on back numbers of farm magazines lent by out-of-town students.

The study of "Evangeline" proves to be interesting to the eighth grade. They have drawn a sketch of Benedict Bellefontaine's home.

Arthur Koepeke entered school Monday.

The third grade memorized "America" last week.

The fourth grade have completed their maps of North America.

Through the year a note book is being kept by the eighth grade. One page is devoted to each pupil, on which he keeps a record of the books and magazines he reads. This furnishes additional interest in reading.

The ancient history class has been doing some very good map work on Ancient Greece. Pearl Phelan and Irma Look had "A" maps.

Several new volumes have been added to the history library.

A traveling library has been loaned to us by the state library.

NEWSPAPER MEN TO MEET IN BAY CITY

The Northeastern Michigan Development bureau has called a meeting of the newspaper men of the district to be held at Bay City Nov. 10, at which plans will be discussed for securing greater publicity, within the district, of its great advantages as well as plans for spreading the attractions of the district especially to the tourists throughout the middle west. While in Bay City the visiting newspaper men will be guests of the Bay City Motor Club for an automobile trip about the city and the Bay City Board of Commerce at a dinner in the evening.

ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH

There will be no service Sunday, the pastor being out of town for the day.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

The regular meeting of the Twentieth Century club was held at the club rooms Saturday, Oct. 21.

Among its activities, the club is planning a Halloween frolic to be sponsored by the program and social committees, also several community singings during the year under the supervision of the music committee.

Historical Michigan was the topic for the day and an interesting program followed, filled with memories of a departed race.

Roll call was responded to with names of Michigan towns and their origins, of which many were Indian; which was a testimonial of the truth that the memorials of the Red Man's former existence are found in the names of Michigan's towns, rivers, bays and islands.

"History of Mackinac Island and Straits," Miss Bradley. "Legends and Traditions of Michigan," Mrs. Conant. Reading from "Hiawatha," Mrs. Ousterhout.

Official club song, "Michigan, My Michigan."

Federation meeting, Nov. 4.

A Special Request to Motorists

Next Tuesday evening the annual Halloween frolic will take place in Tawas City, with a parade from the court house to the Auditorium. There will be many small children in this parade and drivers of automobiles are requested not to use the street between these two points between the hours of 6:30 and 8:00 o'clock p. m. If absolutely necessary to drive on the street between these hours, please use extra-ordinary care in order that none of the little tots may be injured.

Jas. E. Ballard, Mayor.

COUNTIES SHOW APPRECIATION OF BUREAU WORK

That the people of Northeastern Michigan fully appreciate the work which the Northeastern Michigan Development bureau is doing in bringing tourists and new settlers to this section of the state is made evident by the fact that the boards of supervisors of all but two of the sixteen counties belonging to the bureau already have made their usual appropriations for the bureau while the two which have not acted have promised that the matter will be attended to at their next sessions.

Saginaw county, which dropped its membership several years ago was again given an opportunity to join by Secretary Marston but turned down the proposition flatly in spite of the fact that Saginaw business men enjoy a heavy trade with the people to the north of them and are benefitting largely by the development of the northern counties as farming and stock raising territory and also secure a large amount of business from the tourists, most of whom pass through Saginaw in coming into this section of the state.

ADVISE FRUIT TREE PLANTING IN SPRING

That the safest course for the average Michigan orchardist is to plant his trees in the spring, in order to avoid danger of winter injury from severe cold, is the opinion of Prof. F. C. Bradford, of the Michigan Agricultural college department of horticulture.

The advantages of fall planting, which are great in sections, are more than outweighed in this state by the chances that an unusually severe winter will result in serious injury or even actually killing of the newly planted trees.

"The arguments in favor of fall planting are logical enough," says Professor Bradford. There is generally less work to be done on the farm at that season. Conditions in the fall favor root growth and sound establishment of the trees. In the spring, there is danger of a too heavy drain upon the trees in supporting not only root growth but also the opening leaf buds.

"The advantage, then, would seem to rest with the fall planted tree, other things being equal. However, the other things are not always equal, climatic conditions must be taken into consideration. In some sections fall planting is almost universal, but in others it is just as universally avoided.

Where winters are really cold, fall planted trees are liable to severe damage, while in other zones, generally southerly in location, mild winters make fall planting advisable.

"Michigan lies, for the most part in a sort of neutral zone where some winters are mild enough so that trees planted the previous fall come through nicely. Some Michigan winters, on the other hand, are so cold that even trees set out the previous spring are in danger and fall set out trees have no chance at all.

"Inasmuch as we cannot predict in October what the winter will be like, the safest course is to plant in the spring in Michigan."

MEAN MUCH TO HISTORIANS

Deciphering of Ancient Manuscripts Expected to Throw Light on Civilization of Past Age.

Thousands of age-yellowed documents, recently added to the collection of Bancroft library, University of California, may reveal past civilizations in Mexico and the Southwest hitherto unknown to historians.

News of the impending discoveries was learned coincident with the return of Prof. Herbert E. Bolton, director of the library and noted American historian, from a three weeks' tour of regions inhabited by the cliff dwellers.

The trip was one of many made during the last few years by Professor Bolton for the purpose of procuring additional data before commencing the task of deciphering the manuscripts, which, dealing with broken periods of Spanish-American, Aztec and the cliff dwellers' history, are expected to shed much light on the most advanced American civilizations.

Romance of the variety depicted by Stevenson in his "Treasure Island" and other novelists clings to Professor Bolton, who, in his wanderings, has visited Old Mexico, Arizona, Spain and the southwestern states for the last 15 years, constantly adding to the library collection.

By pack mule tramping through the stretches of the Mohave desert, on horseback through parts of Mexico and often obliged to swing himself to the recesses in cliffs by ropes during his explorations, Professor Bolton has incessantly searched for data throwing light on his life study.

The library, valued at more than $2,000,000, is today one of the most complete in existence dealing with the old conquistadores and Indian civilization as seen by the Spanish explorers.

More than 80,000 of the documents have never been read because their quaint chirography and in many cases blurred writing defies the skill of all but the most expert.

RED CROSS PUTS UP $9,739,872

Year's Budget Stresses Relief and Services at Home and Overseas.

MILLIONS FOR VETERAN AID

Over $3,000,000 Allotted to the Disabled—Foreign Work Lessons.

Washington.—Expenditures totaling $9,739,872.47 for carrying through its program of services and relief during the fiscal year in the United States and overseas are authorized in the budget of the American Red Cross, effective July 1, 1922. This total is $2,735,975 less than the expenditures for the last fiscal year, when disbursements reached $12,475,847.09. It is announced at National Headquarters in a statement emphasizing the necessity of continued support of the organization by enrollment during the annual Roll Call, November 11-November 30 inclusive. This total for the budget is exclusive of the large financial operations of the 3,300 active Red Cross Chapters, which, it is estimated, will more than double the total.

War Veterans Have First Call
 First call on Red Cross funds is for the disabled ex-service men, of whom 27,487 were receiving treatment from the Government on June 1 last. This work for veterans and their families in a wide variety of service that the Government is not authorized to render and for which it has neither funds nor facilities has the call on $3,030,692.90 during the current year, or about $360,000 more than was expended last year for soldier service.

Adding the funds disbursed in this humanitarian work of physical reconstruction following the World War by the Chapters throughout the country will approximate a total for the current year approaching $10,000,000. This work, in the opinion of the Surgeon General's office, will not reach its peak before 1926.

Through its Chapters the American Red Cross is equipped to find in the individual ex-service man, help him in his problems and difficulties, provide immediately for his necessities, and open the way for him to the Government compensation and aid to which he is entitled. The extension of this work to the families of such men proves to them that the Red Cross has lost none of its sympathy nor will to service manifested in wartime. Similarly the service goes out to the men still in the Army and Navy, 11,087 of whom were under treatment in Government hospitals on June 1, 1922.

Greater Domestic Program

This year—after five years of constructive effort during the war and after the armistice—brings with it a greater responsibility for domestic service to the American Red Cross. The budget for foreign operations, however, totals $3,404,000, but of this amount $1,834,000 is for medical relief and hospital supplies for Russia, which is a part of the gift made by the American Red Cross in 1921 to the Russian famine relief work of the American Relief Administration program. The child health service in Europe continues, moreover, and $634,000 is appropriated for this work undertaken in 1920. Other items in the stringently diminished foreign program include $200,000 to support the League of Red Cross Societies, $22,000 for nurses' training schools instituted by the Red Cross abroad, and $600,000 for liquidation of the general Red Cross foreign relief program.

Prepared for Emergencies
 For disaster relief the Red Cross has set aside $750,000, and for emergencies in Chapter work $500,000 to be available for domestic, insular and foreign demands. This is more than $395,000 above last year's expenditures. For service and assistance to the 3,300 Chapters and their branches $1,293,000 is provided by the National organization.

Other budget items of importance in the domestic program include $230,000 for assistance to other organizations and education institutions for training Red Cross nurses and workers; $190,000 for Roll Call assistance furnished to Chapters; $100,000 for unforeseen contingencies. Of the total budget less than $500,000 is allotted for management in the National organization. No cash estimate, of course, is possible to weigh the value of the service by volunteers in the Chapters.

Did You Ever Stop To Think---

THAT a city worth living in is a city worth working for.

THAT the wise advertiser knows that the "magic key" to the tremendous city and rural market, is through the advertising pages.

THAT for some unaccountable reason some cities think they can have a house-cleaning without any inconvenience. That is a mistake.

THAT it would be very inconvenient for those citizens who will not help to make their home city a greater city.

THAT every time you see an advertisement of one of the businesses of your city, someone is talking to you. They don't intrude, they don't shout, they don't argue, they simply tell you about some things they feel will interest you.

THAT you should keep your eyes on the advertising columns. They are a bureau of information for all. In these columns you will find the names of the live business men of your city. LIVE BUSINESS MEN ADVERTISE... DEAD ONES DON'T!!

HER SMOKE SPECS

Aunt Mandy Had Secret of Happy Marriage.

Homely Philosophy, Perhaps, but There Would Seem to Be Much Common Sense in It.

After four years' absence from home I missed, on my return, the familiar face of Aunt Mandy Martin, one of the old family servants. On inquiry I found that she had been an almost helpless cripple for two years. So I went to see her at once, writes Mary Yerger Raymond in the Portland Oregonian.

Aunt Mandy's wrinkled face expressed delight and wonder when I came in and, after she had inspected me critically for a while, she said: "It shored me 'sprisin' to see you lookin' so proud, Miss Mildred. You must be all took up with that man of yours; I specs you sets a big store by him."

I smiled. "Yes, Aunt Mandy; I'm very happy."

She nodded her head sagely. "That's mighty nice, Miss Mildred, for there's them that is and them that ain't. Some folks, when they marries, puts on smoke' glasses and some folks puts on clar. Them that's happy wears smoke' glasses."

She puffed a few minutes on her corncob pipe, blew the smoke up the chimney, and resumed meditatively, "Now, when I marries Jim, I puts on clar glasses. Seems most like that nigger never could do nuthin' to please me. I could see right through him. I was standin' in my own light, honey; don't fertit that."

"When Jim he'd say, 'Mandy, I'm goin' to town on a little 'sprise bizness.' Then me, stidd of 'ggerin' aroun' 'bout my burfday bein' so near, 'stead of believin' him, I knowed all the 'sprise I'd git would be Jim crawlin' in drunk, with all the bizness and burfday money gone fill next time."

"I'd been a heap better off if I'd believed in his good intentions and let him come along, and den forgive him ebery time. But I'd stan' right up straight an' say: 'No, you don't 'sprise me none, Jim Martin,' and when I leveled a flatiron at his bald, he wilted, Miss Mildred, and stayed at home. But, la, how that nigger 'dild despise me."

"Now, your ma was one o' the trustin' kind, and now den when Marse John come home fum Norfolk sayin' as how he was most dald, and he had to take a dram fer his heart, Miss Millie'd most go wild; she'd pester 'round him like a hen with jus one chicken. She couldn't see nuthin' 'count of havin' them smoke' glasses on. But me, Miss Mildred, he didn't fool me none. I could see right thru smoke!"

DOWN WITH THE ICONOCLAST
Writer Refuses to Give Up Youths' Illusions at the Bidding of Scientific "Sharps."

Must all our illusions be dispelled?
Reading Les Annales we learn from a formidable scientific man who writes in a cocksure manner that nowhere near the French coast, nor near the Channel Islands, is there a devil-fish, a pleuvre, to be found capable of grappling with and destroying a man by the exercise of his blood-pumping suckers. And so we must no longer be excited over the adventure of Victor Hugo's "Gilliat." No longer should that sinister line, "Something seized him by the heel," which ends the chapter describing Sleur. Clubb's dive into the ocean, cause us a thrill of curiosity.

And now another ingenious scientific gentleman assures us that Noah's ark was really one of the great pyramids of Egypt; that the animals entering the ark—marshaled two by two —the elephant and the kangaroo—were really the signs of the zodiac—the ram, the scorpion and the rest of them—symbolical figures, as shown in the old-fashioned medical almanacs.

We still prefer the Noah's ark of our childhood, with the little wooden Shem, Ham and Japheth, with the little wooden animals that were so easily broken. Philip Hale writes in the Boston Herald. Are these arks still for sale in toy shops? We shall continue to find pleasure in the old illustrated family Bible, where the ark is shown securely resting on Ararat. Did not Dom Calmet give a minute description of the ark, making this profoundly original remark: "We find, Gen. 8:16, that the ark waddled have 'a door in the side thereof'; this is indispensably necessary, for the purpose of ingress and egress." Did he not prove that the ark was without a keel; that it was no other than a large house "whose timbers instead of going into the ground, whereby they would have been held, were detached from it, so that when it was required to float, the waters might easily 'lift up the ark.'"

And in like manner we believe in the Kraken, that great bird, the roe, the sea-serpent, and above all the huge squid—"a vast pulpy mass furlons in length and breadth, of a glancing cream color, innumerable long arms radiating from its center, and curling and twisting like a nest of anacondas, as if blindly to clutch at any hapless object within reach";
the squid without perceptible face or front, "an unearthly, formless, chance-like apparition of life"; the great live squid, "which, they say, few whale ships ever beheld, and returned to their ports to tell of it."

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution
There will also be submitted at said election three proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Michigan as follows:
A proposed Amendment to the Constitution providing that Article XIII be amended by adding a section to be known as section 5, to read as follows:
Sec. 5. Subject to this Constitution the legislature may authorize municipalities, subject to reasonable limitations, to condemn and to take the fee to more land and property than is needed in the acquiring, opening and widening of parks, boulevards, public places, streets, alleys, or for any public use, and after so much of the land and property has been appropriated for any such needed public purpose, the remainder may be sold or leased with or without such restrictions as may be appropriate to the improvement made.
Bonds may be issued to supply the funds to pay in whole or in part for the excess property so appropriated, but such bonds shall be a lien only on the property so acquired and they shall not be included in any limitation of the bonded indebtedness of such municipality.
This proposed amendment, if adopted, will empower the legislature to authorize municipalities to acquire land and property in excess of that needed for parks, boulevards, streets, etc., and issue bonds for the payment of same.
A proposed amendment to section
3 of Article X to read as follows:
Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide law a uniform rule of taxation, except on property paying specific taxes, and taxes shall be levied on such property as shall be prescribed by law. Provision may be made by law for a tax of not to exceed four per centum upon or with respect to the net gains, profits and incomes, from whatever source derived, which tax may be graduated and progressive and which may provide for reasonable exemptions. For the purposes of such tax, property and persons, firms and corporations, upon which such tax may operate may be classified: Provided, That the legislature shall provide by law a uniform rule of taxation for such property as shall be assessed by the state board of assessors, and the rate of taxation on such property shall be the rate which the state board of assessors shall ascertain and determine is the average rate levied upon other property upon which ad valorem taxes are assessed for state, county, township school and municipal purposes.
This proposed amendment, if adopted, will authorize the enactment of an income tax law providing for a tax of not to exceed four per centum upon net gains, profits and incomes and providing for a classification of property and persons upon which such tax may operate.
A proposed amendment to Article
VIII, by adding section 30, to read as follows:
Sec. 30. The legislature may provide for the incorporation of ports and port districts, and confer power and authority upon them to engage in work of internal improvements in connection therewith.
This proposed amendment, if adopted, will authorize the legislature to provide for the incorporation of ports and port districts with power to engage in work of internal improvements in connection therewith.
The polls of said election will open at 7 o'clock a. m. and will remain open until 5 o'clock p. m. of said day of election.

HALE AND VICINITY

Everybody's going to the Halloween frolic at Tawas City. adv

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dimmick were business visitors at Hale Saturday. A baby boy, John, was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. Putnam Friday Oct. 20. Mrs. M. E. Merrill of Alpena came Tuesday to spend a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. R. Keith.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Slosser and Mr. and Mrs. James Slosser motored to Flint Saturday returning Sunday.

Albert Nunn spent this week visiting Hale friends. He expects to enter the business college at Flint on his return.

Mrs. G. E. Ranger returned Tuesday from a three weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clough, at Bridgeport.

Mrs. Jennie Denstead, formerly of Hale now living at Ovosso, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John Nitz, of Long Lake and friends at Hale during the past week.

Mrs. Arthur Hobart entertained about 25 old friends and neighbors at dinner Tuesday to honor Mr. and Mrs. Leander Gardner, who leave the latter part of the week for Detroit where they will make their home. A sumptuous dinner was served at 12:30 and the afternoon spent in reminiscences and expressions of affection and good will for the future. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner moved to Hale in 1877, making 45 years of their life spent in this community, and it is with sincere regret that we lose them. The best wishes of a large circle of friends will go with them to their new home.

MRS. IRA VAN WORMER

May Fisher VanWormer was born at Ottaway, Lake, Mich., Sept. 27th, 1859. At an early date her father, who took part in the Civil War, was removed from her by his death in that event. The mother passed away about nine years ago.

She was united in marriage March 5th, 1878, to Ira VanWormer. To this union were born eight children—Howard, Aaron, Walter, Lottie, Clarence, Lottie, Luella (who passed away last February) and Vera.

In 1906 Mrs. VanWormer and family moved from Toledo to this place where she resided until death, which occurred October 18th.

Our departed sister became a member of the Hale Methodist church and as a Christian worker she acted in the offices of president of the Ladies aid and as a Sunday school teacher. Her kindly deeds and loving words will be a great loss to the neighborhood. She is mourned by a large group of relatives and a host of friends.

Among the fadeless flowers that adorn her character was unselfishness, for she was ever ready to sacrifice for others and her true instincts of a model mother were ever in evidence, and her loyalty to her family was known by all.

Lighting the darkness of the mourners' cloud of sorrow is the memory of a mother's devotion.

"Oh mother, when I think of thee,
'Tis but a step to Calvary;
Thy gentle hand upon my brow
Is leading me to Jesus now."

M. E. Church Notes

The subject for Sunday morning will be "Paul's Advice to Christian Workers."

Jane Close will lead the Junior league.

Wednesday evening the church bell calls you to the house of God for prayer. Will you not come?

Next Sunday evening at 6:30 the Epworth league will entertain as guests of honor, the older folks of the community. The subject for this Golden Age service will be "The Abundant Life." A most beautiful poem entitled "Effective Service" will be read at this meeting by Mrs. R. D. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Colby spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chancy Franks at Alabaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boudler of Reno and Mrs. Williams of Tawas City visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Papple.

Melvin Sherman, who is employed in Flint, spent the week end at his home here and was accompanied back by Mrs. Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude LeClair spent a few days with Mrs. L's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Londo, before going to Flint where Mr. LeClair has employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Chase and Mr. and Mrs. A. Chase and Miss Cataline of Whittemore and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Friedman were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Colby Sunday.

LOVE HANDED DOWN

By ELLA SAUNDERS
(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

"Mother, I've got such a piece of news for you!" Kitty Blaine, who had arrived home for her two weeks' vacation three minutes before, stood facing her pretty mother in the doorway of their home. "You remember that Mr. Croft, who used to be a beau of yours, that you gave me a letter to? Well, he wants to marry me!"

Mrs. Blaine looked at her daughter with a little sense of shock. It seemed only yesterday that Eddie Croft and she had strolled under those same apple trees, accepted lovers. Then had come the quarrel about a trine, they had drifted apart, and had heard nothing of each other for years.

"It was only a few months before that they had again come into touch by one of those little coincidences that seem so strange, yet are so common. Eddie Croft had answered a letter of Edna Blaine's addressed to the corporation which he served, regarding a position for her daughter, and had promised to do his best for her."

"And have you accepted him, dear?" the mother asked.

"Yes, of course," answered Kitty promptly. "Why, don't you know he's Mr. Croft's right hand man in the corporation? He must be as rich as Croesus. And he told me—Kitty giggled—"that he hadn't married all these years because he never met any one he cared for as he did you, until he saw me, and that I was your very image at twenty."

"And you care for him, Kitty?" The mother put her hands on the girl's shoulders and looked at her anxiously.

"Care for him?" Kitty wrinkled her pretty brows and laughed. "Well, I suppose it's possible to care for any one if you make up your mind to, isn't it?" she answered. "Of course, he's forty-eight."

Edna Blaine sighed. Girls were different from what they had been in her young days. Then love was everything—now it was money that counted. They wanted a good time from the start. She felt a pang for Kitty, and then another for Eddie—perhaps one for the past as well.

"And he's coming down on Saturday to tell you about it," Kitty said.

Edna Blaine sighed again. Somehow she did not quite feel like seeing Eddie after all those years. And her heart was troubled for both of them.

What sort of wife would Kitty make for Eddie—Kitty, irresponsible, feather-headed, and again renewing her long-standing flirtation with Jim Baker, who lived at the end of the street, and was in the bank?

"Mother, Jim's promised to take me out in his car tomorrow."

"My dear, do you think it quite right for you to go about with Jim, under the circumstances?"

"Oh, my dear mother, do please remember that this is the twentieth century and not the nineteenth," said Kitty.

Edna Blaine felt lost and bewildered. Especially on the Saturday afternoon, when Eddie came down, and Kitty was away—with Jim, she suspected. The sight of Eddie was a shock, too. They walked up from the station together, and she would not have known him in the bronzed, stalwart man who strode beside her, radiating protection somehow; she could hardly keep from crying.

"Well, Edna?" Then, as he faced her inside the house the tears did come. It was awkward; but not so awkward as when Kitty returned. It was a very mournful evening, and Edna saw Eddie glancing from her to Kitty in a puzzled way.

He was staying over Sunday, and Edna gasped when Kitty calmly pleaded an appointment for the afternoon.

"You see, I didn't know you were staying over," she explained.

Eddie took Edna for a country walk. The spell of the past was upon both of them, they were very silent as they turned homeward in the evening.

"I hope you and Kitty will be happy, Eddie," said Edna softly.

He did not answer, and she dared not look at his face.

Suddenly they heard voices in the darkness on the other side of the elms that bordered the road.

"But, Jim, I—you mustn't. You know I'm engaged."

"Do you love him, Kitty? If you don't, you're sinning against your better nature in marrying him. Do you love him? Answer me!"

"No!" came the almost inaudible whisper. "It's always been you, Jim."

The voices died away. There was the faint sound of pacing footsteps—lovers' footsteps. Eddie turned to Edna.

"And it's always been you, Edna," he said. "It was the part of you I saw in her. Now it's your forever."

Mother Didn't Reply.

Bobby, four years old, accompanied his mother to a woman's club meeting one afternoon, where the women, very tastefully gowned, hatted and veiled, discussed the affairs of their organization for two hours. On the way home Bobby said: "Mother, why don't you buy a veil and cover up your face and look pretty?"

Force of Bad Example.

F. P. A. started it and now he's got us doing it. Perpend! "Alack!" sighed the liquor-dicker with a lack o' lucer, "I haven't a lick o' liquor in my locker."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Obituary

Another pioneer of Isosco county was called to the great beyond on Sunday, Oct. 15th, in the person of Mark Robinson. He had been a resident of Reno township since 1886. Mr. Robinson had been in poor health for some time, having suffered several strokes of paralysis.

In the death of Mr. Robinson, Reno has lost a good citizen and one who in his residence here was identified with the business life of the community, always ready to do his share toward its advancement.

He was a blacksmith by trade and served the community in that capacity for a number of years. He was a member of the L. O. L. and a charter member of the A. O. O. G.

As a kind and loving husband and father, he was unexcelled. He was always ready to assist a friend in need and the most humble received a cordial welcome at his door.

He was born in Madoc township, Canada, in December, 1853. On March 12th, 1879, he was united in marriage to Miss Emily McElroy. To this union were born three sons and three daughters, all of whom were privileged to be at his bedside, save the oldest son.

He had been practically an invalid for the past year, bearing his afflictions with the greatest of patience, though he longed for death to relieve him of his suffering.

The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Baptist church, Rev. Edinger, pastor of Christ Church Episcopal, East Tawas, officiating.

The three sons, James, Alex and Ed, and the two sons-in-law, Charles Beardslee, Arthur White and Frank Umstead, carried the remains to their final resting place in the Reno cemetery.

Relatives and friends from a distance who came to attend the funeral were Mr. Knight and son, Lyle, of Strathroy, Can., Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson of Elkhart, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Beardslee and son, Mark, Mrs. Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Horton of Tawas City, William O'Brien of Emery Junction and Frank Umstead.

There is a large circle of friends who join with the bereaved in mourning the loss of an estimable citizen.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and assistance during the illness and death of our husband and father. Also for the flowers and the choir, and Rev. Edinger for his comforting words.

Mrs. Emily Robinson, and family.

Contributed Verse.

There's joy in the smile of an artless child; there's joy in a maiden's eyes; there's joy in the spring when the songbirds sing, there's joy in a lover's sighs. But such joys all pale and easily fall to compare with the joyous thrill of the woman who knows that her new spring clothes gives her rival a nervous chill.—Boston Transcript.

His View of It.

"We'd all be fine people," said Uncle Eben, "if all de growed-up folks was as truthful, kind an' polite as dey expects de chillun to be."—Washington Star.

MOON ABSOLUTELY WITHOUT WATER.

There is no water on the moon. The mountains there are as dry as powder. They are desiccated far beyond the extremes of the most parched of earthly deserts. On this globe there is always a little water to be found, even in the most baked and unpromising spots. Only a few drops, perhaps, but water. On the moon there is not even one drop.—S. F. Maxwell, in the Chicago Tribune.
