He was buried March 4th at Deckerville, Mich., in the Downing cemetery beside his father who died about two and one-half months ago. The many Tawas City friends of Mrs. Davis will sympathize deeply with her in this additional loss.

The bi-weekly meeting of the Twentieth Century club last Saturday afternoon was held at the Auditorium instead of at the club rooms, as a health film was part of the program.

The program was in charge of Miss Marie B. Wolff, county Red Cross nurse, and was an open meeting to which all women and especially the mothers were invited. About sixty women were in attendance.

The program consisted of articles on health topics written by celebrated authorities, and read by various members of the club, as noted last week. The film shown was entitled "Every Woman's Problem" and treated of the necessity of training for home nursing. The meeting was one of the most successful ever held by the club.

The next regular meeting will be held at the club rooms on March 17. This will be "Dramatic Day." The roll call will be "An Irish Anecdote." Club members will please bear this date in mind, as it is omitted from the club year book.

HALF A MIND

By Helen Gregg Green

A little school marm was telling about speaking to the mother of a pupil about her son's work in school.

"Well," sighed the mother, "I really don't know what I'll do. I've told Ronald he'll have to stay away from the movies this week and study, and I've half a mind to stick to it."

Half a mind! Therein lies the trouble with many mothers.

When you're a half-a-mind mother, your children soon find it out and when they discover the fact, how your discipline will suffer.

Recently overheard several boys talking.

"Come on, let's go in swimming," James coaxed.

Eddie grinned but shook his head, "Can't. Sorry! But Mom said, 'Not today.'"

"Aw shucks, Eddie, come on! Your mother'll forget what she said. Mine usually does. Half the time she doesn't mean it."

"No my mother won't," Eddie answered firmly. "She doesn't lay down the law very often, but believe me, Oh, when she does, she means it."

"Oh well, I'm going. My mother told me not to. Said she would spank me if I did, but she won't." At last, hesitatingly, "I don't think she means what she says, and sometimes she doesn't." An off James shambled.

What a contrast between the mothers of these two boys, and how much better the effect of firmness.

I don't believe in nagging children; and I don't believe in giving perfunctory orders and rebukes every few minutes. But I most firmly do believe in meaning what you say, and having a good mind of your own.

Occasionally you will change your mind about something. In that case it is wise to explain to your boy or girl just why you did so.

Your children will respect you more and you will be a more successful parent if you are not the vacillating, half-a-mind type. And the matter of discipline will be much easier and pleasanter and everybody will be happier.

NEED FARM RECORD FOR FUTURE PLANS

Better methods and practices on Michigan farms must be based on authentic knowledge of the past operations in the business, and this knowledge can be gained only through carefully kept farm records.

The fundamental truths of agricultural productions are brought out by accounts and records, which provide a systematic history of the farm business. Only in this way can the farmer be sure of the amount and kind of livestock to be raised, the class of crops to be grown, etc.

"Records eliminate guess work in farming and provide the only safe basis for figuring on the general operations," says F. T. Riddell, farm management specialist at the Michigan Agricultural college. "Records will show whether or not the farmer's crops and livestock yields are sufficient to be profitable. They will also aid in eliminating the poor producers and will tend to increase profits."

Farm account books are generally accepted as the best method for keeping farm records, and are being used by increasing hundreds of Michigan's most successful farmers.

Such books can be obtained from county agricultural agents or from the M. A. C. Extension Division at East Lansing at cost—fifteen cents East Lansing at cost—fifteen cents another.

COUNTY NURSE WORK

MARIE B. WOLFF
County Nurse

On weighing the children of East Tawas School, it was found that fifty three children, out of all those who were examined in the eight lower grades, were either seven or ten per cent underweight. Thirty seven of these were ten per cent underweight, while the other sixteen were seven per cent underweight.

There were several children who were one or two pounds underweight, and very few who were twenty per cent underweight.

We know that plenty of rest, mental contentment, and the right food at the right time will help a great deal in overcoming the problems of the "underweight."

The East Tawas Board of Education met on Thursday, March 1st, to consider this problem, and how they might help to solve it. It decided to have it allowed to have milk available at the school each day in the school year at the rate of three cents per capita.

The Board of Education will furnish the paper napkins and the straws, while the Parent Teachers Association will see to it that those who can not meet the expense will be provided for.

The underweight children will be especially urged to make use of this ideal opportunity, while all children wishing to have a bit of milk served in such an attractive way at ten o'clock in the morning, can also derive the benefits of this opportunity.

A group of boys will act as the milk dispensers. Each week a new group will take the responsibility of passing the milk out to the children registered in their respective rooms as being privileged to have it. On Mondays the new group will take on the work, on Mondays also, each child wishing to have milk brought to them that week, must pay his teacher his fifteen cents if he wishes to have the milk on each of the five days.

The milk must be paid for in this manner as it will avoid confusion and at the same time it will save the teacher a great deal of effort.

The milk will be served during class session. This will help to make the children realize that it is a business proposition and not just a new form of amusement during the recess period, which should be spent in relaxation.

After the affair becomes organized, no time will be lost and no great disturbance will be noted. The boys who bring the milk to the rooms will also be responsible for the empty bottles later. These must be taken back to where they were gotten. The city schools have found this idea very beneficial. Even the teachers find this a wonderful opportunity to get extra nourishment of the right sort at the right time.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION
At the time the Herald goes to press the results of the primary election held on Wednesday to nominate candidates for circuit judge is still in doubt. Latest results, including Alcona county entire and all but three precincts of Iosco county give John A. Stewart a lead of something over fifty votes over Henry MacGillis for the republican nomination.

The three precincts missing in Iosco county are Reno, Burleigh and Plainfield. No reports have as yet been received here from Oscoda county, but if Stewart receives anywhere near an even break there the chances are that he will be nominated.

THE TIME TO FIGHT ILLITERACY

Now is the time to fight illiteracy by every available means. The fight can be waged in two directions. First, by a more rigid enforcement of our compulsory school attendance laws. Less than three-fourths of our children of school age are actually attending school. The laws should be made more stringent in some instances, and all laws now on the statute books should have rigid enforcement. This will cut off the crop of illiterates as they grow up. The second direction of effort in all communities should be toward the eradication of adult illiterates, who have passed beyond school age. Many organizations are co-operating in this work. Chambers of commerce, women's and men's clubs, industrial concerns, and various civic organizations can unite in each community to find their adult illiterates and interest them in attending night schools and availing themselves of all possible agencies for learning. Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart eradicated illiteracy in one of the most remote counties of the mountains of Kentucky by getting the adults to go to night schools. This has since been done in many places. Materials are now available whereby adults can teach themselves. The time is ripe for all patriotic citizens to stimulate adult illiterates in every possible way to learn to read and write.

WILBER SCHOOL DIST. NO. 4
The seventh and eighth grades have started the study of Whittier's "Snow Bound," which they enjoy very much.

The first grade are glad to have little George Grabow back in school. He has been absent ever since his accident last fall when his leg was broken.

The pupils of the Baldwin school came for a sleighride and spent the afternoon of Feb. 28 with us. The afternoon was spent in playing games. We expect to return their visit sometime in the near future.

The sixth grade are learning the poem "Gradatim" by Jacob G. Holland.

The fourth grade have been studying the life of General Lee.

The school will give a pie social next Wednesday evening, March 14. Coffee and sandwiches will also be served. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Girls, be sure and bring a pie.

There has been a good deal of absence due to sickness, but we are glad to see nearly everyone back in school. The beginners class have completed their primer and are ready for supplementary reading.

BABIES COME
Mothers—Dr. Lucy Elliot will hold the March baby conference.

Bring the little folks to the baby conference March 23, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Get the baby ready for the school days.

Dr. Elliot is a baby specialist of Lansing, who is now stationed at East Tawas.

The fact that a debutante is "coming out" usually means that the Old Man has to come across.

The girls should not lay on their coats of paint so thick that it takes a sand blast machine to get it off.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY WHEN SHOPPING
By MRS. HARLAND H. ALLEN
(©, 1922, Harland H. Allen.)
GETTING SOMETHING TO GO WITH WHAT YOU HAVE
"When I am buying one new article I always try to select something that will go well with what I have on hand," says one well-dressed woman.
I call that a first-rate guide in choosing new clothes.
For instance, if you have gray furs, don't buy a brown dress, but choose black or blue or gray, so that next winter they will look well together. But if you have a brown hat, do not select a gray dress, but take a brown one.
When a woman buys at random any color she may fancy, it can readily be seen that she will require many more clothes than the woman who selects everything new to harmonize with something she already has.
Many a hat looks well with one suit, but does not go with any of the others. An evening coat may look lovely with your blue dress, but positively hideous with the pink one, so that they can never be worn together. If you know that blue and brown, for example, are your most becoming colors, you should decide which of these is going to be most popular with the fashion dictators, or best suited to your purpose, and let this be the general tone of your wardrobe, keeping all your coats, suits and gowns, at least in harmony with it. Especially can the number of outer coats be reduced in this way. And, of course, all waists made this season will then be just the thing to wear with the next new suit.
In the same way, if you can afford only one new outfit, and you decide that a tailored suit best fills your need do not spoil it by purchasing an over-elaborate hat, or shoes meant only for party wear. Or if you have found by experience that fluffy, frilly things best fulfill your purpose, do not change over to tailored clothes all at once, and expect to keep a harmonious effect.
This is one of the greatest secrets of economical dressing. If you will plan your wardrobe so that any article you buy can be worn with any of the others, you will find that you do not begin to need so many hats, gloves, shoes, furs, petticoats, parasols, and the like, as the woman who does not use such foresight in her shopping.

There can be no permanent satisfaction, economy or real investment value in any structure if it does not have a durable weather resisting, long lasting roof. That's why it pays to roof with
"HALF CENTURY" BRAND WHITE CEDAR SHINGLES
Laid with Galvanized or Copper Nails
Here are four reasons why "Half Century" Brand Shingles are a superior investment.
First, because White Cedar is the best "weather-wearing" shingle wood.
Second, because "Half Century" Brand Shingles are all "air-cured". No rushing of these intricately heated dry kilns that take all the life and strength out of the wood, making it curl and warp.
Third, because "Half Century" Shingles are always the right thickness. You won't find them splitting under the nails as will happen to a shingle that is cut too thin.
Fourth, because they are White Cedar they take any shade of stain or paint beautifully.
"Half Century" Shingles live as long as their name. It pays to insist on having them for your roof. All lumber dealers can supply you. Insist on seeing the above Trade-Mark on every bundle. It's your guarantee of quality. And remember this: "Half Century" Shingles outlast common steel nails by a long, long way. Be sure to use galvanized or copper shingle nails.

The Book of Knowledge is published in one form only, in five languages, with an introduction by Dr. John H. Finley. There is no abridged edition.

A Remarkable Educational Tool
It Turns Curiosity Into Knowledge

Children are the hope of the world. Upon the wise use of the time of the young depends the future progress of the race. We grown-ups are so busily engaged in the business of living that we hardly see beyond the tasks and pleasures of our routine existence. Children are looking at the stars and asking us what makes them twinkle. We hear only the harsh noises of the day. Children are listening to the songs of the birds and begging us to tell them their names, and what makes a violin string sound higher or lower. Children are eager to learn more and more of what is going on in the wonderful world about them. We are concerned with making a train or closing a deal. It is worth the time of every father and mother to stop for a moment and think about what he is doing to fit his child for the future.

A remarkable new method has been developed to help the parent and teacher in the education of children. It is the Book of Knowledge—the Children's Encyclopedia. This book is now giving a working knowledge of the world to children in over a million homes today. This remarkable original work was made by a staff of experts who know and understand a child: its appeal is irresistible. The Book of Knowledge is divided into these 16 Sections:

The United States	Our Own Life	Book of Wonder	Poetry and Rhymes
Dominion of Canada	Plant Life	Famous Books	Golden Deeds
All Other Countries	The Earth	Men and Women	School Lessons
Natural History	Familiar Things	Stories and Legends	Manual Training

contains 80 pages and 130 pictures, with colored plate; a list of the contents of the 16 departments, 350 questions as answered in the wonder section, and a number of brief articles showing the method of teaching the child the most difficult subjects quickly and easily. ## NORTH EASTERN MICH. COW LEADS THE STATE

Princess Polly, Owned by F. C. Holbeck in Iosco County, Produces 877 Lbs. of Butter Fat

Fred C. Holbeck, president of the Michigan Guernsey Cattle association and owner of the Nordland farm at Long Lake, Iosco County, whose "Nordland Daisy," made the Michigan record for three-year-olds by producing 744.26 pounds of butter fat in a test completed last December and which record also made her the eighth in the world for Guernsey cows of this class, has made some more "Guernsey history." In a test just completed, his Princess Polly No. 55935 of Nordland, produced 17,420 pounds of milk and 877 pounds of butter fat, topping any previous record of Michigan Guernseys by nine pounds of butter fat, the previous high record having been 868 pounds made by Cilly M., owned by John Endicott, of Detroit. The Princess Polly test was supervised by the Michigan Agricultural College and the American Guernsey Cattle club and a check test was made by the State Agricultural College of Indiana.

Mr. Holbeck sells all of his product as sweet cream, shipping in refrigerator cans and receiving 80 cents per pound for butter fat, so that the total receipts from Princess Polly for the year were approximately $700. During the test Princess Polly consumed 9,125 pounds of ground grain, 1,080 pounds of mixed hay and 10,000 pounds of ensilage, which at Mr. Holbeck's cost figures, amounted to $141.08. He figures his labor costs for the year at $50 per cow, leaving a total profit from this one cow of $508.92.

On the Holbeck farm rations are mixed for each cow according to her condition and production and the amount to be fed each one is posted on a card at her stall. The grain and feed mixture is carefully studied, and, citing results, Mr. Holbeck says it surely pays to "use every pound of feed that a cow will consume and turn into milk."

TOURIST ASS'N HOLDS MEET

A meeting of the officers and others interested in the Huron Shore Tourist Association was held at the Detroit Board of Commerce, 12 o'clock, Friday, February 23rd.

A representative from each town and locality in the territory and others interested were present. The Bay City Chamber of Commerce sent a committee of five.

North Eastern Michigan was represented as a unit by John Yuill of Vanderbilt, Robert Rayburn of Alpena, and T. F. Marston of Bay City, President, Vice President and Secretary respectively of the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau.

The wholesalers, the Retail Merchants Association, the hotel men and the Board of Commerce of Detroit all had representatives.

The meeting was for the purpose of discussing and the planning of a co-operative advertising campaign of Eastern Michigan for summer tourists, the work begun last year, the results of which so fully demonstrated its value to this side of Michigan.

Last year advertising was carried in national magazines, newspapers, motor magazines and farm papers. Inquiries were received from a wide territory. To those making inquiry was sent a personal letter, a four color map folder, showing roads, rail roads, streams, lakes, parks, camping grounds and the towns subscribing to the fund.

First Prize, sent in by Helen V. Potter, Curran, Mich., who writes, "A view of Cranberry Lake, one of the numerous lakes in Alpena Co. This lake is located in the northwestern part of the county. The shore is sandy and ideal for camping. Boats are on the lake for pleasure at all times. For fishermen, bass, sunfish, perch and bluegills await in the quiet water."

Lists were then made of these inquiries and sent to the representatives of the towns subscribing to the fund so that local material would be sent to them. In this way the person making inquiry received not only general literature but also specific information which would help in finding a suitable location for the summer vacation.

Under the present system a very small proportion of the funds are required for overhead, practically all office maintenance being carried by the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau.

PRESQUE ISLE SELLS SEED POTATOES FOR $1.20 PER BUS.

August Domke, Ocqueoc township farmer, broke the ice in the certified seed game, contracting 300 bushels to stations in Ohio and Indiana at $1.20 per bushel, f. o. b. Millersburg.

Mr. Domke and A. N. McDonald of Case township, report the sale of another lot (one carload) for $1.05 per bushel loaded in bulk. It is interesting to note that the last named car goes to two farmers in southern Michigan who are recognized as Michigan's Potato Kings. The fact that these men are "coming north" for their own seed, speaks well for the certified seed game. When such men as these are convinced that seed grown in northern Michigan under supervision and inspection of college representatives, is the only seed they can afford to plant, it is the best kind of a stamp of approval that could be placed on the certified seed game. That others are falling in line is shown by the inquiries coming from Wayne, Oakland, St. Clair and other southern Michigan counties. — Presque Isle Advance.

THE AGRICULTURAL RECORD OF OTSEGO COUNTY, "TOP O' MICHIGAN"

Otsego county is called the "Top of Michigan," because its altitude is the highest of any county in the southern peninsula. Gaylord, the county seat, is known as the "Pinnacle City," by reason of the fact that within a half mile of the city limits is the very highest point of land below the Straits.

Gaylord is 119 miles north of Bay City, 227 miles north of Detroit, 63 miles south of Mackinaw City, 69 miles west of Alpena and 23 miles east of Boyne City. By reason of its geographical location with respect to the farming area, the transportation lines and the highways of the northern half of the state, in addition to the fact that it is the natural water-shed for that section. Gaylord has for years also been known as the "Heart of Northern Michigan."

TOURIST TRADE PAYS FARMER

He bought and paid for his land, this farmer in one of our own counties, but had to borrow $400. This year at the end of the resort season he came to the bank with a wad of change, small bills and checks to the amount of $557, explaining that this was the returns from radishes, lettuce, eggs, etc., sold during the season to resorters.

Not a great amount of money perhaps but it was not a large farm; only forty acres of undeveloped land; and the truck sold practically represented only a side issue of the regular farming.

It is told that the checks he turned in represented a great many localities, coming from many states.

One of hundreds of like cases of regular occurrences in the great resort section of North Eastern Michigan.

NORTHEASTERN MICHIGAN ADAPTED TO FUR FARMING

Mr. Wm. Schmidt, an old time resident of Rogers City, is the happy possessor of 800 acres of wild land, bordering on Lake Huron.

He proposes starting a fur farm and inasmuch as the property has two inland lakes, practically an old beaver run, he should have success. Lately one of the federal government men made the statement that Northern Michigan had thousands of acres of land admirably adapted for fur farming, especially beaver and insisted that it should be very profitable.

Mr. Schmidt thinks the same.

WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN

Why should you join the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau?

Because Every man, woman or child in North Eastern Michigan, directly or indirectly benefits from the work of the Bureau.

STANDISH BUSINESS MEN AID DAIRY FARMERS

Hold Big Meeting and Promise Co-operation to Farmers Entering Dairy Business

Arenac county has been stirring up considerable interest during the past three months because of its "better dairy movement." Last December the Standish Board of Commerce conceived the idea that it was about time that the farmers of all sections of Arenac county should indulge in and if properly interested, would be in favor of better dairy herds and methods of producing more income from their farms. During the past three years Arenac county farmers have been more or less "up against it." Beans, the big crop, were a failure, even when prices were good. Sugar beets were only fair and other crops were about on the same level. Farmers were getting in debt—were becoming discouraged in not being able to meet their obligations and many were leaving the farm for the cities.

The Standish Board of Commerce first called a meeting of the Farm Bureau officers in conjunction with its own members to determine whether or not they thought it advisable to go to the farmers with the plan the Board had in mind. Prof. O. E. Reed of the extension department of the M. A. C., was asked to come here to explain better dairying methods. Following his talk the Farm Bureau officers expressed their willingness to support the move of better dairying and a second meeting to be called early in January was arranged for.

Prof. Reed was again present, also T. F. Marston, secretary of the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau. Fred C. Holbeck of "Princess Polly" fame, E. J. Leenhouts of the extension department of the N. Y. C. Lines, Prof. H. E. Dennison of the M. A. C., and others from Bay City and near-by towns. The crowd with the farmers, numbered over 275 and every one interested listened to the addresses of Prof. Reed, Messrs. Holbeck, Marston and H. A. Chamberlain of Standish. Following the addresses the farmers, board members and guests were served with a lunch. Then followed two or three hours of "just visiting" and talking "cows." This ended about 1:30 in the morning. These have been features of all the meetings. Realizing the need of further education of caring for cows of high grade or pure bred quality, Prof. Reed advised the farmers to "go carefully." He pointed out that there were many "visitor" cows among the herds of cows in Arenac county, cows that failed to pay their way. He urged the culling out of these cows and taking better care of the good cows, then the gradual entering into keeping of graded or pure-bred cows.

Messrs. Marston and Holbeck told of some of their experiences as dairy farmers. Then H. A. Chamberlain, following some general remarks along the line of why the farmers needed more sure investments on the farm, presented to them the plan thought of by the Board of Commerce, this plan to help in the extension of dairying in the county.

Two weeks later Fred C. Holbeck of Long Lake (The Nordland Farms) gave a complete talk on his experience as a dairy farmer. He showed

BUREAU NOTES

Nearly fifty percent increase in subscriptions last year.

The new office in the Board of Commerce Building suits us better than the old location and,—we save about $20 per month.

We have worn out another typewriter and have a new one. How many letters telling about NorthEastern Michigan does this mean?

A woman in California wrote us about this newspaper supplement. She received it with the Gladwin County Record. A Chicago man received it through the Alcona County Review.

Roy McKibbin reports very satisfactory results for his summer resort, "Idlewild" on Houghton Lake, secured from the inquiry lists sent out by the Bureau.

Work has begun for a live fish and wild life exhibit to be placed with the agricultural display in the Michigan Central passenger station at Detroit. This exhibit is placed by A. T. Stewart of Fisheries of the Department of Conservation, in cooperation with the railroad officials and the Bureau.

Form proofs for the new Tourist Guide or Directory have been sent out to all Boards of Trade and Business Mens organizations in NorthEastern Michigan for correction and information as to local matters of interest. The proof sheet is of Alpena but shows the form planned.

G. L. Wakeman, traffic manager of the D. & M. Ry., and Secretary Marston appeared on the program at the annual meeting of the Rogers City Board of Commerce the evening of February 6th.

The February issue of "See America First" contains an illustrated article "Canoing Down the AuSable" by Parlee C. Grose. In a later issue Mr. Grose has an article on our National Forest. It is proposed to republish these two articles with one or two more on NorthEastern Michigan in booklet form called "Travelogues" by Parlee C. Grose.

HERE IS BOOSTING

Secretary Marston of the Bureau received a very artistic Christmas card from a Texas friend, and wonders how many NorthEastern Michigan people would send out a card with similar sentiment for NorthEastern Michigan if one were to be had.

The card, embellished with oil derrick, cow-boy and steer, reads as follows:

Come down and breathe our Christmas air,
And be a Texas Millionaire;
And throw a steer and drill for oil,
And help us brag about the soil.
Well, anyway, if you can't come down,
Have a Merry Christmas in your own home town.

FIRST SILVER CUP FOR NORTHEASTERN MICHIGAN'S POTATO SHOW

The Top O'Michigan Potato Show to be held at Gaylord next November is progressing.

It has received lots of publicity and comment, has a goodly sum of money already subscribed, thanks to the progressiveness of the Otsego County Board of Supervisors, and will have much more from other counties interested.

Recently Secretary Marston told the Bay City Rotary Club that it was up to them to put up a prize. After the meeting Rotarian "Mike" Carroll answered that the John Carroll Company, wholesale dealers in fruit and vegetables, would meet the demand.

The particular prize for which the cup will be given will be decided upon later.

ADVERTISING SCOPE

Of the inquiries received last year Michigan stands first in number, Ohio second, Illinois, Indiana follow, then a scattering, even to several from the Philippines, Canal Zone and one from Chile.

BUY A FARM NOW

"Now is the time to hold on if you have a good farm," says Ezra Levin, of the State Department of Agriculture. "Now is the time to buy if you expect to farm in Michigan. Our domestic consumption is increasing, our population is increasing, the increase being largely in our industrial centers. Especially important is this fact to us who are in the hub of the nation's industrial life. There is no cheap land in the west. A period of intensification for the land close to the large consuming markets is at hand. The high cost of transportation, is stimulating the development of food production near those markets. Michigan land values are going up and the one who holds on and conserves his soil fertility will win when we begin moving to the crest of the wave."

LIMESTONE LEGUMES LIVESTOCK MEAN PROFITS IN FARMING

Here is a fac-simile of an effective poster printed in red issued by the Agricultural Department of the New York Central Lines. The thousands of words written on the subject cannot improve on these eight words very much.

The farmers of NorthEastern Michigan have the world by the tail so far as limestone for their farms is concerned.

The three sugar factories at Bay City with their production of 20,000 tons of waste lime sludge a year can take care of the southern part of the district and can ship over any of the railroads, while the Campbell quarries in the north at Afton on the Michigan Central and the Calcite plant at Rogers in the Detroit & Mackinaw, with the cement plant at Alpena, could supply every farmer not already located in a limestone section.

It will pay. Try it. The railroads quote a particularly low rate on agricultural limestone.

Some of the Letters We Receive

Mr. T. F. Marston, Sec'y.,
NorthEastern Michigan Development
Bureau, Bay City, Mich.

Your letter and booklets describing land and opportunities in NorthEastern Michigan at hand and contents studied and am more convinced than ever that NorthEastern Michigan is where I want to locate.

I have been struggling along in the city for a number of years and when I look back to my independence and success on a small farm it convinces me of my foolishness.

I am not a stock or dairy farmer. What I want is a small farm where I can raise chickens, geese and turkeys, and raise my own feed for same. Say from 20 to 40 acres with water, preferably on small lake.—D. M. Lee.

NorthEastern Michigan Development
Bureau, Bay City, Michigan.

Dear Mr. Marston—Although it is rather late to express myself by letter, and in spite of the fact that I have already verbally told you of my enthusiasm for the supplement in NorthEastern Michigan, I still wish to extend my congratulations on this splendid publicity medium and to register my hearty approval of this means of selling NorthEastern Michigan to itself.

I feel quite sure that this supplement will be the means of bringing to the attention of NorthEastern Michigan people the effective work the Bureau is doing, and at the same time develop local enthusiasm on the occasion of every issue.

If from time to time we can be of service in aiding you in the compilation of the magazine, please do not hesitate to call on us.

Very truly yours,

W. H. HILL,
Agr'l Agent N. Y. C. Lines.

ACROSTICALLY SPEAKING

O, the farmer is a happy guy,
Rev'ling in happiness, you think,
Always livin' very high,
The cups of joy e'er his to drink.
Sun shines out just right for him,
The rains come just in time,
His only care's to bank his tin,
Each crop pans out so fine.
Coin galore rolls to his lap
One season to another,
Wealth comes to him and doffs her cap,
Sure, luck's his own twin brother.
And nature with a smiling face,
Rends all his trials asunder.
E'en send him to his resting place,
In happiness to slumber.
Next morn he rises full refreshed
The kine meet him with greeting,
His wife and children call him blest,
Each lamb with joy is bleating.
Con. dear reader, purest con!
On that you may gamble all your rocks;
Rasping toil till the night comes on,
Not lotus eatin' is the price of crops.

OTSEGO COUNTY, THE

"TOP O' MICHIGAN."

days to enjoy the fine bathing facilities, fishing, etc.

Gaylord is the point of intersection of Trunk Lines M32 and M18, and is therefore easily accessible by auto from all points of the state.

Gaylord is also the point of intersection of the Michigan Central railroad and the Boyne City, Gaylord & Alpena, affording excellent connections with New York, Detroit Chicago and other cities on the great trans-continental lines.

Among the public buildings of note at Gaylord is the fine brick court house, a high school which at the time of its construction was the largest in NorthEastern Michigan, a library, a splendid concrete Municipal building where the community life centers, and four churches of the Baptist, Catholic, Congregational and Methodist denominations. Gaylord also has an up-to-date newspaper and job printing plant, a fine bank, and the business places are all exceptionally modern and well-stocked for the size of the city. The Dayton Last Block Works, the largest shoe last factory in the United States, is located at Gaylord, as are the plants of the Toy Corporation of America, the Gaylord Creamery Company, and the Gaylord Manufacturing Company. At Vanderbilt, the second town of the county, there is a very successful chair factory.

Although the lumbering activities reached their hey-day some years ago, there are still a number of important logging and lumbering operations going on in the county at the present time. Among the more important are those of Yuill Bros., at Vanderbilt, the Johannesburg Manufacturing Company at Johannesburg, Dirk Schreur, Michigan Iron & Chemical Company, Kneeland Bigelow Co., Boyne City Chemical Company.

There are 66 good-sized lakes and 7 main trout streams in Otsego Co. The north branch of the AuSable, the Black, the Sturgeon, the Pigeon, the Manistee and many minor streams all have their origin in the county, and are among the best trout-fishing streams of the state.

Because of the altitude the county is wonderfully healthful, and many people come here each year to obtain relief from asthma, hay fever, catarrh and tuberculosis. The water, pumped from wells ranging 50 to 200 feet in depth is clear, ice cold and pure.

The topography of the county is of a wide range. There are some large hills, a great deal of gently rolling land and some level stretches. From a scenic point the rolling country is beautiful, and visitors say that it reminds them in places of the foothills of the Rockies.

As the topography varies so does the nature and fertility of the soil. At one time Otsego county grew magnificent forests of pine and hardwood. The pine lands are light and many of them are not suitable for agriculture. But the hardwood lands which predominate, are of a sandy loam character which is very fertile and produces large crops.

The agricultural achievements of Otsego county speak for themselves. Here are a few of them:

1st place in Rural Russets at the International Potato Show at Duluth last year.

1st place in winter vetch at the Hay and Grain Show at the Agricultural College last January.

1st in the entire state in pure-bred sire work in 1922, representing 100 per cent increase.

1st among all NorthEastern Michigan counties in 1922 potato acreage, with 4,402 acres.

1st in certified seed potato production for NorthEastern Michigan, with 27,400 bushels, and second in entire state.

1st in alfalfa acreage among NorthEastern Michigan counties, with 702 acres.

1st in number and value of silver black fox ranches and number of pairs of foxes. It is estimated that over a half million dollars are invested in this industry in the county.

2nd in corn acreage for the district.

2nd in rye production for the district with 59,325 bushels.

Otsego county has 638 farms. Interest in farming is rapidly on the increase. Last year alone, 500 additional acres were cleared for farming. The county employs an agricultural agent who has done invaluable work in encouraging the farmers in more scientific methods and in the production particularly of certified seed potatoes which industry is destined to become one of the most profitable in the county.

As a result also of the County Agent's efforts, the Board of Supervisors have voted funds to carry on a bovine tuberculosis eradication campaign.

Otsego County's crowning effort for the current year will be the "Top O' Michigan" Potato Show, which will be held at Gaylord, Nov. 14th, 15th and 16th of the current year, at which time the finest potatoes of NorthEastern Michigan which means the finest potatoes in the world, will be exhibited.

It may be seen from the above review that Otsego county offers attractive opportunities to resorter, fisherman, tourist and farmer, each and all of whom are heartily welcomed.

Selling NorthEastern Michigan

In a previous article I attempted to show how NorthEastern Michigan could be sold to advantage agriculturally by first selling it to yourself. As another thought I want to remark on the possibilities of the Huron Shore country as a resort and tourist section. Nowhere on earth is there to be found such a beautiful combination for summer vacations. Nowhere else will you find such a setting of fresh water lakes or seas as the Great Lake region provides, centrally located with relation to the country as a whole it can be easily reached from every point of the compass. NorthEastern Michigan, right in the heart of this lake region, offers to the tourist vacationist unexcelled scenery, camping facilities and everything one may desire to make a summer vacation complete. The one thing lacking to make this territory the greatest resort section for summer tourists is the inclination or ability of the people living right here to properly sell their natural resources. There is a lack of knowledge regarding what they have to sell or a sort of sleeping sickness that does not seem to care. This year tourists flocked to NorthEastern Michigan in spite of this disposition, and the question arises, how many of them will repeat. If they had been properly sold each and everyone of them would have become a walking advertisement for this section and and for each one this past year a dozen would come next. Of course, they will continue to come to NorthEastern Michigan until some one discovers the possibilities lying dormant and proceed to develop them, with the consequent financial benefit to themselves that must surely result; and the local inhabitants after it is too late will awaken to the fact that they have missed something and wonder why they never thought of it before.

Sell NorthEastern Michigan as a resort section, just as it is if you must, or by helping nature by improvements that will be inviting if you can. Make each individual that spends his vacation in your locality glad that he came. Be friendly, and if you cannot boost or have nothing that seems worth boosting, at least don't knock. If you find a knocker make every effort to convince him of his error and if he will not be convinced and wants to sell out and move away try your best to find a buyer for him, but in any event sell NorthEastern Michigan just as you would merchandise. You cannot sell merchandise that you do not have confidence in yourself.

While we should be glad to welcome new residents to this locality they are not a necessity by any means. What we really need is an injection of new life and pep. With the proper spirit there is no reason why NorthEastern Michigan should not be in the summer time what Florida is to the whole United States in winter.

G. B. WAKEMAN,
Traffic Manager D. & M. Ry.

SELLING NORTHEASTERN MICHIGAN

General Superintendent John G. Munson, of the Michigan Lime and Chemical Company of Rogers City, during an informal talk recently stated that in his opinion their company was doing quite a little toward selling NorthEastern Michigan, they having sold and shipped over five million tons of NorthEastern Michigan last year in the shape of limestone. Since the plant is being enlarged it is presumed the tonnage will be much greater this year.

About 150,000 tons of the amount shipped last year was used for agricultural purposes, being reshipped from Buffalo.

When the enormous piles of the waste ground limestone are seen one feels there must surely be enough in them to sweeten all the soil in Michigan, if the farmers would only use it, which if they did would be much to the advantage of said soil

SOME PRACTICAL POINTERS FOR HOME-SEEKERS IN OSCODA COUNTY

If anyone should tell you where you could get a piece of goods for three hundred dollars, and someone else tell you where you could get as good or better for thirty dollars would you fail to investigate? Many a good proposition has been turned down, and many a man has gone on for years with his nose to the grindstone and found himself past the age of usefulness, who could, by working no harder, have been independent and the owner of property that would support him in his old age and leave his children on a level with those of the man he has allowed to profit by his labor.

It is within the memory of this writer that land that was at one time looked upon with indifference has risen to a price varying from two to four hundred dollars an acre. There are plenty of hard-working men today without homes and without backing who could as easily have made the profit that comes from modest investment had they possessed the courage and the foresight to tackle a very simple proposition. People take off their hats to the successful real estate man and fail to see that they themselves could have done the same or better. At least they could have become the owners of homes that would have made them independent of landlords and instead of a continual outgo have had an income.

There are plenty of opportunities yet for the man who has energy and ambition. The man who is willing to cut loose and work for himself, and no harder than he is now working for others, can find in Oscoda County, Michigan, opportunities to own a farm that will support him and his family and provide for that family after he is dead. And it may not be improper right here to ask the renter how much the average landlord does for the renter's family after the renter is dead? Get land. Get it for yourself and your family. Work it and work it for yourself and your own. By so doing you will profit by every improvement you make, you will set your own wages and never have to cringe for your own pay. Land owning leads to freedom and to profit.

Standish Business Men and Dairy Farmers Hold Big Meeting and Promise Co-operation

the farmers how they could, by careful feeding, improve their cows far beyond their present production of milk. Also Wm. McCarthy, county agent of Ogemaw county, gave a short address on the duties of and advantages in having a county agent.

On Friday evening, February 9, Prof. H. E. Dennison of the dairy extension department of the M. A. C., gave a talk on cow testing associations, its advantages and what it was worth to a farmer. He explained in detail the work performed through the organization of cow testing associations.

As a result of these meetings, publicity through the columns of the Arenac County Independent, and by virtue of articles written by E. J. Leenhouts, provisions have been made for securing 150 to 200 grade and pure-bred Holsteins and Guernseys. Farmers are intensely interested in the movement and seem "hungry" for the information given them as a result of the gatherings. Several pure-bred sires have also been purchased.

Watch Arenac grow as a dairy county.

Following are the complete plans whereby the Standish Board of Commerce hopes to assist the farmers who desire to take advantage of the proposition as outlined. The plan is plain and above board, no strings attached to it and it is up to the farmer entirely to accept or reject same.

Be it resolved that whereas it is the consensus of opinion among the leading business men and farmers that as agriculture is the basic industry of the country, it is necessary in order to put this industry on an equal basis with other industries of the nation, that a spirit of co-operation should be fostered to bring about this very desirable result and whereas, after diligent inquiry and investigation, we, the members of the Standish Board of Commerce, have reached the conclusion that dairy extension is one of the surest and safest means whereby this condition may be brought about in Arenac county, and to this end we do hereby present the following plan:

First, that the farmers to the number of five or more in their respective localities organize themselves into an association to be known as Holstein or Guernsey associations. That they elect a president, secretary and treasurer with authority to transact the business of the association.

Second, that the association, after determining the number of cows desired, shall select one of their number as purchasing agent, who, with the assistance of a representative of the Michigan Agricultural College, will purchase the cows desired and distribute them to the members of the association by lot.

Third, that the association, thru its officers, give their note to the Board of Commerce for the purchase price of these cows, the ownership of same to remain and be vested in the association until they are paid for.

Fourth, that this note be retired by the members paying to the treasurer of the association one-half of the proceeds derived from the sale of the products of these cows until fully paid for but not less than $5 per month per cow.

Fifth, that each association procure and keep for service one pure-bred high grade bull in order to improve the standing of their respective herds.

Sixth, that the Standish Board of Commerce will engage to undertake the financing of the above plan to the extent of furnishing the means to carry out the plans above

Crawford County

Crawford County — "Coming Crawford" — claims her rightful place when the advantages of NorthEastern Michigan are disclosed to the world.

It is not Heaven's borderland; but it has substantial qualities and advantages which the tourist, resorter, fisherman or the seeker for good farm lands would do well to investigate before casting his lot elsewhere.

Served by three towns, Grayling, Frederic and Roscommon, all of which are on State Trunk line M18, Crawford county has the distinction of having its county seat on the Michigan Central, and the Manistee and NorthEastern railroad as well. The latter starts at Manistee, on Lake Michigan, and ends at Grayling.

The Michigan Central, part of the great New York Central Lines system, in passing from Detroit to Mackinaw, runs solid trains through Grayling. The tourist from the east or west makes ideal connections in the great Michigan Central Terminal in Detroit in the early evening, takes his comfortable sleeper, and awakes in Grayling, ready for a day's fishing in the magic waters of the AuSable which has been called the greatest trout stream east of the Rocky Mountains.

There must be something of deep appeal to the tourist, the resorter, the fisherman, in the swift streams, the good catch, the beautiful romantic situations, the tonic air and the good water, for those who are experienced in many places, and have the means with which to go where they like, return here year after year, bringing others with them.

Men of very able vocabulary have expended their best efforts in describing the witchery and the appeal of the AuSable.

Few streams are able to please so many moods. The main stream, the North Branch, the East Branch, the South Branch, and Manistee Rivers and Big Creek, all contribute their part.

Where else than in Crawford County, can the business man, or the professional man step out of his Detroit sleeper, have a good breakfast in Sheppenagon Inn in Grayling, and step into his canoe, or wet his gaiters in the Main Stream two blocks from his hotel door?

Where else than at Lovells, in Crawford County, can one find such a combination of wonderful meals, good beds, electric lights, depot a block away, yet the wilderness he has sought?

To those who seek not pleasure but an opportunity to build farm homes, Crawford County offers a large area of land good enough for anyone.

Crawford County has some poor land. It would be the dictate of good sense for the settler to leave those alone, and to let them become reforested, as they should.

Crawford County has thousands of thousands of acres of splendid land.

Take these and use them right, and quickly build up a farm home with a light initial expense.

Settlers do not need to go it blind in Crawford County; for the county maintains, always on the job, an experienced agricultural adviser, who does not sell land, but who advises all who request his services as to what are the best methods with the soil.

This County Agent is a middle-aged man, of practical experience covering many years of farming in this region.

The new settlers owe it to themselves to consult with this practical adviser before purchasing lands unless they are good judges of land and location.

After starting to farm, the agricultural adviser can be of great help to the settler, in suggesting methods found best by test.

Settlers will find the rural school of the County using modern books and equipment, and under charge of a county commissioner of schools, who is a college graduate, and a teacher of many years of experience. After children have finished their rural school they can attend excellent high schools in Grayling, Frederic or Roscommon.

The High School at Grayling is particularly well and modernly equipped, and affords gymnasium, physical director, supervisor of music and drawing, teacher in domestic science, and a commercial course in addition to usual high school work.

A County Health Nurse visits all schools at proper intervals.

Crawford County is particularly well adapted to dairying.

Dairying, carried on here, has the advantage of receiving as much for butterfat, produced on land costing fifteen dollars an acre, as on land elsewhere costing ten times as much.

The outlet for dairy products is unflinching.

Settlers will find a source of large revenue in providing the various kinds of foodstuffs from the dairy and garden, needed in large quantities by the resort trade, and can make summer connections for winter business.

Letters concerning opportunities for manufacturers, tourists, sportsmen, resorters, or farmers, addressed to the Grayling Board of Trade, will receive prompt and dependable answers.

IOWA FARMER TELLS WHY HE LOCATED IN N. E. MICHIGAN

That farm land can become too high-priced to be used profitably for certain kinds of farming and stock-raising is rapidly becoming recognized by many of the men on farms in the older settled states of the mid-west, where good farms are being held at from $300 up to $600 and even more, per acre.

In 1920 Fred E. Butcher and his son, of Stanwood, Iowa, were so convinced of this fact that they spent some time in looking over newer lands, finally selecting NorthEastern Michigan as the most promising, from standpoint of good lands, proximity to market and other features demanded by the experienced farmer, and buying a large ranch near Johannesburg.

Here is what Mr. Butcher writes regarding their venture:

"Along in the fall of 1920 my son and I conceived the idea of raising and feeding stock on cheaper lands than those in Eastern Iowa, where land was selling at from $250 to $400 per acre, which made sheep and cattle raising too expensive to be profitable. We went into Northern Minnesota, inspecting and in several counties as far north as Duluth. At the latter place we got in touch with a company which had land for sale in NorthEastern Michigan and, after an inspection trip through the upper peninsula finally landed in Gaylord, Otsego county, but didn't find that the Duluth company's land just suited our purpose as their lands were mostly small tracts, with not enough cleared to furnish winter feed for the amount of stock which we desired to handle.

"Our inquiries, however, led us to a tract near Johannesburg which we now own and operate, 572 acres, of which 250 acres were cleared and stumped and 322 acres with stumps but clear of undergrowth, except a few bunches of trees to furnish shade for the stock in the summer time. It was all excellent hardwood land. The ranch had three sets of buildings which would equal those on the average Iowa farm. They were all painted and nicely located. The soil is a sandy loam, with enough clay mixed into it to make it ideal for raising sugar beets and all kinds of roots and it easily produces 70 bushels of oats per acre. Early varieties of corn do quite well and I have raised 50 bushels of shelled corn per acre on it. Seed brought from Iowa did not ripen so well, not being acclimated, but it produced excellent fodder and silage. I think it is one of the best hay countries I ever saw. All kinds do well. Clover seed grows from three to eight bushels per acre. I hulled 75 bushels in 1921. The potatoes grown in this locality cannot be beaten for quality or quantity. I shipped six carloads to Iowa which I raised on this farm in 1921, and I raised over 4,000 bushels this year. They produced from 100 to 300 bushels per acre and some people get an even higher production. In 1922 I raised over 100 tons of hay and a saw mill company at Johannesburg buys all the hay produced in the locality. Last fall they paid $15 per ton for it. Oats brought 60 cents per bushel and were of excellent quality, weighing 37 pounds to the measured bushel.

"Now, about our lamb feeding. In 1921 we bought our lambs in the Chicago market the latter part of June. They made a net gain of 26 pounds apiece during the summer and fall, averaging 62 pounds when bought and 88 pounds at the East Buffalo market, making all this gain on feed, corn, oats, hay and grass grown on the farm. In 1922 we purchased 946 lambs about the middle of July—three double deck carloads—and fed them about the same as in 1921, not feeding them as much corn and only 720 bushels of oats, and they made a gain of 25 pounds each. We paid 2.6 cents per pound for them in Chicago and sold two carloads in East Buffalo at $14.75 per pound and the same price for two carloads sold in Detroit, topping the market in both cases the day they were there. We made a net profit of nearly $3.00 per head, having only 20 head thrown out at East Buffalo and these sold for 14 cents. I think this is an excellent gain, considering the time they were on feed—about three and a half months.

"One of the reasons why we selected this locality was because it was close to good markets, having all southern Michigan with its numerous large cities, as well as Ohio and New York and Pennsylvania. Another is that the sheep carried over grow the finest fleeces."

ATTENDANCE AT STATE PARKS

P. J. Hoffmaster, superintendent of State Parks of the Department of Conservation, gives the following report on NorthEastern Michigan Parks for 1922:

State Park	Season's Attendance	No. of Camps
Onaway	17,200	264
Harrisville	2,800	138
Cheboygan	3,300	251
East Tawas	25,000	?
Gladwin	2,100	120
Wilson	4,000	255
Frank W. Fletcher	2,100	114
Indian River	15,000	374
Otsego Lake	2,500	112
Paul H. Hoeft	1,200	124

Inasmuch as records were not begun at the beginning of the season, and since several parks had only part time care-takers, the record is not complete.

It is interesting to know that 27 different states were represented by the visitors as well as Canadian provinces.

In touring parties and camps it was about evenly divided, as between Michigan and outsiders.

With a fair conservative estimate the camps represent about 30,000 camp days for one person.

Considering that comparatively few people even in Michigan know about these parks and what they have to offer, one can visualize their wonderful asset to Michigan when they become fairly well known.

If at one park the visitors left only ten cents per day, they would have paid one-half the amount expended by the State on that particular park in equipping it and making it available to the public.

OTSEGO COUNTY VETCH PRIZE WINNER

Otsego County won another blue ribbon when a sample of winter vetch grown by George McCoy was awarded first prize in its class at the Hay and Grain show held in connection with Farmers' Week at the Michigan Agricultural College last month.

This adds further to the evidence that we can grow this crop here successfully. Mr. McCoy harvested his rye and vetch last summer, separating the two, after selling 20 bushels for seed and sowing his own besides, and sold $18 worth of vetch per acre besides about $12 worth of rye from each acre. The rye crop went about 20 bushels per acre, which is above the average for the county, and the vetch grew on the same ground at the same time. Vetch is a legume crop, putting nitrogen, the most expensive part of commercial fertilizer and the best part of barnyard manure, into the soil in the same way that clover, sweet clover and alfalfa does.

The market for vetch seed is practically always good. Most of this seed is sown in the south where it is plowed down for fertilizer after making a good top growth. The seasons are too hot and dry there for the vetch crop to mature a seed crop, so we have the job of growing their seed for them. There is very little extra labor involved in the growing of vetch with rye, and the income is about doubled, besides leaving the soil in better condition than the rye alone would leave it. —By A. C. Lytle in Otsego County Herald & Times.

NORTHEASTERN MICHIGAN STATE PARKS SHOW WELL

In the last biennial report of the State Conservation Commission one chapter is devoted to the State Parks. Of the eighteen illustrations nine are from photographs secured from the Development Bureau and are of scenes in our NorthEastern Michigan parks, of which there are twelve in number with a combined area of about eleven hundred acres.

On the morning of November 10th the first day of the deer hunting season, 3,300 hunters had crossed the straits of Mackinaw in quest of deer, according to figures given out by Stephen Doud, purser of the car ferry plying between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace. This does not include a large number of hunters who have gone to their usual haunts by boat or automobile, also a goodly sized aggregation which are hunting in the counties in the lower peninsula which have open season this year.
