The Herald editor would make an earnest request that correspondents endeavor to send their letters in time to reach this office not later than Wednesday afternoon. Later arrival causes us much inconvenience and occasionally forces us to leave out live news matter.

G. A. Pringle received a message Thursday stating that his sister, Mrs. Nancy Crittenden, was very ill at her home in Grimsby, Ont., and was not expected to live. He left for Canada Thursday evening. Mrs. Pringle also received a message that her brother, Ransom Goodwin, was seriously ill at his home in Flint.

An incident that reminds one of the old lumbering days was the bringing of two trunks of logs into Tawas Bay during the past week. The logs were some cut near Fish Point during last winter by Collie Johnson and crew for the Barkman Lumber Co. Roy Grosmeier and Clark McCormick had a narrow escape from serious injury last Friday when the scaffold from which they were painting fell, throwing both to the ground from a height of about twenty feet.

Mr. Grosmeier was injured about the head and badly shaken up, necessitating a vacation for a couple of days, but Mr. McCormick escaped injury.

The last meeting of the Tawas City Parent-Teachers association for the school year was held at the high school building on Monday evening. There was a good attendance and a fine meeting was held.

The business session was held first and several splendid ideas were advanced for the benefit of the schools next year. Among them was the furnishing of milk to the underweight children, the furnishing of a proper place for the children to eat their lunches, and the securing of more playground material for the schools.

Committees were authorized to obtain full information on these propositions to present to the association at its first meeting in September.

A community sing followed the business meeting, after which an old fashioned spelling match was held. Miss Ina Bradley acted as "teacher" and Miss Jessie Robinson was the victor, "spelling down" the entire company.

Refreshments in the form of ice cream and cake were served and an hour spent in social converse at the close of the program.

The June term of the Iosco county circuit court will convene next Tuesday, June 19. There are five criminal cases on the docket, three of which are for violation of the liquor law, seven civil and five chancery cases.

Carroll, Charles Angell and Elizabeth Lynch, AuSable City; Carl Gnath, Baldwin; John Trudell, Blanche Richards and Harvey Haley, East Tawas; Charles Hennigar, Oscoda.

Last Tuesday evening Gladys Brown entertained a group of high school girls at her home. Any one soliciting for a home talent show should have had box seats to view the shin diggers and clod hoppers, as half of the girls acted as members of the stronger race and escorted the other half of the girls, who acted natural (that is to say, they remained the ladies of the party) in a reeling, rollicking old fashioned "hoe down."

Miss Brown's health and prosperity was proposed and eight glasses of orangeade were drained. And around say twelve or thereabouts, the pathetic strains of "We won't go home until morning" might have been heard by a chance pedestrian. —Contributed.

THE AMERICAN LEGION CHILDREN'S BILLET

The American Legion, Department of Michigan, and the Legion Auxiliary are busily engaged in the preparation of a Children's Billet to be used as the home of children of deceased and disabled service men of all wars.

While the buildings at Otter Lake are in process of construction, a temporary farm home has been opened, where the children will be gathered during the summer, preparatory to removal to their home in time for the opening of school in September.

A large roomy farm house has been leased for the summer, competent help secured, and already supplies are being forwarded and within a few days a happy family of boys and girls will be seen enjoying the tonic of a daily dip in the lake and other pleasures to which these little ones have been unaccustomed. In fact, among the number are those who have neither known freedom nor plenty during the brief years of their unfortunate lives. But during this summer they will grow fat and brown with an abundance of good food and proper care.

The dough boys of Michigan are manifesting the deepest interest in these children. They have dubbed themselves "daddies", while the Legion Auxiliary is already making plans looking to the care and comfort of the children entrusted to their care.

At least in so far as Michigan is concerned, these little ones will grow up to realize that Americans do not forget. Although their own fathers have paid the supreme sacrifice, or are so far disabled as to prevent them from providing a home for their little ones, nevertheless the warm-hearted people of Michigan are going to see to it that no comfort or opportunity that it is humanly possible to give, shall be denied the kiddies of our war heroes.

By means of a drive put on throughout the state on June 20th, an effort will be made to raise sufficient money to assure the care of one hundred children this year.

The Tawas City Post of the American Legion is joining in this drive and contributions may be left with the Post Commander, Martin C. Musolf. Fill in the blank below and hand in with your contribution to the cause.

"THE FLIRT," STORY OF REAL LIFE

Booth Tarkington's story, "The Flirt", was one of the most widely read books in the country, and its entertainment value is greatly enhanced by its presentation in screen form.

To be shown at the Family Theatre, East Tawas, three days, next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 20, 21 and 22.

Eileen Percy, the blonde beauty of many successful photoplays, has the greatest role of her career as "Cora", while Helen Jerome Eddy's madonna-like beauty and poise is appealing in the characterization of the other sister.

Buddy Messenger, a little "worse" than Penrod, but even more lovable, the kid brother of "The Flirt" adds much of the sparkling humor to the story that lightens the sincere pathos.

The trouble with beauty contests is that they don't mean anything, says the Boston Transcript. It is true that they proclaim to the world just what type of feminine loveliness appeals to the three or more men or women who happen to be cast in the role of jury. But of what importance is that and who is going to put any stock in their verdict? The other 100,000,000 in this country may have a different opinion—and usually do. The Quadwangler has yet to see a contest of this kind in which his judgment coincided with that of the duly constituted judges. Beauty is so much a matter of individual taste that it ought never to be put in competition.

With Americans using $1,000,000,000 worth of ice every three years, a man with a shovel-type of brain digs up this interesting fact: The first artificial ice was not made until the last year of the Civil war. As late as 1880, there were only 37 ice factories in the whole country. Now the ice plants number into the thousands and turn over 30,000,000 tons of ice a year. Thousands of conveniences like ice, we take for granted, do not appreciate our comforts as compared with our ancestors. However, while we have more conveniences, we also have more discomforts.

Some intelligent persons welcomed the World war because it caused men and women to wear foot-shaped shoes. Those shoes were worn while the killing lasted, but no longer. Thus was another good lesson entirely forgotten! For the sake of foot-shaped feet, will it be necessary to have another war?

"What," demands Jake Miller, honorary life member of the American Cartographers' association, "is the good of saying 'au gratin' when you mean 'with cheese'?" What, indeed? One would lay oneself liable to be misunderstood by persons who know more of French than of catering.

Nero's Golden House.
Nero built the costliest palace the world has ever known. It was called the "Domus Aurea," or Golden House. Remains of one end of this colossal dwelling have just been unearthed. It is said to have contained 100,000 rooms.

How Birds Dive After Prey.
Many people think that birds dive directly on to the fish they wish to capture, but if they did so they would probably be killed. Nearly all diving birds enter the water some distance from their prey, and capture them on the upward glide, and not as they go down.

Electricity From Fish.
The electric eel has a powerful generating plant. The cells are fewer in number than the 400 boasted by the ray, but they are larger. The electricity produced by these fishes is the same as that generated by batteries.

LITTLE HOP-SKIPPER

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

LITTLE HOP-SKIPPER come in through the gate,
Up through the garden and over the lawn;
Little Hop-Skipper is fearfully late—
Over an hour of the morning is gone.
There is so much for Hop-Skipper to do—
Roses to smell of, and berries to find,
All of the orchard for wandering through,
Acres or daisies a garland to wind.

Little Hop-Skipper goes skipping all day;
Watching the swallows or wading the grass,
Helping the fluffy, wee kitten to play—
Little Hop-Skipper's the busiest lass.
But, when the shadows grow long by the wall,
When the gray twilight brings childish alarms,
Then comes the happiest moment of all—
Little Hop-Skipper creeps into my arms.

RESPONSIBILITY

NOT until you have arrived at the place of life where you can show willingness and ability to shoulder responsibility will you be in a position to keep step with the noble men and women who are moving steadily forward toward success.

You can never hope to get at the top by remaining at the bottom of the ladder in sulks. Nor can you rise from the low level where the complaining masses are without first making sacrifices and fitting yourself for the ascent.

There must be within you superior skill, which you know, as well as those above and below you know, cannot be acquired except by tireless diligence and continuous effort in the right direction.

To dare responsibility without being properly equipped, both mentally and physically, is to make a hazardous venture with all the fates arrayed against you.

To lead others you must be qualified to find your own way when the dark comes and the storms rage.
You are not fit to assume responsibility of any sort until you have mastered your own stubborn spirit, learned your lesson in patience, and practiced the principles set forth in the Golden Rule.

Your first test in leadership will prove the truth of these words, in spite of an egotism you may have, or of any fancied power of excellence.

Those who cannot accept orders from their superiors with becoming grace, who at every turn in their pathway pig-headedly dispute the right of authority, who openly show disrespect of law and order, the things which govern everything from atom to sphere, can never hope successfully to assume responsibility or rise from the common level.

If you will look into the causes of failure and discouragement, you will find that ignorance, false pride, obstinacy and selfishness were the fatal stumbling blocks.

These are the things which ambitious men and women must do their utmost to avoid, otherwise their progress will be retarded and they will be forever barred from a seat among the world's leaders, who assume responsibilities seriously, conscious of their own frailties, but confident of their ability to hold steadfastly to the true course in all kinds of weather.

YOUR HAND
How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—The Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm

THE HAND OF A MUSICIAN

IN THE hand of a person who is talented in music the skin is very smooth and soft. This indicates a refined, sensitive nature, with a great dislike for anything that is coarse or unrefined. As a musician of either sex must pay attention to details, the fingers must be long in proportion to the rest of the hand.

In the hands of many musicians the thumb, at its outer angle or joint, is quite pointed. This is held to show a good idea of time or rhythm. A sense of tune is sometimes seen in a point or protuberance on the outside of the thumb, below the joint.

The mount of Venus should be fairly strong and high, to show melody, and this characteristic is seen also in a good mount of Saturn at the base of the middle finger. When there are a good mount of Apollo at the base of the third finger and a good mount of the moon near the wrist, a decided sense of harmony is shown.

COUNTRY OF VAST WEALTH

Peru Offers Practically Unlimited Possibilities to the Colonist Who Will Take a Chance.

The immense unknown of northern Peru, where the light of civilization burns in one spot, Iquitos, would need the volumes which science must daily write to do its wonder justice, declares a bulletin of the Pan-American Union. The forests of the Montana, however, somewhat better known, will form, when the railway one day traverses it and the colonist takes possession, a region whose agricultural yield in all kinds will be increased a hundred fold. Situated some 4,500 feet above the sea level, with a natural system of river irrigation and an equable climate, this splendid domain is provided by nature with all the attributes that conduce to the happiness and profit of the pioneer and the capitalist.

Of the forest productions of the Montana there are 11 different kinds of textile plants, cotton heading the list; 11 other plants—ratene—are used in making of light furniture, mats, baskets, etc.

There are 12 different trees whose bark, punctured, exudes a stream of milk, such milk being either rubber milk, milk of allied rubber species or milk whose quality is that of the richest cream and equally nourishing to human beings.

The dye producing plants are seven, while 18 others are used in medicine; 30 other plants are sources of oil, resin or balsam and 15 others produce the finest perfumes.

Of the multitude of trees 40 kinds are utilized and there are leagues and leagues of mahogany and cedar.

Justice cannot be done to these fine trees in a sentence, for they are of all kinds, many of them 150 feet and upward in height and from five to ten and even 12 feet in diameter.
Of fruit trees—and their fruit is most delicious—some 80 kinds are in use, including the famous Pan de Arbol, or breadfruit. We have mentioned but a few of the forest productions—those which are known. We cannot speak of the hundreds of unknown plants which grow in such amazing abundance.

It has been the misfortune of Peru that for want of transport and capital the boundless riches of the Montana, a solid reality, produce neither profit for Peru nor profit for the foreign investor. But let it not be forgotten that the healthful slopes of this favored Montana country can give homes and happiness to 50,000,000 settlers.

Telephones in Sweden.
Anyone wishing to make a long distance telephone call in Sweden has the choice of three classes of service, his selection usually being determined by how much in a hurry he is to have his call put through by the operator. The first class comprises the usual long distance call, which can be made at ordinary rates. Frequently the traffic congestion over the telephone circuits is so great that a considerable delay is involved. In that case he can make the call at the so-called "urgent" or "express" rate, which is three times the ordinary rate, and which has priority over all ordinary rate calls. It sometimes happens, however, that even this "express" service is unsatisfactory, and as a last resort the telephone caller may receive a so-called "lightning" service, which has absolute priority above all ordinary and express traffic. For each call of this class he must pay 100 kronen ($26.89 par value) in addition to the sum of three times the ordinary rate.

Unique Memorial Planned.
We contribute to all kinds of enterprises and memorials, so we are not surprised to hear of a revival of a plan to erect a memorial lighthouse in honor of Christopher Columbus, says the Scientific American. The project to erect a Columbus lighthouse memorial in Santo Domingo, where, many historians contend, the remains of Columbus lie, is not a new one. It originated before the World war, but was temporarily abandoned during the conflict. As previously announced, the memorial would take the form of a massive tomb, its exterior patterned after the lines of Grant's tomb in New York. On the top of the tomb would be a beacon tower about 300 feet high, in the top of which would be a great light as an aid to navigation.

Eliminates Mechanician.
The first American one-man racing car has been completed, and it is predicted that the mechanician, who has always been the second member of the racing crew, will soon make his farewell bow to the public, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine. This new car, which is about 400 pounds lighter than other American racers, has a piston displacement of only 122 cubic inches, is four inches shorter, and four inches narrower than usual. The body is constructed along airplane lines, and although no attempt was made to force it, the car made 110 miles an hour in a recent trial.

That Kindly Feeling!
The war profiteer was enjoying a seat in a crowded street car when the remnants of a doughboy hobbled in and took his stand in the aisle.
Realizing that the occasion called for some display of courtesy, the seated gentleman reached out, buttoned the other and whispered: "Stick around, old fellow. I'll be getting off in seven more blocks."

Methodist Church Notes

One great writer has written to the effect that there is something wrong with the person who does not love music, flowers and children. Heaven itself would be unimaginable without them. Next Sunday morning at ten o'clock standard, they will all be in evidence at the Methodist church. Whatever you do, don't forget the time, ten o'clock standard. Children's day is surely one of the happiest and best events in the year and I feel I need not press the invitation for the mere mention of the little ones touches your heart.

If your pastor is not as frequent in his calls to your home as you would like him to be, just remember he is very busy every day now, preparing for the pastors' summer school at Albion by order of the conference. If you ask the people who attended our last Sunday evening service two weeks ago, they will tell you we kept our word and finished within the hour. People's popular Sunday evening service at 7:30 standard. Subject, "Re-Crucifixion."

The league is at 6:30 standard. Come and join us there. If you desire to join the church, make it known to the pastor or officers. We shall rejoice in receiving any "who love the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity."

If there is any suggestion you would like to make that would help the cause, do not tell others, tell us.

Hale Baptist Church Notes

Children's Day program Sunday evening, 8:00 o'clock. An invitation is extended to all. Beginning last Sunday and continuing through the summer months, the Sunday morning services will begin one-half hour earlier. Preaching service 10:00; Sunday school 11:00. The evening services will not change time. Preaching services next Sunday in the morning. Owing to the Children's day program in our sister church at the Sunday school hour we will not have Sunday school, but will attend their program.

Prayer meeting this week in the Baptist church. Join us. Last Sunday evening's program was thoroughly enjoyed by the many present. Mr. Fox as leader of the C. E. gave an interesting lesson, after which Rev. Roberts gave a splendid review of the many conventions he had attended.

Explanation of Genius. All the genius I have lies just in this: When I have a subject in hand, I study it profoundly. Day and night it is before me. I explore it in all its bearings, my mind becomes pervaded with it. The effort which I make, the people are pleased to call the fruit of genius. It is the fruit of labor and thought.—Alexander Hamilton.

Our Work. We ought really to think much more of our work and of what comes next to our hands to do day after day than of our affections and the propensities in which they are distributed.—John Addington Symonds.

Moderation Always Best. For aught I see they are as sick that surfeit with too much, as they that starve with nothing; it is no mean happiness therefore to be seated in the mean; superfluity comes sooner by white hairs, but continency lives longer.—Shakespeare.

TREES NOT DAMAGED BY WIRE

Belief Long Held Has Been Disproved by Experiments Made by University of Washington Expert. In 1918 George B. Rigg of the University of Washington heard it stated that shade trees were being killed by driving one or two pieces of copper wire into each. He recently proceeded to put this to the test and announces his result in Science. Six young trees, he writes, from two to four inches in diameter were selected, and on March 21, 1919, there were driven into each tree five pieces of thick copper wire 1.5 inches long. The end of each wire was left flush with the outer surface of bark. All wires were within six feet of the base of the tree. The trees comprised two hemlocks, two alders, one cedar, one willow. On July 8, 1922, the trees were examined and found to be perfectly healthy. In all cases they had completely healed over the wires, and their growth was equal to that of other similar trees in the immediate vicinity. On cutting into the trees it was found that there was very little injury to the wood, merely a brown color showing for about 15 inches above and below the wire, and about 0.25 inch to each side.

FORGET THE PAST

Little Good in Going Back Along the Lanes of Memory.

Wisdom Is Locking the Door Against the Thoughts of the Days That Have Gone.

A good title for this article would have been "No Thoroughfare," because I want you, of your own will, to erect that notice at the entrance to certain tracks which lie behind you, and which, if you are tempted to turn back and enter them, will take you to the past. With perhaps here and there a rare exception, the past is best left alone, declares a London Answers writer. It saddens, it ages, and it is apt to make one dangerously morbid. The other week I took it into my head to spend a couple of days in the old university city where I was educated. I wish I had not, for I feel—and possibly look—ten years older. I have had it seared into me that my youth lies a long, long way back. The knowledge has done me no good. It has depressed me. I went to my old college. The dean was dead. The "gyp" who had been assigned to my rooms was dead. The porter I had known was dead. My "coach"—a brilliant scholar, and only a year or so older than myself—had been dead many years. It seemed that all the men of my generation had gone. The sun was shining brightly, but I shivered. I felt old. I went down to the river, and there, if anywhere, memories should have been happy ones. But they were not. All that came to me was a heartache. I had lived my life, and I was getting old. Some strange psychological change took place in me. I find it hard to describe, but I know it lowered my vitality. Is it not wiser to leave the past alone? A friend of mine has never married because the girl to whom he was engaged died on the eve of the wedding day. Now and again he takes her yellowing letters from the secret drawer in his desk and reads them. I know now why he looks sad and aged and morbid, although he is still in early middle age. They bring depressing memories. They make him feel that life is empty. Those lanes in memory which lead to the past should be closed, and labeled: "No Thoroughfare." If you want to live to a good old age, you need to drift into it quietly and without, in a way, realizing it. These journeys back along the lanes of memory or—as in my case—to places that hold memories, are bad for us. For one thing, all emotions take their toll of vitality. For another, we shall live less long if it is forced upon us that we have already lived a long time. We make fearful mental estimates of our expectation of life, and we pass out, as a consequence, many years before we should. Let the past alone. The farther you have to go back to it the farther you have traveled. That thought invariably intrudes, and it hurts. Let the past alone. Live for the present, and do not measure the future by memories of the past. Again—let the past alone. Forget it. It is wiser.

TENTATIVE PROGRAM—1923 CHAUTAUQUA

In announcing the following excellent program for 1923, the officers of the Community Chautauqua wish to call attention to the fact that instead of one large feature attraction, this program contains three companies of unusual size and importance, and at the same time offers other concert and entertainment companies and lecturers of recognized ability and experience.

The result of the poll recently taken of the communities served on this circuit was practically unanimous in the decision to eliminate the program of the afternoon of the first day in order that a great feature attraction could be secured for the first night. The management has accordingly arranged to present Langdon McCornick's romance of the north woods, "The Storm." This play will be presented on the first night by a company of high class professional players. The story of the play is most interesting and teaches strongly the triumph of honesty with one's self and his fellows. In addition to this phase of the play, the production is what is known as a thriller both in story and in its remarkable scenic effects.

On the second day the Theresa Sheehan Concert Co. will give the full afternoon program. This company consists of Theresa Sheehan, imitable Irish reader, Ethel McPhee, soprano, and Freda Slaughter, violinist and accompanist. In the evening following a prelude by the Sheehan Co., George Whitfield Ray, F. R. G. S., world renowned South American explorer, will give his lecture, "Through Five Republics on Horseback." Mr. Ray is known as the "Livingstone of South America" and he describes in a vivid manner the customs of the people among whom he traveled in the wild portions of that continent.

The Davies Opera Co., which was so well received on this circuit in the light opera, "The Mikado," will offer on the evening of the third day Aug-Jean's comic opera, "Olivette." The company is splendidly costumed and the story is interesting and easily followed. This number should insure a crowded tent.

In the afternoon a prelude consisting of a short sketch and a musical program will be followed by Hon. W. C. McCullough in his lecture "The Challenge to Democracy" which deals with vital problems now confronting the nation industrially and politically. In a program that is "different" the Barnaby Entertainers will delight the audience in the afternoon of the fourth day. This company carries an elaborate equipment and practically all of their numbers are original and copyrighted by them.

This company will also give the prelude to the evening program, followed by L. H. Beeler, well known educator, in an address entitled "Houses Without Fronts." Dr. Beeler's lecture is a study in community problems which should be heard by every thinking man and woman in the community. Dr. Beeler will also be glad to address local organizations such as boards of trade, woman's clubs, etc. at luncheon or dinner gatherings, or at any time such meetings can be arranged.

Green and his band, an organization of 100 per cent Americans and 100 per cent musicians, will bring to us on the fifth day the best in music played in the best way. Charles E. Green is an experienced bandmaster and has directed tours of large bands through the large eastern cities. He was director of the band known as "Harding's Own Band," which furnished the music at the nomination of President Harding of his nomination. The band is splendidly outfitted in new and striking black and red Hussar uniforms, with special stage hangings, chair covers and other equipment.

The concert in the afternoon will follow the Junior Chautauqua Pageant and at night the band will give a grand double concert. The Junior Chautauqua Pageant this year is entitled "Uncle Sam Seeking Citizens." The thought underlying the pageant, its preparation and presentation is a development of the qualities of good citizenship among the children, this thought being stressed also in their games, stories, songs, etc. during Chautauqua week. Plans are being made this year to give the children the best time they have ever had and to extend their pleasant Chautauqua experiences to eight days instead of five as heretofore.

Tip for Statesman. Lame ducks are inevitably by-products of popular government. But every statesman should have a trade.—Chicago Daily News.

The Wonderful Red Star Oil Burner

THIS is an illustration of the Red Star Burner. It is made entirely of grey iron castings, there being no wicks or wick substitutes. The fuel flows directly into a double ringed channel or vaporizer and the slotted burner parts rest directly upon it. As soon as the fuel strikes the vaporizer it is immediately mixed with air, forming a gas which produces a very hot steady flame, the same as a city gas range and may be regulated at will.

The oil in this stove is piped directly into each burner through heavy iron pipes, therefore there is no possible chance of fuel leaking anywhere in the stove. The burners, being made of solid grey annealed iron, simply rest in place, and should they become dirty by spilling anything into them, they can be readily lifted off and cleaned.

The Heat Condenser

Is a shallow cone shaped casting that rests on the burner—see illustration. You can readily see how it holds and forces the heat to strike the cooking utensil squarely allowing none to escape without doing full service. This method of intensifying the heat gives a much hotter and steadier fire with a great saving of fuel. It also tends to prevent anything boiling over into the burner.
