Col. L. H. Ruggles of the United States ordnance department, advocates drafting all labor from bankers to laborers in war times. He says: "If we can draft men's lives, we certainly can draft their business during an emergency. Each man would be required to keep up the work assigned to him, as a soldier must stay on his job. There would be no striking for higher wages, no absence without leaves, and no quitting one job to go around the block and hold up another agency for higher wages."

A report to the British government on "Economic, Financial and Industrial Conditions in the United States," by J. Joyce Broderick, commercial counselor to the British embassy at Washington, estimates that since 1914 the United States has redeemed $2,350,000,000 of its own securities previously held abroad and has, in addition, invested more than $2,000,000,000 of American capital in other countries, says the New York Times. This, of course, does not include the $11,000,000,000 due the United States government from foreign governments.

When the devil was sick, the devil a monk would be. When the devil was well, a devil of a monk was he. So runs a jingle. You think of it when you read that American churches last year gained nearly a million and a quarter in membership. Post-war suffering has made us more religious. American churches now have over 47,000,000 members. That's a big part of the population—and it should stay in line. The truly religious do not desert the church when everything seems to be coming their way, nothing to worry about.

The United States has been in 104 wars since the year 1775, or an average of one war every year and a half. Your attention is called to this by Weeks, secretary of war. In speaking broadly, most of our 104 conflicts were scraps with the Indians. They seem small and trivial affairs to us, but to our ancestors those Indian campaigns were big and serious matters. Time changes the viewpoint—national, also individual.

Careful investigation over a period of several years fails to show that many men going sixty miles an hour in a car are ever bound on any very important errand.

"What's in a Name?"
By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel

FLORENCE

FLORENCE, signifying flourishing, can scarcely be separated from its quaint diminutive Flora, meaning flowers. Flora in mythological legend was the goddess of the flowers, and the festivals of Flora or Floralia were celebrated in the first burst of spring. In later times, the name of Florus was formed from that of the goddess, and is memorable as that of the procurator whose harshness drove the Jews to their last rebellion. It is believed that the feminine Flora came from this.

There is a church at Florence of Saints Flore and Lucilla, but otherwise the first instance of the name is in Roman-Gothic Spain, where the unhappy daughter of Count Julian was called by the Spanish diminutive Florida, and thus caused the name to be so much detested that, while Spanish ballads call her La Cava the wicked, her Christian name was only bestowed on dogs.

A Spanish maiden martyred by the Moors brought Flora into better repute. It became Flore in France, where it was adopted as a romantic epithet, and from there it found its way to Scotland. In the Gaelic, it is spelled Florie, as the island heroine of the '45 wrote herself. Florentia was a natural product, and named a feminine saint martyred in Diocletian's reign in Gaul.

The prevalence of the name Florence, in England, seems to have been due to so many English girls being born in the Italian city of that name. Deeper and dearer honor has been given to it by Florence Nightingale. Many fictional heroines have borne the name and its derivatives. Blanche-fleur, meaning white flower, is one of its forms, and was bestowed on St. Trystan's mother. Versions, particularly romantic, are found with Ariosto's two heroines, Floridespina (thorn flower) and Floridiza (flour de lys).

Florence or Flora, used by the Irish peasantry, become Finguan or Fincen. Florrie and Flossie and perhaps even Lora, are purely American diminutives.

The carmelian is Florence's talismanic gem. Its warm, bright color is said to dispel timidity and give courage, vitality and animation. It likewise brings good luck to the bearer of the name. To dream of it, however, signifies impending misfortune. Florence's lucky day is Saturday, and 11 is considered her lucky number.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY WHEN SHOPPING

By MRS. HARLAND H. ALLEN

(© 1923, Harland H. Allen.)

MAKING CLOTHES LAST LONGER

Do you not know women among your acquaintances who literally spend hours and hours hunting for clothes in the shops, and hundreds of dollars in buying them, and then after all this trouble, neglect to manifest the faintest interest in taking care of them, so that they look old and shabby after a few times wearing?

Clothes well cared for, mean money saved. It matters little how expensive a garment you may get, or how fine a quality the textile may be, if you do not sacrifice the necessary time each day to keep it brushed, and hung on hangers, and frequently pressed. Many a woman envies some friend who is able to present a smart appearance on a smaller clothes budget than she, without realizing that she could do the same thing herself if she but took the same pains. One woman can wear a suit three seasons, and still look well-dressed, while on another person the same suit looks shabby after the first season, and has to be discarded for a new one.

Make it a habit never to put a coat or skirt away with street dust on it. It takes but a second to whisk the dust off with a broom before removing the garment; and, once the habit is formed, it is easier to put the dress away on hangers than to throw it around from one chair to another. If there are spots or stains on a garment, act quickly. A moment's attention in time may save dollars of cleaning costs.

As soon as stockings or underwear are taken off they should be gone over quickly to see if any stitch or darn is needed. It takes very little time to mend the rip when first it appears. Every little break in a sweater should be caught immediately or before night it may turn into a gaping tear.

Shoes should be put away in shoe trees every night; and repaired as soon as the heels begin to run down, or the soles to wear through. Stockings should be washed out each evening and another pair worn next day. Have two of everything, and prolong the life of each article by "giving it a rest" frequently.

This sounds like a great deal of trouble for busy women, but think of the money saved. For any dress or garment so cared for will last twice as long as if neglected.

Hale Baptist Church Notes

Union prayer meeting this week Wednesday in the Baptist church.

Regular annual covenant meeting, Saturday afternoon, in the class room. Time, three o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Were you at Sand Lake last Sunday? We hope you were. The day being ideal, the full program was thoroughly enjoyed. To our Flint friends with Robert Buck, we can thank for the splendid singing, and the active part these young men took in the day's program. The addresses in the afternoon by Mr. Nisbet and Rev. Thomas were in keeping with the day and surely gave us something to think about.

"What kind of a church would my church be, if every member were just like me?"

This was the second C. E. institute held at Sand Lake and all arrangements will be made for the institute again next year. In spite of the cold weather all who camped at the lake for the institute report a fine time. Plan on coming next year.

Sunday's program, as usual. Sunday school 11:30, evening services at 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock. Christian Endeavor topics again. The institute gave us pep!

The Bielby Sabbath school report a good time every Sunday.

We hope to see every boy and girl at both services next Sunday. Your last Sunday before school opens and you go to your different schools.

Methodist Church Notes

Our last Sunday morning services were enjoyed by many of those who were visiting Hale, if their expressions mean anything. Then again, in the Sunday school the good feeling still continued and we left our study of Barnabas with the reluctance that a man experience when he puts down an interesting novel. At 10:00 a. m. standard time on this Sunday we continue our studies of The Pillars of Our Faith. This week we consider "The Authority of the Bible." In these days of higher criticism one needs at times to consider "The Impregnable Rock of Holy Scripture." Why not come and consider this important subject to every Christian? We have found Theology to be not the dead thing some would have us think it, but a living thing, animate with the spirit.

Then a treat awaits you in Sunday school. "Paul's Contribution to Christianity" is the lesson.

Get down to your Bible and think the thing out for yourself. Then come next Sunday with your own Bible and be ready for helpful discussion. There is a rich feast for your soul, enjoy it.

Energy of a Watch.

P. P. (Darlington) asks for some facts concerning the energy and construction of a watch. About 175 different pieces of material enter into its construction, and upwards of 2,000 separate operations are comprised in its manufacture. The roller jewel of a watch makes every day, and day after day, 432,000 impacts against the fork, or 157,680,000 blows in a year, without stop or rest, or 3,153,600,000 in the space of 20 years.

Woman Chooses Husband.

While in some parts of the great Indian empire the Hindu wife is so subjected to her husband that she is not supposed to sit at table with him or even look him in the face, in the province of Travancare, on the other hand, "matriarchy," or the rule of woman, survives almost in its pure state.

In marriage the woman chooses her husband and he comes to her house to live, says the Detroit News. Until quite recently she could dismiss and divorce him whenever she felt like it. Now, however, divorce is by mutual consent. The woman is the head of the family. She owns property in her own right. When she dies her property passes on to her children, but that of her husband on his death passes on to his mother's nearest kin.

There are no child marriages in Travancare, such as prevail throughout the rest of India, where there are millions of child widows. This province has less illiteracy than any other state in India. Its people claim they are the most progressive, prosperous and happy in all India.

NEW TYPES OF FORD CARS ANNOUNCED BY FORD CO.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 31.—Introduction of a higher radiator, bringing new and improved body lines to all types of Ford cars, is announced today by the Ford Motor Company.

The changes have just gone into effect and the various types are now in production.

While the larger radiator has been made standard on all types and while it has made possible other betterment in body designs, there is no radical departure in construction, but rather a general improvement which has resulted in more graceful lines.

The new radiator sets an inch and a half higher than the former and has an apron at the bottom which joins a similar apron effect of the fender on either side, giving a highly finished appearance to the front of the car. The larger radiator also increases cooling efficiency.

Most conspicuous among the new types is the Ford Coupe which is of entirely new body designs and construction, resulting in a more trim exterior appearance, more comfortable seating arrangement and a greater luggage carrying capacity.

From the dash there is a graceful sweep in the cowl to the radiator bringing a pleasing effect to the front. The doors are wide and open forward making access and exit easy. They are heavily framed for rigidity and strength. The compartment at the rear has been enlarged to afford gasoline tank is under the seat, with divided cushions to afford easy filling of the tank from the right side making it unnecessary for the driver to leave his seat. Ventilator in the cowl and a visor over the windshield add much to the attractiveness of the car. A new rear fender of more sturdy character also is a feature.

Interior fittings are of choice material and the arrangement of the deeply cushioned seat has been effected so that at the rear there is a small recess shelf carrying parcels. The rear vision window is much larger and oblong in shape. Door windows have been equipped with revolving type window regulators and door locks are provided. Side windows are equipped with the lever type window lifters.

Marked, too, is the improvement in the Four Door Sedan. Highly popular since its introduction a year ago, because of its low, graceful lines, the car now presents even much better lines and a sturdier appearance.

This has been brought about by the installation of an entirely new cowl with a graceful sweep from the dash blending into the larger hood and radiator. The change also affords an increase in leg room for occupants of the front seat.

In the open types, the touring car and runabout, the cowl has been enlarged and flows in a graceful curve to the higher hood.

The result brings a most pleasing effect to the exterior appearance of both types. The improvement in the touring car which came when the one man top and slanting windshield were introduced, is greatly enhanced by the larger radiator, the car appearing lower and more attractive than ever. The effect on the roadster is likewise most appealing, giving it a more rugged and sturdy appearance.

The radiator also is extended to the Ford Truck chassis affording improved appearance and better cooling to delivery service.

These new Ford types and the generally recognized performance ability of the Ford under all motoring conditions, promise to bring a greater demand than ever before as the public becomes more fully acquainted with the higher standards and greater values which have been incorporated. No changes are contemplated in prices.
