It came as a great shock to his family and friends as he had come to Tawas a few days before to visit his brother and old friends living here and had not complained of feeling ill and had been making special efforts to see everyone he knew before returning to Flint by motor on Tuesday morning. That evening, Monday, he and Mrs. Brabant talked with several friends down town and had called at different homes to say goodby before leaving.

He married Margaret Wood of Sherman in Nov. 1888 and to this union, four children, two sons and two daughters were born, three of whom survive him, Harold Brabant of Buffalo, Evelyn and Armine of Flint, two brothers, Joseph of the Hemlock road and Stephen of this city, together with his wife and niece, Jennie, who has made her home with them since a baby.

The funeral was held at St. Joseph church on Thursday, September 13, at 9:30, Rev Brogger officiating. The same choir he sang with a good many years ago, sang at the services.

CROPS DECLINE IN CONDITION

Practically all crops declined in condition during the month of August, according to the September report issued by L. Whitney Watkins, Commissioner of Agriculture and Verne H. Church, Agricultural Statistician for Michigan. Dry weather continued throughout the greater part of the month, and cultivated crops that had held up well in previous months showed the effects of drought to a marked extent in many sections. Rains near the close of the month and during the early days of September will benefit late potatoes, sugar beets, pastures and other late maturing crops.

Corn—Cool weather has delayed maturity although dry weather has dried up many fields. In the best sections, the stalks are well eared and well filled, but in many counties the ears will be short and considerable areas show a decided lack of ears. The present estimates indicate a crop of 60,150,000, a decline of over 2,000,000 bushels since August 1, and a slightly smaller crop than produced in 1922. For the United States, the estimated production is 3,075,788 as compared with 2,890,712,000 bushels last year.

Spring Wheat—The crop has become a relatively unimportant one in Michigan, the estimated production being only 125,000 bushels this year.

Oats—The straw was short in western and northern counties but proportionately well filled. Harvesting is completed, but in some northern and eastern counties rains discolored the straw and grain. Based on the final condition report, the production will be 48,508,000 bushels or about 1,000,000 bushels less than last year. The United States has an estimated crop of 1,311,687,000 bushels as against 1,215,486,000 last year.

Barley—The condition at time harvest was reported as 80 per cent, representing a crop of 3,466,000 bushels. In 1922, the state produced 3,500,000 bushels. The United States' crop is placed at 199,337,000 bushels in comparison with 186,110,000 last year.

Buckwheat—Present prospects indicate a crop of 860,000 bushels, or 8,000 bushels less than was produced in 1922. The country as a whole is expected to produce approximately 13,505,000 bushels as against 15,050,000 last year.

Potatoes—The outlook is improving since the recent rains, a crop of 30,013,000 bushels being forecasted from the present conditions of 78 per cent. Last year's crop totaled 37,842,000, the acreage having been larger and the weather conditions more favorable than during the current season. The nation's crop is about 70,000,000 bushels less than it was last year, or a total of 389,674,000.

Beans—The bean crop did not set as well as usual, and the pods are only partly filled, especially in the dry sections of the state. The condition is only 10 per cent lower than on August 1. The yields are quite disappointing in many western and central counties. The present outlook for a crop of 6,506,000 bushels is due to the heavy acreage as the yield is not large except in the more favored sections. Harvesting is well under way and some damage has been caused by rains in various localities. This injury will probably reduce the merchantable crop several hundred bushels below the above figure. It is expected that Michigan's crop represents fully 65 per cent of all the white beans in the United States this year.

Sugar Beets—The condition of different fields varies widely, ranging from poor to excellent. The present condition of 83 per cent represents a production of 897,000 tons. The 1922 crop was 593,000 tons, the acreage being far less than that planted this year.

Clover Seed—Much damage was done to clover seedings last winter and early spring. The summer has been comparatively dry, and some farmers have been compelled to pasture some fields that would have otherwise been reserved for seed. The stands are thin but generally well filled with seed. The preliminary estimates of acreage is 105,000 and the prospective crop, 142,000 bushels. Alsike clover was a near failure.

Pasture—The dry weather seriously affected pastures, and the condition has dropped to 67 per cent of normal, and 8 per cent below normal. Recent rains are reviving them to some extent.

Truck Crops—Tomatoes declined to 82 per cent, due to dry weather followed by dry weather at ripening time. Onions suffered severely from thrips; the tops dried up, and ripened prematurely, greatly lessening the yield and size. The condition is 70 per cent of normal. Cabbage was also injured by dry weather and declined four points to 81 per cent since August 1.

Fruits—Late rains are improving the size of winter apples which will tend to offset the drop that has taken place because of dry weather in some counties. The present outlook is for a production of 12,133,000 bushels of which 2,221,000 barrels is expected to be strictly commercial. The nation's total crop is placed at 189,787,000 bushels which is about 14,000,000 bushels less than last year's. The commercial portion of the United States' crop is 33,390,000 barrels, or 2,200,000 barrels greater than in 1922. The peach crop is expected to total approximately 1,125,000 bushels, and in 1922, 1,440,000 bushels were produced. The total crop for the United States is 45,381,000 bushels; in 1922 it was 56,705,000 bushels.

Pears are light and the crop is placed at 341,000 bushels as compared with 672,000 last year.

Grapes are being harvested and the shipments are expected to be around 5,600 cars this year, or 500 cars less in 1922. There is some increase in bearing acreage which partially overcomes the lower yield being obtained this year.

STATE HUNTING LAWS AFFECTED BY FEDERAL REGULATIONS

With open season for hunting migratory birds much interest is being manifested in the question of when sportsmen may hunt in conformity with both State and Federal laws. The migratory bird treaty act, passed by Congress to give effect to the treaty between United States and Great Britain for the protection of birds migrating between the United States and Canada has the effect of modifying many state laws. This law is administered by the United States Department of Agriculture through the Biological Survey, and provides that the States may make and enforce laws relating to migratory birds which give further protection to these birds than that afforded by the migratory bird treaty act regulations, if such laws do not extend the open seasons beyond the dates provided in the Federal regulations.

In order to guide the gunner as to his privileges under both State and Federal laws the Department of Agriculture issued the Farmers' Bulletin No. 1375, giving a summary of the game laws for the hunting season of 1923-24, containing a synopsis of the game laws for each state, to show the open seasons for all migratory birds in conformity with both State and Federal laws. The open seasons stated in this bulletin are the times when hunting may be enjoyed without violating either law. Copies may be obtained on application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Remedy for Curl in Rugs.

The curling up of the edges of rugs is caused by the way in which they are woven. A remedy for this is to take two strips of very thin wool, each about three inches long, and sew on the underneath part of the rug at the corners. Let these remain for about a month, when the rugs will have conformed to the floors. Or rubber corner tips may be purchased in a furniture store.

Stamp Collectors' Victims.

Forging of rare postage stamps for collectors' albums is a business of large proportions. Hundreds of faked stamps are placed on the market every year, most of them being bought by unwary collectors.

We all seem a little mad to each other; an excellent arrangement for the bulk of humanity, which finds in it an easy motive of forgiveness.—Emerson.

Habit of the "Trader Rat."

The trader rat is the common wood rat, the bushy-tailed rat of western and northern America. This rat does make a practice of leaving something in place of food, etc., that it may have stolen. This is not an intelligent act on the part of the rat, however, but is due to the fact that the rat sees the food when it is carrying bits of sticks or paper in its mouth, which it generally drops when finding the food.
