BY AUTO TO FLORIDA

We left Lansing October 1st at 8:30 a. m. and arrived here October 31st, having driven over 2,200 miles and burned $25.00 worth of gas.

Our first days journey was uneventful but a constant source of pleasure as we drove through a beautiful part of Michigan and the orchard and gardens and yards made beautiful with asters, dahlias and other flowers presented a scene that few states can equal at this time of the year.

We went by way of Eaton Rapids, and Springport to Albion where we had dinner with friends and after dinner Mr. and Mrs. Thunold drove us around the city and we saw the college buildings and started on our journey. From Albion to Homer we followed the St. Joseph river for some miles, a wide sluggish stream with no banks where we saw it. West from Homer to Tekonsha then south through Girard to Coldwater and on to Kinderhook.

We camped on the banks of a beautiful lake two miles from the Indiana State line, just out of Kinderhook. We stopped early, having driven only 88 miles, but we have a heavy load, there are three of us, Fred, I and aunt Mary. I think too we are taking too many of the comforts of life along. When we had put up our tent, made our beds on the three folding cots, cooked our supper on our folding stove and eat it on our folding table, we felt quite comfortable and like home. We slept quite well the first night although not so well as later on when we became more accustomed to tent life. The next day we entered Indiana and stopped in Fremont to buy gas. This place, so often spoken of by the Poletts of Hale. A very pretty little place but not so pretty as Angola the next town and county seat. They have a fine court house here and a monument in the public square dedicated to soldiers of the Civil War.

We passed through many county seats in Indiana and they all have fine court houses. Our court house at Tawas would not show up very favorably beside these great stone and brick structures of the south.

From Angola on to Ft. Wayne, roads are excellent but the hills are not graded down. The roads are made right over them. Crossed the Maumee river and entered Ft. Wayne, a large city and no traffic cops but we got through the narrow streets and out again, passed beautiful farms, and corn, corn and then more corn, as far as the eye could see, some places, hogs were turned into the fields to fatten. They raise hogs by the car loads here and it was a common sight to see from 50 to 60 hogs bedding in a corn field.

Barns are painted like the houses in Indiana, mostly white drab. We left our red barns in Michigan.

Through Bluffton, a large town with fine buildings. We passed petroleum and oil wells here. Stopped in the little country places of Fiat and Ballbec and read an inscription on a monument erected by the roadside. It read as follows: "Tradition tells us that Eliza Harris rested here after her escape from slavery in the underground railroad." Eliza Harris was made famous by Harriet Beecher Stowe in her book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." This monument was erected by pioneer society of that county.

We had excellent stone roads all the way and pitched our tent in Harris Grove, a little off the main highway. We had traveled 100 miles. A very kind lady lived here and brought us milk and her children gathered around the tent and visited with us.

Wednesday morning saw us on our journey again and entering the town of Pennville, the largest inland city in the state without a railroad. There was to be a great Klux-Klux-Klan celebration here that day.

We drove west from here passing a great stock farm of belted cattle, red cattle with a white belt, and farms that seemed to be devoted to the raising of Shetland ponies. Still we passed miles and miles of corn fields and hogs that are black with a white belt, feeding in the fields, of course each farmer seems to have certain fields to husk and certain fields he turns his hogs into them, too there are silos but not as many as we find in Michigan.

On to the Muncie through Hartford City, streets are narrow and no traffic policeman. The country is hilly and picturesque and we saw by the way side a sign, "Visit the Museum at Springport." So we drove into that pretty little town and found a beautiful little park kept by a private individual, with rustic seats and tables under the trees and a long building which contained many wonderful old relics and some not so wonderful. We could spend the day here quite profitably. His collections consisted of Indian relics and articles of the Stone Age, bones of prehistoric animals, stuffed animals, pioneer utensils and furniture and dress. Everything found in the average museum with idols and things from foreign lands, but we had to hurry.

On through Mt. Summit, the highest town in Indiana. From there hills and more hills, crossed the Blue river, entered the town of New Castle. Here we had to detour and drove through Spiceland into Dunruth. Back on road "38" and camped in a farmers yard for the night. This farm house sets well back from the road with avenues of great elms leading up to the house, they were very friendly and refused pay for milk and asked us to write when we get to our journey's end. We only drove 80 miles this day as our visit to the museum took considerable of our time.

EDUCATION WEEK NOVEMBER 18-24

The American Legion, National Education Association, U. S. Bureau of Education and Department of Education have united to make Education Week, November 18-24 a success. It is desired that some attention be given it by the churches, clubs and any other gatherings that may be held during the week, as well as in the schools.

Especial attention is called to the slogan for Friday. "An equal chance for all children." They haven't it today in Michigan. So long as we have this wide inequality in financial ability of districts to meet school costs, we have a situation which means that some boys and girls will have better school advantages than others.

From every viewpoint this is wrong.

Following is the program for the week:

Sunday, November 18, Religious Education Day. Slogan. "A Godly nation cannot fail."

Monday, November 19, American Constitution Day. Slogan. "Ballots not Bullets." Visit the schools today.

Tuesday, November 20, Patriotism Day. Slogan. "America first." Visit the schools today.

Wednesday, November 21, School and Teacher Day. Slogan. "Better trained and better paid teachers; more adequate buildings." Visit the schools today.

Thursday, November 22, Illiteracy Day. Slogan. "No illiteracy by 1927, it can be done." Visit the schools today.

Friday, November 23, Community Day. Slogan. "Visit the schools today." An equal chance for all children. A square deal for the country boy and girl.

Saturday, November 24, Physical Education Day. Slogan. "A sick play makes a sick mind." Athletics All.

SCHOOL OFFICERS DISCUSS RURAL PROBLEMS

The meeting of school officers of Iosco County held at the Community house, East Tawas, Thursday, November 8th was well attended. Various questions of school law that applied to local districts were discussed in the morning. The new child accounting system which is to be brought up at the next meeting of the state legislature was explained by B. J. Ford, from the state department of Public Instruction.

The afternoon session was in charge of Mr. Ford, who showed how the rural schools could be helped by the farmer and how the farmer could help themselves by spraying, by using certified seed and by working together for better market conditions. These things he pointed out would help make higher the standard of living in rural communities. This would bring a better standard of rural schools and giving the rural child equal educational advantages with the city child.

JAMES W. CHIPPS

With hardly a moments warning, James Willington Chipps passed away at his home northeast of Prescott on Sunday morning, November 4th. His life was alone with him at the time.

The deceased was born in Norfolk county, Canada, September 18, 1864. He came to this vicinity when a young man of twenty years. On October 2, 1900 he was married to Sarah McLean and since that time they have enjoyed a happy home life.

Mr. Chipps was a member of the Judson Baptist church of Prescott. He and his wife were baptized into the fellowship of the church 10 years ago this summer by Rev. D. Martin.

Beside the wife, Mrs. Sarah Chipps and two brothers, Joel and Joseph Chipps and two sisters, Mrs. Agnes J. Curtis and Mrs. Sam Bronson are left to mourn his death, besides a host of other relatives and friends, who unite to extend their heartfelt sympathy in this hour of bereavement.

Miss Edna Otis and Mrs. James Ford were appointed as a committee to introduce this plan to all schools in the county. Four prizes will be given by the Ladies Literary club for the best papers. These papers will be sent to Lansing and entered in the Historical books of Michigan History.

After the meeting refreshments were served to the members. Next meeting of the club will be held next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. L. G. McKay as leader.

ARMISTICE PARTY WELL ATTENDED

The Audie Johnson Post of the American Legion held their 4th annual Armistice party on Monday night at the Community building. Ideal weather brought out one of the largest crowds that have ever attended this annual party.

The hall was very nicely decorated with our national colors. The vaudeville acts were put on first and were well received by the audience. The Butler girls, Miss Esther Johnson and Mrs. Sullivan rendered vocal selections. Joy McMurray gave a whistling number. Misses Fay Adams and Margaret Pinkerton each had a dancing feature that was enjoyed by everyone. The Oriole orchestra of Saginaw furnished the music. A carnival was also held on the main floor. Lunch was served by the ladies of the Auxilliary during the intermissions.

ARCHIBALD McDOUGALD

Archibald McDougald was born in Detroit, February 28, 1865 and departed this life from the Sparrow hospital of Lansing, Michigan, being 58 years, 8 months and 8 days of age.

At the age of three years his parents moved to Shelburn, Canada, where his mother passed away when he was about twelve years old.

In 1888 he came to Michigan living at Lapeer about two years, then coming to Reno where the greater part of his life was spent except the last nine months in Lansing.

On June 29, 1892 he was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Ella Charters. To this union three sons and six daughters were born, two sons preceded him, Lloyd J. in infancy and Donald at the age of nine. His father also preceded him about seven years ago.

There remain to mourn their loss, his beloved wife and faithful companion, one son, Geo. A., six daughters, Mrs. F. D. Voller, Mrs. Earl Stinson, Mrs. Roy Smith, Miss Vera and Miss Eunice all of Lansing Mich. and Mrs. Eliza McDougald of Reno.

Two brothers, Neil and Dan of Bay City, three sisters, Mrs. T. J. Watson of Shelburn, Ca., Mrs. Mary Freeman of Greenbush, Mich. and Mrs. Sarah Blackstock of Glendive and three grand children.

His last illness was of short duration, death resulting from blood poisoning.

Mr. McDougald was in sympathy with true religion and the Bible truth. During his last illness he completed his surrender to God and testified that he felt every sin was cleansed away.

He was a faithful husband, loving father and a kind neighbor.

Stealy to assist in dressing his wounds all of his front teeth were knocked out and several had cuts about the face, the worst of which was on the lip in which the doctor placed six stitches. BY AUTO TO FLORIDA
 We are anxious to be on our journey for we are a few miles from Rushville and this is where we told our friends to write, and here expect to get mail to reach here so soon when we planned our journey from the road map. We received three letters here and had future mail forwarded to Cave City, Kentucky.

From here we crossed Rock Creek and there is lots of corn, we are entering a dairy country. The general type of cattle are Jerseys. The scenery is changing and we see long ranges of hills to our right.

The homes are like pictures, back from the road with rows of maples leading up to them. Some have a yard within a yard, white picket fences enclose the house and garden in front then outside of that a lawn extending to the road covered with wide spreading trees. The woods here are oak and beech and nut bearing trees like hickory and walnut and many kalmia trees. This is the fourth day of our journey and we saw our first tobacco fields today and tobacco drying in open barns.

The weather is cool until the sun is up and one is glad to wear their sweater, the days are warm and beautiful but as soon as the sun sets at night it is cool and we are glad that we brought plenty of bedding. We reached Greensburg this day by way of Williamston and Sandusky, here the road angled southwest to Columbus, we should have gone by way of Hartsville but "Lizzie" took it into her head to go by way of Hope. Just as good a road but we were a little anxious for awhile how she might come out, it isn't often our car gets those contrary streaks, but—sometimes.

Well I sat there with the road map in my hand and kept saying, "Next station, Ewington, 6 miles, but when the speedometer registered six miles we had passed through two towns with no name visible, or I should say little places like Taft. I told Fred they were not on the map and he suggested we get out and tell them they didn't belong there, but it wasn't long before we came to Hope and from there to Columbus, where we struck the state road again, on across Driftwood river. We ate our dinner in a corn field north of Hope and Fred stood up by a corn four on the stalk as high as his head and of course the corn away above that. So much corn ones eyes get weary of seeing it from day to day.

Columbus is a very beautiful city, here we passed great greenhouses and fields of flowers and a fine cemetery to our left as we entered the city.

We now traveled on road "1" and as the main state highways are well marked with signs as they are in Michigan. The roads were easy to follow only when "Lizzie" took a header on some strange road by mistake or when we had to detour. This night we camped on the White river near Seymour. The river is anything but white the camp is clean, however, and there is a little store on the grounds and a good well of water.
 One other car here and it was a nice place only for the noise of traffic going and coming from the city.

Friday found us on our last day in Indiana. We were four days in Indiana and saw no poor land and only prosperous looking farms. Seymour, a town of over 7,000 was a very pretty place and people are beginning to have the southern accent as we get this far on our journey.

Crossed the Muscatatuck river and through Scottsburg and many little towns ending in "ville." There are many hills as we near the Ohio river, the soil is a red clay, such as we were soon to see all through the south.
 It is so red that ones eyes tire of it and has the appearance of red brick, just the color of brick. We stopped in the little town of Henryville and had our car weighed, load and all.
 We weighed 3,200 lbs.

We pass great herds of Jersey cattle and beautiful woods of beech and oak. Finally enter New Slany where we cross the Ohio river on a long bridge, traffic on both sides, rails in the center and over on heads.
 Here we had our first view of the Ohio, its waters are muddy and not at all as expected. We use to draw rivers at school with blue crayon and I thing I expected to see a blue river and not such a dirty muddy stream but it was big and wide and wonderful, but not much time to gaze below for there were cars behind us and we go across the bridge into the big city of Louisville, narrow streets and noise we pass out of this historic place on 18th street and camp near Shirley in a beech grove, the trees are very large and the camp is a clean one which is not always the case in tour-lists camps.

We drove 73 miles and are glad to pitch our tent and visit with our neighboring tourists.
 My next letter will tell of our adventures in Kentucky.

Hale Baptist Church
 Union prayer meeting every Wednesday evening. This week in the Methodist church.

The many members who attended the Dorcas at the home of Mrs. Mary Clement last Thursday report a day well spent. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. G. W. Teed. Plans are being made for a sale in the near future.
 We will miss Clarence Petrick from the "Live Wire" Jr. class. The family are leaving this week to make their home in Bay City. Clarence has been a faithful attendant of the Sunday school during his short stay in Hale. We would not forget Billy, who will be missed in the beginners class.

Preaching services Sunday morning at 10:30. Sabbath school at the close of the preaching service at 11:30.
 We invite you.

We were very sorry to have been unable to attend the echo meeting in the Hemlock and Tawas City churches, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Our pastor tells us that the meetings were fine.
