Had the Better of Hippo

Two small boys were at the zoo gazing at the hippopotamus with round, startled eyes. "I don't like it," said the younger one, a bit scared. "Let's go away." "You needn't be frightened," said his elder brother. "Since we started zoology at school we know ever so much more about the ugly brute than he knows about himself."

Keeps Tools From Rusting

Dissolve one-half ounce of camphor in one pound of melted lard, remove scum, add enough fine black lead (graphite) to give an iron color. Clean the tools and smear with this mixture. After twenty-four hours rub clean with soft linen cloth. In ordinary circumstances the tools will not rust for months.

LOCAL AMATEURS AID IN ECLIPSE RADIO TESTS

ty started to send before the eclipse started and continued until it was over with. Observing stations were all over the United States checking up the signals. On the amateur waves stations in Virginia, Minn., Duluth, Minn., Lake Leelanau, Mich., Tawas City, Mich., Toronto, Can., Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Elmira, Port Jervis, Newburgh, N. Y., Manchester and New Haven, Conn., acted as transmitting stations. Broadcast stations in and near these towns also sent out a program. The transmitters sent out a series of prearranged signals the transmitting stations signed its call at regular intervals. Just as totality started a ten second dash was made followed by the words "total" (call letters) which was repeated until totality past when another ten second dash was made, then some more code words followed. As it was cloudy here the watch and barometer had to be observed in order to tell when totality started and stopped. 8 AMS handling the key and 8 AQS observing the barometer. Totality was at its height here about 8:04 a. m.

Data as to the effects the eclipse had on radio signals have not been received at 8 AMS to date, as they were sent to Hartford, Conn., direct. It is expected that observing stations that were in or near the path of totality, heard the signals the same strength as at night but observers outside will notice how the signals gradually became stronger and then died out again. This is the first time in history that a fading test of this kind has been held and much valuable data was sent in by the different observers. Throughout the whole United States and Canada, probably the whole world, as radio is very freaky at times.

The eclipse of the 24th as far as visibility was concerned was a complete failure here. The only thing we saw was that it seemed to get much darker. Everybody was out of doors, gazing skyward to get a glimpse of the eclipsed sun. We were not the only ones that had the same kind of luck. The only place visibility was good, that is in the path of totality from Duluth, Minn., to New Haven, Conn., was from Elmira, N. Y., to New Haven, Conn. The giant Dirigible Los Angeles, went up at Mitchell Field, New York and obtained unprecedentedly clear view of the phenomenon at an altitude of 15,000 feet. At this height a battery of astronomical cameras aimed at the eclipsed sun and caught 18 exposures during the two minutes, four and six tenths seconds of totality. Motion pictures were also taken. Other scientists operated a spectrograph, which recorded the spectrum lines of helium gas shooting from the blazing ball of the sun. Some watched the temperature changes; others made calculations that will tell the exact weight of the moon, and its diameter. New shapes were assumed by the rays of the corona and new action on the part of the mysterious shadow bands, which were apparent even to the layman as they flickered over the earth just before and after the sun was completely obscured. Two planes from Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens went above the clouds over Lake Huron and obtained excellent views of the eclipse.

Hardening Rails

The first application in America of the process of hardening railway rails after they have been laid is reported from Toronto, according to the Electric Railway Journal. A blowpipe is mounted on wheels and passed over the surface of the rail at a speed that gives a temperature of 850 degrees centigrade to all points heated. Immediately after heating, a jet of water is played upon the rail, the effect being to harden the surface and prolong its wearing qualities. The process is effective to a depth of from two to three-tenths of an inch, according to the pressure used in the blowpipe.

"Agin" the Constitution

The motorist had been fined and his right to drive suspended for a year for reckless driving.

"Your honor," shouted the attorney, "I will appeal this case."

"On what ground?" asked his honor.

"On the ground that to sentence a man to become a pedestrian is cruel and unusual punishment," replied the lawyer.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Great Men

There is nothing strange about great men; they are like us only deeper, higher, broader; they think as we do, but with more intensity; they suffer as we do, more keenly; they love as we do, more tenderly.—David Grayson.

Origin of Familiar Words

Some of our words owe their present form to the mistakes of our forefathers. A belfry, which originally had nothing to do with a bell, is correctly a bellry, i. e., a watch tower. A certain kind of apple used to be known as a costard, and a dealer in this fruit as a costardmonger, and later on as a costermonger. Similarly, a grocer was originally an engrosser, or a dealer in gross, while a butcher was a bocher or killer of goats.—London Mall.

In the list of the principal actors of Shakespeare's plays, prefixed to the folio, the first collection of his plays, published in 1623, the name of the famous dramatist is placed first. He was an actor by profession, but the extent to which he played in his own productions is not clear. He is said to have impersonated Adam in "As You Like It" and "the ghost" in "Hamlet"
