COUNTY FAIR OPENS TUESDAY; MANY EXHIBITS ARE EXPECTED

MANY FREE ATTRACTIONS FOR FAIR PATRONS

The 51st annual fair of the Isoco County Agricultural Society opens next Tuesday and will continue for four days. The management of the association has put forth a special effort this season to make it a success. Exceptional talent has been secured for the entertainment of the fair patrons, indications are that there will be many entries in the various races, a good band and a big midway have been booked. Indications are that there will be a large number of exhibits.
 C. H. Conklin, president of the agricultural society, says:

"A great many are asking what the attractions and other entertainment will be at the fair this season, and in another week it will be known whether or not the 51st fair of Isoco county is a success.

"However, the success of a fair does not depend entirely on the officers of the society as they alone cannot make a fair what it is intended to be.
 "The selection of entertainment is not an easy matter when there is a limited amount of money to be spent, but we have been very careful in selecting our band, free acts, etc., and from references given by other fairs believe we will have something in store you that will please you more than the acts and music of last year's fair. An eighteen piece band from Bay City has been booked which we believe will be the best ever hired at a fair in this county and we have six free acts that promise to be worth the price of admission alone. A description of these will be found elsewhere in this paper and I assure you that we have not tried to make them appear better than they really are, as we have given this part of the fair a great deal of study and tried to get the best for the amount of money available.
 "Horse races will be held on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, and the track has never been in as good a condition as it is this year. It has been graded and worked thoroughly so as to give the horses every opportunity to make time which will be welcome news to lovers of the sport.

"Displays should be the best ever and we urge the public to take an active interest in this part of the fair and give the fair just a small part of the attention the officers have given it. If each one will do that you will be able to say our fair was the best in Northeastern Michigan.
 "A few premium lists are still on hand so you can get one and make an exhibit in some department. Everyone has something that would be worth showing and help make the fair a little better."

TAWAS CITY BAPTIST CHURCH
 10 a. m.—The subject of the sermon will be "What Does Jesus Think of You?"
 11:15—Sunday school session.
 6:45—B. Y. P. U.
 7:30—Dr. B. H. Thomas will give an illustrated travel talk. See notice elsewhere in this paper.
 Wednesday 7:30, Mid-week service.
 Everybody is invited to these services and to take a part in making of the highest worth to themselves and others.

Last Sunday evening Miss Whittaker of India gave an interesting account of the mission work among the Telugus.

CARD OF THANKS
 We wish to extend our thanks to the many neighbors and friends for the kindness shown us during the illness and death of our little one. Also Rev. M. A. Sommerfield and for the beautiful flowers and for the use of the cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Malcolm and family.

The County's Bouquet

VALUABLE RESORT PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS

Another valuable section of Saginaw bay frontage recently changed hands when Messrs. Jopp, Brownell, Davies and Carvey purchased one and one-fourth miles of land from Rev. Joshua Roberts. This deal has been under negotiations for some time, but was finally consummated a few days ago. The parties forming the purchasing company are from Pontiac, Flint and Bay City. Rev. Roberts still retains one-fourth mile of bay frontage.
 While the company purchasing this property do not speak of more than building a few cottages next spring, their ultimate plans will probably include a natural community park from the bay to the Alabaster park replete with golf links and park equipment.

M. E. CHURCH

Services next Sunday will be as follows:
 Oscoda, 10:30 a. m.
 Sunday school, 11:30.
 Townline 2:00 p. m.
 Sunday school 8:00 p. m.
 Tawas City Sunday school 11:15 a. m.
 Evening 7:30 p. m.
 We invite you to these services. Everybody welcome.
 Rev. Geo. Smith, Minister.

HEMLOCK CHURCH

2 p. m.—Sunday school.
 3 p. m.—Preaching service.
 8 p. m.—B. Y. P. U.
 These services are held in the interest of all the people of the community. Are you among those who are helping to make them the best? Jesus said, "To every man his work."
 The W. U. G. met for their monthly social and business meeting on Tuesday evening with Clarence Curry. There was nearly a full attendance and an enjoyable evening was spent with plenty of good things for refreshments.
 This evening (Friday) the class gives a weenie roast at Sand Lake to which all the Sunday school is invited.

WHITTEMORE M. E. CHURCH

Preaching service is in the morning this week. Special invitation to join the church will be given at this service. School begins at 10 o'clock a. m. Preaching service at 11 o'clock a. m.
 Conference begins Wednesday at Flint and will last over the next Sunday. An Anti Saloon league man will speak in our church Sunday, the 20th at the evening service.
 David Shugg, Pastor.

BOYS, GET YOUR KITE READY FOR THE BIG CONTEST

Last year the fair association desired to put on a kite flying contest but there were no contestants and the effort failed. This year they will try again and as this feature has proved very interesting at other fairs it is hoped there will be several of the school children present with their kites on Thursday to enter the contest for a prize that any boy or girl will be proud of. The only restrictions will be that there must be five or more entries. Judging will be done by a competent judge.

ALLEGED MOONSHINER TAKEN

Through affidavits from two men arrested at a dance at Cranberry Lake about ten days ago and arranged before Justice David Shugg at Whittemore, a raid was planned on Peter Sokola of Sherman township. The raid took place Tuesday morning and mash and a still secured. Sokola was taken to Bay City where he will appear before Federal court.

THREE STREETS DISCONTINUED

In order to make room for a new timber treating plant a request was made several weeks ago by the Detroit & Mackinac Railway company that Fir, Spruce and Huron streets be discontinued where they bisect their property.
 Objections to the closing of the streets were to be heard at the regular meeting of the common council Tuesday evening. No objections were made and the aldermen voted that the streets be closed.

A TAME CRANE

These birds which seem to have been more numerous this summer than usual, have also been more tame. A few days ago one came up from the shore and for some time perched himself on the front porch of Rev. Joshua Roberts home. Having stayed there what he considered long enough he leisurely flew back to the edge of the lake a few rods away.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MEET AT ALPENA

The Alpena District Baptist association met last Tuesday and Wednesday at Alpena. The pastors and other delegates from the local churches attended and report meetings of helpful fellowship.

YAWGER-STREETER

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Yawger at Hale Wednesday evening, September 2, at 8:00 o'clock when their eldest daughter, Fern, was given in marriage to Glenwood Streeter of Long Lake.

The bride was attended by her sister, Faye, and Carvel Nunn, acted as best man to the groom. Little Miss Wilma Allen acted as ring bearer carrying the ring in a flower.
 To the strains of a wedding march played by Miss Mina Nunn, the bridal party marched down the stairs and took their places in front of the fireplace which was banked with a wealth of gladiolas.

The bride was charmingly dressed in a dress of orchid crepe Elizabeth and carried a bridal bouquet of asters and ophelia roses. The bridesmaid wore a dress of georgette brocade with velvet apple blossoms and carried a bouquet of asters and rose buds.
 Immediately after the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Joshua Roberts, the guests were served with a dainty three course dinner. The table was beautifully decorated in orchid and white, the brides chosen colors.

The bridal couple received many beautiful and useful gifts from their many friends.

L. D. S. CHURCH

 11:00 a. m.—Preaching by Birt Fowler.
 7:30 p. m.—Preaching by Elder G. A. Pringle.
 Welcome invitation to all.
 M. A. Sommerfeld, Pastor.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends for the kindness extended to us during the illness and death of Mrs. George King. Also for the beautiful floral offerings.
 George King
 Mrs. S. W. Kelly
 Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Swartz Jr.
 Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bartlett
 Miss Nellie Wilson

SPECIAL TREAT

Rev. B. H. Thomas will give an illustrated travel talk Sunday evening at the Baptist church, Tawas City, at 7:30. His subject will be "Little Journeys up the Nile and over the Sebarian mountains, through Constantinople and Athens, through sunny Italy and over the Alps, ending with our own Yosemite valley and Magdolna Gardens.
 Everybody welcome. All seats free.

POULTRY EXHIBITORS WELL PAID SAYS MCCRUM

During the past few years the poultry exhibits at the Isoco county fair have been especially good. Jas. McCrum, superintendent of the poultry department, says:
 "In the poultry building this year our slogan is 'No Empty Coops', they don't make nice scenery.
 "We wish at this time to extend a last invitation to all who have nice poultry to bring an exhibit to the Isoco county fair next week. We had a fine showing of poultry last year, but there are plenty of nice chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys and pets in this county to make a much larger show this year.
 "If you have any rabbits, guinea pigs, pheasants or pets of any kind, or know of any, please bring them or try to have them brought. We were fortunate last year in having a pair of fox and they sure received their share of attention by the visitors.
 "Last year people that brought a small bunch of poultry took home from five to fifteen dollars in premiums. Why not let the boys and girls pick them out and enter them and get some experience and spending money at the same time.
 "A nice exhibit is to show one or two cocks, two or three hens, one or two cockrels, and two or three pullets. It doesn't make so much difference just how many you bring, but it does make a big difference whether you bring any or not.
 "All poultry will be fed and taken care of by the fair management and will be judged by a good judge."

JOHN SAMUELSON RETIRES

After nineteen years of active service with J. L. Watkins company as their agent in this section, John Samuelson has retired from the business and will spend the winter in Florida. Mr. Samuelson made his last sales trip this week and bid goodbye to his many friends in the county. The agency was taken over by Jos. Miller of Menominee. Mr. Samuelson is one of the oldest salesmen in years of service in the employ of the company.

TAWAS TO PLAY ALPENA ON SUNDAY

On account of inclement weather, the games scheduled for last Sunday and Monday with Essexville were called off.
 Next Sunday Alpena will be down to play the locals their return game. Last month Alpena won on their grounds and the Tawas team will endeavor to turn the tables with plenty to spare.

CORRIGAN SCHOOL

School opened Monday, August 31, with Miss Mable Clark as teacher. Thirteen pupils are enrolled.
 We enjoy using our new maps and globe. Thanks to the school board.
 Some of the older scholars are making sewing cards for the little people.
 Miss Clark is reading "The Rover Boys at School." We think it is very interesting.
 We have two new scholars this year, Shirley Black and Gerald McLurray.

HALE M. E. CHURCH

Preaching is in the evening this Sunday at 7:30, Standard time.
 School begins at 10 o'clock in the morning.
 An Anti Saloon league man will speak in our church conference Sunday, the 20th, in the morning.
 David Shugg, Pastor.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the people of the Tawas for their timely co-operation in suppressing one of the worst fires we have had this summer at the head of Tawas Lake. Also the efficient assistance the D. & M. gave.
 John Martindale,
 Conservation Officer.

Shades of Mark Twain!

A patron of the Boston public library writes this to the editor of a Boston newspaper: "The other day while in the Boston library I had occasion to ask an attendant there where on the shelves could be found a copy of 'Tom Sawyer.' Imagine my surprise when she replied, 'Who is it by?' And this in Boston too."

The Planet Mercury

Mercury is the smallest planet, and the nearest to the sun. Owing to its proximity to the sun it is difficult to see it with the naked eye. Its mean distance from the sun is 36,000,000 miles, while that of the earth is about 94,000,000 miles. Mercury completes a revolution of its orbit in 88 days; it is about 3,000 miles in diameter; and its mass is only about one-eighth that of the earth.

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

UP AND DOWN

TO INSURE a child being bright and rising in the world a baby should be carried upstairs before it is taken downstairs. This is universal in the United States. Some nurses take a baby up a short stepladder before carrying it downstairs for the first time. This superstition is purely one of an association of ideas, in a measure the same as the idea that the right hand is "right" and the left hand, consequently, wrong—one for good luck and the other for bad.

Primitive man conceived his principal gods as inhabiting high places. He looked upward for good spirits and downward for the powers of evil. Jupiter and his court dwelt on High Olympus and the sun and moon in the heavens were Osiris and Isis to the Egyptians. Pluto dwelt in the underworld—his shadowy realm was "down." The idea is ingrained in the human mind. We look "up" to superior and "down" upon an inferior. Children were, from time immemorial, looked upon as peculiarly susceptible to spiritual influences; to magic of all kinds. It is important, therefore, that the baby should receive the proper impetus. It follows that he should be carried "up" before he is carried "down." The magic of association is here applied to movement.

MICHIGAN LEGION PUTS ON BIG DRIVE

From reports from all over the state of Michigan it is evident the campaign to raise Michigan's quota of $250,000 for the American Endowment fund, the income of which will be used to care for the orphans of World War veterans, and take care of disabled ex-service men who do not receive government compensation, and their children, is going to be successful.

Detroit has selected David A. Brown, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, a prominent Detroit business man, and a well known charity worker who has won an enviable reputation all over the world, as the chairman of the Wayne county committee. With former congressman, Joseph W. Forney, as chairman of the state committee and Mr. Brown chairman of the Wayne county committee, those in charge of the endowment campaign feel jubilant.

Colonel Harold H. Emmons, a prominent Detroit attorney, who has just returned from a big-game hunt in Africa, is the vice-chairman of the Wayne county committee, and the Guardian Trust Co., Detroit's infant financial institution is the treasurer. Hon. John W. Smith, mayor of Detroit, is the honorary chairman, and the members of the county executive committee are: Dr. Angus McLean, Colonel Frederick M. Alger, Colonel Phelps Newberry, Harvey Campbell, secretary of the Detroit Board of Commerce; John A. Brown, of T. R. Paul Co., Judge Ernest Laioie, Col. Heinrich A. Pickert and Frank G. Mitzel.

Monsieur Patrick R. Dunigan, of Flint, Distinguished Service Medal man of the World War, who was chaplain of the 32nd division overseas, and is at present chaplain of the Michigan National Guard, with the rank of major, addressed a number of prominent business and professional men at the Hotel Statler, Detroit, last Monday noon in the interest of the endowment fund.

"There is no doubt in my mind but that Detroit and Michigan will over-subscribe their quota for this endowment fund," said Major Dunigan. "The drive is on for this American Legion Endowment fund for the orphans and the disabled service men, not now drawing compensation from some other source. This is a splendid proposition and Detroit and Michigan are going to do their share generously in the interest of these men who were killed and wounded, and their children.

"There are other reasons. We may need an army again. The thoughtful citizen, and the experienced soldier hopes not, but human nature has not changed, and we may need an army again, and the army that can acquire itself most nobly, in the noblest manner of their obligation to this, our wonderful country, is the volunteer army, and as business men we are not going to have the muddle in another great war that we went through recently. I believe we can capitalize a volunteer army of many millions of young men, because the spirit of adventure and romance and sportsmanship is a wonderful thing.

"And if we may hope for the volunteer soldier in years to come, we must acquit ourselves of our obligation to the men who served in the last war. We owe that much to him. We owe it to him to prove that the gratitude of a republic is a real thing and that his service has been appreciated, and that the orphan child of his, if he were one of the men who did not come back, or the little family of the disabled soldier, is being cared for, that they may be comforted, and be trained as little children are now being trained at the American Legion billet at Otter Lake, Michigan. A group of little children they are, enjoying all the comforts, sentiment sympathy and love that they have enjoyed at home, had their daddy come back from war."

Die at Heine's Grave

Heine, famous German poet, lies buried in Montmartre cemetery. His tomb is the mecca of many love-sick French people. Police records show that every year at least twenty suicides are committed at his grave by unlucky lovers. This year, the number having exceeded the usual average, the police have decided to station a policeman at the grave to prevent young people from taking their lives there.

Auction Sales "In Reverse"

"Dutch" auctions, in which the property is offered at a certain price and lowered by degrees until a bid is forthcoming, were once common, and still are in some countries. A law of Henry VIII's time, afterward confirmed by Charles I, prohibited the conducting of auction sales by all persons except certain licensed officials known as outprovers.

Railroad Permanence

Michigan's 23 railroads make steam from coal.

Their fuel supply is assured for generations to come.

So, in the future, as in the past, Michigan crops and products will flow out and supplies will flow in—by Rail.

A solid, adequate and permanent Railroad plant has been built up in Michigan. On this plant, as a cornerstone, rests Michigan's present prosperity, and its hopes for the future.

Michigan people are justified in their faith in Michigan Railroads. That faith is built on solid achievement.

IOSCO COUNTY FAIR, SEPT. 15 to 18

THE COUNTY FAIR

The appealing thing about the county fair is the opportunity it offers the farmer to compare his own work with that of his neighbors and so inspire in him a healthy ambition to improve himself and his work. Within easy distance of his home, he can examine the best animals, grain, fruits and vegetables, poultry and honey and determine where he falls short of the mark. Like wise his wife can pit her needlework, her baking and pastry, her canned fruits and vegetables against those of other farm women and enjoy the thrill and reward that comes of victory. Altogether the county fair stimulates friendly competition that has been responsible for much of the farm progress in the past century.

The educational value of the farm implement and equipment displays that are part of all the better fairs is one of the most commendable features. State and federal government exhibits bring home to the farmer lessons in growing his products more economically and efficiently, and household furnishings and labor saving devices on view work directly for the improvement of country life.

In 1810, one fair; in 1925, two thousand fairs.

In 1810, an attendance of about five thousand; in 1925 an estimated attendance of approximately twenty-five million.

These figures, in a nutshell, tell the story of the marvelous growth of the American fair from the humblest beginning to its present day status as an important factor in agricultural education. They are of especial interest here in view of the approaching Iosco County Fair, which will be held September 15-18.

While the fair idea has been taken hold of tremendously in the United States, it is not native to this country. Fairs run back to ancient days, but in olden times they were more after the manner of a bazaar or market, only held with less frequency very much like the fairs in vogue in Germany and other European countries today. The American fair traces its ancestry back only to about the middle of the eighteenth century, when a group of progressive farmers in the Tees River valley in north-eastern Britain joined to bring their livestock together for comparison. It has been termed the first agricultural fair and was the model after which were patterned the hundreds of country fairs both here and in England.

Eliaknah Watson of New York has been credited with being the father of the American fair. In 1815 Watson organized the agricultural society in Albany, N. Y., and proceeded to establish fairs and cattle shows in the neighboring counties. In 1819, due mainly to his influence, the New York legislature appropriated ten thousand dollars a year for six years for premiums on agricultural and home manufactured products. In 1832 the state agricultural society was founded and work started in other eastern states. But while Watson was busy converting farmers and legislators to the value of fairs, the Columbian Agricultural Society held what is believed to be the first exhibition of its kind in Washington, D. C. in 1810.

Pittsfield, Mass., shortly thereafter inaugurated regular agricultural exhibits, and from these first small efforts grew up our system of community, county, state, district, national and international fairs which cover practically every section of the country.

THE CURIOUS DARKY

AN ATLANTA cotton broker had occasion to take a business trip into interior Georgia. He bore his golf clubs with him, intending to stop off upon his way back for a match on the famous links at Augusta.

He dropped off the train at his business destination—a small town on a branch road—and, carrying his luggage, climbed into an ancient hack and bade the driver, who was an old negro man, take him to the local hotel.

The darky eyed the queer-looking leather bag that the stranger toted, with the peculiar looking sticks in it. His curiosity got the better of him.

"Boss," he began, "please sub, 'scuse me—but mout I ax you a question?"

"Go ahead and ask," said the passenger.

"What kind of a lodge is you in-tittutin'?"

NEW FORD ON DISPLAY AT THE FAIR

The curiosity of a great many people has been satisfied.

Many have inspected the new model Ford at W. C. Roach's sales room.

Ever since announcement of the improved Ford cars was made just about every man, woman and child in town has been on the alert for a glimpse of the new cars.

A few of the touring cars reached dealers during the last week, but not near enough of them were distributed to satisfy the curiosity of the populace. In the first place, every dealer experienced some difficulty in securing cars—some were only able to get one—and in the second place, after the dealer got the car he had a hard time keeping it—someone wanted to buy it right away.

Several hundred people, however, have been able to get a peep at the new touring cars and everyone of them is firmly convinced that they are attractive automobiles.

W. C. Roach, Ford dealer at Tawas City, is expecting the coming week will bring them all the new body types, both open and closed. If this transpires, it is certain that the dealers show rooms are going to be the most popular places in town, for everyone is eager to see and inspect all the new Fords. A display will be made at the Iosco County fair.

To Tell Silver Fox

It is almost as important to be able to recognize a silver fox scarf as to own one. From a distance, a pointed fox with the white hairs inserted amidst the black looks the same, but in a real silver fox each white hair has a bead of light at the tip, and a band of white and at the base another touch of black.

First to Foresee Eclipse

The first man, so far as historical records show, to calculate the time of an eclipse in advance was Thales of Miletus, who lived 640 to 533 B. C. He prophesied an eclipse which, according to modern reckoning, took place March 28, 585 B. C.

DENY THAT GREEN CORN SHOWS POISON DANGER

That the apparently widespread belief in Michigan this year that corn is unsafe for human consumption is entirely without foundation, is the statement made here this week by Prof. R. H. Pettit, head of the entomology department at the Michigan state college.

The false "notions" about green corn are thought to have arisen from misunderstanding of warnings sent out a year or two ago cautioning farmers against feeding green corn to hogs or horses when the corn was infested with the corn ear worm. All cooked green corn which is not disfigured by the very noticeable blackened worm workings is perfectly safe, according to Prof. Pettit. The quarantine being maintained in southeastern Michigan against the European corn borer has also contributed to the general misunderstanding of the situation, it is said. The quarantine is simply to stop the spread of the imported pest and has nothing to do with the "eatability" of the crop.

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

HARRY HERRIOT

HARRY HERRIOT, even as a little boy, had the habit of hurry. He would gulp down his porridge long before his brothers and sisters had finished theirs, and he always rushed away to school with a button off or his hair unbrushed. In his room at home, his mother and father had hung up appropriate mottoes; but these, as he grew up, seemed to have had no effect. "Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well," and "Never pull trigger before you take sight," left him unregenerate.

As a man he never could bear a long train journey because, he said he always was trying to get ahead of the engine. His friends eventually got used to having Herriot pass them by on the street unseeing, and came to attribute his oversights to that strained expression of his eyes, as if mentally he had arrived long before his physical body could bring him to his destination. His wife knew that she would find him pacing up and down the floor if inadvertently she kept him waiting for a minute, and his children were quite accustomed to hurrying through their meals. Even his broker realized in the end that, willy-nilly, Harry Herriot would buy above par and sell below if the alternative were patience with the market.

Then, one February, Herriot took a cold. It was a quite ordinary cold the doctor assured Mrs. Herriot—it needed only quiet and rest. When Harry Herriot's wife heard that, she was really alarmed.

"Stay in bed, give your strength time to return, don't be in a hurry to get well." Of course Harry went back to the office, with a temperature, and then he was laid low in earnest with pneumonia threatening.

Eventually they pulled him through more dead than alive. Then, lest he dash through medical discipline again some day, they sent him away back to his old home to his mother and father to recuperate. They put him to bed, too ill to remonstrate, in the room that he had had as a boy. The furnishings were unchanged, and the familiar mottoes on the walls began to catch his attention. His mind, however, rested upon one that he did not remember. "More haste, less speed." That held him. "True!" he groaned. Here at last was the logical answer to his habit of hurry.

Your Last Name

IS IT GARFIELD?

JAMES A. GARFIELD, twentieth president of the United States, was with the majority of presidents in his English ancestry, at least as far as his name is concerned. He was descended from Edward Gairfield or Garfield, who was born in 1575 and came from his home in Chester, England, to settle in Watertown, Mass. It is said that his wife was probably an emigrant from Germany whom he married on the voyage to the new world.

The family was well established in Massachusetts, for the most part farmers. In the Revolution they served with such good will that most of the Garfield families came out of the war very much impoverished and it was at about that time that the Garfields pressed into New York state and further west with the hope of renewing their fortunes. It was in 1817 that the branch of the Garfield family to which the President belonged went to Ohio, and in 1831 James A. Garfield was born there.

Though the founder of the family spelled his name Gairfield it is undoubtedly identical with the English Garfield family. This name is made up from Garth, having the same meaning as garden, and field. Garth-field or Garfield was probably first applied to a certain location which the description fitted and a family residing there assumed the name.

Grundy—This is the same as Gundry and is derived from an Anglo-Saxon personal name Gundred.

Milton—This usually is derived as a shortened form of Middleton as a name borne by many towns in old England.

My Dear Mr. Thornton:

We firmly believe that a newspaper is the proper place to publish news of any importance to the public. Any other means of disseminating news is primitive and unreliable.

It is this matter that we wish to call to your attention. During the past month there has been numerous rumors spread that we are going to discontinue our business on the first of the coming year. This rumor is ABSOLUTELY FALSE AND UNFOUNDED.

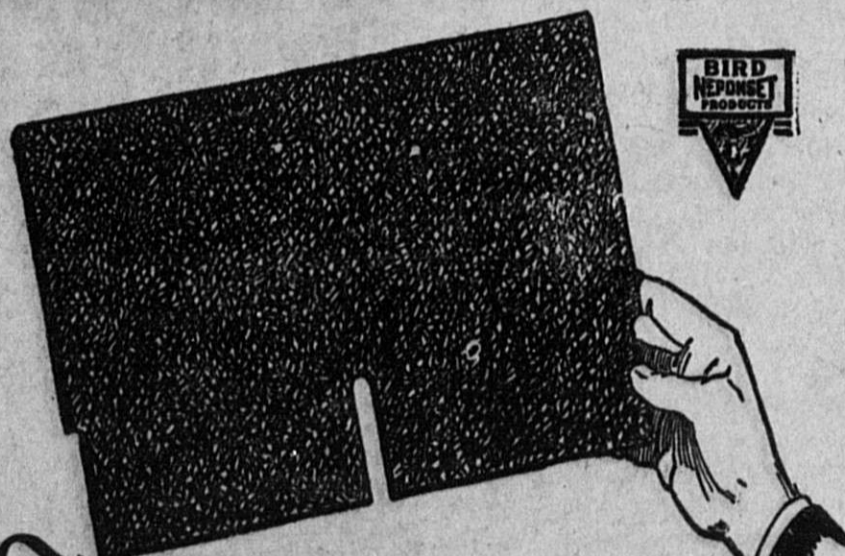

The wonderful success that we have been favored with thru the past three years of business in this community warrants that we should continue to serve the people and WE WILL be here on the "Brightest and Busiest Corner" long after others are gone and forgotten. Our policy has always been to give the most in quantity and quality for the money. Now more so than ever before we will endeavor to maintain that standard.

Trusting this will clear up and explain to you and your readers that we are here to stay and that if we have any announcement to make it will be thru the medium of a large display advertisement and not be entrusted to be spread about thru hearsay. Thanking you for your kind co-operation, we remain

Very truly yours,

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

HARRY HERRIOT

HARRY HERRIOT, even as a little boy, had the habit of hurry. He would gulp down his porridge long before his brothers and sisters had finished theirs, and he always rushed away to school with a button off or his hair unbrushed. In his room at home, his mother and father had hung up appropriate mottoes; but these, as he grew up, seemed to have had no effect. "Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well," and "Never pull trigger before you take sight," left him unregenerate.

As a man he never could bear a long train journey because, he said he always was trying to get ahead of the engine. His friends eventually got used to having Herriot pass them by on the street unseeing, and came to attribute his oversights to that strained expression of his eyes, as if mentally he had arrived long before his physical body could bring him to his destination. His wife knew that she would find him pacing up and down the floor if inadvertently she kept him waiting for a minute, and his children were quite accustomed to hurrying through their meals. Even his broker realized in the end that, willy-nilly, Harry Herriot would buy above par and sell below if the alternative were patience with the market.

Then, one February, Herriot took a cold. It was a quite ordinary cold the doctor assured Mrs. Herriot—it needed only quiet and rest. When Harry Herriot's wife heard that, she was really alarmed. "Stay in bed, give your strength time to return, don't be in a hurry to get well." Of course Harry went back to the office, with a temperature, and then he was laid low in earnest with pneumonia threatening.

Eventually they pulled him through more dead than alive. Then, lest he dash through medical discipline again some day, they sent him away back to his old home to his mother and father to recuperate. They put him to bed, too ill to remonstrate, in the room that he had had as a boy. The furnishings were unchanged, and the familiar mottoes on the walls began to catch his attention. His mind, however, rested upon one that he did not remember. "More haste, less speed." That held him. "True!" he groaned. Here at last was the logical answer to his habit of hurry.

IS IT GARFIELD?

JAMES A. GARFIELD, twentieth president of the United States, was with the majority of presidents in his English ancestry, at least as far as his name is concerned. He was descended from Edward Garfield or Garfield, who was born in 1575 and came from his home in Chester, England, to settle in Watertown, Mass. It is said that his wife was probably an emigrant from Germany whom he married on the voyage to the new world.

The family was well established in Massachusetts, for the most part farmers. In the Revolution they served with such good will that most of the Garfield families came out of the war very much impoverished and it was at about that time that the Garfields pressed into New York state and further west with the hope of renewing their fortunes. It was in 1817 that the branch of the Garfield family to which the President belonged went to Ohio, and in 1831 James A. Garfield was born there.

Though the founder of the family spelled his name Garfield it is undoubtedly identical with the English Garfield family. This name is made up from Garth, having the same meaning as garden, and field. Garth-field or Garfield was probably first applied to a certain location which the description fitted and a family residing there assumed the name.

Grundy—This is the same as Gundry and is derived from an Anglo-Saxon personal name Gundred.

Milton—This usually is derived as a shortened form of Middleton as a name borne by many towns in old England.

IMPORTANT! AN OPEN LETTER

R. Glass & Son
GENERAL MERCHANDISE
HALE, MICH.

September 8th, 1925

The Editor,
The Tawas Herald,
Tawas City, Michigan

My Dear Mr. Thornton:

We firmly believe that a newspaper is the proper place to publish news of any importance to the public. Any other means of disseminating news is primitive and unreliable.

It is this matter that we wish to call to your attention. During the past month there has been numerous rumors spread that we are going to discontinue our business on the first of the coming year. This rumor is ABSOLUTELY FALSE AND UNFOUNDED.

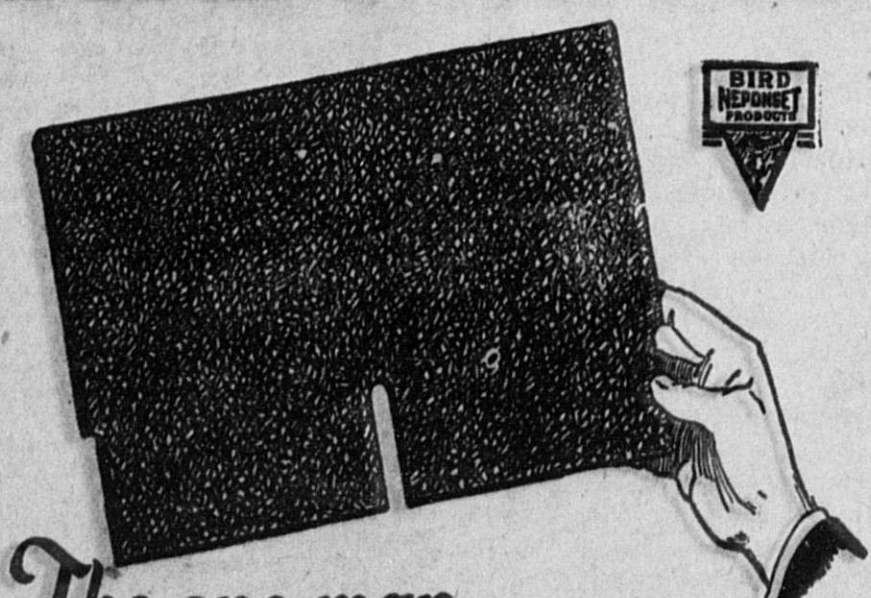

The wonderful success that we have been favored with thru the past three years of business in this community warrants that we should continue to serve the people and WE WILL be here on the "Brightest and Busiest Corner" long after others are gone and forgotten. Our policy has always been to give the most in quantity and quality for the money. Now more so than ever before we will endeavor to maintain that standard.

Trusting this will clear up and explain to you and your readers that we are here to stay and that if we have any announcement to make it will be thru the medium of a large display advertisement and not be entrusted to be spread about thru hearsay. Thanking you for your kind co-operation, we remain

Very truly yours,

R. GLASS & SON.

SEES WITCHCRAFT AS OLD RELIGION

New Theory Concerning Ancient Superstition.

Science has a brand-new and very interesting theory to explain the belief in witches which at various times in the past, both on this continent and in Europe, has been the source of so much worry to God-fearing Christians, says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

According to this theory witchcraft was a religion which preceded Christianity in western Europe by many centuries and which, after the coming of the new faith, flourished there for a time side by side with it.

In its primitive form the witch deity was incarnate in a man or a woman or an animal. Later on this deity was elected from among the members of the cult.

And did the believer in witchcraft at one time worship the devil, as some of our ancestors thought when they jalled and hanged supposed witches so relentlessly in the Massachusetts town of Salem?

Miss Margaret A. Murray, an English anthropologist, who has been studying the subject of witchcraft for many years, says there is no positive proof that they did so except what is to be found in the testimony of the cult's bitter enemies. The mysterious rites of witchcraft were always celebrated in the strictest secrecy.

Miss Murray thinks that the adherents of this older religion at last may have been driven by the growing strength of Christianity to regard the devil as their god. In those days Christianity's chief strength was among the upper classes and witchcraft's among the lower. This fact intensified the hostility of the adherents of the two religions.

Christianity was unalterably opposed to the barbaric rites of the witches and to their simple conception of the universe. As a result the witches eventually may have been forced to include in their ritual of initiation a specific denial of the entire Christian faith—God, the immortality of the soul and everything else the followers of Christ hold dear.

Miss Murray suggests that possibly it was the Christians themselves who first fastened the idea of devil worship upon the witches. The chief deity of the witch cult was first worshipped under a variety of names. Since the witches regarded this being as the supreme ruler of the universe, it was only natural for the Christians to term him the devil, Lucifer, Beelzebub, the Foul Fiend, the Enemy of Salvation and the Evil One.

Old Landmark Injured

Scrabo tower, an ancient landmark at Newtownards, County Down, Ireland, was recently struck by lightning during a severe storm. The bolt dug an extensive hole beside the tower walls. So violent was the crash that windows were smashed to fragments. Scrabo tower was erected in the year 1857 in memory of Charles William Vane, third marquis of Londonderry, by his tenantry and friends. The monument stands on an eminence of 540 feet and is itself 135 feet high—about the same height as the Albert memorial in Belfast. The prominent position which it occupies enables it to be seen from the heights around Belfast, and it can be viewed from the hills of Antrim and from the shores and islands of Strangford to far away Portaferry.

DESTROY LIQUOR TO SAVE STORAGE COSTS

State Rids Itself of Stock Accumulated in Raids.

The finest collection of liquor in the central part of the United States was destroyed recently at Lansing. It was the accumulation of confiscated beverages taken by the State Police since the Michigan prohibition constitutional amendment went into effect and amounted to thousands of quarts of whiskies, wines and other liquors. The work of breaking it up required several days and was supervised by Commissioner Alan G. Straight in person and by a representative of the attorney-general's office.

This hoard of liquor was kept for a time in a basement downtown Lansing but for the past two years had been stored in a building at State Police headquarters where it was a source of considerable worry as well as some expense since it had to be guarded. Withdrawals from it were made for the use of hospitals and public institutions, under proper inspection.

There had been no additions to the stock in a long time as it has been the practice of the department to break up liquor as seized and condemned. Just how much of a task this is may be deduced from the fact that the routine work for June included the destruction of 21,223 quarts of whisky 93.439 quarts of beer, 895 quarts of wine, 393 quarts of gin, 14,460 quarts of mash and a considerable quantity of other liquor.

SAVE REPUTATIONS OF TWO YOUNGSTERS

That it is better not to make arrests when results can be obtained by other methods is a part of the courtesy policy of the Michigan State Police. Here is an instance.

Captain I. H. Marmon and two other members of the "tree lance squad" which operates against disorderly roadhouses and gambling places, came upon a parked car near a roadhouse in which were a young man and a young woman, both unconscious from liquor.

Because of their youth, Captain Marmon decided not to arrest them. The young woman was taken to a respectable hotel while the young man was taken to the home of his father, a well known banker.

Next day both of the young people told their parents that it was the first time they had ever been under the influence of liquor and that they would not repeat the experience. They had been given a salutary lesson without being made the victims of scandal.

Observations on Rivers

There are a large number of stations reporting on the daily stages of the rivers, probably from 500 to 1,000, and in addition there are other stations maintained to study the general climate of the country. These are known as co-operative weather observing stations and probably number between 1,000 and 2,000, well distributed over the United States.

Britain's Oldest Clock

The oldest clock in Britain is now at the Museum of Patents at South Kensington. It was made at Glastonbury abbey by one of the monks in 1325, and in Elizabeth's reign was removed from Glastonbury to Wells cathedral. It worked there until about forty years ago, when it was laid aside to make room for a new clock.

Fish That Climbs

Scientific investigation into the habits of fishes has shown that many of them are by no means helpless when out of water. There is, for instance, a tropical fish known as the climbing perch, which has the very curious habit of scrambling by means of its fins, up stones, roots, and even the trunks of trees, in search of the insects on which it feeds.
