Cherub Serves as Santa's Assistant

Task Is to Aid Merry Old Kris During His Christmas Rush.

LOOKED like a Cupid or a cherub, without any particular business on earth, but he was assistant to that merry genius who has so much business at Christmas time that he doesn't know what to do.

His task was to trudge about with and greetings. Mr. Inkworthy's printer Miss Edna Long, who has been made a mistake when he said that the did fail to point out his source. Inkworthy's proofreader was as incorrigible an errorist as old Mr. Suit, the tailor, who told Doctor Pillsbury, when he complained that one leg of his pantaloons was creased in front while the Mr. and Mrs. George Gates and other was creased on the side, that pantaloons would sometimes work

"Are your hands sticky?" said the Johnson. callers at the home of Peter Latham Cherub to small Sarah, as he pulled a doll out of his pack. "Not quite," said the young mother, as she pressed the new daughter to her heart. In the other room was a real baby, who was crying for even more than he was really glad to see him again, for it was he who had given her the deepest wish of her heart the Christmas before when he brought the crying youngster to her house. It was a child that the world needed on Christmas most as good as Marfa," alluding to the character of her nurse.

His visit to Mr. Flint pleased the Cherub, for he purposed to bleed him. Having no relatives, the old man had thought that he would escape, but he was eventually argued and wheedled out of three gifts, a crutch for rheumatic Tom Foley, a cane for his father and a bundle of clothes for his wife. Mrs. Foley found the bundle full of change, hightum for best, tightum for second best, and scrub for rainy days. She was delighted. At the next house the Cherub was cross-examined by the three-year-old mistress of a manse. Everybody else was out for the moment, so that the young learner had an unhindered chance to increase her stock of wisdom. The conversation was as follows:

Mistress: "What's in the can?" The Cherub: "That's white paint." "What you goin' to do wif it?" "I'm going to put it on the wall." "How are you goin' to put it on?"

"With a trush." "Why are you goin' to pit the paint on the wall?" "To make it all nice and clean and white?" "When are you goin' to do it?" "Tomorrow." "Is that the paint?"

"Yes." "Is it white paint?"

"Yes." "Where's the wall?" "Over there." "Are you goin' to pit it on a wall?"

"Yes." "So it will be nice and clean and "Yes."

At this point the Cherub produced a jumping jack and bestowed it upon the inquisitive infant, but as a new Lot 88, Kokosing, owner J. Marcus hall of questions began with "What's concluded to call it a day's work and
