JUDGE DEHNKE GIVES PRAISE TO PREDECESSOR

The following statement was made at the January 17 session of Circuit court by Judge Herman Dehnke and was ordered spread upon the court journal:

I do not believe that this occasion should be permitted to pass without a few words of appreciation of the service of Judge Albert Widdis, who was judge of this circuit from May 28, 1915, to Dec. 31, 1927.

Appointed by Governor Ferris to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Conine, Judge Widdis was thereafter three times chosen to continue in the judicial service, each time by very substantial majorities.

He secured and held the confidence of the public to a remarkable degree. That confidence, I believe, was rested on the conviction that he had set a high standard of efficiency for the courts over which he presided—efficiency in the objects for which, viz., the doing of and maintaining, viz., the man and justice between man and man, and between society and its members, according to law; and that in Judge Widdis' court, all men stood upon a common level, without regard to any of the external distinctions recognized in the relationships of life generally.

He himself would be the first to grant that because of human imperfection of knowledge and judgment the striving for this standard may not have been universally successful. That, however, is nothing against the standard, nor does it detract from the credit due for the maintenance of the standard. An ideal loses its drawing power when it is set so low as to be easily attained. The public does not expect perfection of judges, because it knows them to be human; it does expect, and rightfully, that those responsible for the management of the judicial machinery of the state shall bring to their task high-minded determination to ascertain the truth as to each controversy and to apply thereto the governing rules of law, without bias, favoritism or partiality. Public confidence was based primarily on the belief that he possessed this important qualification.

In addition, he has what is known among lawyers as "the legal mind," the ability to "get at the meat" of the legal cocoon and to determine the governing principle with almost unerring accuracy. Naturally, he

We hope that every member will be present. Remember the day—George Washington's birthday.

BUREAU EXECUTIVES TO MEET AT GRAYLING

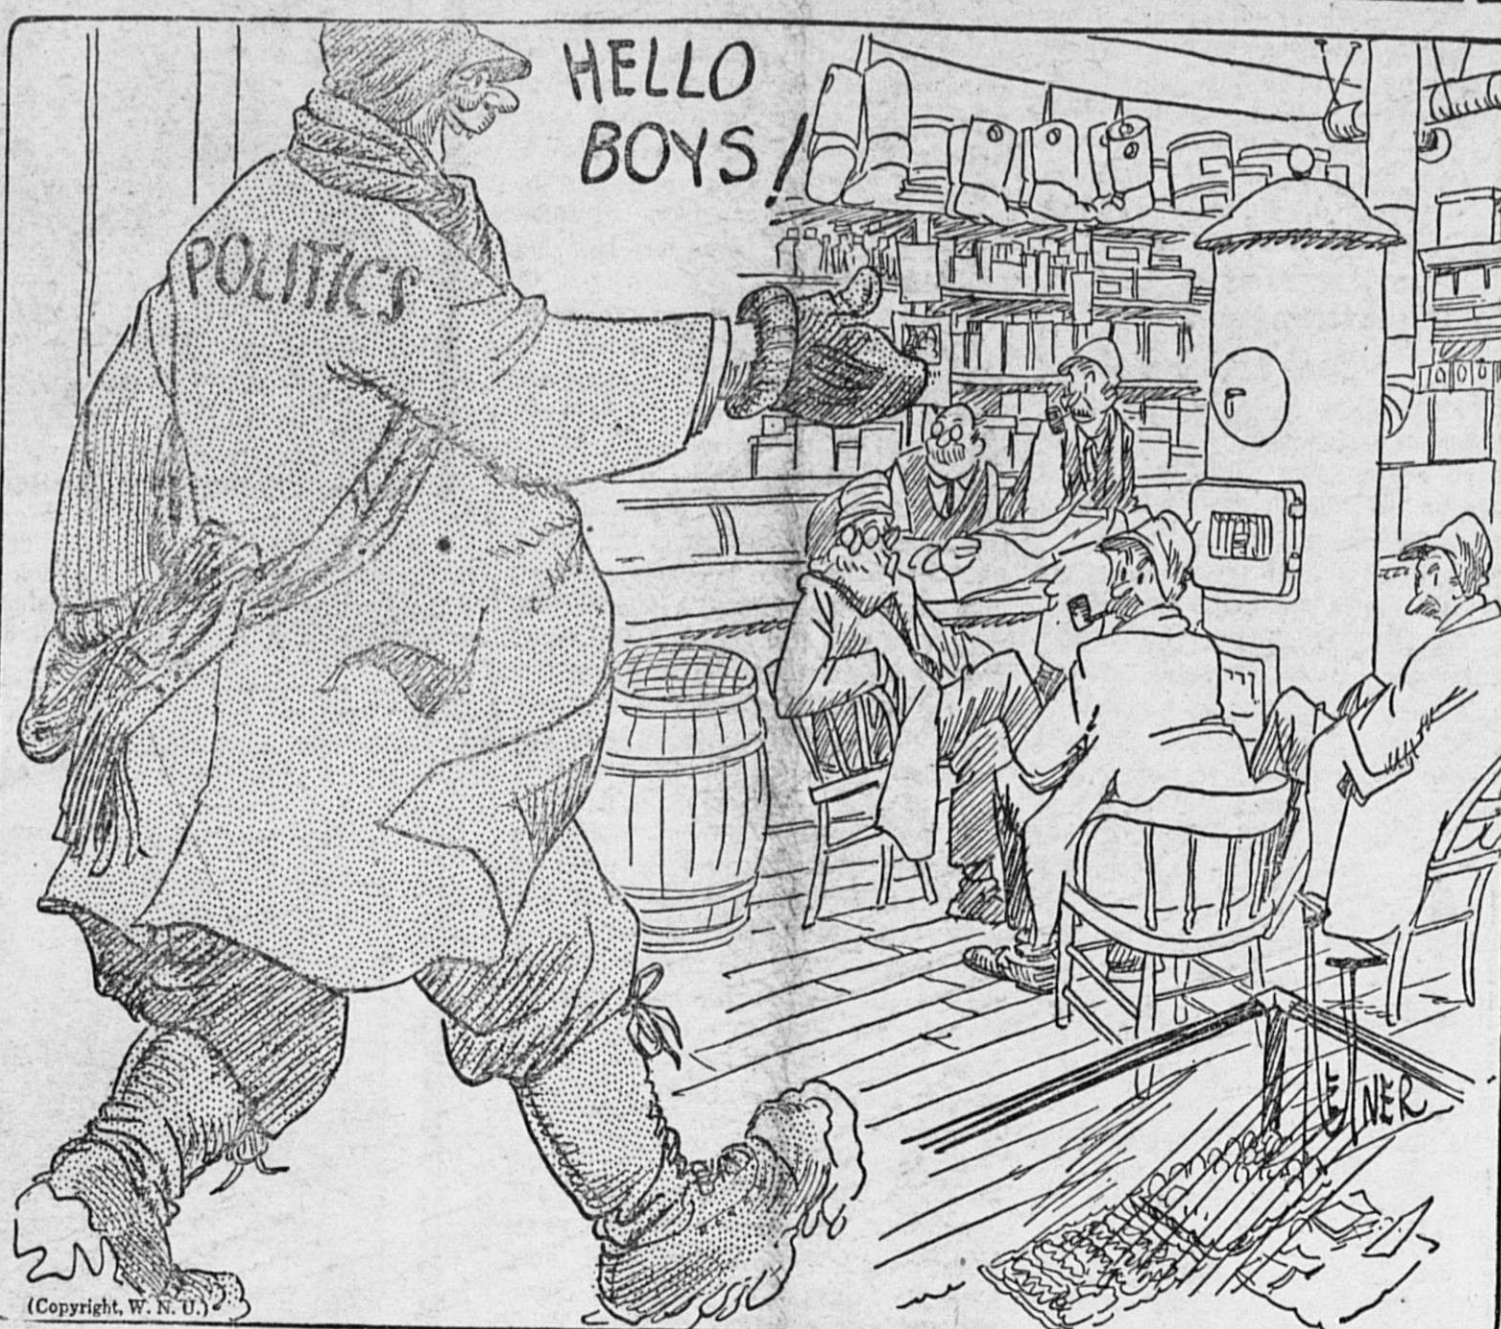

Herman N. Butler, president of the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau, has issued a call for a meeting of the executive committee of the organization at Grayling, January 30.

The meeting has been called to make plans for the 1928 advertising, activities to be undertaken, agricultural projects, etc.

Marius Hanson of Grayling, vice-president of the bureau, says that if there is a change in the tropical weather conditions which have made Michigan this winter a competitor of Florida, it may be possible for the executives to see Grayling's toboggan slide in operation. Grayling was one of the pioneer towns in the development of winter sports, but the unseasonal weather thus far this year has interfered with the winter sports plans.

EQUIPS WINTER PLAYGROUND AT GREENBUSH

A full page of last Sunday's Detroit Free Press was devoted to a description of Michigan's St. Moritz at Greenbush. The article was illustrated with scenes at the new winter playground. The following paragraphs are excerpts from the story:

St. Moritz, most fashionable of all Swiss Alpine winter playgrounds, has a little American brother.

The stork brought him a month ago. His snowy cradle is in the white hills of Michigan, ridged and billowed with winter drifts, about 150 miles north of Detroit as the crow or the stork flies.

There, with Greenbush as the pivot, a serious effort is being made to create a stadium of ice, so to speak—a winter playground which in time will be the natural rendezvous of those Americans who think of winter in terms of bracing nights, toboggan chutes, steel runners singing on the ice, jingle bells, Aunt Dinah's quilting party, ski-joring, a speeding boat on a crackling pond, a flaming fireplace after the tingly play is done.

A brief ride and we shake off the city, where January storm brings no joy and simply entails the adjustment of skid chains, the bother of pushing the snow away from the garage door, the preparation of temperature tables by the newspapers, and all-night shoveling of the D.P.W. to get the dratted stuff out of the way so business will not bog down, but proceed as usual.

"Snow-time is glow-time!" slogans the Greenbushite.

The cry is taken up by all those individuals who believe that in this new development the United States has an answer to the craving of thousands of Americans who would like to lock arms again with the winter of their youth and once again barge out under the stars, heavy-shod and muffled, for what they called frankly in those days a "belly-whacker."

Carl E. Schmidt, of Detroit, is the ambitious impressario. Behind him are various agencies which are altruistically and materially interested in seeing Greenbush become a Middle West Lake Placid.

The season's entertainment provides coasting, skiing, ski-joring, ski-jumping, bob-sledding toboggan, snow-shoeing, iceboating, skating, sleighing, hockey, ice baseball, along with fishing and hunting.

It is a combination of wilderness and modernity. There is constant undeviating snow on the one hand; a 150-room modern inn on the other, with billiard room and fireplace when the last toboggan zips down one of the four runways, each a mile in length, which are to be kept icy and in prime condition by water from wells sunk alongside them.

Hans A. Boehme, manager of the inn, is internationally known at winter sports, having taken numerous prizes in European contests in 1909, 1910, 1911. In 1909 he won a contest in Saxony in a tournament.

"Well," replied Raynor, "I saw him put a penny in the patrol box on 4th Street and then he looked up at the clock on the Presbyterian church and roared, 'Gawd, I've lost 14 pounds weight!'"

Our Hexite is going strong. All the local dairies recommend it as a No. 1 milk and cream producer.

HALE

Mrs. F. O. Putnam of East Tawas returned home on Tuesday, having spent the past week visiting her son, E. O. Putnam, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Alderton spent part of this week in Detroit. The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Alice Glendon last Wednesday for the afternoon only. A pleasant time was had by those present. Plans were made for work to be done in the coming year, and it was decided to have social meetings once a month. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Marie Webb, Feb. 1, all day. Every member is urged to try and be present and to bring at last one friend.

About forty members and their families enjoyed the annual Grange dinner served at the town hall last week and a splendid time was enjoyed by all present. The new officers for the year were installed. Another meeting will be held Jan. 31. A pot luck dinner at noon. Every member urged to be present. A good program being planned by lecturer. Six new members took the obligation at the last meeting, and it is expected that at least three more will become members at the next meeting. It is requested by the secretary that all members who are not paid up for the past year, will please be present and look after this. Hereafter, no member must be in arrears for more than six months, that being the law of State Grange. There are now 71 members belonging to the Hale Grange No. 1063.

The East Tawas Epworth League will journey over to our town next Sunday evening, Jan. 29, and put on the evening's program at Methodist church promptly at 8 o'clock. The young folk here are anxious that all the friends and members of the church, as well as others will be present. We are sure it will be worth while for everyone.

HALE BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school at 10:30 a. m. All are invited to attend and study the messages from God's Word with us.

Preaching next Sunday following the Sunday school session. There will be the guessing story for the children, and the sermon for everyone.

Be sure to meet with us Thursday eve at the prayer meeting hour for the study of the Gospel of John.

JUDGE DEHNKE GIVES PRAISE TO PREDECESSOR

was criticized frequently, and some times severely, as every judge must expect to be, for his rulings and decisions. One of the sayings attributed to Abraham Lincoln is that among the inalienable rights of American citizenship is that of a defeated litigant (and his counsel) to go down to the village tavern and "cuss out the Court." However, in the final analysis, one of the best tests of the fairness and propriety of a Judge's rulings is what higher courts do with them on appeal. Comparatively few appeals were taken in cases tried by Judge Wid- dis, and in all but a very small percentage of the appeals his rulings were affirmed. In this respect also, his record is outstanding.

For several years his health has left much to be desired; he finally sought surgical relief, which did not lead to recovery as quickly as has been hoped. He was obliged to be absent from his courts subsequent to May, 1927, and not finding his health sufficiently improved late in the year to enable him to re- sume his work, he tendered his resignation, effective Jan. 1, 1928. It is characteristic of him that he did not feel at liberty to continue drawing his salary when he became satisfied that he might not, within a reasonable time, be able to return to the performance of the duties of his office.

It is to be hoped that he may yet recover his health and be spared for further service to the profes- sion.

REASON ENOUGH

When we sell a man a used car we are naturally hoping that some day he will come back and buy a new car. Honesty aside, that alone seems reason enough for selling him a GOOD Used Car at a fair price.

Look to your health, and if you have it, praise God and value it next to a good conscience: for health is a second blessing that mortals are capable of—a blessing that money cannot buy.—Izaak Walton.

WORK AND PLAY

THE one who said "that house- work was powerful constant" knew what he was talking about, for it is the work that greets you with the rising sun and does not cease at the going down of the same.

As the most valuable and least regarded of all possessions is good health, and the strength which goes with it, the wise housewife will choose which are the really worth while things that must be attended to, letting the others take their turn in being done, as to the most important.

With the multiplicity of duties which today confront the housewife and as over 80 per cent of us are doing our own housework without the aid of a maid, and a large per cent without even a laundress, the saving of strength is a large item to the house mother who is so invaluable in the home.

She who can use the energy she would spend on scrubbing a floor, in studying the problem of keeping with- in the family budget, and serving wholesome attractive meals, not only helps herself, but improves her home. Unfortunately floors must be cleaned, but a well and carefully mopped floor can be cleaned in half the time it takes to scrub it, and a floor can be very much soiled before the neighbors will notice it.

The woman who wastes her energy doing things because she has always done them, or it was the way her mother did them, needs some lessons in loyalty to her family, for times have changed, and none of us wish to fall behind in the march of progress.

A schedule is a valuable aid in work, but no schedule can be followed in any iron-clad way. Circumstances alter cases, never get so tied up in system that you cannot put your rising bread in the ice chest or cellar, or leave the dishes in the sink, in case of an important duty.

We all know capable and fine women who do certain things on certain days, though the heavens fall. Would such a woman leave her work to take an hour or two in the open air or the woods, if invited for a ride? More than likely not, for she must finish the ironing or clean the silver.

In many homes the mother says it is much easier to do the work herself than to try to teach the bungling little ones who love to work. It is not fair to them nor to herself not to let them share in the household tasks. The tiny two-year-old can be taught and will love to do it, many little step- savers, like putting away their toys and hanging up their own wraps. This training will help them all through life in many ways, giving them orderly minds and trained hands.

EQUIPS WINTER PLAY- GROUND AT GREENEUSH

ment which included seven Ameri- can entries.

"Women, like men, are seeking the exhilarating air of winter, with brisk winds that obviate the neces- sity of lipstick, rouge pot and pow- der puff," he said, gossipping, as he watched a departing sleighful of tobogganers. "More and more they are deserting the enervating in- doors of overheated houses for: this cinch health, and more and more of those who have become friend- ly with the vitalizing glow which comes from exercises in the open air spreading the gospel to others."

"The greatest criticism hurled at the American sport-lover," put in a man waiting for the next sleigh "is that he is a sufferer from that dreaded disease, 'spectatoritis.' No great difficulties ever have been encountered in dragging the would- be spectator into the grandstand to witness a ball game or to see from afar a prize fight that may have put a good dent in his pocketbook but invite a man to take part in the sport which gives him so many vicarious thrills and you find a horse of another color.

"At ice sports you've got to take part. It's easy enough to watch a baseball game in midsummer with the sun streaming down upon you. But unless you keep moving about on the fields where the winter sports are held, you are likely to freeze or get a chill at least."

Our Singer sewing machines will take care of that stitch in time. This is a household necessity. If you have never inquired, you do not know on what liberal terms they can be bought. Barkmans. adv
