Camel's Burden

An expert says that from 500 to 700 pounds is the average weight for a camel to carry. He usually carries this on an average of 10 hours or 23 miles a day. The average for the northern and the southern species varies somewhat in speed and the burden which they carry, but the above is an average for both.

We should be surprised if, suffering from rheumatism, we went to a doctor and, instead of being given medicine, we were told to cease our cynicism and the rheumatism would depart. A STATEMENT by GENERAL MOTORS

The

POLICY

PROGRESS

T is the policy of General Motors to maintain continuous improvement, in every one of its car divisions, with no interruption in production.

This means that you enjoy the benefits of new engineering developments promptly — just as soon as they have been thoroughly tested on the 1245-acre Proving Ground.

It means that you can now order the new Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick, LaSalle, Cadillac, or GMC Truck, and receive immediate delivery.

Behind this policy of continuous improvement is an organization so widespread and resourceful that it can make and sell quality automobiles more economically than any automobile manufacturer in the world.

In the north and south it logs and mills its own lumber. In the east it makes its own ball bearings and radiators. In the middle west it produces its own plate glass. Its plants are busy in 33 important American cities.

From almost 5,000 suppliers, its materials are obtained-steel by the hundreds of thousands of tons—wire by the tens of thousands of miles upholstery by the acre-nuts, bolts and washers by the millions. Its sales and service take place through 33,000 dealers. More than 275,000 families look directly to General Motors for their livelihood—almost a million and a half men, women and children in every community in the land.

Meaning so much to so many, General Motors has felt a supreme obligation to look ahead.

Are there methods by which General Motors cars can be better built to better serve?

Are there new ideas which can increase the utility and pleasure and safety of motoring?

Are there new materials which can add to owner satisfaction?

Such are the questions that all General Motors engineers have always asked. The answers have made it possible, year after year, to offer an increasing measure of beauty in design, modern performance, riding comfort and distinct style. Thus in every price class, from Cadillac to Chevrolet, purchasers are constantly benefiting from the General Motors policy of progress.

Rain Affects Cotton

Manchester, England, and neighboring cities have a damp climate which is especially adapted to the spinning of cotton. If the rainfall were suddenly to become only half as much as is characteristic of that section the industry would be seriously crippled.

Elephant-Hide Patches Selling patches of elephant hide is the latest addition to strange businesses. The London zoo has founded what seems to be a flourishing small business of suplying pieces of skin for museums having stuffed elephants. Elephant skin apparently wears fast on specimens, even though it is kept away from moisture. The zoo is now filling orders from the hide of Indarani, who died recently
