Melody Maids At Chautauqua

The Melody Maids are different. Each girl is not only an artist musically but possesses that certain something sometimes called "it," which gives to each number they present, whether solo, duet or ensemble, a distinct entertainment value so much sought after and so rarely found.
Because of their versatility, personality and ability, these charming girls are enabled to present programs most unusual. Besides interpreting the great masterpieces of music, many musical novelties are introduced—both instrumental and vocal—thus satisfying not only the lovers of the best in music, but also those who would have something of the spectacular and humorous included.

Chautauqua Tickets Are Now On Sale

Our Annual Community Chautauqua, the dates of which are rapidly approaching, is sponsored and promoted by a splendid group of public-spirited citizens. Under the plan of Chautauqua operation, it is not possible for any of these Chautauqua workers to realize an individual financial profit. They profit only in the same degree and same way that every other citizen of the community profits. They have assumed the responsibility of the Chautauqua as one of their duties as good citizens. They appreciate the opportunity that it offers for the securing of clean, wholesome entertainment and recreation at a ridiculously low price. Many of the features on this year's Chautauqua are the same as thousands of people have paid from two to three dollars to see and hear, and yet these attractions, along with all others, cost the Chautauqua season ticket holder an average of less than 25c each.
Do yourself a favor, as well as the committee, which has assumed this responsibility for you, by seeing them at once and telling them how many season tickets you will want for your family.

HALE NINE WINS FROM TAWAS CITY

STANDINGS

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Alabaster	3	1	.750
East Tawas	3	1	.750
Tawas City	1	3	.250
Hale	1	3	.250

Last Sunday's Results
Alabaster 3—East Tawas 2.
Hale 5—Tawas City 2.
Next Sunday's Games
Tawas City at Hale.
Alabaster at East Tawas.

Tawas City received another setback last Sunday when it was defeated by Hale in a fast, clean game by a score of 5 to 2. The game was played on the local field. Inability to hit on the part of the local team was the outstanding factor in its defeat, while the Hale boys hit quite freely. Tawas City was able to get but three hits, while Hale was credited with eight. The Hale hit column included a home run by Cobb in the fourth inning. It was the longest drive made on the local diamond, rolling to the extreme end of the fence between left and center.

Rahl's pitching was the second and more important factor in the defeat of the locals. Besides allowing them but three hits, he struck out sixteen men. Steinhurst and McCards held the mound for Tawas City, neither being able to hold the Hale boys to any extent.
Next Sunday Tawas City goes to Hale, where the team will endeavor to avenge the defeat of last Sunday.

SUPERVISOR OF FEDERAL CORN BORER CONTROL TALKS TO SUPERVISORS

Rina M. Dell, supervisor of Federal Corn Borer Control for this district, gave a talk Monday before Iosco County Board of Supervisors on the corn borer situation in Iosco county. Mr. Dell had just completed a week's educational campaign and survey of the county.
Mr. Dell said that during the past week he had visited the various townships and that he found the restrictive measures required by the Corn Borer Control had been exceptionally well observed here. He said he was especially pleased with the fine co-operation given him and the attitude of Iosco farmers toward this work.
The season of effective fighting of the pest is about over for the season as it is in the moth stage during July and August, he said, but the fight must again go on this fall. Early cutting corn as soon as ripe and placing in silo. All unused remnants and stubble should be destroyed by fire or completely covered by deep plowing and disced. He said that fall plowing is more effective than spring.
He said that while Monroe county, one of the most badly infested counties in the state, had suffered great losses in their corn crops, a 25 per cent increase in production had been realized last year through the practices used during Federal control and state supervision.

IOSCO SUNDAY SCHOOLS

In observance of the superintendents' visitation program for July, the schedule for Sunday, July 1, will be—Mrs. Glenn Hughes of Alabaster visits the East Tawas M. E. Sunday school; Mrs. O. H. Alderton of Hale Baptist visits East Tawas Presbyterian; L. H. Braddock of Tawas City Baptist visits East Tawas Episcopal; Jno. Webb of Hale M. E. visits Reno Baptist; Andrew Christeson of East Tawas Lutheran visits Whittemore M. E.; Mrs. E. R. Caton of Londo Community visits Whittemore L. D. S.

Now is the time to think Vacation Bible Schools in terms of community effort, to Talk Vacation Schools at home, church and community gatherings, to Plan Vacation Schools for the children during their free time. At least two schools will be held in the county, at Tawas City and East Tawas, meeting five mornings each week for two weeks beginning July 30th. All boys and girls will be welcome, that we may write the Jesus way in the hearts of our children, so we may later read it in the life of our community.

In their fine presentation of a Children's Day program last Sunday evening the Hemlock road Sunday school demonstrated the deep spiritual value of the rural church school. He who advocates the closing of the country church has not seen the country church at work.

"THE GARDEN OF ALLAH" IS AN EPOCHAL FILM

The desert! The Garden of Allah! The spell of sleeping sand dunes and strengthening sunsets beyond all describing!
The poignant love of a giant, untutored traveler, a former monk who had left a Trappist monastery under a cloud, for an English lady of surpassing beauty and poise.
Hostility, pity, love, happiness, disillusion, despair, grief—and finally a new peace with God that three people find in three separate ways after the desert sandstorm has passed.

That is the story of "The Garden of Allah," showing at the State Theatre Sunday and Monday. This romance of the transcendence of spiritual peace over the highest earthly love has gripped millions since it was first published twenty-six years ago.

Discusses Finance and Ideals At Chautauqua

GORDON E. SMITH

We hear much of the materialistic state of mind which is possessing the peoples of the world and particularly Americans. People have been divided into two general classes—the Idealist and the Materialist—and it is the popular notion that there is a clear line of demarcation between the two—that a person in one class does not and cannot possess any of the characteristics of the other class. Gordon B. Smith, a student, thinker and orator of national reputation, in his lecture "Financing Ideals," on the fifth night of the Chautauqua, will correct some popular fallacies and endeavor to show that the man or woman living a well balanced life cannot be placed in either of these extreme classes, but as a matter of fact, occupies a middle ground—thinking and living in a practical way some of the precepts of both the Materialist and the Idealist. Mr. Smith's sane, logical and interesting reconciliation of these two supposedly distinct schools of thought will be well worth hearing.

HAMILTON—JOHNSON

A wedding dinner was served to the wedding party and a number of relatives from Pontiac and Milford at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hamilton.  At Chautauqua

JOHN ROSS REED

At the head of a company bearing his own name, John Ross Reed, internationally known baritone, will appear on the second day of our Chautauqua. The afternoon program will feature Margot Hayes, contralto, who, during the past winter, has been on tour playing leading roles in some of the better known operas and under the concert direction of an old established concert management of New York; and Dagny Ellen Jensen, pianist and Danish lyric soprano, who is the product of the best teachers of both Europe and America. The evening program will consist of a series of musical episodes, each staged in a special scenic setting, with elaborate lighting effects, supervised and directed by Wilbur Maxwell as announcer and presenter.
 These episodes afford opportunity for display in both an artistic and entertaining manner, of the voices of Mr. Reed and the other members of his company. The incidents depicted in these musical episodes range from grave to gay—from laughs to tears—with comedy, heart-interest and pathos all following one another or blended in some appealing manner.
 This day's program is without question one of the most pretentious ever presented on the Chautauqua stage.

JUDGE CHARLES EDWARD BULL

Doubling for Abraham Lincoln is an easy job for Judge Charles E. Bull of Reno. All that is necessary is to look natural. He requires no make-up and the only aid he uses to complete his remarkable resemblance to the martyred President is the gentleman's styles of the period of the Sixties.

Judge Bull's startling resemblance to Lincoln has been a matter of comment among his friends for many years. He says that since the time he was a long gangling boy of about twelve or thirteen years, people have told him that he was "as homely as Abe Lincoln."

The Judge is Lincoln to the life.

Raw-boned and muscular, he is six feet four inches tall; weight about 190 pounds. Add deep-set eyes, prominent nose, firm mouth with full underlip, large cheek bones with hollow cheeks—the same identical lines across them—and the Lincolnian brown beard setting off all. His frame and angular structure are the same. He is long of limb, slow of movement and his head carriage is expressive. Many of his mannerisms, unstudied, are similar to those credited to Lincoln. He walks, talks and smiles as Lincoln did. Judge Bull plays the lead in "The Heart of Lincoln" on the opening night of Chautauqua.
