Alabaster	3	2	.600

Last Sunday's Results
East Tawas 9—Alabaster 5.
Hale 6—Tawas City 1.

Next Sunday's Games
East Tawas at Tawas City.
Alabaster at Hale.

Tawas City met with disappointment at Hale last Sunday when it attempted to avenge a former defeat from Hale, but was humbled with a score of 6 to 1.

The locals again fell prey to Rahl's pitching, being held scoreless for the greater share of the game until Grigsbee took the mound for Hale. Boudler, Steinhurst and Boldt threw for Tawas City.

The fielding of both teams was very good and was topped off with several feature catches. However at the bat Tawas City failed miserably, while the hits of Hale came at the most opportune time. S. Smith held batting honors for the day with four hits out of four times at bat.

Next Sunday East Tawas plays Tawas City at the local field. The locals will put forth every effort to win this game in order to put an end to their slump.

Plays Lead In Broadway Comedy Success

LEO S. ROSECRANS

Community Chautauqua audiences will welcome the announcement that Leo S. Rosencrans, dramatist and well known leading man, is to return again this season to play the lead in Frank Craven's popular New York comedy success "New Brooms." Mr. Rosencrans' enviable reputation in some of the best dramatic successes in recent years—his extensive experience in motion pictures and in other entertainment fields—is too well known to require retelling. When the Chautauqua System's Dramatic Producer endeavored to engage Mr. Rosencrans because of his special fitness for the part of Tom Bates Junior in "New Brooms," difficulties presented themselves which for a time threatened to make his appearance impossible. However, Mr. Rosencrans is such a thorough Chautauqua fan—appreciates the contact with the people who make up Chautauqua audiences—and enjoys his work so much that he was finally persuaded to secure a leave of absence from the National Broadcasting Company with which he is connected, in order to do another season of Chautauqua work.

MRS. ELMER FAHSELT

Fahselt in 1920, making their home in Cabri, Sask., where she died. She leaves besides her husband, three children, Richard age 6, Herbert, age 4, and an infant daughter, Helen Margaret, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Nisbet of Indian Lake, two brothers, Stephen and Herbert, and a sister Mrs. Helen Mead, of Detroit, and a great many friends.

Funeral services were held in the United church, Cabri, on Thursday, June 21, at 2:00 p. m. Interment in the Cabri cemetery.

The sympathy of their many Tawas friends goes out to the bereaved family in their great loss.

GIVES STORY OF SUCCESSFUL IOSCO DAIRY

A recent issue of "The Business Farmer" contained the story of one of Isoco County's most successful dairy farms—that owned by Fred C. Holbeck at Long Lake.

As the farmers of this section are inclining more and more to the dairy as a source of profit, the experience of Mr. Holbeck is of particular interest at this time.

The following is the write-up:
In 1913 Fred C. Holbeck, together with a party of business men, went to Long Lake, Isoco County, on a fishing trip. While there he became greatly impressed with the fact that there were thousands of acres of the finest farming land lying idle; true this land was covered with logs, stumps and brush. It also was covered with clover, which seemed to grow everywhere without any attention on the part of men.

When a year later Mr. Holbeck was ordered to the country by his physician, his mind turned to this wonderful part of Michigan and after spending a couple months on the shores of Long Lake he conceived the idea of building a farm out of some of this wild land. At first two hundred and fifty acres were purchased, later another hundred was added and work immediately started. Ninety acres were brushed off the first fall. Buildings were started and by the fall of 1915, farming operations were in full swing.

At first the farming was carried on much the same as was done on the farm when Mr. Holbeck was a boy on his father's farm and much the same as is being done today on a great many farms in the northern part of lower Michigan. A few beans, potatoes, oats and corn were planted in the spring, some hay and rye were harvested during the summer, a half dozen scrub cows were secured and milked but when the books were balanced at the end of the first year's operation a considerable loss was evident.

A second year was passed in much the same manner with the exception that the loss was even greater, caused partly by the loss of the bean crop.

It was at this time, or in other words, ten years ago, that Mr. Holbeck made two decisions that had a very far reaching effect on his future success and the success of many of his friends and neighbors in the farming business.

First, he decided that dairy farming was the only thing that would show a profit in this northern part of the state, and second, he decided that on account of the fact that it was almost impossible to market anything but cream that the Guernsey cow was best fitted to his needs.

It was at this time, or, in other words, the fall of 1916, that Mr. Holbeck bought his first Guernsey cattle, two heifers and a bull, and from this start he has developed one of the finest herds not only in the state of Michigan but in the United States.

A calf from one of the first heifers purchased became the Grand Champion Cow of Michigan. Another cow raised on the farm is the present champion three year old Guernsey of the state.

During the time this herd has been building up, Mr. Holbeck continued to clear and develop his farm, until today Nordland Farms has become not only one of the most productive but one of the prettiest farms in the northern part of the state.

In making the Grand Champion State Record for Guernsey cows with Princess Polly of Nordland No. 65929, this cow was milked three and four times daily. She produced 17,240 pounds of milk containing 877 pounds of fat.

Mr. Holbeck has carried on testing work on both the official and county cow testing basis and is very strong for the work, especially he recommends that every farmer whether he has purebreds or grades or both join his county cow testing association. The work of the association not only tests his cows but goes into many of the other problems that enter into successful dairy farming.

When Mr. Holbeck was asked to what he attributed his success on the farm he replied, first, the dairy business; second, the fact that all his farm operations are kept on a strictly business basis; and third, the fact that he selected Guernsey cattle as the breed he was to specialize in.

Every dollar taken in on the farm as also every dollar paid out is carefully kept account of. Every pound of milk is carefully weighed.

BURLEY & LEE, Editors

Big Chief Burley rounded up his three braves from the war path, and with him had their pictures flashlighted on the camping site at the office. All patrons of Scratch feed at $2.60 per 100 can have a peep at the picture free of charge.

Big Chief's posture of drooped head and closed eyes is a puzzle. One solution is that he is praying for a lower price than $2.40 per 100 on Hexite; another that he is dreaming of the assistant bookkeeper he had engaged to take care of the immense sales of Corn and Oat Chop at $2.55 per 100; a likely explanation might be he imagined he belonged to the baseball team and was standing at the plate to bat. The airt truckman, brave Charlie, closed one eye, a custom he has acquired while being told that others were selling better coal than the Wilson Grain Co.

Sweet Cream brave Brugger shows an unscalped head, with hair up standing like the tail feathers of a young rooster fed on Wheat Screenings at $2.30 per 100 trying to crow. His explanation is that he had just tested a can of cream and the owner said that he believed it was 5 points too much. Quite naturally both eyes show wide open.

Bookkeeper brave Emerson is looking through spectacle frames with no lenses. This fact is mentioned because no intentional deception is permitted. When Huron Portland cement is mentioned it is Huron and Huron brand is the one always satisfactory in color and strength.

Boss—What's the reason you're an hour late?

Barber—I'm sorry, but while I was shaving this morning, I talked myself into a shampoo, haircut and massage.

GIVES STORY OF SUCCESS.

FUL IOSCO DAIRY

All feed is balanced, every cow being given attention as to her needs, based on her size and ability and willingness to produce. The poor cows are promptly weeded out and sent to the butcher and with only one or two exceptions, the best cows have always been retained in the herd. Careful plans are made to grow all feed possible on the farm, leaving as little as possible to buy. When feed is bought it is generally by the carload and the market is carefully watched for the best time to buy.

Mr. Holbeck does not believe in large farms. He says that small units of eighty to one hundred and sixty acres are the best, not too large a herd of cattle, from fifteen to twenty-five head. Never more than twenty-five head have been milked on Nordland Farms at any one time. The average has been considerably less. A few chickens and pigs should be kept to use up the skim milk and other material that otherwise might be wasted.

The owner of Nordland Farms has not confined his interests or activities entirely to farm problems but has found time and does interest himself in all the local activities of his community, both social, political, and otherwise. He has twice been elected president of the State Guernsey Breeders' Association. At present he is county Republican chairman and was recently elected county road commissioner. He is glad to have his neighbors and all other interested people call at his farm at Long Lake, Iosco County. Any advice or information asked for will be willingly given. He is especially interested in the development of the upper part of lower Michigan and believes that there is a great future for this part of the state.
