12 RICHLAND CATTLE WIN 8 PRIZES

The Richland Farms of C. H. Prescott & Sons exhibited twelve Shorthorn cattle at the International Live Stock Exhibition held December 1st to 8th at Chicago, and received eight awards. There were about 600 Shorthorns exhibited at the show.

This is the first exhibit made by the Richland farms in 1928.

The following are the Richland winners:

3rd in Junior bull calf class. 24 entries in class.

7th in Junior yearling heifer class. 25 entries in class.

5th and 6th in Junior heifer calf class. 19 entries in class.

Yearling herd, bull and two heifers bred by exhibitor, 7th in class.

Class for pair of calves, 3rd and 9th in class.

Get of Sire class—four animals by one sire—6th in class.

Four of the above animals were sold in the pure bred sale during the show, and as in former years were widely distributed, two bulls going to the states of Utah and Nebraska, one heifer to Missouri, and one heifer to Iowa. The second highest priced female sold in the sale was from this herd. In 1927 this herd furnished the top female in the Shorthorn sale. This gives one an idea of the value of the Richland herd as regarded by the various breeders of the Shorthorn fraternity.

Heretofore, grand championship honors in the International went to feeders who had been in the show game for many years and to agricultural colleges. However, it was only a matter of time that some member of the Boys' and Girls' Club would crop out with a sufficiently finished bullock to take down the major award as the juniors, in the comparatively few years they have been in the feeding business, were loudly knocking at the grand championship door, seeking admittance into that charmed group, occupied by so few out of the many thousands of feeders who have sought that honor since the inception of the International in 1900.

The juniors, however, finally made the grade when a twelve-year-old lad, feeding a steer bred by his father, overcame the many hazards necessary to join the ranks of the premier feeders of live stockdom.

Clarence Goecke, State Center, Iowa, is the boy whose animal swept aside all opposition in the Junior Feeding Contest, went right out and mowed down class and hereford bred champions, did not falter when opposed by grades, cross-breeds, Angus and Shorthorn champions and finally came out victorious with the royal purple, symbolic grand championship honors.

Clarence's steer, Dick, a purebred Hereford, was calved July 2, 1927, and is the progeny of Master Repeater 1386115 and Betty Dora 1237436. Both sire and dam are owned by Clarence's father, Fred C. Goecke. This is the second year that the new master feeder has exhibited stock.

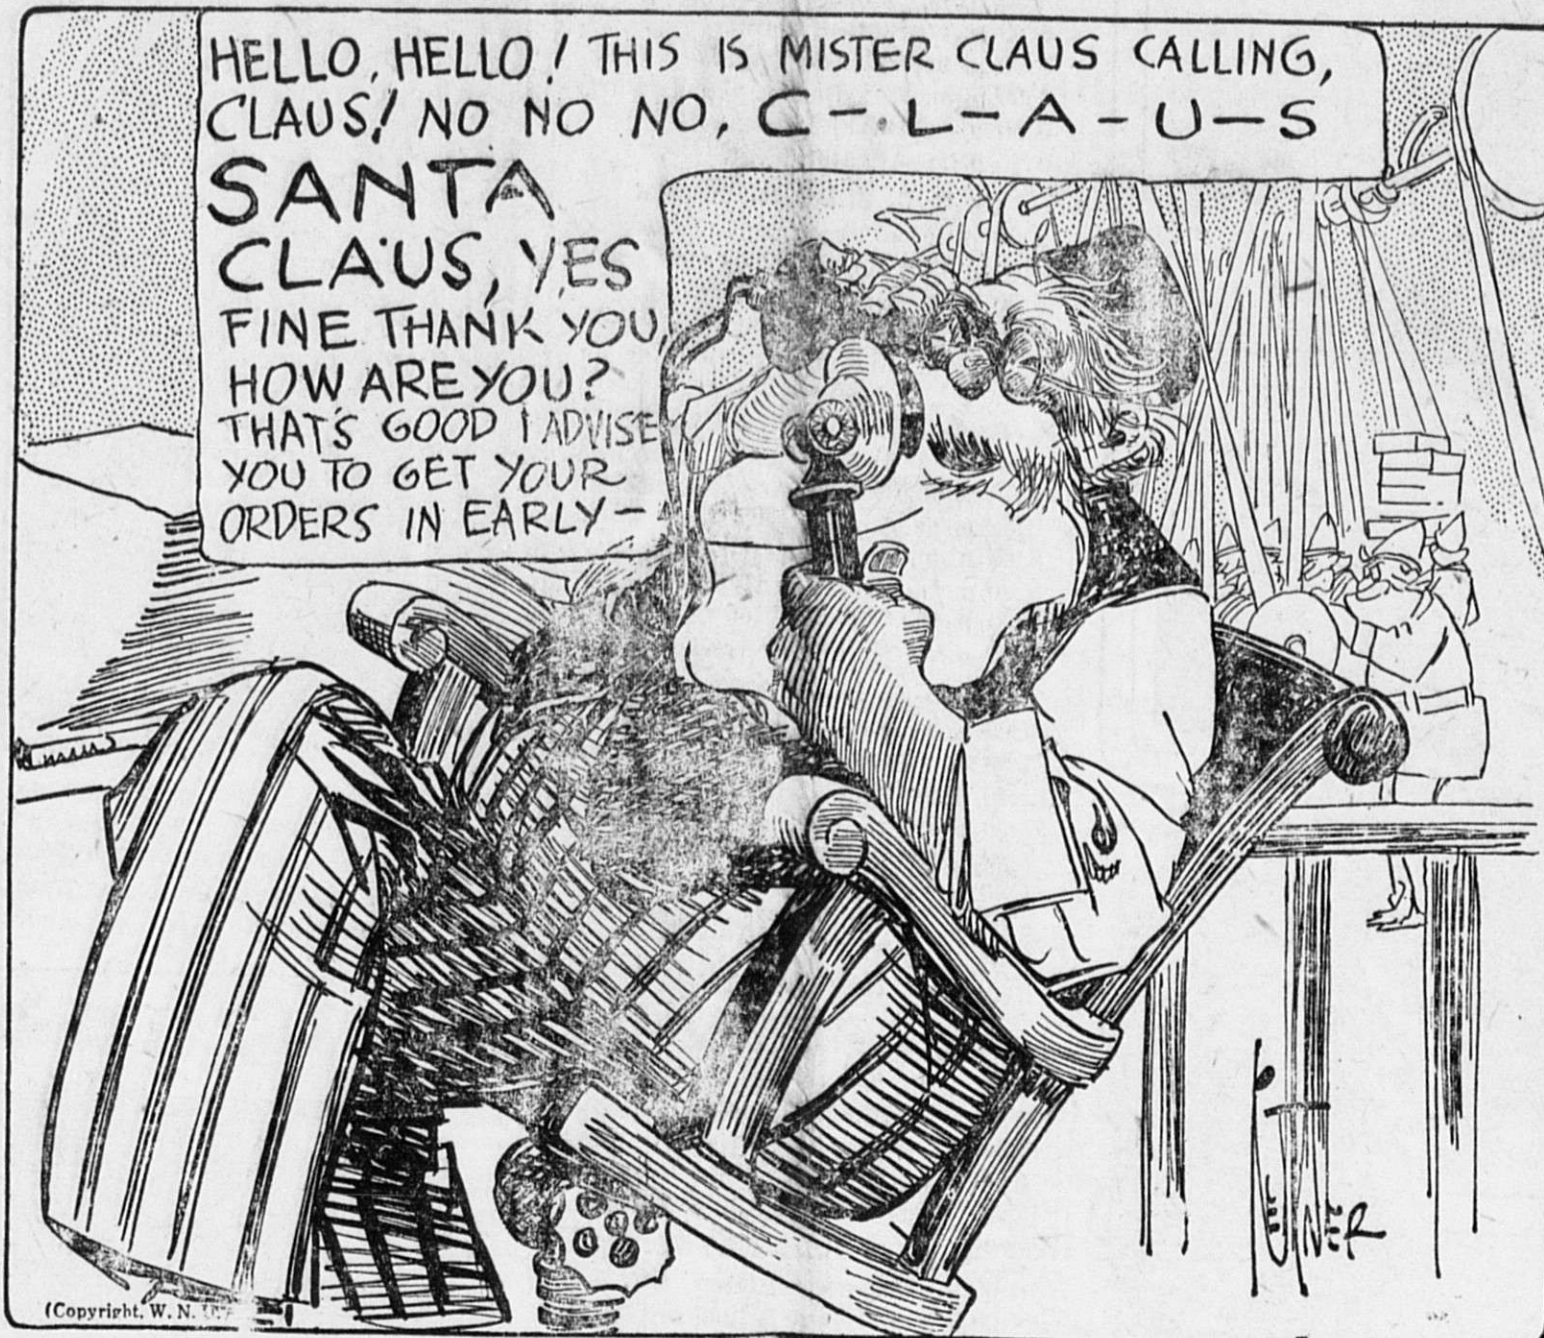

Dick was first shown at Marshall County (Iowa) Fair at which show he was awarded grand championship honors. Later he went to the Iowa State Fair where in much keener competition he won third place. He was then taken home where the rough spots were polished off on a ration of corn, barley, oats, bran, oil meal, molasses feed and clover hay. This combination of feeds proved the right ration to fit him for his place in the livestock hall of fame. Since June 1 he was fed three times a day. His daily gain since birth was 2.34 lbs.

CARD OF THANKS
We desire to thank those who so kindly assisted us during our recent bereavement, also especially Mr. and Mrs. Charles Groff for their kind hospitality, and the Isosco County Normal for the beautiful flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lickfeldt, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lickfeldt, Mr. and Mrs. John Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Thornton.

NOTICE TO RURAL ROUTE PATRONS
Patrons on rural mail routes should not forget to mark all packages "Mailed on Rural Route."

Santa's Calling

THOMAS DAVISON

Thomas Davison, highly esteemed resident of this city, died early Thursday morning at his home here. Mr. Davison had been a resident of the county for over 55 years. In the early days he had been engaged in the lumbering business and for many years had been employed by C. H. Prescott & Sons.

The deceased had been ill about a week with influenza. Cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of death.

Thomas Davison was born in 1854 in the county of Grey, Ontario, Canada. He came to Isosco county as a young man. He was united in marriage May 26, 1879 to Julia Conover.

He is survived by the wife, three brothers, Jas. Davison of Detroit, Samuel Davison of Chesley, Ont., and Judge Davison of this city and three sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Carson of Owen Sound, Ont., Mrs. Jane Daniels and Mrs. Elizabeth Watson of Paisley, Ont.

The funeral services will be held from the home at two o'clock Saturday afternoon.

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

The 1929 auto license plates are now on sale at my office in the court house, Tawas City, and in order to give you the best service possible we ask you to get a blank application from any of the garages, oil stations or banks and have same filled out and ready to present with Certificate of Title. We are not paid for making these out and not required to do this service and will not be able to do so during the rush. Office will be open every week day "except legal holidays" until 5:30 o'clock. If applicants will observe the above, it will expedite the service we try to render you.

Frank F. Taylor, Branch Manager, Secretary of State.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, who passed away one year ago, December 13, 1927.

"If roses bloomed
And warm rains fell
Above your narrow bed,
If south winds sighed
Sweet lullabies
Above your sleeping head,
'Twould seem more kind,
Dear heart of mine,
Though you are dead.
The cold winds blow,
The snows pile high,
A drifted pall of dread.
The bleak moon shines,
The winter whines
Above your lowly bed—
So cold, so cold,
Dear heart of mine—
And you are dead.
John Miller and Children.

SCHOOL NOTES

High School

School will close Friday, December 21, for the holiday vacation, and will resume Wednesday, January 2. All departments are preparing Christmas programs for Friday afternoon.

Three members of the class in public speaking, Dorothy Bigelow, Elvera Kasichke and Herbert Wendt, presented a dramatization of O. Henry's short story, "The Third Ingredient," Wednesday afternoon before the assembly of the high school and grammar room students. The dramatization was secured by all members of the class writing one, and presenting a combination of the two written by the above named young ladies.

We desire again to call attention to the Tuberculosis Christmas seal sale that is being conducted by the pupils of the public and Lutheran schools. Any room which sells five hundred seals will receive a health game from the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. The Christmas Seal has become an annual institution, and affords an opportunity for all to help in the fight against disease and poverty. Remember, that this sale is the only method by which an organization secures funds by which to carry on its noble work. Inasmuch as the power of the Christmas Seal penetrates deeply into human life and happiness, all of us should be more than willing to purchase liberally of the pupils.

Two members of the class of 1928, Martin Schlechte and R. B. Heath, were high school visitors Tuesday afternoon. We are always particularly glad to see our alumni.

Seventh and Eighth Grades
The pupils have been busy selling tuberculosis stamps. John Brugg'er sold more than any other person and altogether there have been nearly seven hundred sold.

Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Mark visited us Tuesday afternoon.

We were invited upstairs the last period Wednesday afternoon to see a play which was put on by the dramatic class.

Ernestine Cecil has been absent for over a week because of illness.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
Elmer Cary entered the sixth grade Monday morning. Our total enrollment is now forty-four.

We are planning a short program for our Christmas entertainment.

Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Jas. Mark visited our room Tuesday.

Nelda Mueller and Hugo Keiser were chosen as captains for the Christmas seal selling contest. Hugo's crew reached the straits first. We have sold five hundred seals. George Tuttle, having sold more than any other person, won the button.

We have eleven stars on our P. T. A. chart. The pupils who received them were: Jean Robinson, Bobby Mark, George Tuttle, Doris Brugg'er, Lawrence Daley, Richard

18-YEAR-OLD BOY

DIES AFTER APPENDICITIS OPERATION

Charles, 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brazinski of this city, died Wednesday morning at Samaritan hospital, Bay City, after an operation for appendicitis. The deceased had been ill for about two weeks.

The funeral services will be held Saturday morning from St. Joseph's church, East Tawas. Rev. E. A. Brogger will officiate.

BUREAU EXECUTIVES TO MEET AT WEST BRANCH

The executive committee of the NorthEastern Michigan Development Bureau will hold a meeting at West Branch, December 19, to plan its activities for the coming year in the way of recreational and agricultural publicity and advertising and other business. A number of projects planned for the year, affecting agriculture, will receive attention at this meeting.

It is expected that approximately 50 will be present at the West Branch meeting which will be held at noon. Members of the Development Bureau in Ogemaw County and supervisors of Ogemaw County have been invited to attend the meeting and to participate in the discussions.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

A certificate of nursery inspection from the Department of Agriculture must be procured before Christmas trees are cut or transported. Also a bill of sale must be made out by the owner of the land whereon the trees are cut.

Anyone found cutting or transporting trees without these papers is subject to arrest under the Conservation laws.

John Martindale,
District Conservation Officer,
District No. 10.

King, Ray Cox, Jessie King, Marvin Mallon and Annie Metcalf.

Primary

Keith Lovejoy, Irene Ulman and Anna Louise Burr had perfect in spelling this week.

The first and second grades are reading Christmas stories.

We have a Christmas scene in the sand table.

Keith Lovejoy and Charles Cecil were our captains for selling the Christmas seals. Six hundred were sold. Charles won by a very few.

Ward School
Our perfect spellers last week were Lucille DePotty, Frank Sims, Myrton Leslie, Junior Gustafson, Ewen Malcolm and Herbert Cox.

We were glad to have Mrs. Gustafson and Lois visit school Tuesday afternoon.

In our Christmas seal sale, the two teams were tied. Myrton Leslie is wearing the pin this week for having made the greatest number of sales.

Francis Murray has returned from Detroit.

STOLEN BONDS

$27750 VALUE FOUND AT HALE

Bonds amounting to $27,750, keys to the Midland postoffice and $10 in postal savings were found Monday at Hale. The bonds had been taken from the Midland postoffice and postal savings certificates and the keys were the personal property of Postmaster W. C. Thompson of Midland. The bonds were discovered through the investigation of a postoffice receipt found on the person of Laurin D. Murphy, a 22 year old tailor, who is in the Bay County jail on two charges of breaking and entering the World's Star Knitting company plant and the Standard Oil company plant at Bay City. The receipt indicated that a package had been shipped by L. D. Boyer at Ann Arbor to R. Boyer at Hale.

Sheriff Chas. Curry went to Hale Monday and found that the consigner, Robert Boyer, had received the package, which was a traveling bag. The bag was unopened and Mr. Boyer was not implicated in the matter. He said he had known Mr. Murphy for some time and that he had been a frequent visitor.

The bag was taken to Bay City by officers from that place where it was opened and the missing bonds were discovered.

IOSCO SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Oscoda M. E. school reports a Cradle Roll organized.

Announcement is made of the organization of a men's class in the East Tawas M. E. school. W. A. Evans is president and Jas. Ford secretary-treasurer of this Baraca class.

An article in the last issue of the Michigan Sunday School Advance refers to the "big achievement in splendid service rendered" in our county the past year, and closes with the words "Well done, Isosco!"

Mrs. Jno. Mortenson, secretary, has just compiled the annual report of the executive committee. Some interesting statistics are noted—36% of Isosco county's population is enrolled in Sunday school, which number includes 150 Cradle Roll babies; 451 children, aged four to 11; 374 young people; 425 adults.

The total enrollment of our 21 schools is 1400, the average attendance 787. Twenty were added to the church from Sunday schools in the past year. Compared with the 1927 report, every department shows an increase. 1184 was the total enrollment reported in 1927, and the average attendance was 664. Shall we make the 1929 report better? We can do it! Are you ready? "The Best" is none too good for the Sunday schools of Isosco.

TAWAS CITY F. & A. M.
ELECTS OFFICERS

At the annual meeting of Tawas City Lodge No. 302, F. & A. M., held Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected:

Master—Jas. F. Mark.
Senior Warden—Grant Curtis.
Junior Warden—Alfred Boomer.
Secretary—John King.
Treasurer—F. F. Taylor.
Senior Deacon—Chas. Beardslee.
Junior Deacon—Buryl Hughes.

"FAZIL" COMING WITH NISSEN AND FARRELL

"Fazil," a Fox picture featuring Charles Farrell and Greta Nissen, will be shown at the State Theatre Sunday and Monday, December 16 and 17.

The picture is described as a romance of Arab and the Paris boulevards, based on the Continental stage success, "L'Insoumise," by Pierre Frondaie. In his role of Arabian prince the story takes Farrell through Parisian night clubs, Venetian canals, and Oriental harems. Greta Nissen portrays a Paris society girl. The principal theme is the conflict of Oriental and Occidental standards of domestic morality. It was directed by Howard Hawks, who produced the romantic film, "Paid to Love."

MONUMENTS
Now is the time to select the design you wish erected next spring. We will have it ready in ample time for Memorial Day.

BIRT FOWLER.

The Christmas Glow

By M. T. SUDDITH, in New York Times

THERE'S a glow in the air, a stir in the street, that comes but once in a year, There's a tone in the voice of friends you greet
That echoes of hope and cheer, And the feet-footed days hasten on to the time
When, glowing in dawning skies, The gladdest of days and most sublime, The Christmas morn shall rise.

Each shop and each store of the throng filled mart
Its choicest treasures displays And each to the brightness adds its part Of the greatest of all the year's days.
And the eager crowds as they move along A festive scene supply,
For joy in each heart is pulsing strong, The joy of Christmas night!

In the windows the holly wreaths of green With berries red appear,
And even the air seems more serene As though it were listening to hear That wondrous oratorio
On that first Christmas night, As angels sang in the long ago
When Bethlehem's star shone bright.

The Word "Carol"

The word "carol" was originally applied to ring dances of children, accompanied by singing. In time the word came to denote a lively tune suggestive of dancing. Christmas was universally recognized as a time for merry as well as religious songs and so in the carols sung at this season religious facts were alluded to in simple phrases and sung to merry dancing tunes.

In Safe Keeping

"Are you fond of toffee?" asked the little mite, of a lady who was assisting at Christmas party.
"No thank you, my dear."
"Then will you look after this for me, please?"—Montreal Herald.

Variety for the Menu

This will be my Christmas shopping week with R-Grocer.

I have to get more dates this week, too. The children like them so, that they get after me if I don't have some around. And do you know, they say that six medium sized dates furnish as much working force as a large potato, or three half-inch slices of bread? And they're rich in iron and other minerals, too, and really should have a place in the diet of growing children for that reason alone.

I vary their use of course. One nice recipe that I have is for a date pudding, made with bread crumbs and steamed. It's positively delicious, served with a simple lemon sauce.

Christmas Discount

By Edith Minner

FIVE hundred children, without a toy, have volunteered to give up Christmas this year.

Harriette Dunham laughed. She would smash that resolution. Twenty years before Harriette had parted from her lover because she devoted more time to children's Christmas trees than to him. A jealous boy, Wilbur Adams. Her loss had caused her bitter sorrow and resulted in her moving far away from her former home. Yet she had never ceased Christmas charities. Only, as the common ending to love stories—"Married and lived happily ever after"—proved not to be hers, the objects of her care had grown old in company with her.

Today she was enroute to the city, her one regret a scanty purse.

Her first call was at the Red Cross. "We've fed and blanketed," said the secretary; "toys are out of our line. Go and see the Wanda shop manager."

"I'd never dare!"

But he rallied her on until she was forced to obey his suggestion.

The Wanda was the smartest shop in town. Once she saw the counters of magnificent toys and beautiful books she got frightened and was about to slip away to the 5-and-10, where she would feel less conscious of her thin purse, when a courteous clerk insisted on serving her, and before she thought Harriette had asked for the manager. She expected nothing less than to be turned down, perhaps politely, anyhow certainly. However, she was escorted to a mezzanine, where an attendant took her name to a man behind a screen. A moment's silence, then the clerk reappeared, saying "The manager is too busy to see any one, but if you state your message he can hear you."

In an agony of nervousness Harriette produced the sad message, told of her trifling fund, "and could he, in consideration of the cause, let her make a few purchases of picture books and toys, and help it to go further by making prices wholesale?" While she spoke she was conscious of making a silly appearance with such small trade in a great establishment and was hardly surprised at being stopped by a roar.

"Wholesale prices? Never give anything of the sort."

Tears sprang to Harriette's eyes; not from disappointment, but because of his brutality. Miss Dunham was sometimes snubbed, but no one had ever roared at her before. Apologizing, she trembling turned to go, but was halted by another roar.

"Here—tell Miss Dunham not to be in such a hurry. Take her to the toys, and have her select what she wants. Every dollar she spends, I'll match with ten dollars."

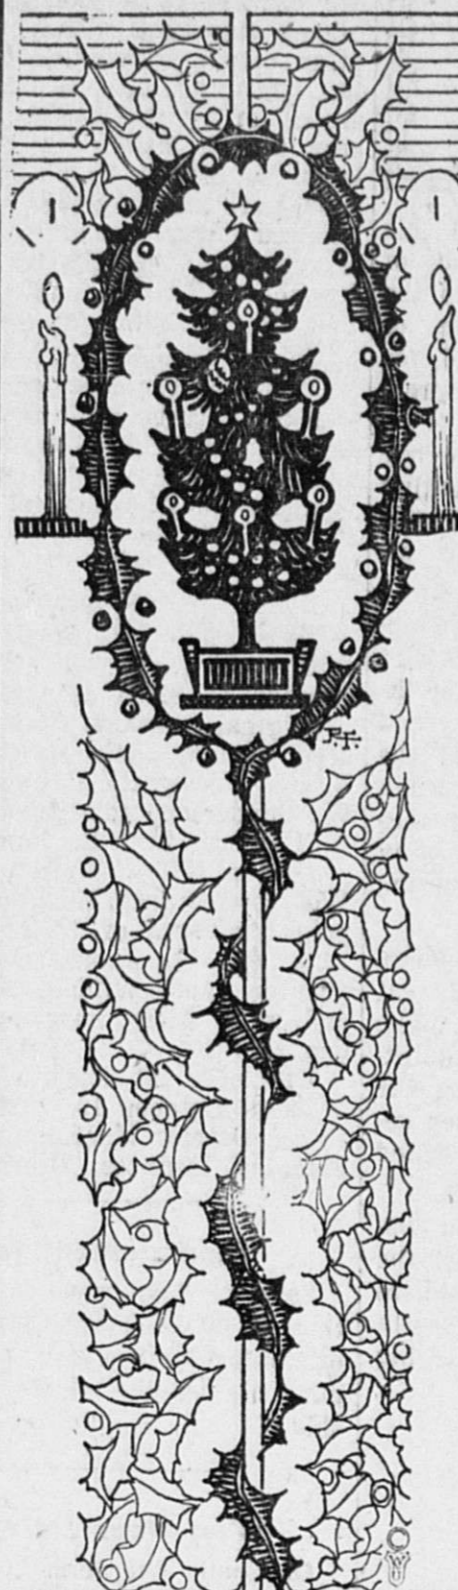

A door slammed, and silence ensued. In the toy department Miss Dunham felt like a little girl given her every wish by a fairy. Aided by the manager's liberality the box was a wonder. And, as Harriette floated ecstatically to the door behind, the manager was there—still growling!

But his words, "Harriette, look at me," caused her to raise her modest eyes, and understand why he had needed time for reflection before meeting her. He was none other than her old lover—Wilbur Adams. Twenty years—she was still Miss Dunham—he was still a bachelor. A few words proved that her future best charity would be decking his Christmas trees. And Harriette's romance thus ended the correct way—"So they were married and lived happily ever after."

Preparation of Adobe

Adobe may be made from any material which becomes hardened on exposure to the sun. The process of baking consists in first exposing the molded bricks to the direct rays of the sun for a day, and then turning them, exposing different faces for from seven to fourteen days. A New Story of the First Christmas Tree

BY Florence Harris Wells

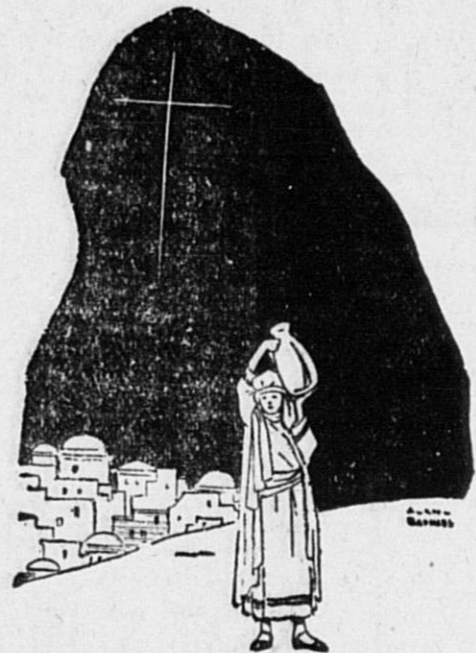

LITTLE boy slipped his hand into the hand of Christ on His way to the cross and the Man of Galilee was comforted, for He loved little children, you remember.

He asked the little boy if he would do something for Him, telling the child that it was something for all children, for all time. He wanted him to do.

All eagerness, the little fellow gladly agreed; and then Jesus knelt and whispered to him. Immediately the little hand waved a hurried good-by and the boy turned and ran out of the city. On he went until he entered a dense wood. Soon the sound of axes came to his ears and he followed in the direction from whence came the sound.

Through the trees he saw soldiers chopping into a great tree. He sat down and waited. Chips flew. The tree wavered and fell. The men quickly cut off the branches, leaving the trunk naked and bare; then they selected a smaller tree and deftly felled that.

As the little tree fell the child cautiously snatched something from the topmost branch and then the soldiers stripped the little tree bare. Silently they bound it crosswise to the big tree and dragged it out of the wood, never noticing the little boy when he followed.

Up the hills to Golgotha went the little boy and because he was so little and had walked so far he fell asleep. He awakened and saw friends take from the cross the body of the Master, wrap it in linen and carry it away.

No one saw the little boy, so silent and so quiet as he went about his task. He knelt and opened his clenched hand above the hole in the ground where the cross had stood and sifted loose earth until the hole was filled, patting the place gently.

Every day for a long time the boy brought a jar of water up the hill.

The first tiny, green shoot had grown into a small tree and the child was no longer a child; on the twenty-fifth of December he called all the children of the city to follow him to Golgotha.

"Listen, children," he said. "This is Christ's tree. The seed was taken from the tree from which His cross was made. He said the leaves would be like thorns, only soft and harmless, and each twig would be formed into a cross, and it is even so. It is your tree, given you for Christ's birthday, Christ's tree for Christmas day—the Christmas tree."

CHRISTMAS REUNION
Gatherine Gideman

WITH a loud grinding of brakes the long line of cars came to a stop at the little station. Then Eleanor Blake stepped swiftly to the platform: "Won't they be surprised?" she whispered happily to herself. "And what a Christmas we're to have."

She waited long enough to see her several pieces of baggage on the way, then with swift steps she tripped through a familiar street. A gay little tune was on her lips as she turned the corner, but it died hurriedly as her old home came into view. "Why—why, the house is almost dark," she thought; "something must have happened. Mother always kept so many lights going at Christmas."

Her pace increased to a run as consternation took hold of her. Then she found herself pushing the bell and knocking on the door at the same time. In her anxiety, it seemed ages before there was any response, then she heard footsteps, and in another moment, her father's voice:

"Why, daughter, daughter!" the old voice was almost broken. "Oh, thank God that you have come! Mother will be so happy."

With quick steps she ran toward the little bedroom at the end of the hall.

Preparing the Christmas Dinner.

Then she learned the reason for the absence of light and cheer in the house. Her mother was ill.

It was good to see the joy that lit up her face as Eleanor bent over the bed and kissed her lovingly.

It was not long before Eleanor learned that the real cause of her mother's illness was the longing to see her, and the fact that she had failed to write during the past weeks.

Then Eleanor told them the secret that she had been keeping until this happy moment—the thing that had kept her from writing to them. She had been promoted to one of the most responsible positions in the advertising office where she was employed. Both of the old people gasped when she told them of the big advance in salary. But their joy was multiplied when Eleanor assured them that it would mean a little car for her and a visit home every week-end. "And mother," she whispered, "you can be sure that nothing will keep me from writing you often, but—but I wanted to tell you in person and I was afraid if I wrote that I would be tempted to tell you in my letter. And I did so want to come and tell you like this."

It has been demonstrated many times through the years that happiness is one of the best healers known, but never so forcibly before as it was that evening. For inside of an hour the happy trio were downstairs decking out a big Christmas tree. Mother had insisted that she was well enough to go down and help. "Why, I feel like I could cook a big turkey dinner tomorrow," she said happily. "My, but the house looks cheerful now since you put up all those decorations, Eleanor. I—I didn't have the heart to bring them down from the attic this year. I never thought you were coming."

Next day mother was not allowed to cook the big turkey, and the other good things that go to make up a real Christmas dinner. And mother and father boasted to the guests whom they had invited in to share the feast with them, that a business woman can be a good cook, too.

And later on mother admitted that never, even in her best days, had she done such a good job of decorating and lighting the little home as Eleanor had accomplished.

COUNTY NORMAL NOTES

The Normal has closed its first term's work. Hygiene, geography, psychology have replaced technique, word study and English. The Normal magazine campaign has closed. The Reds defeated the Blues and a party in their honor will be given in the near future.

The basketball teams played Turner on Friday, November 23, and the boys brought home their first victory with a score of 16 to 32. The girls played Whittemore Friday, December 7, but were defeated. The team's meet Standish Normal on Friday, December 14.

United States Holidays

There are no general national holidays decreed by federal law. Such federal laws apply only in territory where there is no state government. All holidays are decreed by state laws.

Who Knows

We often speak impatiently of the interruptions that hinder our work, but in our shortsightedness we may be sadly mistaking values. It well may be that the few minutes we give to helping or cheering another is the most important work of our whole day.

Eggs Used in Diet

In the average of several hundred dietary studies in American families eggs furnished 2 per cent of the total foods, 4 per cent of the total protein and 3 per cent of the total fat used per man per day.

Osteopathy

The principles of osteopathy were first discovered and formulated in 1874 by Dr. Andrew T. Still, a physician of Baldwin, Kan. The first college of osteopathy was opened at Kirksville, Mo., in 1892.
