REP. HOLBECK EXPLAINS NEW SCHOOL BILL

State Representative Fred C. Holbeck, in a communication to the Tawas Herald relative to the Turner Bill, said:

Below you will find a list of the school districts in Isosco county, also the amount of money each will receive this year under the Turner Bill. This is your share of the two million dollars set aside to help the poorer schools of the state.

AuSable, Nos. 1 and 2.....	$ 34.15
Burleigh, No. 2.....	2561.54
Burleigh, No. 4.....	66.33
East Tawas.....	7744.13
Reno, No. 1.....	261.30
Reno, No. 3.....	100.50
Tawas, No. 3.....	33.77
Tawas, No. 9.....	1410.00
Tawas City.....	5193.00

Total for County$17404.72

If by any chance your school is not listed don't feel badly, but congratulate yourself and your school officers on their ability to run the school on an economical basis. Only those schools in which the school tax exceeded ten dollars on a thousand and of assessed valuation came under the act.

The moneys received from this bill are in addition to the primary school money annually received from the state and represent an effort on the part of the state to equalize the burden of education which I maintain should be a state rather than a local obligation.

The amount that the different counties will receive under the Turner Bill will in many cases equal the amount paid the state in the way of a state tax.

I worked harder on this bill than on any other measure that went through the legislature, with the possible exception of the Drainage Resolution, and I hope that the application of this measure will affect an immediate lowering of school taxes in many districts. However, I want to give a little word of warning. If the bill does not accomplish this purpose it will not long remain on the books. And if this money is not used in a manner so that the taxpayers will directly benefit, then it will have failed in its purpose and will be repealed. In other words, the benefits of this bill should be reflected in a lower school tax rate this year. I was told in Lansing last week that payments under this bill would be made some time during March. So that the school officers could take same into consideration when making up their budget for the coming year.

ZELLMER-BUCH

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Evangelical Lutheran church north of Elysian on Thursday, January 30, at 1 p. m., when Mildred Arlette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Zellmer, became the bride of Albert H. Buch of Tawas City, Michigan. Rev. C. Albrecht performed the ceremony, the ring service being used. Miss Coriula Klanke was maid of honor and the Misses Loretta Dehn, Vera Wetzel and Agnes Werth bridesmaids. Glen Zellmer was best man. Nelmar Zellmer and Leroy Raedecke were attendants. Betty Ehlen and Lucille Zellmer were flower girls.

The bride wore a white satin gown. Her veil and headdress were trimmed with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of pale pink roses. The maid of honor wore a shell pink crepe de chene dress and carried a bouquet of carnations. The bridesmaids wore Nile green crepe de chene dresses, and the flower girls wore white satin dresses. The bride was given away by her father. The bridal party marched into church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. A quartette consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Zellmer, Mrs. A. Klanke and H. Ehlen, Mrs. Ehlen assisting at the organ, rendered a song. While the service was read Mr. Ehlen played softly on the organ. The rooms were decorated in a color scheme of pink and white.

A six o'clock dinner was served at the home of the bride, thirty guests being present. In the evening a shower was given in honor of the bride, about seventy-five people attending. The young couple received many useful gifts.

The young couple will go on a wedding trip, visiting different parts of Minnesota, Chicago, and points in Southern Michigan. They will be at home to their friends after February 15th at Tawas City, Michigan. The Enterprise joins with many friends in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Buch of Tawas City, parents of the groom, attended the wedding. The Elysian (Minnesota) Enterprise.

SPONSORS TWO-DAYS RELIGIOUS MEET PROGRAM

On February 8th and 9th various religious gatherings throughout the county were sponsored by the Isosco Council of Religious Education.

Saturday, February 8th, the third annual Youth Conference met at the East Tawas, M. E. church. During the morning business session the following officers were elected by the Young People's Council: President, Dorothy Bigelow, Tawas City; Vice-President, Ruth Schuster, Whittemore; Secretary, Stanley Rescoe, Alabaster; Treasurer, Fred Wilson, East Tawas.

Following the afternoon devotionals and singing of the conference hymn, "Follow the Gleam," Rev. E. W. Halpenney of Lansing addressed the delegates on "The Need for Creative Leadership in Our Churches." He said, "Preparation of myself to become a dynamic personality is the greatest challenge I face." "Service for God and humanity never becomes dynamic nor saving until it becomes sacrificial."

At the close of Rev. Halpenney's address, the delegates divided into the various group conferences. Under Rev. Halpenney's leadership, the older young people discussed such questions as, "How can I show a friend the Christian life?" "What shall we do with the old folk?" "Why I am proud or ashamed of the church's history"; "Why it is hard for some young folks to be Christians."

Under the direction of Mrs. W. C. Davidson of Tawas City, the younger folk enjoyed a worship service and story hour. Mrs. Victoria Nye of Rose City very ably directed the discussion of the leaders' group. Special emphasis was placed upon recreation. Campfire work, prayer, trained church school teachers, organized classes, graded lessons and enforcement of Michigan's anti-cigarette law.

ANOTHER STATE CHAMPION FOR SERRADELLA FARM

In the 1929 State Honor Roll, Serradella Sylvary 906000 is reported as state champion for milk production with a record of 1202.5 lbs. of milk for the 305 day division at 3 1/2 years of age. She is also placed as first for fat for the year in the same division.

Serradella Farm is represented with four head in the State Honor Roll for fat in the 10 month division. These include Doreess Canary Rag Apple with 2383.4 lbs. milk, 1029.6 lbs. fat, highest aged cow for fat.

Serradella Sylvary, the above mentioned state champion for milk, was first for fat in her class with 793.1 lbs. butter as a Senior 3 year old. Serradella Colantha Fobes holds the state record for butter in the 305 and 365 day divisions as a Junior 2 year old. She has 782.0 lbs. butter in the 10 months division and 896.3 lbs. in the yearly division.

Serradella Martha was third highest for butter in the 10 month division as a Senior 4 year old. Doreess Canary Rag Apple and Serradella Sylvary were both the highest milk producers in their respective classes in the 10 months division reported in Volume 40, Blue Book for the testing year 1928-29.

The Serradella herd is the only herd in the state headed by a Silver Medal herd sire.

SCHOOL NOTES

High School

Friday evening the Freshmen class entertained the Sophomores with a Valentine party, held at the high school. The seats were removed from the English room and there the boys and girls enjoyed many new games apropos to Valentine's Day. Later in the evening a delicious lunch was served.

Friday of next week the declamatory contest will be held in the high school auditorium. We are fortunate in having secured the services of Rev. Metcalf, Mrs. L. H. Braddock, and Mrs. C. F. Smith as judges. We hope that we may have the support of the parents as their attendance increases the interest of the pupils in the contest.

The boys' and girls' Glee Clubs have begun work on the operetta, Daughters of Mohammed.

Wednesday afternoon the pupils in the high school gave the following program in honor of Abraham Lincoln's birthday: America. Students of the high school; Why We Celebrate Lincoln's Birthday. Beulah Hilts; Lincoln's Boyhood. Myrna Sommerfeld; Lincoln's Education. Elvera Kasischke; Lincoln. As a Young Man. Charles Robinson; Lincoln, the President. James Mark; The Assassination of Lincoln. MYSTERY PLAY AT STATE

TONIGHT AND TOMORROW Grim shadows, a ghost seance and a swartlike criminal figures in a swirling London fog are woven together into a maze of excitement in "The Unholy Night," taken from Ben Hecht's latest thriller, "The Doomed Regiment," and filmed as an all talking mystery drama by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which will be shown at the State Theatre tonight and Saturday.

The new story is a mystery in which a group of army officers are menaced in London, and each falls under suspicion in a weird plot. Lionel Barrymore directed the play with a notable cast that includes Roland Young, famous stage star, Ernest Torrence, Dorothy Sebastian, Claude Fleming, Natalie Moorhead, Richard Tucker, Richard Travers, John Loder, John Roche, John Miljan, Lionel Belmore, Gerald Barry, Phillip Strange, and others of note.

The drama is laid entirely in London, and strange sound effects and ghostly illusions add to the thrilling details of the mysterious play.

MASONS TO GIVE MINSTREL SHOW FEBRUARY 18-19

The cast of the Masonic Minstrels is all ready to go and indications are that fun will be the order of the evening at the State Theatre next Tuesday and at the Community Building next Wednesday.

The end men, Lawrence Gardner, Roy DePotty, Harlow Hennigar, Frank Dease, Squire Wood and Jim Mark, have their songs and jokes all ready.

Dave Bergeron is going to be a first-class master of ceremonies. The soloists, Rev. C. E. Edinger, N. W. Salsbery, Norman Merschel and W. H. Fitzhugh, are ready with their straight solos. And Miss Huh-tala is sure there as an accompanist.

The chorus has been practicing twice a week for several weeks and is in fine shape. The olio characters have their several parts perfected and will keep the audience happy for the second part of the show.

Novel costumes and decorations are being used and will add greatly to the enjoyment.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

The Twentieth Century Club met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Watts February 8. The meeting was called to order by the president Mrs. Braddock. After a short business session the following program was given:

"The History and Use of the Drama" by Mrs. Alice Curry. This was a very interesting paper and Mrs. Curry explained very clearly the development and use of the drama from the earlier times to the present day.

The club had the pleasure of listening to Mr. Osgerby, who gave a splendid talk on "The Worth of a Person." Are we too ready to give the worth of a person according to their wealth rather than according to the services they have rendered? Mr. Osgerby gave many splendid illustrations of the real worth of people, and the great value of a real-human interest in one another.

The program was concluded by the singing of "America" by the club. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Rose Watts.

On February 15 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Stephen Ferguson. Election of officers will be the business of the day. Roll call—Current events.

BOY SCOUTS

This month is the twentieth birthday of the Boy Scout movement in America. Since the organization of the scouts in America, 4,000,000 boys have joined. On Friday evening our troop will celebrate this movement with a ride and weiner roast.

We had lots of fun last Monday evening trying to make fire by friction, and when the boy got the fire he found he did not need it, for he was in a bath of perspiration.

Mr. Rutterbush is helping some of the boys in drills.

All the boys are busy with their contest work. We compete with the East Tawas scouts on the 28th. Watch us.

Mrs. Arthur White of Prescott and mother, Mrs. Robinson, spent Monday with their sister and daughter, Mrs. Chas. Beardslee.

HEALTH BOARD HOLDS INITIAL MEETING HERE

The first meeting of Consolidated District No. 2, Board of Health, was held February 7, at the Court House, Tawas City.

The Board of Health is composed of the following members: Ogemaw County—W. A. Babcock of West Branch, H. S. Karcher of Rose City; Alcona County—Dr. A. R. Miller of Harrisville, S. Clemens of Harrisville, C. Potoni of Black River; Isosco County—E. Grego of Hale R. D. C. L. McLean of Tawas City, M. S. Loffman of East Tawas.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. F. T. Zieske at 2:15 p. m. with the following present: H. S. Karcher, A. R. Babcock, Dr. A. R. Miller, G. R. Emrick, C. L. McLean, M. S. Loffman.

A motion was made by Dr. A. R. Miller and supported by A. R. Babcock that H. S. Karcher be elected Chairman of the Board of Health. The motion carried and Mr. Karcher took charge of the meeting.

The law was then read by Dr. Zieske covering the union of two or more counties in a consolidated Health Department. A motion was made by Mr. Babcock and supported by Mr. McLean that Dr. F. T. Zieske be appointed Health Officer of Consolidated District No. 2. The motion carried.

On the recommendation of Mr. Karcher, the following ordinance was drawn up and presented for discussion:

1. That all communicable diseases shall be reported to the Health Officer of Consolidated District No. 2, Health Department, at West Branch within twenty-four hours of its diagnosis or suspicion and the communicable disease law as laid down by the Michigan Department of Health shall be carried out and enforced by the Health Officer.

2. That copies of all birth and death certificates shall be forwarded to the District Health Officer at the end of each week for proper inspection and tabulation, who in turn will forward them to the clerk of the respective counties.

It was moved by Dr. A. R. Miller and supported by Mr. Loffman that the above ordinance be adopted. The motion carried.

A discussion of the duties of the Health Officer and his associates was brought forward by Dr. Miller. Dr. Zieske then read the duties as outlined in Sec. 5091, C. L. 1915. Sec. 1 it was generally accepted that the new department would automatically relieve the township Health Officer of his authority, and public health matters would be dealt with by the said department.

It was moved by Dr. Miller and supported by Mr. Babcock that the Board of Health should meet every three months in each county by rotation and that the next meeting be held in West Branch on the first Tuesday in April. The present meeting to be counted as the January meeting. The motion carried.

It was left to the Health Officer who acts as secretary to the board also, to notify the members of the Board of Health any addition to the department. It was left to the Health Officer to notify Dr. Guy L. Kiefer, State Health Commissioner of Michigan, of the organization and request his approval.

At 2:50 p. m. a motion was made by Mr. Babcock to adjourn. This was supported by Mr. Loffman. The motion carried.

The next meeting is to be held in April as stated, except in the case of emergencies, when a special meeting is deemed necessary by the department.

JOHN GILBERT HAS DISTINCTIVE ROLE

Turning abruptly from grim drama, Lionel Barrymore and John Gilbert delve into sparkling comedy for the joining of their talents in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer dialogue feature, "His Glorious Night," which will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre.

This new Gilbert starring vehicle with Barrymore at the directorial helm, is a distinct departure from recent films in which they have participated separately. Gilbert's last pictures having been "Desert Nights" and "A Woman of Affairs," and Barrymore having directed "Madame X" and "The Unholy Night."

"His Glorious Night," a screen adaptation of the noted Ferns Molnar stage play, "Olympia," which captivated audiences throughout a London season and a season in New York, brings Gilbert under Barrymore's direction for the first time, with the exception of a light skit they made with Norma Shearer for "The Hollywood Revue." It also marks Barrymore's first essay at the direction of a feature length comedy drama, "Madame X" having been grim tragedy and "The Unholy Night" a mystery play.

Katherine Dale Owen, a New York stage star, noted for her work in "The Whole Town's Talking," "White Collars" and "Bootleggers," plays opposite Gilbert in the leading feminine role. Others in the cast are Hedda Hopper, Nance O'Neil, Doris Hill, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Richard Carle, Youcca Troubetzkoy and Tyrrell Davis.

"Right! Entirely right," agreed Joshua, taking the petition at last. "There ought to be a watchman outside. If there is, tell him I wish the governor to wait upon us. He may assure his excellency 'tis of supreme importance."

Fellowes was heartsick over the situation. Manifestly, Joshua was in no disposition to show mercy; and so soon as the governor came the wheels of justice would commence to grind: deposition, indictment, testimony, affidavit, summation, charge, all leading up to the inevitable verdict—and sentence. And he could do nothing, merely sit and view the tragedy, which was the consequence of his own deeds. Himself, as he had said to Cara, the real executioner.

Joshua had just finished reading the petition to Lord Liverpool. The paper trembled in the merchant's hand; he glared triumphantly at his brother and niece, but he quickly looked away from Cara. Not easy, even for so stout a hater as Joshua Ingelplein, to enjoy gloating over the frail gallantry of that slim figure in the saffron-yellow gown.

"Dammie, 'tis the brains of the federalist party, Fellowes," Joshua greeted the Long Islander, and there was a noticeable quaver in his voice. "We've got 'em all—in one noose. We'll wipe 'em out."

"They'd wipe themselves out, if you but let them be. Any party stupid enough to father a paper like that can never last."

"Stupid is right," Joshua agreed. "Devilish stupid. Just what I'd expect of Ben's friends." He leered contemptuously at his brother. "Always over-reaching yourself, Ben."

Cara exclaimed, with a cutting contempt that brought a blush to Joshua's cheeks:

"Neither my father nor I would seek to evade responsibility for what we have done, sir; but we are one in regretting we launched a plan which might have harmed our country, although that is perhaps to be questioned."

Joshua regarded her sourly. "Perhaps to be questioned! To have succeeded with New England and factions in York and Jersey? And under protection of the Crown? Egad, young woman, you're an optimist! At the least, 'twould have lost us the war."

"'Twould have ended the war," she corrected him, keeping her temper. "One part of our plan was to insist the British must not take advantage of our efforts. We desired no more than their support against aggression from the federal government. And we were persuaded that hostilities would cease instantly, and a peace be negotiated."

"Aye, and the British would have gobbled you up—and the rest of us, later," fumed Joshua. "A divided republic is a helpless republic."

Cara sighed. "However honest was our purpose, sir," she said, "we came to see 'twas unfair, in that it struck from behind at other Americans, who were exposing their lives for what they believed right."

A sneer twisted Joshua's lips. "So?" he answered. "And how chanced this wondrous metamorphosis?"

For the first time she was embarrassed. And it was her father who answered the question.

"We are indebted to Captain Fellowes and his officers and men for that, Jos." He smiled slightly. "After all, we are Americans, Cara and I. We couldn't see Americans fighting as they fought, and escape a sense of obligation to them. Some died for the flag, and 'tis as much my flag as yours. You Democrats have no more claim to it than we Federalists."

Joshua appealed to Fellowes. "A likely yarn, captain! A bid for sympathy, damme!"

"We want none of your sympathy," Cara flared at him before Fellowes could speak. "We are not ashamed of what we have done. We are sorry—if you can understand that. But we are not ashamed or unwilling to stand our punishment. We were wrong, that is all. And you will do a wicked thing, if you visit upon all those men—" she pointed to the petition, "the vengeance of party feeling. They are not to blame for it. Nor is my father. 'Twas my plan in the beginning, and 'twas I who obtained the support of ministers in London for it. No, no, Father! You can't deny me. 'Tis the truth. Aye, and Captain Fellowes knows it for the truth. He saw me with Lord Wellington in Lisbon."

"Now, now, Cara! I will be heard." Ben was so dismayed that he stammered. "I-i-s-see here, Jos, she's entirely wrong. The child was my agent throughout. She's innocent.

'Tis I who'm to blame. For me, 'tis the truth! And—y-y-you know, you haven't any r-right to hate her. 'Tis I you hate. And what's the use of making party feeling more bitter than it is? Publish that list of signatures, arrest all the poor devils I tempted into the affair—and what will it bring you? A scandal that may wreck the country more surely than I planned to do it."

"He's right," cried Fellowes. "You must believe them, Mr. Ingelplein."

There was bewilderment in Joshua's ruddy face.

"Taking their side?" he queried. "Why, I thought you—don't you hate 'em, too?"

"I don't hate anyone," Fellowes answered slowly, "I'm through with hate."

"Ah, but you've satisfied your hate," protested Joshua. "Chater's dead. And Collishawe. And—"

"I have no regrets for Chater," Fellowes interrupted. "I'm not going to be a hypocrite about that. But killing him didn't make me any happier. And for Collishawe—I'd cheerfully give my own life, if that would bring him back. I did a brave, honorable man an injustice, and then procured his death—just as you will do, if you send your brother to the gallows. Or your niece. Or anyone whose name is on that paper."

"They're all traitors," fussed Joshua. "Don't deserve consideration. Of course, a woman's a different matter. But a traitor is a traitor, and all the talk in the world won't alter that."

Fellowes was struck by the stubborn tone of his employer, a faintly pugnacious attitude of self-defense.

"Are you honest with yourself, sir?" the Long Islander challenged him swiftly. "How much of your indignation springs from patriotism and how much from personal hatred?"

"Why—why—why—?" Joshua was balked, palpably dismayed, but he floundered on: "The facts are evident. And if I do hate a man, is that a reason to excuse his treason?"

"No, but 'tis ample reason to examine your own feelings," rejoined Fellowes. "You have endeavored to ruin your brother—haven't you?"

"I have ruined him," scowled Joshua.

"Yes, you hold his life and reputation in your hand, there. Will it make you happier to use your power over him? Think, Mr. Ingelplein! Are you happier, now? Have you felt more at rest in your mind since I gave you that paper?"

"Why not?" Joshua answered slowly. "I've hated him for years. A loose-thinking, aristocratical sort of fellow, always opposed to me."

"And you've always been opposed to him. Can't you be in opposition without killing him?"

"'Tisn't just that I want to see him swing," denied Joshua, ruddier than ever, the note of defense heavily stressed. "Dammie, that's a vulgar idea, Fellowes."

"You are trying to satisfy your own hatred," snapped Fellowes. "And you can't do it. You know you can't do it. The closer you hug your hate, the spicier it grows. If you yield to it, you'll be miserable for the rest of your life. If you hold it off, you'll place your brother under an obligation—"

A glint of humor flashed in Joshua's china-blue eyes; his wide mouth quirked up at the corners.

"By G—d, you're right!" he exclaimed. "Why hang him when I can make him owe me what money can't buy, eh?"

Hoofs rattled in Front street. "Tis the governor," warned Fellowes.

"D—n the governor," Joshua blustered cavalierly. "Where's my flint-and-steel? And that candle? I can never find anything in this place."

Fellowes watched him with an amazement shared in full by Ben and Cara. Only the duenna remained uninterested, the beads clicking through her mittened fingers, while Joshua struck spark to tinder, and lit the candle he extracted from a cubbyhole of his desk.

"There," he announced triumphantly. "What d'ye think of this, Ben? Here's a debt you won't soon pay off, my lad!"

And he stabbed a corner of the petition into the candle flame, which blazed up magnificently. A thin trickle of smoke drifted across the room, and Fellowes heard Ben coughing, saw tears in Cara's eyes, but the smoke haze drifted in their direction.

Joshua chuckled to himself. "Ah, you thought you could get on without me, but all you did was to make a fool of yourself. And I caught you, Ben, I caught you fairly!"

"Fairly, Jos," Ben agreed. "And I can't pay off the debt—except to say I'm sorry—for what happened before this."

"Sorry, eh? Ouch, damme! Burned my fingers. Well, the thing's done." He hesitated as the last charred flakes of the deadly petition floated to the floor. "Sorry eh? Matter of fact, so am I. Hanged if—ah, no, no!—d—d if I can remember what it was all about."

"Need you care, Uncle Jos?" asked Cara, between laughter and weeping. "Spose not, s'pose not, niece," Joshua admitted. "Still—"

"Oh, won't you two shake hands?" she begged. "Can't we be a family instead of enemies?"

Her father stepped forward promptly, and after a moment Joshua met him, arm outstretched.

"God bless you, Jos!"

"Eh? Eh? Seem to have something in my eye. Mind those fingers, Ben."

The door to the outer office was flung open, Nimrod Sopher standing at attention beside it.

"His excellency the governor," boomed the lawyer, and Governor Tompkins bustled into the room, bowing to Cara, plainly puzzled by the spectacle of the Ingelplein brothers clasping hands.

"Your servant, ma'am," said his excellency. "Am I to witness a reconciliation, gentlemen? I heard the Centurion was in, and thought from your message—"

"Governor, I burned the d—n paper!" Joshua confessed. "Hang the whole Federalist party—hang Ben—hang my niece, here? Couldn't go it. Ben's learned his lesson, so's the girl. The rest of 'em—Well, they'll eat out of any feed bag we hitch on 'em, soon as they hear we know their little scheme."

A smile warmed the governor's homely features.

"You did the right thing, Joshua," he pronounced. "Party hatred is as evil a thing as personal hatred, old friend. You've found that out, I see. Good! So let's all sit down, and talk it over reasonably and—But where's Captain Fellowes gone?"

Fellowes had done all he could do, he felt. His one desire was to avoid Cara Ingelplein. If he didn't see her, perhaps he could forget her in time. At least, it would be better than trying not to look at her, struggling against the pricks of what-might-have-been, cursing himself for useless jealousy of a dead man.

CHAPTER XV

Mary McCarthy Intervenes

Fellowes had scarcely reached the waterfront when his name was called behind him in a brogue thicker than O'Shaughnessy's—"Misther Fellowes! Cap'tin, sorr! Oh, Mother av God, will ye—" And he turned to face the waddling bulk of the duenna, her tall, lumpy features crimson for once as she panted an incoherent stream of prayers, denunciations and saints' names:

"Ain't ye got the sinse ye was born wid? Oh, holy Bridgit, the wind's clane gone out av me! Shure, 'tis me end I'm at this minit!"

In one lightning-flash of memory Fellowes reviewed the moment of his leaving the True Bounty in the Badger's quarterboat. It hadn't been imagination, after all, that glimpse of the strange creature at the cabin window, and the fragment of brogue he had thought he heard. But what on earth could be the reason for her pre-tending ignorance of English?

"By your leave, ma'am!" he rasped sharply. "You've deceived me many months. How d'you excuse it?"

Her face fell, and the gibbness left her speech.

"Ah, now, yer honor! Don't be after wringin' yerself into a murtherin' rage—and me no more nor fearful for a full stomach—and sorr the chance av that more often nor not, what wid the worry was on me and the tret av the say."

"That's no answer," he told her, with what he knew was mock-severity.

"Ah, but them Sisthers, sorr!" she sighed. "For ever after me becaze I tuk a bite and a sup bechune meals, and cryin' out loud if I had more nor a bunk o' salt fish to me dinner."

To save himself, Fellowes couldn't resist a smile.

"You mean you were in a convent?" he asked. "Were you expelled?"

"I'll thank ye not to asperse me repytashun," she retorted angrily. "Expelled! Divil a bit! All the ould tartar would be sayin' was: 'Mary darlin', don't ye think ye'd do better in privit service? 'Tis me loves ye like me own flesh-and-blood, but 'twas never a convent ye was born for.' And when the world come me young leddy was for settin' up a duenna, in the Portuguese style, she says to me, Mother Seraphina, she says: 'And here's God's own blessed chance for ye, Mary darlin', but 'tis Portuguese ye must be, and see ye, never let on there's a dhrap av Irish blood into ye or a word av English on yer tongue.'"

Great Snakes!

Pudden's spider is descended from spiders which dwelt up our way and learnt the trick from the carpet snakes.

Old ma carpet snake stands on her tail straight on end. Her young 'uns climb up the old girl and dispose themselves at intervals in a first-class imitation of a dry shrub. As birds settle on this inviting roost they are affectionately embraced by the wriggler, borne to earth and devoured at leisure.

"A Good Old Bread Recipe and Gold Medal 'Kitchen-tested' Flour"

MRS. R. H. WILKINSON
(Blue Ribbon Winner Home-Baked Bread, Edinburg, Ill., County Fair)

940 Mrs. R. H. Wilkinson, Edinburg, Ill.

"At our county fair in Edinburg, Ill., last August I won 1st Prize for home-baked bread in the class open to everybody. I didn't use a celebrated cooking school recipe, but one taught me by my mother. My daughter also won 1st Prize for home baked bread in her class at the same fair—using the same recipe and no other than my favorite Gold Medal Flour! Proof, I say, that to get prize winners every time, use Gold Medal 'Kitchen-tested' Flour."

TODAY thousands of women have learned how to get perfect results with all their baking—"Blue Ribbon" cakes and pastries, bread and biscuits, every time!

New-type Flour Banishes "Luck" in Baking

They use a new-type flour for all baking purposes—GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour—that simplifies baking remarkably and banishes the cause of most baking failures. Failures, experts found, were mostly due to the fact that two sacks of the same flour often acted differently, even with the same recipe. . . . it was not uniform in oven action.

So now all GOLD MEDAL is "Kitchen-tested" before it comes to you. As each batch comes through the mill it is tested by actual baking—bread, cakes, biscuits, pastries—in an oven just like yours. Only flour which acts the same perfect way every time is allowed to go out to you. Thus you know in advance exactly what your results will be.

Average Vocabulary

The average man is supposed to have a vocabulary of only 3,000 words. Prof. J. M. Gillette of the University of North Dakota finds this estimate entirely too low, although few men use more words in ordinary conversation. His own vocabulary includes approximately 127,000 words. One of his students could claim 65,800; another, 52,500.—World's Work.

Old Household Utensil

An old "coffee mortar," which was used in olden days when coffee had to be ground by hand, is owned in Fluvanna county, Virginia. The mortar, which is made of wood, is about a foot in height and an inch thick. At the top the bowl is about six inches in diameter, and slopes to a rounded bottom. An iron "mauler" was used to do the actual grinding. The mortar originally came from Scotland, and is believed to be about 200 years old.

Forestry Investigation

To determine how many trees are grown in forests of the United States and how fast they grow is the object of an economic survey to be conducted by the United States forest service. The information gained will form a basis for developing a forest policy. Ziegler, former director of the Mt. Alto Forest school in Pennsylvania, will have charge of the study of the financial aspects.

The meeting was so much enjoyed by those attending that another open meeting will be held the second week in March.

Questions and Answers

The question and answer method of presenting news began in English newspapers in the Seventeenth century. One of the first advice departments in question and answer form appeared in the London Athenian Mercury in 1691. Charles Dana was one of the first editors to answer letters in the editorial column of the New York Sun.

Scoring Lawn Tennis

In the early days of lawn tennis two methods of scoring were used, almost indiscriminately. One of these was the scoring used in the game of "racquets" and the other the "tennis" scoring. In 1878 the "tennis" method of scoring was adopted and the "racquets" scoring abandoned. No material change in the method of scoring has been made since 1878.

Sound of Bells

The nature of the country has much to do with the sound of bells. In a hilly country a bell will not be heard half so far as if the land were level or nearly so. A bell will be heard farther lengthwise of a valley than over the hills at the sides. Where bellrooms are lower than the surrounding buildings and trees, these obstructions break the sound and prevent a free passage for a distance.

Waltz King's Record

Strauss, the waltz king, is said to have written nearly 400 waltzes and that there was not a poor one among them. In addition he wrote many selections for other dance steps, including polkas, mazurkas and schottisches, not to mention marches and ballads. His operettas were next in fame to his waltzes.

WHAT EDITORS SAY OF TELEPHONE

This Human Business Possibly the popularity of the telephone—domestic as well as trans-oceanic—is due to the touch of personality as much as to speed. We work best man to man, when we can feel personality and measure human reactions.—Magazine of Business, May, 1929.

The world moves fast. The telephone has brought the citizens of Franco or England almost as close to us as the man around the corner. We can speak to a continent, across thousands of miles of ocean, in but little more time than it takes to reach the next state. The old saying about making the whole world kin has come true. The results of such communication facilities are seen daily, in better business, better understanding between peoples, better foreign relations. A thin strand of wire is the bond that holds the modern world together.—The Detroit, Detroit, Mich.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
The Probate Court for the County Isosco.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Tawas City, in said county, on the 16th day of January, A. D. 1930.

Present: Hon. David Davison, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of John Hickingbottom, deceased.
George Hickingbottom having filed his petition, praying that an instrument filed in said Court be admitted to Probate as the last will and testament of said deceased and that administration of said estate be granted to George Hickingbottom, or some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that the 8th day of February, A. D. 1930, at ten A. M., at said Probate Office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy hereof for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

6 reasons why we recommend INDIAN RED for your car

3 It mixes instantly and completely with the air in the manifold—atomizes—so that none reaches the combustion chamber in liquid form. It is a cloud of "dry" atoms ready to burn quickly and evenly.

You can identify Indian Red by the pump globe and the harmless red dye used to give a distinctive color.

- 1 It is BOTH 100% petroleum product and anti-knock.
- 2 It gives instant response to BOTH starter and accelerator.
- 3 It instantly mixes with air in the manifold and makes a "dry" gas.
- 4 More miles per gallon.
- 5 Longer engine life—less oil dilution.
- 6 Absence of gum forming elements.

Mother: "Yes, you are terribly dirty!"
Bobby: "But why can't I just put some flour on my face like you do?"

Visitor: "Well, well! What a fine little man! Sitting there, so nice and quiet!"

Junior: "Yes, ma'am! I always sit still until someone puts some money in my bank, and then I say, 'Thank you!'"

Maid: "I have brought little Frederick to you, Professor."

Busy Professor: "All right. Put him in the file, under 'P.'"

When the young woman who had entered college to get a degree announced her engagement to her professor in the middle of her second year, her friend said:

"But Edith, I thought you came up here to get your Ph.D.?"

"So I did," returned Edith, "but I had no idea I'd get him so soon."

MICHIGAN BELL EXPANSION PLAN SHOWS INCREASE

1930 EXPENDITURES LARGEST IN HISTORY OF COMPANY, SAYS PRESIDENT FORAKER

WILL EXCEED $62,000,000

PLANT EXPANSION ALONE WILL TOTAL $32,000,000, ADDING MATERIALLY TO INDUSTRY OF THE STATE

President Burr Foraker of the Michigan Bell Telephone company announces that the plant extension plans of the company for 1930 contemplate the expenditure of $32,000,000, exceeding the 1929 program approximately $6,000,000.

That expenditure will be for new plant construction only, Mr. Foraker says, and will be in addition to approximately $30,000,000 the company will expend for maintenance and operation of the service. Total expenditures of the company for the year will be approximately $62,000,000, or about $8,000,000 in excess of the 1929 figures. The program is one of the largest yet definitely made known for 1930 by any Michigan company. The Michigan Bell's 1929 expansion program was the largest in its history.

Use of Service Grows

Telephone officials, after careful study, believe business and industrial activities throughout the state will require greater use of telephone service than ever before, and the 1930 program has been planned with the purpose of enabling the company to provide increased service in advance of actual need.

The telephone plant extension work for 1930 will mean the employment of large construction and plant crews throughout the territory, and the purchase of enormous quantities of poles, crossarms, wire and other equipment and supplies that will mean the payment of many millions of dollars to labor outside the telephone industry.

In 1929, the Michigan Bell company added facilities and service improvements at a cost of approximately $26,355,000. Telephones added approximated 50,000, to gain which it was necessary to install 211,000, the difference being accounted for by changes, removals, moves, etc.

Every Section to Benefit

Investment of plant in service at the end of 1930 is expected to have increased to $242.28 per telephone, compared with $230.46 per telephone at the close of 1929, while operating expenses the coming 12 months are expected to be $53.25 per telephone, compared with $51.93 per telephone the past year.

The company's new investment in land and buildings during 1930 is expected to total $4,200,000; additional central office equipment, $9,000,000; additional telephone equipment, $6,650,000; exchange pole lines, wire, cable and conduit, $8,500,000; long distance pole lines, wire, cable and conduit, $3,200,000; general equipment, $1,047,000; interest during construction, and undistributed construction expenses, $275,000.

The Michigan Bell company has upwards of a dozen building projects under way, with several others planned. Those to be completed in 1930 include new structures at Benton Harbor, Saginaw, Port Huron, Dearborn, Holland, Macatawa Park, Grand Rapids, Drayton Plains, and Detroit. Many new long distance cable projects are in hand and others will be started during 1930, and central office and other local exchange equipment will be added at many points. Every section of Michigan will be affected.

Add to Outside Plant

Considerable outside plant construction is planned during 1930 at Ada, Battle Creek, Benton Harbor, Big Rapids, Grand Rapids, Greenville, Holland, Leslie, Wayne, Bay City, Clio, Commerce Village, Drayton Plains, Port Huron, Saginaw, Escanaba, Kalamazoo, Jackson, Lansing, Flint, Pontiac, Houghton, Dearborn, Iron Mountain, Menominee and Detroit.

The Jackson-Lansing long distance cable is to be completed in 1930 and a cable will be built from Benton Harbor to South Haven, Grand Rapids to Grand Haven, and Grand Haven to Muskegon, in addition to projects now under way and those that will be started next year. An all cable telephone route from Grand Rapids north to the upper peninsula is scheduled for 1935, the Grand Rapids-Big Rapids section to be erected in 1931, with an extension to Cadillac in 1932.

Among others, long distance circuits also will be added in 1930 between Bay City and Petoskey, Jackson and Hillsdale, Adrian and Ann Arbor, Adrian and Monroe, Lansing and Flint, Port Huron and Bad Axe, Saginaw and Bad Axe, Saginaw and Reed City, St. Ignace and Marquette, Marquette and Ironwood and Menominee and Escanaba, Benton Harbor and Coloma, Grand Rapids and Rockford, Grand Rapids and Howard City, and Grand Rapids and Reed City.

May Italian pictures which today are priceless were painted for trifling sums. Titian was compelled to paint portraits of the dogs of Venice for five crowns apiece! Raphael painted some of his best pictures for very little, and his fine cartoons were at one time cast aside as lumber!

GEN. GEORGE WASHINGTON
From "The Savior of the States"

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

ALTHOUGH the event itself is yet two years away, preparations are going forward rapidly for making the two-hundredth anniversary celebration of Washington's birthday the greatest event of its kind ever held in this country. Six years ago President Coolidge appointed a distinguished group of citizens from every part of the United States, with himself as ex officio chairman, known as the United States Commission for the Celebration of the Birth of George Washington to prepare a plan.

Since that time the commission has been considering some forty different suggestions for the nation-wide celebration but the only plan that has thus far been definitely adopted is that for the systematic publication of works by and about Washington. This plan was drawn up by Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, professor of history at Harvard university and historian of the commission.

The plan in detail calls for the following publications:

1. George Washington (Reading With a Purpose), written by Doctor Hart, and recently issued by the commission, to be circulated by the commission in quantities.
2. Select reading lists on George Washington. A proposed search of best books on Washington, intended to stimulate purchase of Washington books by individuals and school and other libraries, such lists to be circulated by the commission, especially to schools.
3. A George Washington map. A sizeable wall map on paper or cloth costing in quantities about 10 cents each, to be sent free by the commission to any school room asking for it, as a means of bringing the commission and its work home to hundreds of thousands of school children and their elders.
4. Writings of George Washington. A definitive edition to be edited by J. C. Fitzpatrick, editor of Washington diaries. There are to be three editions, a Mount Vernon edition de luxe, a Capitol edition, exclusively for members of congress and high executive and judicial officials in office in 1927, and a popular edition. Volumes to be sold in complete sets of twenty volumes or in chronological groups of three to five volumes.
5. A George Washington series. It will be made up of about fifteen volumes of various sizes pertaining to George Washington, depicting Washington as a soldier; Washington as an engineer; the boy Washington, etc. To be published in a complete limited edition and also in a regular edition, each volume purchasable separately. To be written by experts in the several fields and edited by the historian.
6. A George Washington atlas. It will include detailed maps of all regions in which Washington lived and traveled, and all his military campaigns, making possible the location of every place Washington is known to have inhabited or visited; every place or estate in England owned or occupied by ancestors of George Washington; every house that can now be identified in which he stayed; all his real estate and lands wherever situated.

It was early decided that the 1932 celebration was not to be a material expression of the importance of the event in the form of a "world's fair" or exposition of its physical resources and the development of its arts, sciences and industries. However, the commission of fine arts and the national park and planning commission, which are co-operating with the bicentennial commission in planning the principal observance of the event, to be held in the city which bears Washington's name, hopes that a number of major projects, all of which are closely linked with the bicentennial celebration idea, will be completed by 1932. Chief among these are the following:

The Arlington Memorial bridge, now well along in construction and virtually certain to be completed by the bicentennial year.

Completion of the monument gardens at the base of the Washington monument, originally proposed in the 1901 plan for Washington and urged by city planners since.

Completion of the arboretum and the national botanical garden.

Completion of the proposed Mount Vernon boulevard between the west end of the Arlington bridge and the home of George Washington.

Cutting through the mall of the parallel roadways on each side of the great central composition and advancement of the public building program to a point where the government triangle becomes that in fact.

Completion of the scheme for making Wakefield, the birthplace of George Washington, a national shrine, and construction of roadways and airplane landing field and wharves for ships at the shrine.

Outstanding among these projects is the Mount Vernon memorial boulevard. Construction has been commenced on this by the bureau of public roads of the Department of Agriculture. It is to extend from the Virginia end of the new bridge connecting the Lincoln memorial with the Arlington National cemetery to Mount Vernon along the Potomac river, a distance of 1 1/2 miles.

This highway, which will be 200 feet wide, will be one of the finest boulevards in the country and will offer easy access to Mount Vernon, Washington's home. Congress has appropriated funds for the boulevard, the initial cost being $4,500,000. It has been suggested that to each of the 13 colonies should be allowed a mile of road for such state tablets and architectural treatment as may be desired by the state, with the approval of the federal government. This idea, however, is tentative and may not materialize.

The plans for the monument gardens at the base of the 555-foot obelisk recalls the fact that the monument as conceived in 1833 has never been completed. The building of the monument in its present form underwent many vicissitudes after the laying of the original cornerstone in 1848. The Civil war interfered with the work and it was not until 1876 that the shaft reached a height of 150 feet. In 1880 the second cornerstone was laid and the work went rapidly ahead until 1888, when the monument was opened to the public.

From that time little was done until the erection of the magnificent Lincoln memorial with the reflecting pool in between. Now it is hoped that the $50,000,000 federal building program for the National Capital which is under way will carry forward the completion of the monument on the basic plans for it and the development of the mall or monument gardens, extending from the Capitol to the monument, so that all will be in readiness for the National Capital for the great celebration two years hence.

The commission has also undertaken to assist in the restoration of Wakefield, Va., the birthplace of Washington. The Wakefield association proposes to add to the 70 acres which it now owns 300 acres more which are necessary to treat the home and its surroundings properly. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has made a provisional gift in this connection and congress will be asked to appropriate $60,000 to complete the restoration.

Although these are the principal projects in which the bicentennial commission is interested, they are not the only memorials to Washington which may be completed and may be the scene of special observances of his birthday in 1932. On a beautiful knoll overlooking the historic city of Alexandria, Va., is rapidly rising the George Washington Masonic National memorial, a $4,000,000 structure, erected by the Masons of the country to an honored fellow member, which is virtually certain to be completed within the next two years.

An effort is being made also to finish the George Washington Memorial building in Washington so that it will also be ready for the 1932 celebration. The idea for this building came from George Washington himself who provided in his will for a national university and emphasized in his last message to congress the importance of "the general diffusion of knowledge" through proper institutions.

A center such as the memorial will provide is now lacking in Washington. According to plans, the building will have not only a large auditorium with a large organ, but several smaller halls seating from 500 to 2,500 people. The building would be made accessible to conventions of every character that may select Washington as a place of assembly, whether the conventions be international, state, interstate or territorial; or whether their character be business, political, religious, patriotic or social. The memorial will be a center, in fact, for "the diffusion of knowledge." It will be suitable for inaugural receptions and balls, and especially for conferences between nations, as congress intended it to be when it gave the ground.

ARMY PLANES WILL TRAIN 5 MILES UP

Rockwell Field Force to Conduct Experiments.

Washington.—The air corps will attempt this year to move the sphere of the army's aerial fighters to an altitude of 25,000 feet.

While this distance is nearly 20,000 feet short of the world's altitude record, it is far beyond the sphere of ordinary plane operation, and means that combat fighters will be trained in actual war maneuvers above the "service ceiling" of most standard planes and in rarefied atmosphere.

The Ninety-fifth pursuit squadron, based at Rockwell field, San Diego, Calif., has been selected to carry out these hazardous maneuvers. A special program of high altitude training has been laid out for the squadron by its commanding officer, Capt. H. M. Elmendorf. The equipment selected for the work consists of Boeing P-12s, employing superchargers and powered with 400-horsepower Wasp engines.

RATHER BE OLDEST THAN THE GREATEST

Red Harrigan, Flying Hero, Prefers Safety First.

St. Louis, Mo.—Of all aviation's flying heroes, Red Harrigan would rather be the oldest than the greatest.

He has spent between 5,000 and 10,000 hours in the air—Red himself isn't exactly sure—without a serious mishap. He has piloted scores of newly manufactured planes, worth millions of dollars, on baptismal flights without so much as scratching their fresh paint.

After nearly fourteen years of manipulating every kind of ship, he still gets a thrill from every flight and hopes his days in the air have just begun. Red, christened John J., has been flying since 1916, when he learned to pilot seaplanes in the navy.

Never has he had a part in an accident in which anyone was killed. On the other hand, he piloted the ill-fated dirigible Shenandoah shortly before its last journey. Likewise he planned a trip to Honolulu, only to have the flight thwarted at the last minute, about the time so many aviators lost their lives trying to cross the Pacific.

One of the few men in the country who possess official qualifications to pilot any and all kinds of aircraft, Harrigan is known as a "safety first" flyer. A ship must be airworthy before he will fly it.

Asked about his philosophy of the air, Harrigan always makes the same laconic remark:

"I would rather be the oldest than the greatest flyer."

Lindy Flies Glider; Gets Pilot's License

San Diego, Calif.—Without previous actual experience in motorless flying, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off here in a glider plane, flew it out half a mile over the ocean, attained an altitude of 500 feet, remained aloft half an hour, and qualified for a first-class glider pilot's license. He made an application for the license after landing and became the ninth holder of that class of motorless flying license in the United States.

Mrs. Lindbergh watched her husband make the flight, but did not attempt to handle a glider herself.

William Van Dusen, local representative of the National Aeronautical association, officially checked Lindbergh's flight and received his application for a glider license.

Aviation Employment Bureau Is Created

New York.—One of the surest signs that the aviation industry has become of age may be seen in the fact that the industry now boasts an employment bureau designed exclusively for aviation business.

The bureau is already functioning as a clearing house for competent and experienced men and its service is free to the employer. It gives the aviation employer a choice of men from a wide range of applicants from all over the country. A process of selectivity which embraces investigation of experience, records, credentials, etc., assures the employer of the best to be had in the field. Offices of the bureau are in the General Motors building, 1175 Broadway, New York.

Boys of Small Towns Fill Flying Schools

American youth which at present is enrolling in large numbers in the hundreds of flying schools now in operation, come, in 60 per cent of the cases, from towns with less than 10,000 inhabitants, a recent survey made by the American Air Transport association shows. The appeal which aviation holds is not less with city-bred boys than with those from the country, the association says, but is due to the difference in economic conditions. Where opportunities for work are comparatively great in the large cities, the small town youth is turning to aviation, a new and uncrowded field, as a means to gain eventual financial independence.

Orville Wright Voted 1st Guggenheim Medal

Orville Wright will be the first recipient of the Daniel Guggenheim medal created by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics for recognition of "notable achievement in the advancement of aeronautics." It was announced by officers of the Guggenheim Medal Fund.

The presentation of the medal will be made on April 30 in connection with the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in Washington.

Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing.

Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. A tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. Read the proven directions and you'll discover many valuable uses for these tablets. For headaches; for check colds. To ease a sore throat and reduce the infection. For relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic pain.

People used to wonder if Bayer Aspirin was harmful. The doctors answered that question years ago. It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you must consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Bayer Aspirin for immediate relief.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monocaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Workers of the World

The national bureau of economic research says that about 39 per cent of the population does the work which supports themselves and the remaining 61 per cent. Last year there were 46,580,000 workers and about 72,726,000 other people dependent upon them.

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

When BABIES are upset

Baby ills and ailments seem twice as serious at night. A sudden cry may mean colic. Or a sudden attack of diarrhea—a condition it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight? Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless but effective remedy for children; nothing that acts quite the same, or has quite the same comforting effect on them.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old, reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday aid. Its gentle influence will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will help an older child whose tongue is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria; the genuine bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

Twelve Years Mayor and Going Strong!

WHEN a man who has been mayor of a big city for twelve years finds out how to live, his words are worth listening to. Ex-Mayor E. N. Kirby of Abilene, Texas, discovered the simple way to health about ten years ago (he is now 64.)

"I am now a new man, and as active as a boy," says Mr. Kirby. "I feel fine all the time and rarely have an ache or a pain, although for twenty-five years I suffered with rheumatism, and sometimes was unable to stand or walk. I would not give up my simple health discovery—no, not for five thousand dollars in gold!" That discovery was Nujol!

That's the wonderful thing about Nujol. Although it is not a medicine and contains absolutely no drugs, its harmless internal lubrication seems to make people feel better and look on the brighter side of life, whether they are old or young.

Of course you can understand why this is so: we all of us have natural poisons in our bodies that make us feel headachy, sick and low in our minds. Nujol, which is as tasteless and colorless as pure water, helps to absorb these and carry them away, easily, regularly as clock work.

Instead of drugging and irritating your body with pills, cathartics, laxatives, and other habit-forming drugs, give your body the internal lubrication which it needs, just as much as any other machine. After a few days you will be surprised at the difference in the way you feel. You can get Nujol in a sealed package in any drug store. Nujol may change your whole outlook on life. Get a bottle today and give yourself a chance to be well!

Hon. E. N. Kirby, for twelve years Mayor of Abilene, Texas, who has discovered secret of success.

No. 1 Continued from the First Page

The recreation hour, featured by clever songs, yells, and stunts, kept everyone in a gale of laughter. At the evening banquet session, the decorative motive, the theme of the toasts, and Rev. Halpeny's address all centered about the Rainbow. A large rainbow decorated one wall of the banquet hall, while streamers and tapers of the rainbow colors adorned the tables. A day at Camp Chippewa was cleverly presented by the various girls in attendance there last summer; each hour from the rising bell to the sounding of "taps" was accounted for. Interesting reports of the Boys' Conference at Grand Rapids were also given. Then followed toasts to the various rainbow colors and Rev. Halpeny's address, "The Rainbow." In conclusion he said the rainbow life should mean to each of us an appreciation of God, a full heritage and a full service adequately rendered. Much of the splendid success of the banquet was due Rev. Metcalf of Tawas City, toastmaster, and Mr. E. W. Deak of East Tawas, song leader. The conference registration numbered 125 delegates from practically every section of the county.

On Sunday morning Rev. Halpeny occupied the pulpit of the East Tawas M. E. church, preaching on the subject, "The Gift That is in Thee." Sunday afternoon he addressed a mass meeting of men at the Tawas City Baptist church, using as his subject, "Is Civilization Final?" Music by a male quartette and a men's chorus choir was well rendered. The men voted unanimously to forward to Attorney General Brucker a resolution pledging their support in his law-enforcement program.

Sunday evening Rev. Halpeny preached in the Whittemore M. E. church on the topic "Christian Nurture."

Iosco is one of the foremost counties in the state in this co-operative religious educational program. Rev. Halpeny was profuse in praise of the fine work being accomplished here. He went so far as to say Iosco had made a 100% advance since his visit here a year ago.
