The Chicago & North Western railroad values the lives of its crossing guards, and so that they may not be overlooked and run down by careless motorists it has equipped them with red and white striped belts, as seen in the illustration.

Surrenders Friend, Then Goes His Bail

Brockton, Mass.—John Duzkiewicz was so anxious to go bail for his friend William Gidis that he helped police arrest the latter.

Duzkiewicz appeared at headquarters and announced he wished to furnish bond for his friend's release. Police, who had sought Gidis in vain on an assault charge, informed Duzkiewicz he could do so if he would bring the defendant in, Duzkiewicz did.

Pastor Remembers His Pet Dog in His Will

Auburn, Maine.—The late Rev. Charles S. Cummings thought a lot of his dog, "Peter." A clause in his will read: "The little dog, Peter, has had a great and good influence over my life, coming as a messenger of God to show me a world I knew little about. I want him to be lovingly cared for as long as he lives; and if he outlives me I would like to have his little body buried at the foot of my grave and covered with a simple flat slab on which are the words: 'Little Peter, the house dog.'"

"NOBLEST MOTHER"

Mrs. Charles L. Ungruhe, Jr., of Cincinnati, Ohio, who was quite astonished recently when informed of the fact that she had been selected as Cincinnati's "noblest mother" by the committee in charge of this annual feature of the pure food and health exposition. Mrs. Ungruhe doesn't think much of the fact that she has raised two families. When her mother died in 1915 she left 12 children, all younger than Mrs. Ungruhe. Mrs. Ungruhe thereupon took charge of the little ones, rearing them with her own three.

Looking Down Into Largest Open Diamond Mine

DIAMONDS may not be selling very readily in these times of depression, but they are still being taken out of the ground. Here is a view from above the biggest open diamond mine in the world, the Premier, near Pretoria in South Africa. Thousands of men are employed in these diggings. It was from the Premier that the "Cullinan" diamond, the largest ever found, was obtained.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

BOWSER, THE HOUND, FINDS PETER

TIME was when Peter Rabbit looked on Bowser the Hound as a very dangerous enemy. But that was when Peter was young and knew less of the Great World. Also it was in the days before Farmer Brown's Boy had put away his terrible gun. Then the sound of Bowser's great voice sent a chill of fear over Peter, for he knew that unless he could fool Bowser's keen nose Bowser would surely lead Farmer Brown's Boy to where he was, and then—well, then there was that terrible gun.

But since Farmer Brown's Boy had put away his terrible gun and no longer hunted Peter and the other little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, the sound of Bowser's great voice no longer sent shivers of fear chasing one another all over Peter. Truth to tell, Peter rather enjoyed an occasional run with Bowser. It kept him in good condition. He felt that it was good for him. Peter especially enjoyed such runs in cold weather. They set his blood racing and made him feel warm and full of high spirits. He would run in circles and use simple tricks to mix his trail up so that he could sit down and enjoy listening to Bowser's impatient yelps as he tried est bramble-tangle or a hollow log, where Bowser couldn't follow him and not care the least bit that Bowser knew just where he was. No, Peter was no longer the least bit afraid of Bowser the Hound.

So as he sat in the bramble-tangle the morning after his narrow escape from Old Man Coyote, trying to think of some way to get back to the dear Old Brier Patch without giving Old Man Coyote a chance to catch him, he was not in the least bit frightened or troubled when he heard a rustling of feet among dead leaves, and peeping out saw Bowser himself sniffing and snuffing as he tried to find the scent of some one to chase. He knew by the way that Bowser acted that his wonderful nose had found just enough scent to tell him that some one had been along that way, but not enough for him to be sure which way they had gone, for after a few hours scent disappears. Hunters say that it grows cold. So the scent left by Peter and Old Man Coyote in the night had grown cold. There was just enough of it left in damp spots to tell Bowser that they had been there, but not enough for him to get really excited about.

Now Bowser is very patient, and he ran this way and that way sniffing the ground all over so that he would be able to find a trail fresh enough for him to follow, for Bowser was feeling just like a good run that morning. So presently he came to the old bramble-tangle where Peter was hiding, and then a wandering Little Breeze brought him the scent of Peter fresh and strong. Instantly Bowser knew that Peter was somewhere in there, and right away he became very much excited. His tail began to wag as if he would wag it off, a way he has of doing when he is hunting. Peter almost laughed aloud as he watched.

All around the edge of the old bramble-tangle went Bowser, sniffing, snuffing, and whining as he looked in among the brambles trying to see Peter. And at last he did see him sitting right in the middle. "Bow, wow, wow!" roared Bowser fiercely, and tried to crawl in through the old brambles. But the old brambles scratched Bowser's tender ears and made him yelp, so that he was glad to back out and try another place.

"Bow, wow, wow!" roared Bowser again. "Come out and run, or I will come in and get you!" and he made himself look as fierce as he could.

But Peter sat right where he was and chuckled. He knew that Bowser never could catch him in that old bramble-tangle, and he wasn't the least bit frightened. In fact, he enjoyed seeing Bowser try so hard to frighten him. Besides, it took his mind off of the worry of how he was going to get back to the dear Old Brier Patch without falling into the clutches of Old Man Coyote, who, he knew was hiding somewhere along the way there. You see he had told Peter that he never would get back there again.

Course of Empire Moving Westward

Center of Population Shifts in Ten Years.

Washington.—Westward continues the course of empire, and a trifle southward, too. Latest figures from the bureau of the census place the center of population of the United States in Stockton township, Greene County, Indiana, not far from the town of Linton. In the ten years that have intervened since the last census the population bulk of the country has shifted 2.3 miles westward and 7.6 miles southward.

"An interesting story is revealed in the slowly moving dots that mark centers of population since 1790," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society. "While the average movement has been only three miles a year the trend has been always westward, mostly along the line of the thirty-ninth parallel of latitude, with occasional jogs to the north and south.

"Like the gauges on a steam engine that reveal steam pressure, water, air-brake pressure, speed, etc., the census dots, by erratic little movements each ten years, indicate just what has been taking place in the great engine that is the United States. Cattle, wheat, oil, real estate booms, resorts, motion pictures, minerals, cotton, fruit and national defense, all have 'jiggled' the census gauge.

Advance Slows Down.

"With a preponderance of people in the great cities of the northeastern part of the country a major migration is needed to move the gauge even the slightest bit. Yet, in 40 years the advances have totaled some 589 miles. While it has slowed considerably in the last forty years, there is nothing to indicate that the center of population has reached a 'dead center.'

"Trace the movements of the ten-year dots that mark the successive taking of the census, and for each important event in our national life a corresponding jog in the center of population will be noticeable. The first census in 1790 placed the center of population near the city of Baltimore. In the next ten years the center of population shifted almost 40 miles west, and a trifle south, due to the Louisiana Purchase.

"The growing south continued to exert a steady pull on the population center during the next thirty years, although the greatest movement was toward the West. Increasing population in Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana and Georgia, and the annexation of Florida, pulled the gauge down by 1830 to a point about 16 miles east of Moorfield, in what is now the state of West Virginia, then Virginia.

"Growth of the prairie states, and of Michigan and Wisconsin, turned the tide northward again between 1830 and 1840, and also sent it on a long jump west to the vicinity of Clarksburg, W. Va. The annexation of Texas is clearly discernible in its southward movement during the next decade.

Hurdles Into Indiana.

"The progressive period preceding the Civil war, the 'gilded age' of farming in the Middle West, jumped the center of population from West Virginia well into Ohio, reaching a point southeast of Chillicothe. If one did not know that the Southern states were devastated by the Civil war there is a hint of it in the northward movement of the center during the next decade. It is said, too, that the count of some Southern states was not so reliable for some decades after the negroes had been enfranchised.

"The next twenty years saw the population dot again on the move, with a dip into Kentucky and a long hurdle over into Indiana, where it remained for the next forty years—up to the present. Although it has moved very slowly in the last few years, the trend will remain westward if the Pacific coast states continue their population advances. California alone increased about 2,250,000 in the last decade.

"The center of population, however, has a considerable distance to travel if it ever intends to coincide with the geographical center of the United States. This point has been determined to be in Smith county, Kansas—latitude 39 degrees, 50 minutes; and longitude 98 degrees, 35 minutes.

Young English Baronet Is Living on Dole

Dramatic Story of Hard Fight Against Adversity.

Wellington, Shropshire, England.—A dramatic story of a young baronet who is fighting hard against adversity lies behind the news reported recently that Sir Charles Buckworth-Herne-Soame of Sheen cottage, Coalbrookdale, near here, after succeeding to the title a short time ago had to sign on at the employment exchange, and is now in receipt of unemployment pay.

Sir Charles, who is thirty-six, inherited the title from his father, Sir Charles Buckworth-Herne-Soame. Owing to a series of family misfortunes the present baronet has had to work as a laborer in various capacities.

Recently his job as general laborer for the office of works at the restoration of Buildwas abbey, Shropshire, came to an end, and with no immediate prospects of further work he had to sign on for the dole.

He lives with his wife, a pretty, dark-haired woman, in a six-room cottage, and in the little parlor of his home he told his story.

"It pains me," he said, "that my title should be dragged into an affair of this kind. After all, I am a victim of circumstances.

"I am not ashamed of hard work," he declared, "but what does upset me is the fact that my title should be made the butt of public gossip. It grieves me to hear people suggest that my wife and I are 'down and out,' and that Lady Soame has to do the washing.

"It is not so. We are simply in straightened circumstances for a little while. Already I have hopes of work at my old job in about a fortnight's time, and I shall be content to return. I hate being on unemployment pay. My wife and I have gone through hard times before together and we have pulled through. We shall pull through again."

If volunteers had to pay the bill war never would be declared.

CANDY FLAVORED DISHES

A FEW varieties of candy used to flavor or enhance the appearance of a dish add variety to the menu and a delight to the eater. The following dish has been used for several years, so is not new; but for those who have not tried it, here it is:

Cinnamon Apple Jam.

Quarter and peel two and one-fourth pounds of apples and simmer for five minutes in a half cupful of water in a covered saucepan. When the apples are soft put them through a sieve; add five cupfuls of sugar, two-thirds of a cupful of cinnamon candies, and boil hard for one minute. Remove from the heat and add one-fourth cupful of pectin, skim and pour into glasses or jars. Cover with a thin film of paraffin while hot; when cool cover with another layer to insure perfect sealing.

Peppermint Cup Cakes.

Cream one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add two-thirds of a cupful of sugar and two beaten eggs. Mix and sift two cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Add to the first mixture, alternating with three-fourths of a cupful of milk. Stir thoroughly, then drop the mixture into muffin tins.

Sprinkle the tops with peppermint sticks that have been ground fine through a food chopper. Bake in a moderate oven for twenty-five minutes.

The Fraternity of Age

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WELL, here we are, all growing old together; You think it's only you, I only I; Yet colder grows to each the colder weather, And not a one Time ever passes by—I sometimes very greatly wonder whether Time knows there are the humble and the high.

The Croesus, and the beauty, and the scholar, Grow gray around the temples, like the rest. The vagrant on the road, without a dollar, Is in that same procession walking west. The gray hair falls upon the curate's collar As well as on the sinner sans a vest.

I think, perhaps, that here's our only error: We walk together, yet we walk alone. The while the journey would lose half its terror If we would laugh together at the stone. The common highway always is the fairer, Yes, fairer than some tow-path of our own.

The lonely scowl, the many are the merry, Sharing discomfort in some crowded place. Upon the train, the overloaded ferry, We bear our burdens with a better grace. The years are heavy, but are not so very, If met together, with a smiling face. (© 1931, Douglas Malloch.)—WNU Service.

orange sherbet may be made at home if convenient.

California Custard.

Bring three cupfuls of milk to the boiling point with a half-inch slice of lemon rind in it. Remove the rind and add one-half pound of uncooked spaghetti in small pieces and one cupful of raisins. Cook gently until the spaghetti is tender, stirring frequently to prevent burning. Mix one-half cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and two slightly beaten eggs, with one-half cupful of milk. Add to the spaghetti with one-half teaspoonful each of lemon extract and cinnamon; cook gently until the egg is set. Serve with cream.

Butter Scotch Sauce.

Here is a delightful sauce to serve over ice cream. Put into a saucepan one and one-fourth cupfuls of brown sugar, two-thirds of a cupful of corn sirup and four tablespoonfuls of butter. Boil to a very soft ball 230 degrees F. and add three-fourths of a cupful of thin cream. Serve with chopped nuts, stirred well before using.

Denver Boy is a Winner

Every mother realizes how important it is to teach children good habits of conduct but many of them fail to realize the importance of teaching their children good bowel habits until the poisons from decaying waste held too long in the system have begun to affect the child's health.

Watch your child and at the first sign of constipation, give him a little California Fig Syrup. Children love its rich, fruity taste and it quickly drives away those distressing ailments, such as headaches, bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness, feverishness, fretfulness, etc. It gives them a hearty appetite, regulates their stomach and bowels and gives tone and strength to these organs so they continue to act normally, of their own accord. For over fifty years, leading physicians have prescribed it for half-sick, bilious, constipated children. More than 4 million bottles used a year shows how mothers depend on it.

Mrs. C. G. Wilcox, 3855 1/2 Wolff St., Denver, Colorado, says: "My son, Jackie, is a prize winner for health, now, but we had a lot of trouble with him before we found his trouble was constipation and began giving him California Fig Syrup. It fixed him up quick, gave him a good appetite, made him sleep fine and he's been gaining in weight right along since the first few days, taking it."

To avoid inferior imitations of California Fig Syrup, always look for the word "California" on the carton.

Hungry

Guest (trying to be complimentary)—It's a long time since I've eaten such a good meal.

Hostess—That's what I thought.

Fertile Tracts Formed by Overflow of Rivers

The behavior of rivers is a fascinating subject to study. The speed of a river will frequently be changed by the nature of the land through which it flows. For example, a river will come tumbling down a mountain slope and then enter a flat plain. This causes a great change in the velocity of the river. As the river slows up upon the plain, it can no longer carry all the sediment which it has been bringing down the mountain side. Hence, it will deposit much of the sediment at the foot of the mountain where it enters the plain.

This deposit usually takes the form of a fan-shaped deposit like a section of a cone with its apex in the foot of the mountain. It is known to the geologist as an alluvial cone.

A river will also deposit much of its sediment when it meets with some obstruction which temporarily slows it up. These deposits are known as bars. They are not permanent. A bar will form for a time. Then some change in conditions will cause it to be swept away again while a new bar forms somewhere else.

Another type of deposit occurs where a river flows through a wide flat valley. During a flood season, the river will overflow its banks and spread out over the valley. But the outer reaches of the flood will not have a velocity like the central portion of the stream.

Consequently the sediment will be deposited there and after the flood recedes the valley will be covered with a thick layer of sediment. This is known as a flood plain. These flood plains are usually composed of very fine sediment. As a result, they usually form fertile tracts of land which are extremely valuable for agricultural purposes.

There is in every human countenance either a history or a prophecy, which must sadden, or at least soften, every reflecting observer.—Samuel Taylor Coleridge.

When You CAN'T QUIT

Fatigue is the signal to rest. Obey it if you can. When you can't, keep cool and carry-on in comfort.

Bayer Aspirin was meant for just such times, for it insures your comfort. Freedom from those pains that nag at nerves and wear you down. One tablet will block that threatening headache while it is still just a threat. Take two or three tablets when you've caught a cold, and that's usually the end of it.

Carry Bayer Aspirin when you travel. Have some at home and keep some at the office. Like an efficient secretary, it will often "save the day" and spare you many uncomfortable, unproductive hours. Perfectly harmless, so keep it handy, keep it in mind, and use it. No man of affairs can afford to ignore the score and more of uses explained in the proven directions. From a grumbling tooth to those rheumatic pains which seem almost to bend the bones, Bayer Aspirin is ready with its quick relief—and always works. Neuralgia, Neuritis, Any nagging, needless pain.

Get the genuine tablets, stamped with the Bayer cross. They are of perfect purity, absolute uniformity, and have the same action every time. Why experiment with imitations costing a few cents less? The saving is too little. There is too much at stake. But there is economy in the purchase of genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in the large bottles.

A Tight One
Mary—What you ye gae me for a big kiss, Sandy?
Sandy—A big hug.

"No Sale"
He—What would I have to give you for just one little kiss?
She—Chloroform.

A cat has nine lives to lose, yet she always acts as if she had only the last one left.

You are urged to save money; but the ballyhoo urging you to spend it is louder.
