"LOST SQUADRON" STORY OF FILM IN THE MAKING

A movie within a movie, depicting the neck-breaking stunts of the film dare-devils in a thrilling modern day romance of the air and Hollywood, comes to the State Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with the opening of RKO Radio Pictures' epic "The Lost Squadron," starring Richard Dix. It is said to be his most romantic and dangerous role to date.

The film is Hollywood's answer to the persistent public plea for an action film based on the adventurous exploits of men courting danger for the sake of the thrill it gives them.

The thrills in the picture are genuine. The author of the story, Dick Grace, the screen's King of stunt aviators, makes three breathless crackups—one into the ocean and the other two are perpendicular power dives to the earth.

Geared as it is to the tempo and the unselfish camaraderie of men in peril, the film nevertheless supports a beautiful romance which blooms into full flower out of a chaos of wrecked planes and breathless tail spins.

"The Lost Squadron" is the story of an air picture in the making. The gray canopy of Hollywood's great film industry is revealed most intimately. Great batteries of cameras fill the screen on occasion; a gala Hollywood premiere is shown and the mysterious sound stages are opened for the first time to public inspection.

The cast is in every respect equal to the subject matter. Supporting Dix are Mary Astor, Eric von Stroheim, Joel McCrea, Dorothy Jordan, Robert Armstrong, Hugh Herbert, and others.

IOSCO PROSECUTOR ELECTED TO IMPORTANT OFFICE

At a meeting of prosecutors held in Lansing last week, John A. Stewart, prosecuting attorney of Iosco county, was selected as chairman of the State Association of Prosecuting Attorneys and was elected vice-president of the association for the ensuing year.

Mr. Stewart assisted and was instrumental in organizing the association in 1928.

"WOMAN IN ROOM 13" AFTERMATH OF DIVORCE

Divorce, being one of the most popular of America's topics of conversation, is a mine of dramatic material for motion picture plots. Its effects, especially on the innocent victims, serve as the motivation of "The Woman in Room 13," Elissa Landi's latest Fox drama, showing Friday and Saturday, July 22-23, at the Family Theatre, East Tawas.

Based on the famous play of the same name, the picture relates the experiences of a young wife who divorces a philandering husband to search for happiness with a new mate. The venture is satisfactory in every way until the jealous, revengeful ex-husband plots to prove her unfaithful.

Henry King directed the picture which is said to give Miss Landi her best screen role. The popular star is supported by an able cast which includes Ralph Bellamy, Neil Hamilton, Myrna Loy and Gilbert Roland.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

The tax rolls of the city of Tawas City are now in my hands for collection. I will be at the City Hall on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons each week, from 1:00 to 4:00 o'clock, E. S. T.

Chas. Duffy, City Treasurer.

URGES CITIZENS TO ATTEND VET MEET, SUNDAY

Yesterday, Mayor Edward Trudell of Tawas City said, "We feel honored in having the ex-servicemen and their families of the 10th District visit our city and I find every citizen of the city is cooperating with the Legion Posts of Tawas City and East Tawas to make them welcome and their visit here Sunday worth while. In addition to the regular Legion schedule of business, a field meet and many entertaining events have been incorporated in the program. All the business men of the two cities have been very liberal in furnishing prizes for these events.

"In conclusion, I think it would be especially fine if those who find it convenient would take their families to the fair grounds and enjoy the day with the veterans. As a special act of courtesy I ask that flags be displayed Sunday."

Dinner will be served at noon Sunday at the Fair Grounds, followed by a business meeting. After the business meeting there will be a parade, band concerts and other Legion events.

At two o'clock Sunday afternoon an airplane exhibition will be given over the Fair Grounds by the 17th Pursuit Squadron of Mt. Clemens. The squadron will make a special trip here for the purpose.

MR. THORPE, MR. SWANSON VISIT RENO POTATO CLUB

Reno's Real Rural Russet Raisers, Iosco county's only 4-H Potato club, under the leadership of Norman O. Sibley of Reno, enjoyed the presence of Gus A. Thorpe, Assistant State 4-H Club Leader from the Michigan State College, and Hugo T. Swanson, superintendent of the East Tawas high school, Thursday, July 7. Ten boys and Charles Fournier, a member of the advisory board, were present.

A short business meeting was held with Alfred Anderson, president, and Gerald Fournier, secretary, in charge, after which Mr. Thorpe gave a very interesting and instructive talk on 4-H Club work in general; as to different types of potatoes; how to keep an accurate account of a potato crop; the benefits of 4-H Club work; how to identify different types of potatoes from plant and tuber and many other points equally as interesting.

Mr. Swanson then presented a very interesting talk on his college days with Mr. Thorpe, when they played football together; the necessity of a high school education, and last but not least, the truth in the old proverb, "Anything worth doing at all is worth doing well."

The remainder of the forenoon was spent in visiting the potato projects of Gerald Fournier, Henry Ross and Leonard Harsch, where Mr. Thorpe identified and explained the cause and remedy of many potato diseases.

MANIKIN TELLS OF HER PARIS LIFE

Sumurun, Famous Beauty, Says All Is Not Frills.

Paris.—The private life of a Paris manikin, bedecked with diamonds and befurred with sable and ermine to the casual and superficial observer, often is a couple of cold sausages and a cupful of black coffee to the person who takes the trouble to investigate beyond the thick piled carpets and crystal chandeliers of the style salons.

Sumurun—enchantress of the desert—British beauty with eyes the color of the River Nile and jet black tresses from the land of the tambourines and troubadours, has given the inside story of her life as the world's most beautiful manikin.

Her real name first was Vera Ashby before her marriage to a scientist, a professor of mental diseases, Doctor Papadaki. He later, for love of her, shot himself in his laboratory in Switzerland after a year of honeymoon happiness, horror and worse-than-death existence, during which his own mind became deranged. Fearing that in his moments of delirium he might harm his beautiful bride, he took his own life that she might be free.

When this British beauty, whom everyone accuses of being every known nationality except her own, first became a manikin, she was a long, lean, lanky girl in her teens, walking the streets for a job. Her father had failed in business. She had a friend who was working at Lucile's in London. The girl told her to try out for a manikin's job that was open.

"Me be a fashion manikin?" she replied. "Why, you know I couldn't. I'm too skinny and I'm not beautiful!" she finished wistfully. The friend insisted and the next day she was on the stage of Lady Duff Gordon's salon with Edward Molyneux, now of Paris fame, as her audience.

"They draped an oriental gown over me," she said, "a gorgeous piece of fabric designed by Molyneux. The very touch of it thrilled me beyond words. I heard him shout through the emptiness of the room, 'Act! Do something with yourself—move around—interpret my dress, be somebody!'"

The keen observer of inborn grace and refinement knew that he had made a "find." His curt, "Very well. You will do," was uttered even more gruffly to hide his exultation.

"Soon after that," continued the now famous manikin, "I was sent to Lucile's Paris house with Molyneux. A month later when he opened up his own place I went with him. Because I always felt the interpretation of the clothes I wore, people soon began to write and talk about me, and before I knew what was happening I became famous, receiving proposals from love-sick office boys and millionaires alike—both by mail and in person.

"It was love at first sight on the part of my first husband, and he exerted a spell over me which I was powerless to break, even with my own wish not to marry him. At first I used to stay up until 3 and 4 a. m., going to cabarets and shows, but when I couldn't pay the price I found was expected my invitations became fewer and fewer.

"I still lived in one room in a little hotel and even after my spectacular marriage to Doctor Papadaki, his tragic death and my return to work with Molyneux, I never could stand to pre-terred in my private life the life I only acted during the day."

In 1930 Sumurun became the bride of an artist whom she saved from suicide by sending him a little bouquet of violets, intuitively and at the psychological moment when he had the pistol pointed at his temple.

A little note pinned to the flowers said: "I am your friend; you never need feel lonely."

Marcel Poncin could not ask the gorgeous girl to marry him because he was destitute. The enchantress of the desert had to put words in his mouth and then set action to the words. They were wed amid enthusiastic ceremonies in the Latin quarter of the left bank "and now," she concluded, "I have gone back to work, not as a manikin this time, but as a saleswoman. This is a real love match and, while we have no money, we have each other."

NOW OR NEVER

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TICK forever, tock forever,
Tick forever, tock,
Tick forever, now or never,
Forever goes the clock.
Age is passing, babes a-borning,
Day, and dark, and light,
Today, tonight, tomorrow morning,
And then tomorrow night.

Time is ticking out a minute,
Minutes making hours,
Hours a day, and each within it
Has its thorns and flowers.
Days and weeks and months and seasons
Make at last a year,
Years a life, while learning reasons
And faith is firm and clear.

Where we end it, when begin it,
Long we live, or how,
Life is minute after minute,
And that minute now.
Tick forever, tock forever,
Tick forever, tock,
Tick forever, now or never,
Forever goes the clock.

STORY FOR YOUNG FOLKS

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Don't count your chickens till they're hatched,
Nor eat your dinner till you get it.
Don't try to fly till you get wings.
Nor wash your face until you wet it.

LONGLEGS the heron stood among the rushes on the edge of the Smiling Pool and his eyes were bright with joy. Just a little way out in front of him a school of minnows were at play and little by little they were drawing nearer and nearer. Longlegs knows all about minnows. He knows just how heedless and careless they are when at play, and he knows that they dearly love to play among the bur-rushes. You see, when Longlegs isn't about they are safer there than anywhere else, and they know it. Out in the deep water live big fish who are quite as fond of minnows as is Long-legs himself, but where the bulrushes grow the water is very shallow. It is not deep enough for the big fish, but plenty deep enough for little minnows. Then, too, there is always plenty to eat there.

So Longlegs felt sure that these minnows he was watching would soon come swimming around his very feet, for he knew that they did not know that he was there. He had waited so long that his stomach was so empty that he felt as if the bottom was dropping out of it. Not so much as a single pollywog had shown itself. This was because Grandfather Frog had seen Longlegs when he arrived and had warned the pollywogs to keep away from where he was. You know the pollywogs are Grandfather Frog's children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. So when at last Long-legs saw those minnows he was happy. He felt absolutely sure of at least one of them, and he meant to pick out the biggest and fattest.

DIET AND FOOD

AFTER all the advice from various diet experts as to reduction of fat, if we simmer it down to the reasonable and normal conclusion, we find that if one is overweight, we need less food and more exercise. Less food does not mean that we should change our mode of living, or give up the foods we like, but cut down on the amount. Leave the table with the feeling that you could eat more, and would really enjoy more; but refrain. Such is good discipline for both the body and the mind. The Chinese, healthy, long-lived and normal in weight, eat one food mostly. The single diet, that is their secret. In Russia cabbage is the main dish. One of the evils of our modern civilized life is the complexity and mixtures that we make of food.

Look at the large families of healthy children if there are any large families in your neighborhood; note their diet. One family of nine, with seven healthy, rugged, bright-minded children would have for a noon meal such a one as this: When green peas were plentiful, they made a meal of cooked peas with bread and butter. When strawberries were in season strawberry shortcake would be the whole meal for the nine. All had all they wanted and everybody was satisfied and needed nothing more.

Every one of those children is well and doing his or her part in the world's work. They were poor, but never made any apologies if a friend dropped in at meal time; he was as welcome as if they were serving a feast, which it was, to every guest.

How simple we could make our meals if we followed the single diet; what a saving on the housewife and wear and tear on our stomachs. But of course we hear some one say, I cannot eat strawberries and it doesn't run in our family to like cabbage? Well, pick out the food you do like; there should be many, and give a day to the enjoyment of each, or even a meal of one food now and then.

Falling Downstairs Caused 1,800 Deaths

London.—Falling downstairs, out of bed, and over broom handles and buckets, may be dull accidents in most cases, but they caused the death of almost 1,800 women last year.

This was revealed recently by Miss Margaret Bondfield to a women's session of the National Safety congress held here. The session was considering the problem of "Safety in the Home."

Figures presented to the congress (those of 1930, the latest available) showed that falling downstairs cost the lives of 675 persons, falling out of windows took 135 more, while falling from bed sent no less than 55 into the hereafter.

RESEARCH IS LINDBERGH'S JOB

Colonel Keeps Nature of Experiments Secret.

New York.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has plunged into his research work with renewed vigor in an effort to forget the past.

He goes almost daily to an extensive laboratory reserved for his personal use in the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, in New York city, but exactly what he does there is hidden behind a barrier of secrecy.

A few months ago it became known that Colonel Lindbergh, then the happy father of a curly-haired son, had been working on a centrifugal apparatus designed to separate serum from the blood.

Observers, however, are disinclined to believe his whole attention is riveted on such a prosaic affair as a centrifuge. Curiosity has been whetted by instructions prohibiting employees from approaching the Lindbergh laboratory or attempting to engage the famous flyer in conversation.

When Lindbergh sits among co-workers for luncheon in the restaurant on the grounds he is not disturbed. None speaks of the dire events which the colonel is trying to forget.

They have been cautioned, too, against talking abroad about the colonel's return to his laboratories, so that he may enter and leave without being subjected to the gaze of curious outsiders.

HEADS COAST GUARD

Lindbergh, who was known as "Slim" long before his son was kidnapped, obviously has lost weight, but his countenance is cheerful.

There is much speculation as to the nature of his work. In connection with the serum experiment, it was recalled that Lindbergh's first association with the institute was when he flew to Quebec with some anti-pneumonia serum provided by it for the stricken Floyd Bennett. It is thought he might be interested in developing a serum to be carried on polar flights, but that is only one of the many guesses and rumors.

Royal Dinner Service Sold for Princesses

London.—A royal silver dinner service, engraved with the arms of Prince Henry of Battenberg and of Princess Beatrice and made by the famous silversmith, Paul Storr, was sold recently at auction by order of Princess Beatrice.

It brought $8,340, though valued at one time at $50,000.

The royal owner is said to have disposed of the service to bolster the dowries of her two granddaughters, the children of ex-King Alfonso and Queen Ena of Spain.

Sometime ago it was understood that the betrothals of the two princesses were to be made public almost immediately, but it was announced later that they had been indefinitely postponed.

English Books in Lead in German Translation

Berlin.—Books written in the English language hold first place among works by foreign authors translated into German.

Next to German books, the average German reader prefers those translated from the English. American and British authors, statistics reveal, enjoy the greatest popularity in Germany. Russia is second.

Nevertheless, the publication of foreign books shows a decrease within the past half year of over 20 per cent, compared with the year before. France was the chief loser.

Invents Mechanical Aid to Guide City Visitors

Columbus, Ohio.—The "Teleguide," a mechanical aid to strangers, has made its appearance in Columbus.

The device, an invention of Michael Abel, consists of a large scale map of the central portion of the city, over which are scattered 900 little lights corresponding to various public buildings, places of interest and business firms.

Each light is numbered and listed on a large directory board.

The stranger seeking the location of the county courthouse, on referring to the directory, finds it is number 362. He steps to an instrument, similar to an automatic telephone and dials a number. Light 362 glows, marking the courthouse.

Three "Teleguides," constructed at a cost of $30,000 will be available to the public soon. One will be installed in the Union station. The others will be placed in the city's two largest hotels.

It was said that negotiations were under way for installing "Teleguides" at the Century of Progress at Chicago next year to direct visitors to the various exhibits.

Buy's Painting for 40c; Finds It Worth $1,500

Chico, Calif.—Profit of $1,499.60 on a 40-cent investment is good business, U. A. Raby believes.

He purchased a painting for 40 cents at an auction. When art critics saw the painting they valued it at $1,500. They said it was the work of W. L. Sonntag, recognized early American artist.

Depleting three miners digging on a knoll, the painting bore the date 1855. It has been taken to Los Angeles for exhibit at the Jonathan club.

GOOD MARKET FOR SPECIAL PRODUCTS

Demand Solves Problem of Extra Butterfat.

(By R. J. RAMSEY, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.)

Many farmers are making money marketing their surplus butterfat in the form of whipping cream, sweet cream butter, honey butter and other special products which are easily prepared on the farm.

Sweet cream butter was originated to meet the demands of the housewife for a very high-grade product. It requires no equipment that is not used in churning sour cream. However, the flavor of this butter is so mild and delicate that only the very highest quality of sweet fresh cream can be used. Even the feed of the cows must be watched carefully to avoid undesirable feed flavors. All milking utensils, and even the separator, should be sterilized with boiling water each day before being used. If boiling water is not available, chemical sterilizers, such as bleaching powder, may be used.

The milk should be separated immediately after milking and the cream cooled to 60 degrees. The cream must be kept cold until churned in order to prevent souring and to make churning easier. It is best to churn every other day, provided enough cream is available. Sweet cream is somewhat harder to churn than sour cream, so it must be aged at a low temperature for several hours before churning. For this season of the year the churning temperature should be about 50 degrees.

The churning should be stopped when the granules of butter are the size of a wheat kernel. The butter-milk then should be removed and the butter covered with fresh cold water. The churn should be revolved a few times, the rinse water removed and the washing repeated. The butter is removed and placed on a chilled butter worker and worked until no moisture is visible in large droplets. Care should be taken not to overwork it. Only a fine grade of butter salt should be used in salting it, as table salt is likely to cause grittiness.

If sweet cream butter is not salted, it may be made into honey butter. This makes a delicious spread for those who like honey. It is made by adding one pound of light-colored honey to one pound of soft cream butter. The two should be well mixed and then placed in containers and put in a refrigerator to harden.

Sanitary Measures to End "Ropiness" in Milk

A slimy or ropy condition in milk is brought about by the growth of bacteria and usually does not appear until 12 to 24 hours after the milk is drawn. The bacteria may come from the water in which the utensils were rinsed, from dust in the barn at milking time, or occasionally from an infected udder. Unless the infection comes from the udder, it can be eliminated by the practice of good sanitary measures, which consist of milking in a place comparatively free from dust, cleaning the cow's rear flanks and udder with a damp cloth, and handling the milk in vessels that have been thoroughly washed and sterilized.

Looking to Herd's Future

When selecting a herd sire the following points should be considered: Only pure-bred bull should be used; the production of the ancestors of the bull, especially that of the dam and the dam of the sire should be high; the individuality of the bull and his ancestors should be good; the production of the daughters of the bull, or of related cows, should be high; the stockman should pay enough to get a bull that will improve the herd; a proven bull is a more dependable sire than a young untried bull; where two or more farmers purchase a bull in partnership they can well afford to get a better bull than where each buys one; the dam of the bull should have a better record than the best cow in the herd.

Bran as Hay Substitute

Hay was a good crop in most sections last year and the quality was good, also. Nevertheless, there may be some of our readers who were short of good hay this winter. If such is the case, it might be well to know that bran at the present low prices is a fairly good substitute.

If possible, some hay should be fed, of course, but if there is plenty of good silage, and when bran is cheap as it is at present, the amount of hay may be cut down or almost eliminated without damage to the cow.—American Agriculturist.

DAIRY HINTS

There is always a demand for proved sires.

Cows need from three to four pounds of water for each pound of milk they give.

The price of a pound of grain is about the same as the price of a pound of milk. If an additional pound or two of grain makes a cow give an additional two or four pounds of milk, feed the grain.

FIRST-CHOICE or SECOND-choice

Which tire will you buy at the same low price?

Why do you suppose that Goodyear Tires lead all others in public preference by better than two to one?

Why do you suppose that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind—and have for 17 years?

These tires must be FIRST-CHOICE because they're better.

They must outsell all other tires in the world because they outrun them on the road.

On a straight quality basis, then, it certainly looks like common sense to buy FIRST-CHOICE tires.

Which brings up the question, "how about price?"

Most of the best things on the market naturally cost more than the second-raters.

But here's the amazing fact about tires:

You can get the safety, the quality, the extra life and trouble-free mileage of the world's greatest tire at no extra cost.

Think that over when someone tries to high-pressure you into buying an unknown or doubtful bargain.

Just ask him this simple question: "Why should I pay good money for any second-choice tire when FIRST-CHOICE costs no more?"

VILLAGE HAS HAD ITS DAY OF GLORY

Old Tadoussac Now Quiet Summer Resort.

The oldest white settlement in America, and once the center of the American fur trade, the quaint little French Canadian village of Tadoussac, on the lower St. Lawrence river, is today a quiet Canadian summer resort.

Nestling among the foothills of the blue-capped Laurentian mountains at the junction of the St. Lawrence and Saguenay rivers, the village itself is still living in the past, the natural beauty of its surroundings and the quaintness of its people attracting each summer a large number of holiday-makers who are seeking to leave behind the rush and bustle of modern life.

Woven around Tadoussac is a long and romantic history. Here Jacques Cartier, the first explorer of New France, landed in the summer of 1535, and there are numerous tales of visits by those fierce sea rovers, the Vikings, at a much earlier date. Tadoussac, with its natural protected harbor, was long used as a whaling station by the Basques and Bretons, who were the first to form a settlement there, and it was in 1599 that the first house in Canada was built. At the opening of the century, Tadoussac became the center of the fur trading industry, which extended as far as Labrador and Hudson bay.

The first trading post of the Hudson Bay company, that great company of gentlemen adventurers, was erected on the site where the modern Hotel Tadoussac now stands.

In 1603, Champlain landed at Tadoussac and made his disastrous treaty with the Algonquins, thus incurring the enmity of the warlike Iroquois, and in the same year the oldest church in America, the Tadoussac Indian chapel, was erected. On the site of the first church a tiny chapel still stands and the bell, which three centuries ago called the converted Indians to mass, still rings out from the chapel belfry.

In 1661, the Iroquois sacked the village, leaving standing only the church, which their superstition prompted them to leave unharmed and for a time Tadoussac was a deserted village.

In the meantime, explorers had pressed onward and in the search for new worlds this beauty spot on the lower river was neglected. Great cities sprang up throughout the Dominion and Tadoussac remained a tiny village important today only for its historical interest and its summer resort fame. Once the scene of great historical events, peaceful and warlike, Tadoussac today submits each summer to a peaceful invasion as visitors arrive by steamer and by car to rest and play in this oldest settlement on the continent.

Woman's Chief Charms

Not to Be Purchased

The mouth is a photograph of the disposition. Someone has said that we are not responsible for the disposition we are born with, but we are responsible for the one that we die with. It is the same with the mouth. The sweetness and kissableness and dearness of a baby's mouth are not dependent on the shape or size. Baby's mouth is sweet because his soul is sweet. No brand of lipstick, nor any artist in its use, can camouflage a sour mouth and make even a casual observer believe it is sweet.

Then there is the eye, which the contents of the vanity case cannot change. "The eye is the window of the soul." You can buy something that will lengthen the fringe on the curtains to your soul-windows, you can change the cut of the lambrequins above, but you can't keep people from looking in sometimes, unless you pull the shades down altogether and put yourself in darkness. No vanity case, not even a whole drug store or beauty shop, can make attractive the windows out of which looks a quarrelsome, envious soul.

Keep sweet within, if you want to get full value from your vanity case.—Nellie S. Russell in the Farm Journal.

Governor Sterling's Joke

Gov. Ross Sterling tells this one with a chuckle:

"I had been visiting the Imperial prison farm, near Houston. They furnished me with a car and an efficient driver to return to Houston.

"If it will not make you too late, I wish you would drive me on to the Bay." (Sterling's summer home), I said.

"Certainly, sir."

"You will have enough time?"

"Oh, yes, sir, I have seven years."

Species of Hawks That Are Friends of Farmer

The saying, "the only good hawk is a dead hawk," has been proven false by modern biological studies. Some hawks, of course, prey at times on poultry and valuable game birds. Many, however, live mainly on rodents, insects, and other destructive forms of wild life.

It is not easy to distinguish between the harmful and harmless species of hawks, that in itself being good reason for erring, if at all, on the side of protection. In general, say biologists of the United States Department of Agriculture, harmless hawks have broad wings and wide, fan-shaped tails, and the harmful ones have relatively long tails and rounded wings. Study of the appearance and habits of the hawks in any section should enable farmers and sportsmen to tell which are likely to visit the chicken yard and which will confine themselves largely to feeding on injurious animals, and thus be useful.

Market Cross in History

Throughout all its history the market cross continued to perform its chief functions as the center of civic life in the burgh. Proclamations of all kinds had been made there throughout local history, public punishments were inflicted there, hanging, decapitation, etc., took place there also, and at one time the "branks" or iron bridle for misguided or disorderly women was attached to the cross.—London Answers.

Diseases Caused by Mind

We should be surprised if, suffering from rheumatism, we went to a doctor and, instead of being given medicine, we were told to cease our cynicism and the rheumatism would depart. Yet that may be the procedure shortly for it has been established that certain diseases are caused by the action of the mind—the thoughts we think, and the feelings and emotions thereby raised.

Evil-Smelling Gas

"Mustard gas" was given the name because it had a mustardlike odor. It is said that some of the French mustard gas smelled more like garlic than mustard.

Belligerent Turkey

In Los Angeles, Calif., W. E. Proudweine, knife in hand, set out after a large turkey. The bird, angered, kicked the knife into Proudweine's arm, severing an artery. Then it leaped upon the bleeding man, and viciously tore his shirt to tatters.

Chromium Hard to Dent

Chromium is nearly as hard as ruby, says a leader of the Chemical foundation. In addition to its uses for silver-bright plating on automobiles, it is coated upon tools to give them resistance to wear.

America is counting cylinders and AMERICA PREFERS THE SIX

Since January 1st, buyers have chosen more Chevrolet Sixes than the combined total of all fours and all eights priced below $1000

When buying a low-priced car, do as America is doing: Count cylinders! And you'll say, as America is saying: "SIX! No more. No less!" America is saying that in the most convincing way it could possibly be said! With SALES! Since January 1st, the public has purchased more Chevrolets than the combined total of all four-cylinder cars and all eights priced under $1000.

Why? America counted cylinders and came to this conclusion: six is the ideal number for a car of lowest price! No more, because an engine with extra cylinders is bound to cost more for gas, oil and upkeep. No less, because six is the smallest number of cylinders you can have in a car and avoid the undesirable effects of inherent vibration.

A six, as Chevrolet builds it, is the happy medium between two extremes. It gives unexcelled economy.

No other motor car engine in America today costs so little for gas, oil and upkeep. It gives built-in smoothness. From 6 miles an hour to 65 or 70, Chevrolet is quietly, comfortably, enjoyably smooth. And because of this smoothness—plus the fact that the whole car is so solidly, ruggedly built—Chevrolet is a low-priced automobile that really stands up. It's a good, reliable, economical car the day you buy it... and it keeps on being good, reliable, economical after 5,000—10,000—15,000 miles of driving.

In addition, Chevrolet is a modern car, with Free Wheeling, Syncro-Mesh gear-shifting, Fisher bodies—and many other advanced features. Be cylinder-wise! Follow America's lead and make your next low-priced car a six—a Chevrolet Six! Unless you do, you can't expect the smoothness, economy and lasting satisfaction to which your money rightfully entitles you.

All prices f.o.b. Flint, Mich. Special equipment extra. Low delivered prices and easy G. M. A. C. terms

SUCH IS LIFE—What's in a Birthday?

By Charles Sughroe

Modern Contract Bridge By Lelia Hattersley

No. 9. Responding to Partner's Original Suit Bid of One

The basis of all successful cooperative bidding depends upon partners thinking in terms of "our hand" instead of "my hand." When your partner makes a bid, listen to him and try to visualize his holding. Register a mental picture of it, see how it fits with yours. Hear everything the opponents have to say. And then endeavor to co-operate with your partner in arriving at the declaration that would be made if each could see the other's cards.

When contemplating a raise of his partner's bid suit, the supporting hand counts:

- First—Trump length and honors.
- Second—Long-cards and honors in side suits.
- Third—Ruffing tricks produced by short suits.

The most vital question in considering a suit raise is whether or not your hand contains the normal number of trumps expected by your partner. Before counting your raising tricks, look to your trumps and remember that you must not raise your partner's original bid of one or two unless you hold at least four small trumps or three headed by an ace, or a king, or a queen.

The reason for this stringent rule is apparent when you realize that your partner's hand may contain no more than four trumps. If, in spite of the fact that you lack trump support, you encourage your partner to go on with his suit bid, he may end by playing a high contract, with the opponents disastrously in control of the trump situation. Holding good support for your partner in honor-tricks, but a deficiency in trumps, your recourse lies in a take-out, never in a raise.

When your partner, without assistance, rebids his trump suit, you may if holding justifiable values raise him with three small trumps or two with an honor as good as a queen. In short, one trump less than the usual normal expectancy is sufficient to raise a rebid suit.

If your partner, unassisted, rebids as high as three odd, or makes an opening bid of three or more, practically no trump support is needed for a raise; nor is it necessary to consider trump support when raising a partner's jump-overcall of three after an opponent's bid.

The trump length and honors are valued thus:

Trumps	Tricks
Three small or less	0
Four small	1/2
Five small	1
Six small	2
Add for ace or a king	1
Add for queen	1/2, sometimes 1

(A queen is counted as one trick when necessary to complete the count of a hand for a raise or a takeout)

In side suits which have not been mentioned by an opponent, high cards and length are valued the same way in the assisting hand as in the hand of the initial bidder, that is by honor-trick values and length values.

But if an adversary has bid, a shift must be made in estimating the value of guarded honors and tenaces in his suit according to whether you are over or under the adverse bid.

When holding four or more trumps, the ability to trump side suits is a tremendous asset in the dummy hand. In an assisting hand which holds four trumps, the ability to ruff a suit from the first lead is worth at least three tricks; a singleton is worth two tricks, and a doubleton one. With fewer trumps these short suit values are proportionately reduced, as will be seen from the following table.

Holding	With 3 cards in trump suit	With 4 or more in trump suit
2 short suits, only one, the shortest, should be counted
A doubleton (a two-card side-suit)	1/2 trick	1 trick
A singleton (one card of a suit)	1 trick	2 tricks
A void (not any cards of a suit)	2 tricks	3 tricks

Brook Farm Experiment
The Brook Farm Institute of Agriculture and Education was composed of a stock company of nearly 70 members. The organization had a farm of 200 acres at West Roxbury, Mass. Among the members were: George Ripley, Charles A. Dana, George William Curtis, Margaret Fuller and Nathaniel Hawthorne. Among their frequent visitors were: Ralph Waldo Emerson, Theodore Parker and Bronson Alcott. The experiment lasted from 1841 to 1846. The Brook farm was a failure, but it was important in intellectual results. Waning enthusiasm and a disastrous fire hastened its dissolution in 1856.

GINSENG IMPORTANT ITEM OF COMMERCE

Crop United States Grows but Does Not Use.

Washington. — "Ginseng's popularity with the Chinese seems to defy falling markets and political disorders, for last year more than a quarter million pounds were exported from the United States to Hong Kong," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

"Ginseng has been an item in United States commerce since Colonial times. The first American cargo boat that cleared New York for Hong Kong, in 1784, carried ginseng. The Chinese drink ginseng tea for its tonic quality. Though we raise it and sell it, the tea has never been highly regarded in the United States, and very little is consumed here.

"Ginseng is a plant that grows from 8 to 20 inches high, has oval-shaped leaves, bears greenish-yellow blossoms in mid-summer and red berries in the fall. It thrives in mountain areas of temperate North America and Asia. The above-ground portion of the plant is not utilized; it is the thick root that enters commerce.

"Long before Marco Polo passed down the Cathay coast, ginseng tea was a favorite tonic among the nobility and wealthy people of China. The poor could not afford to drink the brew. It was once worth its weight in gold. Last year's shipments averaged about $8 per pound.

"Most of the early oriental ginseng grew in the mountains of Korea and Manchuria. Every plant was owned by the ruling houses. Korean kings derived most of their revenue from ginseng roots. Manchurian rulers waxed rich.

"Shape has much to do with ginseng price fixing. The more a root is shaped like a man, the more valuable it is on the Chinese market.

"Ginseng played an important part in oriental politics in the Seventeenth century. Manchu nobles, seeing their supply of wild ginseng depleted, made laws to protect their plants against the raids of southern Chinese. Protection of ginseng resources was one of the reasons for the laws which excluded all Chinese from the domain of the Manchus. Operations of ginseng smugglers, however, persisted.

"Chinese prefer the wild ginseng, although the American layman cannot detect the difference between the wild and cultivated roots. With the depletion of the oriental wild ginseng supply, the American Colonist readily found a market for the roots which grew at the back doors of their villages.

"Perhaps the first American ginseng collections were trappers who discovered the plants while making their rounds. Later search for the plant led professional hunters into the trackless American forests. Thus ginseng helped open up new regions to the Colonists.

"Wild ginseng thrives in mountain regions from Minnesota to Maine and southward to the Gulf coast. As in the Orient, domestic wild roots became scarce and high prices paid for the roots led enterprising Americans to establish farms. Some growers have profited from ginseng cultivation, but small fortunes also have been lost. It takes from six to seven years of expert care to develop a mature root. Some domestic ginseng farms have been established in the woods where the wild roots thrive. Others have been established in clearings, but in these cases the farms are roofed so that only one-fourth of the day's sunshine will strike the plants.

"Most of the ginseng exported from the United States today is of the cultivated variety."

STRANGE BONE AILMENT OF GIRL IS PUZZLE TO DOCTOR

Eleven-Year-Old Miss Has Had Many Fractures.

Chicago.—Suffering from a strange ailment which has kept her a semi-invalid since she was three years old, Mary Mestdagh, eleven years old, of Homer, Mich., has returned to her home after treatment in a Chicago hospital designed to make her bones less brittle.

Mary has suffered so many bone fractures in the last eight years that her parents have lost track of them. At least 35 or 40 fractures are revealed by X-ray pictures, however, her physician, Dr. Frederick Harvey, said.

Doctor Harvey is engaged in research work on Mary's case at Northwestern university. Mary returned to her home from the North Chicago hospital, where she was treated for a broken right arm after her physician in Homer, Dr. F. B. Van Nuyes, sent her to Doctor Harvey. But she will have to return to Chicago at intervals for observation.

"It is an unusual malady," said Doctor Harvey. "Virtually every long bone in her body has been broken one or more times. They have healed fairly well. We think that the last fracture is going to heal perfectly, but of course we can't be sure yet.

"We've given the child special diets containing calcium and are studying the formation of her bones.

"Examination revealed that the bone structure is so extraordinarily thin and brittle that any slight stress results in a fracture. This obviously imperfect calcification appears to be occasioned through malnutrition of the membrane that nourishes the bone."

Doctor Harvey, a specialist in bone diseases, also has been treating the child with injections of glandular extracts. These are made from the ductless glands, which, it has been proved by science in recent years, control to a large extent such functional processes as that of growth.

The ailment has left Mary's bones "as brittle as egg shells," it was said. The outer covering is so unsubstantial as to permit of fracture from the least jar or pressure. Her latest fracture was sustained from a slight strain involving not even a fall.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Emeritus Dean of Men,
University of Illinois.

We were all surprised a few years ago when Walter and Grace were married. They were quite children at the time; they had known each other only a few weeks, and their acquaintance had in no sense been intimate. Their marriage had been a matter of sudden impulse, and they had gone off without announcement or knowledge of their friends. They were headstrong, both of them, each determined to have what he wanted without regard to right or reason. They stayed on through college, as many young people do, after they were married, and graduated. No one seemed to concern himself as to whether they were getting on together ill or otherwise.

The newspaper last night announced that she was suing for divorce. Cruelty was the ground she alleged. Neither one had ever realized the real meaning of marriage, and the only way they could see out of the middle they had made of life was divorce, and divorce seldom settles marital difficulties.

There is a great deal being said these days in favor of making divorce easier, so that those who rush impetuously and thoughtlessly into the most sacred and binding relationship which exists between human beings

All Around the House

When making pastry, roll in one direction only if you want it to be light. Rolling first in one direction and then in another is almost sure to make it tough.

Dust is most successfully removed from red furniture when a hose is used. Set the furniture on the lawn when the sun is shining and play the hose on it.

A delicious drink is made by pouring a pint of water over a raw apple cut in small pieces. Let it stand an hour, strain, sweeten a little, add a stick of cinnamon and chill.

To remove a fresh grease spot on a rug, cover the spot with blotting paper, then press with a hot flat-iron. Cover the spot with magnesia, let it remain for 24 hours, then brush off.

If washable curtains become rusted on the rods during damp weather, dampen the rust spots and cover them with a thin coating of salts of lemon. Let stand until the stains disappear.

Row With Mate Over Cards Fatal to Wife

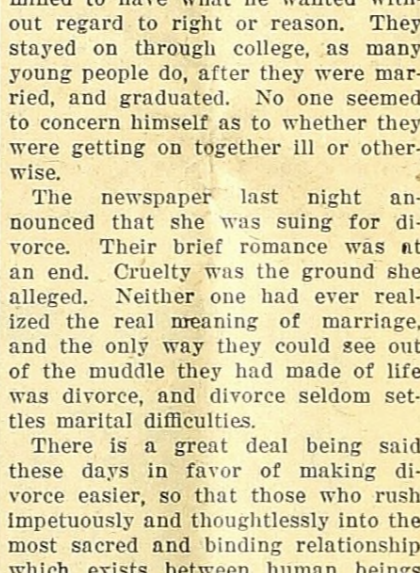

Cleveland.—A quarrel during a game of rummy with her husband brought death to Mrs. John O. Steer, thirty-six. The husband, a middle-aged dentist, will be formally charged with murder, authorities announce. Mrs. Steer died of gunshot wounds and blows.

The quarrel arose over an argument concerning systems of playing rummy. Steel is reported to have confessed, and it was the first serious dispute in many years of married life.

Two Are Hitch-Hiking Across Sahara Desert

Paris.—Two young Londoners have made their way half the distance across the Sahara as the desert's first hitch-hikers, walking and catching rides on camel caravans. William Donkin and Norman Peran were reported recently to be near Fort Flatters on the edge of the Hoggar, a region inhabited by the wildest of desert tribes. From Fort Flatters they will go to Fort Polignac, then across the Hoggar to Tamanrasset and on to Kano in the Niger colony.

HEADS WOMEN'S CLUBS

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole of Brockton, Mass., was elected president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the convention in Seattle, to succeed Mrs. John F. Sippel of Boston. Mrs. Poole was unopposed.

POTPOURRI

Peculiar Candles

Certain Alaskan tribes use a salt water fish called the candle fish, measuring about 15 inches in length, for lighting purposes. After the fish has been dried, a crude wick is forced through it. When ignited it burns freely. This is possible because of the extreme oilness of the fish. The is also considered very good sea food.

United States Volcanoes
There are few active volcanoes in the United States at the present time, but a number have become extinct within times geographically recent. There was an eruption of Tres Virgenes, Calif., in 1857. Mount Lassen renewed its activity mildly a few years ago. Mount Hood, in Oregon, exhales vapor, as does also Mount Rainier, in Washington. Mount St. Helena, Wash., was in eruption in 1841-42 and Mount Baker, also in Washington, was reported active in 1843.
