

THE TAWAS HERALD

VOLUME L

Two Dollars Per Year

TAWAS CITY, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1933

NUMBER 49

TAWAS CITY

Mrs. H. M. Belknap returned Saturday from a week's visit with her son in Pontiac.

Mrs. John Swartz and children of Alpena will spend the week end with the former's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Duffey.

Mrs. Fred Kuerbitz spent the week end in Bay City with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Murray and son, Gregory, of Flint spent Thanksgiving with relatives in the city.

Mrs. Victor Beauchamp and daughter, Helen, of Washington, D. C., visited relatives in the city.

A dozen photos make twelve ideal and inexpensive gifts. Bassler Studio. Open nights and Sundays.

The M. E. Ladies Aid will meet Friday evening, December 8th, with Mrs. Chas. Duffey.

George Laidlaw is visiting relatives in Detroit for a couple weeks.

Mrs. J. A. Brugger and Mrs. P. N. Thornton were Bay City visitors on Tuesday.

Ladies! Have you completed your Christmas shopping? Attend Mrs. Wm. Fitzhugh's gift sale at Mrs. C. T. Prescott's, Friday afternoon, December 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lanski and children of Detroit are spending a couple of weeks in the Tawas with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kuerbitz of Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kuerbitz of Bay City, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Labbens of Linwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kuerbitz of Bay City were week end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuerbitz.

Mrs. D. Cutler of St. Joseph, Mich., is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. L. Davis, this week.

See the large assortment of penny Christmas Cards and folders at Keiser's Drug Store, Tawas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McLean and two children of Flint visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Laidlaw, and attended the Carter-Laidlaw wedding. They returned to their home on Monday.

Adolph Schmelzer of East Chicago visited in the city a few days this week.

Mrs. N. D. Murchison spent Thursday in Bay City.

Louis T. Braddock visited in Flint last week.

If you haven't been photographed for some time, your photo now will make a perfect Christmas gift. Bassler Studio. Open nights and Sundays.

Bazaar and Supper at the Tawas City M. E. church on Friday, December 15th.

Eugene Smith of Saginaw spent Thanksgiving with his mother, Mrs. L. B. Smith, and sister, Mrs. Edw. Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hartwick and baby of Saline were week end visitors in the city.

Miss Thelma Brown spent Thanksgiving and the week end in Rochester at her parental home.

(Turn to No. 1, Back Page)

Zion Lutheran Church
10:00 a. m.—German Service and Sunday School.
11:00 a. m.—English.
Student Walter Rutkowsky will have charge of both services.
F. A. Sievert, Pastor.

"Worst Woman in Paris"
Is Splendid, Unusual Film
"The Worst Woman in Paris," Jesse L. Lasky's new production for Fox Film, will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, December 10-11-12, at the Rivoli Theatre, Tawas City, with the handsome, debonair, and sophisticated Adolphe Menjou and the alluring, exotic and fascinating Benita Hume in the featured roles.

Jesse L. Lasky, whose name is always associated with the unique and unusual in all of his screen undertakings, once again brings to the screen a production daring in theme, situation and dialogue. This time he delves deeply into the life of a Parisian demi-monde, and follows her footsteps in her quest for romance from the gay spots of Paris to the quiet country life of Kansas.

The story concerns itself with a Parisian beauty whose scandalous affairs on the Continent brand her as the worst woman in Paris. Her association with a wealthy man-about-town reaches a state of boredom, and she returns to America. In Kansas she finds the love she had always dreamed of, but the shadow of her past is too great an obstacle to overcome, and she is obliged to return to Paris once more to take up her notorious association with her gay comrade.

Adolphe Menjou, as the suave Parisian playboy, and Benita Hume as the woman whose affairs are the gossip of Paris, are both beautifully suited for the roles they portray.

The cast in support of Menjou and Miss Hume is headed by Harvey Stephens and Helen Chandler, both of whom do admirably well in prominent roles.

Fresh Trout For Friday
Call 222. We deliver. Martindale's Fish Market.

HAROLD HICKS DROWNS IN LONG LAKE

Accident Occurs While He Is Trapping Monday Afternoon

Harold Hicks, age 32 years, accidentally drowned Monday afternoon in Long Lake while trapping. The deceased operated a gasoline station at Long Lake and had been a resident of the county for 22 years.

Harold left his home Monday afternoon to visit his traps on Little Long Lake. His family became alarmed when he did not come to supper. Searching parties started out at once and searched all night. In the morning Sheriff Charles Miller and C. C. G. boys joined in the search. The body was found in the lake Tuesday afternoon. He had evidently crossed the lake on the ice in returning home and walked into a hole.

Harold was popular in the young people's circle of his community and has a large number of friends who mourn his untimely death.

Funeral services were held Thursday. The remains were taken to Detroit for interment.

MRS. BERTHA KELLY FOUND NOT GUILTY

Mrs. Bertha Kelly was found not guilty when she appeared Wednesday in circuit court. Mrs. Kelly had been charged with embezzlement of AuSable township funds. Errors were found in the township account, but there was no indication of misappropriation.

Other cases completed at this week's session of circuit court were: Henry J. Rommel vs. Helga Rommel—divorce. Decree granted.

Martha Ewing vs. Elzie Ewing—divorce. Decree granted.

School Notes

High School
Data secured by the Superintendent of Public Instruction of the state shows that four school districts having superintendents will close in December; twenty-five districts will close in January; thirty-three districts will close in February; and forty-eight districts in March.

The twelfth grade economics class is making a study of a pamphlet, "A Primer of the New Deal," by Professor E. E. Lewis of the Ohio State University. The pamphlet consists of twenty chapters, and one chapter is reviewed by a member of the class each week. It gives a very complete explanation of the "New Deal."

Music and Art Notes
The music department, under the direction of Miss Gulliford, will present a carol program on December 19 for the parents and friends of Tawas City high school. The program will be approximately one hour in length. It will consist of selections by the grades and high school. Those caring for Christmas music and carols are urged to come and bring their friends.

Seventh and Eighth Grades
Richard Ziehl has been absent several days on account of illness. (Turn to No. 2, Back Page)

Every Man Has Something of Bold Robin Hood in Him

Every man is a rebel at heart, according to George O'Brien. To this universal urge for altering conditions about him, the actor attributes the popularity of action and Western pictures.

"Although Robin Hood probably never lived at all, he has been a symbolic hero to millions," says the Fox star. "The moralist deprecates the modern tendency to glorify the outlaw, but overlooks the fact that it is not the outlaw's criminality, but his defiance of organized injustice and tyranny, that wins him admirers."

"In the good old days, a knight who decided things weren't going properly, climbed on his horse and went around adjusting them. Today the average man cannot get into his flivver and go about slaying dragons and rescuing beleaguered damsels, but the urge to do so still exists."

"But since economic and other conditions prevent this average man from being another Robin Hood himself, the next best thing is to enjoy the spectacle of some one else championing the oppressed. Here the Western picture especially meets this demand. Whether its hero be an honest man or an outlaw, he is presented as waging a single-handed fight against injustice and evil in some form—as the champion the spectator would like to be if he could. And consequently such pictures have a wide following."

O'Brien's latest starring vehicle, to be seen this week Friday and Saturday, December 8 and 9, is "Smoke Lightning," taken from Zane Grey's novel of the cattle country, "Canyon Walls." Nell O'Day, Betsy King Ross and Frank Atkinson head the supporting cast of this exciting film, which deals with a cowpuncher's efforts to save a little girl's heritage.

YACHT CLUB TO HOLD NEW YEAR'S PARTY

Elaborate Plans Being Made For Event

Members of the Tawas Bay Yacht Association have decided to hold a New Year's party on Friday evening, December 29, at the Community House, East Tawas.

Every effort is being made to make this party a success, and if the former one given by the Yacht club is an criterion, it will be. The orchestra committee is headed by Jack North and very good music will be secured for the occasion. Jerry Mallon is in charge of the decorations. Horace Meyer is chairman of the publicity committee.

The committee has chosen the following for its patrons and patronesses: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pinkerton, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Harting, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Jacques of Whittemore, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Schreck, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jennison of Bay City.

Guests from Saginaw, Bay City and Alpena are expected to be here to attend the party, also a number of the young college set who will return home for the holidays.

The club is planning to pack Christmas baskets for needy families.

Carter-Laidlaw

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Carter of Harrisville township, Alpena county, was the scene of a pretty home wedding Sunday, December 3, at 3:30 o'clock, when their daughter, Ila, was united in marriage to Walter Laidlaw of Tawas City. Rev. C. S. Brown of Harrisville performed the ceremony. Mrs. Victor Beauchamp, sister of the groom, and William Carter, Jr., brother of the bride, attended the couple. The bride was lovely in a gown of turquoise blue silk crepe and carried a bouquet of tea roses.

Following the ceremony, a delicious dinner was served the guests. The relatives attending the wedding from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry McLean, Ronald and Ruth, Mrs. Chas. Adams and son, Ronald, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Comers, all of Flint; Mrs. Victor Beauchamp of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Laidlaw and son of Tawas City.

The bride and groom are well known in this locality, both being graduates of the Tawas City high school. They taught in the Alpena county schools for a number of years. The young couple have the best wishes of their host of friends.

Former Hale Physician Passes Away at Flint

Dr. A. H. Cowie of Flint, for many years highly esteemed physician at Hale, died Friday evening, November 24th.

About ten years ago Dr. Cowie moved to Flint, where he has since resided and practiced his profession. During the past year he had been suffering from diabetes and was in the hospital for several weeks during a severe attack last summer. Friday he did not go home to dinner at his usual time, and not answering his telephone, his wife called an office near. They found the doctor unconscious, the victim of paralysis. He passed away at Hurley hospital a few hours later.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his devoted wife, three daughters, Isabel Bernice and Margaret, the latter two married, and one grandchild.

The funeral services were held at Flint on Monday afternoon, with interment in that city.

A large circle of friends sympathize with his wife and family in their deep bereavement.

Baptist Church
10:00 a. m.—Morning Worship.
11:15 a. m.—Bible School. Theme—"Christ's Way of Life."
7:00 p. m.—B. Y. P. U. meets.
Wednesday Evening at 7:30—Prayer and Bible Reading.
Hemlock Road.
2:00 p. m.—Bible School.
3:00 p. m.—Preaching Services.

Christian Science Services
Literary Club Rooms, East Tawas.
Sunday, at 10:30 a. m.—Subject: "God, the Preserver of Man."

Twentieth Century Club

The Twentieth Century Club and guests met at the Hi-Speed Inn on Saturday, December 2, for their regular meeting. They had as their guests District President Mrs. H. R. Haddock of Bay City, members from the Ladies Literary Club of East Tawas and Ladies Literary Alliance Club of Whittemore.

A splendid program was presented. Two piano duets from Wagner were rendered by Mrs. Prescott and Mrs. Giddings. Two groups of songs from American composers were sung by Mrs. Nyda Leslie. Mrs. Haddock spoke on "The Worth While Woman's Club," in which she showed the club woman's interests in relation to the community. The program was considered to be one of the best presented. Refreshments were served to over seventy ladies.

The club is planning to pack Christmas baskets for needy families.

Health Meeting To Be Held in Sherman Tuesday

The Iosco County health meeting will be held at the Sherman town hall Tuesday afternoon, December 12, at 2:30 o'clock. After the business session the program will be in charge of the Sherman unit. Mr. Anderson, county sanitary agent, will address the meeting.

"Voltaire" Affords Arliss Role He Sought 20 Years

For many years George Arliss has searched for a satisfactory play based on the life of Voltaire, often called the father of the French revolution. Now, after twenty years of gradual preparation, he brings this most famous of all Frenchmen to life on the talking screen in Warner Bros.' picture "Voltaire," which shows Wednesday and Thursday, December 13 and 14, at the Family Theatre, East Tawas.

The picture "Voltaire" features one spectacular incident in the life of the brilliant poet-philosopher who was a friend of royalty in Europe but a champion of the common people in his native land.

Sumptuously mounted in sets of exceptional size and magnificence, "Voltaire," according to advance reports, unfolds a gripping melodrama in an atmosphere of breath-taking beauty and grandeur.

Doris Kenyon has the role of Madame Pompadour and Margaret Lindsay that of Calas' daughter. Others in the cast include Theodore Newton, Reginald Owen and Alan Mowbray.

Abigail Lutheran Church
Sunday, December 10—Sunday School, 9:30 a. m.; Morning Worship, 10:30 a. m.
Tuesday, December 12—League meeting at the Applin home, 8:00 p. m.
Visitors are cordially invited to all services and meetings.
P. Gustav Wahlstrom, Pastor.

Notice
I will be at my home on the Townline on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week for the purpose of taking in taxes, and I am also authorized to write receipts for head tax. Omar Frank, Treasurer, Tawas Township.

Notice to Taxpayers
The tax rolls of the city of Tawas City are now in my hands for collection. I will be in the City Hall on Friday and Saturday afternoons of each week until further notice. I will be pleased to collect taxes at my residence at any other time. With the new head tax may also be paid to me. Charles Duffey, City Treasurer.

Let Loose!

18th Amendment

To the Voters of East Tawas:

There comes a time in all our lives when we are faced with problems out of the ordinary, and at this time, if we have not the facts placed clearly before us, we are very apt to jump at conclusions or take for granted some one person's idea of the whole situation without first weighing the argument very carefully in our own minds.

At present the voters of our city are faced with just such a problem and that is the sanitary sewerage system and sewerage system works for the city of East Tawas. The Tawas Bay Yachting Association is taking this opportunity to place the facts clearly before the voters.

Let us imagine what will happen if we do not vote "yes" on Monday's ballot.

One of the first things to take place in the near future will be the removal of our State Park. To some that may not be a very big item. However, when you get right down to hard facts, it would affect practically every one in our city in one way or another, for certainly the State is not going to continue to spend money beautifying the grounds.

(Turn to No. 3, Back Page)

Emanuel Lutheran Church
Sunday, December 10—There will be only one service in the German language at 10:00 a. m. Note—Congregational meeting immediately after service to consider Teacher Manthey's call to Rhineland, Wis. Special meeting of the ladies of the congregation at 2:30 p. m. at the church.
Monday, December 11—Choir rehearsal, 7:30 p. m.

Force Heads New REO Sales Group

Lee W. Force, former Iosco county man, heads the new Reo Detroit Sales, Inc., which handles the distribution of Reo cars in the Detroit metropolitan area. The organization takes over the work handled by the factory operated branch. He was general manager of the branch.

Iosco Chapter, R. A. M. Installs Officers Thursday

The following officers of Iosco Chapter No. 83, R. A. M., were installed Thursday evening by Past High Priest R. J. McMullen and Grand Marshall N. Salsbery: H. P.—Wm. Fitzhugh. King—J. G. Dimmick. Scribe—P. Richardson. Treasurer—F. Taylor. Secretary—H. C. Hennigar. C. of H.—W. P. Grant. P. S.—G. K. Fenger. R. A. C.—Ray Tuttle. Master Third Veil—H. R. Powell. Master Second Veil—B. C. Quick. Master First Veil—A. A. McLean. Sentinel—Ed. T. Pierson.

Baldwin Lodge, F. and A. M., Will Install Officers

The following officers of Baldwin Lodge No. 274, F. & A. M., will be installed on December 19th by R. W. Grand Marshall I. B. Lambie of Midland: W. M.—W. P. Grant. S. W.—Glenn Hughes. J. W.—C. H. Conklin. Treasurer—Ed. T. Pierson. Secretary—W. B. Piper. S. D.—Victor Marzinski. J. D.—Basil Quirk. Tyler—Henry LaFlamme.

VOTE YES, AND WHY

To the Voters of East Tawas:

There comes a time in all our lives when we are faced with problems out of the ordinary, and at this time, if we have not the facts placed clearly before us, we are very apt to jump at conclusions or take for granted some one person's idea of the whole situation without first weighing the argument very carefully in our own minds.

At present the voters of our city are faced with just such a problem and that is the sanitary sewerage system and sewerage system works for the city of East Tawas. The Tawas Bay Yachting Association is taking this opportunity to place the facts clearly before the voters.

Let us imagine what will happen if we do not vote "yes" on Monday's ballot.

One of the first things to take place in the near future will be the removal of our State Park. To some that may not be a very big item. However, when you get right down to hard facts, it would affect practically every one in our city in one way or another, for certainly the State is not going to continue to spend money beautifying the grounds.

(Turn to No. 3, Back Page)

Only Yesterday Reveals Intimate Problems of Today

The most absorbing love drama shown on our screen for many years comes to the Family Theatre, East Tawas, on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, December 10-11-12.

This remarkable picture is the "Universal production," "Only Yesterday," the crowning achievement of John M. Stahl, that master director of domestic problem plays. Surging emotions bring to the story a tense quality which is admirably interpreted by a real all star cast of 72 principals, headed by Margaret Sullivan, John Boles, Billie Burke, and Reginald Denny, and also includes Edna Mae Oliver, Franklin Pangborn, Bertone Churchill, Benita Hume, Onslow Stevens, June Clyde, Barry Norton, Natalie Moorhead, Walter Catlett and Betty Blythe.

The story covers the exciting period between the entrance of America into the World War and the cataclysmic Stock Market crash of November, 1929. Against this panorama of American life is portrayed a vitally poignant love story which has never been equalled for sheer emotional quality on the screen. Even Stahl's own "Back Street" is unimportant beside the romance of Margaret Sullivan playing a naive, adorable Southern belle and John Boles, the handsome thoughtless officer, Miss Sullivan making her movie debut straight from "Dinner at 8" on Broadway, will also make screen history by her brilliant performance. You will see a new star born here.

Monday, December 11—Choir rehearsal, 7:30 p. m.

EAST TAWAS BOWS TO ALPENA CENTRAL

Indians Administered First Defeat of Season

East Tawas high journeyed to Alpena last Wednesday evening and suffered its first defeat of the 1933-1934 schedule; also the first defeat in 26 scheduled games. Alpena high took advantage of every break in the game and easily defeated the local boys, 29 to 12. The Indians lost many opportunities to score at close range. Either their eagerness to win, or the dismal trip to Alpena through the fog upset the team. The Indians were not outplayed, but Central did outscore them.

Many of the local fans who attended the game at Alpena were somewhat discouraged at the outcome, but were encouraged when they saw the Indians take the defeat like real sports inasmuch as there were many alibis which could have been offered. They said but one thing, "Look out, St. Anne."

The Indians journey to Alpena on Friday, December 15th, where they will meet St. Anne. High spirits and the best of luck from the local fans accompanies the team on this trip.

Health Meeting To Be Held in Sherman Tuesday

The Iosco County health meeting will be held at the Sherman town hall Tuesday afternoon, December 12, at 2:30 o'clock. After the business session the program will be in charge of the Sherman unit. Mr. Anderson, county sanitary agent, will address the meeting.

"Voltaire" Affords Arliss Role He Sought 20 Years

For many years George Arliss has searched for a satisfactory play based on the life of Voltaire, often called the father of the French revolution. Now, after twenty years of gradual preparation, he brings this most famous of all Frenchmen to life on the talking screen in Warner Bros.' picture "Voltaire," which shows Wednesday and Thursday, December 13 and 14, at the Family Theatre, East Tawas.

The picture "Voltaire" features one spectacular incident in the life of the brilliant poet-philosopher who was a friend of royalty in Europe but a champion of the common people in his native land.

Sumptuously mounted in sets of exceptional size and magnificence, "Voltaire," according to advance reports, unfolds a gripping melodrama in an atmosphere of breath-taking beauty and grandeur.

Doris Kenyon has the role of Madame Pompadour and Margaret Lindsay that of Calas' daughter. Others in the cast include Theodore Newton, Reginald Owen and Alan Mowbray.

Abigail Lutheran Church
Sunday, December 10—Sunday School, 9:30 a. m.; Morning Worship, 10:30 a. m.
Tuesday, December 12—League meeting at the Applin home, 8:00 p. m.
Visitors are cordially invited to all services and meetings.
P. Gustav Wahlstrom, Pastor.

Notice
I will be at my home on the Townline on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week for the purpose of taking in taxes, and I am also authorized to write receipts for head tax. Omar Frank, Treasurer, Tawas Township.

Notice to Taxpayers
The tax rolls of the city of Tawas City are now in my hands for collection. I will be in the City Hall on Friday and Saturday afternoons of each week until further notice. I will be pleased to collect taxes at my residence at any other time. With the new head tax may also be paid to me. Charles Duffey, City Treasurer.

Let Loose!

18th Amendment

To the Voters of East Tawas:

There comes a time in all our lives when we are faced with problems out of the ordinary, and at this time, if we have not the facts placed clearly before us, we are very apt to jump at conclusions or take for granted some one person's idea of the whole situation without first weighing the argument very carefully in our own minds.

At present the voters of our city are faced with just such a problem and that is the sanitary sewerage system and sewerage system works for the city of East Tawas. The Tawas Bay Yachting Association is taking this opportunity to place the facts clearly before the voters.

Let us imagine what will happen if we do not vote "yes" on Monday's ballot.

One of the first things to take place in the near future will be the removal of our State Park. To some that may not be a very big item. However, when you get right down to hard facts, it would affect practically every one in our city in one way or another, for certainly the State is not going to continue to spend money beautifying the grounds.

(Turn to No. 3, Back Page)

Emanuel Lutheran Church
Sunday, December 10—There will be only one service in the German language at 10:00 a. m. Note—Congregational meeting immediately after service to consider Teacher Manthey's call to Rhineland, Wis. Special meeting of the ladies of the congregation at 2:30 p. m. at the church.
Monday, December 11—Choir rehearsal, 7:30 p. m.

Force Heads New REO Sales Group

Lee W. Force, former Iosco county man, heads the new Reo Detroit Sales, Inc., which handles the distribution of Reo cars in the Detroit metropolitan area. The organization takes over the work handled by the factory operated branch. He was general manager of the branch.

Iosco Chapter, R. A. M. Installs Officers Thursday

The following officers of Iosco Chapter No. 83, R. A. M., were installed Thursday evening by Past High Priest R. J. McMullen and Grand Marshall N. Salsbery: H. P.—Wm. Fitzhugh. King—J. G. Dimmick. Scribe—P. Richardson. Treasurer—F. Taylor. Secretary—H. C. Hennigar. C. of H.—W. P. Grant. P. S.—G. K. Fenger. R. A. C.—Ray Tuttle. Master Third Veil—H. R. Powell. Master Second Veil—B. C. Quick. Master First Veil—A. A. McLean. Sentinel—Ed. T. Pierson.

Baldwin Lodge, F. and A. M., Will Install Officers

The following officers of Baldwin Lodge No. 274, F. & A. M., will be installed on December 19th by R. W. Grand Marshall I. B. Lambie of Midland: W. M.—W. P. Grant. S. W.—Glenn Hughes. J. W.—C. H. Conklin. Treasurer—Ed. T. Pierson. Secretary—W. B. Piper. S. D.—Victor Marzinski. J. D.—Basil Quirk. Tyler—Henry LaFlamme.

VOTE YES, AND WHY

To the Voters of East Tawas:

There comes a time in all our lives when we are faced with problems out of the ordinary, and at this time, if we have not the facts placed clearly before us, we are very apt to jump at conclusions or take for granted some one person's idea of the whole situation without first weighing the argument very carefully in our own minds.

At present the voters of our city are faced with just such a problem and that is the sanitary sewerage system and sewerage system works for the city of East Tawas. The Tawas Bay Yachting Association is taking this opportunity to place the facts clearly before the voters.

Let us imagine what will happen if we do not vote "yes" on Monday's ballot.

One of the first things to take place in the near future will be the removal of our State Park. To some that may not be a very big item. However, when you get right down to hard facts, it would affect practically every one in our city in one way or another, for certainly the State is not going to continue to spend money beautifying the grounds.

(Turn to No. 3, Back Page)

Emanuel Lutheran Church
Sunday, December 10—There will be only one service in the German language at 10:00 a. m. Note—Congregational meeting immediately after service to consider Teacher Manthey's call to Rhineland, Wis. Special meeting of the ladies of the congregation at 2:30 p. m. at the church.
Monday, December 11—Choir rehearsal, 7:30 p. m.

Force Heads New REO Sales Group

Lee W. Force, former Iosco county man, heads the new Reo Detroit Sales, Inc., which handles the distribution of Reo cars in the Detroit metropolitan area. The organization takes over the work handled by the factory operated branch. He was general manager of the branch.

Iosco Chapter, R. A. M. Installs Officers Thursday

The following officers of Iosco Chapter No. 83, R. A. M., were installed Thursday evening by Past High Priest R. J. McMullen and Grand Marshall N. Salsbery: H. P.—Wm. Fitzhugh. King—J. G. Dimmick. Scribe—P. Richardson. Treasurer—F. Taylor. Secretary—H. C. Hennigar. C. of H.—W. P. Grant. P. S.—G. K. Fenger. R. A. C.—Ray Tuttle. Master Third Veil—H. R. Powell. Master Second Veil—B. C. Quick. Master First Veil—A. A. McLean. Sentinel—Ed. T. Pierson.

Baldwin Lodge, F. and A. M., Will Install Officers

The following officers of Baldwin Lodge No. 274, F. & A. M., will be installed on December 19th by R. W. Grand Marshall I. B. Lambie of Midland: W. M.—W. P. Grant. S. W.—Glenn Hughes. J. W.—C. H. Conklin. Treasurer—Ed. T. Pierson. Secretary—W. B. Piper. S. D.—Victor Marzinski. J. D.—Basil Quirk. Tyler—Henry LaFlamme.

BEAUTY TALKS

By MARJORIE DUNCAN

BLEACHING THE SKIN

FASHION frowns on freckles. Whether or not suntan was the official vogue this past summer, we won't argue. But the fact remains that suntan, swarthy skin, discolorations of any kind are absolutely taboo in the fall. Skins are going clearer, softer and younger—of course, always younger—and lighter, too. The lighter the skin, the brighter the outlook for a full social program.

If you have not already started bleaching, do it now. But, remember that it is important to find a bleach that suits your individual type of skin. The sensitive, tender skin should have only the very mildest form of bleach, and the bleach should not be used more frequently than once or twice a week, followed by a soothing, nourishing skin food. Should any irritation ensue, discontinue the bleach until the skin is no longer sensitive.

If hands, arms and neck need bleaching, the bleach may be applied more often on them than on the face and also allowed to remain for a longer period. In fact, to look well in an evening gown, and the social season usually presents several occasions for it, the neck should have regular bleaching treatments. The natural tendency of the skin as it grows older is to become sallow and yellow, unless we attempt to keep it the original color by bleaching and stimulating.

First, be sure to cleanse the skin thoroughly. For the face, it is usually best to use a cleansing cream, since most bleaching agents are drying. For the very oily, heavy or swarthy type of skin, a good bland soap and warm water may be used for this purpose. The neck, except in cases of extreme dryness, may be cleansed with a soft washcloth, soap and warm water. Then every bit of soap should be rinsed off very carefully in warm, then cold, water before careful drying.

Then apply the bleaching medium. There are a great many excellent bleaching creams on the market, also bleaching stimulating lotions for the oily skin.

It is best not to use a bleach on a skin that is in any way irritated or marred with eruptions. It is best to soothe the irritation, and clear the eruptions and then far safer to bleach the skin a shade or two lighter. Of course, the bleach should not be left on the face as long as it is left on the arm.

POWDER ESSENTIAL

POWDER is no doubt the most popular item in the make-up ensemble. It gives the skin a velvety finish. It softens. It does all that when the right shade and the right quality and texture are chosen.

These are the three requisites of a really good powder. It should be the right shade, quality and texture. Like your rouge it should harmonize with your skin. The rouge—with the blood tone under your cheeks—when your color is up. The powder with the actual skin color. Here is an excellent test to determine whether you are using the right shade of powder. When your skin is freshly cleansed and you have used a little skin tonic apply just a dab on the nose, chin, or forehead. If there is a striking contrast between the powder and your skin, then your powder is all wrong. Choose a good quality powder. Your skin deserves the best.

Now as to the texture of the powder you choose—avoid a heavy powder. That is a mistake many women make. They choose a heavy powder because it stays on longer. But such a powder looks too obviously artificial. There are many excellent, soft, fine powders that cling without giving one that powdered look.

Make sure that your powder is very delicately perfumed—as a heavily scented powder is offensive.

Now as to the blending. Use a meticulously clean powder puff—always. Soiled puffs are as injurious as poor powders. And never powder hurriedly or carelessly. Fluff and pat it on—starting on the neck. Upward and outward. Over the face—pat—pat. Never rub or scrub your powder into the skin. Use a pad of cotton, or a swansdown puff. Fluff and leave the powder on for several minutes if you have the time, and then smooth off the excess. Use a fresh piece of cotton or a velvet puff to remove the excess. Many women prefer using a rabbit's foot for this purpose. Powder the entire face, including forehead and then use a little eyebrow brush to remove any powder grains from brows and lashes.

The very best results can only be expected when directions are very closely followed. If you knew how much time and patience and thought goes into the thorough testing of preparations even after the formulas are perfected—to discover what the very best method of application is, you would know that there is a very good reason for the directions on jars and bottles or in circulars enclosed with package.

Properly applied cosmetics are never apparent. They accentuate the coloring, but never exaggerate it. Society women err just as often as others because they seek to be exotic and overdo it.

© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

SUCH IS LIFE—Sure He Does

By Charles Sughroe

Howe About:

Good Writing Hypocrisy Conservatives

By ED HOWE

THE reviewers of books mention one lately appearing, and written by an old man, who begins by saying: "I have read a great deal, and found books so bad I am encouraged to attempt one myself. What are the mistakes in writing to which I object? Usually too great length, lack of clearness, and of honesty. (This last fault is so general it is said there has never yet been printed an honest book.) I have worked a long time at this writing, and, now that it is complete, I find it has the faults of those to which I have objected; it is at least no better than the average, and possibly not so good. So I have concluded the good writing long demanded is no more likely to become the rule than good behavior, good looks, good times, good sense, or good health. I have rewritten my book three times, having heard that genius is no more than taking great pains, but now almost believing the last draft worse than the first."

Most complaints about good principles begin with charges of hypocrisy against those who profess to practice them. Start any man trading, and he will soon be declaring he is the only candid, honest man willing and able to look the facts in the face, and propose an intelligent remedy. . . . That is the way people have always been; God has been unable to do anything with ourselves. . . . Why not try a universal suicide pact? That might bring about the flow of blood so long expected of rioters. . . . Ten members of a vigilance committee once caught a horse thief, but all hated to hang him. Finally they went into a saloon to drink and talk it over. When all were drunk, including the prisoner, members of the committee urged him to shoot himself. They said they had families, and didn't care to have blood on their hands to think about for years. But the prisoner replied that while he wished to be a good fellow, and reasonable, he could not go that far. The men finally rode away, still arguing with the prisoner. . . . I did not hear how it finally came out, but probably the prisoner continued to argue he didn't steal the horse, was generally a better man than those objecting to him, and that the request to shoot himself was unreasonable.

During the present big storm, one of the sayings heard most frequently is that conservative thought has been given up. It will return; that is one thing we may depend upon. There was never a safe storekeeper, mechanic, father, banker, husband, citizen, farmer, until he had somewhat learned the truths of conservatism; practice of its rules decides the degree of his promotion or failure. Conservatism is not a doctrine, but a practice nature enforces. Nature is conservative; its worst storms blow themselves out. Floods and plagues have destroyed millions, but soon the sun shines peacefully again on greater numbers who have somehow found shelter. Nothing is permanently radical; always conservatism wins as a natural law we cannot escape.

Most people are slouchy, and do not like it when neat persons suggest that they clean up their houses, yards, cut the weeds in fence corners, or remove the spots on their clothes. . . . Silerius says in his memoirs that the principal trouble he had with his wives was in dividing money he never had. Women, he explains, rarely know how difficult it is for men to make money, and thus always believe their husbands have more than they acknowledge. Daughters have the same difficulty with fathers, and Silerius expresses thankfulness he had none. Silerius was prominent in old Rome as soldier and statesman, but nothing in his book or life indicates he was a money maker. Few men have the gift, but women believe every man has or should have it.

A man attacks me because I do not like poetry. He might as well attack me because I am old. Our worst modern human troubles date back to poetry; to refusal of early men to recognize material facts, and make the best of them. Every extreme radical either writes poetry, or likes its visionary expressions. The best critics are agreed that poetry is not understandable; that it means nothing. And the first duty of every man is to "know where he is at."

Are officials of the law doing as well in their contests with outlaws as can be reasonably expected? Near my town twelve officers with machine guns lately surrounded a house in which were only two outlaws handicapped by having their women with them. After considerable firing, the outlaws got away, wounding three of their assailants. . . . Here were thirteen officers pitted against two law violators. The bandits had no advantage except courage; they did not even have the new steel shields with which the officers had lately been supplied by the county. . . . Thirteen officers to two bandits, and the bandits won. It really seems fresh discouragement for law as administered by politics.

© 1933, Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

Historic Landmarks Are Being Restored

Members of C. C. C. Work on Battlefield Shrines.

Washington.—More than 3,500 men enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps are being assigned to effect vast improvement in major historical landmarks in New Jersey, Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia and Mississippi, it was announced here at the office of the director of Emergency Conservation Work. A complete restoration of the historic shrines included in the project is not contemplated, but the government proposes to restore them to such a condition that the average visitor will come away with a clear understanding of their relation to the growth of the nation, the announcement said.

Among the sites included in the rehabilitation project are four camps established at Yorktown, Va., where American troops under the leadership of George Washington won the final battle of the Revolution in 1781. Two more are at Morristown, N. J., an area used by the American armies every winter during the crucial years between 1775 and 1781.

Fix Up Gettysburg.—Four hundred men have been assigned to work in Gettysburg National Military park in Pennsylvania, where President Lincoln delivered his famous dedication address in 1863. Another 600 are at work at Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military park in Georgia and Tennessee, which commemorates the scene of a number of Civil war maneuvers.

A similar number of men are at work in Petersburg National Military park, which was created to preserve the breastworks and other defenses or shelters used in the siege and defense of Petersburg. Another encampment is busy at Fort Harrison battlefield, a state park created to preserve the remains of fortifications occupied by both Confederate and Union troops in the fighting near Richmond.

The men are engaged in clearing away fire hazards in woodland areas, removing vegetation that hides trenches, earthworks, gun emplacements and other military devices, and in laying out trails to points of special interest.

Where practiced at all, restoration will be limited to only what is needed in each particular park to make its story clear. For example, a fort will not be completely reconstructed, but bombproofs, ammunition dumps, soldier huts, dummy guns and similar objects of military interest difficult for the average person to visualize may be reconstructed at points of major interest.

Gown or Dinner Suit
A dramatic jacket of narrow circular ruffles embroidered in jet transforms a formal black velvet gown into a dinner suit.

ODD THINGS AND NEW—By Lane Bode

LONG TUNGSTEN
TO MAKE THE FILAMENT OF ELECTRIC LIGHTS, A 24-INCH TUNGSTEN BAR PRESSED THROUGH DIES FORMS A WIRE 200 MILES LONG, ENOUGH FOR TWO-THIRDS OF A MILLION LIGHTS.

FIRST AID—
THE U.S. BUREAU OF MINES HAS INSTRUCTED OVER HALF A MILLION PEOPLE IN FIRST AID METHODS FOR THE INJURED.

FIRE FIGHTING WITH KEROSENE—
KEROSENE POURED ON BURNING COTTON BALES EXTINGUISHES THE FIRE BY SHUTTING OUT THE AIR.

Facing the Facts

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

The incorrigible optimist may possess a sense of personal satisfaction in his conviction that everything is ordered for the best. His enthusiasm, however, unless seasoned with reason, is likely to be seriously disillusioned when he faces the stern realities of life. The disposition to look on the bright side of things is most praiseworthy providing it does not blind one to the real import of current issues.

The lot of the pessimist is neither to be coveted nor admired. The optimist has many friends. Everyone shuns the pessimist. The essence of pessimism is that the cosmos is essentially evil and that a gloomy interpretation of life is justifiable. Pessimism is a serious danger if it becomes one's dominating impulse. It may play havoc with the psychic centers. Not to be able to interpret life from the more hopeful point of view

"Iron Mike"
Mikulak, the University of Oregon's 200-pound fullback, is a senior and has been the west coast's greatest defensive player for two years. This year he developed into an excellent ball carrier. If he doesn't get a place on the All-American team Oregon will be much disappointed. Mike's home town is Minneapolis, Minn.

will soon impair the judgment and render one incapable of doing the best work.

Perhaps our best encouragement is to come from neither the optimist nor the pessimist. We like the fresh and exhilarating spirit of the optimist, but we are not willing to shut our eyes to certain facts which cause us serious concern. We want to keep company with the optimist, but conditions at times compel us to part with him when he assumes the role of a cocksure prophet.

What is the safe position for the average man to take today? The answer requires the use of an old word with a new emphasis. Facing the facts is in itself a very real act and to do so without prejudice demands that one be more of a realist than either an optimist or pessimist. The realist sees an issue from an all-round point of view. He is interested more in facts than theories. He usually plays safe. His judgments are based upon facts as they are and not as he wishes them to be. His convictions are largely the result of experience. He sees his goal with a clear eye. He possesses a cool heart as he makes his great adventure. Of the three, perhaps the realist is the safest guide; at least he is very sure about the road he travels and his confidence helps us take fresh courage and carry on.

© 1933, Western Newspaper Union.

Cocoa and Chocolate
Chocolate and cocoa are made from the large nutritive seeds or beans of the theobroma cacao, a small evergreen tree native to tropical America. The word cocoa is an English corruption of cacao. The usual commercial forms of chocolate and cocoa contain other ingredients beside cacao.

The Household

By LYDIA LE BARON WALKER

COSTUME jewelry is a name given to bijouterie which forms an element of the costume. It is not chosen for its value in gold or semi-precious stones, set in gold, silver, or platinum. The genuine jewelry often is bought to go with costumes but it does not come under the heading of costume jewelry. This jewelry does not concern itself with intrinsic value. It may be of any composition metal, though occasionally it is made of silver.

The stones are apt to be artificial, not always made with any attempt to be replicas of stones. Their function is to supply the correct color to match the gowns with which they are bought to be worn. The setting is simple or elaborate to suit preferences of purchasers, as well as to make the most attractive foil for the glass or composition stones. There are certain of the semi-precious stones and matrices which lend themselves to this jewelry for color and because they are inexpensive.

When used there will be a tag saying "real stones." When silver is the setting this, too, is made known by a little tag marked "sterling."

While the grade of materials used in costume jewelry is below that of genuine jewelry, this does not bar it from being used with handsome costumes, nor do the wearers hesitate to say that it is costume jewelry. Some of it is exquisite, much of it is beautiful and some, of course, is poor and inartistic. It is for the individual to select from the mass of this jewelry, the pieces or sets which are artistic. As the color is the chief thing, it must match or harmonize well. It is worn to complete the effect of the gown, and to set it off. Genuine jewelry often has gowns made to set it off. Just the reverse is true of costume jewelry, which is bought to go with the gowns.

Apart from the attractiveness of costume jewelry, the purchaser should note some points if it is to wear well and prove practical. For example, notice the size of the stick pin in a brooch. It should be strong and very

Selection

POTPOURRI

The Heliograph
The heliograph is an instrument of communication which makes use of the sun's reflection on a mirror. Its effectiveness depends on the clearness of the atmosphere and the size of mirror used. Under favorable conditions messages have been flashed more than 200 miles. The heliograph code is used. While easily portable, it has the disadvantage of being dependent on sunlight.

© 1933, Western Newspaper Union.

Lizard Absorbs Water
Although the horned lizard does not drink water it absorbs it when it is sprinkled on its skin.

You May Get Some Wooden Letters

If you receive a letter from Aberdeen, Wash., you may find that it is written on wood. Business houses, chambers of commerce, etc., are sending out typewritten letters on wood. By a new process wood is now produced so fine that it can be inserted in a typewriter and written upon.

slender. If it is stout and sturdy it will make holes in the costume and if the gown is of light color these marks are blemishes. Whether the pin is right or not, it is wise to thrust the pin in the identical holes first of two, thus avoiding a smattering of wee dark pin pricks of many holes.

Note whether clasps are good. Insecure clasps for necklaces will cost you the necklace some day, as it will give and the chain be lost. Links of chains should be smooth so that they do not catch in clothes. Be sure ear rings have good shanks. They should be long enough to be put on the ear easily but not so long that they protrude far when the ear ring is screwed in the ear lobe.

Fashions in Blankets
It is interesting to note the changes in fashions in even such practical things as blankets. In the days when women did everything from carding the wool to spinning the yarn, and weaving the blankets, the borders were an important feature. In them the housewife found expression for her artistic bent. Some of the heirlooms which this generation cherishes are blankets with exquisite colored bands of two or more hues combined in rows to form borders. One such blanket which the writer prizes has a tri-colored border at each end. The red, dark blue, and pumpkin yellow have all the beauty of age-toned Oriental rug colors.

Today it is the bindings of blankets which are given special attention. The width of the satin binding may be less than four inches, but if so it falls a trifle short of the preferred width. Or the binding may be fancy, having slightly scalloped edges. The widths, the style of applying and the color are all important items.

© 1933, Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

Helping the Women

Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward, Jackson (Miss.) social worker, is now in charge of developing useful civil work projects for unemployed women throughout the United States in connection with the federal emergency relief administration's broad program. Mrs. Woodward is the widow of Judge Albert Y. Woodward of Mississippi and the daughter of the late William V. Sullivan, former United States senator from Mississippi. She is now on leave of absence from her position of executive secretary of the Mississippi state board of development. She served two terms in the Mississippi state legislature.

© 1933, Western Newspaper Union.

You May Get Some Wooden Letters

If you receive a letter from Aberdeen, Wash., you may find that it is written on wood. Business houses, chambers of commerce, etc., are sending out typewritten letters on wood. By a new process wood is now produced so fine that it can be inserted in a typewriter and written upon.

© 1933, Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

CHILDREN'S STORY

By THORNTON W. BURGESS
JERRY HAS OTHER THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

REDDY FOX went off to the Old Pasture to put on his thinking cap. Jerry Muskrat just stopped thinking about that house Reddy talked of building. It couldn't be built without mud, and how were they to get mud where no mud was? They couldn't, so that was all there was about it. It had been great fun to plan that house for Reddy Fox. It had interested him greatly and he would dearly have loved to help build it. But it couldn't be done, and besides he had other things to think of.

"I've had rest enough," thought Jerry the very night he decided that Reddy's house could be no more than a dream. "It is time for me to begin to think about getting some food laid away for winter. If Reddy Fox ever has a house like mine he will have to build it without any help from me. I've wasted all the time on it I am going to. It is queer how interested in houses Reddy has become. I never knew him to be before. And, now I think of it, he has been wonderfully pleasant. He certainly can be nice when he wants to be. He hasn't once tried to catch me. I don't believe that such a thought had even entered his head."

Wouldn't Reddy have smiled if he could have known what Jerry was thinking? You know and I know that the catching of Jerry was all that he was thinking about and his talk of a "Well, I never!" Exclaimed Reddy. house was merely to get Jerry so interested that he would come ashore. The next night Reddy visited the Smiling Pool just as usual. He couldn't keep away. He hadn't thought of any way to get mud to build the house, but he hoped to be able to persuade Jerry that they might start the house and to trust to luck to get the mud when it was needed.

But when he reached the Smiling Pool no Jerry was visible. Reddy waited and waited and waited. At last Jerry appeared but it was plain to see that he was in a hurry. He merely nodded to Reddy Fox and then dived.

"Well, I never!" exclaimed Reddy, staring at the little circles on the sur-

"The laundry business seems prosperous," says complaining Cora, "it's only the buttons on the shirts that keep dropping off."
 © 1933, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

World's First Mounted Boy Scout Troop

HERE are the members of the Fox Wilshire Boy Scout Troop No. 38 of Los Angeles, which is the world's first mounted unit in this organization. In addition to all the usual scout requirements, each boy must be a thorough horseman.

face of the water made as Jerry dived. "Jerry seems to have something on his mind. I wonder what he is up to now? He might at least have stopped long enough to pass the time of day. I must find out what he is about."

So Reddy waited and waited and waited some more. He managed to hide his impatience and when at last Jerry climbed out on the Big Rock for a rest, Reddy was just the same pleasant fellow he had been the night before.

"Well, Jerry," he exclaimed, "I thought you had deserted me. I've been waiting ever so long. I thought perhaps you may have thought of some way of building that house without mud."

"I'm sorry, but there isn't any other way," replied Jerry. "If there was I wouldn't be able to help you any. I've got too much to do to mind anybody's business but my own. If you want a house you'll have to get some one else to help build or else build it all yourself."

"But, what, may I ask, are you so suddenly busy about?" asked Reddy, and tried hard to keep the eagerness from his voice.

"I'm laying up food for the winter," replied Jerry briefly. "Until that is done I can't think of anything else."

With this he dived from the Big Rock.

© 1933, by T. W. Burgess.—WNU Service.

GRAPHIC GOLF

WRIST MOVEMENT IN THE BACKSWING

THE first movement of the backswing is not one of the wrists but rather starts in the hips and knees. The wrists at first merely follow, the arms moving straight across the front of the body. This movement insures the desired flat arc instead of the incorrect more abrupt one. The wrists remain inactive until perhaps a third of the backswing has been completed. During this period the wrists are often so relaxed that at times they flex backward as the movements of

Indiana's Great War Shrine

VIEW of the newly completed shrine, the dominant structure of the $12,000,000 Indiana war memorial in Indianapolis, which was dedicated on Armistice day. The building towers 210 feet above the street level and houses a shrine room, historical museum and meeting auditorium for patriotic societies. The memorial, in its entirety, will cover five full city blocks in the heart of Indiana's capital.

BONERS

The Czar of Russia wanted to rule over the Christian turkeys.

BONERS are actual humorous tid-bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

In ancient Egypt books on science and medicine were quite common. Castor oil is advised as a dose in one of the books, showing that we have not advanced so far ahead of the Egyptians as might be supposed.

The Pilgrims were opposed to the weather and many of them died.

The way they created a knight was to give him a bath and put on his knight clothes.

Oliver Goldsmith thought America was a wild country where he might run across a snake in the jungle or be detained by a tiger.

Minneapolis is in the crease of the book.

One of the good laws of the road is always keep on the right side of everyone.

© 1933, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

the arm and shoulders force the club back. After the clubhead has been brought back approximately a third of the backswing arc it suddenly becomes necessary to enlist the aid of the wrists in raising the club higher. The turn of the shoulders and hips on the backswing has opened the clubhead so there is no necessity of rolling the wrists. Instead as the left hand pushes the club back they lift the club up gradually, maintaining the slow back maxim, and slowly cocking themselves.

© 1933, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Mother's Cook Book

SEVERAL GOOD THINGS

SERVE crushed peanut brittle over ice cream, it adds to the flavor and is most appetizing.

Glorified Rice.

Whip one cupful of cream, add a pinch of salt and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Just before serving, toss two cupfuls of boiled rice into the cream mixture and serve topped with a teaspoonful of raspberry or other fruit jam for each serving.

Ginger Waldorf Salad.

Fold together one cupful each of diced tart apple and celery, one-half cupful of broken nut meats, one-half cupful of mayonnaise and one-fourth cupful of candied ginger. Marinate with french dressing and rub each salad leaf with a cut clove of garlic. Serve at once after adding the nuts.

Oxtails en Casserole.

Cut the tails in sections and cook in boiling water to cover; cook five minutes, then drain, dredge with flour, fry in fat with a small minced onion. Season well, place in a casserole with two cupfuls of strained tomato juice, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce and one finely minced carrot. Cover and cook in a slow oven three and one-half hours, adding more water as needed. Ten minutes before serving

LOVE AT HOME

By ANNE CAMPBELL

LOVE is no mocking bird that sings A thousand miles away, But a brown wren that blithely brings A song to me today.

He perches in my sunny yard, And trills a song to me Of common joy, a task that's hard, And home's tranquility.

He has no song of a far land That lures my heart to roam, He sings a song I understand, A simple song of home!

© by Western Newspaper Union.

add a cupful of cooked peas. Add flour to thicken if needed, and serve the gravy with the meat.

Lobster Newburg.

Put three tablespoonfuls of butter into the blazer of chafing dish or in a saucepan, add one cupful of mushrooms, cook five minutes, add four tablespoonfuls of flour and a pint of milk. Add one and one-half cupfuls of lobster meat or shrimps or crabs. Mix two egg yolks with a little of the sauce and stir into the lobster. Cook just long enough to set the eggs. Season with lemon juice, a bit of nutmeg, cayenne pepper and salt.

© by Western Newspaper Union.

Princess Elizabeth

Youngsters often are as exacting about styles as are their mothers. The little girl will like this "Princess Elizabeth" coat in green cheviot with velvet collar.

DADA KNOWS—

"Pop, what is a reaction?" "What happens after you buy stocks."
 © 1933, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

OUR COMIC SECTION

Events in the Lives of Little Men

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

What a Salesman!

THE FEATHERHEADS

Fur-ther Misunderstanding

THE TAWAS HERALD
P. N. THORNTON, Publisher
Published every Friday and entered at the Tawas City Postoffice as second class matter

LONG LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Latter of Lansing were callers at the Mortenson home on Friday.
Elmer Streeter and family, also Robert Buck and family, attended the Hale community dinner and program on Thanksgiving day.
Professor and Mrs. Nuddenworth of Lapeer were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Mortenson.
Our community was shocked and saddened when it was learned that Harold Hicks had drowned in Little Long Lake on Monday afternoon.
He had gone out to look over his trap line, and when he failed to return by evening, neighbors made up a searching party. Their efforts through the night proved futile. They were joined in the morning by a large number of men from the surrounding countryside, also a group of C. C. C. boys from Silver Creek, and made a wide search of nearby swamps and lakes. At about 1:30 the body was found some distance from shore in about 20 feet of water. He had apparently started to cross the lake toward home when the ice gave way beneath him. Our sincere sympathy is extended to the grief-stricken family in their sorrow.
See the large assortment of penny Christmas Cards and folders at Keiser's Drug Store, Tawas City. adv
Mr. Becktel and a friend from Middleville are spending a few days in Long Lake. Mr. Becktel assisted in a series of special meetings here last spring.
Miss Margaret LaBerge has gone to visit her sister in Washington, Pa., for a few weeks.
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carter of Swanton, Ohio, spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mrs. Carter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis LaBerge. Mr. Carter returned to Detroit to work. Mrs. Carter will visit her parents for a couple of weeks.

Stringing Her Along
Doing his daily stretch, a busy telephone lineman, who can't leave town, rings up Judge to say that his dear little wife (who's away on a visit) writes that she's "all unstrung." "What in the world shall I do?" he wails. "Send her a wire," buzzes the editor.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Gold in Bath Water
A Scottish gold miner at Johannesburg saved the sediment of his baths for twenty years. Recently he panned it, and extracted gold dust worth $100.

From Pulp to Paper
One ton of wood pulp will make three square acres of paper.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular meeting of the Common Council held November 6th, 1933. Present: Aldermen Burtzloff, Frank Moore, Rollin and Rouiller. Meeting called to order by President Pro Tem Rollin. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved. The committee on claims and accounts presented the following:
R. W. Tuttle, six 100-watt bulbs $ 1.50
Chas. Moeller, banquet cost, ball club 6.75
John Herman, truck, 4 hrs. at 70c 2.80
Chas. Quick, truck, 9 hrs. at 35c 3.15
Gus. Wajohn, team, 12 hrs. at 50c 6.00
L. H. Braddock, 60 ft. cable and block 11.00
Barkman Lumber Co., tile 159.25
R. G. Schreck Lumber Co., tile cement 1.70
Jennison Hardware Co., 2 pcs. steel, 1/2x3/8x96 18.25
D. & M. Railway Co., freight Fred T. Luedtke, labor, oak-um, supplies 1.08
Earl S. McCarty, surveying 5.75
H. M. Rollin, gas, oil, supplies 2.44
Moved by Burtzloff and seconded by Frank that bills be allowed as read and orders drawn for same. Roll call. Yeas: Burtzloff, Frank Moore, and Rouiller. Nays: none. Carried.
Moved and seconded that meeting adjourn. Carried.
W. C. Davidson, Clerk.

STATE OF MICHIGAN

The Probate Court for the County of Iosco.
At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Tawas City, in said county, on the 16th day of November, A. D. 1933.
Present: Hon. David Davidson, Judge of Probate.
In the Matter of the Estate of Samuel R. Scofield, deceased.
Theron Scofield having filed in said court a petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were at the time of his death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized, it is Ordered, That the 12th day of December, A. D. 1933, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.
It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.
DAVID DAVIDSON,
Judge of Probate.
A true copy. 3-46

Briefly Told
In all things throughout the world the man who looks for the crooked will see crooked, and the man who looks for the straight will see the straight.

Reno News

Mrs. John McMullen of Wilber was the guest of Mrs. Josiah Robinson on Monday.
Mr. and Mrs. Jay Clark of Linden were Thanksgiving and week end guests of the Hutchinson families here and Arthur Latter at Curtisville.
Mr. and Mrs. Lester Robinson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Polleigh and Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Robinson and son, Lyle, on Thanksgiving day.
Sam George spent Thanksgiving and the week end with his mother at Alpena.

See the large assortment of penny Christmas Cards and folders at Keiser's Drug Store. Tawas City. adv
Twelve relatives gathered at the home of Thomas Frockins on Tuesday evening to help him celebrate his 76th birthday. After a sociable evening, ice cream and cake was served. Mr. Frockins was presented with a pretty birthday cake and several useful gifts.
Six o'clock dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Sherman on Thanksgiving evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Woltmann, Miss Esther Becker and Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Hoshbach of Tawas City, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolf and daughter, Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bueschen and family, and Mrs. Clara Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Atkinson of Bay City were Saturday evening supper guests at the home of her brother, Will White.
J. A. Murphy of Tawas City was a caller at the White home Saturday afternoon.
Mr. and Mrs. Frockins entertained the following on Thanksgiving day: Floyd Perkins, Miss Mary Gleason, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McCormick of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Herman of Okoda; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Murray of Hale; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Binder, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Daugharty, Mr. and Mrs. Will White and daughter, Vernita.

Mrs. George Kindell and little son returned to their home here recently. Ella and Wilma Bueschen spent Friday afternoon at the home of their sister, Mrs. Arlie Sherman.
Miss Clara Latter of Detroit spent the week end at the parental home.
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Latter had as dinner guests on Thanksgiving day, Mrs. Ben Clude of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Will Sugdeon and children of Birmingham, Mrs. Couchy and son, George, of Mio.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bueschen and daughter, Hilda, were business visitors at the Tawas on Friday.
Mr. and Mr. A. S. Harrell were Tuesday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Latter.
Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bueschen and daughters spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Woltmann at Tawas City.

Miss Helen Kindell of Birmingham called on Miss Hilda Bueschen on Thursday.
Our community was saddened and shocked to learn of the death of Dr. Cowie of Flint recently.
Walter Becker of Tawas City is the new employee at the Bueschen farm.

Misses Hilda and Ella Bueschen and Helen Kindell called on Misses Anna and Edith Adam on Thursday.
Melvin Black and Elwood McMurray were taken to the West Branch hospital last Thursday, both suffering severe cases of appendicitis. According to latest reports, they are still in a critical condition. We are wishing them a speedy recovery.
Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Vary were at Bay City on Saturday, where Mrs. Vary had dental work done.
Mr. and Mrs. Willard Williams and Mrs. Clara Williams were Thanksgiving visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lawrence at Prescott.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Robinson and children spent Thanksgiving at the George Whitford home.
Mr. and Mrs. Byron Latter and children of Lansing spent Thanksgiving and the week end with relatives here.
Ambrose Berry was an over night visitor with his brother, Ted, at the Lewis Ross home Sunday night and was a caller at the Frockins home Monday enroute to his home at South Branch.
Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Vaughn and children of Lansing spent the week end at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ed. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burew and son, Leon, of Detroit were Saturday and Sunday visitors with relatives here and in Tawas.
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vance, son, Basil, and daughter, Fay, were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Londo in Plainfield.
Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Sheppard of Flint spent the week end at their cottage here.
Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Londo and daughter, Florence, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dancy of Detroit spent Thanksgiving and the week end at her parental home here.
Mr. and Mrs. Sibley and sons spent Thanksgiving with friends at Harrison.
Mrs. Westervelt and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Crego and children spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Westervelt at Rose City.
Mrs. Westervelt and Miss Meyer were supper guests of Mrs. R. A. Bentley recently.
Cecil Westervelt was a Taft caller last Thursday.

Priest Became King
John Casimir, member of a Polish family, but who had been a priest in France most of his life and had risen to the dignity of a cardinal, was summoned to the throne of Poland in 1648. He reigned 20 years with his nation in constant warfare.

Pride
"Pride which seeks to deserve re-spectability," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "is helpful, but which seeks admiration is destructive."

Around the County

The rubber dollar would be all right if it would stretch sufficiently to cover all the average man's debts.
Michigan was the first state to vote in favor of repeal, but will probably be among the last to get legal liquor.
The C. W. A. projects are getting under way rather slowly in Iosco county.
The cold weather has put a stop to fall plowing.

Large quantities of Christmas trees are being shipped to the cities.
The optimism associated with the New Deal is evident in every locality.

Hale News

Mr. and Mrs. Duell Pearsall and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peck were Bay City visitors on Tuesday.
Reginald Caton is suffering from a malady said to be caused by infection from piercing his flesh with a splintered rabbit bone when cleaning the animal.
The community dinner on Thanksgiving day was well attended, over 100 persons partaking of the bounteous dinner. A splendid program occupied the afternoon hours.

See the large assortment of penny Christmas Cards and folders at Keiser's Drug Store, Tawas City. adv
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan are spending two weeks visiting Ohio relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. John O. Johnson and family spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Summers at Saginaw. Mrs. Johnson remained until Saturday, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Summers to Hale on a week end visit.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Greve of St. Charles were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Greve and family.
Mr. and Mrs. S. Vester Biely visited Mrs. Biely's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Harris, during the deer hunting period.
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hildner on Wednesday, December 6, a baby girl.

Poorer Than Poverty
"He who has only empty words to offer in sympathy with need," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "is poorer than Poverty herself." — Washington Star.

Pupils Taught Juggling
Department is being taught by juggling and balancing feats at Pangwern college in Cheltenham, England. One exercise for girls is to stand on one foot on a pedestal while juggling three balls and balancing two oranges on a plate on the head.

MORTGAGE SALE
DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Gustav Krumm and Lena Krumm, his wife, of Tawas township, Iosco County, Michigan, to Albert Krumm of Tawas City, Michigan, dated the 10th day of January, A. D. 1921, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Iosco and State of Michigan, on the 10th day of January, A. D. 1921, in Liber 19 of Mortgages on page 556, on which mortgage there is claimed, for principal and interest, the sum of NINE HUNDRED FORTY-FIVE ($945) DOLLARS, and an Attorney's fee of TWENTY-FIVE ($25) DOLLARS, as provided for by law, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, on Saturday, the 17th day of February, A. D. 1934, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will, at the Court House in the City of Tawas City, that being the place where Circuit Court for the County of Iosco is held, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount as aforesaid due on said mortgage, with five per cent (5%) interest and all legal costs; together with said attorney's fee, to-wit: All that certain piece or parcel of land situated and being in the township of Tawas, Iosco County, Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The Southwest quarter (1/4) of the Northwest quarter (1/4) of Section Twenty-seven (27), Township Twenty-two (22) North, Range Seven (7) East, containing forty acres of land more or less.

Albert Krumm, Mortgagee.
John A. Stewart,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address:
Tawas City, Michigan.
Dated: November 18, 1933. 12-47

Dr. John D. LeClair
DENTIST
Next to Lakeside Tavern
Tawas City
OFFICE HOURS
9:00-12:00 a. m. 1:30-5:00 p. m.
Evenings by appointment
Not in Office Thursday Afternoons
Phone 159-F2

MORTGAGE SALE

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Gustav Krumm and Lena Krumm, his wife, of Tawas township, Iosco County, Michigan, to Albert Krumm of Tawas City, Michigan, dated the 8th day of April, A. D. 1919, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Iosco, and State of Michigan, on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1919, in liber twenty-two (22) of mortgages, on page two hundred twenty-two (222), on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, for principal and interest, the sum of ONE THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED and FIFTY DOLLARS ($1,350), and an attorney's fee of thirty-five ($35) dollars, as provided for by law, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, on Saturday, the 17th day of February, A. D. 1934, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will, at the Court House in the City of Tawas City, that being the place where Circuit Court for the County of Iosco is held, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount as aforesaid due on said mortgage, with five per cent (5%) interest and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, to-wit: The East half (1/2) of the Southwest quarter (1/4) of Section Twenty-two (22), Township Twenty-two (22) North, Range Seven (7) East, containing eighty acres of land more or less.

Albert Krumm, Mortgagee.
John A. Stewart,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address:
Tawas City, Michigan.
Dated: Nov. 18, A. D. 1933. 12-47

Varieties of Pigeons
There are something like 200 varieties of the so-called "fancies," among the varieties of pigeons. Included is the pouter, to say nothing of the popular racing pigeons or "homers," and of those types that are bred chiefly because they are in demand for table use.

MORTGAGE SALE
By reason of Default in the payment and conditions of a mortgage made by Frederick C. Holbeck and wife to Susan Richards, dated July 2nd, 1923, and recorded July 5th, 1923, in Liber 22 of Mortgages at page 439, in Register of Deeds office for Iosco County, Michigan, upon which there is now claimed to be due by reason of such default the sum of Ten Thousand, Two Hundred Seventy-five Dollars for principal and interest, and no legal proceedings having been taken to recover said amount:
Said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises on Saturday, the 13th day of January, 1934, at Public Auction or vendue, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the Court House in Tawas City, in said County, to satisfy the amount then due for principal, interest, attorney fee and costs.

The land embraced in said mortgage and to be sold, is described and bounded as follows:
Commencing on the west line of Lot One, 6 rods south of the north-west corner thereof, then south on west line of said Lot 1, to northerly line of D. & M. Ry. right-of-way; thence southerly along said right-of-way 52 rods more or less to fence erected and running northerly from said right-of-way; thence northerly along said fence extended, 66 rods more or less to southerly shore of Long Lake at water's edge; then westerly along water's edge 34 rods more or less to south line of land heretofore deeded to Joseph Cluckey by Iosco Land Company; thence westerly on Cluckey's line, if extended, to place of beginning.

Also that part of Lot One, and SE 1/4 of NE 1/4, Sec. 6, lying south-west of D. & M. Ry. right-of-way; and also the SW 1/4 of NE 1/4, Sec. 6, lying east of a line running north and south 160 rods east of the west line of Sec. 6.
Also the S 1/2 of Section 6, except the west 80 acres thereof;
Also that part of the NE 1/4 of NW 1/4, Sec. 7, lying east of a N. & S. line 80 rods east of west line of Sec. 7; and Also the NW 1/4 of the NE 1/4, Sec. 7, comprising 351 acres more or less, and all being in Town 23 N., R. 5 East, Iosco County, Michigan.
Dated October 20, 1933.
Susan Richards, Mortgagee.
N. C. Harting, Attorney,
Business Address,
Tawas City, Mich. 12-42

CASH SPECIALS

- December 8 and 9
- Bread Flour 24 1/2 lb. sack 93c
 - Macaroni 2 lb. package 15c
 - Pork Roast shoulder cut, pound 9c
 - Walnut Meats choice, 1-2 lb. 25c
 - Lemon, Citron or Orange Peel, Candied, 3 pkgs. 25c
 - Currants pound 15c
 - Dates 1-2 lb. package 15c
 - Raisins 4 lb. package 31c
 - Lux Toilet Soap 3 bars 19c
 - Christmas Candy pound 10c

J. A. BRUGGER

Typical Super-Value

Beautiful Mohair--Rich Wood Carvings--Think of solid comfort, of lasting beauty and of value far beyond anything one would expect at this price. Then you'll have a pretty good idea of this most exceptional suite. Soft, silky mohair with a beautiful sheen; velour back and sides, deep luxurious upholstery, wood carvings and superb design characterize this higher type of suite.

Two-Piece, Regular Price Today $135.00
While They Last
Special Price $98.00

W. A. Evans Furniture Co.
EAST TAWAS TAWAS CITY

NRA MEMBER WE DO OUR PART

Moeller Bros. Tawas City

Delivery 9:15 and 11:00 a. m. Phone 19-F2

December 8th to 14th

All Prices Subject to the 3% Michigan Sales Tax

- Flour HONOR Bread Flour, Cream of the Wheat, 24 1/2 lb. sack 99c
- Old Gold Cigarettes...carton--$1.10 2 pkgs. 25c
- Monarch Food of Wheat, 1-lb., 12-oz. pkg. 18c
- Salada Tea Blue Label 1-2 lb. pkg. 29c
- Fruit Lunch Cookies, lb. 15c
- Old Dutch Cleanser, 3 cans 25c
- Tobacco UNION Saturday and Monday LEADER Special--pound tin 59c
- Clabber Girl Baking Powder, 10 oz. can 10c
- Michigan Beet Sugar, 5 lb. bag 27c
- Cake Flour Softasilk--Save coupons for Free Silverware--pkg. 33c
- M. S. C. Cocoa, 2 lb. can 23c
- Budweiser Malt, special while it lasts, 3 lb. can.... 59c
- White Fur Tissue, 4 large rolls 25c
- Our Own Coffee, fresh roast, lb. 19c
- Beet Sugar Michigan 25 lb. bag $1.29
- Camay or Cocoa Hardwater Castile Soap, bar..... 5c
- Chipso Flakes or Granules, pkg. 15c
- P. & G. Soap, 9 small bars..... 25c

QUALITY BRANDED MEATS

- BACON, sliced and rined, 1/2 lb. pkg. 11c
- SUMMER SAUSAGE, Thüringer, 1 lb. 19c
- PORK SHOULDER, lb.10c SIDE PORK, lb.10c

QUALITY FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

- BANANAS, ripe, yellow fruit, 3 lbs. 25c
- Everything in Christmas Candies and Nuts, 35 Varieties—Fig Pudding, Plum Pudding

Special Discount on Candies to Schools and Churches

Open Wednesday and Saturday Evenings

Black Bear Likes Ants
The black bear, though relishing a great variety of things as food, from centipedes to skunk cabbage roots and from toads and field mice to honey, is especially fond of ants. His method of obtaining these choice morsels is to run his paw down into an anthill and leave it there until the ants swarm up on it where he can lick them up.

Bring Your FURS and HIDES to CAMINSKY
East Tawas

Wiring Repairing Appliances TUTTLE ELECTRIC SHOP
Parts for all makes of Washers and Sweepers. Appliances repaired.
PHONE 214 TAWAS CITY

STATE OF MICHIGAN
The Probate Court for the County of Iosco.
At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Tawas City, in said County, on the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1933.
Present: Hon. David Davison, Judge of Probate.
In the Matter of the Estate of Charles W. Curry, deceased.
Mrs. Edith Curry, having filed her petition, praying that an instrument filed in said Court be admitted to Probate as the last will and testament of said deceased and that administration of said estate be granted to Mrs. Edith Curry or some other suitable person.
It is Ordered, That the 11th day of December, A. D. 1933, at ten A. M., at said Probate Office is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.
It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy hereof for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Tawas Herald, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.
DAVID DAVISON,
Judge of Probate.
A true copy. 3-47
"Backlash"
The play in a gear train, or any loose motion in connected parts of machinery is known as a "backlash." In angling, bait casters call a reverse winding on the reel a backlash.

Hemlock
Mr. and Mrs. John Katterman, two daughters, and Mrs. Louise McArdle spent Friday in Bay City.
L. D. Watts is spending the week in Flint.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Herman and Paul Brown were entertained at supper last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Binder.
Russell Martin of Flint called on Mr. and Mrs. Louis Binder Sunday.
See the large assortment of penny Christmas Cards and folders at Keiser's Drug Store, Tawas City, advised by Mrs. Amelia Bamberger and sons, Sam and Charles, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hayes.
Mrs. John Overly and children spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Thomas.
Will Denstedt and Joseph Bamberger were two of the lucky ones to bag their bucks.
Mr. and Mrs. John VanWagner and family of Millington spent the week end here with her mother and other relatives.
Miss Marguerite McLean of Tawas City spent the week end with her aunt, Mrs. Victor Herriman. On Saturday Misses Ruth Herriman and Marguerite McLean visited with Miss Margaret Smith.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pfahl entertained the following at Thanksgiving dinner: Mrs. Charlotte Smith and son, Henry, Mr. and Mrs. John Burt and family, Mr. and Mrs. John VanWagner and family, Mr. and Mrs. Will Herriman and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Warren of Omer.
Mr. and Mrs. John Katterman and two daughters spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Binder.
Miss Lois VanWagner spent Friday night with Miss Ruth Herriman.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Binder, and Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Herman spent the Thanksgiving holiday with Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Frockins, in Reno.
Mr. and Mrs. Armond Stutz of Lansing called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Thomas one day last week.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLean and family of Tawas City spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. McLean's sister, Mrs. Victor Herriman, and husband.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Binder attended a family gathering in Reno on Tuesday evening in honor of the 76th birthday of Mrs. Brown's father, Thomas Frockins. The evening was spent playing games. Ice cream and cake was served. The guests left at a late hour, wishing Mr. Frockins many more happy birthdays.

Alabaster
Nicander-Sperbeck
Lina Nicander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Nicander of Alabaster, and James Sperbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sperbeck of Owosso, were quietly married Sunday evening, November 26th, at Tawas City. The bride was dressed in a lovely gown of blue silk. The newlyweds left last Sunday for Owosso, where they will make their future home.
Cecelia Oates of Flint is visiting with friends and relatives here this week.
Oliver Benson and William Baker spent the Thanksgiving holiday in Detroit.
Thomas McCormick and son, Arthur, motored to Whittemore on Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. E. Wickert and family attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKeg of Hemlock on Saturday.
See the large assortment of penny Christmas Cards and folders at Keiser's Drug Store, Tawas City, advised by Miss Lulu Baker of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker, also of Detroit, spent the Thanksgiving holiday with their mother here.
Miss Angela Mielock of East Tawas has been a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Mielock the past week.
Mr. and Mrs. Claude Custav and children of Detroit and Selma Schindler of Bay City spent the week end at the John Schindler home.
Mr. and Mrs. B. Hughes of Tawas City were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Christenson on Thursday.
Eva Benson spent the holidays in Au Gres.
Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Brown and children, who have been residing in Harbor Beach, spent the holidays here with relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McCormick of Flint were callers at the Thomas McCormick home last Thursday.
Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Smith and family spent Thanksgiving evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Proper on the Townline.
Mildred Nielson of Whittemore spent the holidays with friends here.
Thomas McCormick and sons, Ralph and Arthur, motored to Long Lake on Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. R. Potts and family visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ulman of the Townline Sunday.

SHERMAN
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stoner were at Tawas City Monday evening.
A number from here attended the dance at Turner Thursday evening.
Mr. and Mrs. George Ross of Flint spent Thanksgiving and the week end with relatives here.
Mrs. Jos. Schneider and Miss A. Dedrick visited friends at Tawas City on Sunday.
See the large assortment of penny Christmas Cards and folders at Keiser's Drug Store, Tawas City, advised by Lawrence Jordan of Flint spent Sunday at his home here.
The teachers started getting ready for their Christmas entertainments. School District No. 5 is having its entertainment Thursday evening, December 21.
Miss Ada Hart returned home from Midland last week.
Quite a number from here attended the P.-T. A. meeting at Whittemore Monday night.
Will Brown has moved his family back to National City again.
Miss Opal Sloan, who has been on the sick list, is on the gain.
A card party at the home of A. B. Schneider on Sunday proved a grand success. A chicken was taken as first prize and a pie as second prize. The boys report a good time and a delicious lunch. Dishes may be had by offering a small reward.

Notice
Of Farm Allotments and of Maximum Acreages of Wheat for 1934 Under Contracts for Members of the Wheat Production Control Association of Arenac-Iosco District, State of Michigan.
Listed below are statements of the allotments which have been determined for members of the Arenac-Iosco District Wheat Production Control Association from Whittemore Community. These allotments are to hold for the duration of the present wheat contracts, and they are the basis upon which adjustment payments are to be made. They have been determined by the County Allotment Committee after careful consideration of the application statements. Every effort has been made to have these allotments as accurate as possible. The maximum acreage which may be sown to wheat for the 1934 crop on each farm, under the reduction requirements of the contract, is also listed.
The Iosco County allotment, which has been calculated from records of the United States Department of Agriculture, is 7337 bushels. This is the total number of bushels allotted to the county under the wheat plan. The total of the individual allotments, including those allotments which could have been assigned to farms which are not participating under the wheat program, must be in line with the county allotment figure.

Signed—Alex Shambleau, Chairman, County Allotment Committee; Archie M. Knight, C. M. Siegrist.
Whittemore Community
Community Committee, C. M. Siegrist
ERNEST E. BELLEN—Sec. 8 and 17, 160 A.; Allot.—77 bu.; Max. A.—9.
KARL E. BUESCHEN—Sec. 1, 920 A.; Allot.—52 bu.; Max. A.—5.
LEON T. KING—Sec. 17, 80 A.; Allot.—78 bu.; Max. A.—8.5.
FRED C. LATTE—Sec. 23, 80 A.; Allot.—55 bu.; Max. A.—3.4.
GROVER LOMASON—Sec. 17, 80 A.; Allot.—121 bu.; Max. A.—17.8.
L. W. ROSS—Sec. 29, 160 A.; Allot.—197 bu.; Max. A.—14.4.
C. M. SIEGRIST—Sec. 19, 320 A.; Allot.—218 bu.; Max. A.—12.7.
WILL WATERS—Sec. 23, 80 A.; Allot.—40 bu.; Max. A.—3.

Iona Flour
24 1/2 lb. bag 93c
49 lb. bag $1.85

Fels Naptha Soap, 4 bars 18c
Campbell's Soup 4 cans 25c
Palmolive Soap, 3 cakes 17c
Cherries sour No. 2 can 10c
Scratch Feed 100 lb. bag $1.81
Egg Mash 100 lb. bag $2.04

MEATS
Pork Roast center cut pound 9c
Hamburg, 3 pounds 25c
Spare Ribs, pound 9c
Ring Bologna, pound 9c
Smoked Picnics, pound 11c
Pork Steak, pound 12c
Sauer Kraut, pound 5c

A & P Food Stores

Blanket Makers in Caste
In a recent district of Meerut, India, there are 55,000 sheep, which yield 51,000 pounds of wool for blanket weaving. Caste plays a part there, says the British Empire Chamber of Commerce Magazine, and one may see Gadaras or Hindu shepherds tending these sheep while Mohammedan kamalis carry on the actual manufacture of the blankets. When the industry enjoyed a boom, these workers were assisted by Jullias, who are otherwise engaged in cotton or silk weaving.

Budapest Girls Want to Be Older
Thousands of women under twenty-four years of age in Budapest, Hungary, make every effort to appear older. The government enforces a law providing that on "moral grounds" no female employee in any restaurant, cafe, hotel, milk shop or pastry cook's establishment may be under twenty-four years of age.

Cleveland's War on Dogs
By August 18, 1933, the city council was beset with complaints and demands for action, recounts the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The canine population was getting the best of the authorities. The marshal started a wholesale round-up. Every dog with out a collar disappeared from circulation. Farmers were warned to keep their dogs in their wagons. On many occasions they came to town with several dogs and went home with none.

Harbor Pollution
A report on harbor pollution by oil from passing liners states that a film extends out over the ocean for 500 miles from both New York and Cherbourg. In some areas the oil is so thick and gummy that numerous birds have been stuck in it—and have starved to death.—Collier's Magazine.

Glass Cloth
The term glass cloth is sometimes applied to the flexible material made by weaving finely drawn glass threads. It is also used to designate a patented process for treating cloth in such a way that the ultra-violet rays will penetrate it.

Picnic of the Dead
One of the strangest sights in the world is on a mountain top of Luzon, Philippine islands. Fully clothed, and sitting in groups of from 10 to 25 each, there are hundreds of bodies of Igorots which have been mummified by the hot, dry air—their method of burial. It resembles a vast picnic.—Collier's Weekly

TOWNLIN
Clarence Gauthier, Mrs. Lewis Gauthier and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Krumm spent the week end visiting Orville Gauthier at Howell. Orville's friends are glad to know he is getting well.
Mrs. Arthur Freel is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shepard, at Flint this week.
See the large assortment of penny Christmas Cards and folders at Keiser's Drug Store, Tawas City, advised by M. A. Sommerfield of Tawas City was a caller here this week.
Elmer Friederichsen is home after spending a few days at Flint visiting relatives.
Mrs. Carroll Symons and children returned to Flint Tuesday after spending a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Freel.
Mr. Messler and family of Monroe visited his brother, Elmer Messler, and family on Monday.
Miss Beatrice Freel, Mrs. George Quick and friends of Bay City spent last Thursday at their home here.

Coal Mine in Back Yard
A hole, nine feet wide, which appeared in a lawn in Tivdale, England, has been found to be part of the shaft, 200 feet deep, of a mine closed 50 years ago.

Guide: "This sir, is the leaning tower of Pisa."
American Tourist: "Pisa! Let me think. No, that does not sound like the contractor's name who built my garage, but it looks like his work."
Just received a car of egg coal. Under 2% ash.
Little Boy (calling father at office): "Hello, who is this?"
Father (recognizing son's voice): "The smartest man in the world."
Little Boy: "Pardon me, I got the wrong number."

Wilson Grain Company

Tawas Breezes
VOL. VII DECEMBER 8, 1933 NUMBER 29

NRA
WE DO OUR PART

Dear Madam
Can You Answer these Questions?

What kind of tub has the Speed Queen?
A porcelain tub with rounded, curved bottom which has no bolts or screws running through it to come loose or cause leaks. It is also protected by the outside steel wall of the washer frame.

What capacity has the Speed Queen?
Regular Standard Capacity.

What type of Agitator has the Speed Queen?
It has the popular submerged type made of light, durable aluminum.

Is it a fast washer? Does it wash clean?
There is no faster or cleaner washer on the market.

Does the water keep hot?
The double walls insulate the tub and keep the water hot much longer—according to tests 40 per cent longer.

Has the wringer an emergency safety release?
It has the newest type. A bar extends across the front of the wringer which, when pressed, completely releases the pressure on the rolls.

What kind of wringer rolls?
The Speed Queen Model F has full 2 1/4" balloon rolls which damp dry the clothes and protect the breakage of buttons.

Is the washer easy to keep clean?
Easiest there is. A smooth, steel jacket encloses the tub and even the wringer drive shaft. All mechanical parts are enclosed.

Is it guaranteed?
The Speed Queen carries the broadest and most liberal written guarantee of any washer. Every user is assured 100 per cent satisfaction.

THE HOUSE OF FRIENDLY SERVICE

USED CARS!

One Dodge Senior
One 1929 Ford A Coach
One 1929 Ford Town Sedan
One Studebaker Touring
One Whippet Sedan

See Us For a Good Used Car

Continental RED SEAL Automobiles

Northern Oil Co. Inc.
Telephone 89-F2 Tawas City

THE HOUSE OF FRIENDLY SERVICE

CLASSIFIED ADVS

Lost and Found
LOST—On Plains, two tan and brown hounds. Finder report at Herald Office. Reward.
STRAY HORSE came to my premises November 14. Owner can have same by paying costs. Clair Thompson.
FOUND—Black and white female hound. Louis Kun.

For Sale or Exchange
FOR SALE—Ice boat. Carl Babcock.
FOR SALE—Small pigs, 8 weeks old, $3 per pair. Russell Alda, Wilber. Phone 191-F12.
FOR SALE—Two new milch cows. Paul Bouchard, Tawas City.

Wanted
WANTED—Cattle, lambs and veal calves. Prescott Bros. Phone 240.

JACQUES FUNERAL PARLOR
Tawas City, Mich.
NIGHT AND DAY CALLS GIVEN PROMPT ATTENTION
Phone—242
Residence Phone—183

Dear Madam
Can You Answer these Questions?

What kind of tub has the Speed Queen?
A porcelain tub with rounded, curved bottom which has no bolts or screws running through it to come loose or cause leaks. It is also protected by the outside steel wall of the washer frame.

What capacity has the Speed Queen?
Regular Standard Capacity.

What type of Agitator has the Speed Queen?
It has the popular submerged type made of light, durable aluminum.

Is it a fast washer? Does it wash clean?
There is no faster or cleaner washer on the market.

Does the water keep hot?
The double walls insulate the tub and keep the water hot much longer—according to tests 40 per cent longer.

Has the wringer an emergency safety release?
It has the newest type. A bar extends across the front of the wringer which, when pressed, completely releases the pressure on the rolls.

What kind of wringer rolls?
The Speed Queen Model F has full 2 1/4" balloon rolls which damp dry the clothes and protect the breakage of buttons.

Is the washer easy to keep clean?
Easiest there is. A smooth, steel jacket encloses the tub and even the wringer drive shaft. All mechanical parts are enclosed.

Is it guaranteed?
The Speed Queen carries the broadest and most liberal written guarantee of any washer. Every user is assured 100 per cent satisfaction.

MODEL "F"
$5450

For homes without electricity, gasoline engine models are available.

You probably have other questions. Come in and let us answer them and show you this fine machine

W. A. Evans Furniture Co.
EAST TAWAS TAWAS CITY
"For family washing—there's no place like home"

The Fourth Lovely Lady

By THERESE BENSON

(© The Bobbs-Merrill Company.)

CHAPTER V—Continued

Johnstone Nesbit, accepting the announcement as a signal that his time was up, again got to his feet. "I'd better go," he said. "Wait half a second," Smif halted him. "Let me think how I can best arrange things. I live at the Badminton at —th and Madison avenue. We wouldn't be interrupted there. I wonder if it would be possible for you to come to see me this evening? As a friend, I mean."

Johnstone Nesbit looked at her as if he could not believe his ears.

"As—as a friend?" he stammered. "But—but you're a Virginian."

"Certainly I am," Smif nodded. "What has that to do with it?"

"Has nobody told you that I'm no gentleman?"

"Sure," said Smif, who had expected the question. "You've told me so yourself several times, and I'm amazed at the importance you seem to attach to the word."

Nesbit went over and picked up his hat and coat. Then he turned a happy face to her.

"You really mean it?" he asked anxiously. "I may come there—as a friend?"

"Certainly I mean it," Smif said sturdily. "You must ask for Miss Lovely. You know I am not Madame Saitou there. The place is the Badminton. You won't forget?"

"Forget? Not a chance in the world. Why, I'm coming there as a friend."

He was gone on the echo of the last word and Smif was left in a curious state of mind. Interest, puzzlement, pity; all were mingled. She would have liked to sit down and devote herself to this case to the exclusion of all others. Of a sudden, Johnstone Nesbit outweighed everything, which was easily explained since he came to her from Lovelylea. A place, by the way, which he had said he proposed to buy. She stiffened at that memory. She was going to buy Lovelylea herself. No one in the world, however pathetic, could be allowed to come between her and the home of her ancestors.

It was obvious to her, now, that Miss Mercedes must own Rockwood, the old Stuart plantation. If Mr. Nesbit were fond of that country the best thing for him to do was to marry her (suitably reduced) and live there. This held out a happy solution of several difficulties and she decided it was the conclusion she must work for since, married to Mercy, no one would be allowed to be lonely.

With her thoughts still whirling chaotically around Lovelylea, its tenant and his neighbor, Smif forced herself to abandon her profitless speculations and resume the business of the day.

The trouble of Susan's friend was disposed of quickly. It boiled down to a query as to what should be done when one's son and the wrong girl fell in love. Smif suggested a plan of action so simple that there was no risk of antagonizing the boy, and the anxious mother went away comforted, accompanied by a beaming Susan, very proud of her resourceful protegee. Somehow the other business engagements of the day were gone through with credit, including the visit to Doctor Blanton.

At Pierre's she found that Laura had added herself to the party, for which Lucy, with her usual efficiency, had secured a table in the quietest corner. No gaiety emanated from it.

"Glad you didn't wait for me," Smif said, as she seated herself in the vacant chair. "I've had a terribly busy day and I'm afraid I'm a little late. Tea and lemon for me. No sugar and no cinnamon toast. Nothing else either. I'm going to reduce. Moreover, I'm going to be paid for doing it."

None of them appeared to relish her account of Miss Mercedes' precautionary measure, although she told it with a full appreciation of its amusing aspect; and when one or two other good stories fell flat Smif decided to face the issue and open hostilities herself. She lifted her cup and when she set it down empty, shot a swift glance around the circle. "I don't appear to be your favorite entertainer this afternoon," she remarked. "Suppose one of you others try to lighten the gloom."

"You're the only one who can do that, Smif dear, by giving up this dangerous business," Louise reached out and pressed Smif's hand, "so far as I'm concerned, I'm only thinking of you, darling; but I can't shut my eyes to the risks you are running, with all sorts of people free to rush in upon you."

"Men like that creature with the emeralds going in and out of the building," Laura said. "I told the girls about him."

"As dangerous as the Head-Hunters of Borneo," Louise murmured distractedly.

Smif grinned, but not having heard of the Head-Hunters before from Louise, ignored them as irrelevant. "You don't get a certificate of character with every one you pass, even on Park avenue, Laura. However, the man with the emerald horseshoe did turn up at my place after you left yesterday."

Laura emitted a well-bred little scream.

"How frightful! How alarming! After that, Smif, you will have to acknowledge that it is not safe and give the whole thing up."

"But I don't acknowledge any such thing," Smif returned briskly. "You don't know how funny you are. All of you are just being silly. This man is as harmless as Charles Phelps. I suppose none of you objects to his consulting me? If so, it's a little late, for you've known he did it for years."

"Charlie is quite a different type from this desperado." Having seen him, Laura took a position of authority. "The rest of you haven't had a chance to study him, but I have. He was a very dangerous looking black-guard."

"A lamb in wolf's clothing then," Smif said carelessly. "I assure you that he is entirely harmless and I like him. I like him very much."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

turn up at my place after you left yesterday."

Laura emitted a well-bred little scream.

"How frightful! How alarming! After that, Smif, you will have to acknowledge that it is not safe and give the whole thing up."

"But I don't acknowledge any such thing," Smif returned briskly. "You don't know how funny you are. All of you are just being silly. This man is as harmless as Charles Phelps. I suppose none of you objects to his consulting me? If so, it's a little late, for you've known he did it for years."

"Charlie is quite a different type from this desperado." Having seen him, Laura took a position of authority. "The rest of you haven't had a chance to study him, but I have. He was a very dangerous looking black-guard."

"A lamb in wolf's clothing then," Smif said carelessly. "I assure you that he is entirely harmless and I like him. I like him very much."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."

"You're not going to marry him I hope?" Louise inquired, ever ready to suspect a love affair.

"A great deal could be said in favor of such a course. I believe he's rich. All gunmen are, aren't they? But I must acknowledge that there are certain obstacles between my true love and me. For one thing, he doesn't like fat people—"

"So that's why you are reducing!" Laura interrupted, quick as a flash. "I thought there wasn't one word of truth in that preposterous story about the enormous woman. You simply want to please this man."

"Great judge of human nature, aren't you, Laura?" Smif was sorry now that she had introduced her gunman into the conversation. "Let's stop fencing and get down to business. This, I gather, is a sortie in force intended to appeal to my better nature. Well, the sooner you make up your minds that I have no better nature the sooner you'll agree that there's nothing to be done but to smile at my harmless foibles."

"It's all very well to talk," Laura said tartly. "We know you have what might vulgarly be called the gift of the gab. You can't get over the fact that you're our sister and that it is bound to reflect on us if people take to saying you're queer. For our sakes, you ought to give up this crazy business. We're entirely ready to make it up to you—" She paused to observe the effect of this offer.

Smif sat immobile, not even bothered to conceal them behind an indifferent manner. She loved her sisters and had made up her mind to avoid a quarrel at no matter what cost to her pride.

"Let me set your mind at rest. My business is already established on a paying basis. This morning I deposited a fee of five thousand dollars and am to have as much more when the transaction is closed. It looks as though I would escape becoming a public charge."

She left them speechless. Lucy, her bitterest opponent, was the first to rally.

"It's perfectly plain what she's doing," she declared. "It's what we all thought of first. She's a bootlegger."</

Japan's Roads

Scene on a Japanese Highway.

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

WITH motor cars multiplying in Japan, the Nipponese are becoming increasingly interested in good roads. A few years ago travelers scanned railway maps when planning to tour Japan. Now, new roads linking great cities with regions of historic and scenic interest on the larger islands are diverting the attention of visitors to automobiles and improved highways.

It is possible, although, it must be confessed, sometimes slightly uncomfortable, to go by automobile throughout the length and breadth of Japan. To be sure, many of the roads are true "sunshine roads," which mean ease to him who attempts to travel them during the rainy seasons, when light bridges across flooding streams often become unsafe for heavy traffic or float away entirely; yet motoring at proper times presents only minor difficulties.

Drive along that historic Tokaido road from Yedo (Tokyo) to Kyoto, past Hakone lake, sacred Fuji, and the east seacoast. With the sharp autumn air bringing red blood tingling to your cheeks, spiral up to Chuzenji from Nikko along the zigzag road carved on the steep mountain side. Behold there the exquisite panorama of multithed maples. Climb to the mountains that gird the blue waters of Lake Towada, lush in the greenery of summer or aflame with riotous golds and reds of frost-tinted October.

Direct your car out into the country byways when summer rice planting or autumn harvest makes evident the patience and ceaseless industry of rural life. Discover for yourself charming places along the inland sea, the Fuji lake district, and elsewhere. If you take one such trip, you will agree that motoring is well worth the effort even when the roads are in poor repair.

Today, in Japan, automobile traffic is steadily expanding. If one excepts the innumerable motorcycles and three-wheeled delivery automobiles that dart about everywhere, and includes only the tiny flyweight cars, the raucous taxicabs that cruise the city streets for 50-sen fares (normally about 25 cents); the public and private automobiles, the lumbering trucks, and the long, low 18-passenger busses that overflow the narrow roadways, there are now about 70,000 motorized vehicles on Honshu Island alone, and on the four main islands a total of more than 160,000.

Better Roads for Motors.

The number of cars already in operation, together with those arriving daily at the docks or taking final shape in locally established assembly plants, is ever a pressing argument for better roads. In the first eleven months of 1932 the United States exported to Japan 2,828 busses and trucks and 2,736 passenger automobiles. The value of automobile parts exported in this same period was $2,348,665.

Every day motors are widening their sphere of activity. Treaded pneumatic tires are leaving patterns in paths which for ages knew no prints save those of bare or sandal-clad feet. Gasoline fumes mingle with the dust that rises from roadbeds heretofore powdered and rutted only by the wheels of dog, bullock, or man-drawn carts.

The roads are rapidly changing, even the historic old Tokaido from Tokyo to Kyoto, which served Japan as the Via Appia served ancient Rome. Although the old roadbed that echoed to the hoofs of horses in the grand days of chivalry has been altered, until only cobbled spots between the weathered gnarled pines and stately cryptomerias identify it, the panoramas are as delightful as ever.

Mount Fuji still stands supreme in her winter-whitened mantle or in the blue haze and shroud of cumulus clouds; the rivers still rush down from the purple hills, and the inrolling waves of the Pacific still break along the East Seacoast as in bygone years. "There is the music of the harp in the pine trees and the sound of the timbrel in the waves; the panting of the carriers is like the sound of flutes and the stamp of the horses' feet like the boom of the drum."

Hakone Barrier Long Gone.

If Chomei were to write that portion of his Tokaido diary today, he would have to find some additional instrumental smiles for the exhaust of motors and the blatant sounding of klaxons.

The old Hakone barrier gateway has been gone these 60-odd years. No more do armed sentries there challenge one and demand to see passports and credentials, as in the days when glittering trains of daimios (feudal lords) marched in ceaseless parade back and forth on this route between the courts of the shogun (generalissimo) and emperor. Motor trekkers now stop only if they are interested in examining the age-old site. It is sheer pleasure, however, to loiter along the way and enjoy the surpassing views across the cerulean Hakone lake, which on calm days mirrors that stately mountain named by the aboriginal Anus Fuji, the Goddess of Fire.

Not only along the Tokaido, but elsewhere as well, men with picks, shovels, and dump carts are beginning to carve wider and better trails of joy and utility through the empire.

A wide asphalt and concrete road, which connects the titan industrial city, Osaka, with the port of Kobe, is in the final stages of construction. And, mind you, "speed cops" are stationed along the way to check up on motorists trying more than the permitted 25 miles an hour!

Thus far, however, motor traffic has grown much in excess of the development of the roads and the education of the people to the innovation that is elbowing its way into the congested thoroughfares.

Persons who have become accustomed to wide macadam highways or spacious boulevards and are inclined to tread rather heavily on accelerators may find travel in Japan somewhat irksome at first. Anxiety and impatience must be left at home; otherwise the nervous strain will destroy all of the pleasures of motor vagoning. Careful and patient driving is, of necessity, the motorist's watchword on the Japanese highways.

Not only are the roads generally narrow and full of turns, but up and down them passes a multifarious traffic. There is a constant succession of heavily laden bullock carts, bicyclists beyond count, people plodding under ponderous burdens, high-piled carts with dogs straining at leash to assist their perspiring masters to pull them, peddlers hawking their wares, trundling horse-drawn wagons, and children—babies playing in the open streets, youngsters going to and from school, hundreds of students on picnic or pilgrimage—children everywhere. And there seems to be little inclination on the part of any of them to share the road.

Probably nowhere else in the world is there such extensive "jay-walking" or such a horde of irresponsible bicyclists.

Squeeze the bulb of your horn repeatedly, then sound your electric klaxon (every motorcar is equipped with both), and still there is little movement in the traffic.

Why there is such slowness to respond to the repeated signals is hard to understand, since courtesy is one of the outstanding traits of the people. Many persons have tried to analyze the problem in the hope of finding a remedy.

Bicycles the Chief Trouble.

"How many miles we get out of our horn, and not how many miles we get out of our tires, is the question we have in Japan," a motorist resident may jokingly remark when you are discussing the subject of congestion on the roads and streets.

Give a man or boy a bicycle in Japan, where there are five and three-quarter million bicycles to be reckoned with, and he will dart about with utter abandon, entirely disregarding traffic of all kinds. Consequently, bicycles constitute easily the most serious of motorists' worries. If only the traffic police in the cities would devote to bicyclists a little of the assiduous attention they seem to think necessary in controlling motor car traffic, the situation would improve. Perhaps clearer roads are in prospect.

Irrespective of facts regarding the right of way, the motor owner usually has, as yet, the heavier responsibility in court in event of a traffic accident. Congestion and delays that would evoke from Americans floods of vituperation leave the Japanese chauffeur outwardly unperturbed. If he speaks at all, it is probably to ask, with most profuse apologies, if the carter who blocks the road will be so kind as to try to move his vehicle far enough to one side to permit a car to squeeze past. After more apologies for causing inconvenience, the chauffeur expresses his thanks and drives on. It is a rare gift, indeed, this courteous etiquette of cl'auffeurs.

Hailed Fox-Hunting King

Jonas Cattell, of Revolutionary Period, One of the Most Remarkable of the Distinctive Race of American Pioneer Woodsmen.

HENRY WYSHAM LANIER, in the Literary Digest.

Southern New Jersey had a famous hunter, popularly forgotten, who may claim a place in the select company of America's pioneer woodsmen. And, indeed, Jonas Cattell was in some respects the most individual of them all. Certainly he succeeded in some adaptations to his surroundings beyond even a Boone or a Natty Bumppo, with whom he was largely contemporary.

Born in 1758 on a farm a couple of miles east of Woodbury in Gloucester county (just across the river from Philadelphia), he was by nature a hunter and woodsman in a land full of wild game. Long before he was grown the puzzling land and water intricacies of the whole neighborhood, and the intimate ways of its wild inhabitants, were an open book to Jonas Cattell. Early he became famous as a distance runner.

Though only eighteen when the Revolutionary war began, Jonas promptly enlisted in the Gloucester County militia, and served all through the struggle, in those short-term enlistments characteristic of our Colonial troops, distinguishing himself at the engagement of Fort Mercer.

But it is Jonas the Fox-hunter who specially awaits some modern muse.

Ten years before the Revolution some of Philadelphia's social elite and a group of prominent Gloucester county sportsmen formed the first organized American hunt, the Gloucester Fox Hunting club. (The first steady pack and regular hunt in England dates back only to 1730.)

The Gloucester club made Jonas the official "whipper in" and general hunting mentor of the organization.

In spite of his prominent official capacity, he always hunted on foot. Interestingly, a recent historian has pointed out how the most formal and solemn authorities have set the seal of their approval on pedestrian following of hounds.

With Jonas it was mere instinctive natural efficiency.

On foot he was swift and tireless. For the long pull of a hard day's hunt he considered his own legs better than any horse's. Besides, he knew every fox and muskrat path across the tongues of bog, every short cut, every conformation which effected the natural route of a hunted animal, in the whole county the Gloucester hunted. He had studied foxes and their ways till he knew what the varmint would do before the fox himself knew it. What was a horse to him, except something to worry about and take his mind off the chase?

And since these shocking opinions were backed by his habit of being always in at the death, generally ahead of even the most reckless riders, there was little to be said in refutation.

He had that uncanny ability to read trail which amazes the unskilled in the expert trapper and woodsman.

Divorce Question Not Uppermost With Hubby

They had been married little more than a year, but it had taken them considerably less time than that to discover it was all a horrible mistake. Finally, after a particularly bitter row, in which they pictured each other's faults down to the last revolting detail, she flounced out of the apartment, spent the night at her mother's, and a few days later sailed for Paris to arrange a divorce. He sent her a telegram wishing her Godspeed on her errand.

Weeks passed. Then, one midnight in Paris, she was aroused by the telephone. He was calling from New York. "Hello!" she said. "Hello," he replied. "Listen, dear—" "Now, Tom," she interrupted firmly, "there's simply no use. I don't love you any more, and I'm going right through with this divorce." "I'm not stopping you," declared Tom. "Just tell me one thing, though. Where did you get those little English peas we used to have, and what brand did you ask for?" She told him, he rang off, and in due time, the divorce went through. —New York Evening Post.

When the hounds were at fault he would promptly appear on the spot; as he studied the ground the trustful dogs would follow him about, as if looking for guidance to powers beyond their own.

Even after an eager hound had opened on a scent Jonas would frequently stop and check the animal's nose by his own microscopic eye, to be sure it was the correct trail and not a back track, or possibly a hare, that was deceiving the dog. Rarely did he make a mistake. The important hunters and the pack alike awaited his judgment and accepted it.

Six feet one inch in height, powerful and wiry, with muscles and wind developed by daily exertions, as keen as any hound with the exciting effluvia of the quarry in his nostrils, there were few humans or dogs or horses who could keep up with him through a grueling day's hunting.

On one memorable occasion they started an old red dog rover who gave a straight-away run so swift and long-continued that the pack became separated, the horses were winded, the entire hunt was thrown into disorder. Darkness fell. The huntsman's horn called the scattered groups together. In spite of several missing hounds, in spite of the sporting disgrace, it was decided to give

"Lost Tribe" in Wilds of Tibet

Explorers Find Odd Section of Humanity Living in Solitude.

Hidden away high up in the Himalayas, somewhere in Tibet, there exists a mysterious section of humanity that dwells in caves and still retains characteristics of an ancient civilization. To these people has been attributed the name of "Lost Tribe" by the only two Europeans who have ever penetrated their peculiar preserve.

It is maintained they are undoubtedly of the Chaldean origin that preceded the early Egyptians. A photographic record of these interesting individuals has been made by members of the Batt-Baird Himalayan expedition, which attracted considerable attention by its activities during the winter of 1930-1931 and brought back valuable data.

Dr. Jill Cossley Batt, BA, DSc, famous author and explorer, was recently in Montreal with her partner on that notable journey, Dr. Irvine Baird, and in discussing the Lost Tribe, these explorers pointed out that they live at an altitude of between 25,000 and 26,000 feet, live in caves on agricultural products obtained from valleys far below them, are extremely well preserved, possessing neither wrinkles nor gray hair, and appear to have an unusual abundance of vitality.

The longevity of these people, who number about 400, was considered particularly remarkable by the two travelers. It was impossible to indicate the actual age of individuals, as no means of common converse was found, even after a period of three and a half months, but an estimate of 120 years was made.

The tribe is severed completely from other people, which is largely responsible for the fact that no information has ever before been obtained about it. Despite primitive conditions, the cuneiform method of writing and the fine sanitary system in effect appeared to indicate that the origin of this tribe lies along the Euphrates.

The path followed by inhabitants of that area has been traced to the mouth of that river, and further east in the vicinity of Bombay. There are further indications near Delhi and even eastward of the Indian capital.

This section of humanity was discovered by Dr. Jill Cossley Batt, BA, DSc, and Dr. Irvine Baird, BA, DSc.

SKIN IRRITATIONS

Itching of eczema, ringworm, chafing, pimples, minor burns, etc., quickly relieved by soothing up; wearily and shamefacedly they plodded back to Hugg's inn at Gloucester for bodily comfort.

Resinol

At dawn the keeper of the kennels heard a commotion outside. Hurrying out, he saw two of the missing hounds limping painfully in—each bearing about his neck a portion of the fox's brush.

Jonas and this couple had distanced the hunt and continued the chase with no thought of giving up. At eleven o'clock at night, by a brilliant moon, they had fairly run down Reynard in a swamp, and ended his chicken-stealing forever.

Keeping the fur as his own prize, Jonas had sent the hounds back, bearing this testimony that they and he had upheld the honor of the Gloucester Hunt.

When starting out for such an all-day chase Jonas would breakfast on eggs or practically raw meat, washed down with draughts of cider, beer, milk, or plain water, sometimes tea or coffee. That engine burned up a lot of fuel each day.

For costume he wore a red flannel shirt, a suit of heavy homespun covered by a dowless hunting shirt, stout waterproof shoes or fisherman's boots and canvas leggings tied above the hips. He carried a long staff or a gun, and liked to have also in his belt a tomahawk, presented to him by Captain Ross.

For about twenty years this extraordinary countryman was an indispensable institution to the society organization, and a trusted friend and guide in all matters within his province. It was the Gloucester which disbanded in 1818, not Jonas; for many years thereafter he was going strong, and in his seventies still scoured the country after game, with gun and dogs.

Triumphant Logic

In an East African district a doctor acts as understudy to the magistrate. Recently, when each was conscious of having broken the law by riding at night without a light, they agreed that the majesty of the law would best be vindicated by each appearing before the other.

The magistrate, taking precedence, tried the doctor, and fined him $10. Then the doctor tried the magistrate and fined him $20, justifying his severity by pointing out that as this was the second case that day, obviously the offense was becoming far too common.

She has produced several pictures, and made a film record of her experiences in the Himalayas. Some difficulty was experienced, however, in obtaining moving pictures of the Lost Tribe as the noise associated with the camera caused consternation.—Boston Globe.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong. No alcohol. Sold by druggists in tablets or liquid.—Adv.

SNAP OUT OF IT!

DON'T let constipation get a permanent grip on you. GARFIELD TEA gives you the prompt, thorough laxative cleansing that helps get rid of constipating wastes. Snap out of that chronic peevish feeling right through with this divorce. Begin the GARFIELD TEA treatment tonight. (Plain—or in New York, tea bags—at your drug store)

GARFIELD TEA

A Splendid Laxative Drink

WNU—O 49—33

FOXY YOUTH

Mother—Who's the brightest boy in your class, Tommy?
Tommy—Bill Smith! He pretends to be loony so he won't have to study!

Good Idea

The club bore had just returned from a trip to India, and insisted upon describing the rope trick.
"You can believe what you like," he asserted, "but I tell you some of these fakirs can throw a rope up into the air, then climb up it themselves and completely vanish."
After a short silence one fellow said, "Can you, by any chance, do that trick yourself?"—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Had Their Meaning

The convivial husband had a friend to stay with him for the weekend. When the guest was being shown up to his room he noticed that there were faint crosses on several of the steps. He asked the reason.
"Ah," whispered the host, "these come into operation after midnight. X means that the step creaks."

TWO OF A KIND

The Lady—Suppose, Jane, I should deduct from your wages the cost of all the dishes you broke?
The Cook—Shure, mum, in that case it's meself 'd be like the dishes.

Ideal Company

"Why do you keep a parrot?"
"Because I like to hear it talk. The parrot is the only creature gifted with the power of speech that is content to repeat just what it hears without trying to make a long story of it."—Montreal Star.

Eating, Anyway

Oshkosh—What makes you think Kokomo is prospering now?
Tishish—Well, I saw gravy stains on his vest.

A la New York

"Sometimes I don't speak for hours at a time."
"Thanks for those kind voids."

NOT PLAYING FAIR

Louder and more insistent cries from the bathroom made it increasingly evident that it was entirely too small a room for seven-year-old twin boys to wash their neck and ears in peace.

At last the door burst open and Donnie, bearing every evidence of the defeated man, and hurt to the quick by it, ran crying to the nearest consoler.

"Mother, Charles sticks his tongue out at me and then he shuts his eyes so he can't see me stick mine out at him!" he said.

NOT WORTH WHILE

"If your husband isn't good to you why don't you apply for separate maintenance?"
"What's the use—he never comes home as it is."

Exercise of a Kind

They were discussing the spoiled son of a mutual friend.
"He has been ordered by the doctor to take some exercise," said Black.
"And is he?" queried White.
"Well, if jumping at conclusions and running up bills is exercise, yes."

Had Him Guessing

"You say that your wife has received an anonymous letter informing her of something you did before your marriage. Well, the best thing you can do is to confess."
"I know! but she won't let me read the letter, and I don't know what to confess."

Joke of the Season

"Why, George! What are you laughing at?"
"Oh, I've just heard the best joke of the year."
"What is it?"
"Didn't you know that our maid has got a job in a china shop?"

His Occupation

Friend, to Artist—I've seen a big man going to your studio every day for the last week. Is he sitting for you?
Artist—No; he's laying for me. He's a bill collector.

Sh!

Farmer Hiram—That's a pretty heavy load for those horses to pull up that hill.
Farmer Silas—Be quiet. Those horses are blind and won't know the difference.—Chelsea Record.

Saving 'Em

O'Flaherty—Now, you've been fighting again. You've lost your two front teeth.
Son—No, I ain't, pop; I got 'em in me pocket.

MORE SATISFACTION CAN'T BE BOUGHT FOR 5¢

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT

THE PERFECT GUM

THE FLAVOR LASTS

Sit in Your Chair at Home . . . and Shop!

The things you want to buy . . . at the time you want to buy them . . . at the price you want to pay. You can find these right in the paper. Your newspaper advertisements make it possible to do your "looking around" right at home . . . and then go downtown to do your buying . . . saving you time and energy.

KEEPING CLEAN with the KLINGERS

LOOK AT THAT SHIRT! ONLY A MONTH OLD AND GRAY AS A RAINCLOUD

I'VE DONE MY BEST TO WASH IT CLEAN

IT'S LEFT-OVER DIRT, MRS. KLINGER, THAT MAKES CLOTHES GRAY. TRY FELS-NAPHTHA . . . IT GETS ALL THE DIRT OUT

SAY, THE WASHING WAS EASIER. NOW WE'LL SEE HOW WHITE THE CLOTHES ARE

NO TRICK . . . I CHANGED TO FELS-NAPHTHA. ITS EXTRA HELP GETS CLOTHES CLEANER

HOO-RAY, NELLIE, MY SHIRTS ARE WHITE AGAIN. WHAT'S THE TRICK?

Change to Fels-Naptha—that's my advice to every woman who wants whiter clothes. Its good golden soap and lots of naphtha loosen the grimeiest dirt—without hard rubbing. And it's so easy on hands, too. Mrs. Klinger

No. 1 Continued from the First Page

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Davis and children spent Thanksgiving and the week end in Watervliet.

Mrs. G. A. Prescott, Sr., and granddaughter, Miss Mary Louise Prescott, returned Monday from a week's visit with relatives in Cleveland, Ohio.

Miss Anne M. Brown of Bay City, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Abbey and children of Flint were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Bradock.

George Prescott returned Sunday to East Lansing after a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Prescott.

L. L. Davis left Monday for Kalamazoo, where he has been transferred by the State Highway Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Ferguson of Saginaw were Thanksgiving guests of the former's brother, Stephen Ferguson, and Mrs. Ferguson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Giddings and Ruth spent Friday in Bay City.

No. 2 Continued from the First Page

The eighth grade is reading Dickens' Christmas Carol.

We have entered into a Christmas Seal Sale contest with the fifth and sixth grades. We shall appreciate and courtesy shown us.

The pupils in our room are enjoying the traveling books which are sent us from the Children's Fund of Ann Arbor.

The seventh grade received a letter from Marcella Mason, a student in the grade school at Hooker, Oklahoma. In her letter she tells us of the terrible sand storms they have in her little city.

The following pupils had perfect spelling papers last week: Eighth grade—Kenneth Smith, Richard Ziehl, Lucille DePotty, Margaret Fox, Elsie Wojahn, Dorothy McDonald, and Thelma Herman; seventh grade—Emma McCormick, Violet Carroll, Eugene Wegner, John King, and Betty Davis.

No. 3 Continued from the First Page

in a park when the water adjacent is polluted, neither are tourists going to continue to camp in our park if it is not kept up and if a sign on the beach reads, "This water is contaminated—not fit for bathing." All last summer the bath-house was closed for this reason alone.

Mr. Home Owner, you, who are unfortunate enough to have from six to twelve inches of water in your basement every spring or whenever the present sewer decides to "back up" rather than follow its natural course, if you vote "No" on Monday's ballot, this situation will continue to prevail in your home. To have a dry basement in one's home unquestionably raises its value four or five hundred dollars.

One other matter we cannot afford to overlook is the fact that if we do not take care of our sewer of our own free will, the Federal Government will some day (not far away) send their own engineers here and compel us to install a disposal plant at a much greater expense than it can be done for at the present time. The Federal Government is not fooling when it says, "The water in these Great Lakes is not to be polluted with filth from sewers, factories, mills and the like."

Let us consider what will take place if we vote "Yes" next Monday. The first question that enters our mind is that of indebtedness and truly it is one of vital importance to everyone. We all know that business cannot be run without credit. Therefore, how can a city be expected to advance on a strictly cash basis or "pay-as-you-go" idea? It is not even good logic.

We have at present a chance to borrow $80,000.00 from the Federal government at a very low rate of interest. Out of this $80,000.00 the government is paying 30%, which means we pay back approximately $56,000.00. In other words, on a 100% investment we realize 130%, and if that isn't a strictly business proposition, we would like to know what is. Out of this $80,000.00 the engineers have estimated that 55% to 60% will go back in wages. That is some $45,600.00. Also, about forty East Tawas men will be given employment over a period of five months, which is another item we cannot afford to overlook. Also, every home in our city will have a sewer main running through the street nearest it, regardless of how far it may happen to be from a sewer main now.

Voters, we are not running in debt $80,000.00 as some of you have been led to believe; rather, we are borrowing $56,000.00 (the Federal Government is paying the other $24,000.00), of which approximately $45,600.00 will flow back in our city over a period of five months. It is an opportunity we cannot "shake," so vote "Yes" on the $80,000.00 sewer project Monday, December 11. Vote "Yes" so we can be assured of our State Park in the future; vote "Yes" so the water in our Bay that is now polluted with filth from sewers will again be fit to drink and to bathe in and many of our men will be given the much-needed employment they have waited so long for.

Congress has appropriated this money by the request of President Roosevelt to help the cities and towns improve their sanitary conditions, parks and public works. The larger cities are taking advantage of this offer, so why shouldn't we? We will all have to help pay for other cities' loans, so why not ours? Vote "Yes" on the $80,000.00 sewer project Monday, December 11 and get this important matter over with while we have the opportunity to do it at a minimum cost.

The Tawas Bay Yachting Association

No. 4 Continued from the First Page

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Musolf and daughter, Anita, of Genoa, Ohio, are spending two weeks with Mrs. Musolf's mother, Mrs. John Anschuetz.

Mrs. Guy Davis of Ypsilanti spent Thanksgiving in the city with her sister, Mrs. James Poppleton.

Mrs. Sam McMurray and daughter of Melvor are in the city visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McMurray.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Bigelow, who spent a couple of weeks in Dexter and Ann Arbor, returned home on Saturday.

Mrs. Carl Brownell left Friday (today) for Flint to spend the week end.

Miss Helen Cooley spent the week end with Miss Muriel Smith of Tawas City.

Miss Eva Huhtala, who spent a few days with her sister, Miss Helme Huhtala, returned to Boyne City on Sunday.

Several girls of the Junior Club spent Monday in Alpena attending the six o'clock dinner and meeting of the Alpena Junior Club.

A nice photo of baby will make a charming Christmas gift. Bassler Studio. Open nights on Sundays, adv.

Mrs. M. Mandock and children spent the week in Rogers City with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Miller and children were called to Flint on Wednesday owing to the death of a relative.

Mrs. A. C. Bonney was a Bay City visitor on Wednesday.

Miss Minnie Lentz, who spent several months in the city, left for Detroit, where she has employment.

Mrs. Fred Wilkins of Alpena spent Thursday in the city with her mother, Mrs. Carrie Brown.

Miss Hazel Jackson of Detroit spent the week end in the city with her father, C. R. Jackson, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Evans and family spent Thanksgiving in Traverse City with Mr. Evans' father, R. Evans.

It's Time to Do Your CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Make Your Selections Early from the Many Useful Gifts to be Found in Our Store. Gifts Suitable for All at From 5c to $5.00

C. L. McLean & Co.

FAMILY THEATRE EAST TAWAS

Unexcelled R. C. A. Sound Open Every Evening

Evening Shows—7:30 and 9:15 Sunday Matinee at 3:00
Evening Admission—10c-20c-30c Matinee Admission—5c-15c-25c

Use Our Well Lighted, Free Parking Lot Next to Theatre

This Friday and Saturday

'Summerville & Pitts' in "Love, Honor, and Oh, Baby!"

Sun.-Mon.-Tues., Dec. 10-11-12

ONLY YESTERDAY
The Cavalcade of American Life as seen through the soul of a woman wronged in a great love!

with the new star—MARGARET SULLAVAN
JOHN BOLES — BILLIE BURKE — REGINALD DENNY and a big cast of well known players
Shown with "Plane Nuts," Colortone Musical Review

Wed.-Thurs.
December 13 and 14

WAS HE DEMON OR REDEEMER?

With the fate of the world in his hands, why did he court the favors of the wickedest women in Paris?

with DORIS KENYON MARGARET LINDSAY
Shown with News and Musical Brevity

Note—This show is given as a benefit for the Christ Episcopal Guild

Friday-Saturday
December 15 and 16

HE TRIED TO BE A BRUTE . . .

and she thought it was Love!
See 1933's Greatest Laugh Hit

with JOAN BLONDELL WARREN WILLIAM WALLACE FORD RUTH DONNELLY Shown with News, Cartoon, Serial No. 12, and Comedy

COMING ATTRACTIONS

DECEMBER 17-18-19-20

Wrap all the stars and color of previous Warner musicals together and you have—

"FOOTLIGHT PARADE"

December 21 and 22—"SOLITAIRE MAN,"
December 24 and 25—"BRIEF MOMENT,"
Soon—"Prizefighter and The Lady," "The Dancing Lady," "Christopher Bean."

AT KELLY'S

Christmas Cards

A Large Assortment . . . 1c to 25c

Christmas Seals and Tags 5c and 10c

Cellophane Ribbon, Tinsel Ribbon 10c

KELLY'S
On-the-Corner EAST TAWAS

Millions Marvelled at This Mattress

At— A Century of Progress, Hall of Science

Burton Luxease $29.75

Come in and see this Luxurious Mattress
The ONLY one accepted by the Medical Board at The Worlds Fair.

Your inspection will convince you.
It has no equal.
Exclusive, patented Ortho-Flex Health Units.
Do Not Buy Until You See It.

BARKMAN MERCANTILE & OUTFITTING CO.
Tawas City Phone 230

SHOP EARLY at KEISER'S

A Bigger and Better Assortment of Christmas Gifts than Ever

KEISER'S DRUG STORE
TAWAS CITY MICHIGAN

RIVOLI THEATRE
Tawas City

Not Only Reliable Sound, But More . . . Wide Range Audible Sound . . . Combined With the Pick of the Pictures and Stars

EVENING SHOWS AT 7:15, CONTINUOUS MATINEE EVERY SUNDAY AT 3:00 P. M.

TONIGHT, FRIDAY, DEC. 8th, through SATURDAY, DEC. 9th

George O'Brien
KING OF THE WESTERNS

Smoke Lightning with Nell O'Day Betsy King Ross Frank Atkinson
From the story "Canyon Walls"

Added Featurettes

Sound Cartoon
Rib-Tickling Comic

— and —

Magic Carpet

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, December 10-11-12

Current Shorts

Latest News Events
Novelty Reel

Exceptional
Talking Comedy

Gay, glamorous, thrilling Romance

The WORST WOMAN in PARIS?
with Adolphe Menjou Benita Hume Harvey Stephens Helen Chandler
Lester L. Lasky Production
Written and Directed by Vincent Selma

EXTRA SPECIAL PROGRAM
Wednesday and Thursday, December 13th and 14th

BIG DOUBLE FEATURE — FOR THE PRICE OF ONE —

FEATURE No. 1

FEATURE No. 2

The Paramount-Liberty Magazine ALL-STAR STORY

The WOMAN ACCUSED
By ten world-famous authors
RUPERT HUGHES WICKI BRUM ZANE GREY VINA DELMAR IRVIN & COBB GERTRUDE MERTON J. P. MORGAN URSULA FARRINGTON POLAN BRANK SOPHIE KERR
Dramatized by BAYARD VEILLER with NANCY HEROLD GARY GARY JOHN HILDREY
A Paramount Picture

"TILLIE AND GUS"
A Paramount Picture with W-C-FIELDS ALTON SKIPWORTH and BABY LEROY

Added Featurette—A Sound Cartoon
YOUR CHANCE TO SEE AND HEAR THE MOST TALKED ABOUT BABY IN FILM DOM