Famous Author Gives Definition Of A Man
The answer to the question, when is a man a man? is supplied by Harold Bell Wright, the famous novelist, in the adaptation of his best-seller, "When A Man's A Man," playing at the Iosco Theatre, Oscoda, Friday and Saturday, April 19-20.

Mr. Wright, whose novel in question was eagerly read by sixteen million Americans, in defining the term, thinks a man's a man when he gives the woman he dearly loves to another, because he sincerely believes the other man is better suited to give her happiness.

This is precisely the situation he has dramatically unfolded in this picture, which stars the popular George O'Brien.

Card of Thanks
We wish to thank the friends and neighbors for their kindness during our bereavement, especially the L. O. L., those who furnished cars and for the floral tributes.

The speaker will show the need of changing our mental attitudes to meet the exigencies of this age of steel.

Mr. Williams joins the local pastor in a most cordial invitation to all to attend and receive the new viewpoint necessary to meet the ever increasing problems of our developing material civilization.

School Notes

Tawas City Public Schools and the Need of $25,000,000 State Aid
The income to the Tawas City public schools for the past five years, as evidenced by the books of the secretary of the board of education, is given below. The amounts do not include the library fund which must be used for library purposes, nor the revolving income from the sale of books. The 1934-1935 income includes the sum of $305,000 for tuition which is yet due from primary districts.

1930-1931,	$22,657.22;	1931-1932,	$18,991.08;
1932-1933,	$12,676.13;	1933-1934,	$11,593.68;
1934-1935,	$10,343.95.

This is a decrease since 1931 of approximately 54.3%. As the Primary School Interest Fund is dropping rapidly, and the amount of local taxation for schools is rigidly controlled by the fifteen mill amendment, nothing but increased state aid evidently can prevent the 1935-1936 school income from being lower than that of the present year. It is impossible to maintain the school at its present standard with the income of the last three years. The same is true of hundreds of schools throughout Michigan.

Oscoda Railway Station, Mikado Postoffice Robbed

Early Wednesday it was found that the D. & M. railway station at Oscoda and the postoffice building and gift shop belonging to Mr. and Mrs. W. Woodward at Mikado had been broken into and robbed. About $15.00 in cash and $10.00 in merchandise was taken from the postoffice and gift shop and it is thought several parcels of mail were missing from the D. & M. station. A number of sacks had been ripped open.

An investigation was made Wednesday by the state police and Iosco and Alcona county officers which led to the apprehending of Wm. Mans, formerly of Mikado, who recently broke jail at Stanton, Michigan. Sheriff Geo. Wilson of Alcona county went to Johannesburg Thursday to secure Mans for questioning.

The thieves drove a Chevrolet coach which had been stolen at Breckenridge. While going south from Mikado a tire blew out and the car hit a tree. It was abandoned and a Buick stolen from Russell Wollenmier who lives near the creamery at Mikado.

This is the second time the postoffice at Mikado has been robbed during the past year.

Mans is of Spanish descent. During his residence in Alcona county he had been in trouble several times.

Mallon, submitted their report, and the membership contest captains turned in a gratifying report—Mrs. R. Tuttle reporting 38 members and Mrs. J. Forsten 68 members. ### Bee Meeting Will Be Held At Court House Thursday

A bee meeting, with H. C. Kremer from Michigan State College in charge, will be held Thursday, April 25, in the court room at Tawas City from 10:30 to 12 o'clock.

Iosco county's bee population has been seriously depleted principally due to disease losses. Bees are a very important agent in pollinating clover for seed, trees and small fruits, cucumbers and numerous other crops.

Mr. Kremer will help bee keepers in solving some of their problems and in addition give a general practical bee keeping talk.

C. C. C. MEN WILL HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Public Is Invited To Visit Silver Creek Camp April 28

Open house to be held at Silver Creek Camp on Sunday afternoon, April 28th, from one o'clock to five o'clock promises to be one of the most interesting events in many years. Many people have no idea as to the workings of the camp and its purposes. Many have no idea as to what it consists of and how the boys so often referred to as C. C. C. boys get along and how they live. This event will give an opportunity to all who are interested to find out the answer to all these questions that many have in their minds.

Lieutenant Spiecker, in command of the camp, together with his staff and the boys are arranging a very interesting program to entertain the visitors while they are inspecting the camp and visiting its many buildings.

Make it a point to come to this Open House event and meet the forestry superintendent and foresters. See how the fires are fought from the towers. Learn how the work is done in the field from the men who do it. See the living quarters, the barracks, the mess hall with its ice box and store room, the power house with its generator and water pump, the warehouse with all its company supplies, the hospital, the headquarters building, and the recreation room.

The Michigan Mountaineers and one or two bands are expected to furnish part of the entertainment. Music and action and interesting events are planned for the entire four hour period of the Open House.

The following committee of citizens has been selected and have arranged to assist T. George Sternberg, general county chairman, in boosting this event: James MacGillivray, John Larson, James W. Hull and Erick Knuth, Oscoda; Lewis Nunn and E. O. Putnam, Hale; Edgar Louks and Robert Dahne, Whittemore; Frank Schneider, Melvor; J. A. Brugger, James Leslie, C. T. Prescott, Sr., W. C. Davidson and Edward Burgeson, Tawas City; Ernest Leaf, John Mielock, Victor Marzinski and W. A. Evans, East Tawas.

All are urged to attend and enjoy the hospitality of the C. C. C. boys.

County Farmers Will Hold Round Table Talk Saturday

The farmers of Iosco county will be interested in new ideas and thoughts concerning agricultural lines, which will be discussed in a round table talk at two o'clock this Saturday afternoon at the court house.

Contrary to the old belief that the world owes each of us a living, the trend of recent thought is modified to the idea that each one of us be given an opportunity to labor not alone in standard lines, but in new fields. Soy beans, a crop as old as Chinese history, is assuming its proper place in industry. This product is becoming a commercial factor not alone because of its soil building qualities but its valuable oil and protein content. The paint industry of today demands soy bean oil.

All citizens of the county will be well repaid by attending and hearing Frank Calvert of the Edison Institute, Dearborn, discuss soy bean products. Mr. Calvert has been with Mr. Ford for eight years and will be glad to answer any questions within his knowledge.

4 - H CLUBS MEET FRIDAY AT WHITTEMORE

Fine Work Is Displayed By Iosco Boys and Girls

About 250 boys and girls, parents and friends attended the 4-H Club Achievement Day held last Friday at Whittemore. The fine clothing and handicraft exhibits filled the hall.

A. G. Kettunen, state club leader, judged the handicraft work and announced the honor roll members. The honor roll members are the delegates eligible to attend the district achievement day at Gaylord to represent their clubs, there to compete for district honors. The outstanding individuals will be in line for state honors in their respective year's work.

Seventy-five boys were enrolled in six handicraft clubs. These clubs were as follows: Oscoda Manual Arts Club, Ward W. Shults leader; Beaver's Handicraft Club, Alabaster, E. R. Erickson and Mr. Johnson leaders; Reno Happy Carpenters, Whittemore, Wallace Leslie leader; Corrigan's Cheerful Carpenters, Whittemore, Mrs. Glade Schuster leader; Handy Hands and Hacking Hammers, Tawas City, Miss Ella Ross leader; The Three Musketeers, Burleigh township, Mrs. Aikietta Brookins leader. Three of the handicraft leaders are women, and the members of their clubs did mighty fine work.

A detailed report of the judging will be published in this paper in a later issue when all the data has been completed.

Folks who attended achievement day in years past commented that this year's clothing club exhibits were the finest ever on display, with the largest enrollment on record. The six clubs which exhibited were: Reno Stitches, with Miss Shirley Waters, a former club girl, as leader; Flying Fingers, Whittemore high school, with Miss Lois Leslie, an outstanding club leader for several years, as leader; Nimble Needles, a newly organized club of twelve girls at Oscoda, with Louise Lietz as leader; Flying Needle Club, also of Oscoda, Miss Vivian LaVack leader; Nettie's Neighbors, Hottos school, Mrs. J. W. Lomason leader; and Busy Bees, Hale, Mrs. Grace Adams leader. It might well be said that the Busy Bees Club, in which 25 enrolled and 25 finished, is one of the county's outstanding first year clubs. Miss Sylvia Wixon, state club leader, judged the articles and made announcements. The results of the judging will be published in a later issue of this paper when the summary sheet is received from the state office.

The Taft School Food Study Club under Clark Kerr's leadership exhibited a fine lot of note books and posters depicting many interesting phases and facts on food preparation. The Whittemore high school Hot Lunch Club also exhibited posters and reports of their activities. This group prepared one hot dish to supplement the lunch from home during the winter months.

About 250 people witnessed the big event of the day, "The Style Show." The style show champions were selected to represent Iosco county at the Gaylord club camp to compete for district and state honors. The girls of the Reno Food Study Club entertained those in attendance with vocal numbers. The Whittemore girls entertained with popular songs and tap dance numbers. Following this Mr. Kettunen and Miss Wixon made announcements concerning the exhibits and other 4-H activities.

Miss Margaret Worden, county school commissioner, briefly reviewed the county club program from its early beginning up to the present achievement day. Its growth was very interesting.

When a Man's Career Hangs Upon One Woman's Word

Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan and Rosalind Russell provide the romantic background of a great character performance by Wallace Beery, in Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer's "West Point of the Air," which opens Easter for three days at the Family Theatre, East Tawas.

Beery is a grizzled old sergeant instructor at immense Randolph Field (the great Army aviation school where eighty per cent of the picture was filmed), while Robert Young is his debonair, too flippant son.

Young's flippancy leads him to the point where his nerve breaks; where he commits the unpardonable military sin, and is saved only when his father sacrifices his whole career for the honor of his son.

These contingencies come about because of the tangled love interest . . . Miss O'Sullivan, daughter of a General (Lewis Stone), on one side . . . Miss Russell, presenting the case for sophisticated Park Avenue.

It isn't the first time in literary history that a man's whole career hangs upon a woman's word, but in this case the absorbing story, directed by Richard Rosson, gains terrific impetus because of the amazing air feats which are part and parcel of the training course at Randolph Field.

Prime Ministers of Three Nations Confer at Stresa—President Roosevelt, Busy With Work Relief Program, Prods Congress.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD © Western Newspaper Union.

SIX of Europe's foremost statesmen, with experts and secretaries, solemnly considered peace plans and security pacts on Isola Bella, a lovely little island in Lake Maggiore off Stresa, Italy. The conference was momentous, but it was of an "exploratory" nature, and no definite results were expected. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon, representing Great Britain, were willing to carry out that nation's military obligations under the Locarno treaty but balked at further commitment in continental affairs.

Anyhow, they had promised to enter into no new agreements without the consent of parliament, which cannot be consulted until after the Easter holidays. Premier Flandin and Foreign Minister Laval of France sought to persuade England to line up with France and Russia rather than with Germany, and they presented as one argument a new mutual assistance pact they had just signed with Russia. Premier Mussolini, solemn and pessimistic, handled matters for Italy with the help of Fulvio Suvich, undersecretary of foreign affairs. He had already warned the world that the issue of war or peace probably could not be settled at Stresa.

Of course, the chief question was the attitude of other nations toward the constantly growing Pan-Germanism of the reich under Hitler, and the first concrete problem taken up was France's appeal to the League of Nations against Germany's repudiation of the military clauses of the Versailles treaty. Mussolini and MacDonald were inclined to accept Hitler's rearmament if there could be an agreement against further military expansion, but Flandin stood in opposition. The Italians urged a three-power alliance for protection against Germany, but England objected and France was uncertain. All three nations rather favored the rearmament of Austria, Bulgaria and Hungary, and the Danube pact which Italy especially has been promoting.

MUSSOLINI'S pessimistic frame of mind was illustrated by an announcement in his newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, that Italy would keep 600,000 men under arms "until the horizon is well cleared, and give them all modern weapons." Both the Italians and the French are convinced that Germany is maliciously stirring up the troubles that confront them in northern Africa with the purpose of weakening their position in Europe. This matter was discussed privately by some of the participants in the Stresa meeting.

THE new mutual assistance agreement reached by France and Russia was at first supposed to be merely an agreement on sanctions to be taken against an aggressor once the latter has been determined by the League of Nations. But Paris correspondents assert that it is in effect a military alliance such as Russia had been urging on France and that in certain cases the signatories will determine for themselves who is the aggressor, without waiting for word from Geneva. The agreement is, of course, directed primarily against Germany. It is believed in Paris that Russia will soon conclude similar alliance with Czechoslovakia and the Baltic states, thus completing a steel ring around Germany's land frontiers. This agreement is still subject to alteration and final approval.

That Russia still seeks "to maintain and strengthen the general peace" was shown by the signing of a Russo-German trade treaty which it is believed will greatly increase the volume of Russia's orders in the reich. Under this accord the Soviet will increase purchases in Germany by 200,000,000 marks (about $80,000,000), a banking consortium headed by the Deutsche Bank and Discount Gesellschaft and the Dresdner bank to grant import credits for an average term of five years. The credits will bear interest at the discount rate of the reichsbank plus 2 per cent. The Russian trade delegation is thereby enabled to pay cash for orders placed with German firms.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made by the government that it had uncovered extensive frauds in the immigration and naturalization service from 1923 to 1933, and steps were taken for the ousting of a number of employees and for criminal prosecutions. It was estimated that a ring of bribe takers and fixers had received as much as a million dollars from persons illegally entering the country.

"Revelations so startling in character have come to light that investigators believe the actual extent of corruption and fraud has been but partially disclosed," said a statement issued by the Labor department after a secret investigation of alleged frauds in the New York district.

"Sums ranging up to $100 are alleged to have been paid in cases involving false witnesses or passing of an applicant who had failed in his test of knowledge of the government or his ability to speak English."

"It is alleged that fees ranging from $300 to $1,200 were levied in cases involving fraudulent or altered manifest records, where it was desirable to obtain a record that would safeguard an alien from deportation or procure citizenship status by showing his legal admission at the port of New York for permanent residence."

NEW dust storms, the worst of the destructive series, swept over Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas, completing the virtual ruin of the wheat crop and causing great losses and suffering among live stock. Schools and shops were closed, airplanes grounded and train and bus schedules disrupted. Some regions were being abandoned by all inhabitants.

A delegation of senators and representatives from four of the stricken states called on President Roosevelt and asked him to earmark $150,000,000 for a land program for the next two years. He did not indicate what amount would be allocated, but was said by the delegation to have given assurance that he would permit the expenditure of all the money that was necessary.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, deeply tanned and in good physical condition, was landed at Jacksonville, Fla., by the destroyer Farragut and started immediately for New York, to attend the funeral of his cousin, Warren Delano Robbins, after which he returned to Washington. Aboard his special train the President read through the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill as it was finally passed by both houses of congress, called for pen and ink and appended his signature to the largest appropriation measure ever enacted by congress. There were some features of it, agreed upon in the senate and house conference, which he did not like, but he said those who had studied it recommended its approval.

The President at once signed two allocations from the amount appropriated. The first was $125,000,000 to the administrator of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, in order that relief might not stop. The second was $30,000,000 for continuation of the emergency conservation work.

In Washington the Republicans and some others discussed with dissatisfaction the probability that Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, would be the President's chief assistant in carrying out the vast work relief program.

"It is extremely fortunate for Mr. Hopkins that, if he is going to be the lord high distributor of the money, the bill is so drawn that he won't have to be confirmed by the senate," said Senator Vandenberg of Michigan.

Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader in the house, declared it was "a sad commentary that a man like Hopkins, who had termed critics of work-relief methods 'd—n dumb,' should 'appear to be in line to be clothed with extraordinary grants of power over the greatest sum of money ever appropriated.'"

IN HIS first post-vacation conference with congressional leaders, President Roosevelt disregarded their fears of a prolonged session and insisted on enactment of his legislative program. Especially he wants legislation dealing with extension of the NRA, social security, utilities holding companies, extension of federal authority over banking, ship subsidy readjustment and extension of $416,000,000 in nuisance taxes.

Later the President conferred with Senator Joe Robinson, who said both of them felt that very satisfactory progress is being made. To the correspondent Mr. Roosevelt said he hoped to have the work relief program at its peak by the middle of November, at which time 3,500,000 unemployed should be at work under its terms. He indicated this program would be carried out as far as possible by existing governmental agencies. He will seek to avoid moving workers from one area to another, and will take care of as many "white collar" workers as possible.

The social security bill finally was produced on the floor of the house of representatives. There were several blocs against it in its form as reported. These included representatives who want higher unemployment and old age payments; members from the poorer states, who want the federal government to bear the entire cost of the program, with the states relieved of any contribution, and the conservatives, who are opposed to the "government going into the insurance business" and exacting a pay roll tax during the depression.

GEN HERMANN WILHELM GOERING, the dynamic premier of Prussia and air minister of Germany, and Emmy Sonnemann, thirty-seven-year-old actress, were married in Berlin, first in the city hall and then in the evangelical cathedral, with Reichsfuehrer Hitler acting as groomsman in both ceremonies. It was a most spectacular wedding, with many famous Germans and a grand opera chorus in attendance, a triumphal procession through the crowded streets and a display of the Nazi air force.

SOCIALISTS and Catholics of Danzig combined to give Chancellor Hitler of Germany his first big setback. In the free city's parliamentary election the Nazis polled 60.6 per cent of the total vote, but failed to get the two-thirds majority of the seats that would give them complete control of parliament.

Paul Goebbels

Hitler and his followers had hoped Danzig would follow the lead of the Saar and return to the reich, and this may yet be the result, for the population of the city is more than 90 per cent German. But the Nazis were defeated in their attempt to lay the groundwork for the suppression of all other political parties and the establishment of a dictatorship. Presumably their next step will be to vote for a change in the Free City's constitution and to ask the League of Nations, which administers the city through a commissioner, to permit a plebiscite on return to the reich. This was openly discussed by Paul Joseph Goebbels, German propaganda minister, during the hot campaign in Danzig carried on by the Nazis. Poland was enraged by the violent methods of the Hitlerites in the campaign and demanded an apology from Berlin. The whole affair endangered the new friendship between Poland and Germany, and probably this was not mourned by the other nations of Europe.

WITH the rubber workers in the tire plants of Akron, Ohio, ready to quit their jobs, the American Federation of Labor pledged itself to finance the strike, which President Green declared would be a crucial attempt by organized labor to force on industry the collective bargaining provisions of the NRA. He announced his organization would "support the rubber workers of Akron for as long a time as may be necessary."

Green definitely marked out the tire strike as a test of labor's ability to make good on the promises held out to it by the New Deal. The national labor relations board, he pointed out, had ordered the big tire companies, Goodyear, Goodrich, and Firestone, to allow their workers to elect representatives for collective bargaining. The companies have refused and labor now takes into its own hands the enforcement of the NLRB decision, Green argued.

Tire manufacturers, on the other side, recognize the threatened strike as a key move in the New Deal program for regimentation of labor and industry and are fighting back. Firestone expected to go before the District of Columbia Supreme court and ask a permanent injunction against the NLRB and NRA meddling in its labor situation.

POSTMASTER GENERAL JAMES A. FARLEY went to New York to study the political and legislative situation there, and it was declared by local Democratic leaders that he would retire from the cabinet soon after the adjournment of congress. Mr. Farley neither affirmed nor denied the story.

He has been bitterly attacked for retaining his cabinet post and at the same time continuing as chairman of the Democratic national committee and of the New York Democratic committee, despite the edict of the President against such double holding. Mr. Roosevelt wants Mr. Farley to remain head of the national committee and to conduct his campaign for re-election, so he will give up his post office job; but he did not wish to resign while still under fire from Huey Long and others.

OUR minister to Canada, Warren Delano Robbins, succumbed to pneumonia in a New York hospital after a week's illness. He was a first cousin of President Roosevelt and had been in the diplomatic service for more than 25 years, being one of the most distinguished of the "career" men.

Adolph S. Ochs, veteran owner and publisher of the New York Times, was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage while visiting old friends in Chattanooga, Tenn., and died without regaining consciousness. He was seventy-seven years old and had been in poor health for some time.

Another notable man taken by death was Edwin Arlington Robinson, generally considered the foremost American poet. He won the Pulitzer prize for poetry in 1922, 1926 and 1928.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made by the State department that the United States has accepted in general terms the proposal of Argentina and Chile for co-operative efforts to end the Bolivia-Paraguay war in the Gran Chaco. It was expected Brazil, which had been consulted, would join in the plan. Just what will be done has not been determined.

Pre-Fabricated House of Concrete Panels

AMONG the newest developments in the attempt to transform residential construction into a mass-production industry is a pre-fabricated house of concrete panels, the first example of which has just been completed on Colesville Pike, in the outskirts of Washington, D. C. With 32 panels of concrete, each 2 inches thick, 9 feet high and from 4 to 10 feet wide, John J. Earley has assembled the walls of a five-room bungalow, for which many advantages are claimed in the way of low initial cost, low upkeep cost and permanence. The window casements are cast solidly into the panels in the course of their prefabrication in the factory, so that when the walls are assembled and the roof is on the workers may proceed with the interior finish regardless of exterior weather conditions. After the foundation is made, a skeleton of studding, either of wood or steel, is set on it to furnish a frame against which the panels are placed. Light reinforced concrete columns are then cast behind the joints between the panels, which are attached firmly to the columns. The panels of the average house can be put in place in one day, according to the sponsors of the new method.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

SURROUNDED BY ENEMIES

It does no good to just regret. If your mistakes you soon forget.

DANNY MEADOW MOUSE had learned this by hard experience. Now whenever he makes a mistake he wastes no time regretting that mistake, but neither does he forget it. He tucks it away in his memory so that he never will do the same thing again, and then he puts his wits to work to get him out of the trouble his mistake has got him into.

As he peeped out of the hole in the far bank of the Smiling Pool, where he had found safety, he wished with all his might that he had stayed at home. But he wasted little time that way. He hadn't stayed at home, so the thing to do was to try to find a way out of his present difficulties. His home was some distance away on the Green Meadows on the other side of the Smiling Pool. On the other bank he could see Reddy Fox. Down in the Smiling Pool he could see the Big Pickerel, who had so nearly caught him when he was swimming across. There also was Snapper the Snapping Turtle. To make matters worse he caught a glimpse of Billy Mink swimming along closer to the opposite bank. A fat Meadow Mouse for dinner would tickle any of these.

Then to make matters worse he happened to look up and there sailing round and round high overhead was Redtail the Hawk, and there is nothing in the world that Redtail likes better than Meadow Mouse for his meals. Danny sighed, but he took care that that sigh couldn't be heard more than a few inches away. It was a very gentle sigh, a very gentle sigh indeed, but in it were expressed all Danny's feelings—fear, worry and vain regret.

"I certainly have got myself into a heap of trouble this time," thought he. "I'm surrounded by enemies. Yes, sir, I'm simply surrounded by enemies, and, if I don't watch out there won't be any Danny Meadow Mouse. I had no business to come over here to the Smiling Pool, but here I am. I got myself into this trouble and now I've got to get myself out of it. Nobody else can or will. If a fellow didn't have to eat things would be easier. I could stay right here until I could be sure of a safe trip home. But goodness knows

MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

SEASONING AND FLAVORING

THE most delightful dish otherwise, may be ruined by the addition of a bit too much or a bit too little of just the right seasoning or flavor. Browning was not using it in this connection, but how well the couplet expresses just the idea of well-seasoned foods:

Oh, the little more and how much it is!
And the little less, and what worlds away!

Success in cookery depends upon the nice taste of the cook in the adding of seasoning, spice or flavoring, without which the food is zestless and flat. Here are a few hints gleaned from various sources which will be suggestive when serving these familiar dishes. A mere trace of nutmeg added to fresh lima beans improves them. A trifle more may be added to the dry ones. Add a small piece of mace to panned or creamed oysters. Remove it before serving. Add both ginger and mustard in Boston baked beans. Ginger for zest, mustard for flavor. The ginger takes the place of pepper.

Drop a small piece of cinnamon in the oatmeal while cooking. Remove this so that no one will discover what makes it taste so good. Add a bit of grater lemon rind to the mush that is to be fried for breakfast.

Grated orange peel or the preserved skin added to ginger bread makes a most delectable flavor; add it to a spiced cake or currant or raisin loaf flavored with lemon extract.

A small bit of sugar, half a teaspoonful or less added to vegetables while cooking will improve the flavor, also it improves soups, roasts are given a more appetizing brown.

A pinch of salt improves almost any food, custards, applesauce, and other stewed fruits. Add a few grains of salt to cocoa, coffee and chocolate for cake filling, to fudge and to icings as well as all forms of candy. When butter is not used more salt will be needed. Adding salt to cooked fruits will save on sugar, for salt brings out sweetness.

Because You Love Me

By ANNE CAMPBELL

BECAUSE you love me, I can bear
The lack of everything I thought
I should possess to make life fair.
The trifling gift that you have brought
Is lovelier in my fond sight
Than jewels sparkling in the light.

The gentle touch of your dear hand,
A tender glance from your warm eyes,
And somehow I can understand
The quality of Paradise.
Just to sit near you is to be
A part of divine harmony.

Because you love me, I can find
A rainbow in the darkest sky.
The troubled days I do not mind
As long as you are standing by.
My smiles will always shine through tears,
If you will love me down the years.

THE thoughts of the Christian world at the approach of Easter inevitably turn to the Holy City and the scenes of the last hours of the Savior.

mean. It is fourteen miles distant from the Dead sea, the waters of which in clear weather are visible from it, with behind them the somber mountains of Moab. Its name, observes a writer in the Montreal Herald, occurs first in history on one of the tablets found at Tel-el-Amarna, in Egypt, the date of which is about 1400 B. C., containing a letter written by a prince ruling Jerusalem under Egyptian suzerainty. On the tablet the name is spelled Urusalem, which is believed to mean "city of security" or of "peace."

The Biblical history of the city is familiar to all. Melchizedek, who blessed Abraham, appears in Genesis as "King of Salem." The second verse of the Seventy-second psalm identifies Salem and Jerusalem or Sion, but the story of Melchizedek is so obscure that no one can say when the Holy City had its beginning. Egypt held it for a time, but about 1400 B. C., the Jebusites, a tribe of Canaan, captured and held it for many years. David captured it from the Jebusites about 1000 B. C. and made it the capital of his kingdom, and there Solomon built the temple where now stands the exquisite Mosque of the Rock. Since David's time the city has changed hands 24 times, being destroyed and rebuilt again almost as often. But it seems indestructible. Nebuchadnezzar may deport its people; Titus may plow its site and sow it with salt; Hadrian may efface its name by planting on its foundations

"The Lord Is Risen"

By DIANA KEARNY POWELL in Washington Post

THE Lord is risen! See the cave, The sepulchre St. Joseph gave— The fast-sealed rock is rolled away, Come see the place where Jesus lay, Satan is conquered, and the grave.

Though faith is scorned by fool and knave, Though thieves may mock and rabble rave, Still do we hear the angel say, "The Lord is risen!"

You who of sin have been the slave, Be free, for He who came to save Has conquered death this Easter day. Join with the angels as they pray, Sing with the birds, the wind, the wave, "The Lord is risen!"

the Roman colony of Aelia Capitolina; but its memory is restored, its ancient sanctuaries are adorned by new temples and still it stands.

The ancient city is a little more than a square mile in area. It is surrounded by a low wall, inside which things are much as they have been for hundreds of years. All around it is the great new city, modern and lively, dotted here and there by the big religious and charitable foundations built during the half-century before the war by the various Christian churches. They provide some of the most conspicuous features in the landscape, such as the Russian cathedral, with its onion-shaped dome, the convent on the Mount of Olives and the barrack-like hospice of Notre Dame de France.

The great interest in Jerusalem, at this holy season, is not, however, in its modern aspect, striking as it is. Unique among all cities of the world, Jerusalem is a holy city to three great faiths, Judaism, Christianity and Mohammedanism. Monuments to the great beginnings of all three are there and now after many centuries of bitterness, all three may worship unhindered at its shrines.

To Christians, the most poignant of the many tragedies of Jerusalem is the Crucifixion of Jesus, which many believe took place nineteen hundred years ago. Recent research has ascertained with fair certainty the scenes of the last fateful days.

In the wall of Jerusalem there is still to be seen the famous Golden Gate, through which Jesus is said to have entered on Palm Sunday, when the people shouted "Hosanna!" and flung palms in his path. It is also thought to have been the Gate Beautiful, mentioned in The Acts. The masonry is Byzantine, but it is believed to hide older work. It is kept walled up, perhaps by reason of a tradition that on a certain Friday a Christian conqueror would enter by it, ending Turkish rule forever.

The first Church of the Holy Sepulchre was built, after a careful search for the true site, by Empress Helena, mother of Constantine, the first Christian emperor, and dedicated in 336. It was later destroyed by fire, as were several successors, the present building dating from 1810. The dome was completed in 1868. The present building is not large and is constructed of a red and yellow stone, something like marble. Inside, opposite the entrance, is a small door, through which one, by stooping, may enter the Holy Sepulchre. It is a small room, six feet by seven and seven and a half feet high. It is brilliantly lighted by forty-three lamps kept burning by the Roman, Greek, Armenian and Copt churches. Floors, walls and ceiling are covered with marble to protect the rock from pilgrims who might chip it.

The Garden of Gethsemane was a beautiful spot on the side of the Mount of Olives, across the Brook Kedron, to which Jesus and his disciples frequently repaired for rest and refreshment. Formerly, no doubt, much larger, it is now a plot about one hundred and ninety-five feet square. There are in it seven olive trees, the largest being about twenty-six feet in circumference. If they are not the original trees that witnessed the Agony of Jesus in the Garden, they are certainly off-shoots of them. There is definite knowledge that the trees had been in existence for a long time in the Seventh century. To the east of the garden is a rocky mass where the apostles are said to have waited while Jesus prayed.

The chief Moslem sanctuary of Jerusalem, the Haram-es-Sherif, built on the site of the temple, can only be visited by Christians with special permission, and on certain days they are not permitted to enter it. Under the Mosque of the Rock, which stands in the Haram enclosure, is shown the sacred rock where Abraham is said to have made Isaac ready for sacrifice, and there, too, is the cavern in which David is said to have prayed. There is also a round hole in the rock which is traditionally reported to have been made by Mohammed's head as he ascended to heaven.

The temple, which was begun by Herod the Great, father of the Herod who beheaded John the Baptist, was still in process of building during the life of Jesus. Its beauty and the splendor of history and religious idealism it symbolized and enshrined affected the heart of Jesus as it did every other Jew. No other city in the history of the world has gained the passionate affection of a people as has Jerusalem. Brooding over it in the last days Jesus uttered that most moving apostrophe, "O, Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets and stonest them that are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!"

Lonely John, dreaming on rocky, sea-swept Patmos, of a "new heaven and a new earth," instinctively thought of "the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven. . . . And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day; for there shall be no night there. And they shall bring the glory and honor of the nations into it."

Soon you will see load reduction, warning and detour signs—while repair crews spend the equivalent cost of miles of needed new pavements!... But on concrete roads, please notice, there was no "spring break-up." Year after year concrete roads can take it—with low-cost maintenance.

Twelve months a year concrete carries you swiftly, safely, economically, saving gas, oil, tires and car wear every mile you drive.

Again TERRAPLANE

Proves amazing economy—in nation-wide test

22.9 miles to the gallon of gas—in a full-sized, 88-horsepower sedan! That's the average mileage, shown by scores of reports from leading cities, of stock Terraplanes in nation-wide economy tests held just last month. And some of these cars went over 25 miles per gallon!

In everyday driving, of course, you don't expect the kind of gas mileage you can get under test conditions—but even in city traffic Terraplane is also the outstanding economy car. Thousands of sworn statements from actual owners prove it.

Ruggedness Saves in Upkeep, Too!

But these affidavits also show an even more important saving from Terraplane ruggedness. Hudson's way of building automobiles—with America's only bodies all of steel, the greater ruggedness of Terraplane chassis and higher quality of materials throughout—means longer life and lower upkeep cost.

What other car can pile proof of economy on more proof, as Terraplane does for you? Drive a Terraplane, soon. Compare other lowest price cars with it. Then decide.

What "BUILT by HUDSON" Means

America's only bodies all of steel—even a roof of steel. Motors noted for their smoothness, balance and ability to develop more power than other motors of comparable size. World's greatest stock car performance... proved by scores of official A. A. A. records. Ruggedness proved in the recent 175,000-mile National Ruggedness Runs.

The ELECTRIC HAND

An exclusive feature... greatest mechanical advancement of 1935. Simpler, easier, safer driving... faster, smoother shifting, with both hands always on the wheel. All 1935 Terraplanes are regularly equipped with conventional gear shift; with Electric Hand optional at small extra cost.

ECONOMY IN THE PRICES, TOO!

ORDINANCE NO. 91

An Ordinance governing the construction of sanitary sewers and all connections thereto, the assessment of the cost of the same, and also to regulate and compel the use of said sewers whether public or private, main sewer or connection, also to repeal any and all ordinances conflicting therewith, and to provide a penalty for any violations of the terms of this ordinance:

Section 1. The permanent sewerage plan and the sewerage treatment plant heretofore adopted by the Council and which was approved by the Director of the Bureau of Engineering of the Department of Health of the State of Michigan, shall remain, and whatever portions of the same shall be so construed as to become a part of the permanent plan of sewerage of the City of Tawas City, and for the treating of the said sewerage.

Section 2. The Council shall have the power to cause main sanitary sewers to be built in any street or alley of the City or any part of said streets or alleys upon a unanimous vote of the Council unless a majority of the property owners having property fronting on the place to be so improved, shall have petitioned the Council to make such improvement in which case a majority of the Council shall be sufficient to order the same. The Council may determine that the whole or any part of the expense, including cost of estimates, plans, surveys, assessments and any other expenses incidental thereto shall be defrayed in whole or part by either the City Sewer Fund or by special assessment against the abutting property or by both, except that no special assessment for the same shall exceed five (5%) percent of the assessed value of any property.

And the Council shall declare by resolution whether the whole or what portion of the cost of such improvement shall be assessed to said lands. It is expressly provided, however, that when a portion of the cost is assessed against the abutting property, that portion against any one parcel of land shall not exceed that which in the opinion of the Council, represents one-half the cost of connecting an eight (8") inch main sewer at a seven (7) foot depth for the width of the frontage involved at the prevailing costs.

Section 3. When, or after any main sewer is constructed in any street or alley or any part thereof, and it is the opinion of the City Council registered by a majority vote that any structure of whatsoever nature is located on or adjacent to or in close proximity to the abutting property of the improvement, whether occupied or not, is not properly sewered, said City Council shall cause a notice to be served, which shall be written or printed, or partially written and partially printed, upon the owner, to construct a sewer connection or private sewer from the main sewer, designated in the notice, to the structure designated, and make connection thereto with all sanitary conveniences serving said structure. Service of said notice shall be made by the Council or by duly appointed employee of the Council as follows: If upon a resident owner of said City by delivering same personally to such resident owner, or by leaving the same at his residence, office or place of business in said City with some person of suitable age and discretion; or if the owner be a non-resident of said City by leaving same with the occupant, if any, of said premises; or if the owner be a non-resident, of said City, and there be no occupant of said premises, by delivering same to the resident agent if known, of such owner, or by leaving same at his residence, office or place of business in said City with some person of suitable age and discretion; or if said owner be a non-resident and there be no occupant or known agent of said owner within said City, said notice may be served by mailing same by registered letter to such owner at his last known address, or if such owner be unknown, said notice may be served by posting same on front entrance of the City hall for ten consecutive days. The party charged with the duty of serving said notice shall make proof by affidavit of the time and the manner of service thereof and file such proof with the City Clerk, or if said notice be served by registered mail to such owner at his last known address, the receipt of said letter shall be kept on file by the City Clerk. The owner shall have ten (10) days after service of said notice to comply therewith. If at the expiration of the time limited in said notice for making such sewer connection, the owner of said premises has not complied with the requirements thereof, the Council shall proceed without unnecessary delay to make the proper connections with said sewer, but shall not extend the same further than twenty feet from the center line of the street or alley, as the case may be, and shall keep an accurate account of the cost of the labor and materials required in making such connection. Upon completion of said work, the Council shall make or cause to be made, a statement of the total cost thereof, and upon its approval by the Council, the same shall be certified to the Supervisor of the ward in which said property is located and said Supervisor shall assess the whole cost thereof against the property for which the connection is intended.

Section 4. Where there is a dwelling, building, or structure occupied or situated for occupancy, that has an outside water closet, privy, cess-pool, or septic tank and is upon property which abuts a main public sewer, the owner or occupant of said premises shall connect said dwelling, building or structure with the said public sewer within ninety days from the date of notice to make said connection served by order of the City Council upon said owner.

Section 5. No use or building connection shall be less than six inches in internal diameter and shall consist of vitrified salt glazed bell and spigot sewer pipe, cast iron pipe, or soil pipe. All joints shall be made water tight and the whole connection from the structure to the main sewer, constructed according to the state plumbing code and in accordance with any rules that may be adopted by the Council.

Section 6. If any owner or occupant shall neglect or refuse to connect any dwelling, building or structure to the main sewer within ninety days from the time the Council notifies him to do so, it shall be the duty of the City Council to cause said private connection to be constructed even to the extent of installing the proper plumbing and the entire expense thereof shall become a lien upon the premises benefited thereby and with legal interest shall be added as a tax against said property and collected with the general taxes for the current year. The method of serving all notices shall be in accordance with section three of this ordinance.

Section 7. It shall be deemed unlawful for any person to connect any house connection, building connection, sewer, drain, culvert, or conduit of any kind whatsoever to any main sanitary sewer, without first obtaining a permit from the City Council or its duly authorized agent. The cost of said permit shall be equivalent to the cost of constructing 20 feet of connection desired, measured from the center line of the street, or eight feet from the center line of the alley, as the case may be, and said permit shall require that the Council shall construct this amount of the connection in the street or alley, as the case may be, and before undertaking the same the party or parties requesting such permit shall deposit with the City Treasurer, a sum specified by the Council or its duly authorized agent, but which sum shall in all cases be ample to cover that portion of the work to be undertaken by the City.

Section 8. The Council may when making a connection to any church, school, public building, meeting house or industrial institution make a charge in excess of the amount charged for making a house connection as provided in section seven.

Section 9. It shall be deemed unlawful for any person to place or cause to be placed in any sanitary sewer of the City, any substance whether solid, liquid or gaseous, which is of an explosive nature, and it is further declared unlawful to place or cause to be placed in any sewer, any oils or greases or products similar in substance, and especially shall it be unlawful to allow any such waste from any garage, machine shop, storehouse, salesroom, store, warehouse, industrial or the like, to be placed in the main sewer or connection leading thereto. The depositing of any substance which might be classified as rubbish, in any sewer or sewer connection, is further prohibited. And it is furthermore declared to be unlawful to allow any surface water from streets, sidewalks, door yards, vacant lots, or from any premises whatsoever to be connected to any main sewer or to any connection which leads directly or indirectly thereto, or any roof water either direct or indirect, or from cistern overflows, or well overflows, or any water whatsoever which might be classified as storm sewage or sewage other than sanitary sewage. And it is further declared to be unlawful for the person, persons or officers of any corporation, company or partnership having control of any premises in this City to permit to escape from such premises into any sanitary sewer or connection thereof in this City, any of the said described substances.

Section 10. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not more than ninety days, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court.

This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after twenty days after its passage.

Moved and seconded by Frank that Ordinance No. 91 be passed to its second reading. Roll call—Yeas: Burtzloff, Frank, Moore, Pfeiffer and Rouiller. Nays: None. Carried.

Moved and seconded that meeting adjourn. Carried.

SUCH IS LIFE—Oh, Oh!

Pepper Again Seen as Trouble Maker

Commodity Long Has Been Cause of Contention.

Washington. — Falling companies closed their doors and 23,500 tons of pepper—several years' supply—piled up in London warehouses during the recent attempt by London speculators to corner the world supply of white pepper.

"This is not the first time pepper has caused excitement," says the National Geographic society. "This fiery commodity was long a cause of contention between the early European trading companies operating in India and the Far East. Pepper cargoes raised the ire of rival sea captains of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries, and, along with other spices, led to pitched battles among Portuguese, Dutch and English."

"Native to the moist forests of southwestern India, especially the Malabar coast, black pepper has long been prized by Eastern peoples to quicken languid appetites. They used it not only as a pungent condiment, but even as a medicine. For centuries pepper was the staple article of commerce between India and Europe."

Most Prized of All Spices.

"In the Middle ages, pepper was prized above all spices. The most important early English guild was the Peppercor's Guild. At that time, the

Siam's Youthful King

This most recent photograph of little eleven-year-old Prince Ananda, of Siam, shows him decked out in royal dress, as he will be clad, when crowned king of Siam, sometime late in May, succeeding his uncle, King Prajadhipok, who abdicated.

spice was so valuable it frequently took the place of money. Soldiers swaggered off with pounds of it as part of their booty. People received rewards in pepper, often paid their rent in pepper, and when a will was read, held their breath to hear how much pepper they had been bequeathed.

"The constant cry for pepper, and its high price, was largely what set canny Portuguese explorers searching for an all-sea route to the Indies. Vasco da Gama, sailing around the Cape of Good Hope, reached the home of pepper, the Malabar coast, in 1498. Venetians and Genoese who until then had practically monopolized the trade in pepper, now watched the Portuguese sail away with it. The Portuguese held the pepper-purse strings until the Seventeenth century. Under their control, less pepper was raised on the Malabar coast, but its cultivation was extended to the islands of the Malay archipelago. Malacca, a port on the west coast of the Malay peninsula, became a great pepper emporium."

"So flourishing was the trade in pepper and other spices that in 1505 the Dutch organized an East India company; in 1600 Queen Elizabeth chartered the English East India company; Danish, French, Swiss and other organizations followed rapidly on their heels."

"Most important commercially and historically of all these companies was the English East India company."

Forced to Raise Pepper.

"For years, pepper was the object of England's trade with Sumatra. There the company made contracts with rajahs who were obliged to compel their dependents to cultivate pepper. Each native family was forced to plant 1,000 pepper vines, and each bachelor 500. The system of compelling natives to raise pepper for the company to buy was practiced by Dutch East India colonies until fairly recent times."

"A second system of cultivation fostered by European trading companies was to lend the Malays money with which to cultivate pepper. But since most of the borrowers never paid back the loans, often whole villages under local laws became liable for the debt, and in effect, 'pepper slaves.'"

"Although black pepper claims a lot of relatives scattered throughout the tropics, these do not include sweet peppers, red peppers, and chillies, which belong to an entirely different family."

"The pepper vine is a symbol of perseverance, a plant that simply doesn't know when it is licked. Taken from its natural habitat in the moist leafmold of shady jungles, it will grow in plantations, though often given scant shade, and on poor soil, if fertilized. Although it climbs freely in jungles, sometimes up to 30 feet, it continues to thrive on plantations when tied to a rough-barked tree, hardwood post, or even a stone post, and kept pruned to about twelve feet."

The Drive Against Crime

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

The attorney general's concerted effort to abolish crime is worthy of our hearty approval even though we may not agree with all the methods involved. To set in motion certain forces under direct federal control, for the purpose of eliminating crime and establishing detective agencies for locating criminals, is a praiseworthy procedure. But, let us ask, are such organized efforts the most important task in driving out crime? The most serious menace in our social life is not the criminal, but the conditions in our modern society which tolerate the criminal and encourage him in his crime. Crime is fundamentally a moral and not a legal problem. We can no more rid the country of crime by legislation than we can solve the problem of world peace by adding an amendment to our constitution.

Tardy Honor Given

Gen. A. W. Greeley, leader of the Arctic expedition of 1881, has been voted a congressional medal of honor by congress. The general is ninety-one years old. He has not left his Washington home for many months and the medal will be presented to him there. His Arctic expedition reached the farthest North of any up to that time. Of his 25 men, 18 died on the trip.

stitution. We tried by legislation to force prohibition. How miserably we failed. In the drive against crime, forces are to be reckoned with other than discovery and punishment of the criminal.

So long as crime is exhibited on the silver screen as a daring adventure, and certain portions of the public press glorify the criminal, we will not get far in eliminating crime. It is one thing to cut down the Canadian thistle which destroys the field. It is quite another thing to tear it up by the roots so it will not grow again. Discovery and punishment of crime is only a part of the task. It is like cutting down the Canadian thistle. It does not get at the source or cause. Youth goes wrong through neglect perhaps more than by deliberate choice. Why not find more wholesome recreation and honest work for the idle youth of our land. Unpunished crime is a subject upon which an entire volume could be written. Delay in court proceedings and successful efforts to thwart justice do not lessen the inclination to crime. Remove politics from our courts and business from crime and we shall have taken a long step forward in creating the support of public sentiment without which any drive against crime cannot succeed. Abraham Lincoln said, "Without public sentiment no cause can win. With public sentiment no cause can fail. The man who creates public opinion is greater than the legislator who formulates law, as public opinion makes the enforcement of law a possibility."

A Smart Table Decoration of Colored Candles and Matching Ribbons.

CANDLES certainly are decorative utilities. There is no light more becoming to individuals. It softens blemishes, and accents beauty. It acts in the same way on things in a room. The mellow rays shimmer on silver when candles light a dining table. And they bring out prismatic lights in glass and lend charm to china. Then apart from their illuminating excellence, the candles themselves can be ornamental. Colors can be caught in them that are wanted to be accentuated in a color scheme for a room or a table. Or again the color of the candles may decide the color scheme for table decorations.

One attractive plan of this sort uses satin ribbon the same color as the candles to lay across a table from centerpiece to candlesticks. The ribbon forms one or more bows at the centerpiece and the long ends extend to the candlesticks. One homemaker keeps sets of candles and ribbons to match, pink, blue, gold, silver, orchid, etc. The initial cost is the chief expense, as one set of tall candles generally does for more than one dinner.

To increase the longevity of candles put them in the refrigerator for some hours before lighting. They will burn longer, as the wax is chilled and does not melt readily, but keeps the wicks well oiled. This is not only a thrifty measure, but a slightly one, as the drip from melting candles does not increase their beauty. By the way, remember that three candles should not burn on a table. There may be two, four or any other number, but three is incorrect.

After candles have served their specific purpose, the ends can be put to good use. Tie a piece of thin cloth about a bit of candle and it makes an excellent flatiron polisher and smoother. Rub it over the face of the iron while it is hot, and rub the iron over a piece of old cloth or heavy paper. Then iron with it and note the improvement.

Some persons always save candle ends to throw on open fires before lighting them. The flare of the rapidly burning wax helps to ignite the wood. A bit of candle is just the thing to use to wax thread when sewing. The candle end can be rounded or slightly shaped for the work basket if the wax is pressed into shape after it is slowly warmed, enough to be molded.

Picked for Postage Stamp Series

When President Roosevelt and Postmaster General "Jim" Farley sat down to choose the ten greatest American natural wonder pictures as illustrations for the national park series of postage stamps, they selected the Great White Throne, towering master of Zion National park, as one of them. Its gleaming white precipices defy venturesome climbers, its platenu-like top untrod by man. Zion National park in southern Utah is a summer mecca for tourists from all over the world.

GREAT FEATS OF MEMORY PUT ON HISTORIC RECORD

Unless there is something unusually difficult in memorizing figures quickly, the young Serb of Belgrade who claims to have set up a world's record by committing to memory in ten minutes a number containing more than eighty figures does not seem to have done anything remarkable. He would at any rate have had a formidable rival in James Milnes Gaskell, a cousin of Lord Houghton (Monckton Milnes), who once repeated the tellers in every house of commons division for the preceding sixty years and suggested an "amusing game" which consisted in each player giving the name of a parliamentary borough and the persons who had represented it during the same sixty years. Gaskell said that he and his father once played at that game nearly a whole day without stopping. What prodigies of useless knowledge they must have been!

Another remarkable feat of memory is recorded of a soldier who served in the New Zealand expeditionary force during the war. He claimed that he could remember the name and number of every soldier in his battalion, and his claim was unexpectedly put to a test when the battalion headquarters were blown up and all the records were destroyed. But the soldier, who is now a professor at Edinburgh university, was as good as his word and supplied the missing details.—Montreal Herald.

"What's the difficulty, Brandon? Didn't you expect to see me this morning?"

"Why . . . I . . . That is, I thought—"

Ben stepped close and dropped his voice nearly to a whisper.

"You thought I wouldn't be walking today? Was that it?"

"Not walking? I don't know what you're talking about." The older man's self-control was coming back rapidly, now that his fright had passed away.

"I just came in to get matters straight between us, Brandon. Several serious things have happened to the Hoot Owl but in spite of them the Hoot Owl is booming; now, I presume, I can look for things to happen to me. Before anything does—because I'm not rash enough to be cocksure that it won't—I want you to get me straight."

The last vestige of his smile was gone by then. He stood spread-legged, hands locked behind his back, eyes boring into Brandon's gaze.

"I'm not interested in—"

"But you'll listen! You'll listen or I'll choke you until you'll beg for the opportunity to listen, Brandon! You'll listen to me this morning and it'll be the first and last time."

"I know a great deal. I can prove but little. I know that you started in to run me out by sending Duval to clean up my camp. Next, you tried to cripple my operation by having a firebug touch off the mill. Next, you or some of your men stole a piston head out of the express—"

"Don't go too far, young man!"

"I won't. The pits of hell are the inside limits for you, Brandon!"

"After that, you timed it nicely and blew up my trestle. You almost had us two or three times. But you flopped! The Hoot Owl is up on its knees, will be on its feet in a month if we keep going and it'll be sitting on the world by the time breakup hits us. All you've done to the job has only helped it."

"That's that! Next you try to get me, thinking, probably, that if you knock the skipper off the bridge the craft will founder for certain. You're wrong, there. You can't lick my men, because they're too many for you; you can't stop the Hoot Owl by getting me out of the picture. But if you want to keep on trying, it's your own funeral. I've only one thing to ask of you: try to play the white man, Brandon, and fight your own fights!"

His face was dark with rage, now, and he emphasized his last words by downward thrusts of clenched hands along his thighs.

Brandon smiled lightly.

"You're a queer young man," he remarked. "You dream in broad daylight and with your eyes open."

"A peculiarly detailed dream, Brandon! I've said all I have to say about the job and about myself but there is another matter left to be mentioned while I'm here. I won't even utter her name in your hearing, but any man who would pull a trick like you did and involve a girl . . . Brandon, a snake's belly is sky-high compared to you!"

And that touched the well-springs of rage that had been dammed back until the moment.

"You fool!" the man said heavily. The words came like the first break in a levee; slow, sluggish words. . . . And then, like the following toss of foam was the frothing rage in his scream. "You fool! I'll drive you out of this country! I'll hang your operation up for the crows to pick! I'll string the bones of this timber and your own bones across this country!" He swung his arms in wide, wild gestures.

He stopped, sobbing for breath, and his teeth clicked in an agony of passion.

"Dawn? Not mention her name? Well, I will. . . . She's mine, you fool, body and soul! She's been mine for years. . . . Because she smiled at you, because she played with you, don't think she's interested, fool! She's—"

He swayed backward as Elliott lurched toward him, but their bodies did not lock.

White and trembling, Ben stayed his own rush.

"No! . . . Don't want to brawl over her," he choked. "But if you mention her name to me again I'm likely to lose my head and tear your hide off your carcass!"

His rage was so high, so holy, that the fear it inspired carried through Brandon's frenzy and the man stood silent, perhaps in awe.

Ben relaxed.

"Now," he said quietly, "I've just one thing to ask, Brandon. It's this: fight your own battles!"

He turned on his heel and slammed the door behind him.

CHAPTER XI

Ben began unblanketing his team with the haste of high temper but before he had finished Able Armitage huffed him from across the street and came hurrying through the rutted snow.

The old justice's face was marked by an expression of concern and he came close before he spoke.

"I hear Red Bart Delaney's in town."

Ben nodded grimly.

"Come to see me yesterday."

"No!"

"Yeah. Took a long look at me . . . over the sights of a rifle."

"Ben! Why, son!"

Elliott laughed mirthlessly and told what had happened in the Hoot Owl chopping the day before.

"So he's gotten down to the hiring of a killer!" Able looked anxiously into Ben's face. "Son . . . It can't go on. Timber or no timber; success or failure for the Hoot Owl, you've got to think of yourself!"

"I'm doing that. I've been to see Brandon and tried to drive him into the open. That's all I ask of him; that he fights fair."

"And if he won't, what?"

"Then I'll have to smoke him out!" Able clicked his tongue.

"Benny, your way of doing things scares me! Why, this can't go on. It mustn't! It's your own affair, for sure, when he tried to shoot you down, but maybe, perhaps, possibly, I'm going to beg you to be careful. So long as Delaney's in the country you've got to keep low. Get back to camp; stay there; let us pick some man I can trust to follow Bart and Brandon night and day so you'll not be caught!"

"No." Ben shook his head resolutely.

"I'll go on about my business as I should. I've never run yet and don't like to start any fast foot work now."

"But it's your life that's at stake, Ben! Don't be silly. That's what recklessness is; downright silly! That's no like you. Why, not taking precautions in this thing is like monkeying with a high tension wire."

"No good, Able. I couldn't hold up my head if I hid out after the play I've made."

So Able was forced to give up after a time and shuffled up the street, drawing off his mitten again and rubbing his face briskly with his palm.

He had only reached his office and was unlocking the door when Aunt Em, walking grimly as if with a definite purpose, approached.

"Good morning—" he began.

"Forget the palaver, Able Armitage!" the woman said sharply. "You're in trouble. So are we all, maybe. That's why I came to see you. Is it true what they say that this Red Bart Delaney has showed up here in Tincup?"

"As true as disease or death or anything else unpleasant."

"That's what I'd heard! Do I have to guess why he's come?"

Able untied his scarf and shook his head sadly.

"No, Em. Your first guess will be right. And he took a shot at Benny yesterday!"

"And missed, I'd judge from the look of him just now. But if he's still here there'll be a next time; and he won't miss then. Did you do your duty and send the boy to some safe place?"

Able sighed and told her of his talk with Ben.

"So you couldn't make him listen to reason!" she muttered. "Well, if you can't, I can't. And, us falling, there's only one other who would have a ghost of a show."

"Dawn?"

She nodded. "Dawn could. But she won't. . . . She won't go to him now. She wouldn't even listen to me talk about him, she's in such a state. She's up to the ears in love with Ben Elliott or I've got three legs! And then to have that scandalous woman do what she did and upset it all!"

She sat down heavily in a chair and drew a great breath.

"I don't have to ask you or any other man about Ben Elliott, Able! I know the clean and decent folks when I see 'em. I'd bet my reputation as a Christian woman on that boy! That piece of play acting at the dance was some of Nick Brandon's work, you can bet your last red cent! I had to give him a piece of my mind just for relief the other day and, goodness me, what a look he give me! Why, Able, that man's worse than ever I thought! My, oh, my! He gave me a look that like to froze the blood right in my veins, after all the years of palaver and soft talkin' I've listened to from him!"

"Well, what I'm gettin' at is this: The boy's in danger of bein' murdered every minute of day and night unless he takes your advice. There's no one left to try to talk him into being careful but Dawn. And how am I going to get her to see her duty when she goes into a cryin' fit every time his name's mentioned? Yes, sir. Every time she hears his name."

"She doesn't yet see that the affair was a put-up job, then?"

"See? She can't see anything, Able Armitage! Put yourself in her place. Suppose you were a young girl who's had the things to bear that she has all her life; and suppose you fell in love for the first time; and suppose that young man was accused of such nastiness right in public with everybody listening and gawping? Would you stop to figure that the reason he seemed guilty was natural? That the thing was so far fetched from the truth and such a shock that he was all kerflummoxed? I should say you wouldn't! You'd do just what she'd do; make yourself all sick with chills and fever by cryin'!"

She twitched at the skirts of her cloak irritably and glared at the old justice as though he were a sworn enemy instead of a friend.

"What ails her is shock. She ain't got over the shock yet and every time his name or anything else about him is mentioned it sets her off again. She'll get over it, give her time. But then she'll be so humiliated to think she didn't use her reason that she won't be herself for another spell. And she should be herself now! There ain't any time to lose. She should patch up her misunderstanding with him right today—right this hour—and use her influence to persuade him to keep low. But how it's to be done I'd like to know. For Lord's sake, Able, ain't you got a single suggestion?"

The justice had been stuffing light wood into his stove during this. Now he touched a match to the tinder, opened the drafts and stood with hands behind him, rusty overcoat unbuttoned and drooping, deep in thought.

"It's difficult to get anyone in her state to use reason. Maybe the shock of knowing that Ben's life is in danger would be a counter irritant to this other shock. Maybe not. If the affair of last week could be cleared up, if Dawn could be shown that this Lydia woman was only carrying out a plan . . . But I wonder . . ."

Aunt Em stiffened in her chair. She looked hard at Able and her eyes narrowed a trifle.

"You see," he resumed, "if the girl—"

"Hold on, Able Armitage!" she cut in, holding up a hand in warning. "Hold on, now! I've got to think. . . . Got to think, I tell you! And I can't think while you carry on your gabble! You leave me alone, now. . . . Keep your tongue still. . . . They say a woman's tongue is hing in the middle and loose at both ends. . . . But . . . Yum . . ." As she pressed one hand over her eyes her words dwindled to unintelligible mumbblings.

"I've got it!" she cried excitedly after a moment. "I've got it, now! You stay right here, Able! You stay until I come back. If it works, it works. . . . If it don't, it'll be time to talk some more!"

She moved resolutely to the door, left the office and strode down the street. People of Tincup watched her pass; people she had known for years spoke to her and drew no response, not even so much as a glance or a nod. On past the bank, the post office, the pool room. . . . On beyond all the stores, on down to the depot.

There, on the platform, she stood a long interval staring across the tracks to that short row of houses on Section Thirty-Seven. The station agent came out of the office and looked at Em in surprise.

"Hello!" he cried. "What brings you down here before—"

"Homer," she cut in grimly, "in which one of them nasty places does this Lydia woman live?"

"Why-why . . . Why, now should I know?" he evaded as a red flush crept up from his collar. "In the one at this end, I think. I'm not sure, of course. . . . I think she does, though. . . . She . . ."

But he no longer had a listener. Resolutely, slowly with something like defiant majesty, the woman crossed the tracks, with never another word to her informant and never a look to right or left. Her head was up, her mouth set, and her long nose wrinkled as if at a disgusting odor. A woman up by the stores shaded her eyes and peered at the moving figure and stared and stopped. Aunt Em Coburn, headed for Thirty-Seven! Why, it couldn't be!

But Aunt Em mounted the steps. She rapped at length and vigorously on the scuffed panel of the door. She went within, leaving a dozen long-distance watchers to wonder.

It was long before she emerged and then . . . Ah, then Tincup had a sight to see, a subject for speculation! For by Aunt Em's side moved the woman Lydia, collar of her fur coat high about her face as if to hide the traces of tears which hastily applied powder could not eradicate.

Tears from those hard eyes? Nothing less! For women know women and before Aunt Em had talked to this outcast five minutes she had discovered the weakness in her shame, the clean spot left in her heart. And how Emma Coburn could talk! She talked that clean spot to a growing, glowing, glorious thing. She talked Lydia out of her house, across the tracks; talked her into that slow, unshamed, almost flagrant march up the main street; talked her out of all but one look of misgiving at the windows of Nicholas Brandon's offices. . . . And around the corner and in beneath the hemlocks which whispered above the snug white house. They entered, where Dawn McManus had hidden since the woman's words sent her flying from the dance hall to the sanctuary of Aunt Em's understanding arms.

All the way out to camp Dawn snuggled close against Able in his worn old buffalo coat. Now and again she trembled a bit; once she cried softly a few minutes. But much of the time she talked.

"To think it was the man I used to call Uncle who did that thing!" she

"Homer, in which one of them Nasty Places Does This Lydia Woman Live?"

Hay-Wire Does Not Mean Same Among Lumbermen

Individual in all things, New England has its own meaning for a word used in various parts of the country as slang. Elsewhere "hay-wire" may be synonymous with "erratic" or a "little mad." In Dr. Frank Vizetelly's records of the vernacular the slang use of the phrase "gone hay-wire" is defined as signifying something or somebody "gone wrong." In Maine's North Woods the serious implications of that usage are fully understood.

No greater slur can be cast upon a lumberman's equipment than to say "It's a hay-wire outfit." Hay-wire is used in temporary repairs. The man who thus employs it is foresighted and ingenious, but the man who habitually uses hay-wire instead of making permanent repairs is shiftless.

The hay for the lumbermen's horses comes bound in bales. When these bales are broken the wise teamster saves for emergencies the hay-wire which held them together. A good "toter" would not start his team on a trip without taking hay-wire any more than he would set forth without an ax or a pail.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

UPHOLDS RIGHTS OF LITTLE ONES TO FOOD CHOICE

Despite the almost perfect set of formulas worked out for infant feeding by the medical profession, a writer in the Parents' Magazine calls our attention to the strange spectacle of babies starving in the midst of plenty. She believes an over-anxious mother is usually at fault when a child goes on a hunger strike, and she urges less forcible feeding and more consideration for the young epicure's tastes and natural disinclination to be hurried.

This close observer of quaint infant customs informs us that, unlike the adult, the baby clings to his first loves and often does not take readily to new things. He does not tire of the same food, rather he likes it better day after day. So don't try, at first, to serve baby spinach one day, carrots the next, and tomatoes the day following. Changing flavors is upsetting and annoying to him early in the game of life and may prevent him from liking any one thing well.

"Go slowly with new flavors," advises the writer. "If you discover there really is a food which makes baby shiver and shake and weep when he tastes or smells it, remove it for a time from his diet. Allow him to have a few preferences. Remember, small as he is, he is an individual with his own likes and dislikes."

The total amount of state aid to the schools of Michigan, in addition to the Primary School Interest Fund, in order to keep them going on a minimum basis has been figured by three state wide organizations. The three have come to the same conclusion; that is, $25,000,000. The present superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Voelker, and the superintendent of public instruction elect, Dr. Keyworth, have concluded the same. This amount of aid, distributed according to the present plans, plus the primary fund and the amount raised by local taxation, would evidently cause the total income to the Tawas City school to be approximately $15,500. We are certain that any unbiased individual by doing a half hour's figuring would decide that the above amount is very moderate for the running expenses and the necessary repairs and additions, which are certain to come to any school system.

Reliable data show that the taxes of the Michigan railroad companies furnish the schools with about 45% of the primary school interest fund. The sum of $33,097 was the amount of this fund for Isoco county for the past school year, and of this amount the railroad taxes furnished $14,894. It is not difficult to understand, therefore, that there is a definite relation between the financial success of the railroads and the income which the schools now need so desperately.

The Junior class gave another dancing party at the city hall last Friday evening to which the other classes and last year's graduating class were invited. The crowd was somewhat smaller than usual but everyone had an enjoyable time.

"Famous Remarks" Miss Crosby: "Of course, women are as capable as men! Why, I know a girl of twenty-one who gets the salary of a sales manager in a big business house."

Laurie Frank: "I don't doubt it. When did she marry him?"

Wonders never cease! Effie Prescott received an "A" in botany Monday. The shock was too great for her—she didn't come to school the next day.

Mrs. Giddings: "Well, dear, I've found just the spring costume I've been looking for." Mr. Giddings: "Fine, I certainly haven't the price to buy one."

AROUND THE COUNTY

By CLARK KERR 4-H Club achievement day at Whittemore, Friday, was attended by some two hundred boys and girls. Many parents were present and the results of the club members' work was most gratifying. Country boys and girls are doing farm projects that are setting a pace for fathers and mothers to aim at. No doubt farming would be much more secure now if there had been 4-H Club work when our parents were boys and girls.

I was talking with Mr. Pommerening and Mr. Anderson of the Huron National Forest Service recently and they are urging that our boys and girls become more and more "forest minded." The State Extension Service of the Agriculture Department is anxious that many 4-H Forest Clubs be organized. This is a fine and lasting project and well worth the effort.

I had the pleasant experience Sunday night of seeing a fine "buck" cross the pavement just about a mile south of Tawas City. He took his time in crossing and I hurried and applied the brakes in order that he would not meet up, or that his mate would come rushing out of the underbrush and make havoc with my radiator.

Are you planning a roadside market this summer? Plan your garden crops to be grown so that you will have a well supplied line all during the season. It's lots of fun and a good way to get rid of your surplus farm products.

This Safety Escort

GOES WITH YOU ON EVERY TRIP YOU may examine the 1935 Ford V-8 point by point and almost every detail will be found to contribute in some manner to the car's safety. But, in these days of fast driving and crowded roads, these eight outstanding Ford V-8 safety features deserve your most serious consideration.

- 1 Safety Glass all around in all body types, at no extra charge. 2 Positive mechanical brakes have been made more powerful, and operate with less pedal pressure. No finer brakes today in any car. 3 A welded-into-one-piece solid steel body. Hub, spokes and rim welded into a solid steel wheel. 4 Ford transverse springs, always without a peer for safety, are longer this year. This added length increases the Ford's natural stability. 5 Increased tire area in contact with road gives more positive braking and resists tire roll on fast curves. 6 Last year's extremely strong X-type Ford frame has been further strengthened by a wide margin. 7 Redistribution of weight, almost evenly between front and rear wheels, gives better balance and more thorough control. 8 Ford lightning-like acceleration gives instant car command in tight places.

Give yourself the experience of driving this brilliant car. Every day you delay owning the 1935 Ford V-8 is a day of complete motor satisfaction gone forever.

$495 AND UP F.O.B. Detroit. Standard accessory group including bumpers and spare tire extra. All body types have Safety Glass throughout, at no additional cost. Small down payment. Convenient, economical terms through the Universal Credit Company. TUNE IN the FORD SUNDAY EVENING HOUR. Symphony Orchestra and celebrated guest soloists. 9 o'clock (E.S.T.), all Columbia Stations.
