SCHOOL BAND PLANS TO BUY NEW UNIFORMS

Many Enjoy Concert Held Last Thursday Evening

The Tawas City High School band is now well on its way toward the purchase of uniforms. The band concert given at the school building on Thursday evening saw the main assembly room filled to capacity and a large group of people standing. This was the first of a series of programs that are planned to raise money for the uniforms. If the ensuing programs are attended as well, we may soon expect to see our band turning out in fine uniforms.

While uniforms are not the most important thing to a band, they add a great deal of pep to the organization and furnish a dash of color that makes for a much nicer appearance. Your attendance is urged at all of the programs to follow.

The band concert in itself was a treat to all who had the pleasure of hearing it. It was very ably supplemented by the orchestra, girls' glee club, girls' trio and a solo and a duet by members of the band. One of the high spots of the evening was a march directed by Miss Isabelle Dease. She handled the band in a very capable manner and was very well received by the audience. Miss Dease is one of the foremost musicians in the high school, playing the clarinet and piano in excellent style. Phillip Mark rendered a baritone solo in fine manner despite the comparative size of the musician and the instrument. Ernest Ross and Roland Buch played a trumpet duet in their usual fine manner.

Many people were heard inquiring as to the whereabouts of the far famed German Band. This group of band members of last year was broken up at graduation time, but is planning on working together again. Perhaps with a few changes in personnel, but nevertheless, a real German band.

Tawas City Boy Writes Of Trip to Flood Area

Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of this city received a letter yesterday from their son, Orval, who left last Thursday with the Silver Creek CCC contingent for the flood area. While Orval had come in little contact with the scene of disaster previous to writing the letter, he tells of his well-being and apparently is having an interesting time.

With the army, Red Cross, Coast guard and CCC forces in the field, the country takes on the appearance of a major war. The foe in this war is irresistible, however, and an orderly retreat will be all our forces can hope to accomplish. This catastrophe has demonstrated the effectiveness of modern transportation, good roads and the radio in mobilizing our trained forces and moving them to a distant area.

Following is Orval's letter to his parents:

Dear Mother and Father:

Just a few lines to let you know how and where I am. I am just fine and, mother, don't worry about me as I will be all right.

We have passed through Illinois and Indiana and last night we crossed the Mississippi river. I think we are leaving at five o'clock tomorrow morning for Arkansas.

There are 150 trucks in our bunch and we are staying at Jefferson Barracks. It is a regular army post, and do they feed us good! Just about like a hotel. Last night was the first night we slept in a bed since we left Michigan. On the way here we slept in our trucks. We had all the blankets we wanted. Had so many on us we could hardly turn over.

We have driven nearly 1000 miles and have seen a lot of places. Expect we will be stationed in Arkansas where we will help remove people from the flood area.

With love,
Your son,
Orval.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, George Bouchard, who died February 7, 1934. This day brings back sad memories. Of one who has gone to rest; And those who think of him today, Are those who loved him best. We think of him in silence, No eye can see us weep; But many silent tears are shed, While others are asleep. Sadly missed by his loving parents, sisters and brothers.

Dr. John LeClair Will Speak at Health Meet

The next meeting of the Child Health Committee will be in the community hall at Hale, beginning at 2:30 p. m., Wednesday, February 10. The program will include a talk by Dr. John LeClair of Tawas City, on "Dental Needs of Children," which is a much discussed subject at the present time. Dr. LeClair's message will certainly be of interest to the mothers of Isosco county, who are all invited to attend.

The attention of the Children's Nurse, Miss Klump, has been concentrated on school health supervision in the Whittemore, Sherman and East Tawas schools for the past month. The purpose of rigid school inspection at this time is to avert an epidemic of scarlet fever in the county.

Children in these schools have received instructions to remain at home when they have a sore throat, poor appetite, a cough or are sneezing, with rigid supervision, and excluding from school all children who are not well enough to attend. It has been possible to keep the total number of scarlet fever cases in the county at seven for the month of January.

Scarlet fever symptoms include sore throat, loss of appetite, vomiting, fever, headache and a fine red rash, appearing first on the chest. If any one of these symptoms are present the child should be kept in bed and isolated from other members of the family until the nature of the disease is diagnosed by the family physician. This is the only way to successfully avoid an epidemic, and it requires the cooperation of parents first of all.

"Murder Will Out" Say Silver Creek CCC Men

The old saying "Murder will out" has been born out in fact by CCC crews working in different sections of the Huron National Forest on the regular winter work projects.

Crews of enrollees from Silver Creek Camp doing timber stand improvement in thinning dense stands of young jack pine, have, to date, found the carcasses of three dead does. These bodies were located by the crews along the Wilber Road just north of Gray Gully.

Upon examining them it was found that the hind quarters of one had been removed while the other two had been partially eaten, either by predatory animals or by loose dogs.

In another instance a lake survey crew from Glennie Camp came upon the bodies of two dead does, each being on the same runway and only four chains apart. One of these does had been instantly killed by a well placed bullet that entered the head just below the left eye.

Thus it is that months after the hunting season the results of the illegal or careless hunting done by men who claim to be sportsmen comes to light. The Conservation Officers did their utmost to salvage those that they could but they were working against great odds. Why can't every hunter be a real sportsman and shoot only that game that the law allows?

More Than $700 Raised For Ohio Flood Victims

Isosco county went over the top with a bound. The National Red Cross asked our local chapter for $225.00 for food relief and up to the time the paper had gone to press, a little over $700.00 had been received. This has been sent in by churches, schools, societies and individuals. This goes to show that the hearts of the people of Isosco county are in the right place. When the need is seen, our people not only open their hearts, but their pocket books as well.

We know that the Red Cross will do the very most that can be done with our $700.00, and we all have our reward in the knowledge that we have done our part and helped to the best of our ability to relieve the suffering in the flood district.

Huron National Forest Sends Men to Ohio River

The Huron National Forest aided flood sufferers last week when three large trucks of cots, mattresses, bedding and portable radio sets were sent to Southern Ohio for use by the relief agencies.

These articles were sent upon advice received from the Regional Forester who has placed much of the Forest Service equipment in Region Nine at the disposal of the agencies conducting the relief work in the flooded areas.

There was also sent from the Huron Forest fifteen forestry trucks and all the Army trucks stationed at the camps, complete with tarpaulin covers and seats, and manned by two drivers each. This motorcade reported to Captain J. Fox at Camp Custer to be consolidated with units from other camps and sent to the Mississippi area to be used in evacuating people in the case it becomes necessary.

The trucks from the Huron Forest were under the charge of H. Gray Sabine, Junior Forester, from Glennie CCC Camp.

Clothing Sent to Flood Area

More than a truck load of clothing has been given by the people of Isosco county to the victims of the flood. Transportation to the affected area was furnished through the courtesy of the Ford Motor company and Orville Leslie. I wish to thank you for your fine co-operation.

Mrs. Byron W. Brooks.

Mrs. Julia Davison, resident of Isosco county for 68 years and a member of one of the early pioneer families of the Hemlock road, passed away Monday after several weeks of illness at her home in this city.

President's Birthday Party Was a Success

The committee in charge of the Isosco County President's Birthday party with James G. Mead, chairman, and B. A. Shrook, secretary-treasurer, reports that the party was a grand success, more than meeting the original estimates of the committee.

The large crowd at the dance had a wonderful time to the strains of Eddie Furtaw's music, and though the weather did its worst, everybody entered the gala spirit and enjoyed themselves.

The sum of $60.75 was turned over to the Isosco County Chapter of the American Red Cross and $60.30 went to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation. There was an expense of $76.00 covering advertising, music and postage.

The committee wishes to thank everyone who aided in carrying the party to a success.

"Garden of Allah" Feast For Eyes and Emotions

A glorious feast of color and romance awaits you at the Family Theatre where David O. Selznick's Technicolor production of the immortal Robert Hichens' love story of the desert, "The Garden of Allah," shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, February 7, 8 and 9, with Madeline Dietrich and Charles Boyer in the stellar roles.

You cannot possibly have the remotest idea of how truly beautiful Madeline Dietrich really is until you see the glow of her golden hair and blue eyes and perfect complexion revealed in color and it also enhances the swarthy good looks of Boyer.

The soft hues of the desert lend themselves perfectly to the use of color and the scenes in the Arabian bazaars and the cafe of the Old Nile. Nail dancing girls are unforgettable feasts for the eyes. Basil Rathbone, C. Aubrey Smith and Joseph Schildkraut are featured in the supporting cast.

Disastrous Flood Moves Down the Mississippi—Mass Evacuation Prepared—Secretary Perkins Moves to Compel General Motors Strike Parley.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

GRADUALLY the terrible flood in the Ohio valley subsided, but the yellow torrents were pouring down the lower Mississippi and the nation was mobilized to save the people there.

General Malin Craig

leader of the senate, she asked the prompt passage of a bill empowering her department to subpoena persons and papers in connection with investigations of strikes.

Lieut. Col. Eugene Reybold, district engineer at Memphis, ordered the prompt delivery of 5,000,000 burlap sacks for the erection of sand-bag bulwarks, 15 cars of lumber, 210 outdoor motorboats, 300 small boats, 300 life jackets, and 1,500 lanterns.

"I say to you once more, have no fear. Do not be misled. General Motors will never let you down. You will not have to pay tribute for the privilege of working in a General Motors plant."

The secretary of war authorized the use of not only regular army troops but also members of the Civilian Conservation corps, the National Guard, and the Red Cross.

Sloan contends that more than 100,000 G. M. employees have expressed a desire to return to work. Lewis scoffs at this claim but will not countenance the holding of an election to determine whether his unions command the majority necessary to constitute them the sole collective bargaining agency.

At this writing the effects of the flood may be thus summarized: Homeless, nearly a million. Dead, probably more than 500, including 200 in Louisville. Damage, conservatively estimated at more than $400,000,000.

THE six-week strike of 7,100 employees of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company ended with approval by the union committee and company officials of a wage agreement giving a flat eight-cent-an-hour increase in all plants of the company. A one-year-contract was signed.

Cincinnati, Louisville, Portsmouth, Frankfort and Evansville were the worst sufferers; but every city, town and village along the Ohio and its tributaries shared in the disaster. Fires broke out in the Mill Creek district of Cincinnati and destroyed property valued at $1,500,000 before the flames could be controlled.

MAYBE it was just a promotion stunt for the book, but Senator Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania, Democrat, introduced in the senate a resolution calling for an investigation of the truth or falsity of scurrilous charges made against the Supreme Court in "Nine Old Men," a volume authored by two conductors of a Washington gossip column.

IN Frankfort, Ky., the state reformatory was flooded and the prisoners were removed to other quarters with the aid of troops. The convicts took advantage of the opportunity to start a riot and about a dozen were killed.

Forty THOUSAND employees of General Motors returned to part time work in reopened plants in Michigan and Indiana, and were unmolested by the strikers. But the deadlock was not broken, and the sit-down strikers continued to occupy the plants they had "kidnaped."

ARTIFICIAL scarcity of farm products is abandoned as a policy for the time being by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. He said in Washington that the two drought years of 1934 and 1936 have brought more thought on farm production by consumers and farmers than ever before.

Sloan persisting in his attitude, Secretary Perkins started a move for legislation that would compel him to meet Lewis. In identical letters to Speaker Bankhead and Senator Joe Robinson, majority leader of the senate, she asked the prompt passage of a bill empowering her department to subpoena persons and papers in connection with investigations of strikes.

Washington—The arrival of the first robin is only a sign of the coming of spring. It does not bring spring weather.

Americans watch for signs all our lives and lately there have been several of them in national affairs that are worthy of notice.

There never has been a time in our country's history, as far as I have been able to discover, when the tension surrounding labor conditions has been as dangerous as it is right now.

Most observers with whom I have discussed the present labor problems, are hopeful that these troubles mean only continued increases in the demand for labor.

Some weeks ago I ventured the opinion in these columns that the rift in organized labor between William Green as head of the American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis as sponsor of the industrial union idea, likely would result in serious trouble for the labor unions themselves.

But the situation is fraught with graver possibilities, I am sure. There are elements and influences at work in the labor situation today that easily could lead to riots and bloodshed.

None here knows exactly what the administration's labor policies are beyond the exaggerated promises made during the last Presidential campaign.

I am inclined to believe that these assertions that Mr. Roosevelt is afraid to take leadership too frequently in labor's problems are unfair to the President.

On the other hand, it is difficult to explain why the national labor relations board has been so nearly quiescent through such strikes as the plate glass and portions of the automobile workers.

If there ever was a situation made to order for use of the agency set up under the so-called Wagner law, that situation was to be found in the two strikes just mentioned.

Business interests never have believed the law to be constitutional. The New Dealers, however, have contended vociferously that it is valid and yet we have the picture of a New Deal agency failing to perform the very functions for which it was created.

I mentioned earlier some of the signs and portents that are visible in the labor situation. One of the most important of these is the significance of the "sit down" type of strike.

The reason why this phase of strike tactics is creating concern lies in the fact that it amounts to the seizure of private property by individuals who have no right or warrant in law.

One of the rights of American citizenship is a right to own property. It is a principle that has grown to be sacred with us since the Boston tea party.

Now, there are reasons why the federal government has not acted. If troops were sent into private factories to drive out the "sit down" strikers, one can readily see what a riot would result.

Then, another phase of the situation is being discussed. The Wagner law says employers must negotiate collectively "with the majority" organization of employees.

Household Questions

Pastry made with too much water is tough and hard. Use only enough water to hold the ingredients together, mix quickly, roll and handle as little as possible.

Do not use soft butter or lard in making pie crust. The shortening should be hard and cold.

Do not put too much wax on floors. A little wax and plenty of polishing makes a better-looking floor.

A mixture of equal parts of salt and vinegar will quickly brighten copper or brass ware.

If you want a really gay and cheerful dressing table why not make the drapery of chintz which has a design of red, pink and yellow flowers on a rather bright blue ground. The frill of pleated yellow chintz about the top is headed by a narrower one of blue to match the ground of the printed chintz.

To cook dried prunes wash them well, cover with four inches of cold water and let soak overnight. Simmer very slowly for one hour.

Grease your measuring cup before measuring syrup or molasses and the ingredients will not stick to the sides of the cup.

If You Have a Child

ASK YOUR DOCTOR THIS

Ask Him Before Giving Your Child an Unknown Remedy

Practically any doctor you ask will warn: "Don't give your child unknown remedies without asking your doctor first."

When it comes to the widely used children's remedy—"milk of magnesia," the standard of the world is established. For over half a century many doctors have said "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia." Safe for children. No other is "quite like it."

Keep this in mind, and say "PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA" when you buy. Now also in tablet form. Get the form you prefer. But see that what you get is labeled "Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

DISCOVERED Way to Relieve Coughs QUICKLY

IT'S BY relieving both the irritated tissues of the throat and bronchial tubes. One set of ingredients in FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR quickly relieves tickling, hacking, coughing, etc., soothes inflamed throats, loosens phlegm, and soothes irritated throat linings to keep you from coughing. Another set actually enters the blood, reaches the affected bronchial tubes, loosens phlegm, helps break up cough and speeds recovery. Check a cough due to a cold before it gets worse, before others catch it. Check it with FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR. It gives quick relief and speed-up recovery.

ARE YOU WEAK?

MRS. Jaunita Naron of 620 E. Grand Ave., Decatur, Ill., said: "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is excellent to relieve a weak, tired-out feeling, loosen phlegm, break up cough and speed recovery. Check a cough due to a cold before it gets worse, before others catch it. Check it with FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR. It gives quick relief and speed-up recovery."

Ohio and Mississippi Valleys Devastated by Flood

1—Flood refugees load their possessions aboard a truck prior to fleeing to higher ground. 2—Cat is marooned on a second story window ledge as Ohio river flood waters rise. 3—Flood sufferers at Portsmouth, Ohio, are fed by boatmen who row about streets, handing bread to refugees above the water line.

Tank Cars of Drinking Water for Flood Sufferers

Tank cars, normally milk cars, are shown being loaded with water in Chicago and started southward to the flood scourged sufferers in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys where water was so contaminated that it was unsafe for human consumption.

Coast Guard Rescues Flood Victims

Flood victims in coast guard boats shown arriving at Jeffersonville, Ind., across the river from Louisville, Ky., where they were placed on refugee trains and taken to safety further north. Floods on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers were the worst in the history of the country. More than 1,000,000 people were made homeless by the treacherous waters that rose over retaining walls, inundated cities and towns and covered rich farm areas. Damage of property exceeded half a billion dollars.

Orphans of the Flood Find Refuge

Refugee children from the flooded districts of northern and eastern Arkansas are shown asleep on the floor of a railroad station following their rescue. With millions of acres of farm land under water and countless cities inundated, the Ohio and Mississippi valleys experienced the most devastating flood in history.

Surgeon's Neat Job on Muscles in Arm Heartens Parmelee

PLENTY of paragraphs for the price of one:

Roy Parmelee writes that the Cards made him very happy when they traded him to the Cubs last fall. The big pitcher adds that he recently spent an hour and a half on the operating table while a surgeon tinkered with two muscles which had grown together on his pitching arm. Now the wing feels swell and Parmelee is sure that at last he is going to live up to all those bright predictions Giant fans once made for him. . . Skippy Bartell, three or four-year-old son of the Giant shortstop, who covered almost as much ground in the grand stand last summer as the old man did in the infield, is recovering nicely from an appendicitis operation.

Walter Kelley, bright Brooklyn lad who trains horses, is proudest of a gee-gee named Idle Midget who dotes on drinking pop out of a bottle. . . Trainer Hirsch Jacobs is having the picture of Image, his greatest horse, engraved on a set of dinner plates. . . Leo M. Shea, versatile Florida racing judge, also is an able fight referee. . . Mrs. Ethel D. Mars expects a lucky 1937 with her two-year-olds, which cost more than $100,000 at Saratoga sales. All of them are reported doing well. . . Just to prove that times do change a church magazine asked for, and received, two working press badges for the Tropical Park race meeting.

Basketball Men Unexcited Over Zone Defense Squawk

Experienced basketball men are paying little attention to recent screams about the zone defense ruining the game. One member of the rules committee points out that this type of defense is almost as old as the game itself and capable coaches always have been able to find a way to offset it without pleading for new laws to make things easier for them. . . Incidentally, here is a tip-off concerning the difference in rules in various sections of the country. At a recent Butler-Indiana game in Indianapolis it was announced that play would be according to "Big Ten Rules." The only way "Big Ten Rules" differ from other college rules is that the winning team takes home the ball.

The New York American hockey team, who spent a recent week end playing in Atlantic City, still do not know whether the auditorium management was kidding them. Anyhow, the dressing room to which they were assigned was labeled "Chorus Room No. 2." . . . Lorne Chabot, the goalie, is the only member of the Americans who wears spats. In New York that makes him a sartorial exception. In Montreal and Toronto, where he lives and works when not playing hockey, that makes him a smart man. You need protection in that cold weather. . . Joe Lamb of the Americans is such a good golfer that he finished third in the Ottawa city championship last summer.

Jimmy Mars, who toils in Madison Square Garden publicity department, was christened Vincenzo Marazza. Mayor LaGuardia hung the "Mars" tag on him. . . Joe Higgins, the income tax collector who looks so much like Jimmy Walker, gets plenty of play now when sportsmen discuss the next Democratic Mayoralty nomination. . . Bob Cunningham, boxing and wrestling judge who was injured several weeks ago when a wrestler dived through the ropes and landed on top of him, wishes friends would visit him at the New York hospital. . . Devotees of the sport might very well read "Squash Rackets," the book newly penned by Johnny Skillman, who was pro champion in 1933 and 1935. . . Another book which will shortly hit the presses is "Fundamentals of Baseball," by Moose McCormick.

During the American Bowling Congress which will be held in New York from March 9 to April 30 each team will use a new set of pins. They are carefully weighed and for the first two weeks three-pound, four-ounce pins are used. At the start of the third week the weight is increased by an ounce. After four weeks the alleys are "normal" and pins weighing six pounds, six ounces are used.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE:

LONG ISLAND university has dropped plans for a gridiron comeback this fall. Instead the Blackbirds will continue to devote their best athletic efforts to winning basketball games. . . Lefty Gomez's interest in prize fights is not entirely due to that brawl he soon expects to have with the Yankees concerning his 1937 salary. He always has been a red hot boxing fan and reads every bit of available literature on the subject. . . Bill Tilden drinks tea with seven lumps of sugar in it during those rests between tennis games. Fred Perry's favorite tippie at such times is orange juice.

Big time hockey players are not exactly billing and cooing when they meet Bill Stewart these days. They say the Chief Referee technically is a most proficient arbiter, but that he sets himself up too much as a supreme power and otherwise takes himself too seriously. . . Benny Leonard has abandoned, at least for the present, the notion of opening a new restaurant in Madison Square Garden. . . Ray Schalk, Everett Scott, Chuck Klein and Jimmy Dykes are a few of the baseball stars who will compete in the Bowling Congress in New York this spring. Tony Cucinello, Heinie Groh and Jimmy Archer also are giving more than a thought to the affair. . . Ed Beckman, son of that great pro star, Johnny, now plays on the Horace Mann team. . . Ed Stevens, the automobile man who used to jump so high for the Irish-American A. C., has a young son who thinks nothing of clearing five feet ten inches in elementary school competition.

Those wrestling warriors who threatened to rend the nation with their disputes several weeks ago now are loveydooving so nicely that Jack Curley may be offering his shows at the Garden soon. . . Gordon Bennett, captain of Dartmouth's football team, also leads the hockey sextet and has won three letters in that sport. . . There is good reason why Waiter Jack Reiger never muddles the orders at one of the town's higher class hosteries. Jack has such a good memory that he still insists the newspapers gave him none the best of the decision when he fought Boer Rodel at the Pioneer A. C. twenty-six years ago. . . Nels Crutchfield's brother Gordon is carrying on the famous family hockey name as captain at McGill.

Dempsey Shows Fondness for Pinochle Game

Jack Dempsey likes playing pinochle even better than fighting, while his manager, Max Waxman, is a sucker for the horses. . . Billy Cordes, who was champion bowler thirty years ago, was the first malle crasher to roll 300 in championship play. . . Can those Philadelphia rumors be true about Lew Tendler's restaurant being in the hands of a receiver? . . . The du Ponts race track at Wilmington will be ready July 1.

Bob Spessard, the six foot eight inch, 210 pound center who performed for Washington and Lee against L. I. U. on the Garden court recently, has a better scoring average than that compiled by Stanford's sensational Hank Luisetti. He averaged 16 points a game last season and in twenty minutes of one game this year he netted 32 points.

Dynamite George Smith, the box-office man, is a $13 a day employee at Tropical park. . . In addition to helping Colonel Wilton Farnsworth pick all those winners John Leon also exercises his talents as an employee at the Miami dog track. . . Jimmy Kelly, the eminent sports restaurateur, has 100 pictures of celebrities adorning his office walls. Each one of them reveals the celebrity shaking hands with, or otherwise buzzing, Jimmy.

Harvey Snyder of Columbus, Ohio, who sold his Portsmouth franchise to Detroit, probably will be elected president of the American Football league. At the same time it is likely that Jersey City will land a team in the circuit. . . Tall basketball centers sometimes are good scorers for their opponents. In a recent Game Willard Schmidt, six foot nine inch center for the McPherson (A. A. U.) Oilers who played in the Garden last year, twice tipped the ball into the enemy's goal while trying to deflect shots. Twice more in the same game the referee allowed opponents goals when Schmidt touched the rim of the basket.

One of the fiercest of all turf feuds now is being waged in Florida between Colonel Abe Hallow and E. R. Burch. Burch, who is very close to E. R. Bradley, is recognized as general manager at Hialeah. Hallow, a stalwart upholder of the J. E. Widener ideals, is not so strong officially, but nevertheless is reported to be a shrewd behind the scenes worker. . . When he is playing pro tennis Ellsworth Vines' shirt is adorned with a U. S. Davis cup team shield. A grotesque and non-national cat's head is embroidered on the Fred Perry garment.

Ensign Fred (Buzz) Borries, former football and basketball star at the United States Naval academy, will return to his alma mater next fall as assistant to Lieut. Harry J. Hardwick, newly appointed head football coach.

Why Laxatives Fail In Stubborn Constipation

Twelve to 24 hours is too long to wait when relief from clogged bowels and constipation is needed, for then enormous quantities of bacteria accumulate, causing GAS, indigestion and many restless, sleepless, nervous, heart and carminative ingredients that act on the stomach and BOTH bowels. Most "overnight" laxatives contain one ingredient that acts on the lower bowel only. Adlerika's DOUBLE ACTION gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old poisonous waste matter that may have caused GAS pains, sour stomach, headaches and sleepless nights for months. Adlerika relieves stomach GAS at once and usually relieves bowel constipation in less than two hours. No waiting for overnight results. This famous treatment has been recommended by many doctors and druggists for 35 years. Take Adlerika one-half hour before breakfast or one hour before bedtime and in a short while you will feel marvelously refreshed. At all Leading Druggists.

WATTS SCHOOL NOTES

We wish to thank Mrs. McArdle for loaning us a sewing machine. Now that we have it, we are ready to really get busy.

The 4-H clubs of our school and the Taft school enjoyed a coasting party at the home of Ruth and Doris Herriman. After coasting we went in the house and had lunch.

We made some very pretty valentines for art work Friday. We have moved our store back into the schoolroom. It had been down in the work room since Christmas. We have received our test papers. The 2nd, 3rd and 4th grades have been drilling on the multiplication tables.

We are enjoying the game called "quits" that we received as a school prize for selling Christmas seals.

He nodded, humbly, accepting this; and a little later they returned indoors.

Doctor Greeding that night was unable to sleep, but lay with his eyes open, staring at the ceiling. Dawn found him with burning eyes. He went to swim, and found in the water peace and contentment for a while. But later, after he had dressed again, the sultry heat settled down once more, smothering and stifling him. He relieved Mary Ann's vigil by Dan's side, and saw that Dan was better. Infection must almost certainly have set in before now, if it were to be feared at all; and Mary Ann pointed this out.

"His temperature's normal," she whispered. Dan was still asleep. "I think the danger of complications is past."

Doctor Greeding nodded. "I think so," he agreed. "It's only a matter of nursing now, of avoiding complications."

"I'll see to that," she promised, and left him. He recognized the fact that his task was done, that Dan would live.

But with this miracle accomplished, his life was left completely empty now; and at the thought, great weariness oppressed him. He who all night had been unable to sleep, suddenly surrendered to deep slumber. He went to the couch in the billiard-room and lay down; and when presently Nancy came and found him there, she covered him over tenderly. He slept till almost noon, while the others moved quietly so that he might not be disturbed.

And he woke to peace, a content and ordered mind . . .

Dan was fretful that afternoon. The heat irked him, and returning strength gave him sufficient energy to resent it. Nancy was distressed by his mood, till Mary Ann jubilantly reassured her.

"It's the best possible sign," she said. "When a sick man begins to be sulky and bad-tempered, you may know he's well on the road to recovery."

So Nancy was amused. The early afternoon she spent with Dan—Doctor Greeding was in his room, and she and Dan found themselves involved in one of those arguments without either a beginning or an end, which may arise between two people who are close to one another. He was flushed with something like anger when Mary Ann returned and found them so, and Nancy said laughingly:

"Mary Ann, you stay with him for a while. He's unbearable! I'm going swimming." She spoke to Dan. "Don't you wish you could? It will be so beautifully cool."

Dan growled, half angrily: "That's right, make it tough for me. Go on, get out of here!"

She kissed him on the forehead. "I'm going!"

"Kiss me right," he demanded. "Don't peck like that."

"You don't deserve it," she protested. "But—there." And she left him with Mary Ann.

She swam, then lay on the wharf, half-asleep. The afternoon was stiflingly hot; but to the northwest, clouds were banking, and she heard a far roll of thunder, and thought a shower was near, and was grateful for the approach of this relief.

After a while she saw her father come down to the beach and go into the water, and she called ironically: "Beautifully cool, isn't it?"

"Great," he agreed. He said: "I believe there is a shower coming!"

She nodded, and watched him lazily, through half-closed eyes. He swam slowly, strongly, out into the lake. He often did this; often swam from the island to the mainland half a mile away. That he should do so now was not remarkable; but she called out to him: "Are you going across?"

He did not answer, probably did not hear her. She thought of joining him for the long swim, but was too much at ease.

The clouds yonder came racing toward them, a dark wall streaked now and then by lightning's flame. She watched these flashes, thrilling to the beauty of them, waiting ardently for the slashing of rain across her body.

Doctor Greeding swam straight away from shore, yet not with any purpose in his mind save to commit himself to the embrace of the cool water. Once or twice he paused, floating on his back, utterly relaxed, resting. The island, the world, was far away. Floating thus, he thought, suddenly, that Myra was here beside him; and this was absurd, because Myra had never been a strong swimmer, never ventured far from shore. Yet it seemed to him that she was here, smiling tenderly, her eyes full of the sublime and forgiving love of which only women are capable.

It was treacherously beautiful and comforting to think of her close to him; he turned on his side to face her, to speak to her . . . But she was not here.

He heard Nancy's halloo: "Are you all right, Father?" He shouted: "Why yes, of course I am."

"I thought I heard you call." "No. I'm all right."

He could see Nancy standing by the springboard, looking toward him; his eyes devoured her for a moment more. Then he swam on, toward the other shore.

Nancy watched him, his head a dark dot on the lake's mirror surface, and she watched the approaching shower. A veil of rain obscured the farther hills and swept down to the lake and darkened the water and raced toward her. It was a deluge, hiding everything.

She saw it reach her father and conceal him from her eyes; and she stayed awhile there on the wharf, welcoming the cool downpour on her body, holding up her face to the sweet rain, opening her arms as though to a lover.

The shower continued for half an hour; but long before it ended, she was almost chilled; and she went up to the house to dress. She was in her room when the rain ceased, suddenly; the shower moved away down the lake withdrawing like a curtain, like a wall.

It had swept away the hot, stale, stifling air which had oppressed them for so long. Then suddenly the sun shone, wetly, smilingly; the world was washed bright and clean and beautiful. Nancy had a great sense of well-being, of security. She came downstairs.

Mary Ann and Jerrell were with him; he saw Professor Carlisle on the veranda, and went out to him.

"This is better, isn't it?" she said happily. "Sunshine after rain," he assented. "Nothing more beautiful." Then he asked slowly: "Where is your father?"

She looked out across the lake. "He swam over to the other shore, I expect," she replied.

He said, in mild surprise: "That's a long swim." "Oh, he often does it," she assured him.

He looked at her thoughtfully. "You're not concerned about him?" he inquired.

She smiled, shook her head. "Not in the least. He'll swim back when he's ready. I'm sure he's perfectly all right!" And she went into the house to be with Dan.

Professor Carlisle stayed there on the veranda for a while alone, looking out across the water; but Doctor Greeding did not reappear. So presently the Professor nodded, as though in assent to some remark, as though accepting the explanation of some matter which for a while had puzzled and disturbed him, and his brow cleared, and trouble left his eyes.

It was in fact impossible, in the bright radiance of the sunshine, to believe that in this world so newly washed and cleansed, any dark blemish could remain . . .

No trace of Doctor Greeding ever was found. He had vanished as if withdrawn by some superior power after he had served his purpose.

(THE END)

While it is almost impossible to create synthetic diamonds, which are pure carbon, the making of rubies and sapphires, two oxides of corundum, present far less difficulty.

As far back as 1877, two Frenchmen, Freymy and Feil, met with such success that a portion of one of their crucibles containing ruby flakes is on exhibition in the Natural History Museum of South Kensington, says a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine. The old method of making rubies was to fix together a number of particles of natural rubies. This method destroyed a great deal of the natural color, so a little bichromate of potassium was added, and this largely revived it. In 1904 Verneuil invented a system whereby he made drops that after cutting vied with the best natural rubies.

By Verneuil's methods—in use almost unaltered today—the manufactured stone has the same density, hardness, refraction and other characteristics as the real stone. Careful examination under a lens, however, shows the synthetic ruby to have a number of tiny air bubbles beneath the surface. The success attending the manufacture of rubies tempted their makers to try to produce sapphires. At first they could not get the color right; the blue tended to form blotches instead of an even hue. Once again Verneuil came to the rescue, and he succeeded in producing a stone very little different in color from the real sapphire.

The success that followed the making of artificial rubies and sapphires turned the attention of manufacturers to emeralds—another high-priced stone. Powdered beryl (emeralds being silicates of beryl) was treated by the Verneuil process, chronic oxide being added to color the stone green, and good imitations of true emeralds were made, each one even being provided with a flaw, since it is almost impossible to find a genuine emerald that is flawless.

When first put on the market the synthetic rubies fetched over $30 a carat, but this rapidly fell to $7.50, and is now $1.25 and even less. This great difference in price between the real and the synthetic stones makes substitution a great temptation. Let your motto be, "Look before you buy."

Paste gems have no relation to the synthetic stones that are described here.

Paste, derived from the Italian "pasta," food, is a plastic material that can be made to resemble precious stones, but in appearance only. It is generally composed of glass, and the resultant stone is so soft that it can be scratched with ordinary window glass.

Imitation paste diamonds need no coloring matter; for rubies, sapphires, emeralds or amethysts suitable metallic oxides are fused with the paste.

Almost Impossible to Create Synthetic Diamonds; Rubies, Sapphires Not Difficult

FAMOUS HEADLINE HUNTER
ADVENTURERS CLUB
Hello Everybody

"A Duel With Death"

By FLOYD GIBBONS

WELL, sir, no matter how much I talk about the danger of hooking rides on freight cars, there are still lads who will take their chances on the rear end of a romping rattler.

And here's Collin Hanson of Lynn, Mass., the latest Distinguished Adventurer that ride along on the tail of an iron horse. It was in the summer of 1934, just after Collin had been graduated from high-school, that he and another lad, Henry Madison, started out to see America first in one short summer vacation.

They began by hitching rides in automobiles, but by the time they reached Columbus, Ohio, they were wondering if they wouldn't make faster time and cover more territory if they hopped a freight or two.

In a Hurry to Get Home Again.

They were a little bit afraid of those freight trains at first, but everything seemed to work out all right. In no time at all the side-door pullmans had carried them to Amarillo, Texas, but by the time they got there Collin says they were two of the most miserable boys you ever saw.

They were hungry, and tired, and dirty, and everything else that goes with the life of a hobo.

The open road and the gypsy life wasn't what it was cracked up to be. They wanted to get home again, and the sooner they got there the better they'd like it. So back to the railroad yards they went.

In their haste to get home again they rode day and night. They arrived in Kansas City on August 15, so tired that they could hardly keep their eyes open.

But still they weren't going to waste any time. A freight train was being made up in the Kansas City yards. It was due to pull out at eight o'clock that evening. And tired or not, Collin and Hank Madison were going to be on it.

On Top of a Swaying Box Car.

There were about twenty other fellows waiting for that train, but when it finally came there wasn't a single reefer, coal car, cattle car or flat car in the line. The whole string consisted of sealed box cars, and that meant that anybody who boarded it would have to ride the roof or on the coupling between the cars.

Most of the old-time, dyed-in-the-wool hoboes shook their heads and passed it up. They could wait for more comfortable accommodations. But Collin and Hank wanted to get home. Paying no attention to the example of older and more experienced heads, they climbed aboard.

They climbed to the swaying roof of a box car and tried to make the best of it. Hank had a rope. He tied it around his waist, fastened it to the cat walk, and fell asleep. Collin sat up and rode that way for about six hours.

The night wore on and the sky started turning gray in the east. Collin was dead tired and the cold morning air was chilling him to the bone. At last he got up and crawled toward the front of the car.

Woke Up to Find Himself Falling.

There was a small platform up there, about four feet down from the top of the car—the place where the brakeman stands while he turns the brake wheel. Collin crawled down and sat on that.

It was warmer between the two cars and he began to get drowsy. Collin says that if anybody had told him he could fall asleep sitting on such a perilous perch he would never have believed it.

BUT THAT'S EXACTLY WHAT HE DID.

Most everyone has had the experience of dreaming that he was falling through the air. That's a pretty terrible sensation. But how would you feel if you woke up and found that it was true? How would you feel if you woke up to find, as Collin Hanson did, that you were falling between two box cars rolling along over the tracks at 35 or 40 miles an hour?

I'd like to be able to tell you how Collin felt. If I could put that into words I'd probably be describing one of the greatest frights in all history.

Caught the Rubber Air-Hose.

There wasn't any time to think about it. In another two seconds he'd be on the ties—under the grinding wheels of the train. He fell forward, face down, a little to the right of the coupling. His right shoulder and hip bumped against it and he felt himself being turned over on his back.

Instinctively, his arms reached out to clutch at anything that might arrest his fall, and his left hand closed on the pin bar—a thin steel rod that ran down the end of the car ahead.

Then he had rolled off the coupling and was falling toward the ground.

THERE WAS A JERK ON HIS LEFT ARM THAT ALMOST PULLED IT OUT OF ITS SOCKET. HIS RIGHT HAND WHIPPED OUT AND CAUGHT HOLD OF THE RUBBER AIR-HOSE THAT HANGS BENEATH THE COUPLING. THEN HIS FEET HIT THE GROUND, AND IN THE NEXT COUPLE SECONDS COLLIN KNEW WHAT IT MEANT TO BE FIGHTING FOR LIFE.

As his feet hit the ties the soles and heels of his shoes were ripped off as if they had been made of paper.

His body felt as if it was going to be yanked in half. Pain shot through his armpits and his hands ached from the strain that was being put upon them. But he held on desperately while his brain raced, groping for a way out of his predicament.

Only One Way to Save His Life.

For an instant he thought of throwing himself sideways in an effort to get clear of the wheels. One look told him he would never make it.

Then he hit upon the only thing in the world that could save him. His arms were almost being wrenched from his body. His body was dragging along far underneath the car.

But with one tremendous effort he managed to swing his right leg up and get it over the coupling.

He hung that way for a few seconds till he got his breath and his strength back and then he climbed up to the top of the car.

"It had been a long time since I had prayed," Collin said, "but I sat down right there and spent a long time thanking God for sparing my life."

And I think it was a pretty good idea, at that.

Feathering Foes' Arrows

To ruminate upon evils, to make critical notes upon injuries, and be too acute in their apprehensions, is to add unto our own tortures, to feather the arrows of our enemies, and to resolve to sleep no more; for injuries, long dreamt on, take away at last all rest.—Sir Thomas Browne.

The modern way to ease a cold is this: Two Bayer Aspirin tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Then repeat, if necessary, according to instructions in the box.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three BAYER tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice.

The Bayer Aspirin you take internally will act to combat the fever and pains which usually accompany colds. The gargle will provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain, acting like a local anesthetic on the irritated membrane of your throat.

Mightiest Gateway

The mightiest gateway ever constructed stands at the entrance to the Hindu temple in Madura, India. Virtually comparable to an American skyscraper in length, width and height, says Collier's Weekly, its exterior is completely covered with more than 30,000,000 large, sculptured figures of gods, goddesses, elephants, lions, bulls, horses, monkeys, peacocks and mythological monsters.

Rhodesian Man

The name Rhodesian man is applied to men whose existence is inferred from a skeleton unearthed at Broken Hill mine, Northern Rhodesia, in 1921. These men are believed to have been contemporary with Neanderthal man, but with somewhat smaller brain capacity. The individual found was 5 feet 10 inches in height. Many of its facial features were gorilla-like, but its teeth were distinctively human.

Napoleon Was Superstitious

Napoleon III, emperor of France, was inclined to be superstitious, and historians report that he left the seal he wore on his watch chain to his son, the unfortunate prince imperial, as a talisman. This seal is said to have borne an inscription in Arabic characters, signifying: "The slave Abraham relying on the Merciful One (God)." The talisman lost its virtue on that unlucky day when, in far off Zululand, the heir to so many hopes was slain in a battle with natives.

Buenos Aires' Layout

On shore, Buenos Aires is laid out in checkerboard fashion with 100 parks and broad avenues. Like Washington, D. C., it occupies a federal district separate from the provinces. Despite rapid growth it is a "planned" city except in the older sections. There narrow streets, lined with tall buildings, are choked to capacity with traffic.

Keep Furnace Ashpit Clean—Get Better Heat, Prevent Costly Repairs

SOMETIMES we are prone to grow careless and get the idea that all a furnace ashpit is for is to receive ashes as they come from the grates. As a matter of fact, however, receiving the ashes is but one of three important things an ashpit does. Besides holding ashes, it performs the very necessary function of receiving air from the cellar and helping distribute it uniformly throughout the fuel bed.

Those things being true, it is dangerous to neglect keeping the ashpit clean. Accumulated ashes will cut off incoming air circulation and hamper the complete combustion of fuel, creating troublesome clinkers. An ashpit that is choked up with ashes is quite liable to overheat the grates, resulting in their warping or breaking. This, of course, means an expense in replacing the damaged grates.

So, I say again, don't take chances. Keep the ashpit cleaned out. Take a few minutes every day to remove the dead ashes.

Uncle Phil Says:

Ill-Temper Is Extravagance
Ill-temper costs business more money and friends than any other trait of character.

Solitude may induce lonesomeness, but it was La Bruyere who said, "All our misfortunes come from our inability to be alone."

Don't map out a big program of doing good; just do good each minute as you go along. It counts up amazingly.

Who finds a friend has found a gem; who is a friend is a diadem. We travel to jar our thoughts out of the rut which we can't get out of.

Duce's Son Plans Trans-Oceanic Flight

An excellent camera study of Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy as he discussed with his son, Bruno, the latter's plans for a trans-Atlantic flight. Many Disasters Harried World During Past Year

Floods, Earthquakes, Fires Take Heavy Toll.

Washington, D. C. — "One of the most spectacular of the world's natural disasters of 1936 was a fall of rock into cliff-rimmed Leon lake, Norway, which threw up a 300-foot flood wave that wiped out two villages," says the National Geographic society.

"Most devastating disaster of the year was the spring famine in the Szechwan and Honan provinces of China, in which thirty million people faced starvation. This was an added blow to a country which, since 1920, has been prostrated by sixty-eight floods and famines.

"The United States had its share of misfortunes with drought, fires, floods, and tornadoes. In summer the most serious drought in the country's history for scores of years parched the northwest and central

EX-PRIVATE IS GENERAL

Once a soldier, always a soldier, is an old army belief, but once a private, now a general, is a phrase that fits Brigadier-General Kenyon Joyce, whose new rank was announced recently by President Roosevelt. General Joyce, once a ranker, now commands the "President's Own" third cavalry troop at Fort Myer, Va. During the World War he won the D. S. C., Order of the Purple Heart, Croix de Guerre and the French Legion of Honor.

states, burning up wheat and corn crops and killing cattle. The accompanying prolonged heat waves of approximately 100 degrees, which also assailed the eastern states, took the lives of more than 4,000 people.

"In August and September forest fires devoured thousands of dry acres in Minnesota, Wisconsin, California, and southwest Oregon.

Floods in East.

"Although the West suffered for lack of water in summer, the East was deluged with it in spring. March floods ravaged thirteen eastern states, destroying millions of dollars worth of property, and 169 lives. Johnstown, Pennsylvania, paralyzed by an eight-foot flood, recalled its famous disaster of 1889. In western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia, a blizzard increased suffering of the homeless.

"Floods inundated southern England and France in January, and Luzon island in the Philippines in December.

"On November 20, the dam of a copper mine reservoir in Japan collapsed and at least 300 people were killed by the released poisonous solution.

"Wind and weather reached their climax in February. Gales, snowstorms, and extreme cold swept across twelve countries of Europe and the Near East, killing hundreds, wrecking shipping, and causing tremendous property damage. A terrific blizzard, the worst there in decades, swept through central Japan.

"The United States was struck by a severe cold wave, and on its heels dust storms harassed Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado, and caused 'brown snow' to fall in New England.

"During the same month, in northern Transvaal, South Africa, hail fell three feet deep, killing crops, cattle and nineteen natives, some of whom had to be dug from their blanket of ice.

"Tornadoes harried Florida, Georgia, and Alabama in January, southern California in February, and, in April, lashed through six Southern states, killing 421 persons, and causing damage amounting to millions of dollars. In September a hurricane raged up the Atlantic seaboard.

Villages Swallowed Up.

"Typhoons did their share of damage in the Pacific. In August they destroyed crops in the Philippines and in October took 310 lives there. In August, 1,516 persons perished in Chosen (Korea) in its worst typhoon of recent years.

"Landslides following a violent earthquake killed approximately 300 people in January in Colombia. Two hundred perished when the village of La Chorrera was swallowed up by the earth and its place taken by a roaring volcano. Earthquakes killed several hundred in China in May, destroyed Tuquerres, Colombia in July, and leveled the city of San Vicente, El Salvador in December.

Mexicans Will Explore Civilization of Mixtecs

Mexico City. — The first scientific expedition to explore the ruins of the Mixtec civilization will leave Mexico City soon. The expedition will be headed by Dr. Alfonso Caso, archeologist and discoverer of the Monte Alban jewels in 1931.

The expedition will first make preliminary surveys at Nochitzlan and Tilantongo, in the northwestern part of the state of Oaxaca. Tilantongo is the ancient capital of the Mixtec nation, the remains of whose early crafts have established this race as the finest workers in metal of all pre-Columbian Indians.

In fact, Mixtec jewels left by their conquering warriors in tombs in the Zapotecan city of Monte Alban formed the great treasure discovered in 1931. These jewels included gold, turquoise, crystal, pearls and other precious stones. They are prized for their exquisite craftsmanship.

Girls Are to Have 50 CCC Camps of Own

To Be Given Training to Make Them Independent.

Washington.—Girls of less-privileged families no longer need envy brothers going to C.C.C. camps, as 5,000 girls have already been enrolled to start vocational training in fifty camps of their own.

On a recent lecture tour, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited one of the first of these camps to be opened, near Kansas City. There girls were receiving intensive training over a period of four or five months in such work as would help make them economically independent. At this particular camp, orders for tennis nets were being taken and filed.

Camp Director Richard R. Brown stated that camps would be located at abandoned C. C. C. barracks, vacant resorts, school buildings and other quarters they can use free of charge. Plans called for work centers in Rhode Island, Arkansas, Florida, Oklahoma, Missouri, South Dakota and Tennessee.

Girls will receive $5 cash a month in addition to board, lodging and clothes. Each girl will perform a certain amount of camp work. She will receive instruction in cooking and housework and put these to practical test. She will be taught handicraft, such as the making of hospital supplies, repairing toys, sewing, and the making of historical highway markers.

Preference will be given to girls who promise to profit by the experience of camp life, and will be able to take back into their homes and communities the benefits of instruction given.

Girls having a flair for gardening and agriculture will be given special instruction in tree and plant nursery work. All will have instruction in English, health, and hygiene, and disciplinary problems will be submitted to a "Student Council" selected by the girls themselves.

Women will direct all activities in the camps. Girls will not be put in uniforms. Clothes will be made by the young women themselves as part of the instruction in dress-making. Materials will be supplied through W. P. A. projects.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for February 7 JESUS THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD

LESSON TEXT—John 8:12, 31, 32; 9:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT—I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Passed By.

JUNIOR TOPIC—When Jesus Passed By. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Jesus Is the Light of the World. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Walking in the Light With Jesus.

"The Light of the World Is Jesus!" Who does not remember with what delight we as children sang "Come to the light, 'tis shining for thee . . . The Light of the world is Jesus." How precious was the truth that thus flooded our souls. Jesus was the light, and just as the sunlight shed its glory on an awakening world at dawn, so he shed abroad the light of God in the hearts of men. The writer of these lessons pens these words with the prayer that as this portion of God's Holy Word is studied and taught, the light may break forth on many a soul caught in the bewilderment of this dark world.

Our study centers around three simple words fraught with beauty and rich in meaning.

I. Light (John 8:12).

The text says, "Then spake Jesus." When? Just after he had silenced the hypocritical accusers of a woman taken in sin, and had spoken the word of peace to her troubled soul. She was to "go and sin no more" because she had met him who is the "Light of the World." They that follow him "shall not walk in darkness"; they are the children of light, they have the very light of life.

II. Freedom (vv. 31, 32).

Free! Four letters, but what depth of meaning! Chains have fallen off, prison doors are open. The one who was bound is free.

But here we are concerned with an even more important liberty, the freedom of the soul. Many there are who boast of their independence but who are naught but slaves. Jesus said, "Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin" (John 8:34), not its master.

How shall they be freed? Note three things in these verses. (1) A condition, "If ye continue in my word." This means not only a profession of faith but a daily appropriation and realization of his truth in life. (2) A promise, "Ye shall know the truth." The philosophies of men profess to be a seeking after truth but how few there are who look to the one place where it can be found—in Jesus Christ. (3) A result, "the truth shall make you free." Truth always sets free. Men are enslaved because, as in some foreign lands, they have not had the opportunity to learn the truth (we have failed to send it) or because they have rejected it.

III. Vision (John 9:1-11).

This is one of the most instructive passages in Scripture. A man born blind is seen by Jesus. His disciples note his intent and begin to theorize on a theological question. They had learned so little of the compassionate spirit of Jesus that they saw in this blighted life only an illustration of a theological theory. May God help us that we may never be so blind.

Jesus goes at once to work. He was in the world to do the works of God. He and the Father always work. Let us follow his blessed example. "The King's business requires haste." Let us work "while it is day, the night cometh when no man can work."

By a loving and gracious act, Jesus stirs in the heart of the man that faith which causes him to go, to wash, and, glory to God, he sees!

Such a personal experience of the divine power of the Son of God leaves no doubt in the man's mind that the one who caused him to see "is a prophet." All of a man's doubts concerning the deity of Jesus Christ disappear when he becomes his Saviour.

Read the remainder of the chapter and note how this man's faith is victorious in the face of trials, persecution, and even of excommunication; for outside the temple he met Jesus and takes him as his Lord. As Dr. Scroggie puts it, "His excommunication was a promotion. He went from the synagogue to the Saviour."

Thinking of Self Only
Show me the man who would go to heaven alone, and I will show you one who will never be admitted there.—Feltman.

Laws to Fit the People
Laws should be like clothes. They should be made to fit the people they are meant to serve.—Clarence Darrow.

Divine Confidence
Divine confidence can swim upon those seas which feeble reason cannot fathom.—W. Secker.

Beware of Hypocrisy
There is nothing against which our Lord warns us so terribly as hypocrisy.

Going to the Party?

WHERE is the party? At Mrs. Smith's on Walnut street and it looks awfully much as though the principals were caught by the candid camera. Luckily, however, they're perfectly groomed for their parts:

Introducing Janet.

Janet in her jumper (Pattern 1996) is asking Mother which glassware to use. Her plaid blouse in taffeta makes her feel very dressed up. Mother chose this style because the many possibilities for change make it a wardrobe rather than a dress and she knew it would be easy-to-make. Your own little girl may have had this same ensemble in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1 1/4 yards of 39 inch material for the jumper and 1 1/2 yards for the blouse.

Mother, the Hostess.

Mother is the perfect hostess, calm and assured, because she knows her all-occasion frock with its sprightly crisp apron (Pattern 1220) is becoming and appropriate. For house wear she made up this model in print. She is wearing here the crepe version and knows that it will be delightful for later on in cool black and white. It comes in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46. The dress and apron in size 36 require 5 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. The apron alone requires 1 1/4 yards.

And the Guest.

The guest just arriving is wearing her trigest Sew-Your-Own. She likes it because the puffed shoulders and swing skirt make her hips look smaller. The collar is young and the sleeves stylish. This frock is especially chic in silk crepe alpaca or one of the lovely new prints. For your own daytime distinction, then, why not make up Pattern 1205? It is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 (32 to 42 bust). Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. One ball of yarn required for trimming as pictured.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport. Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time. No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. School Notes

Semester Examinations

The examinations covering the work of the first semester of the present school year have just been completed. We at times hear from students and others that examinations are not necessary, and at least those with a high semester's average should be excused from the finals.

Reliable data seems to indicate, however, that all should take final examinations. Experimental psychology has repeatedly demonstrated that students learn best when they have knowledge of the progress which they are making. President Lowell of Harvard University once wrote near the conclusion of an article on examinations, "Examinations properly used are a vital part of the educational process." The following is a quotation from our own Dean Edmonson of the School of Education, University of Michigan, "Marks were accorded solely on the basis of daily work and the achievement was thus rated, although with distressing inaccuracy." A committee of the faculty of the Literary College of the University of Michigan reported a few years ago that one reason for the failure of freshmen in that college was that the high schools had not trained them to meet creditably the tests of written examinations. One question which has been often asked by the accrediting committee of the University of a school seeking recognition, is, "Are all pupils required to take the final examinations?"

One of the studies in regard to the effect of examinations was that by Professor T. H. Schutte of the Oregon State Normal School. Mr. Schutte divided a class into two sections of 100 members each, and as alike as possible in every detail except one section was advised that there would be final examination and the other section was advised that their marks would be based entirely upon their daily work. The examination group was reminded once or twice a week of the final test, and on the same days the other group was cautioned to work thoroughly since there would be no final test. Precautions were taken to prevent "cramming" during the week prior to the close of the term. At examination time, the experiment was explained to the non-examination group, and a comprehensive new type examination of 180 items was given to each section. The non-examination group did its best to prove the examination futile. The scores for the examination group and the non-examination group, respectively, were as follows: Average, 112.4 and 95.5; highest score, 154 and 124; and lowest score, 68 and 60. As a result of the experiment, Professor Schutte came to the tentative conclusion that the stimulation of daily work is one of the important functions of an examination.

High School

E. E. Mosier, assistant Director of High School Relations, Michigan

Department of Public Instruction, inspected the school Friday as a representative of the department and of the University of Michigan.

The debate hounds of Tawas City got on a hot trail last week Thursday and followed it up to a two to one victory over the Prescott high school. Although the members of the team were rather disappointed at not receiving an unanimous decision, they all came back with smiling faces.

The team has won two and lost two, which their coach, Miss Boone, declared very satisfactory in view of their inexperience.

We sincerely regret the loss of six of the members of the debate class because they hope to graduate this spring. Those who are to leave, are Isabelle Dease, who has participated in all debates with great success, Madge Brugger, Evelyn Latham and Laurine and Laurie Franks. Good luck next year.
