JURY CASES POSTPONED TO APRIL 21

Three Criminal Causes On Circuit Court Calendar

On an order issued by Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke all jury cases on the calendar for the March term of court, which will open Tuesday, will be adjourned until April 21st. This order was made on account of the health of Prosecuting Attorney John A. Stewart who recently underwent an operation at Mayo Brother's hospital, Rochester, Minnesota. Mr. Stewart is recovering in fine shape and is now at work in his office.

The principal case on the calendar is the trial of Theodore Longsdorf of Howell. Longsdorf was charged with negligent homicide in the death of Clare Frank of Whittemore. Frank was killed while riding in a car last November by a stray rifle bullet. Longsdorf was shooting at a bottle beside the road when the accident occurred and the car was traveling in the line of fire.

Other cases on the calendar are: Criminal Cases
People of the State vs. Kenneth Look, breaking and entering in the daytime.
People of the State vs. Harold Kelly, breaking and entering at night.
Civil Cases
Municipal Acceptance vs. Ray Colbath, trespass on the case.
Rosalie Johnson vs. C. W. Koehler, trespass on the case.
Donald Harwood vs. Rudolph Stark, trespass on the case.
In the matter of the estate of Carl E. Schmidt, appeal from probate court.
Charles Trett vs. Ernest Cecil and Edward Sieloff, assumptit.
Metropolitan Casualty Insurance Company vs. Hans W. Boehme, assumptit.
John Michaels vs. Roy Taylor, Chancery Cases
Arthur Armon vs. Fred G. Kruse, bill for discovery.
Edna M. Otis vs. Arthur G. Jackson, injunction.
Delia Lawrence vs. Joseph B. Lawrence, divorce.
Anna Herman vs. Alexander Herman, divorce.
Elizabeth Hanlon vs. Gertrude C. Hanlon, division of property.

D. & M. Revenue Increases From Low Point in Past Year

Freight revenue increased $141,688.00 while passenger and other miscellaneous revenue increased $7,688.00 during 1935 according to the annual report of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company to its stock and bond holders. Operating expenses increased $56,682.00 during the same period.

"During the year," C. A. Pinkerton, vice president and general manager said in the report, "we equipped with cast steel truck frames, 50 of our steel underframe box cars, and have seventy-five more of these cars on next year's program, while the remaining one hundred box cars will be repaired and equipped with truck frames in 1938, if revenue continues to improve. The Association of American Railroads M. C. B. Rules require all freight cars equipped with cast steel truck side frames by January 1, 1938. Freight cars of all wood construction will not be accepted for interchange between roads after April 1st, 1937, thereby removing from further use in such service all of our wooden gondola cars. The urgent need for equipment repairs is shown in the debit balance of $45,000.00 in our equipment rentals. On the Rogers City Branch we replaced 4.5 miles of sixty pound rail with seventy and eighty pound relaying rail. We were able to take care of a few of the more important deferred maintenance items during the year due to the slight improvement in our revenues.

"Wages were increased 5% July 1, 1935 and an additional 5% on January 1, 1937, which together with added expenses arising from the Railroad Retirement Act and the Social Security Act will increase operating expenses approximately $82,000.00 annually. Usually such large additions to operating expenses correspondingly bring about increased revenues, but in this instance, they add nothing to income and must be considered straight additional expenses.

While we have succeeded during the year in overcoming some of our problems resulting from additional expenses pointed out above, there are still many more problems ahead of us that require continuous and greater effort to meet."

The gross revenues of the railroad during the past twelve years were as follows:

1925	$1,697,184.03
1926	1,625,950.14
1927	1,626,388.27
1928	1,668,742.83
1929	1,586,301.94
1930	1,082,774.02
1931	1,000,892.10
1932	759,894.83
1933	601,960.77
1934	632,904.36
1935	654,505.91
1936	803,484.39

During the year 1936 701,719 tons of freight was carried on the Detroit and Mackinac Railway. The freight traffic in 1935 amounted to 488,226 tons. Passengers during 1936 numbered 24,574 and in 1935, 15,354. The rolling stock equipment of the railroad consists of 22 freight and passenger engines; 40 coaches, cafe and parlor cars, combinations, express cars and express refrigerators; 468 box, flat, coal, refrigerator and caboose cars and 100 service cars, consisting of officers car, ballast cars, derrick cars, flangers, Jordan spreader, Industrial crane, and other road cars.

Condemnation Cases To Clear Land Titles

According to Warren T. Murphy, supervisor of the Huron National Forest, the numerous condemnation suits filed in the counties of Isoco, Alcona, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Crawford, Roscommon, Kalkaska, Clare, Otsego and Presque Isle are for the purpose of clearing up defective titles to lands optioned to the United States of America by the respective defendants in each case. Mr. Murphy explains further that in a very few cases it becomes necessary to resort to court action to complete a contract which the vendor entered into but later wishes to withdraw without a justifiable reason therefor.

The supervisor asserted that the use of the word "condemnation" is confusing to persons not familiar with its application in his land purchase program, as one immediate draws the conclusion that the government is taking land away from its owners against their desire and without entering into a contract with them for its purchase.

Mr. Murphy made it clear that practically all of these cases are of a friendly nature and in each one of them the United States of America possesses an agreement to purchase which has been executed by the land owner and which sets forth a definite consideration.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the neighbors and friends for the kindness and help extended to us since our home burned.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pierson.

STATE POLICE TRANSFER TO EAST TAWAS

Moving From West Branch To East Tawas In Two Weeks

Captain Frank W. Carney, commandant of this district, said yesterday an order Tuesday transferred Corporal Hiram Grimason, Troopers Victor Beck and Merwyn Mitchell from West Branch to the new State Police Post at East Tawas. The handsome new building will be ready for occupancy within the next two weeks stated Captain Carney.

The official order also assigned Trooper James MacDonald of East Lansing to the East Tawas post. Trooper Beck has been here for several weeks.

When the transfers of the aforementioned three officers becomes effective, the West Branch post will be in charge of Sergeant Robertson until the completion of the Houghton Lake post. Trooper Lynn Smith will stay with Sergeant Robertson in West Branch. Trooper Robert Fisher of Flint, who has been stationed in West Branch for three or four weeks, awaits further orders.

When the Houghton Lake post is completed West Branch will have no State Police post, but citizens there hope to influence Commissioner Oscar G. Olander in the establishment of a new post in that place.

Rehabilitation Loans Benefit Local Farmers

During the latter part of the year 1935 the first rehabilitation loan for the Isoco and Alcona district was approved by the Rural Rehabilitation division of the Resettlement Administration. In the 15 months that have elapsed since the first loan was made between sixty and sixty-five loans totaling approximately $20,000.00, have been made through the office located in the court house at Harrisville, Michigan.

Rural Rehabilitation loans are made on a five year repayment basis calling for an annual repayment of twenty percent of the entire loan. To date slightly more than twenty three per cent of the entire amount has been repaid. These results compare favorably when attention is brought to the fact that the repayment average for the entire state is only about eighteen per cent.

These loans have enabled farmers to again get started on the upgrade to a position of security they have not experienced since the years of depression and low farm income.

Rural rehabilitation loans are, in actual practice, supervised credit loans. Loans are made primarily on the basis of the character and experience of the borrower, combined with a detailed home and farm management plan developed by the county rehabilitation supervisor in cooperation with the borrower.

These loans are limited to actual farm families whose major incomes are from agriculture.

Loans are secured by chattel mortgage on the borrower's livestock, tools and crops. Regular calls are made to the farms of each borrower by the county supervisor for the purpose of assisting in planning, care of crops and livestock, keeping farm records, and the solution of any problems which confront the borrower.

The Resettlement Administration also makes loans for the promotion of cooperative and community service projects, such as pure bred sires and so forth. An application for a pure bred stallion in Alcona County is now awaiting approval by the Regional Office which is located in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

"Three Smart Girls" Will Show at Family

Dainty Deanna Durbin, a brilliant and altogether charming personality will be introduced to local movie fans when Universal's gay comedy drama, "Three Smart Girls," shows at the Family Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 21, 22 and 23. Deanna's voice has been heard previously on national radio broadcasts for several months.

Surrounded by a cast of established cinema favorites including Binnie Barnes, Alice Brady, Ray Milland and Charles Winniger, this youthful newcomer to the screen lives up to advance notices of her musical genius.

She proves, too, that she is much more than just a singing prodigy. Possessing exquisite beauty and rare charm, the talented youngster gives a smooth performance.

"Three Smart Girls" tells the amusing story of three daughters of a rich New Yorker who unselfishly help their father's May-December romance with a gold-digging blonde. The title roles are played by little Miss Durbin, Nan Grey and Barbara Read.

President and Attorney General Defend Supreme Court Packing Plan—Open Warfare Between C. I. O. and A. F. of L.—Franco Threatens Madrid.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© Western Newspaper Union.

WITH the repercussions from the President's fireside radio address and the opening of hearings by the senate judiciary committee, the controversy over the proposition to enlarge the Supreme court took on renewed heat. Mr. Roosevelt's talk was so generally heard over the radio that no extended report of it is needed. He made an extraordinarily bitter attack on the majority of the Supreme court that has repeatedly upset New Deal legislation, and avowed frankly his determination to have a tribunal that "will not undertake to override the judgment of the congress on legislative policy." If the phrase "packing the court" means that, then, said the President "I say that I and with me the vast majority of the American people favor doing just that thing—now."

"The court, in addition to the proper use of its judicial functions," said Mr. Roosevelt, "has improperly set itself up as a third house of the congress—a super-legislature, as one of the justices has called it—reading into the constitution words and implications, which are not there, and which were never intended to be there."

"We have, therefore, reached the point as a nation where we must take action to save the constitution from the court and the court from itself. We must find a way to take an appeal from the Supreme court to the constitution itself. We want a Supreme court which will do justice under the constitution—not over it. In our courts we want a government of laws and not of men."

Mr. Roosevelt divided the opponents of his plan into two classes. The first, he said, includes those "who fundamentally object to social and economic legislation along modern lines" and opposed him in the last election; and of them he spoke with supreme contempt. The second group, those "who honestly believe the amendment process is the best," were told they could not expect faithful support from their "strange bedfellows," and that even if an amendment were passed and ratified, its meaning would depend on the "kind of justices who would be sitting on the Supreme court bench."

Attorney General Cummings appeared before the senate judiciary committee to speak for the President's court bill, and he used much the same arguments Mr. Roosevelt had employed. Senators Borah and Burke questioned him sharply and searchingly, but he was agile in evasion. However, he did satisfy the opposition senators by admitting bluntly that the purpose of the measure was to change the complexion of the court, to get men with "liberal, forward-looking views."

Senator Dieterich of Illinois sought to curb the questioning of Mr. Cummings but was squelched by Borah. Dieterich has not committed himself on the bill but is now classed among its supporters. His candidate for the federal circuit court of appeals in Chicago, District Judge J. Earl Major of Springfield, has just been nominated by the President.

Assistant Attorney General Robert Jackson was the second witness heard, and the foes of the measure sought to prove, by questioning him, that there is no actual need for the judiciary bill to relieve congestion of federal dockets and therefore that the only purpose of the measure is to change the viewpoint of the high tribunal.

SATISFIED with the way his administrative plans are going forward, President Roosevelt left Washington for a two weeks' stay in Warm Springs, Ga. He went directly to his white cottage on Pine mountain from which he looks down on the foundation for infantile paralysis sufferers. It was announced that he would see few officials or other visitors there, conducting all essential public business by telegraph and telephone. Temporary executive offices were set up in Kress hall at the foundation.

Before leaving Washington Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference that he and Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada had discussed the St. Lawrence waterway treaty during King's visit. Whether the treaty will be submitted to the senate at this session, he said, is not yet known. It was rejected a few years ago.

ever it is deemed. John L. Lewis says the C. I. O. has hundreds of applications for affiliation and that he will take in any A. F. of L. unions that wish to join his organization.

At the same time half a hundred organizers of the American Federation of Labor met with President William Green to plan means of protecting the body against the C. I. O. and to hold the ranks of the craft unions in line.

They arranged for an intensive campaign to organize unions in steel to rival the C. I. O.'s Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers; considered spreading the charge that Lewis is allied with communist interests, and the launching of plans to organize in the cement, aluminum, cereal, and flour mill industries. The organizers also discussed organization of gas station attendants, which would overlap with Lewis' plans to organize the petroleum industry.

The Carnegie-Illinois company union, which is bitterly opposed to the C. I. O., has not yet reached an agreement on affiliation with the A. F. of L.

General Electric and some of the other big concerns that yielded to a certain extent to the demands of the C. I. O. followed the example of the steel companies in asserting that they still reserved the right to deal also with other unions or groups of employees.

Eight thousand employees of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company's Pittsburgh plant demanded a 20 per cent raise in wages and it was feared they would start a strike if the demand were rejected.

Because the Chrysler motor company refused to recognize the United Automobile Workers of America as the sole bargaining agency for all its employees, a strike was called in all its major units in Detroit, and other plants of the company were closed because of dependence on Detroit production. More than 50,000 workers were thus thrown into idleness.

The union also called a strike at the Hudson Motor Car company because, they asserted, officials of the concern were stalling in negotiations on working conditions.

GEN. FRANCISCO FRANCO, leader of the Spanish Fascists, was reported to be about ready for a final grand assault on Madrid. He assembled a tremendous force of tanks and artillery before Guadalajara and captured several towns near by, threatening the immediate cutting off of the capital's last road to the east.

Military observers predicted that the greatest battle of the war would soon be fought on the line between the Tajuna and Tajo rivers.

Gen. Jose Miaja, loyalist commander in the Madrid area, charged that 7,000 Italian troops were taking part in the attack on Guadalajara. These men, he asserts, were landed in Cadiz on February 22, two days after the international neutrality committee's ban on permitting "volunteers" to enter Spain was declared effective.

The shelling and capture of the Spanish liner Mar Cantabrico by a rebel vessel was a spectacular event in the war. She was carrying a cargo of planes and munitions from the United States for the loyalists and sought to evade the insurgent cruisers by taking the name of an English ship. But, according to a story printed in New York, the complete plan of her movements was revealed to the agent of the rebels in that city and cabled to their headquarters in Spain. Also, according to the only member of the crew who escaped capture, the crew found the captain was communicating with the insurgents and executed him at sea. The Mar Cantabrico, with fire in her holds, was taken to Ferrol. It was presumed most of the Spaniards aboard were slain.

CLARENCE A. DYKSTRA, city manager of Cincinnati since 1930, was selected as president of the University of Wisconsin by the executive committee of the institution's board of regents. If he accepts the place he will succeed Dr. Glenn Frank who was ousted because he was not satisfactory to the La Follette regime. Dykstra is fifty-four years old and a graduate of the University of Iowa.

WITHOUT a record vote the house passed the new Duffey-Vinson coal bill, which takes the place of the measure knocked out by the Supreme court. It would set up government regulation of the soft coal industry through a commission in the department of the interior.

HITHERTO on a temporary basis, the United States maritime commission is now permanently established, or will be as soon as the senate acts on nominations sent in by the President. Mr. Roosevelt selected as chairman of the commission Joseph P. Kennedy of New York, former chairman of the securities and exchange commission. He is a millionaire banker and business executive and a staunch supporter of the New Deal. The other members named are Thomas M. Woodward; Rear Admiral Henry A. Wiley, retired; Edward C. Moran Jr., former Maine congressman, and Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, retired. Moran, Wiley, and Land were named to the temporary commission appointed last fall to cope with the maritime strike.

Kennedy once served the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation as business administrator. In that capacity he met and became a warm friend of the then assistant secretary of the navy, Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was active in the Presidential campaigns of 1932 and 1936.

WILLIAM ABERHART, social credit premier of Alberta, Canada, has introduced a bill that would give his government full control over every business, industry, trade and occupation in the province, and would force every man, woman and child to pay a personal license fee to carry on his or her work.

The bill gives the cabinet the power to refuse to grant or renew a license to any person or business operating in the province, and to impose a maximum fine of $50 for individuals, and $200 for corporations, or a jail sentence of up to ninety days for attempting to carry on without the government's permission.

Another law proposed by Aberhart gives the administration power to fix minimum and maximum prices for all commodities and services and to prescribe standards of "ethics, methods, practices or systems."

DICTATOR STALIN hasn't yet cleaned up the Russian Communist party to his own satisfaction, and it seems probable that more men once prominent among the bolsheviks will go to trial as traitors.

Foremost among these unfortunates are Alexis Rykov, former president of the council of people's commissars, or premier, and Nikolai Bukharin, former editor of the government organ Izvestia.

These two were expelled from the Communist party the other day on charges of anti-party activity, and it is believed in Moscow they and a score of others will soon be tried for conspiring to overthrow the Stalin regime.

For ten years Rykov was premier of the soviet union, and before that, during the civil war, he had the job of provisioning the Red army. Though succeeding to Lenin's position, he did not have his power, for Stalin reserved that for himself.

DR. WILLIAM T. HORNADAY, one of America's foremost naturalists, died at his home in Stamford, Conn., at the age of eighty-two. He was the first director of the New York Zoological park, retiring in 1926. Doctor Hornaday was a devoted advocate of the conservation of wild life and steadily worked for the protection of migratory fowl and for federal game refuges.

One of the leaders of the Republican party passed with the death of Mark L. Regua in Los Angeles. He was national committeeman from California from 1932 to 1936, was a close friend of Herbert Hoover and for years a dominant figure in politics on the West Coast. During the World War Mr. Regua was director of the oil division of the United States fuel administration and the "motorless week-ends" he established are still remembered.

FIGURES supplied by the Department of Commerce show that the live stock producers who predicted the United States would be forced to depend on foreign meat imports this year were right. During January the arrivals of foreign pork at domestic ports set an all time record for any month, and the imports of meat were far in excess of those a year ago. This condition is blamed on the drouth and the four-year federal crop control program.

Meat imports in January aggregated 30,387,000 pounds, compared with 19,922,000 in January of 1935 and only 7,140,000 pounds in 1935. Dressed pork imports alone reached the record figure of 5,580,033 pounds compared with 2,250,389 in January, 1935, and only 265,000 in 1935.

Heavy imports of pork continued during the first three weeks of February, government figures for receipts at New York indicated. During this period foreign nations shipped 2,988,500 pounds of pork to New York which exceeded imports for any February.

Canada proved to be the largest source of supply for the American market. Imports of all kinds of meat from Canada during the first month of this year were approximately 17,102,000 pounds, an increase of 190 per cent over the 5,884,000 pounds imported in January of last year.

NEWS from MICHIGAN

Lansing—According to word received from Washington, Senator Prentiss M. Brown has designated James H. Flynn, Jr., of this city for West Point entrance examinations.

Ypsilanti—Women students of Michigan State Normal College outnumbered the men nine to four in a list just released of all A students for the fall term. Of the thirteen students who received perfect ratings in their academic work, five of these were seniors, three juniors, three sophomores, and two freshmen. Of this group, two were local girls, Betty Malley and Susan Haviland.

Ionia—One of those oddities that happens once in the proverbial life time was revealed here. It seems that a year ago Forrest Kultz, local mechanic, dropped his eye-glasses on the floor. They broke. Last fall, his new glasses blew off as he rode in an airplane over his father's farm near here. They fell 4,000 feet to the ground. The glasses were found recently by his brother, unbroken, in a field.

Sebewaing—Throw-back to zoological specimens of teeth of prehistoric man is the fourth molar extracted from the jaw of Wilfred Sellers. The tooth, which came through behind the wisdom teeth, was three times larger than a normal molar. Commenting on the occurrence, the dentist who made the extraction said that a fourth molar occurs in one individual in several million, on an average.

Ann Arbor—This city's first sit-down strike lasted but half an hour recently. A local bakery gave 11 striking drivers assurance that a pay raise would be granted. The drivers, who are not union members, made their demands informally. The proposed wage and commission increases will equal prevailing rates in Detroit. The bakery owner remarked that only competitive conditions had prevented an earlier increase.

Durand—Those who long for the good old-fashioned days, with friendly community song-fests and choral offerings of a by-gone century, may well seek a haven in the singing school conducted by Mrs. Abigail Parsons. Using a tuning fork more than 100 years old to strike the key, Mrs. Parsons opens a century-old song book to the tunes of long ago. Both were used by her grandfather, who also was a singing-school teacher.

Hillsdale—Jacob Beck, who has the reputation for never failing in any of his farm projects, looked back on his record and decided on a new wrinkle. He made one self-financed attempt to drill for and find oil on his 600-acre farm tract. Undaunted by his only business venture that has failed, he is going to try again. Machinery from the first well, which was abandoned after drillers reached a depth of 2,200 feet without success, has been moved to a place that Beck believes looks promising.

Lansing—Extension of liquor sales by the glass to all parts of Michigan has been recommended by V. F. Gormley, member of the State Liquor Control Commission, as a needed amendment to the liquor act. He denounced club licenses as too often a subterfuge which rapidly is breaking down control, and recommended that Class C licenses be substituted. Local communities could veto sale-by-glass under the Gormley plan. At any rate, it seems that teeth are needed in the act.

Pontiac—The latest, and perhaps the best, safety drive, has been in progress in Oakland County. Deputies make nightly roundups on county highways of motorists who have faulty lights or no operators licenses. "Courtesy" tickets are issued. The drivers who receive these tickets are given five days in which to fix their lights or apply for a license. If these "warnings" go unheeded, says the sheriff, the drivers will be prosecuted on the same basis as those who receive regular violation tickets.

Parma—Keeping up with the times, this community saw its first strike recently. It seems that students in Coach John Tomshack's history class at the high school went on a sit-down. Studies were out and books placed on the floor. Smart handling came from Coach Tomshack, who lectured them on the history of strikes, in place of regular work. Next day the students were back for regular classes. Tomshack gave them an examination on the previous day's lecture. 23 of the 28 students flunked.

Owosso—Front page news of New York's "Prosecutor of rackets," Thomas E. Dewey, recently appointed by Governor Herbert H. Lehman, brings to light an interesting local biography. Born in Owosso, Dewey left to enroll at the University of Michigan. He didn't know whether he preferred to be a lawyer or a singer, but proved his musical talent by winning two singing scholarships. Then on to Columbia University went Dewey, to graduate in law. Now, at 34 he is a "crime and gang-buster."

Allegan—The mythical fountain of youth is no secret to David Searles, 90 years old, who grew his third set of teeth five years ago. The teeth function perfectly, says Mr. Searles, who, while he is too courteous to laugh at dentists, manages a broad smile on the subject.

Jackson—A new claimant to the title of Michigan's most traveled postal employe, is brought forward in the person of John H. Jones, who estimates that in the 18 years that he has been a special delivery agent for the postoffice here, he has covered 237,250 miles and delivered more than 300,000 pieces of mail.

Monroe—Current movements to make holders of public offices subject to civil service examinations have reached this community. Under the provisions of a charter amendment to be submitted to Monroe voters at the April election, all police officers, including the chief, will come under civil service requirements.

Port Huron—The estimated cost of scheduled work to improve channels for navigation in the St. Clair river is $6,525,000, according to the annual report of the chief of the United States army engineers. Expenditures will include $2,900,000 for construction of submerged weirs to help maintain the depth of Lake Huron and the St. Clair River.

Monroe—What youth will do on a dare, is the caption of a story told about two local schoolboys. Robert June, 16 years old, took to the water recently, near the Monroe street bridge and swam across the River Raisin, breasting frigid waters and pushing through slush ice. William Schmidt repeated his friend's performance. Said the boys, "We did it on a dare."

Allegan—A new modern theory on education was advanced here recently by Mrs. Eleanor Wetz, retired school teacher, who owns the greatest collection of photographs of scientific interest in North America. The outgrowth of a theory that education is most easily gained visually, Mrs. Wetz applied her ideas to schools in Chicago, where in three years appropriations for visual education increased from $700 to $120,000.

Pontiac—A story of the "power of the press" was told here recently. Employees of a local newspaper were congratulating themselves on the success of an editorial campaign against double-parking, over-time parking, and illegal turns. All went well until the newspaper men, who had forgotten about their own cars parked near the plant, had parking violation tickets issued them by police. Standing by his editorial guns, in face of this, said the editor, "We must have action at any cost."

Kalamazoo—A page was taken from Ripley's "Believe it or not" recently when two Michigan men were positively identified as John O. Doe, federal banking officer, of this city, and Richard F. Roe, Tecumseh lawyer. In courtrooms, hotels, and banks, the two men face humorists who joke about the situation, or stern visaged men who sense a plot. Lawyer Roe relies on being able to identify himself, but Banker Doe takes no chances. He carries a federal identification card, with his picture attached.

Battle Creek—A $15,000 copper-domed observatory atop the Battle Creek high school was constructed and completely equipped without the knowledge that high-powered telescopes must rest solidly on foundations reaching far below the surface of the earth. As a result, railroad trains and city traffic cause the structure to vibrate so violently that it has never been used, and without the interpretations of human mind and eye, the telescope stares unseeing beyond the stratosphere into a world of stars.

Pontiac—William Bluth, local factory worker whose hobby is flowers, guarantees to turn out his most beautiful crop this summer, if the city will install a street light in front of his home. According to Bluth and his neighbors, Bluth's fine garden was wrecked repeatedly last year by automobiles whose drivers failed to see that the street ended in front of his home. Bluth says the red reflector installed by the city is of little use, whereas a street light would prove as beneficial as the sun's rays to motorists and his garden.

Eureka—Adept at Indian dances, fifteen-year-old Dorothy Botsford, according to word received here, has been initiated as a princess of the Blood Tribe of the Blackfoot Confederation, the largest Indian tribe in North America. Miss Botsford, who was granted full tribal rights, is believed to be the only white girl ever to receive such a title. A student of the dance since she was five, she intends to study Indian legends further, with the intention of perpetuating them through the medium of the dance.

National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart
National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Washington.—It has always been said that politics makes strange bedfellows. History has shown this statement to be true because in every political battle one can note unusual combinations, odd types working together, personal enemies fighting side by side—in truth, bedfellows for the time being.

Never has the truth of this old adage been better demonstrated, however, than in the current political fight that was precipitated by President Roosevelt's demand that congress pass a law which will allow the Chief Executive to add six new members to the Supreme court of the United States. The real congressional fight on the President's bold move has not yet gained full headway. But time enough has elapsed since Mr. Roosevelt offered his history-making demand for power to add enough judges to the Supreme court, judges of his own selection, to give him a majority, that those close to the congressional scene are now in a position to predict probably the most heated controversy since the days immediately preceding the Civil war.

Already, it can be stated, one can see senators and representatives who are known for their liberal views standing side by side with hard-boiled conservatives in opposition to the President's plan, which they describe as a move "to pack the Supreme court." Likewise one can see conservative Democrats from the old South following President Roosevelt and joining hands secretly with the wildest radicals in the senate. One will see Democrats and conservative Republicans in earnest conversation planning ways and means to halt the President's drive for control of the court and at the same time one can see radical Republicans planning with Democrats in support of the program—strange bedfellows, every one.

While this condition is interesting, it is by far less striking as I watch the proceedings than the extreme bitterness that is now developing. While, as I said, the controversy is hardly under way, there is even now personal animosity evident in the senate to a degree that I never have seen before. I had the privilege of observing the famous League of Nations fight at close range. There was personal bitterness in that senate battle. Old friendships were crushed and close relationships torn asunder. Yet, I think that the current controversy is likely to cause the League of Nations bitterness to pale into insignificance. In other words, there lies ahead for the congress a raging fire that is bound to destroy political lives and political ambitions. Which lives and which ambitions depend, I think, upon the answer which the country's citizens give to the now direct question:

Are we to have a system of courts and judges, independent and free of politics, or are we to have puppets that will do the bidding of political masters?

I said above that the result of the Supreme court battle in congress will be determined by the attitude of the country. It is vital that the citizens realize this fact. Since President Roosevelt made no mention during the campaign for reelection in 1936 of plans to reform the Supreme court, there has been no public expression on the subject. There will not be another opportunity for the voters to express their views until November, 1938. The only way, then, open to those who want to express an opinion for or against the court change is by sending their views to their congressmen and senators. Conversations that I have had with members of the house and the senate convince me that the representatives and senators will appreciate word as to how their constituents feel.

Further evidence of the desire of congressmen and senators to know the feelings of the voters is given in the tremendous propaganda that is going on. Friends and foes of the Supreme court reform program are on the air nightly; scarcely a day goes by that some senator and usually several of them and numerous congressmen participate in debate or issue statements concerning the great controversy, and from the tremendous source of propaganda supply at the command of the President come countless statements and interviews and radio speeches praising the President's plan. Even the President himself has made one of his famous "fireside chats" telling why he should be given the new power.

In the meantime—and some more strange bedfellows—we find the most peculiar cross currents operating. Among some of the religious groups, there are many who fear that the court packing plan will void constitutional guarantees of religious freedom. They fear eventual control of the churches by the state, having in mind, no doubt what has happened to religious groups in Germany and Soviet Russia. Editorials from the Catholic press are being circulated privately among many legislators and against these are some Protestant preachers who take the position that the Supreme court is out of date and ought to be reformed. Numerous Jewish leaders are opposing the reform but among the Jews are many who feel that President Roosevelt is right.

Then there is the split among the farm leaders. I refer to farm organizations with national spokesmen. Some are for the change and some against it.

Uppermost in the minds of all of the opponents seems to be a fundamental fear that to change the court will open the door through which dictators may walk. To illustrate the type of statements coming forth from observers of national reputation as regards this point, I am going to quote from a recent expression by the distinguished columnist, Westbrook Pegler. Lately he wrote:

"All of a sudden, Mr. Roosevelt discovers that the Supreme court is largely senile and demands quick action on a proposal which, if adopted, would create an easy precedent for the most cynical packing of the Supreme court by someone of the type of Huey Long or Warren Harding, Mussolini or Hitler in years to come. It might not be many years either. . . . All dictators pack the courts by legal means as a preliminary to the promulgation of their dictatorial laws. After that it is comparatively easy to take over, because the courts belong to the dictator and do as he orders."

There can be no question, of course, that the thing Mr. Roosevelt proposes to have congress do for him is legal. Since, however, it is legal in this instance, it will be legal, of course, for someone else to come along after Mr. Roosevelt and pack the court with men of his own choosing, men who will decide questions as the then President desires them to decide. There is no limit to what may come if once the door is opened. Senator Wheeler, the Montana Democrat who has long been outstanding in the liberal character of views he holds, has added to this thought the expression that if the door is to be opened the people must do it—not the congress that was elected without voters having heard the proposition mentioned.

As the fight of packing the Supreme court waxes warmer, one can not help noticing how even clever politicians make mistakes.

They Make Mistakes

There are many who believe that Mr. Roosevelt made a grievous error in proposing revision of the Supreme court in the fashion he chose while there are others who say that he was elected by such a tremendous majority that he will have the people behind him regardless of the character of proposition advanced to congress.

It is interesting to note how many congressmen and senators are dodging the issue. Their silence is positively thunderous because they do not know how the people back home feel about the general proposition. There are others who have come out boldly for one reason or another in support of the plan and there are some 33 or more in the senate who have determined their position already and are ready to fight to the finish to stop passage of such a law.

Then there was the mistake which Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, made in the senate the other day. He vigorously denounced what he termed propaganda and a conspiracy to defeat the President's plan. He called attention to much newspaper and editorial comment in opposition and accused all of those people indiscriminately with being part of a gigantic conspiracy against the court pack.

The humor of the Robinson outburst seemed not to be apparent to the otherwise kindly mannered senator whom I very much admire. What he did by an hour-long attack in the senate was to re-emphasize all of the criticism of the President's plan.

One might refer in this connection also to the explosive type of speech made by Harry Hopkins, relief administrator. Of course, everyone knows that Mr. Hopkins has made his life's work that of looking after suffering humanity. He is on the government pay roll in such a job. Mr. Hopkins attacked all opposition to the President's plan because he said it was in the interest of humanity to do so. The relief administrator made his appeal direct to all of those receiving federal money through relief rolls and that obviously will be taken up by opponents of the President's plan who undoubtedly will say as some already have hinted that Mr. Hopkins is trying to muster relief classes to bring pressure upon congress.

Huggins' Squelch of Blustering Babe a Classic Retort

TALES told around a town that has no curfew law for sports folks:

There was the time, fifteen years or so ago, when Babe Ruth had not yet become the model of propriety that he is today. Then the papers were full of his off the field antics and the dugout gossip was that little Miller Huggins could never learn to handle him.

That kept up for months. Some observers were laying long odds that Babe could never last because of the playboy pace he was setting. Others were equally sure there was only one solution of the problem. Modest, frail little Hug, not a particularly celebrated player in his own day, was not fit to be compared to this newly arrived star of all stars. The thing to do was have him succeed Huggins as manager. Then all would be well.

Hug, listened, sat in his little office or on the edge of the bench, puffing at his little tobacco-incrusted pipe, saying nothing. Then, suddenly, he acted. Headlines flamed with the news that the burly young star of all stars had been fined $5,000 and would get more of the same if he did not become a good boy.

Babe also flamed. He reached Huggins' office roaring. Hug sat there, sucking at a now dead pipe, saying nothing. Finally Babe reached his climax.

"You, you," he shook a fist at the silent 120-pounder, then raised himself to his full, massive stature. "If you were only man's size I'd beat the hell out of you."

Hug took the pipe from his lips, continued to look full at Ruth. "Yes," he said quietly. "And if I was your size you'd have jumped out of that window ten minutes ago."

There is the tale Reuben Gray, inventor of the Australian starting barrier now used at Hialeah, tells about Phar Lap. Many turfmen think that Phar Lap was an even greater thoroughbred than Man o' War, but no matter about that. He was good and the big books were loaded with money on him shortly before the running of the Melbourne Cup one year.

Something had to be done. Somebody tried to do it. Australians are not quite as subtle as their American brethren. Sponges, slow pills and such modern aids to betting coups do not appeal to them.

Phar Lap was cantering around his training track one day when an automobile approached. This was nothing new, people were always wanting to get a glimpse of the wonder horse. That day, though, Phar Lap sniffed, wheeled around so suddenly that he almost upset his jockey. A shot echoed. The automobile sped away.

When investigation was made it was discovered that if Phar Lap had not wheeled around so suddenly the bullet must surely have bumped him off. Perhaps that explains the misfortunes inflicted upon humans who lack horse sense.

An enterprising campus reporter might make a good story—at least the human interest is there—out of it. Anyhow, I offer the tip as it came to me from a regretful alumnus the other night.

The boy's name is Sullivan. They say he is the best football player to enter Princeton in years, that he is a good student and that he is steeped in the Tiger tradition. But he is ineligible because he played freshman football at a college out West—a full two minutes, they say.

There are other bits of stories. One about the ring that Harry Hillman, Dartmouth track coach, always wears. It came to him in 1904 after he had won 100, 220, 440 high hurdles and three-legged race in the annual Military meet. Lawson Robertson of Penn was Hillman's partner in the three-legged event and they still hold the 0.11 record for the 100.

Eleven seconds, incidentally, is the same time Helen Stephens took while winning the women's 100 in the Berlin Olympics.

Another short bit is the one concerning the touchdown Kansas scored to beat Iowa State in 1920. Dayhawkers still call it the "Dream Touchdown." That is because Dr. Phog Allen, then coaching football at Kansas, went to bed wondering how to beat Iowa State. Then dreamed about the formation which produced the touchdown.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE:
OSIE SOLEM, now at Syracuse after long football coaching years at Iowa and Drake, already has discovered that Mid-Western gridiron candidates are bigger and more plentiful than in the East. He finds though that Eastern players usually are older, due to their high school plus prep school training, and this may be a big help.

Hank Greenberg is a dog-racing fan. Walter Kozak, the pro golfer who became one of the turf's most celebrated bettors, splits his Florida golf tournament earnings with his caddy and kid brother. Lieutenant Abe Goldman, now one of Brooklyn's most eminent detectives, once spent most of his time acting as sparring partner for Middleweight Champion Al McCoy.

That section of a palpitating public which spends its days wondering what pro hockey players do in the off season can be enlightened as follows: Allen Shields, Bruins' defense man, owns a new hotel in Ottawa. Happy Day of the Maple Leafs has given six of his best years to a Toronto drug store. Art Coulter is undecided between a trip into the North Woods with Forest Ranger Ted Graham or another stay in his Michigan wilderness camp. Fast-stepping Bob Gracie of the Maroons goes back to his gas station at Wasauga Beach, Ontario. Hal Cotton is a Toronto sports broadcaster as is King Clancy. Chuck Conacher runs the Silver Slipper Dance hall at Wasauga Beach. Frank McCurry, N. H. L. referee, is a practicing dentist. Another referee, Ag Smith, manages a chain of orange drink stands in Boston. Pete Palangio, one of the newest members of the Chicago Black Hawks, operates a bus from his home town, North Bay, Ontario, to the Dionne quintuplets hospital in Callander.

Governor Fred P. Cone soon will recommend to the Florida legislature that changes be made in the present betting setup. Pari-mutuel booths, established around town after the Paris fashion and relaying wagers to the course, will be one of the suggested improvements. He is reported as feeling that this is the only way to eliminate the handbooks, strong pressure previously having failed to budge them.

Joe Di Maggio once liked tennis better than baseball. Frankie Clause, who recently defeated bowling ace Andy Varipapa by 102 pins in a 20-game money series, teaches history in Old Forge High school near Scranton, Pa.

Canzoneri Believes Comeback Possible

Tony Canzoneri still is undecided about a comeback but insistently claims that he can lick Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers. A few odd names of New York fighters as observed in recent P. A. notices—John L. Sullivan, Percival Allen, Batling Dynamite Reno, "Tin Can" Romanelli, James J. Johnson.

Herb Brodie, used to fight in New York under the direction of the late Paddy Mullins. That was eight years or so ago and in those days Herb was a lightweight and wore a mustache. "Just Plain Bill" Johnston may promote boxing at a ball park this summer. Gene Pope, the publisher, has signed Enrico Venturi, Aldo Spoldi, Saverio Turriello, Italo Colonnelli and Vinc Dell'Orto to appear in a benefit show for Italian newspaper men at the St. Nicks next month.

New York merchants who believe a heavyweight championship fight is worth a cool $6,000,000 in extra spending in the town where it is held, are somewhat peeved at Uncle Mike Jacobs. They say that after paying pretty prices for Uncle Mike's amusement ducats and after laying a bit of advertising on the line for Uncle Mike's allies, they deserve a better break than having Jim Braddock lose his title in Chicago. Fight pilots should give a look at Ord Fink, Syracuse junior. Last year, his first letter-winning season, he won the Eastern intercollegiate, the national collegiate and was the only college man to make the Olympic boxing team. While doing this he won 16 out of 20 bouts by knockouts. His only defeat was the decision Jimmy Clark, former A. A. U. champion since turned pro, won over him in the Chicago Olympic tryout finals.

One of the best of bets is that college baseball will be more interesting this season than it has been since attacked by the blight 20 years ago. The reason is that so many stalwart youngsters finally have realized that baseball is a real profession paying tidy and immediate profits. Also there is the fact that managers and owners prefer college players.

400 oldtime fighters gathered recently in Philadelphia for a banquet. Among them such as Jack McAuliffe, Harry Lewis, Jack Britton, Tommy Loughran, Lew Tandler, Peter Maher, Joe Grim, Harlem Tommy Murphy, Jack Daly, Kid McCoy, Jake Kilrain, Johnny Kilbane, Benny Leonard, Jack O'Brien and Bat Levinsky. The Giants are going to struggle along without a captain this season now that Travis Jackson has taken over managerial worries at Jersey City.

The Spirit of Easter

Posed by Loretta Young.

In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from Heaven and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning and his raiment white as snow.

And for fear of him the keepers did shake and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women: "Fear ye not; for I know ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

"He is not here; for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay."—St. Matthew 28:1-6.

Ripples From Guiley Creek

By the Trout Specialist
Part of the machinery for drilling the test well on the G. J. Monfort property has been brought in, and we suppose there will be lots of activity in this neck of the woods in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wade, son, James, and daughter, Betty, and Jerry, spent the week end with us. Miss Jerry thought the ice on our jam would hold her weight. The result—she had to go on a sit-down while her clothes dried.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Latham and Joe Bamberger were Sunday callers here, also Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Braddock.

In less than six weeks, an army of trout fishermen will be parading up and down trout streams in quest of those elusive members of the finny tribe.

Some of the so-called "purists" will use their dry flies, regardless of weather conditions, but a majority will rely on bait, nymphs, or wet flies to get their fish. Many big rainbow spawners, prizes to make any fisherman proud, will be found in all the principal streams.

To many people, it is a great temptation to use a landing net, club or other means to get one of them, but if a person does not mind a little extra hard exercise, he may take back a rainbow by putting the hook in its mouth and forcing it to bite, then landing it just as if it had grabbed the bait of its own accord. If he fish can't be made to bite the hook, you might try picking it up in your hands. If you don't mind the cold water, it might be a good stunt to dive in, head first and grab one in your teeth. If you don't think that would make quite a show, just try it!

p. m. on said day for the purpose of reviewing the Registration and Registering such of the qualified electors in said City as Shall Properly Apply therefor.

Notice is hereby further given to the Qualified Electors of this City that I, the undersigned Clerk of said City, will register qualified electors who may apply at my office on any business day in the year up to and including

Saturday, March 27, 1937—Last Day for General Registration by personal application for said election, from 9 o'clock a. m. to 8 o'clock p. m.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the precinct at the time of said registration, and entitled under the constitution if remaining such resident to vote at the next election shall be entered in the registration book.

Registration by Affidavit
Any absent voter, as defined in this act, whose name is not registered and who shall claim the right to vote by absent voter's ballot at any election or primary election, may at the time of making application for absent voter's ballot present to the City Clerk an affidavit for registration which shall be in substantially the following form:

Affidavit For Registration

STATE OF MICHIGAN
County of . . . . .
I, . . . . . being duly sworn, depose and say that I am a citizen and duly qualified elector of the . . . . . Ward of the City of . . . . . in the County of . . . . . and State of Michigan; that my postoffice address is No. . . . . Street . . . . . or R. F. D. No. . . . . P. O. . . . . that I am not now registered as an elector therein and that I am voting by absent voter's ballot at the election (or primary election) to be held upon the . . . . . day of . . . . . 19 . . . . . the application for which ballot accompanies this affidavit; that I make this affidavit for the purpose of procuring my registration as an elector in accordance with the statute; that I make the following statements in compliance with the Michigan Election Law: Age . . . . .; Race . . . . .; Birthplace . . . . .; Date of naturalization . . . . . I further swear or affirm that the answers given to the above questions concerning my qualifications as an elector are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Signed . . . . .
*Taken, subscribed and sworn to before me this . . . . . day of . . . . . 193 . . . . .

Notary Public in and for said County, State of Michigan.
My Commission expires . . . . . 193 . . . . .

Upon receipt of such affidavit in the time specified herein, the clerk shall write in the registration book the name of the applicant together with the other information required by this chapter and such applicant shall thereupon be deemed to be duly and properly registered.

*Note—If this acknowledgment is taken outside of the State, the Certificate of the Court that the person taking the acknowledgment is a notary must be attached.

Registration of Absentee By Oath

If any person whose name is not registered shall offer and claim the right to vote at any election, or primary election, and shall UNDER OATH, state that he or she is a resident of such precinct and has resided in the CITY TWENTY DAYS next preceding such election, designating particularly the place of his or her residence and that he or she possesses the other qualifications of an elector under the constitution; and that, owing to the sickness or bodily infirmity of himself or herself, or some member of his or her family or owing to his or her absence from the City on public business or his or her business, and without intent to avoid or delay his or her registration, he or she was unable to make application for registration on the last day provided by law for the registering of electors preceding such election, then the name of such person shall be registered, and he or she shall then be permitted to vote at such election. If such applicant shall in said matter wilfully make any false statement, he or she shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and upon conviction, be subject to the pains and penalties thereof.

Provision in Case of Removal to Another Precinct

Any registered and qualified voter who has REMOVED from ONE ELECTION PRECINCT of the City to another election precinct of the same city shall have the right, on any day previous to election day, on application to the City Clerk, to have his or her name transferred from the registration book of the precinct from which he or she HAS REMOVED to the registration book of the precinct in which he or she THEN RESIDES. Such elector shall have the right to have such transfer made ON ELECTION DAY, or Primary Election day, by obtaining from the board of inspectors of election of the precinct from which he or she HAS REMOVED a CERTIFICATE OF TRANSFER, and presenting the said certificate to the BOARD OF ELECTION INSPECTORS OF THE PRECINCT IN WHICH HE OR SHE THEN RESIDES.

Removing an . . . . Unneeded Restraint

Congress is debating the Pettengill bill which, in substance, would permit the railroads to compete with intercoastal steamships.

The clause of the Interstate Commerce law which the bill would repeal was perhaps once beneficial, but has become restrictive.

No like prohibition governs the railroads' land, air and water competitors, and none is contemplated for them. It applies to the rails alone, with the original need for it non-existent—imposing a handicap on them while it confers advantages on their competitors.

Repeal of this clause will hurt no one; will make lower rail rates eventually not improbable; will create an additional 100,000 railroad jobs.

Nor will it reduce the ICC's powers; or enable the rails to charge rates that are unreasonable or unduly low so as to eliminate competition, or to raise rates if competition did disappear.

The bill is favored by great bodies of shippers, by trade organizations, by the railroads and railroad labor. It is opposed by steamship interests and coastal industries who would retain unfair advantages over inland competitors.

America's railroads face the most unprecedented competition in their history. Unneeded restraints, like this obsolete clause, should be removed that the lines may better be able reasonably, and legally, to compete.

Michigan, and its railroads, will benefit from the repeal. Support for the Pettengill bill should be asked of the State's delegation in Congress.

State Capitols Adhere to Classic Architecture

State Houses Follow Lines Approved by Jefferson.

Washington, D. C.—Oregon's new state capitol, now under construction to replace one which burned in 1935, will be a modernized version of a simple Greek style, and so will follow traditions that were rather generally established as statehood swept from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the National Geographic society points out. The new building is rising in Salem, on the same site as the previous structure.

"If orators and lawmakers of ancient Greece and Rome could enter state houses of the United States, they would probably feel pretty much at home," says the bulletin. "For the majority of these buildings were erected in a classic style of architecture, embodying the simple dignity and large scale grandeur of buildings that crowned the Athenian Acropolis, or the seven hills of Rome.

CINDERELLA HEIRESS

Lillian Elifsen, maid in a West Englewood, N. J., home, took a day off to visit New York when she heard that she had inherited $600,000 from her foster father in Norway, but she is going to hold her job until the fortune is turned over to her. Lillian's family name is Petersen and she was born in the United States, but when she was two years old she was adopted by a Norwegian shipbuilder and was taken by him to live in Norway.

"One of the chief promoters of the classic revival of architecture in America was Thomas Jefferson. The Virginia state capitol at Richmond, completed in 1789 from his design, was the first American building copied directly from an ancient classic form. Its facade, with majestic pillars, was derived from the Maison Carree at Nimes, France. This Roman temple, the best preserved extant, so captured Jefferson's imagination when he was Minister to France, that its pillars find echoes not only in the state house, but in his home, Monticello, and in the templelike pavilions of the University of Virginia, which he also designed.

Started by Jefferson.

"Ever since Jefferson began the enthusiasm for it, classic architecture has remained the favored style for public buildings in the United States. An airplane tour of the country would reveal it sprinkled with gleaming domes and colonnades of capitols, court houses, museums, libraries, and post offices. Many modern edifices in Washington, D. C., such as the new Supreme Court building, resemble Greek temples.

"North Carolina's state house in Raleigh is modeled partly after the Parthenon, outstanding temple of the Acropolis. That of Ohio in Columbus is unique in being crowned by what appears to be a truncated dome. This circular, flat-topped 'drum' is an attempt to work out a dome effect in a Greek style.

"In Nashville, Tennessee, frequently called 'The Athens of the South,' the capitol is in the form of a Greek Ionic temple. Its tower is a replica of a monument erected in Athens 335 B. C., and still standing. Because of its cylindrical shape, the latter is popularly called the 'Lantern of Demosthenes.'

"The enlarged United States capitol is built on classic lines. Its sweeping steps, on which Presidents are inaugurated, lead to a white-pillared portico, above which soars the enormous white dome of painted cast-iron.

"Visiting governors and architects have carried back to their native states a vision of this majestic edifice, and for decades almost every alternate state house has been, except for slight variations, a smaller replica of it, with rows of columns, two wings for the houses of legislature, and a dome, cupola, or other central crowning feature.

Skyscraper Capitols Rare.

"Charles Bulfinch, who was one of the architects for the original capitol (from 1818 until it was finished in 1827) designed capitols for Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maine.

"The state house in Boston, with its red brick walls and gilded bulbous dome gleaming from Beacon Hill, was, from 1800 until the completion of the capitol in Washington, the most notable public building in the country. In its hall of representatives hangs a wooden codfish, four feet long, symbolic of the importance of cod-fishing to the state.

"Largest of all the capitol buildings is found appropriately in Texas, the largest state. Second in size only to the National capitol, it has less length, but several feet more height than the latter. Built of Texas red granite, it is topped by a Goddess of Liberty holding the 'Lone Star.'

"During the revived enthusiasm for Gothic architecture which flooded America during the 1860's and 1870's when builders adorned houses with observation towers, jigsaw fretwork and 'gingerbread' decoration, state houses for the most part escaped this ornamentation. "Two striking departures from the traditional classic forms are the modern skyscraper capitols of Louisiana and Nebraska. That at

Data on Extinction of Mine Fires Collected

New York.—Studies to determine the causes, behavior, and control of mine fires which are wasting natural resources, have been reported to the division of gas and fuel chemistry of the American Chemistry society by G. S. Scott and George W. Jones of the United States bureau of mines.

"It is difficult to estimate, even approximately, the annual losses due to mine fires," the paper says. "One anthracite mining company has had more than 100 separate mine fires on its premises, several of which are active now. It has been reported that one company alone has spent $1,000,000 in combating a mine fire that started more than 50 years ago and is still active.

"Analysis of atmospheres from burning coal mines lends itself to adaptation as a valuable tool for the study of the incipient heating and combustion of coal in mine areas where actual inspections cannot be made on account of the heat, lack of oxygen, bad roof conditions, and other attendant dangerous conditions.

"The gases may be collected at their points of emergence at the surface, or at points underground sufficiently remote from the fire area to enable inspections to be made with safety."

KING'S BIRTHDAY

King Farouk I of Egypt, whose seventeenth birthday recently was observed throughout his nation by his subjects. The only son of the late King Fuad and Her Majesty, Queen Nazi, he acceded to the throne last April upon his father's death, to become the tenth sovereign of the Mohamed Aly dynasty. Until the young ruler attains his majority the royal prerogatives are being carried out by a council of regency.

Baton Rouge, when completed in 1932, was the tallest building in the south, its tower rising 450 feet.

"Visible for miles across the Nebraska plains is the 400-foot tower of the new capitol at Lincoln, rising from a square base which is 437 feet each way. The building is a copy of no other. Its symbolism is indigenous to the state and much of it is grasped only by Nebraskans. It is decorated with buffalo and pioneer panels, with designs taken from the state's flora and fauna, and from beadwork patterns of Plains Indians."

HOW ARE YOU TODAY DR. JAMES W. BARTON Talks About

Safe Reducing Diets. SOME of our overweight friends tell us in a profound manner that they have studied the matter of weight reduction and have come to the conclusion that so far as they are concerned, they are not eating more than they should. They have estimated that for their height and weight (some like to include the idea of age also) they are getting just the proper number of calories or heat units. Thus they feel that if they ate less they would become weak and consequently they might collapse.

Now what these overweight friends fail to remember is that the amount of food—calories or heat units—that their body requires should not be estimated for their present weight but for their proper or ideal weight.

The average adult man doing office or light factory work needs 2,500 to 3,500 calories daily, and the adult woman doing house or office work requires 2,000 to 2,500 calories. This is for a man 5 feet 7 inches tall weighing 150 pounds, and a woman 5 feet 4 inches tall weighing 125 pounds. In most overweight cases it will be found that from 25 to 35 per cent more than these amounts is being taken. "If less than this amount of food is taken daily a demand will be made upon the fat deposited in the body. If the food is properly chosen it is easy to take as little as twelve to fifteen hundred calories and yet have a sufficient amount to eat so that the appetite is fairly well satisfied and the individual does not have a feeling of emptiness."

Safe Menus. Menus that are safe for overweight people who want to lose weight are suggested by Prof. E. V. McCollum, Johns Hopkins university:

Breakfast: stewed prunes without sugar; small dish of oatmeal with skim milk; one slice of toast; coffee with small amount of milk.

Lunch: chicken soup, two soda crackers, lettuce and cottage cheese sandwich, one muffin, buttermilk or skim milk.

Dinner: small steak with onions, small serving of mashed potatoes, string beans, lettuce salad, one roll, baked apple.

Breakfast: grape fruit, plain omelet, two slices of crisp, lean bacon, one slice of toast, coffee with milk or a dash of cream.

Lunch: fruit salad, one roll, skim milk.

Dinner: broiled halibut with lemon, mashed potato (small serving), spinach with hard boiled egg, tomato salad, one roll, fruit jello.

Breakfast: orange, poached egg, two slices of lean, crisp bacon, one slice of toast, coffee with a small amount of milk or a dash of cream but no sugar.

Lunch: vegetable soup, two soda crackers, lettuce and tomato salad with a small amount of French dressing containing but a small amount of oil; or salt, pepper and vinegar; one roll with butter (but one cube of butter allowed per day); buttermilk.

Dinner: one small lamb chop, small baked potato, Brussels sprouts, celery and cabbage salad, one roll, skim milk, grape fruit.

The Mental Patient.

When a patient consults a physician, the physician is not satisfied with what the examination reveals, but asks the patient a number of questions and encourages him to tell all about his symptoms—where the pain is located, whether the pain is sharp or dull, just when it comes on, what seems to make it worse and what seems to relieve or at least make it easier to bear. If it is not a pain then it may be a "heaviness," a discomfort or other feeling that should not be present.

By putting together the objective symptoms, the symptoms he found by the examination—the temperature, the pulse, any sounds that shouldn't be present, any lumps that are not normal, the blood pressure, the richness of the blood in iron or lime or both, and then learning the subjective symptoms from the patient, as mentioned above, the physician makes up his mind just what ailment is present, and treats the patient accordingly.

But this, until recently, has not been the method of examining a mental patient. The usual physical examination was made but if the patient were shy, did not like to talk about his fancies, his difficulties, his desires, he was not encouraged to any extent to tell everything that was on his mind. Today, however, the physical examination is made as usual but the patient is encouraged to tell everything. If he seems to be "side-stepping" or avoiding a certain subject he is kindly but firmly questioned along these subjects.

This means that the patient really does most of the talking and once started will "let loose" and speak about conflicts, difficulties, and other subjects he has heretofore kept hidden.

"Keep A-Goin'"—

Persistence in Efforts Likely to Bring About Fulfillment of Ambition

PERHAPS it is my fondness for violets that made me stand and watch him. Anyway, there he was, with a wonderful basket of scented loveliness, tempting the homeward-going throng on a Saturday afternoon.

"Violets, violets, lovely violets. Quarter a bunch. Lovely violets. Like an unending song, his husky voice cried his wares, and during the ten minutes that I stood near him on the pavement, watching and listening, he kept up his cry.

Unable to resist the temptation, I bought a bunch, and even as he served me, he punctuated the deal with: "Violets, all fresh and lovely."

Persistence Counts.

I remarked, as I waited for my change, that he had a large basket to dispose of.

"Yes," he said, "that's right, gov'nor. But they'll all go. ('Ere you are, sir, lovely violets, all fresh.) Only you 'as to keep a-goin'." Everybody's in a hurry to get 'ome, and if you ain't persistent—(yes, lady, smaller bunches four-pence)—you don't sell 'arf as many. 'Ere you are, sir, your change. Thank you very much. Violets, lovely violets. All fresh!"

I walked away with my purple bunch—and a lesson in my mind. "Keep a-goin'." What a motto! It reminded me of a little jingle that is oft quoted by a rolling-stone friend of mine, who brought it back from the West of Canada, where he first heard it. It goes like this:

If it rains or if it snows, If it's calm or if it blows, What'll happen no one knows, So keep a-goin'.

A well-known athlete once told me that he had won many a second and third prize by simply keeping on. Dogged does it. Even when he realized that he couldn't beat the winner, he set his mind on being in the first three, and got there.

A Motto for Many.

Keep a-goin' is a motto not only for rolling stones and athletes and violet-sellers. It is a motto for housewives who are faced with a tiring washing-day, for families who are faced with no very brilliant outlook for the future, for those who are apt to lie down under the weight of present troubles.

Nothing stands still. Things either get better or worse, and they are far more likely to get better if we persist in our efforts to make them so.

Take heart. This year, England is to crown a new king. This year, too, we may crown some individual ambition with fulfillment. We can do it, I know, if we "keep a-goin'."—Editor of London Answers.

School Notes

The seniors recently selected the style of invitation to be used for the commencement program in June. The sample chosen was furnished by the local printer, P. N. Thornton. The class has decided to have a mixed commencement program, that is, a speaker and about three class parts.

Plans are under way for one of the carnivals for which Tawas High is famous. This one will be held at the school building Friday evening, April 22nd.

The Girls Glee Club is planning to present a one-act operetta during April. Proceeds will go towards the Band Uniform fund.

The city council has donated the sum of $25.00 for the Band Uniform fund. This unexpected gift is greatly appreciated, and will be a great help in increasing our fund.

The junior class is holding a party at the school house on Friday evening, March 19th. The novelty of the event is that it is entirely in the hands of the boys of the class.

Practice on the play, "The Three Pigs," which will be presented by the junior class at the Community Building on the evening of April 16, began this week on Monday. The whole cast are hard at work and promise to make this the best play ever presented by any class from this school. Start saving your pennies. You'll want to see it. The big question is, "who and what are the Three Pigs?"
