Mrs. Mark Heads Local Drive on Hidden Taxes

Mrs. J. Atlee Mark, of Tawas City, today was named to lead local women in the nation-wide drive of the National Consumers Tax Commission against "all unnecessary taxes that increase the cost of living."

Announcement of her appointment as chairman of the commission unit to be formed among Tawas City housewives was made today from the organization's headquarters in Chicago through Mrs. Kenneth C. Frazier, national president. Mrs. Mark is president of the 20th Century Club.

The commission is described as a non-political organization conducting a drive by housewives of the nation against hidden and direct taxes that add to the burden of the consumer. The drive is led in this state by Mrs. W. R. Alvord, of Highland Park, the commission's Michigan national committee member.

"The commission is glad to have Mrs. Mark among the leaders of this movement," Mrs. Fisher said. "Already hundreds of units in many states are active in the educational drive on taxes that raise the cost of living for all of us."

"Most people pay hidden taxes without knowing it, and it's little wonder family budgets are strained when, for example, the commission's taxes add 11 cents to a 29 cent purchase of meat, $10 to every $30 of rent, $1.55 to a $5 hat and $1.56 to a $4 pair of shoes."

A series of study programs will be arranged for members through which to inform families here of their tax burden, Mrs. Frazier said.

Twentieth Century Club

The Ladies Literary Club, of East Tawas, the Twentieth Century Club, of Tawas City, and the County Child Health League will hold a joint meeting next week Wednesday, November 30, at 2:30 in the American Legion Hall, East Tawas.

Dr. Sue Thompson, director of the Children's Fund Unit, district No. 2, will be the speaker.

Members are urged to be present and all interested in the health work of the county are cordially invited.

With the Hunters

Out in the woods last Tuesday Walt Laidlaw referred a tug-of-war between a man and woman over a 60er. Walt says both fired simultaneously and the buck fell. Both rushed over to the deer with tags in their hands, the man arriving first. As he bent over to fasten the tag, the woman jumped on his back and crushed him to the ground. The man struggled free and started to tug the deer off the fireline by the horns. The woman grasped the tail with both hands and in the tug-of-war which followed had the better of the argument until her husband arrived on the scene and pointed out that the buck had been killed with a rifle bullet. She had used a shotgun loaded with buckshot.

Joseph Bamberger, of Grant township, killed a fine bobcat this week. It weighed 22 pounds. The cat faced Bamberger when the shot was made and the ball pierced the center of its nose.

A spikehorn buck with a wirenose around its head which had become embedded in the skull bone was shot by Joe Noel, of East Tawas, near Wilber, eight miles northwest of here last week-end.

The young buck evidently had been caught in a wire snare and had broken loose with the nose still around its head. The wire had worked back and forth as the deer chewed its food and its right eye appeared to be injured. Noel believes the nose had been on the deer's head for a year or more as bone had formed around the wire in places.

The deer seemed to be fairly well fed despite its handicap. Noel plans to give the buck's head to Conservation Officer Arthur Lietz who will have it mounted for exhibition purposes.

Attorney H. Read Smith says he hopes that he doesn't spoil his record this year. He has had nine straight seasons without a hit.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the voters of Isoco County for the excellent support given me at the November election and assure that I will continue to give the office my very best attention.

R. H. McKenzie,
County Clerk.

Home Economic Notes

The secretaries of the local Home Economics Extension Groups have been sending excellent reports of their meetings in Home Furnishings to the Home Extension Agent. Evening and afternoon meetings have been most popular with attendances ranging from 7 to 25. Over 200 women are now enrolled in this county wide project carrying out the idea of "Making the House Homelike Without Extra Cost." At the next meeting, reports will be given showing changes made and number of unnecessary articles eliminated. The second leaders meeting will be held December 6 when Miss Alice Hertzler, Home Extension Agent, will present the lesson in "Color in Home Decoration." Details of the meeting will be published later.

Card of Thanks

To the voters of Isoco County.
Thank You! For the splendid vote given me at the election November 8.

Grace Miller,
County Treasurer.

East Tawas Water Works Project Starts Monday

OGEMAW COUNTY SHERIFF DIES EARLY MONDAY

Russell Gillespie Was a Former Resident of Iosco

Russell J. Gillespie, sheriff of Ogemaw county for the past four years and elected to a third term on the Democratic ticket in the recent Republican Ogemaw landslide for a third term, died at Redford Monday while enroute to a Detroit hospital for treatment of an acute heart ailment. He was stricken early Monday morning and died while being rushed to the hospital.

Dr. H. M. Jardine and Russell Miller, both of West Branch, who were accompanying him to the hospital, were with him when he died.

Gillespie, who was well known and well liked throughout the county, was born in Iosco county October 17, 1899 and attended the Whittemore public schools. He was a World war veteran having served two years in the United States Naval Relief forces. After the war he returned to Prescott to manage the S. M. Weinberg and Co. store there for 12 years.

He was elected Ogemaw county sheriff November 6, 1934, being the first Democrat elected to that office in 44 years. He was a member of the Whittemore Masonic Lodge No. 471 and of the Independent Order of Oddfellows.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Leon and Carlton, both of West Branch; father, John, of Whittemore; three sisters, Miss Marion Gillespie of Whittemore, Mrs. Jas. H. Leslie of Iosco and Miss Opal Gillespie of Tawas City; and a brother, Ferns Gillespie of Detroit.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the home with burial in Brookside cemetery.

Revival Services Being Held at Hale

Special Revival Meetings at the Hale Methodist Church, began Sunday, November 20, at 8:00 p. m., with Miss Imogene Quinn, of Indianapolis, Indiana, as our speaker, and chorus leader.

Miss Quinn, needs no introduction now to this community, as she closed a successful meeting at the Whittemore Church a few weeks ago, at which time she made many friends, at both Hale and Whittemore. Miss Quinn is a very competent speaker, having traveled extensively. She has traveled and preached in thirty countries of Europe and Asia, including Palestine, and several provinces of Canada, and also Mexico, and every state of the United States. This fine speaker of wide experience is well worth hearing. Someone that we of small communities, are not always fortunate in hearing, Miss Quinn has just closed a meeting in a large downtown theatre in Milwaukee, with about 2000 in attendance each night. Miss Quinn has been preaching since she was 14 years old, and her messages have always timely and inspiring, such that hundreds have found Christ under her preaching. In China she saw literally hundreds come to the altar of prayer each night that she preached, and saw many go home at night and burn up their heathen wooden gods.

There will be special singing each night. The pastor solicits the prayers and attendance of neighboring pastors, and churches.—Rev. H. C. Watkins, pastor.

Richard J. Evans

Richard J. Evans died last Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Phillip Mathews, of Bay City at the age of 84 years, after a short illness.

Richard J. Evans was born in Abbotford, Michigan, May 8, 1854 and has been a resident of East Tawas for nearly fifty years with the exception of the years that he lived on a farm near Traverse City.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the home with burial in the family lot in Green-wood cemetery. Rev. S. A. Carey of the M. E. Church officiating.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Phillip Mathews, of Bay City; and Miss Mildred Evans, of Detroit; and three grandchildren, Arthur, Ruby and Howard Evans, and Mrs. W. A. Evans, of East Tawas.

FOR SALE—Hay, Carl Krumm, R. F. D. 3.

WILL REPLACE WOOD MAINS WITH IRON

$49,400 Estimated Cost of Improvement to System

All wood mains in the East Tawas water system will be replaced with cast iron mains when work which starts in that city next Monday is eventually completed. Replacing the mains will begin on Sawyer street at Bay street. The estimate cost of the improvement is $49,400. It is a WPA project.

In replacing the old mains more than 27,000 feet of new cast iron pipe will be laid. This will consist of 800 feet of 8-inch, 6100 feet of 6-inch, 10,600 feet of 4-inch and 2,700 feet of 2-inch mains.

Construction plans for work on the following streets are now in the hands of N. E. Warriner, resident engineer of the Francis Engineering company:

State Street—From Newman to Ogemaw.

Washington street—From Newman to Wilkinson.

Newman street—From State to Washington.

Lincoln street—From Wilkenson to Ogemaw.

Ogemaw street—From State to Lincoln.

Sawyer street—From Bay to Washington.

Church street—From Bay to Washington.

Locke street—From Bay to Washington.

Wilkinson street—From Bay to Washington.

Much Interest Being Shown in Farm Loan Meet

More interest is being shown in the coming special stockholders national farm loan association meeting scheduled for December 6 than in the regular annual meeting held in June and July says Secretary Treasurer John Levandoski, who is arranging for the program and lunch for members and their wives. The regular meeting found many farmers busy in their fields and unable to take part. Inquiries about the special meeting from farmers visit the office and from some who have written for more information indicate that a large attendance can be expected.

All farmers who have commissioner loans whether they are members of the association or not are also being invited to this session. Only stockholders were eligible to take part in the annual meeting.

The Secretary-Treasurer said the program will be especially arranged so that questions about policies and procedures that have puzzled members and other borrowers can be (Turn to No. one back page)

Isoco Bowling League

The Girls' Bowling League of East Tawas and Tawas City was organized at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Richard Price, with the following officers elected:

President, Miss Sophie Szumski; Secretary, Mrs. Edw. Klenow; Treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Adams.

Four teams were organized, namely:

"The Ifies"—Mrs. Richard Price, Captain; Steve Wilkusi, Rhea Yanka, Betty Zupen, Marjorie Lickfelt, Ruth Adams.

"The Black and Whites"—Sophie Fisher, Captain; Sophie Szumski, Grace Klenow, Mae Schuman, Angela Mielock, Bell Hammell, Ruth Merschel.

"Michigan Bell Girls"—Genevieve Dekette, Captain; Elsie Ahonen, Dorothy Bischoff, Arlene Carpenter, Winnie Merschel, Janice Bigelow, Ruby Evans.

"The Jitterbugs"—Doris Bruggner, Captain; Eleanor Crowell, Thelma Hermal, Anita Franson, Fay McClellan, Lula Keizer, Grace Miller.

On November 16 the Michigan Bell Girls took two out of three points from the Jitterbugs. Their total pins being 1116 while the Jitterbugs received 1099.

The Ifies took two points from the Black and Whites; their total pins being 1283 to 1269 for the Black and Whites.

NEW YORK.—G. S. Messersmith, assistant secretary of state, consul general in Berlin when Hitler rose to power, used to be a lot more optimistic about Germany settling down to normal trade intercourse than he appears to be now.

Widely experienced and minutely informed in foreign trade, Mr. Messersmith has been an evangel of Secretary Hull's reciprocal trade policies.

This writer has just obtained from a friend, an economist returning from Germany, his first close-up of what Dr. Walther Funk, German minister of economics, and his shrewd hunch-man, Hjalmar Schacht, are doing with their new militarized economics.

WE REGRET the lack of space to reprint here some merry little poems, such as "The Bird and the Burdock," and "The Tern and the Turnip," by Professor Robert W. Wood of Johns Hopkins, just recently honored by the British Royal society for his work in experimental physics.

He is one of this department's favorite scientific debunkers. One of his high scores here was banishing the death-ray bogey—pertinent just now in view of our sensitiveness to Martian attack.

Professor Wood, by scientific demonstrations, put the quietus on all death rays and offered to stand up against any of them. He invented tear gas for the Allies in the World War, developed a chemical eye by which "we can see and the enemy can't," and contributed greatly to the development of instruments of precision and spectroscopic research.

THE humanities, like sports and diplomacy, are becoming considerably scrambled these days. Professor Harry D. Gideonse, just taking over as head of Barnard college's department of social sciences, has been up to his ears all his life in dry-as-dust economics, and now, in his first work-out before the undergraduates, he swings on swing as "musical Hitlerism."

Professor Gideonse is of Dutch birth. He is a canny and cagey thinker, the author of several books on world economics and finance, and a sharp and precise critic of erratic trends of our civilization.

He is 37 years old, born in Rotterdam, here at the age of four, educated at Columbia and the University of Geneva, a former teacher of economics at Columbia, Barnard, Rutgers and the University of Chicago.

Weekly News Review British Policy of 'Expediency' Reverberates Around the Globe

By Joseph W. La Bine

International

As proprietor of the world's greatest empire, Great Britain assumes a right and obligation to be ringmaster of international diplomacy. If such a duty is incumbent during peace, it becomes more pressing in time of stress.

November has become an "international crisis" month of more import than September. Reason is that September's Czech-German-Sudeten crisis had immediate effect on only a comparative handful of central Europeans.

Though Christian Great Britain is horrified by Hitler's persecution, it dares not slap Germany's face. Not only are British banks planning loans to Nazi-controlled industries, but London must also exhibit sympathy with Germany's colonial demands in Africa.

Among such southeastern European nations as Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey lies Great Britain's last chance to resist German political and economic expansion, and also to maintain a vestige of international prestige.

Following this same policy, London must increase her sway in other Balkan states, also encouraging Yugoslavia, Turkey and Rumania to return war-won lands to Bulgaria, which stands alone outside the Balkan entente and is easy prey for German economic expansion.

Italy Even while King Carol's visit was marking an effort to stop dictators, smartly dressed Lord Perth visited the Italian foreign office in Rome and presented his credentials—to "the king of Italy and emperor of Ethiopia."

would not invoke the pact until Spain's civil war had reached a "settlement." With a new rebel offensive just starting on the Ebro, that "settlement" has hardly been reached.

FRANCE

Though friendly with Great Britain, France has lost much because its foreign policy has been following that of London. What is worse, French finance could not bear the unprecedented expense of last September's military preparations.

RUSSIA

Though the Soviet paper, Inves-tia, has urged closer Russian co-operation with the U. S. for preservation of world peace, and though Dictator Josef Stalin is more interested in his domestic development than in world-wide expansion of Communism, no democracy can afford to disregard the fact that Russia's political sympathies are more closely akin to those of Germany and Italy.

UNITED STATES

At home, the above international developments have brought three pertinent results: (1) Great Britain has rushed to consummation her reciprocal trade agreement with the U. S., in which Canada is also involved.

(2) U. S. indignation over Germany's Jewish persecution has found expression in the plan put forth by Joseph P. Kennedy, U. S. ambassador to Great Britain.

(3) Rather than accept French and Russian bids for leadership in world peace movements, President Roosevelt has invited 20 sister republics in the Western Hemisphere to unite in a defense against European or Asiatic aggression.

The 1938 farm program was not put into effect until many U. S. producers had their crops under way.

The program will involve $712,000,000. Minimum bounties to co-operating farmers include 3.6 cents a pound on cotton, 14 cents a bushel on corn, 27 cents a bushel on wheat, 22 cents on rice, 3 cents on potatoes, $3 a ton on peanuts.

To elect 8 new senators, 81 house members and 13 new governors in the November elections, U. S. Republicans had to pile up a large total vote.

To elect 8 new senators, 81 house members and 13 new governors in the November elections, U. S. Republicans had to pile up a large total vote. Figures now available show that in 24 states the G. O. P. had 51.5 per cent of the popular vote, compared with 40.1 per cent two years ago.

Labor

Shaggy John L. Lewis has lost much prestige the last two years because his Committee for Industrial Organization initiated the wave of sit-down strikes, also because many of C. I. O.'s most outspoken members were "radicals."

C. I. O. (now the Congress of Industrial Organization) has made at least two important bids for conservative support. First, the convention has adopted a resolution to preserve the sanctity of collective bargaining contracts.

employers. Second, C. I. O.'s much-publicized Harry Bridges, alien west coast labor leader, was figuratively bounced from the convention when he attempted to secure official endorsement of so-called "radical" political views.

Now permanently organized, C. I. O. has charted a finish fight with the older, more conservative American Federation of Labor.

White House

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings' retirement from the Roosevelt cabinet was not unexpected, for the 69-year-old Californian has often sought refuge from official Washington the past 12 months.

Agriculture

The 1938 farm program was not put into effect until many U. S. producers had their crops under way.

To elect 8 new senators, 81 house members and 13 new governors in the November elections, U. S. Republicans had to pile up a large total vote.

WHAT to EAT and WHY

Feed Adolescent Correctly or Tragic Consequences May Result, Warns C. Houston Goudiss; Teeth Must Receive Special Consideration

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

OFFHAND, it may seem as if there could be very little connection between a deficient diet during adolescence and painful childbirth in later years.

Adolescence is a difficult period at best. And if a girl takes an unbalanced diet at this time, the result may be an unstable nervous system, poor physical development, lowered vitality and inability to fight off infections.

It has also been established that if a girl is poorly nourished during these years of rapid development, there may not be the slightest indication of that fact until she first becomes an expectant mother.

Results of Calcium Deficiency If her diet has been deficient in calcium, for example, her pelvic bones may be imperfectly developed, so that she suffers unnecessarily during the birth of her child.

An Aid to Dental Health For although expectant mothers are not always aware of this important fact, it is true that the first or "baby" teeth are developed within the jaw during prenatal life, and the foundations for the second set are also laid at this time.

Unless the expectant mother's diet is very generously supplied with calcium, so as to allow adequate amounts for the baby's teeth and bones, nature will endeavor to meet the child's requirements by sacrificing calcium from the mother's own body.

Calcium-Rich Foods Required Leading nutrition authorities hold that the average American diet is more deficient in calcium, perhaps, than in any other single nutrient. This is especially likely to be the case in the diet of the adolescent. For at that time, boys develop prodigious appetites and a tremendous capacity for carbohydrates or energy-producing foods.

To balance the diet properly, these necessary protein and energy foods should be supplemented by milk and cheese which are rich in calcium; by green leafy vegetables which are also a good source; by eggs and fruits, valued for their minerals and vitamins; and by bulky foods which supply sufficient cellulose to help promote regular health habits.

Mothers of adolescent children should make a conscientious and determined effort to feed them a diet rich in calcium and vitamins A, C and D—the substances required, especially, for maintaining sound, healthy teeth. If milk and succulent fruits and vegetables figure prominently in the daily menus of the adolescent girl, they will go a long way toward helping to correct the "choosy" attitude toward food from which many older children suffer.

And if careful attention to diet is coupled with careful attention to sound hygienic habits, the health of our 'teen-age boys and girls will be greatly improved, and they will be more adequately prepared to assume the duties of parenthood.

Correct Dental Hygiene It is vitally important that the proper care be given to the teeth and mouth. But it is quite unlikely that a correct routine will be followed unless mothers offer tactful advice and suggestions very frequently.

Mothers must see to it that there are two toothbrushes, one for night and one for morning, so that it is never necessary to use a soggy brush. They must watch when the supply of tooth paste or powder runs low, and see that it is replaced.

If mothers will feed their adolescents a correct diet and supervise their daily dental care, the coming generation will not only be more attractive to look at but should enjoy more abundant health.

Dancing is healthy exercise, they say. So now it's a Big Apple keeps the doctor away.

- ★ Glamorous, the Order
- ★ Opera Cycle in Movies
- ★ Radio's Grand Old Man

—By Virginia Vale—

ANDREA LEEDS has given her studio press agents no end of trouble. They've tried to make her a glamour girl, and she doesn't want to be one.

"I'd rather get married," says she. "It lasts longer."

But orders were that she must be glamorous—and that she must take on some weight in order to do it in "The Last Frontier," in which she captivates Gary Cooper.

She gave in, and then stumbled while playing badminton and broke a bone in her right foot. That meant being in bed with her foot in a plaster cast for three weeks, she was told. But she went night clubbing, plaster cast and all—if a girl's going to be glamorous she has to be seen about town. And her earnest effort to acquire the reputation the studio had ordered got her nothing but a scolding.

Now we're to have an opera cycle in pictures. The San Francisco Grand Opera company has been selling out at all performances, so the motion picture companies got an inspiration and leaped right in. Metro starts the ball rolling with "Madame Pompadour," with a European importation, Meliza Korjus, starred. Two other studios will follow suit.

Probably the best one of the lot will be Walt Disney's "Farmyard Symphony," which will be kneaded in burlesques of operatic arias; it's being released practically at once.

Tom Brown's supposed to break his neck in "The Duke of West Point," and had to wear one of those braces around his neck for eight hours. (Eric von Stroheim wears one in "Grand Illusion," a foreign picture that goes down as one of the best of the year.) Afterward Brown's neck was so stiff that he thought he'd never be able to move it naturally again.

William Powell is going back to work in January, under a new contract recently signed with Metro. His first picture will be "The Return of the Thin Man," with Myrna Loy, of course. That "Thin Man" series threatens to become as lengthy as the Charlie Chan one.

If anyone were to offer a medal for "The Grand Old Man of Radio" Rudy Vallee would probably get it. Not that he's old, but he's done so much to develop good programs and has discovered so much talent that he deserves the title.

If you heard his tenth anniversary program you've already checked up on that. If you didn't, you can probably remember that the list of people he's developed as stars of the air includes a lot of famous folk, from Alice Faye to Charlie McCarthy.

But you may not have known that he is responsible for the modern type of guest program. Irene Bordoni was his first guest star. In 1922 his program developed into its present form. The salary list was low, and still is far below the sums paid for some similar programs which are outdistanced by his in the popularity ratings.

It takes the listeners-in to make Tommy Riggs appreciate his talents. First they made him what he is today with his "Betty Lou" voice, and now they've been writing to him to praise his very pleasant baritone voice and urge him to do more singing as himself on his program.

ODDS AND ENDS. . . Jimmy Walker, ex-mayor of New York, certainly started something when he began those weekly broadcasts from the city's hospitals; his many friends in the entertainment field clamor to work for him for nothing, he gives his own services, and the programs are swell. . . If you like pictures about doctors you certainly must see "The Citadel," which is one of the best. . . And be sure to see "The Young in Heart" . . . All the studios are making Westerns these days. . . James Cagney's contribution to the cycle is "Oklahoma Kid," and he's had to learn to shoot like a cowboy instead of a gangster. © Western Newspaper Union.

Annual Goober Derby Draws National Champs

Twenty-five national peanut-pushing champs rooted for honors in an Edenton, N. C., race, celebrating the opening of the largest Tar Heel market. Schnozzle snubbers of adhesive tape were invented to prevent wear and tear caused by friction. Best of the goober racers was James Small, 6 foot 5 inch high school student who won the race by a nose. The event, held yearly, draws huge crowds who cheer their favorite peanut pushers to the finish line.

Men at Work: Czechoslovakia and U. S.

Czech soldiers are now helping scores of farmers plow their fields. Here is one working in a field near Prague. During the crisis a widespread shortage of labor resulted in help from the army. Ray Gordon of St. Louis just missed joining another army—the army of the unemployed—when he was fired from a WPA road job. His fellow workers, who believed he had not been treated fairly, agreed to contribute a nickel a day each until he received the regular WPA wage of $56 a month. He provided the shovel himself.

Air-Raid Shelters Will Protect London

Workmen have completed one of the trenches dug on the grounds of the Imperial War museum in London during the war scare that preceded the Munich pact. Authorities will maintain the trenches as a permanent air-raid shelter in the event of future war. Safety measures of all kinds have been widely inaugurated throughout all of England as well as London.

Father and Son Attend College Together

Cecil (left) and Carrol Lowe, his son, are both students at McKendree college in Lebanon, Ill. The father, formerly a farmer and now a Methodist minister, had only a grammar school education in his youth. Desirous of further education, he began an eight-year high school correspondence course which he completed two years ago.

HEALTH

• Cancer, in early stages, now almost certainly cured by operation, radium, or X-rays.

By Dr. James W. Barton

AS YOU think of the research workers all over the world patiently trying to discover the cause of cancer, some working with elaborate equipment and others with nothing but a microscope, you may feel that until the cause has been discovered all cancer patients must die within a short time after the cancer has been discovered.

As a matter of fact, because the cause has not been discovered after the many years of search, other research workers—physicians, surgeons and X-ray specialists, roentgenologists—have been trying just as hard to find methods of curing cancer. That they have succeeded is one of the bright pages of medical history.

In many hospitals now, when a case is found to be cancer, there is a discussion by the staff as to which method of cure is best suited for this particular case.

The London letter from the regular correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association records the annual meeting of the Royal Cancer hospital, London, in which Dr. Cecil Rowntree, senior surgeon, stated that the hospital was now supplied with the latest and most efficient apparatus that it was possible to wish for.

Best Methods of Treatment.

"We have now learned the best ways of dealing with the widely different types of cancer. We now know which are the types of cancer best treated by surgical operation. We know that in other forms, such as cancer of the tongue, mouth and throat, we can confidently expect such results from radium treatment as have never been equaled or even approached by any other form of treatment, and with a certain type of X-ray machine we are constantly and consistently curing such diseases as cancer of the lip and face and cancer of the skin with such certainty, simplicity and safety as has never been experienced before. In fact, give us a case of cancer in any of these situations in a reasonably early stage and we will now guarantee its complete and speedy disappearance."

The thought then is that in a reasonably early stage any type of cancer can be cured by operation, radium or X-rays.

Difference in Common and Allergic Colds

Perhaps you are afflicted with frequent colds but you notice that while some of these colds seem to last only two or three days and remain up in the head, others last for a week or more, and you cough and get up much mucus. If such be the case it is possible that the light cold or "head" cold is not really a genuine cold, or cold due to infection, the symptom being due to some substance—pollen of plants, house dust, or some chemical irritant. Dr. Louis Tuft in his book "Clinical Allergy" states: "Colds are not acute infective colds—coryza or the common cold—unless they begin with an irritation in the nose—generally malaise—prostration; discharge from the nose, at first a thin mucus, the later becoming like pus; and fever."

"Colds beginning with sneezing, followed by a 'watery' discharge from the nose, obstruction of the nose, perhaps a cough, with no fever, are more likely to be allergic rhinitis—due to allergy or sensitivity to various substances—possibly associated with asthma."

Allergic Symptoms.

A description of this allergic running nose, asthmatic type of cold due to sensitivity to substances should help us to distinguish between it and the true or genuine common cold.

"If sneezing is followed by nasal obstruction (nose blocked), watery discharge from the nose, shortness of breath, wheezing and cough, the condition is more likely to be a specific allergic type of asthma, than if there is cough, expectoration from the throat and bronchial tubes, followed by wheezing which is more likely to be due to organisms causing the common cold.

"The type of the attack of this allergic or sensitivity type of asthmatic cold is important. If it occurs at night there may be something in the bedroom causing the symptoms; whereas, if the attack occurs shortly after a meal, food allergy or sensitivity to foods should be suspected."

The thought then is that the genuine common cold may begin with nose irritation, just as the "allergic" cold, but the common cold "puts you down," prostrates you, the discharge from the nose is thick, there is cough and expectoration; there is a rise in the temperature.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

THERE is an amusing story about the mittens and scarf shown here. They were not hand knitted. They were purchased rather hurriedly and sent to a young miss who was away at school. She had wanted something rather gay and a bit foreign looking to wear for skating and these were perfectly plain and pretty drab. Looking about, she found the Swedish cross-stitch design shown here and copied it in all its gay colors on the ends of the scarf and backs of the mittens.

Hand knitted mittens and other knitted things in plain colors may also be decorated with this pattern.

flower pattern. Start at the upper right corner of the large flower and make the cross stitches as at A and B. This flower is a brilliant red, the small flowers bright blue and the stems jade green.

NOTE—Mrs. Spears' Sewing Book 2—Gifts, Novelties and Embroidery—has helped thousands of women to use odds and ends of materials and their spare time to make things to sell and to use for gifts and church bazaars. If your home is your hobby you will also want Book 1—SEWING for the Home Decorator. Order by number enclosing 25 cents for each book. If you order both books, a leaflet on crazypatch quilts with 36 authentic stitches will be included free. Address Mrs. Spears, 210 S. Desplains St., Chicago, Ill.

CHECK YOURSELF FOR THESE COMMON SIGNS OF ACID INDIGESTION

- Heartburn
- Sour Stomach
- Nausea
- Acid Headache
- No Appetite
- "Gas"
- Tired Feeling in Morning
- "Logginess"

• If You Have Any of These Symptoms — and Suspect Acid Indigestion as the Cause — "Alkalize" the Quick, Easy "Phillips" Way. If the Trouble Persists — See your Doctor.

Now there is a way to relieve "acid indigestion" — with almost incredible speed. You simply take 2 teaspoonsful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia 30 minutes after meals. OR — take 2 Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets, the exact equivalent.

Results are amazing. Often you get relief in a few minutes. Nausea and upset distress disappear. It produces no gas to embarrass you and offend others.

Try it—Get liquid Phillips' Milk of Magnesia for home use and a box of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets to carry with you.

This is the vitamin that raises the resistance of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat to cold infections.

A Trade Mark Is an Honor Badge and Newspaper Advertising the Sentinel

Substitutes today are the illegitimate children of business. They are fatherless and unknown and they come to the consumer with a "Just as good" label on them which indicates clearly to the thinking buyer that she is buying something which is only "Just as good." The unknown product, the substitute parasite, has no reputation at stake. It is merely advertised for sale on a price basis and if the consumer does not like the quality, the manufacturer has suffered no injury because he is unknown and because he rarely links his name with a product as a standard of quality and a measuring stick of buying. It merely competes on a "take a chance" basis.

The manufacturers of well-known quality merchandise today place their names upon it and advertise it as the best they can offer to the consumer. The name of a manufacturer on an advertised product says this: This is the best product I know how to make. It is pure, good and worthy of your purchase. I think so well of it that I place my name upon it as a guarantee to you of its goodness. If it does not fulfill your wants I will gladly make good its failure.

There is no good reason why you should accept the unknown instead of the known; the untried instead of the tested; the doubtful instead of the sure. To refuse unknown substitutes is a guarantee to yourself of positive satisfaction in buying. If every purchaser will confine his or her purchases to known, advertised quality merchandise there will be little cause for complaint. Trade mark products tell their own story. It pays to look before you buy. Reading the advertisements in the newspaper, looking at trade marks, labels and names on products has purchase interest.

Issued First Timetables
In 1839 in England, George Bradshaw, an engraver and printer, published the country's first timetables, in the face of much opposition from the indignant railroad companies. Informing the public when trains were supposed to arrive and depart, says Collier's Weekly, they feared, would "make punctuality a sort of obligation."

Children as Guests
Of a certain reformer, it has been beautifully said: "He regarded little children as little guests in the world, to be welcomed with gentle courtesy and tenderness, to be offered knowledge and love, and charmed with song and flowers, so that they might be glad and proud to have come into a world which gives them happiness and only asks of them goodness."

Forgiving One Another
Forgiveness of injuries is a God-given grace. It is the most reluctant act that human nature ever performs. In the deepest condition of moral degradation there is no such thing as forgiveness of injuries thought about. So destitute is mankind of the spirit of forgiveness of injuries that heathen religions taught the right of revenging an injury, but not of forgiving one. In view of this, we say, the spirit of forgiving injuries is God-given. The Bible is the one book which from beginning to end advocates forgiveness.

"Sweetest Story Ever Told"

In 1894 Robert Morrison Stults resigned as musical instructor in the Long Branch, N. J., high school and moved to Baltimore, Md., where he opened a piano and sheet music business. For some time he had been obsessed with the idea of writing a popular sentimental ballad. Mira Mirella, a comic opera star, was in search of such a song and Stults promised to write one for her. Going home one evening his wife, who had been reading "The Birds' Christmas Carol," remarked, "Well, that's the sweetest story ever!" He immediately supplied the word "told" and in two hours the song was finished.

NEW ELECTRIC RATE BETTER THAN "WHOLESALE"

I'LL USE A CRATE OF EGGS THIS MONTH--CAN I HAVE A WHOLESALE PRICE?

OK IF YOU BUY THEM ALL AT ONCE NOW!

Your Home Electric Service Goes the Wholesale Idea One Better

Suppose you use, during the month, as much as a crate of eggs. That might rate you a wholesale price-- BUT--not the way you buy, a dozen or two at a time. If you bought the whole crate at once, yes--but how would your eggs be at the month end!

Now with electricity it's different. Buy it any way you like during the month. A little today--a lot tomorrow--you don't have to buy in advance to get the "wholesale" benefits. And when you buy eggs, you get just eggs. But you can do anything you want with your current--from lighting the house to keeping food fresh; from doing the washing to tuning in Charlie McCarthy.

And at the end of the month--it's added up--and you get the benefits. The more you used, the better the "wholesale" idea works for you--and the cheaper the price.

Put this CHEAPER ELECTRICITY to work for you--enjoy more home comfort and convenience, it costs so few cents a day.

Red Cross Nurses Aid Million Sick

Red Cross public health nurses made more than one million visits to or on behalf of the sick during the fiscal year 1937-38.

The patients live in mountain communities, on islands off the coast, in isolated swamp regions, and in crowded industrial sections. During the same period the nurses inspected 559,187 school children for health defects in cooperation with local physicians, and gave instructions in home hygiene and care of the sick to 58,754 mothers and young girls.

Red Cross Volunteers Assist War Veterans

Red Cross workers in chapters, in hospitals and on posts of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, and Marine Corps, assisted 122,355 active service men or veterans or their families during the past 12 months.

Red Cross service to these men included such personal help as letter writing, shopping and recreational leadership, but it also included financial assistance to their dependents, help in locating missing members of their families, and assistance in filing necessary applications for pensions, disability pay, hospitalization, or for discharge from active service because of home needs.

The average number of men assisted by Red Cross workers each month was 18,790, according to a recent report.

Red Cross Seeks Cut In Accident Toll

1,725,406 First Aiders Trained Since 1910

Cognizant of tremendous losses in human lives and of permanent injuries resulting from accidents in homes, on farms and highways, and around industrial plants as well as in the basement workshop, officials of the American Red Cross have been directing a systematic fight against what they term "this economic waste."

As part of this nation-wide effort to reduce deaths and permanent injuries from accidents, a recent statement from Red Cross headquarters in Washington reports that during the past 12 months certificates have been granted to 295,028 persons completing courses in the administration of Red Cross first aid.

Holders of these certificates have followed detailed courses of study and have been taught how to splint fractured limbs, stop flow of blood, treat poison sufferers, care for victims of heat, electric shock, and handle other common emergency situations. The courses emphasize methods of caring for patients until professional medical aid can be summoned to scenes of accidents.

Since 1910, the report reveals, 1,725,406 persons have received this training from qualified Red Cross instructors, and at the present time 20,429 persons are qualified to give such instruction.

Bringing help nearer scenes of possible accident, 2,454 emergency first aid stations have been established in strategic locations on principal highways throughout the nation, operators of the stations receiving the prescribed Red Cross instructions and maintaining full first aid equipment on the spot. Conveniently placed, they also maintain up-to-date lists of available doctors and ambulance services pledged in advance to cooperate with Red Cross first aiders in preventing deaths and permanent injuries that so frequently result from automobile accidents.

Mobile first aid units also have been established in cooperation with state highway and police departments, operators of public utility vehicles and others frequenting highways, operators of such units also receiving the prescribed Red Cross courses in first aid.

To cut the number of persons losing their lives through drowning while swimming, the Red Cross has redoubled efforts to train as many persons as possible in life saving methods. During the past year 88,150 persons received certificates upon completion of courses. Since 1914, 884,649 persons have been trained in Red Cross life saving methods, including thousands of persons in CCC camps, beach patrol men, camp instructors, and school boys and girls.

Carrying the fight onto farms and into homes, a campaign to eliminate accidents caused by careless habits and faulty equipment last year resulted in self-checks being made in 10,000,000 American homes through cooperation of children in school, women's clubs, farm organizations, and other groups. The 3,700 Red Cross chapters and their branches in every county are cooperating in this national effort to end needless pain and suffering resulting from such accidents.

These efforts to lessen such appalling tolls of human lives and usefulness are made possible through memberships in the Red Cross. The annual Roll Call will be held between November 11 and Thanksgiving Day, when all Americans are asked to join or renew their affiliation to ensure continuation of accident prevention measures.

Join the Red Cross Chapter in your community during the Roll Call, November 11 to 24.

James McKeen, who has been ill the past three weeks was taken to Mercy Hospital, Bay City, Saturday afternoon, where he will be under observation. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Lawrence Schaum, of Flint, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dorsey.

Mrs. Gilbert Dorsey was hostess to the 500 Club Friday afternoon. Those attending high score included Miss Alta Dorsey, Miss Nellie Streeter and Mrs. Peggy Brandall. Dainty refreshments followed the games.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rahl and sons, of Turner, spent Sunday in the village visiting relatives.

Mrs. Laura Fleming and Mrs. Peggy Brandall were business in Tawas one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell McKeen and Mrs. James Lansing are spending two weeks with relatives at Long Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison were business visitors in Bay City Monday.

Chet Zbisko, of Grand Rapids, is a guest at the Elmer Streeter home over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Mrs. Louie Williams and two children have been quite ill with measles, the former having contracted pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Bissonette, of Lansing, are spending two weeks at Cooke Dam and enjoying the hunting there. Mrs. Bissonette was fortunate enough to fill her license Saturday.

Mr. Rapelle sold his cheese factory to Mr. Wagner, of Wisconsin. Mr. Rapelle plans on a trip to the Pacific Coast in the near future.

Several school children are entertaining measles and chicken pox this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oetjens are visiting her daughter in Peoria, Illinois. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Murray are looking after the farm in their absence.

Mrs. Arnold Bronson entertained the Bridge Club Thursday evening. Mrs. Olive Pearsall won first prize, and Mrs. Howard Atkinson second prize.

Anna Kelly is confined to her home with a broken ankle. The accident occurred last Friday morning while she was doing chores. Miss Kelly managed to crawl to the house and telephone for aid, and was taken to Tawas to have the bone set. Her aged mother, Mrs. Rose Kelly, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, is able to sit up for a short time each day. Mrs. Nellie Jennings is caring for them.

Miss Quinn is holding revival meetings at the M. E. Church the next two weeks.

A great many deer are passing through town this season. Some of the lucky hunters are Ed Teal, David Bernard, Ellsworth Bernard, Ed Tottingham, Dale Johnson, Ed Kocher, Carl Adams, Charles Kocher, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Thayer, Charles Pollette, Basil Humphrey, Frank Slosser and Earl Slosser.

Mrs. Lewis Williams is seriously ill with measles and pneumonia, her three children are also ill with measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rollin have moved into the Armstrong house.

David Bernard was the first from Hale to report with his buck on opening morning of the season, and on the third morning his son, Ellsworth, who enjoyed his 14th birthday the opening day of season, bagged a nice four point buck with his new 32 special Winchester rifle which he received as his birthday present.

The November meeting of the P. T. A. was held at the school house Thursday evening. The meeting was opened with congregational singing of America followed by prayer by Robert Buck. The membership committee reported five new members making a total of 39. Mr. Rollin read a short article, and the grammar and intermediate rooms under Mr. Feldman's direction, gave a group of tableaux, and readings appropriate to the season. Mr. Creaser, of East Tawas, was the main speaker of the evening. The refreshment committee served pumpkin pie and coffee.

CHAPTER VII

Sunday afternoon, the day after the funeral, Falkran came to see Mrs. SENTRY, to remind her that the trial would begin next morning. And he said: "You will of course be in the courtroom every day. I had better tell you what to expect, so that you may show no emotion. The jury will be watching you."

"I shall show no emotion!" He hesitated. "We ought to discuss," he suggested then, "what you will wear. What is your opinion? Will you be in mourning for Mr. SENTRY's mother? That might be effective."

"I think not," she replied. "I dislike—pose. I should not normally wear mourning for Mr. SENTRY's mother."

"Perhaps not," he agreed, faintly disappointed. "But—some quite simple dress. And no jewelry?"

She smiled mirthlessly. "No jewelry," she assented. He said: "Mrs. SENTRY, to succeed before a jury requires a careful handling of intangibles. I shall not ask of you very many questions, but my hope is that the State on cross-examination will adopt toward you such a tone that the jury's sympathies will turn in your direction."

He confessed, "I even hope that you and Miss SENTRY may actually break down, on the stand."

Mrs. SENTRY was silent for a moment. "I shan't break down," she said. "I shouldn't know how. But Barbara—she's really so young, and—she hasn't seemed to me well lately. Is it absolutely necessary?"

She added, "We haven't let her go to the jail, you know."

"Quite right," he agreed. "You were right not to subject a sheltered, lovely girl to the ordeal of entering those surroundings. But a courtroom is not so bad. And he conceded, "She need not be there till the jury has been selected; but after that, yes."

He added, watching her warily, "And if she comes face to face with him in the courtroom, no one will be surprised to see her kiss her father, cling to him, perhaps burst into tears—"

Mrs. SENTRY said quietly, "I should be surprised. We are not a demonstrative family."

After he was gone, though he had insisted on the necessity of Barbara's appearance in court, she hesitated to tell the girl. When at last she did so, Barbara tried to speak. She swallowed hard, cried, "No! I won't, mother!"

She seemed to be hoarse; Mrs. SENTRY asked, "Are you catching cold?"

"Yes," Barbara said eagerly. "Yes, my throat is sore."

"You'd better go to bed. A cold compress will fix that throat of yours; and some hot lemonade—"

Barbara came quick to her feet. "Yes, yes," she agreed. "I think I'm going to be sick! I feel sick, mother, awfully!"

Mrs. SENTRY touched her forehead. "You've no temperature," she said. "It will clear up by morning."

But in the morning Barbara was unable to speak at all, and Doctor Maitoin found that she had two or three degrees of fever. "A day or two in bed, and drink lots of water," he prescribed. Downstairs afterward, with Mrs. SENTRY, he spoke reassuringly. "Her throat is normal," he said. "No inflammation. I suspect it's excitement, nervous strain."

"But people don't run a fever unless they're sick!" Doctor Maitoin smiled faintly. "Our small daughter runs a fever whenever Mrs. Maitoin is away from home overnight. A temperature above normal may be a symptom of mental or spiritual as well as of physical illness. Just keep her in bed, don't argue with her—"

So Barbara in the morning stayed abed, with Nellie in solicitous attendance. Some time after Phil and Mrs. SENTRY had left for the courtroom, for the opening of the trial, Dan FISHER appeared, laughed Nellie out of her objections, came up to see Barbara propped in pillows. Her eyes lighted when she saw him. "Hullo, Barb," he said. "Phil told me you were under the weather. They'll be all day getting a jury, so I thought I'd run out and see you. Feel pretty rocky?" Her lips moved, but no intelligible sound emerged. "What's that?" he asked. She shaped, elaborately, the words, "I can't talk!" He echoed, "Can't talk?" And she nodded in violent assent, and he said: "Why not? Lost your voice?" She nodded again, and he said heartily: "Why, that's fine! You know what I'd do if I were you? I shouldn't find it for a while. Let the darned thing stay lost!" He sat down on the edge of her bed, touched her hand. "And if it comes back," he advised with a chuckle, "try to manage a little appendix, or some gall stones. Or maybe break a leg!"

She smiled faintly and pressed his hand; and he said more seriously: "But don't get too sick, Barb! This—your father—is one of those things that might happen to anyone. It has happened to you, see—"

ting around that. But you're going to go on living just the same, afterward; and living's fun! Life's fun, if you know enough to let it be. And—this will all be behind you, by and by."

She spoke, clearly, in normal tones. "Honest, Dan?" He was surprised. "Hullo, cured already?"

Her color drained away; her lips moved, but no sound came. He said regretfully: "Say, you're tired, I'm bothering you. I'll run along."

But she held his hand, would not let him go. "Want me to stay?" he asked. She nodded; and he sat down again, and talked on at random, cheerfully, and once or twice she smiled and her lids drooped till they closed.

A little later her fingers relaxed their grip, and he eased his hand free and stood up, and for a moment looked down at her, sleeping. His eyes dimmed; he brushed them with his hand, whispered something gently. Then his fist clenched hard till the knuckles were white. He

This daily attendance at the trial of your husband for murder was like being hypnotized! You were immune to emotion; you sat bolt upright in a straight chair, with your eyes wide open and your face expressionless, and people hurt you in many ingenious ways, but you felt no pain. She wondered whether she would be black and blue tomorrow, through all the tomorrows, as she had been the next day after that other occasion so long ago. But meanwhile it was a boon to feel no pain. Not even when they showed the dead girl's coat with the small blackened hole in it where the revolver muzzle had been pressed when it was fired. Not even when they showed the weapon itself, and Phil—poor Phil, so white and brave—had to testify that someone had taken it from his room at home. Then there was a man who testified about something mysterious called "lands," and said that a certain bullet had surely come from this gun. And a hotel clerk from some New Jersey mountain resort session, Mrs. Loran stopped them, volubly explaining: "Of course I know you don't want to stand here with people staring, but I thought you'd like news from Mary. Jimmy's here in town, but naturally Mary didn't come. She's staying on at Palm Beach and Jimmy's going back in two weeks." She was watching Mrs. SENTRY. "Jimmy says Mary's wonderful, so gay, dancing, playing around; says you'd never think she had—anything on her mind."

And when Mrs. SENTRY could not speak, she added maliciously: "I told Jimmy he should have stayed there to keep her company, but he said she has all the masculine company she can handle. A different man for every hour of the day or night if she wants them. Of course she always was so beautiful!"

Dan FISHER came up quietly behind her. He said casually: "Hullo, Mrs. Loran. I'm Fisher, of the Herald. Is it true Mr. Loran's thinking of buying a ticket to Reno?" She stared at him furiously and whirled away, and he said: "Phil, you need a guardian! Don't let women like that stick pins in your mother."

Mrs. SENTRY nodded gratefully. Dan had been throughout the trial a source of strength, managing somehow to reduce all this to the level of an everyday human experience, making them realize that others, all over the world, had been from time to time pilloried as they were pilloried here. Mrs. SENTRY assured herself that this was small comfort; yet it was comfort just the same, making her feel not so completely alone. She admitted to Phil on the way home one day, "You know, I begin to like Dan Fisher."

"Sure," Phil assented. "Dan's a good scout."

She asked: "What does he think, Phil? About the trial?" "Why, he said today that unless the State proves father was down there that night, their case won't hang together."

She looked at him in quick, springing hope. Arthur's guilt seemed to her so certain that she could not believe anyone else might doubt it. She protested: "But all that about the key, and the bullet, and the gun, and—that the New Jersey hotel man said—"

"I know," he assented. "But Dan says that isn't enough, just—suggesting motive and premeditation and all that isn't enough—unless they can prove that father was down there that night, between eleven and twelve."

"But he wasn't!" she cried, for a moment almost believing her own words. "He was at home at quarter past eleven."

Phil, about to speak, hesitated, then held his tongue. Let his mother cling to this straw if she could. "Sure," he agreed. "So he couldn't have been down there—"

But next day listening with dull ears, and as though from a very great distance, Mrs. SENTRY heard Professor BRACE testify that on the night of the murder he was driving Barbara home from the North Shore. Questions and answers struck her like dull blows. "Did you come through the city?" "Yes."

"How did you cross the Harbor?" "Through the Tunnel."

"Do you know the location of SENTRY and LORAN's place of business?" "Yes."

"How far is it from the city end of the Tunnel?" "A few blocks."

"If you were driving from their place of business to the SENTRY home, what route would you take?" "Past the mouth of the Tunnel, down to the station, out along the river."

"I Think I'm Going to be Sick! I Feel Sick, Mother, Awfully."

shook this clenched fist at nothing, at the house perhaps, at the tragic silence all around the lovely, sleeping girl. Afterward, he went quietly away.

Phil, sitting beside his mother in the courtroom, on the fourth day of the trial—Barbara was still abed at home—heard Mrs. SENTRY sigh deeply as though with relief, and leaned to whisper, "What is it?"

"I just remembered something."

"What?" She shook her head for silence, for attention to the witness just then on the stand. The witness happened to be Miss RANDALL, office manager for SENTRY and LORAN; and she was testifying that after Miss WINES' actual employment by the firm was ended, the girl came several times to the office, and on one occasion was for a few minutes alone with Mrs. SENTRY. Mrs. SENTRY, after that relieved sigh which had caught Phil's attention, heard Mr. FLOOD's question.

"Whether you saw Miss WINES after she talked with Mr. SENTRY?" "Yes."

"Did you observe anything about her condition?" "She was crying desperately."

District Attorney FLOOD surrendered the witness; and Falkran rose.

"Now, Miss RANDALL," he said, in that confident and friendly tone which was so effective with the jury, "you say Miss WINES came to the office on more than one occasion, after her work there was finished?"

"Yes."

"Did she see Mr. SENTRY on any other occasion than this one of which you have just spoken?" "No, she never asked to see him."

"Was Mr. LORAN in his office on the occasions of her visits?" "No, never."

"How can you be so sure?" "Because she always asked for Mr. LORAN."

"But if she always asked for Mr. LORAN, why did she finally see Mr. SENTRY?" "She seemed so anxious to see someone, I suggested that she see him."

"Did she quickly agree?" "No, I persuaded her."

Mud of Bentonite Clay Most Versatile Product; Has Medicinal and Other Uses

About the most versatile mud in the world is that made by mixing bentonite clay with water. The solid factor in this mud may have been used in a soap mixture to make your wineglass sparkle, and is often used to settle the wine which fills the glass, says Technology Review. Then, if dinner has disagreed with you, and your inward activities have to be X-rayed, bentonite may be used as a vehicle to carry through your alimentary system the barium sulphate which will be photographed.

Unconsciously following the precept of the Indians, who used bentonite as a soap, the beauty addict may have her face packed with a clay in which bentonite is an important element, and then may treat a blemish with salve that bentonite has thickened.

Bentonite derives its name from the Fort Benton shales of the upper Missouri valley. Product of the weathering of volcanic glass, it appears in minute percentages in all soils and is found also in large deposits, of which several are in the United States.

At an extreme from these personal uses of the obliging mud are mechanical, industrial, and agricul-

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for November 27

HONESTY IN ALL THINGS

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:15; Matthew 19:1-10; 45, 46. GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not steal.—Exodus 20:15.

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and compiled by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

Honesty in all things would seem to be what one should have a right to expect without question. As a matter of fact, dishonesty has become so common wherever man is found that people look on the person who is strictly honest as a peculiar individual. Try reporting an undercharge (everyone complains about an overcharge) or returning excess change, and you will see how unexpected honesty really is today. Under such circumstances the Christian needs to be vigilant lest he also accommodate his own ideas of honesty and begin to justify little evasions rather than being absolutely upright.

I. Honesty Respects Property Rights (Exod. 20:15).

The very commandment against stealing implies that men have a right to that which they have made, earned, or saved. If no one had property rights there could be no stealing. Some of our modernisms reason along that line, but their reasoning is clearly not biblical or Christian.

"Thou shalt not steal" forbids every kind of theft. It includes robbery, burglary, safe-cracking, housebreaking; but it covers far more than those obvious wrongs. It refers to such things as looting on one's job, "borrowing" money from the cash drawer, taking goods from the stock with which one is working, stealing another man's sermon and preaching it as one's own, "lifting" material out of another man's book without credit, contracting debts which one can never pay, using false weights and measures, adulterating food or other material, "watering" milk for sale, selling worthless stock, dodging taxes or lying to the tax assessor, using a slug instead of a nickel in the telephone to escape proper payment.

It really means something to be honest, and it is a great testimony to the unregenerate world.

II. Honesty Restores Stolen Goods (Luke 19:1-10).

The story of the conversion of the despised Jewish tax collector Zacchaeus has many interesting features, but for our lesson we stress but one, namely, that the reality of his conversion was demonstrated by his honesty in restoring that which he had obtained unjustly, and that in fourfold measure.

Insofar as it is possible to do so, the honest person will make right any known injustice. To be right with God must mean that we are to be right with men. The testimony of many Christians could be presented to show that they have only entered upon real peace and usefulness as they have made consistent effort to right every wrong, to pay every debt. Often such actions open opportunities for Christian testimony and point others to the redemption in Christ, which makes a man live right as well as talk right.

III. Honesty Resents Crookedness (Luke 19:45, 46).

In sharp contrast to the prompt restitution by Zacchaeus, the converted publican, was the stubborn disobedience and dishonesty of the priests in the temple. Jesus had already cleansed the temple of the traffic in money-changing and the sale of animals for sacrifice practiced there (see John 2:13-17). On that occasion He rebuked them because they made His Father's house "a house of merchandise." Had they known the change of heart of a converted Zacchaeus they would have heeded His admonition. But they did not believe in Christ and went on with their ungodly desecration of the temple area until it became "a den of thieves" (v. 46). The Lesson Commentary of the United Lutheran Church makes an unusually apt application of the truth to "the goings on in our own churches" in the following paragraph. Read it, ponder it, pray about it, then act, if it describes your church.

"Is a church honest when it assumes obligations that it cannot meet, and is then forced to use all sorts of questionable means to raise money for the benefit of the church? Is a church honest when it turns a building consecrated to the worship of God into a restaurant or a theater, regardless of whether it is done to make money for the church or to attract people who are more interested in eating and drinking or playing than in the preaching of the Word and the worship of God? Is a church honest that turns its pulpit into a lecture platform for the discussion of current events or the review of popular books or plays while the world is destroying itself because it does not know the time of its visitation? The answer is that the church is dishonest when it permits any such things, because it robs God of the honor and glory due to Him, and it robs people of their chance of salvation by giving them stones when they need the bread of life."

Crochet This Set and Tot Will Be Delighted

Pattern 6224

She'll be proud as a peacock to wear this set so why not delight her with it? Made of sport yarn, it's mainly single crochet (which gives it a firm body) with picots for decoration. The muff is a combined purse and muff—very grown-up and stylish! Pattern 6224 contains instructions for making the set shown; illustrations of it and of stitches used; materials required.

To obtain this pattern, send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) to the Sewing Circle, Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th St., New York, N. Y.

Please write your name, address and pattern number plainly.

MUSCULAR RHEUMATIC PAINS-ACHES

It takes more than "just a salve" to bring speedy relief. It takes a "counter-irritant" like good old soothing, warming Musterole to penetrate the surface skin and help to quickly relieve the painful local congestion and aches due to colds. Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness generally yield promptly. Better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Musterole has been used for millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. In three strengths: Regular, Children's (mild) and Extra Strong, 40¢. All druggists.

A fit of anger is as fatal to dignity as a dose of arsenic is to life.—Holland.

Beware Coughs That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Hard-Hearted New York: Hungry men looking into the windows of restaurants . . . Blind musicians picking their way carefully through indifferent crowds . . . The Bowery with its scores of human derelicts . . . Clusters of woebegone would-be workers clotted before employment agency "help wanted" cards . . . Mongrel dogs digging in vacant lots for non-existent bones . . . Beggars eking out a miserable existence . . . The human flotsam of the city—drunkards, drug addicts, imbeciles and morons mingling with street crowds . . . Pale, ill-fed tenement children playing in the streets.

Soft-Hearted New York: A policeman halting a stream of Park avenue traffic so a puppy can cross in safety . . . A taxi driver turning up his radio so passersby can hear race results . . . A bakery giving its day-old bread to the hungry . . . A trolley car stopping in the middle of the block to pick up a crippled, old woman . . . A pneumatic drill operator working on a new building stopping work so his buddy can hear the telephone . . . A young girl stooping to tie the shoelace of a blind chewing gum peddler.

Finale: Four men at Sixth avenue and Forty-ninth street singing the quartet from "Rigoletto" . . . A Roxy doorman reading the captions on lobby displays to a man and woman obviously foreign . . . In the RCA building, a swarthy man with a turban on his head inquiring at the information office for the mayor of Radio City . . . A man standing on a parapet 12 floors up making repairs on a Broadway building . . . Below a candid camera fiend waiting . . . on the chance that he'll fall. (Thanks to Benay Venuta.)

Fossil of Pod Seems to Be Linked With Coal Age
ST. LOUIS.—A fossilized seed pod, believed to be a connecting link between the fernlike plants of the coal age and the present day flowering plants, has been discovered by Henry Andrews, botany instructor at Washington university, in oil shales near Edinburgh, Scotland.

The fossil, one of about 2,500 found by Andrews while doing research work last summer for the Belgian-American Educational foundation, is about 400,000,000 years old, according to Andrews. The find has been added to the botany collection at the university.
The fossilized seed pod is tulip-shaped, black in color and about 2½ inches long. A species of coal age plant life which preceded the relatively sudden later appearance of the flowering plants, its discovery is considered of some importance since such finds of evolutionary links between the two type plants are exceedingly rare, Andrews pointed out.

Lost Shirt Back Of Cotton Roads

Farmer's Faded Garment Accidentally Brought Fabric Into Use.

MEMPHIS.—A farmer lost his shirt. Perhaps it will help others to regain theirs, for the lost garment resulted in discovery of a new use for cotton.

Shortly after the faded blue shirt was lost on a highway, the cotton road came into existence. The shirt was covered with asphalt when the road was repaved.

Then came torrential rains and the road was washed away—all except the part in which the farmer's shirt had been buried.

Engineers reasoned that more shirts—or something else made of cotton—might produce a better longer-lasting road if laid under an asphalt or tar bed.

First Tested Near Memphis.
An experimental road to try it out was built near Memphis. Today road builders throughout the nation are following the test with interest, as is the cotton industry, and beginning experiments of its own.

Although still in the experimental stage, these smooth black highways made from snow-white boils of fluffy cotton plucked in fields of Dixie promise to use a large part of future crops.

The road near Memphis was laid in September, 1937, and it appears to have passed the time test. Each day the road is traversed by automobiles, trucks and wagons, and drivers say the three-tenths of a mile strip of cotton pavement is the best of the entire road.

Cotton roads have proved less expensive to lay than concrete or asphalt, and it is believed that the upkeep will continue to be less. However, more time is required to prove this.

The federal government now is furnishing cotton fabric for experimental roads in more than a score of states.

Vast Outlet Seen.
Experts say the United States has 2,000,000 miles of unimproved dirt roads, 900,000 of which would warrant a bituminous surfacing employing cotton, with a possible consumption of 13,000,000 bales. Roads resurfaced annually could utilize 400,000 bales.
In building a cotton road, a foundation is laid, then sprayed with a coat of asphalt or tar. This seeps through the foundation to dry and harden. Huge rolls of loosely woven cotton cloth then are laid on the foundation and "nailed" down. A second coat of asphalt or tar then is sprayed on the road to bind the cotton to its base. This is covered with a layer of fine gravel, then rolled.

Experiments are proving that this single layer of cloth will help to make a better road. Not only does the cotton reinforcement strengthen the surface mat, but it develops into a water-resistant skin which keeps the foundation free from moisture, eliminating the most common cause of road failure.

Cotton fabric gives necessary strength to road edges—usually the weakest point of a highway.

45 Million Persons in U. S. Are Short of Books

WASHINGTON.—Although 77 per cent of all books read in the United States in the course of a year come from public, school, or rental libraries, 45,000,000 Americans are without any type of library service, according to Carleton B. Joeckel, of the University of Chicago.

Joeckel's study was published here by the advisory committee on education.

Joeckel found that the rural section of the country suffers most heavily from lack of access to book facilities, since, of the 45,000,000 Americans deprived of libraries, 40,000,000 are classified as engaged in agricultural pursuits. This constitutes three-quarters of the farming population of the United States.

"The book resources of this country are at least as unevenly distributed as its economic resources," writes Joeckel. In support of his statement he points to the fact that the entire population of Massachusetts has access to public libraries, while the number of similarly privileged people in West Virginia is only 12 per cent of the total population.

Intoxication Produced By External Method

HOUSTON, TEXAS.—External application of alcohol can intoxicate a person, Supt. J. H. Stephenson of the Jefferson Davis hospital has proved to his amazed staff.

Stephenson and his workers investigated the case of a woman who became intoxicated after four pints of 70 per cent alcohol was applied to a wound on her thigh over a 36-hour period.

An analysis showed 260 millimeters of alcohol in 100 centimeters of her blood and 180 millimeters in the spinal fluid. The average ratio for intoxication is 100 millimeters of alcohol to the 100 centimeters of blood.

School Notes

HIGH SCHOOL

The English II class is studying inhomonyms. A game "eakettle" was played in connection with the study of this work.

The Latin I class is studying the demonstratives "this" and "that." Prefixes in Latin and resulting changes in spelling are also being studied.

In English IV the students are working on unit IV in the guide which deals with the rise of the reign of form in English literature after Milton.

The tournament in Typing II class is getting results. Both speed and accuracy on the average are improving. The winners for the games this week are John Katterman, Fidalis Groff, Violet Carroll, Eugene Wegner and Norma Musolf. Team two gained the greater number of points. Team one has the highest number of points in the contest to date. John Katterman has the leading record both in this week's games and the whole contest.

In the newspaper race in Typing I, the Independent Student is leaving the Class Leader pretty far in the rear. They lead by 9 points. As the record stands now, Dorothy Blust, is the only ace reporter. However spee ial honors go to Arnold Rollin, Laverne Koepke, Vernon Blust and Otto Ross, who qualify for By-lines because of perfect reports. There have been some promotions and demotions.

School was closed Thursday and Friday this week for the Thanksgiving vacation.

The American history class has been doing some assigned readings from "The Journal of the Constitutional Convention" by James Madison. Mr. Madison was a member of this great convention which met in Philadelphia in 1789. He took notes during the day and then carefully wrote them up at night. His writings are the only source of a detailed account of the daily events of the meeting. The manuscripts were purchased from Mrs. Madison in 1837 by the United States government for thirty thousand dollars and published.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

The annual sale of the Christmas Seal of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association will again be conducted this year by the local public schools. The sale will begin on Monday following Thanksgiving and close two weeks from that date. This is the only source of income for the Association. Two hundred people die daily from tuberculosis each day in the United States. One person dies every twenty minutes from this disease in Michigan. The seals cost one cent each or one dollar a sheet. The sale last year amounted to the sum of $37.46. It is hoped that the community will increase his amount by at least ten per cent. Buy of the pupils when they call on you.

SEVENTH and EIGHTH GRADES
We were very sorry to lose one of our prominent students, Betty Nelson. She entered the school at Big Rapids last week.

We were dismissed from school Wednesday for a two day Thanksgiving vacation.

Last P.-T. A. meeting, the seventh and eighth grade rooms won seventy-five cents for which to buy a new book for our library. We thank the parents for their cooperation.

Willard Musolf is absent from school because of illness.

We had a test in music in which the seventh grade beat the eighth, 78 points to 103 points.

FIFTH and SIXTH GRADES
Marion Bing has the measles. The fifth grade memorized the poem "Thanksgiving" by Laura Frost Armitage. The sixth grade learned "The Landing of the Pilgrims" by Felicia Hermans.

Mary Ann Nelson has moved to Big Rapids.

Charles Curry, Lewis Mark, Raymond Westcott, Ruth Ulman, Beverly Bigelow and Dwayne Leslie had the highest scores in a long division test.

THIRD and FOURTH GRADES
The fourth graders memorized the poem "On Thanksgiving" and the third graders memorized "Thanksgiving Day" for their language lesson one day last week.

Betty Brown and Donald Gingerich were the winners in a spelling contest last week.

Several interesting Thanksgiving stories were told in the fourth grade language class Wednesday afternoon.

We are enjoying the story of "Buster the Brown Bear" for our story period.

Alvesia Rodgers, of Flint, was a visitor last Thursday.

PRIMARY
We are finishing some Thanksgiving scrap books. They are called "Thanksgiving Goodies" and contain pictures of food.

Everyone is looking forward to our Thanksgiving holiday.

We are planning our part for the Christmas program for P.-T. A.

Catalepsy, Nervous Affection

asked from the floor and answered fully.

This is to be strictly a farmers meeting, Mr. Levandowski says, the audience will elect a permanent chairman from among the directors of the various associations operating through the Standish group office and he will conduct the meeting. A representative of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul, has been asked to attend and give a brief outline of the Bank's financial standing and answer any questions that may be asked.

Important among items now being considered for the program will be a report on the financial progress of the Standish group office since it was established; the decrease in dilinencies that has been noted since this new arrangement went into effect; a report on the number of farms being handled through this office and the investment in them; and the way in which economies can be effected and efficiency be increased by fuller participation of directors in association activities.

An Inlet, Not Outlet
The straight of Gibraltar, often considered the Mediterranean's chief outlet, is technically an inlet. Due to evaporation, the level of the Mediterranean is a little below that of the Atlantic ocean, so that fresher ocean water constantly flows in through the strait. This is true in spite of the large volume of water poured into the Mediterranean by such rivers as the Nile, the Rhone, the Ebro, the Po and through the Dardanelles. The Mediterranean extends over an area of more than a million square miles, equal to a third of the area of the United States. It washes the shores of Europe, Asia and Africa.

Meaning of "Junkie"
The word junkie as often applied to congress was originally applied to a banquet, or a picnic or excursion with feasting but it has come to mean a trip at public expense by government officials to some distant post, territory or public works for the purpose, they claim, of investigating conduct or for inspection. Congressmen, especially, have been noted in the past for their junkets to distant regions flying the American flag.—Pathfinder Magazine.

The most beautiful thing on wheels—

Pontiac Wins the Beauty Prize For The 5th Consecutive Year!

Remember five years ago when that first swanky Silver Streak flashed across the motor-car horizon? And how everyone began calling Pontiac the most beautiful thing on wheels? Well, this year, it's the same old story... it's Pontiac again!

Here's style with an eye for tomorrow. Here's a gorgeous merging of the Silver Streak, of gleaming cat-walk cooling grilles and low, rakish, try-to-catch-me lines. Here, in short, is beauty that makes you feel like a million at the wheel—and makes other eyes light up as you go sailing by! And the grandest thing about it all is this: PONTIAC PRICES ARE DOWN—and you pay a lot less this year to drive the most beautiful thing on wheels!

YOU'LL BE PROUD TO OWN A
