DEEP WELLS GIVE ARENAC NEW INDUSTRY

New Firm Produces Salt in Prescott Oil Field

A new industry has sprung into existence a short distance southwest of Prescott. It is the manufacture of salt from brine taken from deep wells. Years ago salt was one of the important products of the shore towns along Saginaw bay. Tawas City, East Tawas and Oscoda had their salt blocks, but they were abandoned with the decline of the lumber industry. Ten tons of fine high grade salt are being turned out daily by the newly organized Arenac Salt Company. It is expected that production will be increased considerably within a short time.

George Straebel is the plant superintendent and is assisted in his duties by Fred Etheridge. At present the buildings which house the equipment cover about one acre of land and are located on a site known as the Peavy lease. The heads of the company anticipate the construction of additional buildings early next spring so that the output may equal the increasing orders which mount almost daily.

Home Economic Group Leaders to Meet Here

Because of the large number of leaders, the leaders of the Home Extension Groups of Isoco County will meet with Miss Alice Hertzler, Home Extension Agent, on two days for the discussion on "Color in Home Decoration." This is the second meeting in a series of five which will complete the course in home furnishings.

The meetings are scheduled to be held in the American Legion Hall in Tawas City on Tuesday, December 6 and Wednesday, December 7 and will begin at 10 o'clock.

It is suggested that leaders from East Tawas, Tawas City, Oscoda and Au Sable attend the meeting on Tuesday, while the leaders from Alabaster, Hale, Whittemore, Wilber, Laidlawville, Hemlock Road, Vine and Reno attend the meeting on Wednesday.

Miss Hertzler believes that every home can be made more attractive by adding more color. By following a few simple guides, beautiful color combinations may be made that will add beauty to home decorations. Color may be used to conceal conspicuous and ugly furnishings. The family take pleasure in harmonious colors because they introduce cheer, interest and restfulness into the home.

With the Hunters

Conservation Officer Arthur Leitz gave his opinion Thursday that a much larger number of legal deer had been killed this year than last. No figures have at this time been compiled on the kill of the season which closed Wednesday, but last year more than 1400 bucks were slain in the county. Conservation Officer Leitz reports that 75 illegal deer were taken by the department in the Isoco area.

Fine weather conditions during the hunting season and the opening of the Isoco Game refuge accounts for the increase in the number of deer killed here. He said that the newly opened game refuge was the favorite hunting ground for many hunters.

A number of covotes were shot this season by deer hunters, but those locking for bear were disappointed. Very few were lucky in bagging Mr. Bruin during the fifteen days of open season.

Clark Tanner yesterday lamented the fact that the deer hunting season was over. Lack of luck wasn't what bothered him though. He got his buck early the first day. After taking it home he hurried right back to camp. "Only fifteen days," Clark moaned Thursday. I wish it had continued a year. Now I'll have to stoke up the old furnace before breakfast. Out in camp I ate breakfast in bed every morning!"

With deer hunting out of the way, interest of hunters now center on the rabbit. Bill Gackstetter, didn't get his deer, but Thursday morning he was down town proudly exhibiting five rabbits which he had shot in three hours that morning. "Deer, wild fowl and birds may furnish fine sport, but for real fun give me a dog, a gun and a few rabbits to shoot at," says Bill.

John Alexander Bruce

John Alexander Bruce died at the age of 85 years and 8 months. He was born in Collingwood, Ontario, April 24 1853. Living there until 1874, at which time he moved to Michigan. He was united in marriage to Ida McLean, of Carsonville, Michigan, on February 27, 1880, and to this union four children were born.

In 1887 Mr. Bruce went to Duluth where he was employed by the St. Paul and Duluth railroad as a locomotive engineer. In 1889 he returned to Michigan and located on a farm, three miles south of Whittemore, at which place he resided until about ten years ago when he moved to the city of Whittemore, and resided there until his death which came Monday evening, November 21, as a result of a stroke.

He was a kind and devoted husband and father. He was an earnest Christian, desiring to do what he could for the cause of God. Mr. Bruce had a keen sense of humor that will long be remembered by his many friends.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ida Bruce; four children, Lloyd A. Malcolm, of Detroit; and Mrs. Gladys M. Douglas, of Detroit; and Mrs. Flora Gay, of Whittemore; also two grandchildren, Edwin Gay, and Shirley Douglas, who with their many friends and other relatives mourn for him.

The funeral services were held from the Whittemore Methodist Church on Friday, November 25, at 2:00 o'clock, with Rev. H. C. Watkins officiating, and E. D. Jacques, of Tawas City, directing. Interment was made in the Whittemore cemetery, with Masonic rites presented by the Whittemore, Hale, Oscoda

East Tawas Chapter Entertains County O. E. S.

Isoco Chapter No. 71, Order of the Eastern Star, entertained the chapters of Whittemore, Hale, Oscoda and Tawas City last Tuesday evening. Guests from these chapters acted as the officers for initiation. After the meeting refreshments were served in the dining hall. The tables were decorated with red candles and sprays of evergreen suggestive of the Christmas season.

The chapter room proper and the dining hall had been recently remodeling in he color scheme of light blue and cream, by the Masonic Lodge, and presented a very nice appearance for the occasion.

Installation of officers took place on Friday evening, this week. Grace DeGroot acted as installing officer. A list of officers installed will appear next week.

Buy Christmas Seals

Buy Christmas Seals! Work done by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in coming to our counties once or twice a year and taking chest x-rays has been of exceedingly great importance in aiding in the detection of tuberculosis cases in our counties. Early finding of tuberculosis in the symptomless stages will in time clear up tuberculosis in District Health Unit No. 2. More than 80% of the tuberculosis patients in Michigan sanatoria today are in advanced stages of the disease upon admittance. This alone evidences the need for contacts in particular to have a through examination.

"The diagnostic chest x-ray, the Christmas seal method of discovery, is the best means of finding tuberculosis in early minimal stages," according to Dr. Thompson.

Buy Christmas seals and help finance this modern weapon of defense against tuberculosis.

DR. THOMPSON GIVES CHILD HEALTH TALK

Iosco Women Clubs Guests of Ladies Literary Club

One hundred women, representing all groups of women's clubs in Isoco county, listened Wednesday afternoon to an interesting address on child health by Dr. Sue Thompson, of West Branch, director of the Children's Fund. The women were guests of the Ladies' Literary Club of East Tawas. Among the groups represented were The Literary Alliance Club of Whittemore, Ladies' Literary Club of East Tawas, Twentieth Century Club of Tawas City, Womens Study Club of the Hemlock road, and Child Health League.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Beth Burrows, president of the Ladies Literary Club. After a brief business meeting of the club the program for the afternoon was presented.

In order that all might feel better acquainted Mrs. Burrows first asked that one of the ladies stand and be introduced and in turn she introduced the lady next to her, and so on around the group. Mrs. Gertrude Kunze accompanied by her niece, Miss Edna Luce, sang two numbers. Then Mrs. Burrows introduced Dr. Thompson who gave as her topic "A Paradise for Children." She told the story of "Pandora's Box," the time when there was no sickness and sorrow in the world. After the fatal opening of the box all the disease and evil came to make the world a place where children and people were not safe.

Medical science through years of study and hard work has succeeded in conquering disease to a great extent. It always stands ready to help us make our communities more of a "Paradise for Children" than we had even ten years ago when our county first joined Unit No. 2 of the Children's Fund of Michigan.

After Dr. Thompson's splendid address the social committee of the Ladies' Literary Club served dainty refreshments. The visiting groups were all very grateful to the East Tawas ladies for a most profitable and entertaining afternoon.

Rev. Wilson left Wednesday for a few days' visit in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hennigar and mother, Mrs. Hennigar, and Mrs. McDonald left Thursday for Ann Arbor, where Mrs. McDonald will enter the hospital for an operation on her eyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Nelem spent the week end in Detroit with Mrs. A. McKiddie.

Hale Couple Celebrate Married Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. John Koche celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday with open house to their friends in the afternoon.

On Tuesday, the Ladies' Aid met at the Oatjens home and following a beautiful dinner and program, Mrs. Koche was presented with a beautiful bedspread.

Fred Koche, of Toledo, Ohio, who was best man at the wedding fifty years ago, presented Mrs. Koche with a basket containing 50 beautiful chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Koche received many beautiful gifts and their friends wish them many happy returns of the day.

Old Hale Postoffice Will Be Torn Down

Tom Dooley has purchased the John Love property and is tearing down the buildings to make room for new cottages to be built on the site.

The old building was erected about 40 years ago when Mr. Love was post master, to house the post office and general store with living quarters above the store. Later, D. I. Pearsall had a general store in the building. Frank Fuller ran a barber shop and bakery and at other times it was used for a shoe repair and bicycle repair shop.

BOWLING

The newly organized Goodfellowship bowling league which comprises the following teams: Beal Nursery, Tawas Merchants, Phoenix Beer and Barkman Lumber Co., is well under way having completed their third set of scheduled games on Tuesday evening of this week.

In the league standings, it will be noticed that Beal Nursery and Barkman Lumber Co. are credited with eight games bowled instead of nine. This is a result of a tie game between these two teams in Tuesday evening's contests.

France Deserts Great Britain To Find Safety With Germany

By Joseph W. La Bine

International

Appreciating the potency of a strong Rome-Berlin axis, Great Britain and France have long sought to keep Germany and Italy divided. Now this clever trick of diplomacy has boomeranged. With Hitler and Mussolini on top of the heap since Munich's peace treaty, the Rome-Berlin axis is very successfully building a barrier between London and Paris.

Until a few weeks ago Great Britain and Germany were comparatively close friends, while Italy busied herself hurling insults in the general direction of London. Now this is changed; the Anglo-Italian "friendship" treaty has been invoked and Prime Minister Chamberlain is willing to grant belligerent rights to Fascist Spain. During this display of affection, shrewd

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN
France no longer needed him.

Adolf Hitler has found it convenient to abandon his British friends and turn to France. Thus it was not entirely unexpected when France announced conclusion of a pact with Germany to outlaw war between the two nations and recognize the permanent integrity of present Franco-German boundary lines.

On the surface this appears to complement the Anglo-German "no war" treaty signed secretly by Hitler and Chamberlain at Munich. A more likely result is that it will cause bickering between France and Britain; by making peace with Berlin, Paris has figuratively abandoned the protectorship of British aristocrats and financiers. At the same time, Britain's new peace with Mussolini arouses the indignation of Fascist-hating Frenchmen, who are now being vilified by the Roman press.

All these things point to a continued French and British policy of appeasing Hitler and Mussolini, even in the face of rising world resentment against the current German Jewish persecution. Still to come are French overtures for Italian friendship, probably to be paid for by the grant of new African colonies to Mussolini. Though both England and France deny it, observers are quite certain both will return war-mandated colonies to Germany.

The only new development which does not fit into this appeasement program is the Anglo-French decision to pool air forces and construct a fleet of 10,000 fighting planes by 1940. This contradictory move only emphasizes how little faith any modern European nation places in the sanctity of treaties, since the only reason for a "super" air fleet would be to combat the combined threat of an Italo-German fleet.

submitted to congress next January will run over $8,000,000,000. On this basis, and with anticipated revenues approximating those of the fiscal year ending last June, a deficit of about $1,500,000,000 may be expected during the government year starting next July.

Armament's share of the new budget must be paid with new taxes, and many congressmen advocate a two-year emergency income tax. This would pile a 10 per cent levy on top of the present income tax and provide $260,000,000 a year. Already trying to spike such plans, Utah's Sen. William H. King proposes to substitute "war taxes" in the form of a "nuisance" levy on luxury and semi-luxury goods.

Labor

Throughout the U. S. are about 2,500 manufacturing firms who share profits or managerial responsibility with employees. Proctor & Gamble workers contribute 3 per cent of their wages against a 5 to 15 per cent contribution by the management (based on seniority) and from this fund employees buy stock. McCormick & Co., Baltimore importers, not only share profits but organize workers to help run the business under a "multiple management" plan.

Such firms, whose number is increasing yearly, generally have little labor trouble. Example: the American Rolling Mill company of Middletown, Ohio, has never experienced a labor disagreement in its 38 years of operation. Even C. I. O., which organized the bulk of steel plants, was defeated 1,200 to 400 in one American Rolling Mill labor election.

If profit-sharing could be extended, most U. S. industrialists believe employees would be better satisfied, employment would become less fluctuant, and our national financial picture would be improved. In Washington, a senate finance subcommittee investigating the plan was recently told it would be "an unbeatable defense of the capitalistic system."

Members of this committee are Michigan's Sen. Arthur Vandenberg and Iowa's Sen. Clyde Herring. Their purpose is to unearth facts about profit-sharing merits and find methods of expanding it. The long range ambition is to make the working man more prosperous and more able to bear a share of the U. S. tax load. Thus, by splitting its profits, industry would help itself by winning a more equitable division of tax burden.

But an expansion of profit-sharing must come either voluntarily or through government insistence, and voluntary adoption of the plan by industry would be a long, discouraging battle of coaxing and education. Though neither committee member yet advocates it, both Senators Vandenberg and Herring have been feeling out sentiment on an "incentive taxation" plan. Under it the government would give tax credits to profit-sharing concerns, meanwhile penalizing non-conforming firms. Tax credits might be given on employers' social security payments, though the mere mention of such tampering with social security has already aroused protest.

WALTER D. FULLER
For depreciation, profit-sharing.

Most of the committee's witnesses have gone on record opposing the "incentive tax" because it would impose either reward or penalty for an employer's decision on a matter which should be entirely voluntary. Loudest supporter has been Walter D. Fuller, president of the Curtis Publishing company, who wants a more liberal tax treatment to stimulate re-employment. He also thinks industrial plant expansion will follow if employers are allowed to charge off more on depreciation than at present.

Labor's opinion has been expressed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who naturally favors profit-sharing provided it does not tend to replace collective bargaining. This issue may be the battleground on which profit-sharing plans rise or fall, since collective bargaining is based on compulsion rather than co-operation. Before adopting the profit-sharing principle, many industrialists would demand that the threatening club of organized labor be removed.

Politics

Since last summer the public has cringed under a barrage of insults and name-calling hurled back and forth between Rep. Martin Dies of the house un-Americanism committee and members of the Roosevelt administration. Mr. Dies' favorite enemy in the cabinet has always been Madam Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, but lately his appetite has been whetted by conflict with Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes.

Alice Lee Jemison, a Yosemite Indian, told Mr. Dies' committee that Mr. Ickes was a member of the Civil Liberties Union. She said that Roger Baldwin, head of the group, once told another congressional committee that the organization upheld the rights of aliens to advocate murder, assassination and the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

This charge started the ball rolling. Admitting membership in the union, Mr. Ickes called Mr. Dies "the outstanding zany in our political history." Answered Mr. Dies: "The secretary's most recent fit of uncontrollable rage only emphasizes his unfitness for the high position he holds. The secretary literally reeks with the venom of hatred. It flows from him as naturally and freely as water from a spring."

As Mr. Dies prepared to release his selection for the "1938 all un-American team," the average U. S. citizen was beginning to wonder if the committee's real purpose, to uncover evidence of subversive activities, was not being overlooked.

Potential 1940 presidential nominees will be well mulled over before the nominating conventions roll around, but a few straws are already in the wind. First: Missouri's new Sen. Bennett Champ Clark, a "middle-of-the-road" Democrat whom many of his partisans would like to see nominated for 1940, has inferred that his ambitions reach no higher than the senate, and that he will not run for the presidency. Second: Republican Alf M. Landon, defeated in 1936, made the following comment at a New York luncheon: "The woods are full of Republicans, but I think there is one outstanding Democrat—and that is the man just elected for the fourth time as governor of New York." But few politicians consider Gov. Herbert H. Lehman a serious possibility.

Aviation

Because a major U. S. airline has allegedly refused to accept delivery on a new type 33-seat plane, aviation experts believe the advent of stratosphere commercial aircraft will be delayed several years. This happens despite the demonstrated practicability of larger ships. It results almost entirely from the public's slowness to accept air travel. Whereas stratosphere ships have four motors and carry 42,000 pounds at a cruising speed of 250 miles an hour, the present 21-passenger ships have but two motors and accommodate a considerably smaller tonnage. Yet airlines estimate only 55 per cent of all available space is being occupied on the smaller ships this year. Therefore they are not inclined to operate larger, more expensive aircraft on which the operating loss would be even greater.

Foreign

The resignation of Premier Bela Imredy's Hungarian cabinet is a direct result of his failure to obtain the entire eastern half of Czechoslovakia, an aim which was opposed first by Germany, and now by Italy as well. Since Adolf Hitler has delivered flat representations opposing any Hungarian ambitions in the Slovakian or Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia) districts, the new cabinet is expected to be more closely allied to the German viewpoint. Hitler naturally does not want Hungary to annex Czech territory which would give her a common border with Poland, since that might block Germany's long-planned "drive to the southeast" through Czechoslovakia.

Miscellany

Since last congress' $1,500,000,000 WPA appropriation was specified to last until March 1, 1939, Administrator Harry Hopkins plans to drop thousands of "borderline" relief clients in the hope that revived private industry will find jobs for them.

Bombing Barcelona eight times in 22 hours, rebel planes killed 51 civilians and wounded an additional 153.

Trend

How the Wind Is Blowing
MERRY CHRISTMAS—The U. S. will spend at least $1,200,000,000 on this season's Yule gifts, giving Santa Claus his biggest bag since 1929.
BOUNDARY BUSINESS—Adolf Hitler's rise to power this year, plus the new imperialism of Japan and Italy, has forced map makers to work overtime preparing new releases. Almost every geography text now in use has been outmoded in the last six months.
VICTORY'S PRICE—Aggression breeds hardship. Poverty-stricken German housewives are not allowed to buy apples or oranges until Christmas. Japan is enforcing the content of tobacco packages, as part of her "spiritual mobilization" program.

Star Dust

- ★ Chorus: Gene Autry!

SINCE quizzes are so popular these days, here's one for you movie-goers. The amusement you get out of it, (if any), will be your only reward.

1. What motion picture actor gets the most fan mail—almost 5,000 more letters each week than either Shirley Temple or Clark Gable?

2. What motion picture star is the most popular one now making "westerns"? (He's just about as popular as any star making any kind of pictures.)

3. What star who, according to owners of theaters in villages and small cities, draws good audiences when other, better publicized stars fail to do so, receives but $12,599 a picture, when stars getting far larger salaries draw many thousands more?

4. What star—but what's the use, when you know by now that the answer to all the questions is Gene Autry, Republic's singing cowboy.

Exhibitors in the smaller cities have been much smarter, apparently, than the ones in the big towns where Autry was concerned. They've shown his pictures for some years, and made money on them. The big towns haven't discovered him yet; his pictures aren't shown in the big movie palaces of the land.

He used to be a telegrapher for a railway; later he played the guitar and sang ballads for various small radio stations. Republic engaged him to make westerns, and immediately he was a success; now some of the other motion picture companies would like to get him away from that studio and can't do it.

His latest picture is "Rhythm of the Saddle"; his next will be "Western Jamboree."

NANCY KELLY
New York stage. (And she is just seventeen!)

Her career started when, at the age of three, she won a "healthy baby" contest. That resulted in her becoming a photographers' model. Then she made pictures, in the East. When she acted in "The Great Gatsby," with Warner Baxter, he used to introduce her as "my future leading lady." They're both under contract now to Twentieth Century-Fox, so maybe he was just a little bit previous about making a perfectly good prophecy.

While he was working in "The Cowboy and the Lady" Gary Cooper designed a saddle. The man who made it for him had orders for others like it before he finished the first one, so they're going into partnership to market the "Gary Cooper saddle."

Lucille Manners has always thought she'd like to make a name for herself on the concert stage. Now she's had grand offers from South America and Australia—and can't accept them because of her radio commitments.

When Alan Deavitt, who plays the part of "Wong," the Oriental servant in "This Day Is Ours," answers the phone at home, he protects himself from telephonic time-wasters by answering in the dialect that he uses on the air. The other day Templeton Fox and Jay Jostyn were lunching with him and he didn't want to be disturbed. So, when he had to answer the phone, he resorted to his usual trick. "Velly sorry; Missa Deavitt no home," he said.

Then he almost collapsed. For the man at the other end of the wire had said: "Well, I'm just in town for the day and I wanted to repay the fifty dollars I borrowed from him two years ago," and then hung up!

ODDS AND ENDS—Priscilla Lane is crazy about the number "seven"; wears a little gold one on her coat lapels, has it embroidered on all her clothes, for luck. . . . Wonder if anyone has told her that Lina Basquette went in heavily for "sevens" years ago, on rings, bracelets, etc. . . . It's rumored that Constance Wee de la Falaise maintains a large field organization to call upon people who apply to go on the program and look into their stories.

NATURE'S CHRISTMAS GIFT

Two million Christmas trees come annually from Washington state, where a ranger (above) tags trees for cutters (below) who leave the stump and lower branches from which a new tree will grow.

Picture Parade

Left: Loaded on sleds, the trees are hauled through the forests by horses to a concentration camp (right) where they are bundled by size and grade. Butts are sawed even. Both tall and short trees are needed, the former for old-fashioned high-ceilinged homes, the latter for modern low-ceilinged houses.

Loaded into freight cars, Washington's Christmas trees are ready for shipment to three-quarters of the nation. The above load is destined for Atlanta, Ga.

In Washington, the tree that makes these youngsters happy on Christmas morning was not cut destructively. Instead it gave needed room for neighboring trees to grow faster and better.

NEW TOYS USEFUL AND ENTERTAINING

NEW YORK.—Miniatures of practically every activity in American life will be carried in Santa Claus' $225,000,000 toy pack on Christmas eve, manufacturers have predicted. Among the new favorites will be movie cartoons of amazingly high quality, while old favorites will return in new model electric trains, bowling sets, miniature piano, a velocipede with a bicycle-like chain drive, and a streamlined sled with tip-proof brakes. By polarized light a child will be able to tell his mother whether her tablecloth is cotton or linen. New dolls are sophisticated with pageboy bobs and glamour girl costumes, boasting complete wardrobe that cover every social occasion. Dolls and animals have been modeled from favorite characters in popular children's books.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—In Europe, a few years ago, this writer met a friend who had just interviewed Gen. Ismet Inonu, who is today Turkey's new dictator, succeeding Kemal Ataturk, who died recently.

Dictator Inonu An Iron Man, Yet a Diplomat

"He's the smartest hombre I ever met," said my friend. "He talked to me for two hours, frank and honest, looking me right in the eye and never holding out on anything. He was charming and brilliant and he didn't ask me not to print anything. I thought I had a great story. But, when I started to write it, there was just nothing there. I saw him several times after that, and realized that he was a master in heart-to-heart talk which left no commitments whatsoever. I saw cagey diplomats kissed off just as I had been. The man is a marvel of brains and ingenuity."

The small, fragile, deaf, ingratiating General Inonu is the hero of the Turkish army, premier until a year ago, when he was mysteriously benched by Kemal Ataturk. There were rumors that he was engaged in international negotiations of such subtlety that he found it necessary to keep out of office and off-stage.

It was in 1920 that young Colonel Ismet joined Mustafa Kemal in Anatolia. By 1922, he had driven the Greeks out of Anatolia and Smyrna and in this period and thereafter he was Kemal Ataturk's chief military aide. He added to his laurels, when, at the 1923 Lausanne conference, he ran rings around British and Italian diplomats and won for Turkey virtually its demands.

He was one of few men who retained the confidence of Ataturk to the end. He was a firm and exacting and, at times, ruthless ruler of the army, and is said to lack none of the traditional specifications of the iron man.

It is apparent that Ismet Inonu is intent on keeping Turkey diplomatically liquid, that he fully realizes the bargaining power of Turkey's hegemony over the Moslem bloc, and that he probably will use this and other strategic assets in making some shrewd bargains.

TALL, austere Sumner Welles, a deft precisionist in career diplomacy, is merely undersecretary of state, but off-stage he's the key-man of a critical international counter and a policy draughtsman in whose hands a chart of our South American procedure is taking shape. He helped initiate and has diligently fostered the "good neighbor" policy in Latin-America, and his radio address urging a get-together in the Western hemisphere received a good press in those countries. But a bad press in Germany.

His plea for joint defense against "any threat of attack" is in interesting contrast to his speeches of a year ago, when he appealed to the "nations of the world for a new world order, based on justice and law." He weighs the actualities of trade, finance and the collective safety and solvency of the Western world.

Something like a picture of a western league of nations begins to emerge as the great imperialisms turn toward the vast raw material storehouse of South America.

After his graduation from Harvard in 1914, Franklin D. Roosevelt, then assistant secretary of the navy, helped him enter career diplomacy. In his early thirties, he was high commissioner to the Dominican Republic, the author of "Naboth's Vineyard," a two-volume study of that country. He was made ambassador to Cuba by President Roosevelt in 1933. He became undersecretary of state last year.

ROBERT DONAT, the English actor on the up-take in "The Citadel" and other films, made so many unsuccessful tries at the screen seven years ago that they called him "Screen Test" Donat. A competent actor, he met hard luck and was all but desperate, as something always went wrong. One day, in what was sure would be his last try, the director told him to register despair. The irony of his merely imitating despair sent him into demoniac laughter. Alexander Korda, in another room, heard him.

"Sign that man up, whoever he is," said Korda. "That's a great performance." He had what it took, and they routed him right through to fame and riches. He won by challenging a homily—"Do not despair."

New York's oldest tree, a great tulip in Inwood Hill park, is now only a four-foot stump surrounded by an iron fence. More than 80 feet tall, its trunk had a diameter of 51 inches, which caused its age to be estimated at more than two and a half centuries though the liriiodendron tulipifera usually does not live more than 100 years. The Inwood Hill specimen, however, flourished until about 25 years ago when decay attacked it. For years tree surgeons labored to preserve it with all the skill at their command. Dead branches were lopped off and trunk hollows filled with cement. Despite all the surgery and nursing, the tree continued to decline. A year ago last spring only two branches showed signs of life and their buds apparently consumed all the life-giving sap. Recently park department employees attacked the lifeless giant with saws and axes because it had become a menace to safety of park visitors.

The old tulip tree linked the metropolis of today with the Indians. On the authority of Reginald Pelham Bolton, who wrote the history of the Inwood section, the tree once stood in the center of an Indian village in the center of a glen. As proof he cites that it had "grown through a compact deposit of oyster shells and carbonized materials which were accumulated by the aborigines who occupied this place until about 200 years ago."

Inwood Hill park is situated at the extreme upper end of Manhattan island. It has an area of 167 acres and up until a short time ago, was in a comparatively unimproved state. Even before its improvement, it was hard to think of Indians living on an island with a present population of almost 2,000,000.

Legends there are, of course, connected with the old tulip tree. One is that when Hendrik Hudson sailed his Half Moon up the river that now bears his name, he stopped at Inwood Point and pow-wowed with the Indians under the tulip tree which then was not old but young and vigorous. The legend further states that when Hudson left, he took two Indians with him. Fellow tribesmen pursued the Half Moon down the river and at what is now Fort Washington Point attacked. Hudson dispersed them with a cannon shot. And thus the first firing of a cannon in the New World.

Getting back to modern times, there were those clubmen who got a little exhilarated and decided to go fishing on Riverside drive. Not in the Hudson but on the drive itself. Instead of a boat they used a taxicab. But their equipment was real deep sea rods. The lure was pork and lamb chops. Their quarry was Peakes and Poms and they had several promising bites. They might have made some catches but a traffic cop took a hand in the matter. Facing arrest on charges of disorderly conduct, etc., they reluctantly gave up the expedition and returned to headquarters.

Speaking of clubs, there is one where no matter who calls, the member is never present. He may be right in plain sight of the menial who answers the phone but still the reply is, "Sorry, but he isn't in." Thus protection. But recently a member on his return home, informed his wife that he had spent the evening at that club. His statement caused no end of trouble. The wife had telephoned to the club and had been given the usual answer. Now there is an exception to the rule. No matter who calls, he's among those present.

C. Houston Goudiss Describes Some of the Functions of Vitamin B₁—Reports Recent Discoveries of Its Relation to the Gastro-Intestinal Tract

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

PERHAPS no more dramatic chapter has ever been written in the history of nutritional science than the discovery of the chemical structure of the vitamin now known as B₁ and its artificial synthesis.

Inasmuch as a deficiency of this vitamin may have extremely far-reaching effects upon human health and happiness, it is important that every homemaker should learn something of its functions, its characteristics and its sources.

The Anti-Neuritic Substance

Vitamin B₁ is known to prevent and to cure a nerve disease called beriberi.

The disease was known in Ancient times in the Orient. It occurred in other countries during the Nineteenth century. And even in the Twentieth century, some of the British troops stationed in Mesopotamia and the Dardanelles during the World war came down with the disease.

Even before this vitamin was identified, a European investigator was seeking to determine why a small portion of milk added to a diet containing protein, fats, carbohydrates and minerals successfully nourished individuals who did not enjoy good health when the milk was omitted.

Chemical Identification

Many investigators sought for years to fathom the secret of this mysterious substance.

After long research by many distinguished investigators, two Americans reached a milestone in the history of nutritional science when they discovered the chemical structure of vitamin B₁ and learned how to synthesize it.

A Regulator of Body Processes

In the course of their work with vitamin B₁, nutritional scientists have discovered many other important functions of this vitamin. It has been determined that this substance is essential to growth and that it is also necessary to promote normal appetite. Laboratory experiments with animals revealed that when fed upon a diet lacking vitamin B₁, the animals lost their desire for food and refused to eat until the vitamin was restored to their diet.

There is also some evidence that vitamin B₁ is necessary for the maintenance of normal muscular tone of the large intestine.

Aids Gastro-Intestinal Tract

Chemical studies on 75 patients led one investigator to conclude that a continual slight shortage of vitamin B₁ leads to definite changes in the motor and secretory mechanism of the gastro-intestinal tract.

There is also evidence that the vitamin B₁ requirement increases with the rate of growth and with increased energy expenditure.

For this reason, active working men and women should be amply supplied with this vitamin, and growing children should also have generous quantities.

Further investigations are now in progress and it is quite possible that many significant new facts will be unearthed in the near future.

In the meantime, there is enough evidence to warrant the belief that the absence of vitamin B₁ results in cellular alteration in the nervous system, intestine, pancreas, stomach, salivary glands, liver and other tissues.

The whole power of the body to resist infection appears to be decreased. This is especially true in the gastro-intestinal tract, probably owing to the action of the bacteria on its passage through the impaired alimentary tract.

Some Peculiarities of This Vitamin

Vitamin B₁ is soluble in water. For this reason, a large percentage of it may be lost if the water in which a food is soaked or cooked is discarded. Other ways in which this precious vitamin is lost are through refining cereals too highly, or when the natural acidity of a food is lowered by the addition of an alkali.

Preventing Vitamin B₁ Deficiency

It has been suggested that the health department of every village, town and city should not be content with protecting the local community against infectious diseases, but should be equally militant in endeavoring to safeguard its people against the dietary deficiency diseases which have been discovered through the recent advances in nutritional knowledge.

That is because many people who can easily afford the foods that furnish vitamin B₁ are consuming a diet deficient in this respect. This unfortunate situation may arise because they believe that their customary diet is adequate. Or, they conclude that appetite is a reliable guide to the meals that should be consumed.

Sources of Vitamin B₁

Investigation has established that foods yielding a good amount of vitamin B₁ include bran, milk, eggs, bananas, orange juice, carrots, spinach and cabbage.

One of America's outstanding nutritional scientists has stated that foods can be made to provide the necessary daily requirement of vitamin B₁, if half of the needed calories are taken in the form of fruits, vegetables, milk and eggs, and if at least half of the breads and cereals consumed are taken in the whole grain form. This suggests the advisability of adding some bran to muffins, waffles, and other quick breads when they are intended for the dietary of normal individuals. The same procedure can likewise be followed in serving hot or cold cereals.

Another distinguished authority holds that adequate amounts of vitamin B₁ can be furnished at a low cost if the homemaker will utilize larger quantities of the whole grain cereals and legumes. If the calories supplied by these foods are not desired—as when one is endeavoring to avoid gaining weight—vitamin B₁ may be obtained from suitable quantities of bran and the germ of the grain.

Foods That Help Promote Regularity

In addition to providing vitamin B₁, which helps to serve as a sort of intestinal tonic, bran and many fruits and vegetables help to add cellulose or bulk to the diet. Their fibrous framework is a great aid in promoting regular health habits.

Some foods are richer than others in cellulose or bulk. Good sources of this substance being notably bran, whole grain cereals, most raw fruits; dried fruits, such as prunes, figs and raisins; raw vegetables; such cooked vegetables as onions and leafy greens; and legumes, that is, dried beans and peas.

These foods, therefore, have a definite place in the diet of normal individuals. The homemaker should see to it that they are included regularly in her daily menus.

If that task is performed faithfully, it should help to develop a healthier and more vigorous race. ©—WNU—C. Houston Goudiss—1938—39.

Tawas City, Oct. 10, 1938.
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors:

The Judiciary Committee to whom was referred the matter of lands now held by the Conservation Department and Federal Government recommend adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLUTION

A resolution requesting Michigan Conservation Department to sell resort property held by them and seeking ten cents an acre for local governing bodies from the Federal Government for lands held by them.

Whereas, for the last number of years land in Isosco County has gone to the State because of non-payment of taxes and has been turned over to the Conservation Department by the Auditor General, and

Whereas, when the Federal Government becomes the owner of said lands they are immediately taken off the tax roll, and of the Township schools and the Townships themselves and other local governing bodies are losing much revenue. In fact, the situation is becoming so acute that if it continues for a short time longer, as it has in the past, the schools, township bodies, and other local governing bodies of the county will be unable to function because of lack of funds, and

Whereas, because of such actions

Whereas, it is impossible at this time for any interested persons to purchase land from the Conservation Department bordering on any body of water or lands through which a stream flows, although many people are interested in buying those lands for hunting and fishing purposes and if such lands could be bought, they would be placed on the tax roll, which would mean less expense to the Conservation Department of the State of Michigan due to the fact that it pays ten cents per acre to the different local communities in which its properties are located and

Whereas, the local governing bodies are satisfied with ten cents per acre which they get from the Department of Conservation, but do object to the manner in which the lands are traded to the Federal Government and feel that it would only be fair to the said local governing bodies that the federal government pay ten cents per acre to the said local governing bodies on any land which they own in the township, whether the lands be in a National Forest or otherwise, and

Whereas, in addition to the lands taken over by the Federal Government from the Conservation Department, the Federal Government is also purchasing and/or condemning many thousands of acres of privately owned land in the County for national forest purposes and those properties are taken immediately off the tax rolls.

Now, therefore be it resolved, that the Honorable Miles Callaghan, State Senator for this Senatorial District of Michigan, the Honorable Alex McKay, State Representative for the counties of Isosco and Ogemaw, be requested to sponsor and work for the passage of legislation preventing the State Conservation Department from trading lands to the Federal Government in this county for lands in other counties in the state, and to urge the Conservation Department to offer for sale to the public, the land held by them in order that said land may be returned to the tax rolls, and used in the developing of the tourist and resort industry, for which, in most cases, said land is ideally adapted.

Be it Further Resolved, that the Honorable Prentiss M. Brown and Arthur H. Vandenburg, United States Senators for the State of Michigan, and the Honorable R. O. Woodruff, Congressman for the tenth Congressional District of Michigan, be requested to arrange for the passage of a bill in which the Federal Government agrees to pay the sum of ten cents per acre to the local governing bodies for each acre of land owned in the county and other counties of the State, and

Be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the following, namely: Honorable Prentiss M. Brown and Arthur H. Vandenburg, United States Senators for the State of Michigan; Honorable Frank Murphy, Governor of the State of Michigan; Honorable R. O. Woodruff, Congressman for the 10th Congressional District of the State of Michigan; Honorable Miles Callaghan, State Senator for this Senatorial District of Michigan, and Alexander McKay, State Representative for the Counties of Isosco and Ogemaw, and further, that copies of said resolution be also forwarded to the Boards of Supervisors of the different counties of the State of Michigan.

Signed:
H. C. Hennigar, Henry Klenow.

Upon being seconded by Supervisor Cross, the resolution was adopted unanimously.

Supervisor Hennigar read the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Tawas City, Oct. 10, 1938.
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors:

The Judiciary Committee to whom was referred the resolution of the Board of Supervisors of Allegan County regarding the diversion of weight and gas tax respectively recommend that the following resolution be adopted by this Board.

RESOLUTION

Owing to the fact that the small allocation of $60.49 per mile for Mc-Nitt Roads and Plats is by far too small an amount and gives the roads and streets only a fair maintenance, and it being impossible to construct any; and since several of the townships and property owners are contributing to the cost, and there being a movement for further reduction from the weight and gas tax by diverting a part to other State Expenses;

Therefore, we, the Board of Supervisors of Isosco County respectfully ask the Honorable Governor, members of the Senate and House of Representatives and all Boards of Supervisors to support and work for the amendment to the constitution of the state of Michigan, which will be voted upon at the General Election in November, 1938, to prohibit any diversion of the weight and gas tax, and to add to the $4,000,000.00 enough of gas tax to equal the amount per mile as intended in the original act; also that the Clerk of the Board send copy of the resolution to the Honorable Governor, State Senator and State Representative, and to all the Boards of Supervisors and request them to work for the above amendment.

Respectfully submitted:
H. C. Hennigar, James MacGillivray, Henry Klenow.

Upon being seconded by Supervisor Anderson the resolution was adopted unanimously.

Supervisor Hennigar read the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Tawas City, Oct. 10, 1938.
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors:

The Judiciary Committee to whom was referred the resolution of Branch County Board of Supervisors recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That our Senator and Representative be instructed to do their best to influence the passage of an act concerning the return of fifty per cent of the Sales Tax to each county in the state of Michigan, said fifty per cent of Sales Tax to be placed in the general fund of the county and to be under control of the Board of Supervisors and to be used for such purpose as the Board may direct.

It is our belief that such a law would make it possible for the counties to care for their Welfare cases, without outside aid.

It is our further belief that the local governing bodies should have control over monies raised by any form of taxation in their respective territories.

We request that our Clerk send copies of this resolution to our Senator and to our Representative and also to the clerk of each county in the State of Michigan and ask that each Board of Supervisors give the matter consideration.

Signed:
H. C. Hennigar, James MacGillivray, Henry Klenow.

Upon being seconded by Hatton, the resolution was adopted unanimously.

Supervisor Hennigar read the following report of the Judiciary Committee and moved its adoption:

Tawas City, Oct. 10, 1938.
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors:

The Judiciary Committee to whom was referred the communication from East Michigan Tourist Association are of the opinion that inasmuch as this county contributes each year to the association it is advisable that this Board have representation at the Annual Meeting and therefore recommend that the Chairman appoint three members of this Board to attend said Annual Meeting at Bay City, Oct. 13, 1938.

Respectfully submitted:
H. C. Hennigar, Henry Klenow, James MacGillivray.

Upon being seconded by Klenow the report was adopted unanimously upon Roll Call.

The Chair appointed Hennigar, MacGillivray and Hatton as the three members to attend the Annual Meeting referred to in the report.

Supervisor Burgeron read the report of Committee No. 2, as follows:

PREPARED . . .

for any emergency

RAGING FIRES . . . swirling floods . . . blinding blizzards . . . icy sleet storms . . . many are the means at Nature's command for destroying telephone lines.

This company and its 9000 skilled employees stand ever ready to cope with emergencies, armed with the best equipment and material reserves. Backed, too, by other Bell System companies which, because Bell equipment and methods are standardized, can lend immediate aid.

When the recent blizzard swept northern Michigan, telephone circuits were demolished . . . towns cut off. Yet this company's repair crews quickly restored service.

When the terrific September hurricane tore through New England at a cost of 500 lives, millions of dollars worth of telephone apparatus was destroyed. This and other Bell companies rushed men, operators, material and equipment into the stricken area. The tremendous task of restoring a half million telephones to service was accomplished in record time.

It is comforting to know that, however great the emergency, this company, with such Bell System backing, is prepared to keep Michigan's vital telephone service alive.

Professor Brace continued his testimony under the questioning of Mr. Flood:

"What time was it when you came out of the Tunnel?"

"Quarter past twelve."

"And what happened then?"

"A car passed us, then slowed down."

"Did you observe the number?"

"Yes, Miss Sentry said—"

"Never mind what she said. What was the number?"

Mrs. Sentry thought: They take so long to say such a simple thing. Why doesn't he just say, "I saw Mr. Sentry leave his office and drive home?"

But question and answer went maddeningly on.

"What did you do?"

"Followed the car to the Sentry home."

"Where did you last see it?"

"It turned into the Sentry drive."

"What did you do?"

"Miss Sentry and I stayed in my car, in front of the house."

"Hear anything?"

"Steps on the gravel from the garage toward the house."

"See anything?"

"I saw the light from the hall as the door opened."

"Anything else?"

"After about five minutes an upstairs light was turned on. About ten minutes later it was turned off again."

"What then?"

"Miss Sentry went into the house."

"At what time?"

"One o'clock, or a little before."

"Have you since seen that car?"

"Yes."

"With that number?"

"Yes."

"Where?"

"In the Sentry garage."

"Did you at any time that night see who was in the car?"

"Yes, a man."

"Did you know him?"

"No, not then."

"Did you see his face?"

"Yes, when he first passed us. I had to put on the brakes to avoid hitting him, and a street lamp was shining on his face."

"Do you now know who he was?"

"He was Mr. Sentry."

Mr. Flood turned to Mr. Falkran. "Your witness, sir," he said.

Mrs. Sentry looked breathlessly at Mr. Falkran, leaning on the one hand that he would allow this deadly evidence to go unchallenged; on the other that his questions would involve Barbara. Yet even at that cost he must do something. For here was the peg upon which the State's whole case must hang.

But Falkran said, "No questions!"

And instantly, like a clap of doom: "The State rests," said Mr. Flood.

During the brief recess, Mrs. Sentry, too shaken to move, stayed in her seat. She was not suffering; but she was so tired! Professor Brace had left the court room without having looked toward them, and she whispered to her son:

"Go catch him, Phil. Tell him we know he had to do it. Tell him we understand, that we don't blame him!"

Phil nodded, hurried out. Then Falkran came to her, and behind the mask of a smile which he wore for the world to see, he said, "Mrs. Sentry, I expect you were surprised I did not cross-examine; but the hour is late, and I wish to call one witness before adjournment today, so that I can leave the jury with something to think about tonight."

She said in low tones: "I see. But isn't that the key of the State's whole case? Proving he was down there that night?"

He said reassuringly: "Be easy. Trust me. We will give them a better key."

And a moment later they rose while the Court and jury resumed their places; and then Mr. Falkran, briefly, made his opening. Circumstantial evidence, he said in calm, assured tones, was only to be trusted when the evidence in question was capable of but one explanation, of but one interpretation. The evidence submitted by the State was elaborate, detailed, well presented, well selected.

"But you will see," he said, "how the truth which we propose to reveal to you fits into this pattern without a misfit anywhere."

And he called the dead girl's father to the stand.

Falkran dealt with the old man gently, winning his confidence with simple questions; but at length he led Mr. Wines to examine that collection of photographs which had previously been submitted to the New Jersey hotel clerk.

"I wish you would pick out all the photographs of your daughter which you find there," he directed.

The old man, after a little, selected two.

Falkran picked up from the clerk's desk those previously identified by the New Jersey hotel man-as portraits of Miss Wines. "What about these?" he asked.

"They ain't her."

"Sure?"

"I'd ought to be, I sh'd think. Sure I'm sure."

"Not your daughter?"

"No."

Falkran smiled contentedly.

"Now, Mr. Wines," he asked, in a new tone, "did your daughter write to you from Boston?"

"Yes, certain!"

"How often?"

"Most generally every Sunday."

"Did she write you while she worked for the firm of Sentry and Loran?"

"Yes, she did."

"How often?"

"Once, anyway."

"Have you that letter?"

District Attorney Flood rose hurriedly, approached the bench. Falkran joined him there. They spoke in low tones. The old man on the stand took a letter from his pocket and held it in his hands, waiting. After a moment Falkran turned and took it from him and handed it to the Judge. The Judge read it, spoke to Flood. Falkran smiled and with-gave the spectators that if there was further disturbance the court would be cleared.

Mr. Sentry's testimony follows. Questions by Mr. Falkran.

"And What Happened Then?" Asked Mr. Flood.

the letter in his hand turned back to the witness.

"Who wrote this letter?" he asked.

"She did."

"Your daughter?"

"Yes."

Falkran said to the Court: "I offer the letter." It was marked. He read it aloud, standing in front of the jury box, facing them.

The jury was for the most part without significance. The dead girl had written happily of her work, hoped that even though it was only temporary it might lead to something permanent. But one paragraph Mr. Falkran read slowly and impressively, in his fine trained tones, with a maximum effect, with his eyes upon the jury. He read:

"I don't like Mr. Sentry! He's cross if you make the least mistake. But Mr. Loran is nice, awfully jolly. He asked me to go to dinner with him tonight. He said there wasn't any harm in it, but of course I didn't go."

A stir ran through the court. Falkran waited a moment for silence, "Your witness," he told Flood.

The District Attorney declined to cross-examine. Falkran nodded, and he said: "It is near the hour, Your Honor. Mr. Sentry is to be our next witness. I suggest a recess till tomorrow morning."

Court adjourned.

CHAPTER VIII

Dan Fisher's assignment at the trial was not to cover the actual testimony—that was recorded by reporters working in relays, using those swift abbreviations meaningless to anyone but themselves which with a good newspaper man take the place of shorthand—but to write the morning paper story. Mr. Sentry was on the stand all Saturday forenoon; and Dan wrote for the Sunday paper:

Arthur Sentry, on trial for his life and charged with the murder of Agnes Wines, on the witness stand yesterday admitted that he fired the shot which killed Miss Wines.

He testified that the shot was fired by accident, in the dark, when he surprised an attempt to rob the safe in his office.

He admitted leaving the dead girl's body where it fell. He admitted taking the money from the safe and burning it in the furnace at home. He admitted throwing the death weapon into the river behind his garage where it was subsequently found by the police.

He denied any misconduct with Miss Wines. He testified that it was another woman who spent two nights with him in a New Jersey hotel last August.

Mr. Sentry's testimony created a sensation. The court officers had difficulty in keeping order until Judge Stanton warned the spectators that if there was further disturbance the court would be cleared.

Mr. Sentry's testimony follows. Questions by Mr. Falkran.

Weather bureau chief, greeting his secretary: "Nice morning, Miss Smith, followed by rain in the afternoon."

Soapbox orator (winding up his speech): "And that, ladies and gentlemen, is the whole kettle of fish in a nutshell."

One lady, taking down a rival: "I don't remember your face, but I never forget a dress."

Wait, Mother—Ask Your Doctor First

Never give your children unknown "Bargain" remedies to take unless you ask your doctor.

A mother may save a few pennies giving her children unknown preparations. But a child's life is precious beyond pennies. So—ask your doctor before you give any remedy you don't know all about.

And when giving the common children's remedy, milk of magnesia, always ask for "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

Because for three generations Phillips' has been favored by many physicians as a standard, reliable and proved preparation—marvelously gentle for youngsters.

Many children like Phillips' in the newer form—tiny peppermint-flavored tablets that chew like candy. Each tablet contains the equivalent of one teaspoonful of the liquid Phillips' 25¢ for a big box.

A bottle of Phillips' liquid Milk of Magnesia costs but 25¢. So—anyone can afford the genuine. Careful mothers ask for it by its full name "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

Musterole is NOT "just a salve." It's a "counter-irritant" containing good old-fashioned remedies for distress of colds—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other helpful ingredients. That's why it gets such fine results—better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Musterole penetrates the surface skin, stimulates, warms and soothes and quickly helps to relieve local congestion and pain. Used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. In 3 strengths: Regular, Children's (Mild) and Extra Strong, 40%.

Ether was almost as well known as laughing gas in the early nineteenth century. Faraday wrote about its stupefying effects in 1818. In Athens, Ga., medical students who knew about Faraday's work used to give ether parties.

School Notes

HIGH SCHOOL

The Juniors, cleared $8.80 at their bake sale Wednesday afternoon. They wish to express thanks to all who patronized them; also to the mothers who did the baking and to Mr. Bing for the use of his store.

The English I class took a test on Stevenson's "Treasure Island." In connection with the grammar work the class has begun the study of complex sentences, their recognition and value in expression of thought.

The English II class has been studying about the life of Mary Ann Evans, whose pen name is George Eliot. The class has begun her study of George Eliot's "Silas Marner."

In Latin I we have learned the formation of the cases of demonstrative pronouns. In our recent readings on Roman life and customs we have learned about their gods, foods, and clothing.

The English IV class is reading selections written during the transition period between the Reign of Form and the Romantic movement. It was during this time that the novel as a distinct type of literature developed. Selections from Richardson's novel "Clarissa" have been studied. During this period also appeared the greatest English biographer, Boswell's Life of Johnson. The personality of Johnson was discussed as gleaned from Boswell's description of the great conversationalist.

The ninth grade citizenship class is now making a study of that part of the text which deals with formal education. In order to make the subject as practical as possible, much material outside of the text is being considered. Recently each member brought to class a list of ten reasons why a consolidated school is superior to the one teacher school, or why the one-teacher school is superior to the consolidated school. Some of the lists showed that the pupils have an excellent understanding of the results of consolidation.

SEVENTH and EIGHTH GRADES
We have begun to practice our Christmas plays and songs. We are going to give a Christmas play at the next Parent-Teacher meeting.

The following people are on the honor roll for November: 7th grade—Richard Clark, Maxine DePotty, Neil Libka, Willard Musolf, Roy Landon, Elmer Ogden, Agnes Toms and Evelyn Colby; 8th grade—Ruth Giddings and Lyle Hughes.

We had a few tests last week. The following had A in spelling: 7th grade—Elmer Ogden, Agnes Toms, Linda Lou Libka, Maxine DePotty, and Evelyn Colby; 8th grade—Martin Cuniff.

In history those having a B average were: 7th grade—Neil Libka, Richard Clark, Elmer Ogden, Roy Landon; 8th grade—Ruth Giddings and Martin Cuniff.

In arithmetic: 7th grade—Elmer Ogden, Richard Clark, Roy Landon and Neil Libka; 8th grade—Lyle Hughes and Charlotte Hughes.

FIFTH and SIXTH GRADES
Herbert Blust, Gay Young, Ardith Lake, Matilda Scholtz, Harold Burtzoff, Wayne Hughes, Dora Hughes and Lucille Malcolm received the highest scores in a sixth grade arithmetic test of multiplication of fractions.

Most people in our room are selling T. B. seals. We hope to beat the 7th and 8th grade room in the sale of stamps.

Beverly Bigelow, Audrey Ogden, Peter Cuniff, Charles Curry, Dale Landon, Lewis Mark, Neil Thornton, Raymond Westcott, Pearl Beaubien, Dora Hughes, Ardith Lake, Elsie Rollin, Matilda Scholtz, Kathryn Westcott, Gay Young, Harold Burloff, Maurice Hayes and Wayne Hughes were notified about the letter during the meeting on November 10 and FOURTH GRADES

The third and fourth graders are busy selling Christmas seals. The third grade call themselves the Red Eagles and the fourth grade the Golden Eagles. So far the Red Eagles are ahead. A prize will be given to the grade that wins.

We are practicing our Christmas play which we will give at the P.T. A. meeting.

Wava St. Martin left the fourth grade Tuesday. She has moved to East Tawas.
