SPLIT DOUBLE HEADER AT WHITTEMORE

Whittemore and Tawas City Drop to Second Place

Tawas City and Whittemore split a double header last Sunday and dropped to a tie for second place as Turner won from Twining by the score of 3 to 2, which puts them in first place with a one-half game lead. Turner has played all of their games to date. Tawas City has a postponed game with Harrisville, the rained out game of July 9, to make up, and Whittemore has a game with Prescott, a postponed game of May 28.

The first game of the twin bill was a pitchers battle between "Bill" Mallon for Tawas City, and "Pinky" Nichles for Whittemore. Whittemore winning 1 to 0. Bill allowed but three hits, two singles and a double. Four hits were made off the left handed slants of Nichles, three singles and one double. Tawas City had four excusable errors charged against them.

Whittemore was charged with three miscues. Their lone run came as the result of two errors. In the second inning G. Burnside opened with an easy chance to Katterman who threw him out at first. Dunham then hit one over second on into center field and as "Kil" Zollweg was about to field the ball it took a bad hop and got by him allowing Dunham to reach second. He took third while Katterman threw out Karcher for the second out. Johnson then hit a short fly to center field and when Zollweg was about to make the catch he stepped in a hole the ball hit the ends of his fingers and was dropped. Dunham raced home for the only run of the game.

Tawas City had two good scoring opportunities during the game. The first possibility came in the second inning. Mallon opened with a base on balls. Laidlaw singled and both runners advanced a base when the hit got past Burnside in left field. Staudacher hit an easy fly to Johnson in center field which was too close in for Bill to score on after the catch. Kussro, after an attempt to sacrifice Bill home which went foul, struck out and Smith fanned also which ended the inning. Another chance to score came in the fourth. Zollweg reached first on Webster's error. Mallon then hit one which was good enough for three bases but was held to a ground rule double. Zollweg being held at third. Laidlaw then hit what looked like a sure hit, between third and short, but Webster came from nowhere running and beat Zollweg to the bag for an unassisted double play. Staudacher ended the inning with a fly to left. Tawas City made two more hits during the remainder of the game, both coming after two were out. Moeller singled in the fifth and Katterman in the eighth.

The double header came as the result of a postponed game scheduled for the Tawas City diamond, therefore the locals were given the privilege (Turn to No. 2 Back Page)

NORTHERN LEAGUE

Shellenberger added another victory to his list again, pitching a wonderful game Sunday. This boy is sure coming in to form. He had wonderful control throughout the game, with lots of curves and steam behind them. He seemed to be going better at the end of the game than at the start.

Hale—Nine runs, 12 hits and 11 strikeouts.
Whittemore—One run, 2 hits and 5 strikeouts.
Battery for Hale, Shellenberger and Bloomfield.

Battery for Whittemore, Parent and Gnatowski.
The Buckhorns defeated Wilber last Sunday as follows:
Buckhorns—Eleven runs, 5 hits and 5 errors.
Wilber—Four runs, 5 hits and 7 errors.

The game between Silver Creek and Oscoda has not been reported at this date.

Womens Study Club

The Rural Women's Study Club of Tawas City met for their July meeting at the Orange Hall with a good attendance of members. Mrs. T. H. Powers and daughter, Miss Grace, and Mrs. McSweeney were guests. Mrs. Powers gave an interesting talk on the activities of their club in Washington.

Mrs. Minnie Nelem, president, presided and the roll call was answered by naming their hobbies. A brief business session followed. Mrs. Arthur Leitz gave an interesting talk on hobbies and what they meant. Much credit is due Mrs. Louise McArdle for the splendid program which took them back to school days with various readings and songs. Two members of the club, Mrs. Victor Herrieman and Mrs. August Lorenz, are planning to attend "Farmers' Week" at Michigan State College. The club's application has been accepted by the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

An interesting message was read from a former member, Mrs. Wm. Moore, from South Carolina. The hostess served a delicious lunch at the close of the meeting.

Tawas City Boy and Great Grandmother Observe Birthday

Mrs. Adelpha Low, of Ypsilanti, widow of the late Daniel Low, for many years a prominent figure in the lumbering business in the Tawas City district, and her great grandson Alvin Glenn Long, of this city, Sunday, July 16, observed their common birthday anniversary, although separated in age by 89 years at a party in Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Low, who makes her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Parks, of Ypsilanti, is now 91 years old, while Alvin, born on her birthday anniversary in 1937, is just two years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Long, the boy's parents, made the 200-mile drive from here to Ypsilanti to permit the great grandmother and her small "birthday present" to spend the day together.

Mrs. Low spent many years of her long life here, where in addition to Mr. Low's work in the woods during the days of the pine lumbering era.

Despite her advanced age, Mrs. Low is very active, both physically and mentally. On July 2 she accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Park on a drive to this city, returned the following day, and on July 4 was up early in the morning and accompanied other members of her family to the downtown district of Ypsilanti to view an elaborate Fourth of July parade.

Four Receive Injuries In Automobile Crash

One man is in the hospital and three other people received painful injuries Saturday night when the car driven by William Ewart, of National City, collided with a car driven by John Lavandowski, of Bay City. The accident occurred at the intersection of the McIvor and Meadow roads.

Russell Freel, who was with Wawandowski, suffered a serious leg injury and a broken jaw bone. He was taken to Mercy Hospital, Bay City on Monday.

Others who were injured are Lawandowski, and Mrs. Ewart and child, who were considerably lacerated and shaken up.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart were returning home from the Kelley show at East Tawas. Freel and Lawandowski were driving to Sand Lake.

Francis McCartney, 19, of East Tawas, suffered a broken leg and painful lacerations about the body and head when a car driven by Harold Bronson, of Turner, collided with the car which he had been driving.

McCartney's car had stopped on account of motor trouble. The accident occurred near Turner Saturday night. McCartney was taken to the Omer Hospital. Three of Bronson's companions received minor injuries.

Sherman Home Burns

Mrs. Earl Jordan and child, of Sherman township, nearly lost their lives when the Jordan home, near McIvor, burned late Monday afternoon. Mr. Jordan was away and the mother and child were taking a nap. A neighbor, Nels Pringle, came to the Jordan home on an errand. Discovering the house in flames, he aroused Mrs. Jordan just in time for her to escape from the burning house with her child.

The house was completely consumed by the flames and none of the furniture and household goods were saved, and the only clothing saved was what the family was wearing.

Whittemore Makes Many Improvements this Summer

Making a strong bid to maintain its title "the biggest little city in Michigan". Whittemore presents a scene of bustling activity this summer.

Under the leadership of Mayor H. R. Powell, the city council has adopted an improvement program which, when completed, will greatly enhance living facilities.

The city purchased the East Tawas fire truck. It is planned to utilize the chemical apparatus of the truck for fire protection. Members of the council agreed that similar equipment would have prevented the serious conflagration which destroyed a business block a few years ago. A volunteer fire department will be organized as soon as the truck is delivered. A bucket brigade now is the only protection offered in case of fire.

Extensive remodeling of the city hall was necessary. A concrete floor has been put in the building and running water installed. The fire truck will be kept in the rear.

TAWAS BAY RACES OPEN TOMORROW

East Tawas Arranges for Entertainment Final Week-End

Three champions are ready to defend their crowns in the seventh annual Regatta of the Tawas Bay Yacht Club, Hubert Smith, whose "Sank" sailed to victory in Class A last year, will have McNaughton's "E", 1937 winner, Richardson's "Irene" the feet six-meter, and Wilson's "Chinook" as principal contenders for the Tawas Merchants Trophy, symbol of supremacy for the boats over 26 feet in length.

"Neenyah," a Bay City boat which Ted Tyler and Millard Hahn skippered in last year's affair, will have Ken Ferguson's "Lilgram", winner of the Saginaw Bay Yacht Club's regatta, held on Tawas bay over the Fourth holiday, to beat if she hopes to retain the Mary I. Dwight trophy which she won last year in Class B.

Herb Poppleton, of Hubbard Lake, whose "Bunnyduck" topped Class C honors and the John North Jr. Memorial trophy last year, will not be a contender. This leaves a wide open field for the many small craft which will ply the waters of the bay next week.

The real competition of the regatta will come in the National One-design class. Up until last Sunday, Matt Haglund had never lost a race with his "Babe." He took last year's series without any trouble, leaving all contenders far astern. However, for the first time since he has been skippering a boat, he tasted defeat at the hands of Hal and Art Richardson who sailed Schmelzer's "Hippity-Hoppity" in one of the regular season's races.

There was a minute difference in the time of the boats when they crossed the finish line.

Sunday at one o'clock the first point race will be held. Class A starts at that time, followed by Class B at 1:10; Class C at 1:20 and National at 1:30. Other point races will be sailed on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. The sailing program also includes a team race on Tuesday and a seascape race on Wednesday, two novelty events which provide lots of fun for competing skippers.

The "Regatta Ripple" will be staged at Edgewater Inn Monday night in form of a companionship party for skippers, crews and friends. Music for the dance will be furnished by Russ Rollins and his orchestra from ten until one o'clock.

The regatta will close with a banquet at the Holland Hotel, Saturday, July 29. Trophies will be awarded winning skippers at this time. Gerald Mallon, chairman of the entertainment committee promises something unique in the way of decorations for the affair.

In connection with the week of sailing, the East Tawas Chamber of Commerce is planning entertainment for Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, the final week end of the regatta. Arrangements are being made for an amateur show and boxing matches. These events will be held in the State Park.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

Retiring General Could Regulate Flow of Afton

NEW YORK.—News of the approaching retirement of Brig. Gen. Harley B. Ferguson is a reminder that it was he who supervised the raising of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor for the U. S. government in 1910 and 1911.

In the service for 42 years in the engineering corps, he probably has won more shirt-sleeve battles against all the disasters of the Anglican litany than any other army officer with a gift for achieving the impossible. He will be 64 years old on August 14 and there is talk that he may be upped to the rank of major general before the bell rings on his finish fight against the elements.

He is the Hackenschmidt of flood grapplers, winning one fall after another against the Mississippi. He has been president of the Mississippi River commission since 1932; member of the board of rivers and harbors since 1930 and is also a member of the St. Lawrence Waterway board.

Back in the days of "manifest destiny," starting in 1897, the young second lieutenant got his first practice workouts in the mud and miasma, floods and elemental and human catastrophe in the Philippines and Cuba, and with the army swamper tidying up China and providing relief after the Boxer uprising around the turn of the century. If the "destiny" involved getting things shipshape in a hurry, he always made it a lot more manifest than it might have been otherwise. He was chief engineer of the China expedition.

He started fighting floods in Montgomery, Ala., in 1907 and through the years commanded army engineering works, defensive and aggressive, at Milwaukee, Cincinnati, New Orleans, Vicksburg, Pittsburgh and Norfolk, Va.

In the World war, he was chief engineer of the second army corps in France. He went to West Point from his home town, Waynesville, N. C. His son is a commander in the navy. He has two daughters.

DR. PAUL POPENOE, geneticist, biologist, and student of family relations, who has given much of his interesting career to clinical studies of home life, discovers that women are aggressive proposers and that 70 out of 85 get their man. This is his finding in his survey of this hitherto unexplored field of statistics.

Dr. Popenoe is director of the court of family relations at Los Angeles. A specialist in the daily squabbles of married life, he has been effective in settling many of them. He says it is a good idea to write down all your wife's faults, check them against your own, and then burn the paper. You should keep the family budget straight, refrain from nagging, and keep yourself and everybody else around the house interested and never bored. As a geneticist, he thinks it is a fair bet that he will become a race of "super-idiots," whereas we could be super-Einsteins if we could use collectively the sense that God gave geese.

He is a native of Topeka, Kan., educated at Occidental college and Topeka university. He was a newspaper reporter in Pasadena and Los Angeles before he became a biologist and sociologist.

BIG, ruddy John M. Carmody, known as "Powerhouse John," takes over 2,500 PWA employees under the new arrangement by which he assumes a load, compared to which Atlas would be just totting a tennis ball.

New FWA Boss Belittles Atlas With His Load

Leaving the Rural Electrification administration, he heads the new Federal Works agency, which takes in both the PWA and the FWA; also the bureau of public roads, the building operations of the treasury, the U. S. Housing authority and many other Herculean endeavors.

He is a rip-snorting Irishman with a booming voice, employing section boss technique in getting things done. He was for many years an editor of the McGraw Hill Publications, making his career in industrial engineering. In earlier years, he managed coal companies, factories and steel mills.

He has been with the New Deal six years, first with the NRA and later with the NLRB. He has a Pennsylvania farm background and attended Columbia university.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LaBINE

Charge Pittman Embargo Bill Constitutes Admission by U. S. Of Japan's Belligerent Rights

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

CONGRESS: Neutrality

First guesses after the senate foreign relations committee tabled the Bloom-Hull measure held that neutrality was a dead issue this session. Not counted upon were Sen. Key Pittman's enthusiasm and the White House's insistence. Because President Roosevelt evidently feared a European war after the harvest season, he demanded that neutrality legislation be passed this session. Nor would congressional objection avail much; filibusters are a handy weapon for stalemating legislation, but the President's special session threat made it seem more desirable to act now than be called back from vacation.

The President's program: (1) retention of the munitions board; (2) barring of American ships from combat zones; (3) restriction of American travel in such zones; (4) transfer of title of goods sold to belligerents before shipment; (5) continued restrictions on loans and credits to warring nations; (6) regulation of fund collections in the U. S. for belligerents.

KEY PITTMAN
Japan would suffer, also gain.

Though all inclusive and apparently carrying more tenacles with which American isolationists fear the U. S. might become involved abroad, the President's program carries far less potential dynamite than Senator Pittman's measure. Under this bill, the President would be forced to declare a munitions embargo against any nation violating the 1922 nine-power Chinese non-aggression treaty. The obvious target: Japan.

But what Mr. Pittman apparently forgot is that such declaration would constitute American admission that a state of war exists in China—a fact Japan has never admitted. Japan would thus gain belligerent rights in China and U. S. interests would have to flee the war zone. Thus America's entire Oriental position would be toppled, and the embargo would have little effect unless Great Britain follows the unlikely course of adopting similar tactics.

Most vital from a White House viewpoint is immediate repeal of the existing arms embargo, which the President and Secretary of State Cordell Hull believe gives encouragement to Dictators Hitler and Mussolini, who know that in event of war with Britain and France the ban on U. S. arms shipments must be invoked against all belligerents. Isolationists, admitting this, think it would be a good idea.

AGRICULTURE: More Trouble

On July 1 the U. S. looked forward to a wheat crop of 716,655,000 bushels, comparatively small beside last year's 930,801,000 bushels and the 10-year (1928-37) average of 752,962,000 bushels. Obviously, wheat is not a source of worry for Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace this year. But a job with more than its just quota of worries has produced three others to take the place of wheat:

Tobacco. Last year growers voted to remove strict marketing control provisions of the farm law, resulting in a big expansion of acreage this year. As of July 1 the tobacco forecast for this year was 1,654,622,000 pounds, compared with an average crop of 1,360,400,000 pounds. If estimates materialize, some experts believe prices will be depressed 25 per cent below last year; also that—under law—another referendum must be held on tobacco quotas. If approved the quotas would not become operative until the 1940 crop started to market.

Corn. Forecast now is a crop of around 2,570,795,000 bushels, compared with the 10-year average of 2,309,674,000 bushels. Reasons: (1) unusually favorable weather in June; (2) a sharp increase in plantings of high-yielding hybrid corn. With a surplus of about 450,000,000 bushels from previous seasons already on hand, experts predict some governmental action will be necessary to forestall undue price depression. If marketing quotas result, approved by two-thirds of corn-belt farmers, growers would be required to store their share of the excess supply or pay a penalty tax of 10 cents a bushel.

Cotton. With 14,350,000 bales of cotton hanging over his head, Secretary Wallace persuaded congress to give him $928,000,000 for curing the surplus problem. Of this, a large part will go to cotton, distributing it among U. S. relief families and offsetting losses in selling cotton to foreign buyers at cut-rate prices, i. e., government subsidy. But in New York the Cotton Exchange service moaned a few days ago that cotton exports this season may be the smallest in more than 50 years, not in spite of, but because of government aid. The factors:

"First—American cotton has been priced roughly at one cent a pound above competitive relationships with foreign growths that can be readily substituted for American cotton. This, in turn, being due to the fact that American cotton prices have been largely pegged by government loans.

"Second—For several months foreign users of American cotton have not dared to make normal forward purchases of the American staple because they have not known to what extent the price of American cotton abroad will be lowered by the prospective subsidy payments on exports by the U. S."

POLITICS: Yes or No?

One good way of ruining an opponent is to give him so much rope he hangs himself. When Indiana's one-time Gov. Paul V. McNutt returned from his $18,000-a-year post as governor general of the Philippine islands, he became the nation's No. 1 outspoken seeker after 1940's Democratic nomination. What amazed onlookers was that he boldly walked into the lion's mouth, conferring with President Roosevelt and his traditional enemy, Postmaster General James A. Farley. What amazed them still more was Paul McNutt's appointment a few days later as $12,000-a-year head of the newly created U. S. security agency. What did it mean? Was Paul McNutt the President's choice for 1940? Or was Mr. Roosevelt craftily plotting the political suicide of this ambitious Hoosier, thus insuring his own renomination for a third term? The pro and con:

Buildup? "Liberalism" is a much worn-out word denoting the New Deal's objectives. The last few months it has been succeeded by "humanitarianism" as the keynote for 1940. Not to be forgotten is the "humanitarian" scope of Paul McNutt's new job, where he has charge of social security, the office of education, National Youth administration and Civilian Conservation corps,

MANAGER McHALE
Coming along fine.

all strong talking points a smart politician can use to further his own cause. Neither should Paul McNutt's travel opportunities be forgotten; as head of the security agency his chances for speeches and political contacts are practically unlimited and he is expected to make the most of them.

Breakdown? The security post is not all roses. Keen observers know Paul McNutt is in the limelight where both Democrats and Republicans can take pot-shots at him between now and nomination day. They also know that his new job may be a good place to build a man up personally, yet "humanitarianism" should have nothing to do with politics; therefore Mr. McNutt must be discreet.

Meanwhile, in Indianapolis, McNutt Manager Frank McHale could figure his campaign to date had been a success. His candidate, like young Lochinvar, had come out of the west after 2½ years in Manila, where he could make no embarrassing entangling alliances. More important, he had returned to get what Frank McHale termed the President's endorsement as a candidate for 1940

HOUSING: Political Vogue?

Periodically there arises a David who slays the wicked giant Goliath. Usually it sets a fashion until corruptness again catches hold. Last year New York's racket-busting States Attorney Thomas E. Dewey became a David, captured public fancy, inspired radio programs and placed wicked politicians on the defensive. The public obviously wanted reform and no more rackets.

When Tom Dewey began looming as a 1940 G. O. P. presidential possibility, reformation sounded like good strategy for any aspiring politician or party. By early July, Attorney General Frank Murphy had behind him an excellent record of smashing corrupt political machines (like Kansas City's Tom Pendergast) and tracking down income tax evaders. This was the signal for Scripps-Howard Columnist Raymond Clapper to charge that Frank Murphy was trying too hard to win the vice presidential nomination.

RACKET BUSTER DEWEY
Everybody's doing it.

Meanwhile there was arising another administration racket-busting program under guidance of the justice department's Thurman W. Arnold. Its aim: To drive trust practices, price-fixing and collusion out of the U. S. building industry. The day Mr. Arnold told his plans to the temporary national economic committee, Chicago Daily News' William H. Fort wrote from Washington that this was "obviously the New Deal's most ambitious trust-busting venture in its attempt to push young Tom Dewey's New York activities into the shade."

Designing or not, Thurman Arnold's drive bids fair to accomplish something. With 140 lawyers and an enlarged appropriation, the justice department expects to uncover plenty of reasons why a metropolitan dweller runs into trouble when he wants to build a house. Alleged monopolistic devices: (1) fixing of prices by producers of building materials and trade associations; (2) use of joint selling agencies; (3) control of sales and limiting of quantities.

TRADE: Penalties

It is no coincidence that the world's topmost aggressive powers, Italy, Germany and Japan, must force exports to maintain a balance of trade. One primary reason is that peace-loving nations would sooner trade elsewhere; another, goods for which foreign markets are available must be kept at home to guarantee self-sufficiency in case of war and to build military machines.

Therefore no deliberate anti-Nazi gesture was involved last spring when the U. S. began levying countervailing duties on goods imported for Germany. Though this move coincided with the Reich's absorption of Czechoslovakia, treasury and state departments pointed out that Germany customarily forces exports through subsidy, thereby giving its manufacturers an unfair advantage.

Similar reasoning was behind the countervailing duties recently imposed on Italian silk exports to the U. S., which treasury officials discovered were being subsidized.

Skiping next to aggressive Japan, the U. S. is investigating complaints from domestic textile manufacturers that Nipponese cotton goods makers are being given government subsidy, boosting still further the natural world trade advantage they gain by low operating costs. Result: Observers predict countervailing duties will soon be imposed on cotton imports from Japan.

LABOR—Oregon's Supreme court has held constitutional the famous "anti-picketing" law adopted by referendum last November, confining picketing to bona fide disputes between employers and a majority of employees, prohibiting boycotts and outlawing minority strikes.

BABIES—Since both 1937 and 1938 found France's deaths exceeding her births, Premier Edouard Daladier has announced decrees to reward large families and thus stimulate the birth rate.

BUILDING—Major U. S. engineering construction awards for 1939's first half reached the greatest volume since 1930.

All Sandwiches Aren't on Rye

This perked gent, the British fourth Earl of Sandwich, threw tremendous gambling parties in his castle two centuries ago. He began serving steaks between slices of bread so his guests could grab a bite without leaving the roulette wheel. He should have copyrighted the idea, because today the sandwich is not only a quick lunch but an industrial institution.

For example: The two gentlemen at the left are known as "sandwich men" and they advertise anything from hardware to hamburgers up and down main street. Sportsmen have their "sandwich boats" in the famous Oxford-Cambridge bumping races. At least four towns on this continent (and the Sandwich islands, too) owe their names to the gambling nobleman.

In industry the word "sandwich" means a lamination (or division into thin plates or layers) of materials such as wood, glass, paper, metal or rubber for greater strength and efficiency. One of the most spectacular of these sandwiches is the new steel-and-rubber wheel for railway cars. Photo above shows the rubber "sandwich" being placed in the wheel. The cross-section at the right shows how the rubber inserts prevent metal-to-metal transmission of vibration from rail to axle. This new process, which received one of its most successful applications in the new subway cars at New York, is being used throughout the country.

The first "sandwich glass" was named after Sandwich, Mass., a Cape Cod settlement whose formula for beautiful colored glass is now lost. Modern sandwich glass is safety plate glass for automobiles. In the above photo girls at the Libbey-Owens-Ford plant place paper-thin plastic filler between sheets of plate glass. A new "filler" has just been perfected which has four times the strength and resilience of former fillers.

Finished "sandwich" glass, a far cry from the earl's idea!

Cancer Causes Remain Mystery To Researchers

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

DRS. BANTING and Best, the Toronto research physicians, have given insulin to the world and thus saved or prolonged the lives of diabetic children and adults. Diabetes was formerly an incurable disease. Similarly, Drs. Minot and Murphy, Boston, showed that liver and, later, liver extract, would prevent death in the formerly incurable pernicious anemia.

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

With these two wonderful achievements within the last 10 to 15 years, it was confidently expected by research and practicing physicians that the cause of cancer would soon be discovered and another fatal disease conquered.

Despite the great expenditure of time and money throughout the civilized world, the cause of cancer remains unknown.

Now, there is really no known cure for diabetes or pernicious anemia, yet these diseases are being conquered—by prolonging lives for several years—by the use of insulin and liver respectively. We should therefore, in justice to cancer research workers, appreciate the fact that, if discovered early, cancer can be actually cured, by the use of the knife, X-rays and radium.

Instead of waiting for a sore or a lump to develop to the point where there is no doubt of it being a cancer, what is called a biopsy is now made. This is the examination of a piece of the suspected tissue under the microscope.

Biopsy Sore Test.
The Canadian Medical association in its Handbook on Cancer, says: "Biopsy is a most useful procedure and the only means of making certain that the growth is cancer."

It certainly illustrates the great "team" work in hospitals now to see the pathologist take a small piece of tissue from the operating room at once to the laboratory for microscopic examination.

"The outlook for cancer of the lip is extraordinarily good. Over 75 per cent of all cases, without selection, may be cured. The importance of recognizing cancer early and giving immediate treatment is shown by the fact that less than 2 per cent of the cases treated early die of the disease, whereas 60 per cent of neglected patients die of cancer."

Of course, the lip is easily gettable, but in early cases of cancer of the tongue and the inside of the cheek, the result of treatment by surgery and radium gives 60 per cent of cures.

Exercise Needed For Good Health

One of the expressions we heard as youngsters when an individual was constantly complaining about his aches, pains, stiffness or other conditions was: "If he'd stir his stumps, he'd have no stiffness, aches or pains." The thought was that it was lack of desire to work or play (plain laziness) that was responsible for his symptoms if any symptoms were present.

Today as we see men and women well past their three score years and ten walking about—stirring their stumps—it is not hard to understand why they keep free of symptoms and live so long. It is exercise, this walking about, that not only keeps their legs and feet supple, but keeps their heart strong and their blood vessels elastic.

Most of us do not realize that just to walk about at an ordinary gait calls upon the heart to pump about five times as much blood as when we are at complete rest.

Theory Fully Tested.

Some idea of how any simple exercise, any stirring of our stumps, helps the circulation of the whole body can be seen in a report by Drs. W. J. Shaw and C. E. B. Rickards, Manchester, in Journal of Obstetrics and Gynaecology. Following operation it sometimes happens that a little plug or clot—embolus—will get detached and plug or completely fill a small blood vessel, thus shutting off the blood supply to a part with serious consequences if in brain or heart. This may be caused by poor circulation and other conditions. Drs. Shaw and Rickards found that in one hospital where the same surgeon, same operations, same treatments, were given, without simple exercise after operation, the number of cases of embolus or plugging of the blood vessels was five times as many as in the other hospital where the exercises were given. The exercises given were simply lifting arms high over their heads a few times and then lying on their backs drawing legs up to the body and straightening them again.

Sick or well, except perhaps in acute heart disease, a little exercise can be of great benefit to us. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Visitors to New York find a Bible in good condition in every hotel room. The New York Bible society sees to that. Just before the World's fair opened, a careful check was made and new Bibles supplied wherever necessary. Within the last year, the society has distributed 876,939 volumes of Bibles, Testaments and Bible portions. Since its organization more than a century ago, the society has circulated 23,097,643 volumes of sacred literature. These volumes have been printed in all the many languages of the world. Braille, of course, is included since work among the blind is one of the society's most important activities. A specially trained blind worker devotes full time to other blind persons. Revised Braille is used, also "talking books." Twelve books of the Old Testament are now available on records and more are in preparation.

Not only to hotels does the society distribute Bibles. The sacred books are made available to immigrants, seamen on all ships, hospitals and public institutions. Bible distribution in New York indicates the polyglot population of the great city. To supply the needs here, the Bible must be printed in 83 different languages.

Speaking of hotels brings to mind Frank Carter, auditor of the state of Oklahoma. It was Carter who sponsored a new law which limits state officials traveling to New York, Chicago, and Washington to $7.50 a day subsistence expense account, with something less for other cities. There were those who held that it couldn't be done, especially in New York with a World's fair in progress. So when Carter and other state officials had to come here in connection with an $18,000,000 bond issue, there was a lot of razzing.

When Carter got back home, he made a report which was published in the Oklahoma City Times. Since the heading was "Dutch Bought Manhattan Island for $24 But Carter Takes All of New York for $7.50" it may be guessed that he proved that it could be done. The auditor stated that he had obtained a room for $3.50 a day, had spent 50 cents for breakfasts, 85 cents for luncheons and $1.50 for dinners, a daily total of $6.10 which left him $1.40 for pocket money. And that may prove of interest not only to Oklahomans but also to those who have heard tales of tall advances in hotel rates because of the fair.

Getting back to Bibles for just a moment. In the bad old days of prohibition, when there were various sin spots flourishing in New York, a well-known actor showed up in one of the hottest with a Bible under his arms. Commanding silence, with his very best delivery, he proceeded to read several chapters. The incident was so unexpected and so solemn and impressive that even stews became quiet and the hush that fell over the place during the reading continued for some time after the actor sat down. For a little while he remained at a table as if meditating and then quietly departed. Someone picked up the Bible he had left behind. On the flyleaf, in bold type, was the statement that it had been stolen from a mid-town hotel.

That Museum of Science and Industry will get me in trouble with the boss one of these days. Whenever I go there, I encounter some gadget that extends my stay into hours. Just now it's that miniature railroad system which visitors may operate merely by pushing buttons. There are block signal systems, whistling engines, a coal elevator with dump cars and everything, and a lot of other features that bring out the boy in me. It's a five train layout with about 400 feet of track. And I'm not the only so-called grown-up who hangs around there, either.

Quints Are Too Fat, So They Must Quit Potatoes

COLLANDER, ONT.—The Dionne quintuplets have been put on a diet because they are a little too fat, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe announced. The diet cuts down on starches and sugars. Potatoes are banned completely.

"The girls are a little annoyed," Dr. Dafoe said. "The first time they were denied potatoes, we told them they were getting too fat, but the explanation didn't satisfy them." They pointed to their nurses with the observation they were "a little too fat, too." As a result Nurses Molly O'Shaughnessy and Louise Corriveau had to give up potatoes.

The quintuplets were five years old May 28. At their last weighing they registered as follows: Marie, 50 pounds; Yvonne, 50½; Emilie, 51½; Cecile, 53½, and Annette, 53½.

Deer Obliges Hunter

POLLOCK, CALIF.—An obliging deer made the "supreme sacrifice" here to relieve the chagrin of a luckless hunter who had made several deer hunting trips this year without success. The deer walked into the residential premises of Jim Davis and waited until Davis got his gun and brought down his first buck of the season.

CCC Conquers 70-Year Blaze

Millions of Tons of Coal Is Saved in the Shallow Wyoming Deposits.

GILLETTE, WYO.—Wyoming CCC companies fighting a series of coal blazes which have burned unchecked for at least 70 years are nearing success in their six-year-old battle in the Little Thunder basin near Gillette.

The enrollees, who have controlled many of the small fires that experts estimate have destroyed millions of tons of Wyoming coal, have been at their task since the corps was formed in 1933. Although the area affected by the flames involves only a minute portion of the state's 500,000,000 tons of coal supply, officials said they hoped to extinguish all the fires because the near-surface location of the deposits makes them of great economic value.

Source Still Mystery.

Source of the underground blazes remains a mystery. Officials estimate that they were started in early settlement days, probably by a prairie fire or from a bolt of lightning. Until 1933 no effort was made to check the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of coal because of the state's unlimited supply.

Most coal fires are fought with water, but these jobs called for different tactics. R. L. Allport, district mining supervisor of Billings, Mont., was named technical adviser when the work was begun in 1933. "We learned," he explained, "that—strangely enough—whenever rain or surface water seeped into the burning veins, explosions opened new fuel for the flames.

"Therefore, water as an extinguisher was useless unless we could obtain sufficient quantities to drown the entire area and keep it in that condition for a long time. This was impossible because the water supply virtually was nonexistent."

Dirt Chokes Off Air.

Seasoned coal field workers conferred with Allport. Finally they decided upon a smothering and covering process as best suited to their needs. All cracks and fissures in the shallow mines were filled carefully to prevent air from reaching the blazes. Fine dirt then was distributed with two half-yard excavators, aided by tractors, bulldozers and road rippers.

The method proved a slow but sure success. Now, almost six years after start of the program, Allport admits that his assistants have made definite progress. How long it will take to subdue completely the numerous fires in this region, however, he refused to say.

Allport explained that as the work is very dangerous, enrollees are trained for several weeks before being allowed on the scene. Seasoned miners from Wyoming fields supervise the work.

Despite the danger, he said, no member of the various crews has been injured. Proper preventive measures and careful training established the safety record, Allport said.

Gadget Tells Motorists

Of Jerky Start or Stop

CLEVELAND.—Just to show up a driver who thinks he's good but isn't, a new gadget, which diagrams a jerky start or stop and emits also a Bronx cheer, is being demonstrated by Cleveland Automobile club officials.

The "jerk recorder" is an attempt to measure scientifically the jerking actions of an unskilled driver.

If the car is jerked in starting or stopping, a small pendulum in the recorder swings and two dials measure the exact degree of the violence.

"Handling a car smoothly and skillfully in traffic is essential to safety in modern traffic," said Burton W. Marsh, sponsor of the machine and safety director of the American Automobile association.

"This little gadget will tell drivers—in unmistakable terms—when they stop or start too suddenly!"

Farmers on Rio Grande

Test European Legume

EL PASO, TEXAS.—Fifteen Rio Grande valley farmers are making tests to determine the possibility of introducing a new building crop in the Southwest. It is fenugreek, a legume of the clover family. It has been grown in Europe and northern Africa for centuries for its soil-replenishing qualities.

The crop has been tested in California, where it produces as much as 18 tons of green fertilizer per acre in addition to the nitrogen benefits.

More Jitterbugs Hurt Than Boxers in Ring

HARTFORD, CONN.—Swinging it on the dance floor counts out more persons every year than swinging it in the boxing ring, according to actuaries of an insurance company.

Last year the company paid claims on 34,528 accidents of all types. For every boxer who was injured six "jitterbugs" collected benefits for dislocations, sprains, broken legs, and a variety of other hurts.

Missouri Meerschaum—From Cob Bin to Cob Pipe

Home of the Missouri meerschaum is peaceful little Washington, Mo., famous as the birthplace of the corn-cob pipe. Smoked by Alaskan sourdoughs, Congo chieftains and many an average man, these pipes are sold everywhere in the world. Left: After cobs are sawed into pipe lengths, the piths are bored out and master workmen turn the cobs into pipe-bowl shapes on power lathes. The cob is burnished and its pores filled with plaster of paris. Center: Surplus plaster is removed and first coat of varnish applied. Then punching machines fashion stem openings and after another coat of varnish, the pipe is ready. Right: Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York smokes his flame-scarred favorite corn-cob pipe at his desk. Other famous corn-cob pipe smokers whose testimonials are on file include Marshall Foch, General Pershing, Sen. Bennett Clark and H. L. Mencken.

Poised in Japan's "hot seat" as war with China is augmented by an apparent war with Russia on the Outer Mongolian-Manchukuoan border, Premier Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma tried to encourage his people by discrediting the Russian conflict's importance, nevertheless pointing out that Japan will continue to press her demands for fishing and forestry concessions from the Soviet.

Where Jews Build a New Homeland

Strongly reminiscent of the pioneers who helped build America are these Jewish settlers in Palestine. A Jewish girl stands guard outside the settlement at Tel Aviv, in the Holy Land. Armed with a shotgun, she takes her turn at sentry duty while the menfolk work. Even the aged must work, remaining constantly alert for raiding Arabs who resent his seeking a homeland.

ASA: A LIFE OF TRUST

LESSON TEXT—II Chronicles 14:2-12. GOLDEN TEXT—Help us, O Lord our God; for we rest on thee.—II Chronicles 14:11.

"In God we trust." These are the words which appear on many of our United States coins. Do we believe them? The lesson for today reveals how real trust in God operates in the life of a nation. The divine principles which were in effect 900 B.C. are just as valid in A.D. 1900. A prayerful consideration of them in the Bible schools of our land today and the application of them to our national life may mean more for our country's welfare than the deliberation of statesmen or the operation of governmental agencies.

The story of the reign of Asa (one of the few godly sovereigns of the nation of Judah) reveals that trust in God calls for an upright life, for intelligent preparation, prayer, and faith. If we trust God we shall

I. Make the Life Right (vv. 2-5). Asa "did that which was good and right in the eyes of the Lord." Only such a man or such a nation can really trust God and count on Him for guidance and blessing. Asa destroyed the idols and places of heathen worship (vv. 3, 5), but he also turned his people to the true God (v. 4).

Many are praying that America may have such a revival, which will result in the putting away of sin, which is becoming such a blatant commonplace in our land, and a turning to the true God in repentant and righteous living.

II. Prepare With Care (vv. 6-10). Asa trusted God but he also made every possible preparation for that which his nation might face. In time of peace he fortified cities and trained his army. This was intelligent faith.

We need not pray that God will keep us warm, if we do not gather and conserve the fuel which He has provided. We must plant, harvest, and store the grain if we are to eat when winter comes. A proper preparation for the defense of our country should precede our prayers for God's protection.

In and through all it is God that works, but at the same time He expects us to do what we can as He enables us to serve Him. The work of the Church of Christ would make great strides forward if His followers would recognize that fact. "We have no right to look for divine co-operation until we have done our best; we are not to sit with folded hands and expect a complete salvation to be wrought for us, and then to continue as idle spectators of God's redemption of mankind. We are to tax our resources to the utmost, gather our hundreds of soldiers; we are to work out our own salvation with fear and trembling, for it is God which worketh in us both to will and to do of his good pleasure" (W. H. Bennett).

III. Pray With Assurance (v. 11). The Ethiopian host facing Asa's army was so great that humanly speaking his distinction was hopeless, but "one man with God at his back is always a majority." Take courage, Christian friends, trust God. Only be certain that you are on His side and that your life is right, and then be assured that He will give the victory.

The secret of Asa's victorious prayer was that he put no trust in himself, but did believe in God. Says Alexander Maclaren: "My consciousness of need is my opening the door for God to come in. Just as you always find the lakes in the hollows, so you will always find the grace of God coming into men's hearts to strengthen them and make them victorious when there has been the preparation of the lowered estimate of one's self. Follow out your heart by self-distrust, and God will fill it with the flashing waters of His strength bestowed."

IV. Act in Faith (v. 12). Asa went out to meet the Ethiopians, but he knew that God went before him, and therefore he saw God smite them.

Right living, proper preparation, and the prayer of faith must culminate in an act of faith. If we believe that God is for us, let us act as though we believed it and step out with confidence to do His will, come what may. God honors that kind of faith, whether it be on the part of a king, leading his nation into battle, or on the part of the humblest believer, seeking to bear testimony for Him.

Consecration Consecration is not wrapping one's self in a holy web in the sanctuary; it is going into the world and using every power for God's glory. —Henry Ward Beecher.

A God of Justice No one can exaggerate the goodness of God, save when he robs God of His justice and might, and paints Him as a benevolent but weak grandfather.

EXPERTS can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it; but even experts are sometimes fooled by imperfections.

A more certain method for judging the value of any manufactured goods is a knowledge of the maker's name and what it stands for.

This is a sure index of value and an assurance against careless workmanship, or use of shoddy materials. Advertised products are worthy of your confidence and you'll find it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods.

"It doesn't do any good to call him names, Uncle Fred."
"I think you must look upon it as a great escape, Edith."
"Escape from what?"
"Unhappiness."
"Do you think I can ever escape from the thought of this?" The strong sweep of her arm seemed to indicate her bridal finery.
He sat in unhappy silence, and suddenly she laughed. "I might have known when he kept sending me orchids. When a man loves a woman he knows the things she likes."
It was then that Towne made his mistake. "You ought to thank your lucky stars—"
She blazed out at him, "Uncle Fred, if you say anything more like that—it's utterly idiotic. But you won't face facts. Your generation never does. I'm not in the least thankful. I'm simply furious."
There was a hysterical note in her voice, but he was unconscious of the tension. She was not taking it in the least as he wished she might. She should have wept on his shoulder. Melted to tears he might have soothed her. But there were no tears in those blue eyes.

She trod on her flowers as she left the car. Looking straight ahead of her she ascended the steps. Within everything was in readiness for the wedding festivities. The stairway was terraced with hydrangeas, pink and white and blue. In the drawing-room were rose garlands with floating ribbons. And there was a vista of the dining-room—with the caterer's men already at their posts.

Except for these men, a maid or two—and a detective to keep his eye on things, the house was empty. Everybody had gone to the wedding, and presently everybody would come back. The house would be stripped, the flowers would fade, the caterers would carry away the wasted food.

Edith stopped at the foot of the stairs. "How did they announce it at the church?"

"That it had been postponed. It was the only thing to do at the moment. Of course there will be newspaper men. We'll have to make up a story—"

"We'll do nothing of the kind. Tell them the truth, Uncle Fred. That I'm not—wanted. That I was kept—waiting at the church. Like the heroine in a movie."

She stood on the steps above him, looking down. She was as white as her dress.

"I don't want to see anybody. I don't mind losing Del. He doesn't count. He isn't worth it. But can you imagine that any man—any man, Uncle Fred, could have kept me—waiting?"

The thing that Frederick Towne got out of his niece's flight was this. "She wouldn't let anybody sympathize with her. Simply locked the door of her room, and in the morning she was gone. It has added immeasurably to the gossip."

His listeners had, however, weighed him in the balance of understanding and sympathy, and had found him wanting. The youth in them sided with Edith. But none of this showed in their manner. They were polite and hospitable to the last. Frederick, ushered out into the storm by Baldy, still saw Jane like a bird, warm in her nest.

By morning the violence of the storm had spent itself. But it was still bitterly cold. The snow was blue beneath the leaden sky. The chickens, denied their accustomed promenade, ate and drank and went to sleep again in the strange dusk. Merrymaid and the kitten having poked their noses into the frigid atmosphere withdrew to the snug haven of a basket beneath the kitchen stove. Sophy sent word that her rheumatism was worse, and that she could not come over. Jane, surveying the accumulated piles of dishes, felt a sense of unusual depression. While Frederick Towne had talked last night she had caught a glimpse of his world—the great house—six servants—gay girls in the glamour of good clothes, young men who matched the girls, money to meet every emergency—a world in which nobody had to wash dishes—or make soup out of Sunday's roast.

She was cheered a bit, however, by the announcement that her brother had decided to stay home from the office.

"I'll have a try at that magazine cover—"
Her spirits rose. "Wouldn't it be utterly perfect if you got the prize—?"

"Not much chance. The thing I need is a good model—"
"And I won't do?" with some wistfulness.

They had talked of it before. Baldy refused to see possibilities in Jane. "Since you bobbed your hair, you're too modern—"
She was, rather, medieval, with her straight-cut frocks and her straight-cut locks. But she was a figure so familiar that she failed to appeal to his imagination.

"Editors like 'em modern, don't they?"

But his thoughts had winged themselves to that other woman whom his fancy painted in a thousand poses.

"If Edith Towne were here—I'd put her on a marble bench beside a sapphire sea."
"I'll bet you couldn't get an editor in the world to look at it. Sapphire seas and classic ladies are a million years behind the times—"

"They are never behind the times—"
Jane shrugged, and changed the subject. "Darling—if you'll put your mind to mundane things for a moment. Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day, the Follettes are to dine with us, and we haven't any turkey."

"Why haven't we?"
"You were to get it when you went to town, and now you're not going—"

"I am not—not for all the turkeys in the world. We can have roast chickens. That's simple enough, Janey."

"It may seem simple to you. But who's going to cut off their heads?"

But it was not Evans. Briggs, Frederick Towne's chauffeur, stood there with a box in his arms. "Mr. Towne's compliments," he said, "and shall I set it in the hall?"

"Oh, yes, thank you." Her surprise brought the quick color to her cheeks. She watched him go back down the terrace, and enter the car, then she opened the box.

Beneath clouds of white tissue paper she came upon a long, low basket, heaped with grapes and tangerines, peaches and pomegranates. Tucked in between the fruits were shelled nuts in fluted paper cases, gleaming sweets in small glass jars, candied pineapples and cherries, bunches of fat raisins, stuffed dates and prunes.

Jane talked to the empty air. "How dear of him—"
The white tissue paper fell in drifts about her as she lifted the basket from the box.

There was a little note tied to the handle.

"Dear Miss Barnes:
"I can't tell you how much I enjoyed your hospitality last night—"

THE STORY SO FAR

Young, pretty Jane Barnes, who lived with her brother, Baldwin, in Sherwood Park, near Washington, was not particularly impressed when she read that rich, attractive Edith Towne had been left at the altar by Delafield Simms, wealthy New Yorker. However, she still mused over it when she met Evans Follette, a young neighbor, whom the war had left completely discouraged and despondent. Evans had always loved Jane. That morning Baldwin Barnes, on his way to work in Washington, offered assistance to a tall, lovely girl in distress. Later he found a bag she had left in the car, containing a diamond ring on which was inscribed "Del to Edith—Forever." He knew then that his passenger had been Edith Towne. Already he was half way in love with her. That night he discussed the matter with Jane, and they called her uncle, worldly, sophisticated Frederick Towne. He visited them at their home, delighted with Jane's simplicity. He told them Edith's story. Because her uncle desired it, Edith Towne had accepted Delafield Simms, whom she liked but did not love.

"Sophy," said Baldy. Having killed Germans in France he refused further slaughter.

"Sophy has the rheumatism—"
"Oh, well, we can feast our souls—"
Young Baldwin's mood was one of exaltation.

Jane leaned back in her chair and looked at him. "Your perfectly poetic solution may satisfy you, but it won't feed the Follettes."

With some irritation, therefore, he promised, if all else failed, to himself decapitate the fowls. "But your mind, Jane, never soars above food—"

Jane, with her chin in her hands, considered this. "A woman," she said, "who keeps house for a poet—must anchor herself to something. Perhaps I'm like a captive balloon—
—if you cut the cable, I'll shoot straight up to the skies—"

She liked that thought of herself, and smiled over it, after Baldy had left her. She wondered if the cable would ever be cut. If the captive balloon would ever soar.

So she went about her simple tasks, putting the bone on to boil for soup, preparing the vegetables for it—wondering what she would have for dessert—with all his scorn of domestic details, Baldy was apt to be fastidious about his sweets—and coming finally to her sweeping and dusting in the front part of the house.

The telephone rang and she answered it. Evans was at the other end of the wire.

"Mother wants to speak to you."
Mrs. Follette asked if she might change her plans for Thanksgiving.

"Will you and your brother dine with us, instead of our coming to you? Our New York cousins find that they have the day free, unexpectedly. They had been asked to a house party in Virginia, but their hostess has had to postpone it on account of illness."

"Is it going to be very grand? I haven't a thing to wear."
"Don't be foolish, Jane. You always look like a lady."
"Thank you, Mrs. Follette." Jane hoped that she didn't look as some ladies look. But there were, of course, others. It was well for her at the moment, that Mrs. Follette could not see her eyes.

"And I thought," went on the unconscious matron, "that if you were not too busy, you might go with Evans to the grove and get some greens. I'd like the house to look attractive. Is the snow too deep?"
"Not a bit. When will he come?"
"You'd better arrange with him. Here he is."

Evans' voice was the only unchanged thing about him. The sound of it at long distance always brought the old days back to Jane.

"After lunch?" he asked.
"Give me time to dress."
"Three?"
"Yes."

When luncheon was over, Jane went upstairs to get into out-of-door clothes. At the foot of the stairs she had a glimpse of herself in the hall mirror. She wore a one-piece filiac cotton frock—with a small square apron, and an infinitesimal bib. It was a nice-looking little frock, but she had had it for a million years. That was the way with all her clothes. The suit she was going to put on had been dyed. It had been white in its first incarnation. It was now brown. There was no telling its chromatic future.

She heard steps on the porch, and turned to open the door for Evans.

and you were good to listen to me with so much sympathy. I am hoping that you'll let me come again and talk about Edith. May I? And here's a bit of color for your Thanksgiving feast.

"Gratefully always,
"Frederick Towne."

Jane stood staring down at the friendly words. It didn't seem within reason that Frederick Towne meant that he wanted to come to see her. And she really hadn't listened with sympathy. But—oh, of course, he could come. And it was heavenly to have a thing like this happen on a day like this.

As she straightened up with the basket in her hands, she saw herself again in the long mirror—a slender figure in green—bobbed black hair—golden and purple fruits. She gasped and gazed again. There was Baldy's picture ready to his hand—November! Against a background of gray—that glowing figure—Baldy could idealize her—make the wind blow her skirts a bit—give her a fluttering ribbon or two, a glorified loveliness.

She sought him in his studio. "I've got something to show you, darling-dear."
He was moody. "Don't interrupt me, Jane."

She rumbled up his hair, which he hated. "Mr. Towne sent us some fruit, Baldy, and this." She held out the note to him.

He read it. "He doesn't say a word about me."
"No, he doesn't," her eyes were dancing; "Baldy, it's your little sister, Jane."

"You didn't do a thing but sit there and knit—"
"Perhaps he liked to see me—knitting—"

Baldy passed this over in puzzled silence.
"Where's the fruit?"

Archeologists Trace Man by Annual Tree Rings

The story of a thousand years of pre-history in the high watershed of the San Juan river has been dated by archeologists of the Carnegie institution of Washington by means of patient examination of annual tree rings preserved in the wood of ancient and long demolished dwellings, writes Thomas R. Henry in the Washington Star.

This region was the cradle of the great Pueblo culture, one of the greatest achieved in the New world, remnants of which persist in the Southwest today. By means of the tree-ring calendar the archeologists have been able to establish the following tentative dates, according to a report presented to trustees of the institution:
First occupancy—Just prior to 300 A. D.
First pottery making—About 475 A. D.
Invasion and conquest by an alien people—About 800 A. D.
The Golden age of Pueblo culture—From 1050 to 1275 A. D.
Abandonment of the region—About 1300.

The first settlers, the Carnegie archeologists found, were short people with long skulls, who camped in the open, but occasionally constructed flimsy, single-room huts of sticks and mud. Their only clothing consisted of loin cloths, sandals and shoulder wraps of fur-wrapped cord. They apparently were typical savages, delighting in color. Their bodies were richly adorned with beads

"In the house."
He rose. "I'll go in with you—"
He felt out of sorts, discouraged. The morning had been spent in sketching vague outlines—a sweep of fair hair under a blue hat—detached feet in shoes with shining buckles—a bag that hung in the air without hands. At intervals he had stood up and looked out at the blank snow and the dull sky. The room was warm enough, but he shivered. He suffered vicariously for Edith Towne. He had hoped that she might telephone. He had stayed home really for that.

"I have spent three hours doing nothing," he said, as he shut the door behind him; "not much encouragement in that."
"I have a model for you."
"Where?"
"I'll show you."

He followed her in, full of curiosity. She showed him the fruit, then picked up the basket. "Look in the mirror, not at me," she commanded.

Reflected there in the clear glass, so still that she seemed fixed in paint, Baldy really gave for the first time an artist's eye to the possibilities of his little sister. In the midst of all that crashing color—

"Gosh," he cried, "you're good-looking!"
His air of utter astonishment was too much for Jane. She set the basket on the steps, and laughed until she cried.

"I don't see anything funny," he told her.

"Well, you wouldn't, darling." She wiped her eyes with her little handkerchief, and sat up. "I am just dropping a tear for the ugly duckling!"

"Have I made you feel like that?"
"Sometimes."
Their lighted-up eyes met, and suddenly he leaned down and touched her cheek—a swift caress. "You're a little bit of all right, Janey," which was great praise from Baldy.

CHAPTER IV

Mrs. Follette had been born in Maryland with a tradition of aristocratic blood. It was this tradition which had upheld her through years of poverty after the Civil war. A close scanning of the family tree might have disclosed ancestors who had worked with their hands. But these, Mrs. Follette's family had chosen to ignore in favor of one grandfader who had held Colonial office, and who had since been magnified into a personage.

Mr. Follette, during his lifetime, had walked a mile each morning to take the train at Sherwood Park, and had walked back a mile each night, until at last he had tired of two peripatetic miles a day, and of eight hours at his desk, and of eternally putting on his dinner coat when there was no one to see, and like old Baldwin Barnes, he had laid him down with a will.

At his death all income stopped, and Mrs. Follette had found herself on a somewhat lonely peak of exclusiveness. She could not afford to go with her richer neighbors, and she refused to consider Sherwood seriously. Now and then, however, she accepted invitations from old friends, and in return offered such simple hospitality as she could afford without self-consciousness.

Push and Pull

A sad story comes from Victoria, British Columbia—the story of a two-tailed goldfish which was found splashing aimlessly in a park pool, never getting anywhere because one tail tried to propel him forward and the other tried to drive him backward.

We have a fellow-feeling for that goldfish. This world, it seems to us, is full of people who, between the pull of progress and the push of longing to retreat to what seemed simpler times and ways, are getting nowhere in their little pools.—New York World-Telegram.

COOLING DRINKS FOR SUMMER
See Recipes Below.

Household News By Eleanor Howe

Cooling Summer Drinks

Can you think of anything more cooling and refreshing than a frosty glass of ice cold beverage sprigged with mint and tinkling with ice cubes? Neither can I! There's something about a cold, tart-tasting drink that seems to lower the temperature several degrees.

I like to keep a variety of chilled drinks in my refrigerator to meet the demands of sultry weather; a sparkling punch to serve during mid-afternoon when everyone is wilted and weary; old-fashioned lemonade for thirsty youngsters and grown folks, too; or cool, refreshing iced tea to serve with meals, or whenever the occasion warrants.

Iced tea is a summer standby, and properly prepared it's truly delicious. Follow these simple rules for making it, if you like to serve to your family and your guests the clear, sparkling, faintly fragrant tea that's delightfully refreshing.

Iced Tea.
1. Rinse teapot with boiling water.
2. Place tea in teapot—allowing one teaspoon of tea per cup to be made.
3. Pour freshly boiling water over the tea leaves.
4. Allow tea to steep—not boil—for 3 to 5 minutes according to strength desired.
5. Cool hot tea infusion quickly by pouring it over a generous supply of chipped ice.
6. Serve at once. Lemon slices or a sprig of mint may be used as an accompaniment if desired.

Ginger Julep.
(Serves 4-5)
Few sprigs mint
2 lemons
¼ cup superfine powdered sugar
1 quart gingerale
Cracked ice
Place the mint leaves and the lemon rind, cut in strips, in a pitcher. With the back of a spoon, crush the leaves and the rind. Add lemon juice and sugar, and place in refrigerator for about an hour to ripen. When ready to serve, add gingerale, and pour into tall glasses filled with crushed ice.

Old-Fashioned Lemonade.
1 cup sugar
2 cups water
¼ cup lemon rind (grated)
½ cup lemon juice
1 quart cold water
Place the sugar, 2 cups water, and the lemon rind in a saucepan. Cover and cook for 5 minutes. Add lemon juice and cold water. Chill thoroughly, and garnish with a sprig of mint or a marshmallow in each glass.

Spiced Syrup.
2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup water
Pinch salt
3 teaspoons whole cloves
6 inches stick cinnamon
Bring sugar, water, and salt to the boiling point and boil one minute. Remove from fire and add spices. Cover and cool. Strain before using.

Frosted Grape Juice Ade.
(Serves 6)
4 cups grape juice
Juice of 3 oranges
Juice of 1 lemon
1 pint water
¼ cup sugar
Crushed ice
Combine the fruit juices and water. Add sugar. Dip the rims of tall beverage glasses in lime juice, then in confectioners' sugar to make a frosted edge. Allow to dry. Half fill glasses with crushed ice, and pour in the beverage.

Iced Coffee.
Prepare hot coffee in the usual manner making it a little stronger to allow for dilution. Then pour over crushed ice or tea cubes in tall glasses, and serve at once.

Mocha Freeze.
Pour chilled coffee into tall glasses. Add a generous spoonful of vanilla ice cream to each glass and top with whipped cream.

Bowling Green Punch.
(Serves 8-10)
3 cups orange pekoe tea infusion
Ice
½ cup spiced syrup
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup orange juice
1 pint gingerale
Pour warm or hot tea over ice. Add lemon and orange juice and spiced syrup and mix thoroughly. Add gingerale just before serving.

Make Modern Laundry Out Of Waste Space Upstairs
Waste space upstairs can easily be fashioned into a modern laundry, brightened up with paint and hung with some of those attractive low-priced curtains that are always bobbing up in such variety. If you read floor plans of modern houses you have discovered the growing trend for off-the-kitchen-laundries. Equipment designed for such rooms includes washers that pump themselves empty.

Ironing has always been an upstairs operation, possibly because it is easier to transfer ironed clothes to proper storing places without danger of over-mussing. Many ironers have table tops that serve a real purpose in the small kitchen, and there are washers tailored to kitchen size, too.

House Cleaning Is Made Easy by Use of Vacuum
The days are gone forever when, to clean a rug thoroughly, it was necessary to hang it on a clothesline or lay it on the grass and beat it with a bamboo or steel wire contraption.

Today, thanks to electricity and the vacuum cleaner, rug beating is a thing of the past in millions of homes. Moreover, in addition to eliminating much work and drudgery, the vacuum cleaner raises practically no dust and thus greatly reduces the time required for dusting.

Household Refrigerator
To get the best results from the household refrigerator, it is well to decide in advance which foods are to go in and which ones to be taken out instead of pondering the question while the door is open. Every time that happens the temperature goes up and the longer the door stays open the higher up it goes. Another wise precaution is to make sure that cooked foods are well cooled before putting them into the food chest, otherwise the heat and moisture generated will also cause the temperature to rise.

Yellow for Light
To brighten a poorly lighted bedroom, a color scheme includes walls painted daffodil yellow, a paler yellow ceiling and white woodwork with thin lines of orange color.

Care of Dishcloths
To save your dishcloths use a medium-sized cork dipped into scouring powder when polishing paring knives or other cutlery.

Your Attitude Counts
What happens doesn't matter so much as how you take it.
No unschooled man is rude to the learned if he has any sense himself.
People who have thrift must pay high taxes because those who haven't don't pay any.
Show You Are In!
Do what you can for the cause you believe in, if it is only to march in the parade.
Knowledge breeds more doubt than ignorance.
When a man says he is a "hopeless old bachelor," he is secretly glad of it.

NERVOUS?
Do you feel so nervous you want to scream? Are you cross and irritable? Do you scold those dearest to you?
If your nerves are on edge and you feel you need a good general system tonic, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women.
For over 60 years one woman has told another how to "smile thru" with reliable Pinkham's Compound. It helps nature build up more physical resistance and thus helps calm quivering nerves and lessen discomforts from annoying symptoms which often accompany female functional disorders.
Why not give it a chance to help YOU? Once one woman's nerves are in function as reported wonderful benefits from Pinkham's Compound.

Sentinels of Health
Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is a constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.
When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed by the courts over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

of taking their "outs" in the second game. Herman Kussro, Jr., was manager Forsten's choice for mound duty. "Pinky" Nichols felt so fortunate in staying the Tawas bats in the first game, that he tried to stretch it a little farther by pitching the second game too. Whittemore went out in order to start the second game. But when the locals came to bat in their half of the inning they made sure there wouldn't be another shut-out on their part by scoring three runs after two were out. Zollweg and Mallon both doubled. Laidlaw was safe when Karcher threw wild to first on his ground ball, he promptly stole second. Staudacher singled scoring Mallon and Laidlaw.
Whittemore scored two runs in the fourth on an error, two singles and two sacrifice flies. Tawas City got these back in their turn at bat in the same inning on two singles an infield out a sacrifice fly and an error. Tawas scored again in the sixth on a single, sacrifice fly and an error. Whittemore scored three runs in the seventh on four singles and three errors. Tawas put the game on ice in their turn at bat on three singles a base on balls and an error.
Webster made the outstanding fielding play of the day on a hard hit ground ball by Katterman in the fifth inning of the second game. He went far to his right and made a backhanded stop of the ball and threw him out on a close play at first base. Quick, left fielder for Tawas City, and the veteran of veterans, Jack Johnson, Whittemore's centerfielder, were kept busy in the outfield, each getting eight putouts in the two games. Johnson snagged five in the first game and three in the nightcap. Quick had one in the first game and hauled down seven in the second game. Bill Mallon, swung the big bat for the local team, getting five hits in seven times up, three singles and two doubles. He had four for four in the second game. Dunham and G. Burnside each had four hits out of eight times at bat.
Whittemore collected ten hits off the offerings of Kussro, which included two doubles. Neither Mallon nor Kussro issued a base on balls nor hit a batter. Nichols issued a walk in each game and hit two batters in the second game. In the second game Tawas City stored in every inning in which they hit, as many runs as there were hits. In the first inning they made three hits and scored three runs, in the fourth it was two hits and two runs, in the sixth one and one, and in the seventh, three hits for three runs.

Next Sunday Alabaster will furnish the opposition at the local athletic field. Tawas City needs this game to keep pace with Turner and Whittemore and stay in the race for the lead. A good game is assured as these two teams in the past several years have staged some tough battles. Let's help keep the boys in the running by turning out Sunday and giving them our vocal support. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m.
On Sunday, July 30, the Tawas City team will play the league leading Turner team on the latter's diamond. Reserve that day and accompany the team to Turner and help regain top place in the standings.
