Ironside Visit, Credit Offer Clinch British Aid to Poland If Germany Moves on Danzig

EUROPE: Stifled Rumor

At midnight 40 military supply trucks from East Prussia rumbled into the Free City of Danzig, their heavy gray doors locked tight. Next day Nazi Leader Albert Forster returned from a conference with Adolf Hitler in Berchtesgaden. On Danzig's outskirts a Polish customs official was shot dead by a Free City officer. Both Warsaw and Danzig jails held a prisoner from the enemy camp. To top it off, the Danzig senate was reported planning to elect Adolf Hitler its president and thereby effect nominal annexation to Germany.

This background of hatred suddenly and mysteriously gave way to a rumor of peace which newspapers correspondents traced from Warsaw to London and finally back to their birthplace at Berlin. The rumor: That Danzig's problem is now subject to peaceful negotiation.

Both Poland and Britain denied it, and their explanations made sense. The rumor began spreading just as Maj. Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, inspector general of British overseas forces, arrived in Warsaw for Polish-British staff consultations. Germany obviously hoped the peace rumor would split the consultants, Poland thinking Britain had sold out for a German-sponsored peace.

Nothing like that happened. To the contrary, General Ironside's visit offered the most firm reiteration to date that Britain is ready to fight for Poland's cause. It came sharp on the heels of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's guarantee to protect Danzig as well as Poland, plus offers of British credit to bolster Warsaw's rearmament.

But even this British stiffness has not deadened Prime Minister Chamberlain's yen for appeasement. Sir Nevile Henderson, ambassador to Berlin, was cautiously reported under instructions to "contact Hitler and find out just what his terms are for world peace." At the same time rumors floated through Fleet street about a huge British loan to Germany and return of the Reich's war-lost colonies in exchange for peace. If this was true, Poland may yet split with her faithless friends in London.

RELIEF: More Trouble

A big enough headache for one man was WPA's wage strike, which hit Administrator F. C. Harrington smack between the eyes. But no sooner was the strike settled than

Pictorialized

LITTLE WAR—Austrian German-speaking farmers in the Italian Tyrol refuse to be Italianized, yet refuse to be returned to Germany. A profitable tourist trade has been killed by Mussolini's order evicting foreigners from the Tyrol while he and Hitler "strong-arm" the Tyrolians into some sort of submission. Meanwhile Italy denies rumors that the area will be leased or ceded to Germany.

BIGGER WAR—Soviet-Japanese disputes in Manchukuo's Lake Bor region are minimized by a new dispute on Sakhalin island involving Japanese leases on Soviet coal and oil concessions. Sakhalin is owned half by Russia and half by Japan. When Soviet officials fined Japanese concessionaires $112,000 for failure to fulfill obligations to Russian workers, Tokyo claimed its prestige had been insulted and demanded that fines be rescinded. Both nations stood their ground.

CONGRESS:

Prayer

"I am certain that from the time of adjournment until congress meets again, the President will pray as never before that there will be no new crisis in Europe."

Thus did White House Secretary Stephen Early help Franklin Roosevelt swallow his most bitter pill of the year, an agreement with congress to table neutrality legislation until next session. This agreement seemed premature, however, for the next day Secretary of State Cordell Hull received two resolutions from the senate foreign relations committee asking consideration of: (1) an embargo on all U. S. war material shipments to Japan; (2) renunciation of the U. S.-Jap trade treaty of 1911.

This done, only the President's $3,460,000,000 lend-spend bill barred adjournment. While carriers themselves remained silent, Federal Lending Administrator Jesse Jones endorsed the scheme to let railroads lease $500,000,000 worth of new equipment. He also suggested they could offer bondholders RFC cash and preferred stock in exchange for outstanding bonds. Meanwhile Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., praised the lending bill as a "realistic approach to our economic problem" which would "put 500,000 people to work without adding to the tax burden or public debt." New York's Sen. James Mead agreed to drop his bill for loans to small business and have the idea included in lend-spend legislation. As battle lines formed, Senate Minority Leader Charles McNary conceded the bill would probably pass.

JESSE JONES
Railroads remained silent.

Also in congress:
House conferees sought compromise between wage-hour amendments offered by New Jersey's Mary Norton and North Carolina's Graham Barden. Argument: Farming interests want processors of farm products eliminated from wage-hour supervision.
The senate passed the Logan bill, embarrassingly discovering in next morning's Congressional Record that it had subjected decisions of the labor board and all other quasi-judicial or quasi-legislative agencies to review by the circuit court of appeals.
The house passed the bill of New Mexico's Rep. John J. Dempsey and Sen. Carl Hatch, banning use of official authority to influence elections.
The senate approved a resolution authorizing investigation of the labor board's administration of the Wagner act.
The senate approved and gave the house a bill extending federal crop insurance to cotton farmers.

ENGLAND:

Wheat Armament
Even in 1931's crisis British wheat prices hit no lower than 3 shillings, 8 pence. But in mid-July of this year came a new low of 3 shillings 6½ pence (about 49¢ cents per bushel). At this juncture a "preparedness" parliament considered a step which would at once relieve price pressure, eliminate surpluses and bolster defense. The move, suggested by Economist John Waynard Keynes: Appropriation of 100,000,000 pounds ($463,000,000) for accumulation of war reserves in four categories of England's vital imports. About 234,000,000 bushels of wheat would thereby be purchased. Only catch was that British Isles storage facilities can accommodate only one-fourth that amount. Observers thought parliament would compromise and buy only 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels now.

Back home in Lansing, Republican John B. Corliss Jr. started a recall petition against the governor because of his "recent sounding off about the evil he thinks he found in high places." While Corliss' fellow thinkers rushed to sign, the governor took them by surprise. Said he: "I'll sign the petition myself. I never wanted to be governor anyway."

LOUISIANA:
Both Feet
A whisper of scandal started when Louisiana State university's President James Monroe Smith fled to Canada after allegedly bilking three banks out of $500,000. The whisper grew to common gossip when Smith, LSU's Construction Superintendent George Caldwell, LSU's Business Manager E. N. Jackson and Dr. Clarence A. Lorio, president of the state medical society, were indicted on a total of 29 counts. This was only the beginning:

By mid-July federal probes were underway regarding (1) Louisiana's administration of the 1937 sugar act; (2) violations of U. S. oil regulations; (3) misuse of WPA materials and labor; (4) an unannounced subject under scrutiny by the U. S. treasury's department of revenues. Meanwhile five men made great by the late Huey Long were arraigned on charges of using the mails to defraud the state of $75,000. The five: Dr. Smith; Seymour Weiss, political bigwig and millionaire; J. Emory Adams, nephew of Dr. Smith's wife; Monte E. Hart, electric company official who has received many state contracts; and Louis Lesage, "contact" man for an oil company.

Accumulated events offered a signal for Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, New Deal hater, foe of Communism and close associate of Huey Long, to charge indictees are "bone and tissue of the Roosevelt machine."

Watch Nose As Cause of Ear Trouble

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
THE new hearing aids are certainly giving great comfort to the hard of hearing, but the prevention of loss of hearing is not as difficult as many parents may think.

Parents should keep in mind that most cases of deafness do not come on suddenly. There is usually a history of a "stopped up" nose; the child has to breathe through his mouth to get air into and out of the lungs. The air going into the lungs must be warm and moist and this warmth and moisture was meant to come from the lining of the nose.

If the nose is "blocked," then the mouth and throat must supply the warmth and moisture and the dry throat and hacking cough result.

The back of the throat becomes inflamed and this inflammation extends up to the eustachian tube—tube carrying air from back of throat to middle ear and to inner side of the ear drum. As there is not enough pressure on the inner side of ear drum, the outside air pressure drives ear drum inward and so interferes with the way impulses are sent along the little ear bones to the nerve of hearing. There is often ringing.

Blocked Nose Is Cause.
The underlying cause of hard of hearing (in most cases) is due to the blocked nose. This blocking is due to enlargement of the turbinate bones on outer wall of nose, to a bend in the septum or partition between the nostrils, to adenoid (sponge-like) tissue at back of nose, or to enlarged tonsils; in fact all four of these conditions may be present. After these conditions have been present for some time, changes occur in the ear drum and in the middle ear itself.

Dr. Harold Walker, Boston, in Laryngoscope, says:
"To prevent chronic progressive deafness we should do all in our power to maintain or restore normal breathing through the nose by hygienic measures and the removal of the obstructions. In the front part of the nose the removal of the lower turbinate bones can best be accomplished by electric coagulation; the septum is straightened by surgery. In throat and back part of nose the adenoid tissue on walls of throat and entrance of eustachian tube are removed by X-ray or surgery."
Sometimes the tonsils are so enlarged that they interfere with air entering eustachian tube and must be removed.

Electrolysis
May Be Dangerous
One of the distressing ailments that often causes an inferiority complex and may lead to actual mental trouble is superfluous hair.

For years dermatologists have advised patients to undergo electrolysis by which the electric current destroys or removes these hairs one at a time. Unfortunately, the results obtained by some patients have been disappointing in that they have lost time and money and in a number of cases their appearance is worse than before undergoing treatment. These results are usually due to the operator lacking the proper skill.

In an endeavor to show that electrolysis is still the best form of treatment and to prevent loss and disappointment to many of these individuals, Dr. Anthony C. Cipollaro, New York, in the Journal of the American Medical Association says:
"Electrolysis is far from being a safe procedure in unskilled hands. Carelessness and ignorance applied to electrolysis may cause injuries to the skin which are objectionable, disfiguring, painful and even, at times, dangerous."

Method Outlined.
After outlining the type of apparatus to use, the method of preparing the skin to remove fat or other substances, the method of inserting the "electric needle" to the full depth of the follicle or hair canal, the strength of the current and length of time needle is left in the follicle before hair is removed by the special forceps, the following advice is given:

- Hairs should not be removed from inflamed areas.
- A test treatment should be given to learn how much the skin (of other parts of the body) can stand.
- One should always use the smallest amount of current that will effectively and permanently remove hair. A mild current suffices for upper lip.
- A hair adjoining one that is being removed should not be removed at the same time as this may cause inflammation.
- Needle should not be left in follicle longer than is necessary.
- Only about three or four hairs are removed from an area about the size of a dime.

Not So Hot! Weather's Warm But These People Know Tricks

From mid-July to late August most of America expects its warmest weather, although the sun has already started its return trip to the southern hemisphere. But enterprising and uninhibited Americans have found many ways to escape the heat. For example: In Detroit (above) as in many other crowded cities sweltering citizens congregate around spraying hydrants. This method is most popular in New York's tenement district. Right: A happy, young lady indulges in a distinctly American summer treat.

Above: On the beach near Gloucester, Mass., another lady finds the temperature of 94 not so bad. Left: Professor Charles M. Heck of North Carolina State college kept cool last summer making a "heat survey" from various levels of New York's lofty Empire State building. He is shown here testing his new "prophesying" instrument intended to supplement existing weather bureau apparatus. According to Professor Heck, heat rays rising from the earth are absorbed by moisture in the air and then re-radiated. Most heat sufferers don't care—but that's science for you.

Picture Parade
It's done in the best of city and small town families on those hot nights when beds feel like blazing infernos. This Chicago couple followed the crowd, taking baby right along and covering his buggy with mosquito netting while mother and dad sprawled comfortably on the ground. When dawn peeps over the horizon they'll head for home and breakfast.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK—Within the exploits of men of achievement may—and often does—lie the favoring element of chance, frequently recognizable. But often, too, it is hidden in a vague background of contributory factors.

In Jascha Heifetz's agreement to appear in a forthcoming motion picture, Samuel Goldwyn's powers of persuasion once again excite the envy of his rivals and the admiration of his friends. The eminent violinist's personal aversion to the screen as a medium of expression has long endured in the face of repeated offers. Mistrust of sound track reproduction of the notes of his beloved violin was joined with his repugnance to the elemental music he believed he would be called upon to play and, above all, was his objection to strutting the screen as an actor. So Goldwyn's success in overcoming the great musician's reluctance is now being proclaimed.

Yet, lying back of Heifetz's name on the dotted line of a Hollywood contract are various imponderable factors. His wife, for instance, who was Florence Vidor of screen fame, may have been the influence behind his first appearance on any stage in a histrionic capacity. This was last spring when he took the role of a hill-billy fiddler in the annual show of a sophisticated midtown club, of which he is a member. Garbed in overalls, cotton shirt and red wig topped by a broken down straw hat he played "Turkey in the Straw," violin upon his knees, as the time-honored jig tune has never before been played. And for an encore there was "Danny Boy."

So who can say that the siren voice of Sam Goldwyn was not merely the fanning of a flame lighted when, with gusto and amid wild acclaim, he saw a violin lying across his knee?
Born in Vilna in 1901, Heifetz's American debut came in October, 1917. An American citizen now, he lives in Redding, Conn.

Sam Goldwyn it was who lured Maxine Elliot to the screen back in 1917 and she was but a predecessor to such exalted artists as Geraldine Farrar.

PAUL ROBESON'S magnificent bass voice will have adequate opportunity for expression in his portrayal of the title role of Sam Byrd's forthcoming production of a play adapted by the author from Roark Bradford's John Henry stories. There will be incidental music by Jacques Wolfe.

One often marvels at events, apparently casual at time of occurrence, which are found significantly to have affected human lives and so shaped destinies. When Paul was a senior at Rutgers, where he had won high scholastic honors and gained for himself a national reputation as a football end, he was looking toward the cloth as a profession. His father was a clergyman in a small community in New Jersey and, from boyhood, Robeson's idea had been to follow in the paternal steps.

Not long before graduation, the elder Robeson died and among the funeral arrangements was a plan to have the presiding bishop of the church conduct the obsequies. Accordingly, the prelate came to the scene of the funeral from his home in a village in the southern part of the state and after the services he addressed the assembled mourners substantially as follows:

"Brothers and sisters, I had to borrow the money to come to this scene of sorrow and unless you all contribute to defray my journey home, I am afraid I shall have to walk."

Whereupon, of course, the necessary traveling fund was raised. After a while the bereaved son met the late Foster Sanford who was his football coach, his guide, mentor and friend.

"You are still headed for the ministry?" Sanford asked.

"Yes, sir," was the reply. "I still am, sir."

"The highest you can ever get to be in your church is a bishop, isn't it?" Sanford asked and when Robeson said that was true, the coach fixed him with his compelling blue eyes. "And so you are going to enter a profession where, even as a bishop, you will have to borrow money to get from north Jersey to south Jersey."

That was all that was said. But next day Robeson came to his friend, confiding his intention to plump for the law and for voice. (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

It was rather early in the evening. A young woman was driving alone west on Fifty-seventh street. As she neared Ninth avenue she slowed because the light was against her.

They work fast, do those sneak thieves who specialize in stealing from motor cars on the west side in midtown. Usually they are small and eel-like and much of the color of shadows.

Small chance there is for the recovery of any property taken, no matter whether or not it is valueless to the thief.

New York scene reported by May: On Forty-ninth street, two pigeons calmly strolling up to the front door of a swanky restaurant and all but going inside.

Getting back to thievery. The other day, a batch of pancakes, apparently cooking on a gas range, was stolen from one of the exhibits of the World's fair.

Was just worrying about a last paragraph when J. P. called me up with his voice full of indignation.

Take Gospel to Tribes by Plane

Toledo Minister Is Named To Unusual Post in New Guinea.

TOLEDO, OHIO.—The Rev. D. S. Yount, Toledo flying pastor, is leaving for Dutch New Guinea, where he will fly to hitherto inaccessible regions in what he believes one of the first attempts of Protestant missions to use aircraft for teaching the Gospel.

"At present because of the rapids in the rivers of Borneo it takes missionaries 60 days by dugout native canoes to make trips which I believe I can accomplish by plane in two hours," the minister said.

Yount has resigned as pastor of the Toledo Gospel Chapel here, following his appointment as airplane missionary to New Guinea for the Christian and Missionary alliance.

His appointment represents realization of a 10-year dream.

"Ten years ago," he said, "I first thought of the idea of carrying the Word of God to the natives in distant parts by means of the airplane.

Believes Obstacles Overcome. "In many parts of the world it has been virtually impossible in the past to reach natives without lengthy and perilous voyages through the jungle.

Yount, in preparation for the carrying out of his idea, read all he could find on aviation.

"Some of my congregation thought it a bit strange, I will admit, having a minister who studied aviation in his spare time. But I knew what I wanted, so I stuck to it."

Three years ago the pastor had completed his preparatory studies, and decided it was time to begin flying.

"The first flight was a great thrill, and so was my solo flight," Yount said. "Since my solo I have been concentrating on becoming sufficiently expert in navigation and piloting to meet any emergency which may arise."

Yount will be chief pilot and will transport missionaries and supplies from the headquarters of the mission at Macassar, Celebes island.

Tribes Long Isolated. Working with him will be Dr. R. A. Jaffrey, chairman of the field missionary work in that section.

Most of the work will be with tribes whose first sight of a white man was in the fall of 1937.

"We are curious to know how the natives, who are superstitious, will react when they first see the plane," Yount said.

The plane, built at Wichita, Kan., will be shipped to Macassar. It is equipped with ambulance and first aid supplies and has two-way radio communication.

The flying pastor will take his family with him to Macassar. His wife and their children, Donald, eight; Howard, four; and Marilyn, 18 months; "all are anticipating eagerly the trip," according to Yount.

Legerdemain May Open College Door for Youth CLEVELAND.—Sixteen-year-old Willard Sporieder, one of the country's youngest professional magicians, hopes to work his way through college by pulling rabbits out of hats and by making things disappear.

"I have been earning money through magic for several years," he said; "ever since a friend of mine in Hammond, Ind., showed me a few elementary tricks. I'm sure it will be easy to work my way through college that way."

Sporieder first became interested in legerdemain in 1930—when he was seven. He has accumulated $500 worth of equipment and developed new twists to old tricks.

Venerable Parrot Dead, Staunch Cleveland Bird LEWES, DEL.—Birdy, a Democratic parrot who has roosted for President Grover Cleveland for the past 55 years, is dead.

Birdy was born about the time of Cleveland's first term of office in 1834 and acquired an extensive vocabulary from the political jargon of the times. Although he was a Democrat, the bird was a one-man parrot, for he praised only President Cleveland.

"Hurrah for Cleveland!" he would shout on the slightest provocation. A few years ago Birdy lost his eyesight, and this somewhat dampened his political ardor. But when ever he became ruffled he would always give a rousing "Hurrah for Cleveland!"

Hen Pheasant's Brood Are Plymouth Rocks YAKIMA, WASH.—It's considered almost normal nowadays for state game departments to use hen chickens to hatch thousands of pheasants for distribution over game fields.

But it's unusual when a hen pheasant reverses the operation. Workers found such a family strutting around on a ranch near here. The chicks were Plymouth Rocks. The pheasant apparently had robbed the nest from the hen that laid the eggs.

JEHOSHAPATH: A LIFE OF OBEDIENCE

LESSON TEXT—II Chronicles 17:1-6, 9-12. GOLDEN TEXT—But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness.—Matthew 6:33.

Obedience is one of the old-fashioned virtues which has been pushed aside in our present mad rush of self-expression. It needs to be revived if we are to have a happy, contented, and useful people.

I. A Good Son (vv. 1, 3, 4). He followed his father Asa and his forefather David insofar as they had followed God. Apart from God and the influence of the Christian faith, the tendency is quite the other way.

II. A Capable Administrator (vv. 2, 5, 12). Jehoshaphat faced real problems. The nation was prospering, but there were many difficult questions of foreign relations and in domestic affairs.

III. A True Worshiper (vv. 3, 6). He walked in the ways of his forefathers in his obedience to God. A man does not need to be a blind worshiper of the good old days to realize that America could profit by walking in the ways of those of our forefathers who daily walked with God.

Note also that Jehoshaphat had a real personal spiritual experience of his own. "His heart was lifted up in the ways of the Lord" (v. 6). Spiritual exaltation makes a man better fitted to live in the daily round of life where he must keep his feet on the ground.

IV. A Wise Educator (v. 9). Here was a real program of religious education. A wise teacher knows that it is not enough to remove the bad, he must replace it with the good.

V. A Respected Ruler (vv. 5, 10, 11). His own people gave him the recognition of love and loyalty (v. 5). The jealous nations around him were afraid of him, for they knew that God was with him (v. 10).

Wise in All I know God is wise in all; wonderful in what we conceive, but far more in what we comprehend not.—Sir Thomas Browne.

Strength for Need Our strength is proportioned to our need, in God's service, day by day.

Charming, Practical Midsummer Patterns

THE afternoon dress with v-neckline, slim skirt and shirred bodice (1779) is unusually pretty for those of you who take women's sizes. Make it for hot days with short, full sleeves; repeat it later on, with the narrow roll collar and long, snug sleeves.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Keep Oils Cool.—Store oils, such as olive or vegetable, in the refrigerator. They are likely to become rancid when opened unless they are kept chilled.

To Inform You.—Read the labels on canned foods. Many tell the number of slices contained in the can. Others give additional useful information about the contents.

Position of Trellises.—Trellises should be a foot to 18 inches away from a wall. This gives air a chance to circulate and gives you a chance to spray the back of the vine.

Stains on Ash Trays.—To remove cigarette stains from brass ash trays, rub the trays with a paste of salt and vinegar. Then wash them well in hot water and soap suds.

Use for Leftovers.—Leftover rice or macaroni mixed with cooked meat makes a good filling for green peppers or tomatoes. The latter need to be cooked only 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Care of Bread Box.—Summer calls for diligent cleaning and airing of bread and cookie boxes, pantry and cupboard shelves and refrigerators. Since bread molds easily in the summer, it is best to buy just enough for each day's needs.
