TAWAS CITY

TAWAS CITY WINS FROM PRESCOTT

Locals Will Play Hemlock At Buckhorn Park Sunday

In adverse weather conditions Tawas City defeated Prescott last Sunday to remain one-half game out of first place. They are now sole possessors of second place as both Harrisville and Whittemore lost last Sunday's tilts.

"Bill" Mallon started on the mound for the local team. He hurled six innings during which time he allowed six hits and one run. He wiffed five batters and issued one base on ball. Kussro took over the mound duties in the seventh and again did a fine chore of relief pitching. One hit was made off his delivery, he kept the plate free of runs, issued one free pass and hit one batter, two of the opposing batters went down swinging. Earl Slosser, a southpaw, was the opposing pitcher. Seven hits were made off his delivery, including two triples, one each by Quick and Zollweg. He walked three while ten of the Tawas City batters were victims of the third strike.

The first two local runs were scored without the aid of a baserun. In the first inning Quick led off with a grounder to second and was safe at first when McCarthy fumbled, he promptly stole second and took third when Katterman grounded out third to first, Zollweg struck out, W. Mallon was safe when the shortstop Cliff booted his grounder, Quick scored on the error. Laidlaw ended the inning by striking out.

Their second run came in the third. Quick again led off with a grounder to McCarthy at second who obligingly booted Quick again being safe at first base. He stole second and scored on two passed balls. Katterman flied to second, Zollweg and Mallon struck out.

Two more runs were added in the fifth. Quick opened with a long shot into deep right field which bounded through the fence. Quick was caught at the plate in trying to complete the circuit. The rain which fell during the fourth inning left the field slippery and running was difficult. Katterman walked and took second on a wild pitch. Zollweg then hit a low line drive into right-center for three bags scoring Katterman. W. Mallon hit back to the box and was safe on a fielder's choice when Slosser threw to third in an attempt to pick Zollweg.

Milk Producers and Consumers Hold Meet

In an attempt to better understand the bottle milk situation of the two townships some thirty interested consumers, producers and distributors of bottle milk met at the city hall in Tawas City last Thursday evening, August 3, and discussed milk, distribution, milk consumption and milk quality from its many angles.

L. M. Lamont of the District Health Department from West Branch very ably explained to those in attendance what should be expected of high quality milk and why people of these towns as consumers, and why local farmers as producers, should be interested in dairy products of high quality both from their health and monetary angle.

The meeting followed a survey of milk sources of the two towns in which J. M. Jensen of the Michigan State College Dairy Extension Division studied milk samples for bacteria, sediment and keeping quality. Mr. Jensen's work being done partly from the educational angle as a means of determining where improvement might be made in case it be needed and desired by the public.

Comments which were brought out at the meeting might well be summarized into the simple conclusion that all consumers of dairy products should for their own protection secure their products from dairies at which all cattle are known to be free from Tuberculosis and Bang's disease both of which are known to be transmittable to humans. Both Mr. Jensen and Mr. Lamont upon their work in the "Tawas milk shed" complemented the dairymen, most of which tested their cattle for Bang's disease in the recent area test which was requested by the County Board of Supervisors at their June session a year ago.

Another suggestion by the producers was that more of their customers call at their farms at milking time, or any time during the day, and avail themselves of more of the details regarding the production of milk than they are able to obtain from looking at the bottle and bottle cap.

It is hoped that the preliminary work will continue to the point where consumers, producers and distributors will understand each other's problems, and that if necessary, committees from each group may be elected to further study the field and make recommendations beneficial to all concerned.

Friends will be glad to learn that Vernon Davis is gaining slowly from his severe illness. He was taken to Mercy Hospital for an operation last week. Clifford Boomer and John N. Brugger visited him Thursday evening.

Work on New Gymnasium To Begin Next Monday

New Bowling Alley Will Open Soon

Carlton Randall, WPA engineer for the area which includes Iosco county, Wednesday announced that an allotment of funds had been made for the Tawas City school gymnasium and auditorium project and that work thereon would be started next Monday. A crew of 14 men will be assigned to the project to begin work on that date, according to Mr. Randall.

W. A. Schwable of Traverse City has been selected by the Flint District Office to supervise construction on the project for the Works Project Administration. Mr. Schwable has had a wide experience as a builder, having supervised construction on numerous State Police posts throughout northern Michigan for the WPA, including posts at Houghton Lake, East Tawas and West Branch. Previous to his association with WPA Mr. Schwable was a building contractor.

According to the proposal, WPA will supply common and semi-skilled labor, while skilled labor will be furnished by School District No. 7, Tawas City and fractional of Tawas township, sponsor of the project. Several material contracts have already been approved by the sponsor and as a result it is expected that work will proceed rapidly. Anticipated duration of the project is five months, at the end of which time it is expected that a new gymnasium and auditorium will be available for school and public use.

Sponsor representation on the project will be provided by the Francis Engineering company of Saginaw through its resident engineer, N. W. Warriner.

Mrs. Ernest Mielock and daughter, Rosmary, and Miss Dora Kull, of Detroit, are visiting their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Victoria Kull.

New Bowling Alley Will Open Soon

Richard Van Zanten and Frank Van Hoven of the Brunswick, Balke, Colendar company, in charge of the installation of the six new bowling alleys at the Tawas City Recreation hall, will have the work completed by the end of next week, announced Charles Moeller today.

The handsome new building just completed by Mr. Moeller is something in which the community can feel a justified pride. It is one of the largest alleys in northern Michigan and modern in every detail. The six new 1940 model Brunswick - Balke - Colendar 20th Century alleys are now ready for varnishing. Five coats will be required each coat carefully sanded. This work alone will require five days. The alleys will be ready for bowling at the end of next week. A Grand Opening Party will be announced later.

DETROIT BOY DROWNS AT STATE PARK

Watching Older Boys Dive, He Falls Off Dock

Joseph T. Campbell, age six years, of Detroit, was drowned sometime between five and six o'clock yesterday afternoon at the State Park dock. He was with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ellingwood, of Detroit, who were camping in the park.

Last seen at the camp at three o'clock, he had been playing with some other boys at the dock around supper time. They had been jumping into shallow water on the east side of the dock. The whole group went to the end of the dock to watch some older boys dive. In a short time his companions missed him, but they thought he had gone back to shore.

When he did not return at supper time the uncle and aunt searched for him down town. Finally thinking that he might be in the water they reported to the life guard, Rose Marie McDonald, and she started Coast Guard and State Police arrived. The body was recovered with grappling hooks at 7:45 in eight feet of water. Artificial respiration was tried for over an hour but the body had been in the water too long.

Dr. C. W. Mitton, who examined the body, believed the boy had been in the water for more than two hours. Coroner D. A. Evans pronounced death due to accidental drowning.

He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Campbell, and a three year old sister.

According to State Park Superintendent Simon Goupil this is the first fatality of the kind in the park for the past 16 years.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LaBINE

Hatch Bill, Lend-Spend Defeat Doom 3rd Term Possibilities; Congress Permanently 'Rebel'

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

GLOATING, JUBILANT REPUBLICANS (SEE CONGRESS) Michigan's Mapes, Massachusetts' Martin, Michigan's Wolcott.

CONGRESS:

Route In one day the senate ground out 229 bills. The house turned out 244 in six hours. One of these provided $2,500 for an oil portrait of ex-President Hoover, a Republican who fell into disrepute when Franklin Roosevelt came to power...

Passed by the senate, his emaciated lend-extend bill had limped from the hostile house banking committee, finally reaching the floor where a motion was made to consider it. Grewled the rules committee's Carl R. Mapes (Rep. Mich.): "I can see no justification for this legislation..."

Next day came two more defeats. Adolph Sabath reported his unmanageable rules committee could not reach an agreement on the bill to increase federal housing subsidies by $800,000,000.

Heaped atop his earlier neutrality defeat and the house-voted labor board investigation, the President's lending, housing and deficiency setbacks spelled but one thing to observers: Congress is permanently anti-White House...

(Meanwhile a survey indicated that even minus pump-priming, government agencies have some $1,600,000,000 available for loans like those outlined, compared with $1,950,000,000 which the lend-extend bill would have spread over three years.)

The President signed the Hatch bill to remove all but top-bracket federal officials (i. e., senate-confirmed appointees) from political work. This, too, was a setback...

But the week's biggest result was this: Franklin Roosevelt's congress went permanently obstreperous. And even though he might win a third term, the President knew he could do nothing against such opposition.

Flying High

HEIGHT—U. S. air corps plane carrying 11,023-pound bomb load, soared 33,400 feet, compared with Germany's former mark of 30,551 feet.

SPEED—Another U. S. air corps plane took the bomber record from Italy by flying 259,398 m.p.h., compared with Italy's 251,878. Previously, a "flying fortress" flew from Burbank, Calif., to New York in 9 1/4 hours, a new record.

ENDURANCE—Flying 219 hours, 43 minutes and still going on, Hunter and Humphrey Moody set a light-plane record at Springfield, Ill.

DISTANCE—Flying a 600-mile triangular circuit, Italy's Col. Angelo Tondi went 7,763 miles for a new distance record. Former record: Japan's 7,239 miles.

Also in congress: Apparently killed for this session, controversial amendments to the wage-hour act, which would eliminate 2,000,000 processors of agricultural products. The White House objects.

MEXICO:

Guffey and Oil

Simultaneously in late July appeared two articles, one a newspaper story by Marquis Childs, the second a Saturday Evening Post account by Ruth Sheldon. Subject of both: Mexico's expropriation of British-American oil lands.

Unimportant in themselves, the articles had important repercussions. In the senate West Virginia's Matthew M. Neely and New Hampshire's H. Styles Bridges both arose to ask an inquiry. Answered Joe Guffey: "I want to assure my colleagues... that I have nothing to conceal." At the same time he blasted Writers Childs and Sheldon.

Whatever the cause, Mexican oil suddenly became so hot that Ambassador Francisco Castello Najera rushed back from conferences with his boss, President Lazaro Cardenas, with new proposals for Donald R. Richberg, counsel for oil companies. Minus official announcement, proposals were said to provide a 51-49 division of stock between Mexico and oil companies, respectively, U. S. technicians being rehired at their previous salaries. Damages would be paid.

A fly dropped into the ointment two days later when Mexican news reports hinted government expropriation of the 8,750-acre El Potrero sugar property American-owned.

HOUSING U. S. May Discover 'Yardstick' In Low-Cost Indiana Project

THIS is the living room of a home costing somewhere less than $2,500. In July, 1937, four brothers named Hoess at Hammond, Ind., divided a 40-acre "white elephant" plot into one-acre lots, then sold homes to low-wage earners and provided them enough land for productive gardening. Thirty-six homes have been built, most of them four rooms with bath on which tenants pay $20 to $25 a month.

Painting, decorating and installation of light fixtures is left to occupants, who not only enjoy working on their own homes but take better care of them that way. Interest in the Hoess plan has become so widespread that the O'Mahoney economic committee is investigating it as a possible model for future U. S. housing activity.

Food bills are cut down by gardening. Fresh eggs are within easy reach, too. Right: families which once lived in over-crowded areas now enjoy sunshine and fresh air.

Most of the 40-acre plot is already sold and constructed, but customers still come. Not to be compared with FHA homes, Hoess houses are smaller, less carefully constructed, yet many housing experts think they fit the average income better.

Pain in Front Of Ear Often Boil Symptom

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON A PATIENT may feel a little pain or soreness in the ear, which later becomes so severe that when he telephones his physician the latter has almost made up his mind that he will find a severe ear infection and that the very severe pain is likely due to the formation of pus in the mastoid—the spongy bone behind the ear.

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

He finds the patient in great pain, but is relieved to find that the pain is not behind the ear, and the mastoid is not painful when pressed. The pain is really in or in front of the ear and is increased when he moves the ear about.

What is usually the trouble when the pain is in front of the ear, and moving the ear increases the pain? These are symptoms of a furuncle or boil in the canal going in to the outer side of the drum of the ear—not in the ear proper at all.

In speaking of these boils or furuncles in the outer ear canal, Dr. F. S. Wrigley, Manchester, in The Practitioner, says that the majority of cases do not call for operation and a soothing and "waiting" or palliative treatment often gives the better result.

When the boil comes to a "head" and it can be seen to contain pus, opening should not be delayed. As opening a boil in this region is often very painful, Dr. Wrigley states that a general anaesthetic should always be given.

Some physicians clean out the canal with equal parts of peroxide and warm water, dry the canal with absorbent cotton, and then insert a few drops of Keith's dressing (one part carbolic to 16 parts glycerin). If the boil is small and "ready," it is opened with a wooden toothpick that has been dipped in carbolic.

It is important to remember that when pain is in and in front of the ear and is increased when ear is moved, the trouble is likely due to a boil in the canal.

Nerves Cause Many 'Symptoms'

It is only natural that a patient who is consulting his physician for all manner of small ailments causes the physician to feel that the patient is just nervous and "imagines" many of the symptoms of which he complains. And even when there is some slight organic condition present, such as a slight heart murmur, the physician knows from exercise or other tests that this condition is really causing no symptoms. The symptoms are due to nervousness.

Similarly with symptoms occurring in the stomach and intestines. "The digestive tract is so exceedingly sensitive to nervousness, worry, anger, and fatigue that the physician must learn something of the patient's temperament, of his sorrows and his problems of life in home, office, and shop. Actually, even when an organic disease is found, such as an ulcer in the duodenum (the first part of the small intestine into which the stomach empties) it still may be necessary for the physician to delve into the patient's private life to learn such things as financial reverses, domestic unhappiness, or bad nervous habits which commonly give rise to an ulcer of stomach or duodenum and later help to keep it active."

Tell Doctor Your Troubles. In other words, it is the home, office, or shop life that is causing the symptoms whether or not the ulcer or other condition is present, and if present, is causing the symptoms to continue day after day and week after week. No medical or even surgical treatment can cure this condition as long as his nervousness and upsets continue. The thought then for patients is to tell their physician about the things that are worrying or upsetting them. The physician may be able to help the patient to overcome these conditions.

Of course, it is not hard for the physician to recognize the ordinary neurotic or fussy individual who is described by Dr. Walter Alvarez, Mayo clinic, thus: "We physicians all dread meeting the woman with so many complaints that she comes to the first interview with a written list of them; we know immediately that she hasn't much seriously wrong with her and we know that our treatment is not likely to be of much help to her." (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Britain's First 'War Babies' En Route to Camp

Called to service by an arming Britain, these soldiers—part of 30,000 young men between 18 and 21 years of age—gaily walk into London's Waterloo railroad station, bound for their various camps and barracks. They form the vanguard of 200,000 conscripted militiamen who were babies shortly after the World War ended, and are an integral part of Britain's preparedness campaign.

Nine-Year Drought May Produce .400 Hitter

The major leagues are preparing to clear the decks for another .400 hitter—the first since 1930, when Bill Terry hit .401 for the Giants. If he continues at his present clip, Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees will enter the exclusive company of such stars as Rogers Hornsby, Nap Lajoie, Ty Cobb and others. Here is how he does it: Left: Waiting for the throw. Center: His stance with feet 24 inches apart and just the correct distance from the plate. Pictured at the top right are his keen eyes which follow the ball to the plate. Bottom: His grip on the bat.

'Talking Sound' Gives Voice to Saw

Gilbert Wright, son of Novelist Harold Bell Wright, demonstrates how sound can be transmitted through vocal chords by use of "talking sound," which he has invented. Two "buzzers," the size of head-set receivers, are held on both sides of the neck of Mrs. Wright. As Mr. Wright saws through the board, the sound is picked up by a microphone and vibrates the vocal chords in his wife's throat. In this demonstration the tone was provided by the sawing, and Mrs. Wright formed the words without uttering them. The invention is based on the two fundamentals of speech, the tone created by the vocal chords and the movements of teeth, tongue and lips.

Complete Transatlantic Track Meet

Four track stars completed their "run across the Atlantic" recently when their ship docked in New York harbor. Embarking at Southampton, England, they sprinted around the deck of the liner in relays during the entire crossing. Left to right: Kenneth Baily, Noel Griffin, George Harris and Douglas Brady. Baily holds the torch which they passed from hand to hand and which will eventually be presented to President Roosevelt in the White House. Harris is an American.

Plunges 150 Feet, Lives

Miraculously escaping death when her car plunged 150 feet from a viaduct, Mrs. Edna Burdick of New York suffered only a few scratches in the almost unbelievable accident. The broken line indicates the descent of the automobile, which was left a crumpled wreck. Bottom: Mrs. Burdick treated at hospital.

Ho Hum—I'm All Right

In weather like this, there's nothing like comfortable clothing and a cooling drink, according to six-month-old Diane Allen of Forest Hills, N. Y. "Buster," her alert pal, objects to the heat, too.

By L. L. STEVENSON

New York: Desiring to see the Aquacade at the World's fair, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hood of Charlotte, N. C., joined a ticket-booth line in which there were probably 500 persons. When the line hadn't moved an inch in 10 minutes, Mr. Hood asked a fair policeman what was causing the delay. The reply was that there was no delay.

"But what are they doing in line?" persisted the North Carolinian.

"Oh, just standing," replied the officer. "That's a habit New Yorkers have. If any one is waiting they line up to see what will happen. When you go back to town, stop and look up at the sky and you'll have a mob around you in no time. This crowd's probably waiting for the next show, which will come three hours later."

With that Mr. Hood stepped up to the window, bought tickets and he and his wife went in, leaving the 500 outside.

Free Show: Steam-shovel addicts—the shovels are really gasoline powered nowadays—got eyes full in two ways while a monster was engaged in chewing up the street in the vicinity of where the old post office building once stood. Kibitzers were on hand in plenty as the big scoop plowed up huge bites of asphalt and the sight of course was one eye-ful. The other came in the way of dust stirred up by the work. Nevertheless, a large portion of the audience was so deeply interested that it didn't mind the dust. And dust in the eye isn't pleasant either. I speak from first-hand knowledge acquired in the vicinity of where the old post office building once stood.

Three Cheers: When he came up to a blind man who was hesitating at Broadway and Fifty-first street and offered to help him across, he had every indication of being one of those "good Samaritans" common in this supposed-to-be-emery-hearted city. But as he was leading the blind man, he attempted to pick his pocket. He might have got away with it, too, had it not been for the Havana-Madrid doorman who witnessed the whole proceeding from his post. The doorman captured the thief and before turning him over to the police gave him what is known as a "going over" and did it so thoroughly the thief was actually glad when a cop came up. And so, a salute to a deserving doorman.

Behind N. Y. Scenes: Scrubwomen who wash down thousands of steps after office workers go to their homes. A chef in the kitchen of a large hotel who juggles plates when not busy. An information booth attendant in Grand Central asks a companion for the right word to fill out a cross-word puzzle. Taxicab drivers sit around listening to ball games on dull afternoons. Two street cleaners take time off to pick horses from a racing sheet. A traffic cop in the back of a tailor shop leaves his wet raincoat to dry. Clerks ordered around during working hours order waitresses around during lunch hour. Thanks to Bob Stanley, musical director, for this assist.

Protection: Frank Benedict, the veteran engineer, told me of the saloon in Superior, Wis., where a number of engineers were gathered and talking railroading. A stranger came in and, taking his place at a bar, asked the man in the white apron if he had an umbrella.

"What do you want an umbrella for?" asked the bartender. "It isn't raining."

"I want to keep the cinders out of my beer," was the reply.

End Piece: Someone with a flair for mathematics has figured out that Jane Froman can do almost 67 hours of continuous warbling without resorting to sheet music or repeating a number. Miss Froman, it seems, knows the words to 2,000 songs which have been done over the air in the last few years. The average tune of one verse and one chorus runs two minutes. Thus, 4,000 minutes or 66 hours and 40 minutes, which is enough to indicate that the gal has a good memory.

Steeplejack's Dog

Follows Tradition

PORTLAND, ORE.—Lady, an Austrian shepherd dog, trotted back and forth on the parapet of the fourteenth story of a downtown Portland building and refused to leave her dizzy perch. Office workers leaned from windows and a crowd gathered in the street far below. Peace and quiet were restored only when Steeplejack Roy Smith, her master, climbed down from a 60-foot flagpole he was painting and chained his dog to the roof.

SANDWICHES MAINSTAYS OF SUMMER MENUS (See Recipe Below)

'Make Mine a Ham on Rye'

Sandwiches in all their delightful variety are the mainstays of summer menus. Grilled sandwiches make a "one-dish meal" for lunch or supper; substantial sandwiches with hearty fillings make a satisfying picnic lunch; and dainty "tea sandwiches," served with a frosted beverage, are perfect for a party.

But it keeps a woman's wits working overtime to provide sandwiches that are new and different! And new and different they must be, if they're to retain the appetite appeal which makes them popular.

Success With Sandwiches.

1. Use bread that is a day old.
2. Cream the butter—don't melt it.
3. Whatever the filling, use plenty of it.
4. Keep sandwiches moist for several hours by wrapping them in wax paper or in a clean cloth wrung out of hot water.
5. Remember to use a variety in breads, as well as fillings—whole wheat, rye, graham, oatmeal, brown bread, raisin bread, nut bread and orange bread all make delicious sandwiches.
6. Use left-over sandwiches for next day's lunch or supper by "french toasting" them—merely dip the sandwiches in beaten egg, pan fry them on both sides, and serve hot with a garnish of watercress or sweet pickle.

Raisin Orange Filling for Sandwiches.

- (Makes 8-10 sandwiches)
- 2 cups raisins
 - 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
 - 2 tablespoons orange juice
- Grind the raisins, add orange rind and juice and blend well. Use with white or whole wheat bread.

Banana Butter Filling.

- (Makes 1 cup filling)
- 1 ripe banana
 - 1/2 cup peanut butter
 - 1/4 cup dates (cut fine)
 - 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- Mash banana with a fork and thoroughly blend in remaining ingredients.

Mayonnaise Sandwich Loaf.

- 1 loaf bread
- 1 head lettuce
- 1/2 cup boned chicken
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise dressing
- 3 slices broiled bacon
- 1 medium sized tomato
- 3/4 package cream cheese
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- Ripe olives
- Celery

Remove crusts and slice a medium sized loaf of bread lengthwise in three long slices. Place crisp lettuce leaves on the slice and add a layer of boned chicken. Spread a second slice of bread with mayonnaise dressing and place dressing side down, on the chicken. Add crisp broiled bacon and thin sliced tomatoes as the sandwich filling on this second layer. Spread tomatoes with mayonnaise dressing and top with third long slice of bread. Mix 3 to 4 packages softened cream cheese with one tablespoon prepared mustard and frost the loaf. Garnish with ripe olives and parsley. Slice as for ordinary loaf of bread. Serve on individual plates.

Hot Peanut Butter Sandwiches.

Toast 5 slices of bread on one side only. Then spread untoasted side with 1/2 cup peanut butter, and then with 1/4 cup chili sauce. Top with slices of bacon and broil slowly until bacon is slightly browned and crisp. Serve with gherkin pickle fans.

Sandwich Spread.

- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup milk
- 2 eggs (slightly beaten)
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 6 tablespoons soft butter
- 1 3-ounce package cream cheese
- 1/4 cup pimiento (chopped)
- 1/4 cup olives (chopped)
- 2 tablespoons pickle (chopped)
- 1 tablespoon green pepper (chopped)

In a double boiler place the mustard, sugar, salt and milk. Blend in eggs and vinegar, and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from flame, and add remaining ingredients. Store in refrigerator until using.

Savory Sandwich Filling.

- 1 pound American cheese
 - 1/4 pound dried beef
 - 1 cup condensed tomato soup
- Run cheese and beef through food chopper, then moisten with the tomato soup. You will find that this filling will keep indefinitely if stored in the refrigerator.

WORTH REMEMBERING

Brown paper moistened in vinegar will polish tins until they shine like silver.

Save all paraffin as you remove it from your preserves and jelly. A man's pipe cleaner makes an excellent device for cleaning the spout of the coffee or tea pot.

Emptying a cream whipper and bowl is wasteful unless one takes time to scrape them carefully.

To prevent sugar from forming in preserves or jam, add a teaspoon of corn sirup to the contents of each pint.

When the faucets in your bathroom need polishing take a soft cloth wet in kerosene and it will brighten them instantly without injury.

Instead of peeling whole apples, first cut them in half, then in quarters, cut out the core and then peel. This is a great time saver.

Instead of peeling potatoes or scraping carrots, scrub same with a chore ball, and skins will come off easily without waste.

For a Higher Effect

Interior decorators have now decided that the use of a deep color on ceilings raises them, instead of lowers, as has been usually thought. A new trick is to carry the side wall paper up onto the ceiling about 10 inches, instead of dropping the ceiling color down on the sides. This creates an optical illusion of greater height.

He Had a Cheerful Way Of Announcing Intentions

The country youth had been courting his girl for some time, but could never manage to pluck up sufficient courage to propose to her. At last he took her into the cemetery during the course of one of their walks.

"That's where my uncle and aunt are buried," he said, pointing out a tombstone, "and that's where my father and mother are buried," he continued, indicating another grave.

A few yards farther on they came to open ground. He stopped again, pointing once more.

"That," he said, "is where I want you and me to be buried some time."

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Peanuts Are Popular

The history of peanuts in America is an interesting one. Up to the time of the Civil war a few peanut plant were grown in gardens in Virginia and the Carolinas for family use and curiosities. During the war the soldiers found the nuts to be excellent food, with the result that in the year following the end of hostilities the acreage assigned to them steadily increased. But it was not until the peanut thrasher, the mechanical peanut picker and the sheller were invented that they were grown and harvested on a large scale.

Settlers Introduced the Bee

The bee was actually unknown in this country until introduced by the settlers. One writer records that the Indians had no name for it and called it the Englishman's fly. Yet the invention of the bee line to mean a straight line is purely American, although it has become familiar in England.

Naming Michigan
Michigan's first families gave the state its name, according to the Ottawa Indians of the region, and at the same time expressed their high regard for the state as a garden spot. Mish-e-gon-jing, the Ottawa word for "place of clearings in the forests for gardens," is the word from whence Michigan got its name, they say. Contracted to Mish-a-gon it means simply clearing or garden. The Indians have used this region for their farms since prehistoric times, many of them wintering in the Kankakee river valley in Illinois.

Dyes Known as Indicators
There are certain dyes, known as indicators, that show different colors in acid and in alkaline solutions; these are extremely useful in chemical work where the acidity or alkalinity of solutions must be carefully controlled.

Canals Under German Cities
Underground canals extend more than 400 miles under the streets of Munich, Germany.

Freedom
Freedom implies negatively the absence of constraint, and positively self-determination.

The Penny Post
The Penny Post was an institution transplanted from London by Benjamin Franklin soon after he was appointed one of the two deputy postmasters for the Colonies in 1753, and the its London counterpart, had grown up in the post office but, strictly speaking, was not a government function. The main difference between the two was that in London the profits from the local post were assigned to a court favorite, while in America they were the perquisites of the individual postmasters or the carriers whom the latter might appoint.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE
COMPANION TO THOUSANDS
Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read The American Boy Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "The American Boy seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such sympathetic and helpful way. It gives good advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in The American Boy."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in The American Boy Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend The American Boy enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of The American Boy advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, Scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in The American Boy, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

The American Boy sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance directly to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

Blackwell's Island
Blackwell's Island is in East Tawas and belongs to New York City. It has an area of about 120 acres, and contains the penitentiary, almshouse, lunatic asylum for women, workhouse and a convalescent hospital. Nearly all these buildings were erected from granite quarried on the island, by convict labor, the style of architecture being of a turreted and battlemented design of the feudal character. The island is bordered by a heavy granite sea wall, also built by the convicts and a large amount of farming and gardening is carried on by the inmates of the penitentiary.

Strawberries as a Dentifrice

Showing the Latest Button-Front Styles

NO WONDER button-front dresses are so popular for midsummer! They go on without mussing your hair or getting mussed themselves. They look so smart, crisp and tailored, and they are easiest of all to press! No. 1787 is an unusually pretty version, so easy to make that even beginners can do it. Inside pleats make your waistline small. Gathers give a nice round bustline. Make this of gingham, linen, pique or shark-skin, and trim it with lace or braid.

Buttons to the Waistline.
A new and delightfully different version of the button-front is No. 1790. It has buttons to the waistline only. The skirt is cut with a wide lap-over, and a pretty, circular swing. For this, choose gingham, percale, linen or pique, with snowy frills to make it the more cool-looking and becoming.

The Patterns.
No. 1787 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards of 35-inch material with short sleeves; 1 3/4 yards of lace or braid.
No. 1790 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material without nap; 2 1/4 yards of trimming.

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., Room 1324, 211 W. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. Price of patterns, 15 cents (in coins) each.

YOU cannot build an ideal state by simply passing laws to regulate life's activities. Making people dependent upon the state is not building the state or the individual. To make man self-sustaining, adventuresome, a builder reaching out to find self and his Maker, that is practical patriotism.—U. S. Senator Alexander Wiley.

Your Masters
Hope, cheer, true love, sanity, health, optimism, you know these conduce to your efficiency and content.

Despair, self-pity, vanity, fear, pessimism you know the effects of these are invariably morbid. Feelings are the invisible masters of thought: Choose your masters.—Dr. Frank Crane.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.
Get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a good general system tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life. THE STORY THUS FAR

Young, pretty Jane Barnes, who lived with her brother, Baldwin, in Sherwood Park, near Washington, was not particularly impressed when she read that rich, attractive Edith Towne had been left at the altar by Delafield Simms, wealthy New Yorker. However, she still mused over it when she met Evans Follette, a young neighbor, whom the war had left completely discouraged and despondent. Evans had always loved Jane. That morning Baldwin Barnes, on his way to work in Washington, offered assistance to a tall, lovely girl in distress. Later he found a bag she had left in the car, containing a diamond ring on which was inscribed "Del to Edith—Forever." He knew then that his passenger had been Edith Towne. Because he was half in love with her, that night he discussed the matter with Jane, and they called her uncle, worldly, sophisticated Frederick Towne. He visited them at their home, delighted with Jane's simplicity. He told them Edith's story. Because her uncle desired it, Edith Towne had accepted Delafield Simms, whom she liked but did not love. She disappeared immediately after the wedding was to have taken place. The next day Jane received a basket of fruit from Towne, and a note asking if he might call again. Mrs. Follette, widowed mother of Evans, was a woman of indomitable courage. Impoverished, she nevertheless managed to keep Evans and herself in comparative comfort by running a dairy farm. Evans, mentally depressed and disillusioned, had little self-reliance and looked to his mother and Jane for guidance. Edith Towne phones Baldy in answer to an ad. She asked him to bring her pocketbook. Jane calls on Frederick Towne in his elaborate office.

CHAPTER V—Continued

Jane bought modestly and Briggs carried her parcels. He even made a suggestion as to the cut of the steak. His father, it seemed, had been a butcher.

They drove back then for Frederick. Briggs went up for him, and returned to say that Mr. Towne would be down in a moment.

Frederick was, as a matter of fact, finishing a letter to Delafield Simms:

"I am assuming that you will get your mail at the Poinciana, but I shall also send a copy to your New York office. Edith has asked me to return the ring to you. I shall hold it until I learn where it may be delivered into your hands.

"As for myself, I can only say this—that my first impulse was to kill you. But perhaps I am too civilized to believe that your death would make things better. You must understand, of course, that you've put yourself beyond the pale of decent people."

Lucy's pencil wavered—a flush stained her throat and cheeks—then she wrote steadily, as Frederick's voice continued:

"You will find yourself black-balled by several of the clubs. Whatever your motive, the world sees no excuse."

He stopped. "Will you read that over again, Miss Logan?"

So Lucy read it—still with that hot flush on her cheeks, and when she had finished Frederick said, "You can lock the ring in the safe until I give you further instructions."

A clerk came in to say that the car was waiting, and presently Frederick Towne went away and Lucy was left alone in the great room, which was not to her a forest of adventure, as it had seemed to Jane, but a great prison where she tugged at her chains.

She thought of Delafield Simms sailing fast to southern waters. Of those purple seas—the blazing stars in the splendid nights. Delafield had told her of them. They had often talked together.

She turned the ring around on her finger, studying the carved figure. The woman with the butterfly wings was exquisite—but she did not know her name. She slipped the ring on the third finger of her left hand. Its diamonds blazed.

She locked it presently in the safe—then came back and read the letter which Towne had signed. She sealed it and stamped the envelope. Then she wrote a letter of her own. She made a little ring of her hair, and fastened it to the page. Beneath it she wrote, "Lucy to Del—forever." She kissed the words, held the crackling sheet against her heart. Her eyes were shining. The great room was no longer a prison. She saw beyond captivity to the open sea.

Mrs. Allison and the three old ladies with whom Jane was to drink tea, were neighbors. Mrs. Allison lived alone, and the other three lived in the homes of their several sons and daughters. They played cards every Friday afternoon, and Jane always came over when Mrs. Allison entertained and helped her with the refreshments. They were very simple and pleasant old ladies with a nice sense of their own dignity.

At any rate, they had Jane. Some of the other young people scorned these elderly tea-parties, and if they came, were apt to show it in their manner. But Jane was never scornful. She always had the time of her life, and the old ladies felt particularly joyous and juvenile when she was one of them.

But this afternoon Jane was late. Tea was always served promptly at four. And it happened that there were popovers. So, of course, they couldn't wait.

"I telephoned to Sophy," said Mrs. Allison, "and Jane has gone to town. I suppose something has kept her. Anyhow we'll start in."

So the old ladies ate the popovers and drank hot sweet chocolate, and found them not as delectable as when Jane was there to share them. Things were, indeed, a bit dull.

They discussed Mrs. Follette, whose faults furnished a perpetual topic. Mrs. Allison told them that the young Baldwins had dined at Castle Manor on Thanksgiving. And that there had been other guests.

"How can she afford it," was the unanimous opinion, "with that poor boy on her hands?"

"He's sitting up there on the terrace," Mrs. Allison further informed them. "Do you think I'd better ask him to come over?"

They thought she might, but her hospitable purpose was never fulfilled, for as she stepped out on the porch, a long, low limousine stopped in front of the house, and out of it came Jane in all the glory of a great bunch of orchids, and with a man by her side, whose elegance measured up to the limousine and the lovely flowers.

They came up the path and Jane said, "Mrs. Allison, may I present

They came up the path.

Mr. Towne, and will you give him a cup of tea?"

"Indeed, I will," Mrs. Allison seemed to rise on wings of gratification, "only it is chocolate and not tea."

And Frederick said that he adored chocolate, and presently Mrs. Allison's little living-room was all in a pleasant flutter; and over on Jane's terrace, Evans Follette sat, a lonely sentinel, and pondered on the limousine, and the elegance of Jane's escort.

Once old Sophy called to him, "You'll ketch your death, Mr. Evans."

He shook his head and smiled at her. A man who had lived through a winter in the trenches thought nothing of this. Physical cold was easy to endure. The cold that clutched at his heart was the thing that frightened him.

The early night came on. There were lights now in Mrs. Allison's house, and within was warmth and laughter. The old ladies, excited and eager, told each other in flashing asides that Mr. Towne was the great Frederick Towne. The one whose name was so often in the papers, and his niece, Edith, had been deserted at the altar. "You know, my dear, the one who ran away."

When Jane said that she must be getting home, they pressed around her, sniffing her flowers, saying pleasant things of her prettiness—hinting of Towne's absorption in her.

She laughed and sparkled. It was a joyous experience. Mr. Towne had a way of making her feel important. And the adulation of the old ladies added to her elation.

As Frederick and Jane walked across the street towards the little house on the terrace, a gaunt figure rose from the top step and greeted her.

"Evans," Jane scolded, "you need a guardian. Don't you know that you shouldn't sit out in such weather as this?"

"I'm not cold." She presented him to Frederick. "Won't you come in, Mr. Towne?" But he would not. He would call her up. Jane stood on the porch and watched him go down the steps. He waved to her when he reached his car.

"Oh, Evans," she said, "I've had such a day."

They went into the house together. Jane lighted the lamp. "Can't you dine with us?"

"I hoped you might ask me. Mother is staying with a sick friend. If I go home, I shall sup on bread and milk."

"Sophy's chops will be much better." She held her flowers up to him. "Isn't the fragrance heavenly?"

"Towne gave them to you?" She nodded. "Oh, I've been very grand and gorgeous—lunch at the Chevy Chase club—a long drive afterward—" she broke off. "Evans, you look half-frozen. Sit here by the fire and get warm."

"I met both trains."

"Evans—why will you do such things?"

"I wanted to see you."

"But you can see me any time—"

"I cannot. Not when you are luncheon with fashionable gentlemen with gold-lined pocketbooks." He held out his hands to the blaze. "Do you like him?"

"Mr. Towne? Yes, and I like the things he does for me. I had to pinch myself to be sure it was true."

"If what was true?"

"That I was really playing around with the great Frederick Towne."

"You talk as if he were conferring a favor."

She had her coat off now and her hat. She came and sat down in the chair opposite him. "Evans," she said, "you're jealous." She was still vivid with the excitement of the afternoon, lighted up by it, her skin warmed into color by the swift flowing blood beneath.

"Well, I am jealous," he tried to smile at her, then went on with a touch of bitterness, "Do you know what I thought about as I sat watching the lights at Mrs. Allison's? Well, as I came over today I passed a snowy field—and there was a scarecrow in the midst of it, fluttering his rags, a lonely thing, an ugly thing. Well, we're two of a kind, Jane, that scarecrow and I."

Her shocked glance stopped him. "Evans, you don't know what you are saying."

He went on recklessly. "Well, after all, Jane, the thing is this. It's a man's looks and his money that count. I'm the same man inside of me that I was when I went away. You know that. You might have loved me. The thing that is left you don't love. Yet I am the same man—"

As he flung the words at her, her eyes met his steadily. "No," she said, "you are not the same man." "Why not?"

"The man of yesterday did not think—dark thoughts—"

The light had gone out of her as if he had blown it with a breath. "Jane," he said, unsteadily, "I am sorry—"

She melted at once and began to scold him, almost with tenderness. "What made you look at the scarecrow? Why didn't you turn your back on him, or if you had to look, why didn't you wave and say, 'Cheer up, old chap, summer's coming, and you'll be on the job again? To me there's something debonaire in a scarecrow in summer—he dances in the breeze and seems to fling defiance to the crows.'"

He fell in with her mood. "But his defiance is all bluff."

"How do you know? If he keeps away a crow, and adds an ear of corn to a farmer's store—hasn't he fulfilled his destiny?"

"Oh, if you want to put it that way. I suppose you are hinting that I can keep away a crow or two—"

Dust Is a Constant Enemy Throughout the Home

In the home, dust is misplaced dirt. Its proper habitat may be the broad acres of our farm land, or, resolved into its components, their place may be the seashore, the coal mine and a dozen or more organic sources. Singly, all these range from the harmless to the downright harmful, points out a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Merged as dust, and within the four walls of our homes, however, it should be attacked wherever and whenever it is encountered.

Dust is our constant and ubiquitous enemy, and the worst of it is that it is present in so many places of which we are not readily aware.

When soot filters in around the edges of a loosely adjusted window and settles on the sill, any careful homemaker is quick to remove it, but how many women stop to reflect that not all such soot remains on the sill? Some surely sifts past the sill, drops onto the floor, and is not nearly so likely to get equally quick and thorough attention.

The same is true of all the finer dust that continually is sifting in through loose openings, or is being carried in through doorways, or comes into the house from faulty heating equipment. Furthermore, it settles everywhere on the tops of

"I'm not hinting, I am telling it straight out."

They heard Baldy's step in the hall. Jane, rising, gave Evans' head a pat as she passed him. "You are thinking about yourself too much, old dear; stop it."

Baldy, ramping in, demanded a detailed account of Jane's adventure.

"And I took Briggs to market," she told him gleefully, midway of her recital; "you should have seen him. He carried my parcels—and offered advice—"

Baldy had no ears for Briggs' attractions. "Did you get the things Miss Towne wanted?"

"We did. We went to the house and I waifed in the car while Mr. Towne had the bags packed. He wanted me to go in but I wouldn't. We brought her bags out with us."

"Who's we?"

"Mr. Towne and I, myself," she added the spectacular details.

"Do you mean that you've been playing around with him all day?"

"Not all day, Baldy. Part of it."

"I'm not sure that I like it."

"Why not?"

"A man like that. He might fill your head with ideas."

CHAPTER VI

Baldy Barnes faring forth to find Edith Towne on Sunday morning was a figure as old as the ages—youth in quest of romance.

It was very cold and the clouds were heavy with wind. But neither cold nor clouds could damp his ardor—at his journey's end was a lady with eyes of burning blue.

People were going to church as he came into the city and bells were ringing, but presently he rode again in country silences. He crossed the long bridge into Virginia and followed the road to the south.

It was early and he met few cars. Yet had the way been packed with motors, he would have still been alone in that world of imagination where he saw Edith Towne and that first wonderful moment of meeting.

So he entered Alexandria, passing through the narrow streets that speak so eloquently of history. Beyond the town was another stretch of road parallel to the broad stream, and at last an ancient roadside inn, of red brick, with a garden at the back, barren now, but in summer a tangle of bloom, with an expanse of reeds and water plants, extending out into the river, and a low spidery boat-landing, which showed black at this season above the ice.

For years the old inn had been deserted, until motor cars had brought back its vanished glories. Once more its wide doors were open. There was nothing pretentious about it. But Baldy knew its reputation for genuine hospitality.

He wondered how Edith had kept herself hidden in such a place. It was amazing that no one had discovered her. That some hint of her presence had not been given to the newspapers.

He found her in a quaint sitting room upstairs. "I think," she said to him, as he came in, "that you are very good-natured to take all this trouble for me—"

"It isn't any trouble." His assurance was gone. With her hat off she was doubly wonderful. He felt his youth and inexperience, yet words came to him, "And I didn't do it for you, I did it for myself."

She laughed. "Do you always say such nice things?"

"I shall always say them to you. And you mustn't mind. Really," Jane would have recognized returning confidence in that cock of the head, "I'm just a page—twanging a lyre."

ELISHA: A LIFE OF HELPFULNESS

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 5:1-10, 14. GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye kind one to another—Ephesians 4:32.

"Loving kindness and tender mercies" (Ps. 103:4) are among the glorious attributes of our God, and consequently characteristic of those who love and serve Him. The world has all but forgotten these virtues, for in its brutal determination to achieve results there is only an outward veneer of courtesy and consideration which extends itself primarily to those from whom some advantage may be obtained or who are highly regarded because of their wealth or position. The poor and needy, the aged and afflicted are quickly brushed aside as unfortunate hindrances in the path of progress.

In all times God's people have been those most considerate of others. It is they who have given time and effort and means to help those in need. The life of Elisha is well characterized as a life of helpfulness. It is surprising to find how many of his miracles were for the purpose of helping others. God's servants are called to be leaders and to be preachers, but they are nonetheless called to carry on a life of helpful service. Elisha's experience with Naaman suggests how we may exercise such a ministry. Without seeking to designate verses in the text, shall we observe that we must

I. Find the One in Need.
It is not always that the one with the deepest need makes himself known. In fact, it is commonly true that those who have the greatest need are possibly the most worthy of help keep their sorrows to themselves. Certainly it is true that those afflicted with the leprosy of sin do not often come to church. We must go out and seek them and bring them in.

One of the weaknesses of many churches today is that they go through their regular services, which may include preaching the gospel, and then they lament the fact that sinners do not come to the services to hear and be saved. Let us be reminded that it is our business to go out into the highways and the byways to find those in need. Naaman's experience illustrates how the simple word of a little slave girl was instrumental in bringing the leper in touch with the man of God. Had she failed in her responsibility, the prophet would have missed his opportunity to minister. Even the humblest believer has his important work, seeking out the lost and needy, and may thus be the means of bringing about great blessing.

II. Locate and Diagnose the Condition.
Naaman knew that he had leprosy, but he did not know that he had a blight of soul called pride. The prophet, acting under the guidance and control of God, struck right at the heart of things when he directed Naaman to crush his pride and to show his faith by obeying God's command to wash seven times in the Jordan.

The story has many important applications. Let us be sure that in our efforts to help people physically or socially, we get through to their real need, the need of Christ. Let us also be careful not to modify or change God's requirement. There is one way of salvation—through faith in Christ; there is no other remedy for sin. A man "must be born again" or "he cannot enter the kingdom of God" (see John 3:3-7). If men are too proud to go that way, they cannot be saved. Observe also that there was no respect of persons on the part of Elisha. Naaman was a great and distinguished man, ready to bestow rich gifts, but the man of God had no interest in those things. He wanted only to give God's message.

III. Apply the Remedy.
One would be quick to condemn the trained physician who, having found his patient and having given his attention to his need, made a careful and accurate diagnosis and then sent him away without applying the cure which was in his possession. As the servants of Christ the great Physician, engaged in the cure of souls, we need to be equally wise. It is commendable to engage in a discussion of the problems of needy men and women, expressing our heart interest in that need. It is desirable that we clarify our knowledge of their need and accurately understand the truth of the gospel which meets that need. However, all of these things are quite meaningless unless they result in the bringing of the gospel to bear on the lives of the unconverted.

Solitude

An hour of solitude, passed in sincere and earnest prayer or conflict with, and conquest over; a single passion or subtle bosom sin, will teach us more of thought, will more effectually awaken the faculty and form the habit of reflection than a year's study in the schools without them.—Coleridge

Uncle Phil Says:

That Gets the Crowds
A steam shovel always seems to do its work so amply. Tradition should be treated with respect. It is often worth following. He cannot be strict in judging, who does not wish others to be strict in judging him.

Then They Sober Up
People always laugh at the fool things you try to do until they discover that you are making money at it.

It was Ed Howe who said that "every man should be arrested about two times in his life for what he thinks."

Real love seldom makes beautiful speeches. More often it is dumb.

We Average Humans
We sadly contemplate our bad habits, and then reconcile ourselves to them.

There would be but few mysteries in this world if people looked into everything as closely as a woman looks into a mirror.

What would happen if a man could be put through the processes of a beauty shop as a woman is?

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

SO MANY requests for copies of these directions have been received, they are being printed again to accommodate those who neglected to clip and save them when they appeared before.

The mat is made of heavy white cotton cable cord such as you buy at the notion counter for seams and trimmings. The design is copied from a luncheon mat made years ago of corset strings! There was a fad at one time for sewing these in braided and scroll designs with fine stitches on the wrong side of the mat.

Follow the directions in the sketch, making the circles in pairs, using No. 40 cotton thread to sew them. Braid three cords together and then sew the braided strip around and around to make the center of the mat. Sew a row of the circles to the edge of this center part; then add another braided row, being careful to "ease in" the inside edge just enough to keep the mat flat. Continue adding alternate rows of circles and braiding until the mat is size desired. To join the ends of the braided rows, pull one end through the braiding to the wrong side of the mat; then trim the ends and sew them flat.

Boiled Frosting.—If you have trouble making boiled frosting, try boiling the sugar and water until it forms a soft ball in the water, instead of till it spins a thread. Most people cook the sugar and water too long.

Beaten Egg Whites.—Never leave egg whites after they have been beaten still. If let stand they will flatten and will not beat up again.

When Bureau Drawers Stick.—If doors or bureau drawers stick in hot weather, a little wax rubbed on the surface where friction occurs will end the trouble.

Lemon Juice in Dressing.—Use lemon juice instead of vinegar in dressing for lettuce, and so increase your vitamins.

Repairing Last Year's Bathing Suit.—If last year's bathing suit is found to have a hole in it, the hole may be repaired and then covered with a small aquatic figure, such as a fish, diving girl or duck which may be purchased inexpensively.

Centerpiece for Child's Party Table.—A bouquet of lollipops in many colors makes an attractive centerpiece for the children's party table. The lollipops may be fitted into a flower holder that is placed in a bowl or low basket.

Keeping Mayonnaise.—Mayonnaise should be stored in covered jars on the upper shelf of the refrigerator, since it is likely to separate if it is kept in the coldest section.

tim. Owen, first up in the third, hit back to the box and was safe when Mallon fumbled. Turbok and Cliff fanned and McCarthy forced Owen at second, Smith to Katterman. S.
Pannigay opened the fourth with a double to left center. At this time the rain which threatened from the start of the game, began to fall and the game was held up. Play was resumed again after about ten minutes. The infield was rather slippery which handicapped both runners and fielders. Slosser fled to Kussro, W.
Pannigay beat out an infield hit, S.
Pannigay going to third. Mott hit back to Mallon who bluffed S. Pannigay back to third and threw Mott out at first. L. Osborne struck out.

Owen opened the fifth with a single, Turbok was safe on Smith's error, Cliff forced Turbok at second, Katterman to M. Mallon, McCarthy fanned, S. Pannigay forced Cliff at second, M. Mallon to Katterman.
Prescott scored their lone run in the sixth. Slosser opened with a single and stole second, he held second while Smith threw out W. Pannigay and took third on a passed ball. Mott singled scoring Slosser. L. Osborne grounded out, Smith to Kussro. Mott taking second, Mott went to third on a wild pitch. Owen fled to Quick in left to end the inning.

Kussro replaced W. Mallon on the mound for Tawas City in the seventh.
W. Mallon going to right field and Moeller to first base. Turbok started the inning by striking out, Cliff singled, McCarthy fouled to Quick, who made an nice catch after a long run. S. Pannigay fouled out to Laidlaw. Slosser walked to start the eighth, W. Pannigay fled high to Zollweg in center. Mott popped to Mallon at short and Katterman threw out L.
Osborne. Owen fanned to open the ninth, J. Osborne, who replaced Tur-bok in right, tapped back to the mound and was out Kussro to Moeller. Cliff was hit by a pitched ball and McCarthy ended the game with a pop fly to Kussro.
Next Sunday Takas City will play
Hemlock. The contest will take place at the Buckhorn diamond. It's only about a mile from town so let's have a large following at the game. The local team is only one-half game out of first place, lets keep them in the race for top honors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lawson and

Fred Dixon, Alfred Dixon and family, of Hazel Park, are guests at the Rollin cottage this week.
Mrs. John Coyle, Mrs. M. T. Coyle
and son, Pat, spent Monday at Bay City.

The basement under the whole of the new part is about 33 feet by 35 feet. It will house the new modern heating plant, warm air heat, with electrically controlled blower and air filter. This will supply sufficient clean warm air to make the building comfortable in the coldest weather. In addition to the housing of the heating plant there will be ample room for various kinds of recreation in the basement.

The building has a high grade asphalt roof in a rich blue-black shade.
It is well constructed throughout under the capable direction of Leslie Nash, and we believe will make an exceedingly valuable addition to the church plant that will help to meet the needs of the large and growing church school, and will add greatly to the recreational facilities for both young and old.

The people of the community are all cordially invited to join us in these services and to help the church in celebrating the completion of the new church house. The Sunday services are all free and open to any who care to join with us in worship.
The banquet on Monday is also open to the public and tickets may be secured from the members of the M.
E. N. Club.
