Managing Your State Government Is a BIG Job

EVEN IN ORDINARY TIMES the Governorship calls for competent leadership. Now with the Nation at war and with Michigan's important role in the war effort, the responsibilities of the Governorship can only be met by a man who has the vigor to get things done. Governor Van Wagener's experience as Governor and as State Highway Commissioner for eight years assures you that he will get things done — and RIGHT!

Here's What It Means to You

1. Ability to pay off the State's $27,000,000 debt means value received for your tax dollars.
2. Well directed Civilian Defense means protection for you, your home and your family—no matter what comes.
3. Close co-ordination of Michigan's all-out war effort means all-out delivery of war tools to our men on the fighting fronts.

PERFORMANCE PROVES HE GETS THINGS DONE!

THE DETROIT FREE PRESS—THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1942

The Nation Needs Prentiss M. Brown

PRENTISS M. BROWN served his congressional district for four years in the House of Representatives. He is just finishing his first term as United States Senator. This means that he has had 10 years of experience in the complicated machinery of government at Washington. In that decade of service he has won the respect and confidence of those of all shades of political opinion at the National Capital. His leadership in the recent fight for the passage of the anti-inflation bill has brought him national prominence and prestige.

to serve all the people of the State, regardless of party affiliation. We believe that the vital issues of the war transcend all political party lines.

RATED as a liberal Democrat, he has shown a high caliber of statesmanship by his independence in making up his own mind. He has not hesitated to oppose President Roosevelt in keeping with such judgment—as he did in the attempted packing of the Supreme Court.

IN SO saying the Free Press wishes in no way to reflect upon the splendid capabilities of Judge Homer Ferguson or in any way to belittle his magnificent performances as a one-man Grand Jury in cleaning up the graft and corruption of Detroit and Wayne County.

Because the winning of the war is our No. 1 job, the Free Press believes it would be to the best interests of Michigan and the Nation to have Prentiss Brown returned to the Senate.

We do not think the issue involves a matter of political principle at all. Most certainly none of personality. Both gentlemen have proved themselves splendid public servants. The only question is one of harsh practicality: who is better qualified to serve as United States Senator and make the greatest contribution to the winning of the war?

In Michigan, the cradle of our war production, there has been coined out of industry a new word. It is the "know-how," whereby the manufacturers of this State have been able to accomplish results that to outsiders, not understanding the techniques of mass production, seem miraculous. There is also such a thing as "know-how" in the science of government. This we believe Prentiss Brown has developed to a marked degree.

Put that way, we believe that Prentiss Brown should be re-elected. With all his remarkable abilities and fine attributes, Judge Ferguson would have to start as a freshman senator. And the ways of Washington are difficult even for a man of his strong character and keen perception.

With the critical period of the war just ahead, it would be, in our opinion, a serious error to lose this background of knowledge and the influence for the welfare of Michigan which the junior senator has achieved by his earnest and sincere efforts

THE Free Press has searched through the ten-year record of Senator Brown and finds nothing of consequence that can be counted against him as a trained legislator with inherent dimensions of statesmanship. He has the three attributes most needed in Washington today: courage, common sense and experience.

Prentiss M. Brown rates as one of the four or five ablest and most influential Senators in Washington today. In our judgment, his public record clearly entitles him to re-election.

Lights of New York
by L. L. STEVENSON

Because we are usually gadding about the big town these nights we seldom have a chance to listen to radio programs. But the other evening, the first free time in a long while, we heard "Cheers From the Camps." The program is entirely different from the usual run of soldier shows. It struck us that it was planned definitely to build up the morale of those at home. Ordinarily when the word "morale" comes into mind, we apply it to our men in uniform and rightly so since the zeal, the spirit, the entire mental state of our men of the fighting forces is of the utmost importance. But so is the morale of those left at home, the folks for whom our men are fighting, though that fact may be lost sight of on occasions.

A little investigating showed me that that is exactly the idea behind "Cheers From the Camps," which is under the direct supervision of the war department, though there is a commercial sponsor. The programs which have been on the air for some time now, are most carefully planned and timed, not only in the script writing and material, but as to those who take part. Surveys are made of camps all over the country and available talent is listed and classified so that there will be proper balance. If a boy can play a musical instrument or sing a song, he is given a place. If he is a comedian, he is sure of one. The camp band takes part. Camp incidents are dramatized with real action. Names are always given of course and as there is advance notice as to the camp from which the program originates, families and friends know when to listen.

The entertainment, however, is merely the skeleton. The meat is news from the boys. Ordinarily when a soldier sits down to write a letter he merely says that he is well, working hard and getting plenty to eat. Those making the survey, pick a soldier with a good voice. Everything possible about his relatives, his friends, his home interests is learned. These intimate touches are included in the letter which he reads over the air. So his folks get real news and so do the folks of other boys because, through being told what is going on, they know what is happening to their sons. That's the idea of the program—a 60-minute letter home. And news, especially when it is personal and cheering, is a mighty builder of morale.

From soldier camps to a cocktail party at the Waldorf-Astoria may seem somewhat of a leap, but there is a direct connection. The honor guest was Irene Dunne. Miss Dunne left Hollywood for New York city to take part in that great movie war bond sale drive, and war bonds are a mighty help to our fighting men. The last time I saw Miss Dunne was at the Kentucky Derby when the picture, "My Favorite Wife," in which she starred with Cary Grant, had its world premiere, Louisville having been selected for the event since that city is her home town. Many well-knowns were at the party and the lovely Miss Dunne, her diamond earrings flashing, flitted here and there greeting friends.

Managed to corral her long enough to find out that she is now working for three studios and that her next picture will be "Angel Street." Of course "Missy" entered into the conversation, "Missy" being a very important person since she is Miss Dunne's little daughter. Being a mother, Miss Dunne naturally had a late picture of "Missy," one she made herself, though she did have to call on Margaret Etting to find it for her. It was astonishing to note how much "Missy" had grown in the past two years.

Having been one myself, I have a working knowledge what a small boy may carry in his pockets. But my best efforts were far exceeded by a well-dressed, colored boy, possibly 10 years old, in the subway the other afternoon. First he produced a flashlight which he proved to be in working order by testing it on the dirty wall as the train rushed up town. Next came two fishlines equipped with hooks and sinkers followed by possibly a dozen marbles and a glass shooter. After that, he found a package of chewing gum which he laid aside, then opened a soiled handkerchief thus revealing a promising beginning of a foreign stamp collection. After a brief pause in which he consumed some candy, he took out a comb, three pieces of chalk, more candy and finally what he apparently had been searching for—a harmonica on which he played merrily with the pounding of a flat wheel as an obligato.
